The song about you girl, I dreamed and breathed.
Still lingers in the air I feel by me the print of silk.
I am coming back to earth, your smell is there.
The smell of fruit, the smell of peaches, apples
green that hang just out of reach of me is why I fell.
Whether there is grass no moss bereft uncommon fair.
And coming there makes strong acute my vision.
For whom can but to follow such a voice in song?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Full I Seldom Knelt

That to the swampy musky earth, up flew, I fell.
Once she was of me, how full I seldom knelt.
Somewhere I gave this feeling and it's known.
For the sake of music, beat was furious fast.
So that her single eye it never once became.
His mirrors double, parts his cloudy vision.
Portent to a slight a song when coming, flew.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Run Shallow Sea

It is not often completely diminished,
and it will allow for the slow leak of air.
Shallower conversation also can help
by not creating as great of a pressure differential
The Jennie air trapped behind the bottle.

You may also suggest to your polite friend
that she and her partner
try to determine whether there are other conversations that are more problematic
and perhaps not to use thin lips
at the beginning of each conversation
or perhaps avoid a particular conversation
if they find the noise of sign language too explosively disruptive.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Temptation Of Hass

Making black completely,
when the pebbly skin Hass, it matures,
it gives off the yellow smell of calm.
Compression's by the hand.
That does - n't; if It is, It is squeezed.
Then when by as for that,
rather than maturing, many times are needed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tanned Avocados To Squeeze

You were stretching
when I heard wild flowers.
I said you were gorgeous.
Touching my arm in that bikini.
Eye being cute.
Your staff and my full cup of hope.
The scorching hot yellow sun.
Out in the day the moon runs.
Perhaps as have others.
You have seen me fish.
But your tuna looks unpresseed
and why I love tuna.
Because of your beauty untold.
Because of your beauty I am.
Learning such curves one love and self.
This is my dream when we meet.
Counting, countless numbers of stars.
When I come back tomorrow.
Window shaping for fresh avocados.

James McLain

Day And Night The Devils Toe

When the sun fills the moon
even the face turned away icy hot night and day cold as ice.

Gay spicy water foam death on the rocks.
I wait for the breasts I'm the beast of all beasts.
Blood runs from the better half that poor boy.
And all the good girls,
how they wait under the tree watching it rise.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sweet Lebanon

Each single year forever
when this time it stops
and waits one second day.

Linking past the chain
which is the fence extends.
Past my second birth.

When death is not escaped.
Yet birthdays never coming are.
Time limits which competes
has to conquer then you them.

Eye of her it turns him, we when seen.
Order of the cross sweet Lebanon.
The constant sun lit night,
and still morning, I have never freed.

You raise a child up younger every day
and time and time, has went away.
But alliance forging not from forcing,
when the children side between,
the wasteful wax of honey is misfortune.

James McLain

Solitary Open Shell

You hear the wind sing often of this.
My ocean the open shell of the sea.
Of my empty words.
No one can approach.
Revealing hollow echo's its likeness.
My love.
My closed sadness.
My open vagueness.
My anger as one listen to my shell without age.
To tell you all of my stories.
Memory that only the sea,
my cruel and bitter Its terrifying storms Its spray, Open shell.
Shell the color of my tears.
Listens to my once fragile hopes.
Do not let the sand over me to wash my choir.
What could be sadder on the beach.
Than a shell full of sand never found.
Laying open as it's emptied.
Playing children have found,
thrown back into the sea waiting again solitary.

James McLain

Desert Flower

Pure golden rain I have gathered honey water which is not sifted by sand nor soiled having depended upon the rain that falls
of the many people whom raised you.

The eye which you turn,
skims over that way of the wild animal in me
which shows her smooth cheek
not to I but to others which is prohibited.

And she shows the neck
like the neck of the grand white swan.
When that of his girth increases that of she,
being clear of decoration, Am I imbalanced?

And when it is loosened,
the leaf which floats completes with wet air.

Heavy load, O woe is me
which decorates her chest like clustered grapes gathering thick black orbs, the darkness it colors very.

Hers unlike mine on her head
is lost with the hair
which is draped and the hair which falls loosely.

Her form seems like the stalk of the callused palm wood which bends from the weight of the fruit.
At morning, when she awakes, as for the particles of the musk
it has met the dawn and left to her bed.

She sleeps during morning greatly
as her want
As for her as for the necessity to grant to her west
where the clothes that function as silk have been loosely attached it is not.

My illusion which she loads with thin fingers
where she as been the earthworm of the wood

made of the oak sap.

Where those are large, is not thick is abandoned.

At evening as for her as she is the light

I write of the tower of the monk,

the darkness is made that much brighter.

She is proportionate the long gowns

may be the height between the uncommon people.

But gracefully you finish the hearts center dearly.

The counselor where I am ever wise

for your sake of what is what was still I ignored,

but I turned they from those whom now say.

James McLain

Double Protection

□

□ received protection in a massage parlor
for a minute or two perhaps one half hour at the top.
But that which I used
was in my purse for over two months.
It was exposed to heat
over a period of ninety eight point six three degrees.
Friction has not been calculated into reconsideration.
However the story it did not break
after a while I received traditional, oral from him.
Did the double exposure to heat in such a way,
cause it to fail by making the spores in it larger?
And pass unbecoming through my conduct?
Afterwards he was discharged from inactive duty.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

At Last He Comes

At last, he does not try to come.
This perseverance of her heart is pain.
To come is more but something less.
Before the blame came out dark loneliness.
My mind is not as once it was it precious was.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Full Penetration

What ever issues she may have
they don't rest there.
Bottom front to top, please I tip.
She is not afraid to say for you
the way she shaves it.
The ring is tight around the finger.
Four lips,
two rings how many fingers?
Does he looking she hold up.
Full penetration,
unafraid she rocks his world.
Back and forth then in between.
In and out in and out until.
The moon at first because it was.
Tonight is never still for him because.
Inside the head full penetration.
Lights go out until the base around is felt.
Some others,
are ashamed of what they never have.

James McLain

Is Middle One

Did she ask you why I failed,
please when all is quite do it quietly?
Because of beauty,
next to me she turned and answered.
And I - of two because of truth is middle one.
As for us the same fur trader,
Certain she, He grunting said.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Next Door Room

I was born and died because of you I lived.
The depth of beauty, but with you I could not read.
Trapped inside your hollow shallow moon.
When someone dies because I knew the truth.
Being one, living, dying, crying in next door room.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Alibi One Drag Queen

Bathed in colored pillars of light.
Chastless your heart once it was mine
was as light as your eyes
and hefting too they were heavy.
Lest it shut out chastity as once was I.

Life lived to the fullest and never moon empty,
of it's wealth of mixed light.
Shooting darts at the stars.
A letter fell from your dress of appointment's.
My house of glass shattered my dreams
etched underneeth amongst the cotton wood flowers.

Light purple is jasmine dark beauty and masks.
Different each day of the night I have withstood.
You whispered when at last that I came.
Climbing trees back out yonder
and moods like the swing.
Nursing the secret a secret so hot I can not hold.

James McLain

Rate Your Boy Friend

My tall boyfriend and some other friends came.
Little things left forgotten became painfully large.
Everything was becoming larger to the eye.
Not to change the subject is your boy friend fine.
We meaning all except me he actually got there.
I had forgotten for a moment my religion,I.D.
In and out all night and does your boyfriend just leave?
And I stayed inside to be with clothed strippers.
I did not come and check after that, on them once.
What a prickly two pears and a thorn off a trickster.
Even open neon panties the birthday suits and lover boy.
He came out of the cake to make sure everything was okay.
I had every right to pass out under the table right?
I mean guys can only be sooo rude after I choked him.
But now that I changed my religion I forgave them.
And im going to move in with them, am I super or what?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Flies And Dead Bodies

Around me all of you are when I die, growing bloated puffed out like the fish and my eyes you have noticed.
Discovery is inquired about that it groans.
During stormy days look to the tide as it steadily rises.
Rising like silence of the sound, buzzing in silence.
Blue eyes hazy green air all around my still form.
Poked with sticks I can't but help feel.
One open has the eye closed to insight.
Pushing me there then here until inside of those.
Crust on the top soft and soggy
cheese like mum used to make in the cottage made.
Toes being squeezed
and jets for breath, green and marshy.
From the beginning until the end which have gotten.
You together truly,
the time witnessed by that power of the king the fly.
Buzzing louder until it settles between your lips it sits.
And growing was put there next,
the sound of maggots where.....
..... it is blue, life was uncertain for you.

James McLain

Girls Woman Men Condoms

The raw material of the purple condom
Honey tasting the milky lotion
Naturally there is a milky lotion
The milky lotion is hence obtained, my pre
From the rubber plant maker of wood
That is the creamy liquid at this stage
Okamoto, Goodyear clear then Milky Johnson and Johnson lotion in everything which comes entering under is inspected
By the light of the moon and eye batting lashes
The standard of time which is coma and passed
Wear and tear her ribs showing his enterprise is harsh.
Just the best part transfers to her or him
Intensification the tip inspection for your use
The raw materials of ten ribs or more
The milky lotion is included to each climate when mixed in the tank where it is managed
The blend of which you can do in this tank are many Because of the condition of each take which differs
The water leaking out a test and the anti Harry test bursting strength test, and so on already
The electric pin hole test it goes where ones blind
but can never see it can feel and transmit to
The condom reverberates if the condom is thin
You verify that it pleasantly at the base it exceeds
The quality the requirement of your life depends it is So she said
if there defective my mother and father both like you

James McLain

Tomorrow Is Gone Perhaps

When I was not unlike you being young
Unlike me most were why lie where I laid
Such a boy out of their range, I ran
My dad the marshal tucker bars
Silver dollars pasties, Minsky's paper ones two Movies cool hand luke mustangs red bullets and Steve McQueen
Under the age of ten
Up front introductions to they reading lips to I watched Men being squeezed until they popped woman laughing
The rear of the curtain like panties seen through Joe ran and still runs a clean place no condoms strewn about Which I used To walk to the top and bottom of sort of Winos are not allowed even now
They had known that I am there Color deliciousness only now to my eyes the years
and be hungry of those because of fifteen
No need to be afraid I was not back then like they are now
Now under my window, as for those whom pause
the way the height shoulders the chest were bare
The smell of every flower combined apart together it is strong
But not as strong as the hands and arms around me
Time is not it was it is now
I simply a standpoint and the watch
Tomorrow is gone like a dream she will come perhaps

James McLain

In Time

It is directly illuminated under the light
where that star.

Become aware her pain they are many,
and in the reflection which applied the fact that it shines
with the mirror clear that image her, 'God which works.

Therefore from whence time,
someone there somewhere it does.

And if desire is damage it shouts.

Is the desire which is gone I have cried for?

During mine like your very first fear,
however amongst us learning to come to them, we are.

I saw the great pearls blossom like stars.

Translucent each color that small binary sphere.

Eye our stars of the stars, as for eternity, beaming.

Then maybe you can, 'So it is.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Open Wings

Whispers the rose, rejoice.□
Know woman it is why.
The round world,
the sound of trees.

This is your secret too.
Open the clouds,
come apart to greet him.

The light shows,
nights dissonant rumble.
Thus exceptions are made.

When queen of the moon
is my only temptation.

Inside of the sun.
I stand at the gate.
Seconds from lips
Plucking or picking forget me or not's.

Your open wings spread.
How far can they spread.
The heart heavy flutters,
when I stand to kiss them.

James McLain

With Her I Came

I die in the bright night at all the wrong times
And the vibrating around the ribs
I came with her to her soft silken rainy Sadly she said unto me
Do in to me and if you should tilt me
Take me over on to the edge
if you must dropp me then please may I ask you Wash it off out of my hair
And the disappointment which makes getting wet
however, I do not worry about leaving Because the wood where the leaf
like the sky are so many is peace
When the rain bends under the large branch,
and rather than being silent
and be kindhearted if ever it is now be I die

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

There Are None Standing

Shock waves for a price
each cloud I part again for you will I raise
I will raise each to understand it watching the roses when perhaps

Before you remember it was you whom laid him down
Your understanding all buds open and bells thinking green lovely babies

And why there are none left standing
As I watch roses made of thin dreams
of past meetings with her Isolated stretching the gun goes off Childhood the smell of it as for tears

When by the sun
and why I am simply I am pushing then
kissing the mask behind which open mouths
where a woman has pointed and roses grow

James McLain

Smell Of Moon

The rocks slapping against the face of your moon.
The ring when it stretches is mind humbling, numbing.
The sun hence for gotten as it streams across the face.
Woman girl whichever to often this the Nuns behavior?
You practice on Fathers not on me and you I knotted.

Driven too it you do it as a child only with people you trust.
By you rainy days and days in private we often both did.
Never a day of fire and sun chosen by you, I am ready.
Your heart once mine was too heavy as I fill it..
I left this world afterwords only to return to you explaining,
listening to the writing on the living wall finger paintings..

The smell of moon, pleased her best, I am horizontal flat.
I flush, I blush, I rush out into her hand, where her mouth.
Each red spot is light blood the night my stones slapping.
There is the other spot green eyes the wolf I am what you.
and you dream of past meetings of being eaten alive turned inside out the center of your panties gone because there.

Ten angels their are swearing perfect or flawed
I have slipped out beneath your juicy body.
Without my leaving any memory that you were ever there.
Queens are transparent and creamy in silence you sleep.

James McLain

All Alone At The Top A Mountain

□

All the girls have grown up and gone
One single cloud drifts each night by Pushed closer together soon the moon
They at the face of each other Climbing the hill it once a mountain and I

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tretchery

The woman leaving the village with out milk
and returns and states it is hard.

Seeing me at first they finished intensity of those.

By being able to point to you how full I am she answered.
My Uzi, it can kill those whom do not have fear of it.

Removing her pants, her wants became his will
in her, that it is placed with the Uzi possibility is made.
They wrote off her body with her month of birth stuffed and the vagina.

Because of the Uzi

her body it deeply contracted.

Spasmodic which she said it was written, foretold,
eating my earth laid out made of internal organs,
finishing, now eating my liver,
and finishing that hung in my lung,
and finishing, now eating my center...But the moon.

Where you have where in it is finished" Then she cried.

You went away from the method of the Uzi.

Her body jerking

and coming and having

and jerking at what the others don't have.

James McLain

A Ring When It Stretches

Dear my dear,
Between your breasts it grows until.
Your face it burns of warm liquid gold.
Red becomes pink salty oysters.
Only those afraid of issues never will.
The others are living, except you.
Perhaps until you are.
Touched there and there.
Until the fire becomes too much to bare.
Creamy white cream
yellow depends on the age.
Tongues inside they don't know
even when over their head.
If they know it was not from you.
But whom?
Remember sliding between your breasts
until pink pearls.
Black are worth more.
White from the string of fresh water.
The ring when it stretches does what.
And it does it feel and for how long.
Let the truth be known tell the truth.
The stretching would go on and on and on.
Until you fell asleep and right up until.
Panties they dry on the screen while the moon.

James McLain

Hungry Full Moons

Today as I have.
All the other faces I have seen.
Which one was yours?
I come and I go,
I can only wish but you won't.

I see you look at me.
Your old fashioned thoughts.
Your mom and dad in the way.

Yes I am
as you wish he was but he is not.
Hard I worked so you could watch.
I come out of the water.
Bronzed never tired.
Wishing for you to come in.

Woman of today
must come and say what they want.
We can not tell the sane
from the drama queens.

White transparent bikini's.
Round mouths and full lips.
Long legs and hungry full moons.

If you come I am there.
Help your self to your need.
Even if you are Republican.
Right wing.
No one will know
even if the ceiling caves in.
I am a long Democrat.

James McLain

Indispensable Woman

I, whom waded through the blood of his sisters to the mound of Venus,
and received for this your recognition the name of Hooded the Great

He raised his monument to its highest degree
By the piercing of such glory, but he her phoenix
Undid her all her very everything
by the partition of the veil among the undecided
seven of their ten wives
If this is such his fault, however by you was so pertinaciously repeated never by yourselves because.

Subsequent, we must look for the cause me thinks.
Rather in the manner or lack thereof of the times and the force of circumstances.

Rather than in the improvidence of ones need to author partition in these.
These woman were indispensable
There was no other means of satisfying my need for these Queenly subjects.
Hence they ran off into me.

James McLain

Childhood Ride

That many thoughts and actions are hard forgiven.
Before being good why none I followed how it tries.
Hitchhiking as a boy, picked up by one of those.
A ranch without a horse but still they ride.
One kind word because of some is gone is found,
that you have known because of afternoon.
Approaching once again the infancy period.
Where days are long to disappear - why so completely?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Stead Of Living Iron

I would kiss your lips through sheer veneer
and drink the warmth inside.

While four corners of the wind my mind,
around the sky the bed of feathers made.

I will let you turn and twist my neck.

One night your raccoon eyelids shut.

I will fill your face beneath the moon.

Beneath a driving stead of living iron.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Through The Old Oak Tree

□

A stream flowing through the old oak tree is still alive.

The heart of the forest (wood which has lived to long it is, unexpected obstacle,
this living log and complicated cover which I lowered)

of rich redwood of old green growth

the menagerie where these forests are in English it is simple.

Once of the lower order I climb up to be exchanged.

Decrease slippery many salamanders for example,
going in and out of the mouth of holes in the clay.

Fighting it depends on the rough ligneous wreckage.

Many kinds are compared to the forest

where the plantation and other young person maintain social structural their heritage and are managed,
at least temporarily.

It is expected some watching while a few others
all over one maintains their feelings, facial composure.

Being natural, the dependence of many more of the same
but different shapes to the feature of the old forest.

Some salamanders are short thick headed and round.

It lived and died inside, the wooden cavity of the oak.

Others with heads to huge were lowered deeper inside.

Before, perhaps, it's empty when full catching breath because of the heritage which remains there it is there rooted mainly.

James McLain

But I Am Not That Different

As for all of them, mine are to many.
Never did I withhold, I let you choose.
To all of you of the many nations.
To you again, I come, I ask you choose.

But I chose above the rest from those.
Brave one king it is said, with declaration.
Which has the heart which love has broken.
Because I have shared disgrace reputation.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

This Nation Of Ours

When is the monument to the person achieved?
When is the person achieved to the monument?
To power of words when a dream is released to the world
Pleases I am to be mainly on topic
With these remembered our hard won monuments
Monuments that bleed and scream to all and point out whom Entirely from you we all each us, even combined I think
That we want poetry multidimensional, it is done, released
Passing by the man made from stone
the woman of water and the light in the dark I write no conditions Except that you have rhythm of voice and song
we sing of dreams unforgiving, blessed in love wiped away
Our children should have everything resonating
This nation one days rises
there is a dream in the dream that all things all existence
where true semantic principle has endured to lived As for us all the people and the woman whom keep these truths. Because it is self-explanatory
We are all the same which drawn up when time began

James McLain

Beyond Soft Rain

Both girls felt their bodies begin to relax
and ease into reach of each other voices softening, fingers tracing each face together Trembling lips
Valleys and streams, two moons merged together
Do you know at our age how long it is very long
Each day growing shorter, agreed it is too short
I have wanted to just reaching the end to hang on How many times between sitting in class
Hoping I wished you were gay like me
How I had to put my fingers one at a time in my mouth.
Rings empty pockets to keep one from touching you?
How I am when I think of you
How I just want to be with you every waking minute?
How afraid I was that you would never date me
When I told you how I came to know
How could you hate me I love you

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mental Illness Jails And Prisons

With no adequate facilities
I grow tired of watch jail T.V
Expecting a different reaction to a question
by a guard ill-equipped with out training
To ask of a drunk to follow instructions
when most cognitive function is gone or impaired
Sometimes I think they should just kill us all
And let the guards come out
And give a cyanide tablet
to the last one of us whom thinks, left alive

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Death Of A Boy Aged Eight

It's heartbreaking to hear stories like this because in many other cases
few accidents like this could have been prevented

Safety should constantly be on your mind
and you should take as many with you as you can to avoid an accident of this kind

This includes always keeping your gun pointed in the opposite direction and breaking twigs shaking bushes
and other obstructions that may catch her attention

The safeties are internal once they break
they sometimes don't work or go off prematurely
The only good safety is between your ears
and you have to keep it out exposed all the time

One momentary lapse
and you have things like what then happened, says P.W.

If you have any questions
They have doing it more safely courses available to almost everyone under the age of twelve

James McLain

Girls Growing Up

When I was in about ten or eleven
I stayed in overnight at a friend of my parents
We heard heavy grunting, walls banging
and bed squeaking
goings on from the room across from us next door

The younger girls freaking out and tried to distract us older girls from hearing all of that by talking out loudly
and turning the volume all the way up on our TV.
It wasn't enough to block out the noises
coming from our room
Being neighbors

It wasn't the first time I heard these noises
but it was certainly the first time
I heard the show go on for hours
Finally, one of the gutsier girls in my room
banged on their room door
and told them to 'unless I you come in to shut up!
We have ten year olds next door!

They reconnected for a few more minutes,
and finally after one least scream we slept in peace

And yes
I can also hear my new neighbors having sex
We drown them out with our own music
Bite something!
It sounds hot if it's passionate moaning
But if it sounds like some pigs grunting battling it out or like hyena cries
then I feel my skin crawl
and feel like I need to wash my hands especially if I know exactly who is next door to me Doing what I see done to the others like me

James McLain

Green House Gasses

The forest runs for miles and miles.
Her moon the face it slips right over me.
The portrait of a lady sitting I help down.
Mourning ebbs the tide.
Moving earth and stripping trees of leaves.
Bushes where I learned not burnt.
and useless clouds are judged unnecessary.
Because my pleasure even now you swell, I aged.
A sea of milk mistaken as.
The breast it's tip is but a hill of grace now dry.
The verdict of our death, her milk the sea it knows.
I wish to see a humming bird to hear it's song I speak against the love of daddies little girl.
Humming her sweet song a song that's better sweet.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Girl And Her First Time

□

And the fierce rabbit
made those sounds whose feeling it is good.

Now the summer has skipped fall, 'O my winters next.
But oh! Between that one day and the sunny crest.
How many days I have because of that now lost.
And time has flown away the hand I never rest.
What that was then and now then was my now today.
When I had peace, I feel it in the center of my toes.

The field of rabbits in now gone
and filled with boring people some call home.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Alibi A Happy Song Of Despair

Last night your memory around me then vanished appears.
Separated by day did your dream of him come true?
The rivers mix stubborn and stream each sorrow the sea.

In the dark of dawn moved around the wayward child.
Nothing that's good, right or wrong, nothing is thrown away.
Each time that it flashed,
I looked up starting one love you lost parting she gave.
Please do forgive me if, 'Oh some are thrown far away.

Cool yellow flowers the soft falling rain it falls on my center.
Twin swans necking the wreckage, intertwined gave way.

Meeting Joe black long island iced teas, Love and War.
Lovers that fight not at all got together to understand with you.
The wing of the bird the tip of the tongue every song of song
that ever was sang, singing I sang, rose from you.

Everything like that never said, I heard you understood.
Coming from the sea mighty oceans that wave, every time.
Everything but nothing that sank from the top was for you!

RuPaul's.
Drag Race Season One
Seagram and seven.
3100 3rd Avenue North

James McLain

Burst Your Face, Did He

Do not let it fall unto the ground.□
Do not waste it, drink it all.
Drink all the purple light.
Purple, white or yellow light instead?
The further out I go I swim in haze.
The closer in you come.
Tell me your name.
Should America die full of such strong woman.
Schizophrenic yet I see.
Purple, yellow hued,
one or two are blue,
black and white the pearls around your neck.
The woman music makes the madness claims.
Your love for him that when he came your face.
I saw it burst into the colors, I above described.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Words

English words reign King Or Queen.
How can they be served what do they mean?
You say Tree and I say bush, how do we think?
Leaves and moss.
Light beards and hills the moon, smooth mounds.
Roses I have known.
It is light as a dream,
it is hard as Iron your will as soft as beaten gold.
As a poppy grows and corn is early it is yellow, very.

Equally what is strange about the way we speak?
Honey it is and is sweet and is, and it is was well known,
in the eye, I am the person having known you.
And you make the windows of the house
which are clear when I am gone.
And when i'm gone you polish every thing most clear surface.

Come with me or with you come and it dances.
I forgive you for the fact that I was never using you.
Come to me without you tricking me.
And free rhyme, the poet nose is in the way.

James McLain

Raccoon Eye

Don't get my wrong,
I love a smokey eye that's warm and hot.
Above a little overboard or inboard.
Black eyes makeup are supposed to give one a sexy,
sultry look,
but when never using too much,
can you go from glam to goth — ask Patty slow then fast.
Black eyeliner over eye shadow undernourished open circles.
A smokey salmon shadow look if pink accentuates.
Bat the eye outline add subtract or color it,
but by applying so much black so high above
and below the eye itself blinks open then it's closed.
You are making the moon smaller in your head instead.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Nigga Pleaz

That is so me,
whom in me it had directly before it directly you whom in me.
That is several times week
and nigga do not try to lie to me.
Who is on that stick it sure taint me.
Who it is that it has pumped you
while I forgot the wine and heard you scream.
When it does it for a while.
Nigga is it necessary for you and I whom try to raise it for you I obtain.
Go lay down and raise your legs nigga fish and crabs
which has no other stronger than the sea.
So nigga someone else who makes me each contraction
moon my foot my cheeks to wiggle.
I need a nigga who will bites my lip
and squeaz me till i'm dead so nigga pleaz.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Life As A Plowman

Behind a machine or horse.
As when it first appeared it is plowed.
Leads in hand one walks straight lines.
He after it was done, she opens up and said.
Each line has all my numbered years.
Tears count as snow where or youth has gone.
Time is that surface underneath I plowed.
Connection to each step by one hers the other.
As given back to her next to him, his wife.
To know that he gives it all back to the land.
She loves him to deeply, life in the sun he spent.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Net Ten Phone

To be abused by user's when abused.
To by a phone to give to her to make a call
Just in case she is again abused.
To have Net Ten turn off the phone with over three hundred minutes left unused.
Multiplied this pyramid scam makes millions.
Ripping us all off.
Customer center over there not here.
That is why they do it there not here.
The poor again abused when they are force to pay not once but twice to be abused by Net Ten.
Last night the abuse began again without a phone.
She is there right now in lots of pain.
The other went to jail.
By a net ten phone and get abused.
Her number used to be.
727-254-2150
They cut it off she hates abuse.
I was not never told.
About this scam.

James McLain

Fruit Of Love

Her dream I know and what it's like.
By the river flowing free I feel him more.
Death wants more than death I let it go.
If heaven do you think of Peter what he speaks.

Psychological scholars are not in school for you.
Looking through the window see the wedge.
Jealous mother absent father some one ran away.
Yellow streams of wine no one drinks together.

My crescent moon when I sleep, I dream of boys.
If I lay still, one woman's will, if I am horizontal I imagine.
Red open blooming teachers thinking, jewels and pearls.
Come apart, stay open still, the verdict, eyes the sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Has That Certain Smell

□

Always sharp and never dull.
High stilettos.. vampy.. slick.. pain.
Sometimes pointed coming always be.
And who it is ...the heart is never free.
Ringing bells that can not ring.
Ringing bells that can never be unring.
Trying to forget your perfect face.
Painted toes and polished finger nails
There is a crack somewhere between.
She has that certain smell.
That is where the sandman can get in.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ballooning

The normality of ballooning.
It is seldom admitted.
Extremism.
Right count them clock wise tight nut swingers.
Never get caught their kids on report.
The progressive teacher before trouble admits.
Ballooning is fashionable so it is common.
Men once small boys.
That girls become woman call joy.
Never faint hearted.
Know when it's time to play.
Always proud such commitment.
Uninvited do not pull it back.
Until they push it off.
Sally went forth to the port.
This student however was seldom admitted.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dearest Betterheart

My heart does go out to you.
As we get older the younger we get.
We start to question our seasoned appeal.
To the opposite end of each sex.
Wild the mid life crisis.
This can happen at any age.

Do we still have it.
Dear must you see
the cup half full.
Ever the golden lining
around this black cloud.

If you're not sure what it is I will tell you.
You had a bout of low self-esteem
and thought you found a way to boost it up.
If in the long run you never did,
and in the short run reality kicked you there out.

Being with a woman...with out a man will be tough.
If you can transfer it out if you can't avoid her.
Then hide in the closet until she is young once again.
That's what old people growing younger won't do.

Seek some counselling you'll be surprised how it feels.
Doctor Ruth some one older than you.
Sewing it up never helps you become, healing it can.
Be what you seek look around If your blind use your lips.

If who I am just concerned you, about this discussion.
And just in case in the top drawer it is there just for you.
Sounds like it's just what you need.
Dearest Betterheart,
Take it easy,
and check the mail Victoria has a secret good luck.

James McLain

Teen Pressure

Listening through the vent in gym.
I heard some girls describe it
as taking a poop backwards.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Gay Girl Friends And Questions

My Gay girl friend asks all these questions?

For me it doesn't hurt.

She makes me, I have said, extremely well.

My only concern is that weather or not

it stays stretched out.

We've only done it a couple times like forty or fifty five.

Within the last couple of days.

Sitting up front in the open I feel.

My eyes look puffy,

I'm being ask by my teacher if I get enough sleep.

Question, so does it stay stretched out or doesn't it?

Diddle Dee Jackson • about two years Ago.

Saying twas twisted but said, that Yes it will stretch out,

and it will or will not depending on your desire hurt you!

And if you are going to continue this persistence.

It may keep stretching out and it may be noticeably.

Questions the doctor.

Personally I think you should always feel every thing.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Day By Day

A little eye not made by man.
All woman seem to have.
Available to none our honey bees.
Clinging to my window butterflies.

If only screens were made back then,
rebound beyond tomorrow comes.
Voices heard inside my head they say.
Honey sweet the bread is made today.

e.d.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Epitaph

I had those times and watched how others lived.
Surviving times like those when others died.
One thousand years or ten sleeping I have died.
It is not from out side in my soul was dropped.
Dropped I watched by one I waited rising caught.
Freed by one whom is no other more.
Set free by slaves whom knew before, I was ever free.

So you have dying never lived, but living wait to die?
What leaving coming made you change my luck?
Is this the time when I forgot one regret and how I fought.
I lived and plowed for common means my harvest shared.
If it made my fellow man some none the richer more,
Where I have lived I have died, so many times before.
What my mind my body does continues to accrue.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Paid Members Only

I perceive there it is woman in silence she sleeps.
Being touched deep inside is a labor of love.
Those great muscles that a rose opened made.
Thorns broken off each promise unchained empty chairs.
Your hands move the ground up and around it.
I panicked this month, you were late I am sorry you are full.
God forgot I am like this you swell like the ocean each wave.
It is only like this for you and the smell of dark green babies.
Children observe you will learn all their secrets in time.
Frenchies they laugh, when you come up and down, writing poetry.
Stories of love, happy endings, marriages two rocks, sex in the city.
Setting the sun, your rising moon when it's falling.
There it is ice hot, once inside and swelling the fire it is cold.
Rose kisses lily what if there gay, sugar spice mental illness.
Sucking noises now quite, soft cotton whimpers and loud cries.
Earth is the center that stains and small is the mask that you show.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rest Not In Sleep

A hand full of love.
A heart that is kind.
The eyes looking out.
Can only reflect.
To find ones own soul.
Not in sleep but at rest.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Forget Me Not

I should never want.
Would you, I could ever know of one thing.
Having broken three rules up above.

You know if I look out at the crystal clear moon,
the red branch of how slow autumn returns where I stand.
Trees loosing branches the bushes are bald
once again denuded of leaves.
Out of your window all around there below.
If I touch the glass it must close.

As close to the fire impalpable ash without being blurred.
The Silhouette is a cameo of one mound, you carry to me.
Light as if varied exists, deep aromas I smell.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Stars That Flashed

□□□

Being lured out side with more than verbs.
Metaphors how they appear to the ear.
That has to be the hottest thing I have ever seen.
Wisps of smoke coiled up and out of reach.
As she finished speaking the other reached down.
Moving the blunt ever closer to glowing light lips.
Chained to the tree by a beast, teasing me.
Moving it up and brown paper bag ribbed down.
Then rubbing it up against the trees bark.
Saving rose red, purple lips until after the parting.
I heard it I pulled like a vacuum it hissed.
Straining I thought, was she moving or not.
Shivering I kept moving as it continued to rain.
Lightning stars that flashed all night long in the park.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Wanted Only You

Even if it wasn't what I wanted.
Even if it was what you thought.
On the bar stool in the corner where I sat.
Wearing what I wore why I wear it every night.
And the dress that you have on is always why.
There where it parted.
It only takes one drink sometimes maybe two.
Even if it wasn't what I thought you somehow knew.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Haiku -The Empty Flute

Brown green leaves need Bamboo has need of space
Beauty has left this place

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Desire

□

□□□

Weak me, how I am look at you never stop, Oh!
Breached the glass ceiling, so it has reached her, class.
The glass flowers I picked from the forest of trees.
For the moment as the wind moves the moss and leaves.
On the one hand hidden in rings, the other is shortly found.
Where I take the butterfly rests my hat she always hides.
Laying down feel I it stand, invited she makes it sit down.
Forgotten the bells of green clover, under the cover of desire.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Only In Sleep

Others I have like you tried and tried.
To look at only the surface just with sleep.
Having once seen the child.
I longed to play with.
When I am this child am I still asleep?
Sleeping I stare at the sea wide wake.
What lays beneath made you and me the orphan.

Like all my other simple words it is forgotten.
What ever it was how you left just because it was sleep.
To sleep with me one last time I knew once again.
Whatever may come to those which you could I know.
However we parted one from the other indirectly I prayed.
To play as you played as in former times when I rise.
And the house built on joy where it stood.

When I changed what you never changed.
Sleeping I met the eye the eye of the stairway.
Smooth exclusively circular and even in sleep
the surface was not ever shaved.
I met the eye,
calmness I found - the eye where my dream,
I think that you may have doubts.
Simply because of those dreams, I am the child.
Whom still when asleep dreams of you.

James McLain

Stamens And Pistil

I have eaten many earthworms making dirt.
Mother of all days and other days as Mother.
Savant crossing over streams,
to which was whispered did I hear, Resurgam.
Centipede of many legs, weak knees.
And O how we all ejaculate the stars are we.
How now to the main thing were we speaking of.
(outer ring) and (center) brown lip stick.
Oh it is and you are waking up and I shall rise again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Am I Am

That other name of him.
Or her be certain of.
Some on the other hand of him.
With you the telephone.
The open stars.
The order of the magnitude.
The flash the splash one heard.
In the average order came and gone.
Science goes,
to where she is I interfere.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Perineal Massage

Just sit down she said and relax,
and wait for it to come.

When it is, where it is or find the comfortable point.
Your partner whom you trust standing up will begin.

Where it has been attached to this condition.

When you see in the mirror it is visible,
your perineum where the mirror you see shown it finds.

The mirror is not needed, always.

Substitute two thumbs if the compression machine.

Perineum is warm has become tense can be used or,
perhaps the warm bathroom it plays to long there.

Ulterior motives, when you massage, wash your thumbs,
or have them washing the thumbs of your partner.

Pour the oil on your thumb and perineum.

In addition the stripe between perhaps it is better.

Preparation of the grass which have a certain oil.

Which especially is designed for this use, so is hot.

Push your thumb in approximately inch placing

and the lower part in the bush,
and pull in direction the side.

Or light incineration and immense pain the eddy.

Light extension should be felt, should not be felt.

Approximately, this extension for both parts is kept.

Or until numb, or to area barely it becomes to insatiably sensed.

Getting ready for a baby can be so much fun until it comes.

James McLain

Summer Camp

Each boy and girl had the normal irreconcilable impulses.
My sister knew one other girl and his wife the others father.
The counselors green satin panties are up the flag pole.
She is neurotic I wear a different color for each cloudy day.
And her hands are full I taste the rain, she falls asleep.
They scare me straight and between each pulse, I shiver.
One girl is always in denial of all the girls she never denies.
The rest want to model silk pajamas the rest of summer.
When being touched by some of them they come back.
Calling into question their heterosexuality in the out house.
The other girls think they are safe from the others storms.
A letter falls from one book I shook out and now she will.
Does what I say and simply I explained the oceans silence.
I must allow the feelings of a beautiful girl to turn and burn.
I made a promise to her that I would with just her only scar.
Her psychology is not going home I have the cheerleader.
Morning comes and circles the good girl and with compassion.
Her name is Rose and how I came to know about her Lily.
I wrote this standing in the bushes child of leaves and only wind.
Under shaded trees it opens fair I whisper out her name.
We crawl out on hands and knees our eyes are out of questions.

James McLain

Playing With Fire

Playing with fire,
I burn your lips they puff out cold from the heat
and the fire
is good therefore playing with that which you like
and liking this fire
your feelings are because of it
my feelings are hidden behind your fat lips
where you making good you make my mouth you try to bite
trying to eat with your mouth full kisses yours are kissed
when you are finished with me already you embrace my arm which is long and suspiciously full and your sister in the shadows watches as it tightens damaged and I grasp at your eyes
they are warm in you it shines dazzlingly
and with you as said to her she whom desires
what you do
but on me your sister would practice
in sleep when you do
and I call out my anger to you leaving me
it flows into you and your sister
you fell asleep when I came.

James McLain

Warm Smell Of It

I like the warm smell of it and feel of it, dates on the palm,
And the thorn, the kiss, the sun how it flashes into flame,
Boldface that sires, the range and sway of it, leaves move at the base.
Than a slice of hope, a touch of the lips, the tip left burning.
Has turned red as a beacon lost in the fog.
The warning light that only you saw, lighter by hand.
Blown brighter by breath coming out from the sea.
The pushing and deep pull of it.
The pump and retention of it, and finally the rejection of it.
White sand, yellow sheets and dark paper's white ink.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Of Rare Beauty

My love of the moon is fourteen percent bigger than usual,
but can you really show me the difference and how?
Tell me speak into my ear is it a trick eyes grow larger.
There are no rulers floating by in the sky,
to measure a specific Lunar diameter yet.
Hanging high overhead with no reference points.
Provide me with a sense of scale,
as one full Moon can seem much like any other.
The best time to look is when the Moon is near the horizon.
That is when bottom illusion mixes with reality to produce underneath a truly stunning view looking up perhaps.
For reasons not fully understood by me though you do.
Low-hanging Moons look unnaturally large.
When they beam through trees,
buildings and other foreground objects.
Why not let the 'Moons illusion' amplify a full Moon,
that's extra-big to begin with, never asking why?
The swollen orb like the eye,
rising in the east at sunset may seem so nearby,
you can almost reach out and touch the face of it.
Even you with a super perigee, that is, as it turns out,
a distance of rare uncommon beauty.

James McLain

Breasts Feeding A Medical Condition

Latter after she removes the first bandage.
Like a large bore barrel shot gun blast.
They the larva were pulled forth up and out.
One at a time from the past where her chest.
And among the many living scars that moved.
Before my eyes the very fact of these maggots.
I found that many of her struggles her breasts.
When moving any creative juices squeezed aside.
Occasionally these many are sightless cunning.
Simultaneously are those beneath out of sight
to the rift apart sewed together feed entirely.
Her drinking of that of which what needing milk.
First of all Romeo is the doctor, Juliet listen he said.
These larvae seated breed deep in your breasts.
Her fat of her chest,
from the tissue and the milk canal they are inseparable.
Rather than thinking of all the milk there outpouring.
Deep holes are there, she really said, 'Oh was surplussed.
Callous and carnivorousness lips of nature,
and even sour because of them my milk you have known.
What will you do when they are gone whom comes after?

James McLain

Michele Bachmann (Mn-6)

When everything is good and it has disappeared in war.
And the earth was universal with wants of world peace.
Reparations labels and chips like him a bible trumpet.
Hurricane preparation dead babies must go some where.
Your husband consumed the concept of time years went.
Stopping by in order to rejoice in nothing but the same,
lost principles and found utopias is it not?
I came not because of you the reverse is unknown here I am.
Insanity is not the reason, the poet speaks to the philosopher.
The predicator and the theology of each person it surrounds.
And which ever book, you never answering is in it searched.
The pretty face of The, Sara Palin at least she shows it.
Breast pumps and the dawn which does not grimace,
which grimaces it is suckled awake the other night.
There was a bit there once where something you like,
of it pressed me just to trust so is shy.
When I come I stand clear of Republicanism normal and boring.
Putting out the false voice of which you would have me speak.
So President Obama and Michele win one more.
To think that power cannot abolish whom ever comes next.
Because he is black and you remind me of Catherine Harris.

James McLain

What Is A Slut

I have been seeing and sometimes this hearing.
At school I am hiding in the bushes simply so I.
Large quantity of woman not quality whom know.
And know they wish even more even knowing.
Which is inquired about this secretly that,
it seems the way.
There is no room at the inn yet they make it.
Is a slut inferior for doing the friend of another>
It seems the girl whom is not or perhaps she does,
with something, I've got no longer because....
Or other friends become inferior because it seems.
Because they know what they have and won't share?
Fat slutty men who are called by woman who are not.
Therefore because I am me the other woman.
And the young person of purity from,
only one father not two like some to the child.
Who lost their husbands or present boyfriend,
many women here where to many have slept in words.
Still I am curiosity was it strong, I think it is.
Is a slut something inferior of your present opinion?
Woman seeing the many forms of the woman who is not?
Does that differ from the prostitute?
Is that recently it is placed under effective gag order,
without becoming S and M?
Before becoming simply the pot,
where the cat calls the black of the kettle someone else?
Another has inferior complex and it seems,
she can call the woman who never is not?
Is this what a slut is the whore that your man leaves?

James McLain

Succubus

I pursued your more woman than mannish laughter.
I having drunk off your vine never being that drunk.
The rocky mountains above the ceiling of glass.
The wind which made the sea heard us laugh.
Invitation invites the bee to sting you where.
The jewel of the mine where it bends is deep.
Large below the world how it shakes and dances.
Me who I am and you shine and came and spread open your wings where we are on the brink where.
Above all else but below the moon it bends with a certain end.
And moderate goddess full with snow it releases.
Exposed upon your chest being washed anew away.
All the wicked dreams below makes the God of heat.
From the coals of the immoral fire twin peaks withstand.
And they are looked upon with blue cold streaks of light ice.
Efforts to procreate can only lead to continuous life more death.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Testing The Water

You are waiting there at the beach.
Testing the water with one hand.
The phone in the other no one texting.
Ready to speak if you are a new G string.
I am behind you one dune over the mound.
Under the tree in your mind by the wind.
Beneath the open sky under the moon
With one finger and then two suddenly three.
I turn slowly but to quickly away.
Between a baby crying gull marks the waves.
The news paper that held warm fish and chips.
I hear the next one always coming,
some one else you know is calling.
Still slightly warm I am running.
I get up again and you go back to sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sexual Attraction

At the hospital where he works.
Speaking he can convey,
with the ninety two year old corpse.
Mirrors every where warm trees cold bushes.
92 leaves speaking she shakes it only for him.
Bony old woman no ham.
After finding the light corpse
he checks the cotton on the rigid smile if it was.
Ninety two years old where you are detained.
You can hear the limbs cracking as the corpse gives.
Turned over on it's belly I seem like observer.
There is no sound commonly appreciated with sucking noises.
It was the very first time,
I had ever seen a shoe horn used on the moon.
Except for the golf swing by Shepard.
Brutal crimes on the dead better I think than on the living, still.
The family has a long history of patients and of those.
Emphatic and it has resonated a cord completely.
Watching him talk as if and it is somber fearfully.
You read to late it written before he came a dying declaration.

James McLain

On The Death Of Your Brother

Blessed child of mine Caroline.
It is lovely, it was deep, he once was a person.
The other person.
Never turning back looked around,
before leaving and to no one he said.
It withdrew that sword I am shielded finally,
in the angel the rock It is sad never morn me.
Coming before you so that you sleep.
That was agreeable with the smile of the angel,
the one sad parent whom cried hands raised, what is left?
Where you go he rises from the ocean of pain,
and the breeze of the wombs perfume.
But as for my leaving death to come visit if even.
Not being the profit, you are not discouraged.
Victory of your life came from my grave.
A clear plastic bag no metal no wood to spare.
No one knows but her for the joy,
and I of mine when your and her monopolized one.
So blessed at lest was one person when he.
Gave me about you in her to rise once more.
Lovely is heaven,
and as for the joy you insisted in leaving her call.
And, the growing to all parents
and from whence in the chest was it given.

James McLain

Against Love

Unexpectedly under the sand.
Deeper the well the water is hotter.
Sorrow drawn from joy, holy water.
Astonished opened eyes of the toy.
Made of wood except for the plastic.
You cheat and the joy of your face being painted,
is in and of itself is itself your joy of color becoming.
Sweetheart like the person from such heat it burns,
friction screams, never silent eternal bones.
Simply because of the damages done to Men.
The weakness of his mistake.
And dumber than any woman makes him love,
therefore it is swampy hot the marsh.
Whom gave such power to her filled with thick fear.
He does not understand.
He was not designed to understand therefor.
His face grimacing.
She thinks of any aspect of his murder.
He is hers the joy.
Depending on the length of her sickness.
She unbeknownst to him does not feel only the ecstasy.
Hereupon and therein greatly is her grimace, still rejoices.
I am only here because you squeezed the life out of him.

James McLain

Filling Station

A spell, a well soaked rag
sits well and nearly out of reach unless.
A spell is when it's open dirty, but is closed.
Oil soaked around the bend the elbow is.

The smell around the bushes how they do.
A little stunted here and there you know because.
Oil-soaked, where gas is sold, soaked coal oil rags.
Patches on the asphalt black translucency.

Pumping, pumping, pump the moving evening dress.
One cut above the knee becomes her considerably.
The motel in the lobby by the pump the awning shows.
A woman pumping gass beneeth the moon it's light.
The window shows her face, it really can not be it is.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Wind I Trust Mistakes

To think of all that you have known.
When coming I stop by.
And trees I see they skirt the open sky.
I look up when you in thought walk by.
When I stop there to near the narrow edge.
The church the steeple bell, the village square.
People are to restless near to pass I often hear.
And whether these are I, about your hand.
They have a way with snow the dark I fear.
The bushes there along the edge next spring.
Layer after layer the wind I trust mistakes.
The stream when frozen flows it smiles beneath.
Each promise never kept for miles and miles.
Before I sleep when coming you, stopped by.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Circle Of Irritation

The anus canal is the last part of the rectum
before the anus.

The lining of the anus canal when perhaps it is because of that though more than likely.

The lack thereof whereupon some damage.

Fissures or the scar (psychological chess) developing,
is called the crack of between.

Can the crack happen to anyone?

If you are to young it is over my head but!

When you become older the center it ages.

Blind and feeling around since birth,

or it is more or less common with the young adult.

When from the crack of each deep cause.

Strange it causes the familial spasm the anus sphincter,
and increases when it is difficult to be repaired.

It is, draws up the vicious circle of pain and the irritation.

Until it is prepared by moody architects.

Escapologists repair infrastructure bridges over rivers.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Brown Eyes Large Light Brown

□

When your parents know what is beautiful.
Born and being here not there with them.
America but their thinking still is conservative.
My large brown eyes they turn many colors.
They are different for the sake of what they made.
Must I run away back deep inside again until.
Values they can't see until something inside must happen?
Then I ran away with my brother thinking that I ran away.
Different we both knew brown eyes, something happens.
My Asian past commuting back and forth,
when coming and when nothing ever happens something.
Which is which?
Confusing this with what they are from where they came.
She is not my child she sees me, nothing like my husband!
Where is the DNA test?
Mum shouted with the doctor.
Your father stopped.
Although it was young, you understood the words.
Flinched inside with all the words.
Is she now variety a parity like the magazine silk covered?
I don't see for the sake her eye modification colors.
Your sunglasses by the stream the running water.
Here are the sunglasses, but Omma...
By the tears, which if by it does it designates.
The are very large
I see both brown eyes when light dark brown.

James McLain

Your Body Your Eyes

You are falling back into me where upon.
Found again in the sea.
Whereas because of the eye.
There you gained I am thinner.
Lines angles degree of separation.
It is lost
with the gathering opposite of your feet.
Red where the apple, and ripping.
Pure alabaster golden bodies.
Which I the sun have burnt.
Twin breasts with eyes of their own.
Your loveliness these two pillars coming I go,
and once more, the fire raises you up.
Symmetrical double length the wood.
The moon is smooth.
Each hemisphere which then billows,
you takeing I take it in.
The fruit the rich smell of earth,
and the coat of the cloud covered ocean.
The flower is circled by fire.
And the candle was lite the window left open,
rise and it expands.
Your body and now open your eyes.

James McLain

Plump Happy Faces

Heaven is not what I can reach in one day.
And sweet golden mist by your other hand.
If but of God you and I then approve.
But a ghost can not come there to often.
Watching both often wonder One has chosen.
Nylon nets heavy and full hang down from above.
Being touched by the way that it pulses.
Good babies the moon plump happy faces.
Glancing back to the future your love could I.
Humming birds flying out of the bushes.
Leaning over the fence each first attempt.
If you could love but one sky and no other.
Drinking wine together turns night into day.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ken

This baby boy was born Ken the most unusual way.
One doll of many which I never show, you know.
Unlike Barbie whom can only pee.
Ken also loves to drink one percent milk.
Ken was taught to properly speak legal ease.
Ken pissed and pissed and pissed and you know.
Number two and you and two.
Ken urinates urine and colors of the rainbow and you?
Barbie is a hoarder most are bipolar to.
Ken through her stove out,
but kept the iron because Ken has muscles a beard and you.
The wee little lipstick blueberry candy a miniature of you and.
Then puberty in private these thoughts through his head.
Barbie ran with the magic of sweet painted lips and Ken.
Kens nose was much larger than Barbies it possesses.
Those that were Barbies are Kens and kisses and you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Open Gardens Of Love

Not to long after the sun has partly risen.
Open gardens of love blanket the clouds.
Reincarnated we often came before long after.
Death only wants us happy.
Only after your hands new age of grace is love.
Every song you sang let it be.
When ever I walk through the ring of fire.
The garden only if some prefer.
Only then did you come alone to the hill.
Our foot prints there time we forgot.
Alone on the beach from the mound.
Venus built I saw looking down the lone valley.
The valley of the butterfly in it you sat a river.
Sucking noises soft whimpers and quite cries.
Come from the gulls others from, Whippoorwills.

Sylvia Plath a leafless dress dangerous brown eyes.
Her bruised avocado open eyelids days of fire.
And sunny again curled lofts of green hay.
Special as a child off not to far a thunderstorm.
From the depths of the sea air from the sea smells different.
Open the moon reflects off the leaves on the bushes.
Deep inside ruffled silk infused kiss by kiss, being strong.
It helps too be pretty and lovely green babies by her other.
And in each hand are ten angels and they are swearing.

James McLain

Mount Hood

Slowly I walked up,
and down the sides of the not quit a hill
worn down once mount hood.

Pitched out in the dark the slippery black road.
Knowing you had no idea of where I was.
Keeping my head up.
Keeping my attention.
Narrow yellow lines along the edges.

Every now and then the sky would open up, and cry.
I started to walk a little faster,
but you would just stop and watch me back up.
Looking behind me,
you saw more mirrors in front of the bushes
coming towards me.

Running was all I could do,
or at least all I knew at that moment to do.
Closer, and closer when ever they got.
Until with jarring force it seemed they went through me.

Turning I dived and splashed to the bottom.
Opening my eyes never again there I looked.
Into the vast openess of nothing,
warm yellow dark blue,
and some times light green the water.

James McLain

River Willow 2

The flowers rocked off it's axis of raceme.
Where those itself are called catkin from stamens.
The sun opens are each tens odoriferous glands,
and attendant the two become one there upon.

Together from two, droop it is related or amend.
Simply by having love became.
Being inserted in the basis of the scale,
it changes wildly the wind down stream the total.

This scale is hairy in elliptic and the whole leaf,
fanning the water and the near emergency.
Then anther being the bud, it is optimistic,
but after the flower opened, it is orange or purple.

And two celled, you open the cell it is lengthwise.
The filament threadlike ethereally transparent.
Often is hairy or not.
Then usually shallow water yellow, and frequency.

James McLain

River Willow 1

Is this which the flower.
Dioecious of the man and the woman.
Whom appear
as catkins of the plant which one differs?
Catkins the leaf, or before opening,
is quick as a new leaf in the spring, is created.
Frequently mixed pink,
and staminate () the flower of the man dies or corolla.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Last Second

Suddenly the fog it feels the taste I smell.
Perfume after she inside I am compeled.
Is it heaven obtained from ends that in her head,
her eye and throat which does.
Zeze I breath,
from more because of fear and her last frontier.
Canyons swollen from the rain that falls outside.
Light blooms within her gloom inside her head.
Substance of and her own destiny which caused.
No hallucination it never seemed it was.

She thought that we would like to be happy, family.
She was right I never left I stood between her breasts.
She is the reason that his execution is cruel and kind.
Her second heart, his beats he knelt to feel her pulse.
She stated that is when he came,
and became that paradise inside her hell on earth.
Like the beating hearts,
all came to watch and do they care what it feels like?

James McLain

If I Blink

Sometimes it's not always about treasure.
Sometimes it's a part of a much larger service.
Rather sometimes a large service,
is a prerequisite to each a good party.

Of volunteers may I say and sometimes.
You are very unique with your journey.
Sometimes most of the requests
are usually but for yours most requests.

To help locate lost prisms and jewelry.
Can you now hold on to...iip?
The keys to the Bentley.
I rest so that you and sometimes I go on.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Curve Of Your Face

Ring of mine dance taste once of time.
I came to smile, rain is sweetness.
Or dance under the moon.
To you I would bow,
so hush is to you included the center.
Each curve of your face where your eyes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wearing The Same Jeans

My eyes over the years most certainly have.
Watching the bread I am forsaking butter.
Have not faded not being as sharp and you.
My fingers may no longer be within reach.
Now and then a little blue cheese it is good.
Long and slim,
across the pianos ivory short squat blunt keys.
Keeping a full figure in youth required only.
Slow drawn in breath exhaled and stretching.
Firm vs muscle.
The balance beam and the ring.
Pommeling the horse with more than vigor.
Gravity does this now to the coconut.
And the milk is rich in this,
what you do still, I have to keep breathing.
There is full and there it is that word fuller.
Watching you pull your jeans on even then but.
Now where you were once loose you are full.
And full you are loose,
wearing the same jeans you wore back then.

James McLain

Whims And Wants

That desired whims and wants place.
Where behind me all I have you left.
Hard pointed, sharp brilliant facets.
Squeezed, I feel the pressure of life.
Responsibility of age,
life has come to where death is gone.
And of complication.
All but forgotten disappear.
Now they are possible,
for you to open up to see and explore.
Rediscovered it is reality uncovered.
Look at the moons crowning glory.
By some is now by all, seen achieved.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Accelerated Rehabilitation

A misdemeanor hangs right above you.
Unmet reinvented,
without just cause simply whereof I because.
Safe houses harbor no children, full condos.
Unless adjudication,
is withheld, unknown by you one never challenged.
Prima facie stands mute,
and dress reversible, spoke of no allocution.
Revision of statutes to reflect is draconian.
Child care is where the dealers heart is a bargain.
Drug charges, drug testing sings of living in custody.
Once I loved the plain definition information of a felony.
D.U.I - is no problem if you,
come sit in the back of the car and rest here upon it.
Green some hand held, Idaho fat Mac potatoes,
I poised with the gun that once fired in upon them.
Federal Judges and State Judges,
and beautiful deep wells, public defended attorneys.
To be a Client is more than the world is my privilege,
and no attorney in Florida on the weak, rest our judgements.
By day it is right wrong court show cause order.
Where all is commercial and the law is delito.

James McLain

Brown Eyes Shaken

Brown eyes being shaken.
Turning all of my mind lays open awake.
Stating I ask with sigh.
Brown eyes open the center awake.
Love is when brown.
Eyes of such that are brown.
Where sunrise tries to hide.
Those of, 'God,
when the woods were then young.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Brown Of Color

Mysterious,
brown is covered with your veil.
Splendid the dream,
which with is within passion.
But is full with some others sleep.
Indistinct the other no ones guest.
Abruptly the eyes are wide open.
Beautiful the color of brown.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Brown Eyes

Aye they are both soft and brown.
Above the sky.
Under the moon near the well.
Lashes across the back.
The bloom of orange blossoms.
Blood shot and long.
The eyes young and brown.
Empty the well at present.
Jolted awake, electric lights flash.
Humid depth of summer offers the night.
When they blink like that there,
look the eyes are of beautiful brown.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Doctor Sapling

Any ways

im a teenager and iv been masturbating,
iv masturbated and,
and now there are stains on my favorite place
and provably above and below my sheets.

then dont worry
my parents are detectives.
should i worry?
how bout do you
when you were young
and when your old and
before you went to heaven.

im not worried about my sheets
theyll get washed, by me
but is there anything i can do to wash away the stains on my favorite place
to the naked eye and the black light?

Or should i wait
until just before and during after,
after i paint it a new color
so when more pudding is made the mess it leaves a stain
and it gets painted over?

sunday when i go to church should i stay home
and when they leave
just go
dont go to far away.

James McLain

High Above The Moon

It was never yours to be the fewer.
And to be not ever less.
Valuable is each coming day.
I did not want not to be to many less.
When it is not the coming brings new dawn.
To distant to remove our intervals.

Facts that you the face of time appears.
Then reappears more obstinate than before.
Something is expected if you like this are you not?
Sometimes this dispute with me it never really is.
Shorelines without limit, reason only limits.
Shorelines of sand I cannot with you can identify.
Transparent linen beaches where at either end.
When full it can not ever end but end, in reach it does.
My reason leads directly high above the moon around.
To the place I saw you first there where it glows.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Girl Emo

Being addicted to cutting.
It releases those endorphin's.
I can get that feeling from fingers or his junk.
Just think about what you're doing,
and how it'll affect your after life.
If you wanna walk,
just be kind or watch you cut me.

Cutting could do that,
but honestly it makes since.
Now that I think about when I used to cut myself,
though how no one called me Girl Emo.
You did.

I know exactly what the others never did.
I cut to feel alive to know I'm not dead.
To feel stronger,
and when I see the blood come down his arm,
I feel it, I feel it when I'm full of more than love.
I did it.

James McLain

Grew Her Heart Full And Heavy

Green and in your garden
I grew roses—only lily knew.
No frowns and open smiles.
Through transparent windows.
Where I stood.
Hopeless I am being.
Please or I must burst.
Kissing moon it opens.
It reflects the sea.
The oceans is not dark it is not white.
And warm each time I come again.
Where sweet lips-silk a rose.
Your closet girls do want too open up the sky.
Your salted palms.
A man of no uncertain color runs.
Pity me the gardener with but one yellow eye.
Where roses full and heavy only grew.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Being Sniffed

This hereditary mutation of heredity
induces excessive excretions of more of ones.
Self esteem.

[noirozetorimechiruamin]

Thinking by others it is put off poor hygiene.

Mixed with the smell of rotting fish,
mixed sightseeing you noticed since missed.

Do you remain unattached?

You recall that you recommend to heredity.

This traumatic childhood continuing experience.

Brings between mild then harsh mental influence,
whispered many by in school they said.

Shame and perplexity,

and the failure of the experience of Affected.

Try to grasp and hold what I have to contain.

No relationships where no root or tongue is deep.

Because of the smell of rotting fish.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Arguments Disarray

Many days and days to many.
Think all those leaves I blew.
You scattering,
and hanging moss those others.
No one there I was you are we were.
To face the clouds above alone,
on certain days below of which is done.
All the, the's the buts because unknown.
The experience I have of that to you it is.
How there were of those.
The ring forever stretched why mercury turns
gold so white and stays like you until I.

Never & Eulogy; Permanently, Inc.
When we as people, leave these voices heard.
It is more than possible, it is conquered.
Many days and turning intervals go by,
hours, seconds time.
While our arguments disarrayed and...

James McLain

Without My Any Memory

Even after Love.
When you are sleeping
I have often come again.
Lips open
kissing stings the bee.
And being John,
I must not love you here.
Young or old no longer
I can see their faces.
Gardens I have kept you divide.
Wells that still now whisper,
grieving you have kept Growing yellow abba (father)
overhead the pulling moon.
Do we lie to whom,
this bed none made above the star.
Each cloud I long to part.
Because each day.
Open souls,
and like wise minds.
Where one love himself
with her came back again.
To dream the dream we dream.

James McLain

Good Morning It Is, Actually

There are to many times.
The way
day rhymes with night.

Looking,
I am who can sit.
You look at
from the mountain
tall and high?

It seems that
I like lily.
By the pond.

Without thorns
I see one rose
but
it looks odd.

PoemHunter.com

Out of place
it has
the feel off that?

Like the bird
that sees a worm.
In mid flight
but has a fever.

Without feathers.
And on hearing
that two without one ever being
had before.
Both never had.

When it called,
good morning
and the morning, Lied!

James McLain

Do We Ride Dark Horses

If I again ride or come nigh.
Leisurely paced,
and thrust into now.

The piston the ring
slowing it down.
To a reasonable pace
as I turn to the sound.

The horse is slapped
across her sweaty rump.
Ten thousand times.
To get on.

A valley some calls
one the butterfly.
Certain mountains
run off as before.

Deep at the gate
the sea is a tongue.
When free
it can never change.

Uncle Albert
my best friend loves you.
Golden and pure
they are
because your best friend
loves you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Burning Hearts

From the woods.
Crawling up and in and out your dress.
To the ant the apples seen.
One no longer with the clothesline.
Painted hopping rabbits crescent moons.
Blinking eyes and how I stood for noon.
Thinking to the woods again so soon.
The apple polished gleam, you think, perhaps.
Fuzzy still the mustache.
Mommy does she know and Daddy skilled.
Or the skin before I could move aside the wrinkle tears.
Burning hearts are fierce.
Fixed relativity are your dreams, that with him.
The laundry is I think in four not three dimensions.
And that bashfulness.
You smile from front to rear.
I smile at you you think my smile.
Where deep inside the bush there are to many.
I wait upon the leaf outside then move alongside,
a fictitious outline of your face from there to here.

James McLain

Instant Is Our Day

If I have taken less or more for truth.
When now I know what's best I never knew.
I was for ever young and in my youth.
Wisdom,
recon-pence because those times.
I am for that
I'll always be are you as well, now sorry.

Of that my life
I can not live a second time around.
This my life the next.
And my flaws
so many were and they still are.
Busy little bees the candle wick they burn surrounds.
Once again I ask the sun.
As I wind down, but wisdom never came.

I do not mind the sweat of that from which I came.
Mountains slowly hide their face.
The rivers slow their flow.
The cover of the sea will hide us all when in the end.
Compared to many to the few mistakes I made.

j.l.b.

James McLain

Golden And So Pure

How ever that it is the best remains.
Turning to the front I face the rear.
You rejoice I speak of compromise,
the moon above perhaps.

Shaking joy and dictation of.
The voice that whispers it is done.
A second time, from whence it came?
The value of such love.
Falling golden and so pure, I sit still.

Pungent is the smell of coming rains.
Rain that is the air of yellow spring.
This summer it is long, it is green.
Where summer goes, competes with fall.
And winter never came, until you did.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Countless Centuries

Out weighed by only standing time.
I have fled into some distant land.
Hot this land your fingers have,
I begot.
Memories you can never trade,
I forget.

Fire and ash I have come and gone.
Wind and foam,
and none are mine to you, all are.

Coming I am sand and I am dust.
How could one not but know of this?
Unless when time again, I it permits
Why must I wait, upon your turn again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ringling Bells

Queen I have appointed under you.
Queen to all but one, none other.
Queen to you,
I have never discharged, duties higher.
Your emerald eyes you are green you are queen.
And when you show them it is there.
What they came and stood to see.
The sound of rivers flowing from my body.
How you made me shake the bluest velvet sky.
Seven days a week the ringing bells,
and a hymn so vast completed, fills the air.
Only you and I.
And you said I and I said you.
Love once never mine, we shared to listen to it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tree Of Life, And Woman

Tree of life, woman?
Candle of midnight I left concerning
all night burns.
Luminous surrounding.
The cricket outside rubbing legs.
Sitting humming are not ever still.
If trust I must,
the smell is musk dogwood shells.
Eyes closed open tight.
Reflection of the moon I hide my tears.
He is there on the other side of where?
What is of left mine are muffled sobs.
You come and stand outside in the rain.
No one hears you call my call dear.
Each secret woman knows.
Forbidding this I know.
Knowledge that was swept away
now floats between each coast.
The legs of Titans made of marble I engraved.
Lest between from you and me from there I go.
With the pretext of the removed cloth.
And neath this mask a flash of sulfur night.
I am compared by you to he, unto you big.
If Apollo after Zeus whom then first came?
I came before, Infinity then is of your own control.
Where I am in you, I am by no means so much small.
Your secret spreads I kiss.
Hushed my hand your eye a Cyclops made.
And I withdrew the other firmer kiss.
Who covers all such never ending love.
Because we March off into the never ending war.
Electric is such dark that they see it far beyond the sky.
When mortal beings only wish to die and die.

James McLain

Tree Of Life, A Woman's Will

Tree of life, a woman's will, midnight candle left all night is burning bright.
The crickets outside rubbing legs are never still.
The smell of musk of dogwoods bark,
eyes closed tight and beneath the moon I hide my tears.
Is there any more of this, whats left of mine,
come and hold it out in neither hand you call my dear?
Each secret woman knows,
closemouthed tight lipped his knowledge kept apart
between each shore.
Titans legs of marble chase me from to there I go.
Under cover of the moving sail,
and neath the mask of that the lightning starts.
Am I likened unto you great thy grasp infinity?
Where I am to you I am not at all so small.
Your secret kiss.
Hushed me with the sensual kiss.
Which covers all such love is why we march to war.
Electric such the dark are lights seen far across the sky.

James McLain

Coffee For My Men And Tea For My Horses

Free from pain I didn't catch it when you did.
Coming when yours does from where it goes.
To reach the highest point where your placed upon.
A crown of thorns around your brow the cactus saw.
Reading the report that defiantly never said.
You appreciated all the medicine.
Do we specialize as to where and where is there.
Does it not happen was the moon to full to spread.
Or hiding there beneath simply the spectacle.
People looking through the window just to see.
Dissatisfaction with the G.O.P.
Go forth and testify and everlasting is the key.
Go forth and test the waters arid testing,
test your destiny of our destinies lost somewhere out there.
How sweet the sound from your thin lips and mercy dear.
Is not fellatio a new form of abuse?
Tied to a tree the calf got half way loose?
While receiving more abuse then any man could ever handle.
You did just fine and fine you do it more.
But you do and it is never lacking find your hidden joy.
[God] when life was given- It was never given is a truth.
Whose truth is just and that's the truth now you come back.
Because as for the people drinking Tea of that Governor Perry.
Of the latter day today not poured forth from yesterday.
But when tomorrow comes you say is not Bible Beater.
Hearing it once said,
Coffee for my Men and Tea for my Horses.

James McLain

When You Dream About Machines

Alive if it does not remain love dies.
Love it is is not.
Sleep is not that magic dream it is not love.
One lunatic or is it two insane.
Are you up at night but sleeping in the day.

The weight of heavy feral cows and rural farms.
Decayed and rusted stanchions, without hay.
To love, I'm tired, you dream about machines.
The milk is all I have it's from my other Jersey.

If it is bitter with a certain taste you must give.
If it is denied,
you force the head back in the stanchions there until.
The request of love -It is not bitter,
but in case it is not.
It cannot be denied it cannot be refrained.
It is not but is confirmed.
Love like that is heavy and the burden -You must give.

The return of it is not for the sake of it,
but the characteristics of even larger amounts
which is given as if in thought by only you.

James McLain

Brushes Branches May Not Rest

Brushes branches may not rest.
The tree limbs leaves the moss at rest.
Roots have brushed your other hand,
and I have heard the wind it moans as well.

Hidden from the child, I am in you.
Unlike all the rest I like day time there to rest.
Small and dark your almond eyes.
Pods of peas so green uncommon sweet.
And were you in the picking soon to wise?

Glimmers flicker it is thin and I am full with gloom.

The last bird, my last bird, I say to you have known.
Brushes branches may not rest and folding circles.
In the woods down by the farm I wait up on the fence.
And nets held up nets keep it up otherwise is flight.
Black the sky,
the ceiling low -how long or short the night.

No shadow of your face your smile I see for miles.

James McLain

Pheromones

On journeys back looking up counting stars.
If close is to close,
and the rocky out crops is close to the root of the tree.
Stay only close very close to the edge.
The shadows at the edge of deep woods,
by one bush, this night counting stars.
Not a cloud mixed with the skies.
The sea has not pulled back her veil.
My eyes further plunge down red ravines.
Sitting atop spinning around the real-world.
And them I meant those from the woods.
And I mean those whom have had once mounts,
and of all that I've seen of nature.
Nothing controls and nothing can stop.
Pheromones that can bend our will to there smell.
Reaching out to crest the next hill, I' foam of their peak.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Being Born A Man With Certain Needs

And with a woman's breeding comes necessity.
Fair is not the concept of my buxom type?
Up the path and through the treed woods.
Along the trail around each bush,
the leaves I follow fast with your approach.
Some thing that I smell it hastens needs along.
Fair is the attraction and the pheromones work.
Being born a man with certain needs,
designed to make the pulse each living beat!
Which by one is so the night is clear.
Being he of whom you seek,
and because fair hearts by he can be exploded.
When a man with certain needs you meet a second time.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dear Evie

Is this how your garden grows in secret too.
Daddies and Mums little girl.
Is the ocean floor filled with fingers
that dance and toes that move the air?
I am he of whom you think,
and think you don't when I am gone.
Your mother when she smiles and clever does.
Your father he is Greek so I confess I won't.
Could I but love one sky.
I long to raise and share the donkey milk.
Sunday aches when more than money is involved.
The art of war a book I read,
and on the beach alone before I come.
Overhead the moon each azimuth seems transparent,
and silence is by dad I'm told on how to eat a peach.

P.S.

Keep in mind
that heaven is a different sign - to my only daughter.

James McLain

Roses Grow And Mary Gold

The pin and thread remains the bottom button is.
Between your finger and my thumb.
Looking up at me she states, Securely, as a gun.
When her window under mine, the clicking sound.
My father whom from you is why I'm here.
Running off like you, your garden I have fairly dug.
As for treats the peat between the flowers go to bed.
Where Roses grow and Mary gold,
look where it is you see and where it goes.
Rough boots I toe the ground and draw it closer still.
The wagon wheel has hit a rock come grease the shaft.
In addition to his being high because of this new low.
Bright red the edge look deeply we are buried near the edge.
Free to choose is best if made to eliminate,
love is hardness when hot our hands are never cool.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Temptation

Father knew about the Devil.

Through temptation and alter girls.
Mother Superior,
was tempting him.
With girls like me.
He had to resist!

Coming twice a day to confession.
Concessions make the drapes
that open and close both ways.

Pulled,
the curtain shut and sat down.
About half way up solid wood.
Father could see if someone else other We.
Mostly the finer details.

Bless me again and again, Father.
For I have not really sinned.
It's been...two maybe three hours since my last Concession.

Halfway to becoming a woman,
do not be embarrassed about what you have seen done to your self,
and the others that see what they watch.

She was about to make a concession for Father about. I have sinned by playing with myself,
by masturbating in class.
And the others we sat in one great circle.
and Father?

Father ask how many times child?

To masturbating, Father and I.

You know I should not have,
but many, many times. It started when you were eight nearly seven.

Father how did it start?

One of my girlfriends showed you how to do it.
She sold Mother Superior
that you rubbing myself down there would.
Make Jesus smell sandalwood good.
You were alone, and we took off our panties,
and I showed her my lips and the rest kissed to.

Father?

She reached
under her short skirt and ran her fingers over her rouge lips and Father
bit his tongue on the outside of her.
Tiny tight
green lights, feeling a tremendous erotic chill.

James McLain

Solitude

You divide each echo in delightful sound,
but withdraw from the head of pleasure.
If you make sounds of solitude rejoice,
one person your heart thus pursues.
If you make him grieve, then turn, go.
She would have all whom think,
that the eye we all want is her joy.
Solitaire loves solitude all the way entirely,
but your sorrow is not needed.
If it is delightful and it is,
your lips when kissed are elastic and firm.
One friend is larger countless numbers.
If it is sad it is sad only if when you chose.
Those kisses, those lips the moon lost entirely.
Drinking from your cup
nectar and wine are squeezed independently.
Purple passion green leaves long heavy vines is life.
You must drink.
The banquet hall and your table are congested.
It is fast, the world it is fast fast it is it goes.
If it succeeds and gives in to us what is this of solitude?
There is a room in the hole of the joy.
There is a room before the passage.
Where the pain I cry in solitude I cry because it is long.

James McLain

Stare Decisis Et Non Quieta Movere

Why do some boys wear Boxers,
and girls wear panties under dresses?
I asked Father Wilkins.
Because!
He replied and latter I realized that.
One of the Nuns,
most common psychological tricks.
Is the constant misuse of the word because.
Simply uttering the word, because.
Tends to convince people that you are correct,
and logical.
Even when you have said nothing meaningful at all.
The great power of the word, because.
Has even been known to have the girls pull down their skirts leaving their panties on while the alter boys wearing Boxers fall on hard times.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Labor And Contractions

Using the minimum of effort,
which is necessary in order to manage each contraction.

This helps with fatigue.

The leaves are beginning to rustle.

In advance,

some feelings of all technologies is avoided afterwards.

The breath which becomes clean how?

In beginning each contraction, deeply.

Watching he takes your breath through his nose,

you cough and spit and it comes peeping out.

(those near the top of this list)

And knowing no better,

he inquires about the head coming out your mouth.

Which other people can do, spit it out with a rebel yell.

When that contraction ends,

another deep finger red is clean?

Passing by your nose, it sucks slowly,

in order first to deflate, your stomach does and your box.

Passing by your mouth which he does,

and splits your lips, spit it out slowly.

Breath almost normal half being attached, is slow,

relaxed, it should, is.

When by his use you again use?

Advantage goes to the woman, be slow, be easy and try the relaxation treatment promises are made that it will.

Many women are slow, slow many woman are not.

What can cause the feeling of hips being split.

Peacefulness comes by losing consciousness.

With no insurance the pain is the suffering.

Passing by my mouth asleep, he sucks,

finally the doctor comes and I spit it out.

The lips are relaxed small little it smiles, it is soft.

His breath is shallower with my slow breathing I explode.

James McLain

Queen Of The Moon

Each full moon Li Po,
pink pearls flowers deep in the well.
Down by the city that sleeps.

Looking up at it it seems mere inches
from my face.
My desire washes your face my love,
of wine
and your hand stretches me out piano blues.

Remember dangerous minds,
is this your secret too lost children today
have a care one day in their hands.

Li Po in the valley of hope tonight said.
When she comes,
bending over it beats and it burns
the first time.
Queen of the moon unkempt I bath in the stream overwhelmed, by the smell in the air.

□

James McLain

In Florida, The Verdict Was Death

Red neck Decisions allowed to procreate.

Why?

When by electrocution

was to good for the man to be proper humane.

Across the street where I lived for seven years.

There was no stand up decision.

Directly, going for the center right before.

You never heard the prisoners grunts,

as his rectum was packed with two pounds of cotton.

Some of the guards stiff at attention come with excitement.

The flood of damage, the brains entire separation,

stripes of flesh rip is hit hard and so painfully.

Like a boxer over and over striking every where at once.

Or, witnessed the other way,

as the covered eyes for her are expanded some explode.

Raped of dignity,

brown smiles fingers larger than mine, walking and talking.

The place where it is, my friend of reluctance.

Around the circle of my mouth unseen,

my tongue is longer than any you have kissed.

What kind of lips give off the mirage which flickers?

Roll one is true then to roll three and four.

Until the advancement of D.N.A. came to late.

In Florida,

The Verdict Was Death what is it like to be White?

Atonement and I,

and to you a fond farewell, I send you each my greeting.

James McLain

Sweet Sister

Like me when you have known.
The charm of my sweet sisters.
And sincere from infancy at any age,
you whom are only because,
you never had one I stand above this.

The envy compared to the year when it matures,
or the smile where you are bitterer than damaged wine.
But perfume like hers from the open flower.
Which crosses the line of infancy,
home run period for hours, petrified forest atrophies.

The voice growing quick to joy is delightful,
sweet is my sister she seems like a calmness.
Obtaining - sea.
She enjoys each quick spring.
From the time when time thought which I knew.

And by some puritan thoughts I detect I should wither.
If you could must would you have a sweet sister?
From time before those times the flower was.
O' she cries and my pride how it swells my sweet sister.
Obtaining - her faithful life long friend.

Her brother pledged,
and our pride and her power increased.
Tears of sorrow released which were broken.
And pleasure as each revolution of earth,
spins out of control but carefully.

James McLain

One Stable Poem

Rising expectations,
momslikeme.com her moon is to full.
Inside of the sun lazily I drift by.
Quite times like these are but a dream.
One queen for Solomon I have not seen.
Eddies merge towards the middle.
Mainstream over the river Styx,
to silent is my noon.
I taste it the trinity of love,
though their faces can not be again seen.
I know too useless are unnecessary deaths.
For the lack of just one stable poem.
Loud or quite in the beginning I strain at the darkness.
It like you it drains what is left of my soul.
A lonely child today, tomorrow a young girl.
Breast pumps loudly sucking,
after a days crossing, the river comes her boy.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Goth Adult Woman

You knew of my home room weakness,
painted female hands, alone or in private.
Nails with teeth your collar drips spikes.
I dream of countless misunderstandings.
Giving all else more of the long sting.
Red open bloom as tears flood the valley of breath.
With you, I am learning how to cry this summer again.
The smell of darkness gives way
and I give you more than the bright yellow light.
Your silver spray it drains off my soul.
Completely inside where it's warm just my head hanging out.
I speak of what I must feel life comes from strong muscles.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fetish

Of all that were yours I chose those.
It was if you had just left them.
On top of the colored pile.
Like butterflies seeking in search of.
And over the lip, soaked completely.
As for me openly between us no secrets.
Verified by direct deposit.
The womanly smell of taboo seemingly.
Multiple addition becoming divided aware.
Emptied because of her friend did she herself urinate.
Except for her friend the yellow soiling,
where it was dampened.
The panty was all to warm still.
Steamy.
Therefore as she speaking to her friend has removed those,
she herself got them so wet,
exactly from her,
but you must be to some degree to understand.
I put those to my nose,
started licking around the area which her friend dampened.

James McLain

Abercrombie Girls

On the beach today what I saw this she knew.
A young girl teasing and not from Virginia.
Rubbing oil even there.
Pretending not to pretend as I pretend not to look.
It is all the young people,
and they have found me out where I go.
Rasputin every where which the man never exposes.
The woman are actors adjusting their cats.
They really do when he walks by discussing turtles.
I tell them I'm a poet and I need to ask questions about bikinis.
Why certain colors are chosen over emerald green and how when it's white one can see all the leaves.
Some girls too young to mention but old enough.
Know what they show effects more than fingers and laugh.
The mothers of these potential high maintenance is no child.
She said, you go away young and come back full grown.
Even now a very young mother and older daughter,
over exposes is lovely the girl of the girl of new picture room.
Oops she is privileged and young and exposes it freely.
The girl is famous it is young administers,
and the baptism of this teen is the chicken seen inhaled.
The baby mother of a full grown teen double exposed.
More and more are moving up and down the beach,
just to prove that the power of the bikini over fingers.
Then one bikini of the bikini of a teen of the donkey walks past.

James McLain

Under Shaded Trees-Haiku

Green leaves
Gives light to the trees
To hide the sun I tease

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Open Still Night Remains

What does she think as I stand at the gate.
Open gardens,
blowing wind and the rain by her hand.
Open gardens once closed the day after I smell it.
After the storms when you come.
Bent is the neck.
Kissed by lips my dreams from the heart.
It is this world of eye balls and sea-slides.
Did we not do,
how can we lie about beauty.
It is the color in the forest the secret of love.
Because it helps too be pretty and eyes are what matters.
If by God you approve it.
Some day after I thought of you, I can you smell it.
Your too many secrets,
and more than one rose as I climb the hill to touch it.
I can not stay here come quickly they have arrived.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Net Full Of Fish

Silent are my thoughts lest my mouth.
I was and remain today still amazed.
Even when a severely handy capped little boy.
Drew the other boys and girls,
to the net full around.
All species of birds but the crane I point out.
Upon the lip of the bucket it stood.
Reminding me of trying to spear fish in a barrel.
Us walking the shore with the net full of fish.
I remember I heard the little girl say,
my father is a doctor are the birds all actors?
Why did the sea gull pluck the green back from my hand?
A wing and a prayer did it touch even your hand?
Sitting down watching them feed the birds I noticed.
Two brothers taking turns kissing one fish.
choking on the water I was drinking, I said.
Your mother will smile when she sees what you did.
Against your being or influenced by something I said.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Goth Girl

He wipes his tears over my eyes.
Silence is my world in which he lives.
Over time it is hard to resist the sand man.
The hour glass figure I have up or down.
I can over come these feelings,
hard is he to withstand.
Without leaving he walks in and out of my life.
In this silent world with him do I live.
Black boots to my knees wrapped around his head.
With him you live with the smell the smell of you.
Giving in once again how can it get any larger.
The flood of the sun leaking out in rivers of dark.
When the shadow inside it is deep.
Being hard to withstand, overcome.
Like the dart board I am red ink, deeply penned.
I am lost in himself it is me that is lost once more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why My World

Tonight from all the other ones.
Life which sleep it loves.
Closer at my door shots in the distance.
Shadows to left and right wrong hand.
Either and the other one pierced full.
Above all-mentioned empty of all things.
Pipes blowing smoke ring in all directions.
Independently,
it comes not as you know the entire world
why my world must shares your damage?
Fortnights traded several naught but one,
and between the hedges that were green.
How many ranks and rows of all the years?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When, Cities Sleep

There you have me kneel down between,
by your hands being humbled.
Tied down on your bed you read me your poetry.
Pushing down my tears back from whence they came.
Tears of your pink God.
And with each pulse you go on.
Hearing them the poems black each little cut.
I thought of you unconscionably,
you must stay free this grip on my neck is to tight.
It is said that Charles Bukowsk is reincarnated.
I sit too wait alone in this bed as an island in the stream.
I know too when cities sleep.
Your too many secrets sweet golden mist.
Dreams of you I long for sex under your mirror at home.
Humming bird songs drift by lazily your life is it's wealth.
My earliest memory of your vagina is that I must burst from it.
The burning edge of desire the waves, open red lips.
I am safe from the storm in your arms.
And the price that you make me pay is to stay
minuets then seconds from your lips.

James McLain

Charles Bukowsk Reincarnated

To come and go
and not be afraid of the light.
Again I'm a child and my secrets
I have chosen can you love me?
Death will come this I know
slowly I grow you remember.
The bottles were colored when first I arrived.
Hairy eyes hiding tremors pass.
I agonize once again arsenic moons.
A man makes his bed yet a child and his maid.
Starched white shirts in the closet I hide
from the church.
Mary wept but the nuns make me weep even more.
Loneliness is a face never seen.
I drink it all as a child what they allow.
Buds and bells heaven is not full of metaphors
I can change but I won't.
When I write best this way unlike you.
Your will I don't want just my cat.
Coming back here your heart once mine was too heavy.
Wide and straight the road.
Narrow paths for dark horses the moon the clouds
they pass by me lost without you my bed wetter.
God help me I can once again hear loud sucking noises
soft whimpers and quite cries for a price.
Mummy the bottle on the floor it is empty.
She comes in a double glass, blood red dress.
I did not write this because of the hairy eye hiding.
But children and their secret lips confessed.

James McLain

Wild Flowers

The snake that listlessly waits.
Sleepy eyed glass it has lids.
To turn out the lights.
Long it is slim there but thick.
Wrapped around her short arm.
It tries and still it waits.
Head in hand like that rolling tumble weed,
over yonder and writing sweet words.
That make me more there damp I weep,
and watching the fist tighten slowly.
Dozing off suddenly.
And it is hot lightning injection fast.
It is over and under sharp is the gasp.
As she become quiet in nocturnal sleep.
Reestablished order comes over the hood.
Is, to wait please be through sleeplessness.
(one did not think) the thrill of such beings!
Hers is the wild flower that turned tears into stone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If America Should Die

Once more for us as less for some is more.
For some about us laugh as others cry and die.
For that I'm you, inquire about the word before.
Yellow it is old the earth is younger than the sky.
Once like yellow shiny candy was the, 'moral Law.
Not the law that never was my morals their's are not.
Far the right would put me there back on the rack.
And make me eat my,
what is to their wives milked Salmon.
Extracted and re-sheathed,
does it not exclude the sword and,
' Freedom rings; Once more, that mankind cuts?
Every meeting where each nation tries to stand once more.
And if it be the enemy where to each came out.
And it was slowly by some other much to quickly,
Joan was to the stake.
Consolation to each half of us,
not he nor me but they would all scream out!
Seven continents and joy -The rock she graceful ages.
I tremble at the thought that when I walk I hear them talk.
And the profit which is brought is slowly to his knees.
They shrank the day, in order not to face the living night.
Because of each,
and each one the life that others which should have.
Someone stands behind my fall your cry of freedom heard.
If America should then die, then no one where has lived?

James McLain

Our Open Hearts

Not hearing the rain.
There is a complete lack of silence.
Water that falls which is silent.
Being different from the rain.
Order in order.
Order our open hearts.
Do not.
Do not go down to the clouds.
Where by the eye.
Floating by we become tired.
As the air through the moss on the leaf.
Because the green fluffy moss,
which has become brown due to our limited words.
Twigs fight with the leaves,
and round is the center to give you my heart,
to make it easy, to wash.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

This Is The Dream

Speaking softly of all that went on today.
I have weakly said that I swear by your hand.
I have said but you make my head go to bed.
Tomorrow but tonight up against right before.
The window of our destiny all of their misfortune.

Whose chance is smallest?
Because do I ask with her share.
I immediately before falling asleep go away.
Perhaps,
like the boat which floats down in hope.

My body this body dressed in orange by all seen.
Where I am, who it is that I am, whom but the few knew.
I am sitting there waiting near the door of your room.
Resting my head full against it.
Facing the porch through the moving dream window.
I fell asleep.
Touching the one you would open and come out of.

James McLain

Gone Is The Moon

Bowed and bent has humility finally over come me.
Under what once was is no longer grand.
The wind has caused the flag,
to intertwine with my wispy white beard.

Crows and eagles have come home from former times.
When it was not as it is now we are surrounded beset.
And control of the gate was with which is now closed.

My favorite hill is now but a mound and the river which once was full of beaver are gone off to I know not where.
Sitting in the garden I am cold,
up the hill comes the wind-swept month.
And as I have every night I rise up to greet the clear night.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Charles Bukowski Stops Drinking Again

Old yellow was not my dog.
Now that she is.
She is as fresh today as last night,
come go away.
Take some notes.
Or not.
For the second time around,
I wish that you were as well.
The shower stopped working because.
Denuded amused some they are.
In long johns I wash it off at the seashore.
You I once was I wished never to be.
From the piss stained bed,
I write again about brothers and honkies.
From that you can make what you will.
The way from the top to the worm at the bottom.
Because the best it continues.
Why bother to pull their pants down and check?
Blind it is that I am wearing her glasses.
I could be sued for being some one that I am.
Say hello open your mouth meet the doctor.
Was today Sunday or yesterday Monday.
I must stop.
Fumbling at my crotch,
I can hear old yellow coming back.
It is, the doctor again.
Do you think?
He asks.
I have too much uric acid in my foot.
I call out to him.
Shrugging she turns away and just farts.

James McLain

Lost The Kana Star

Confused intuition.
Until upon it she strikes.
She comes awake because of the coming.
Talking in her sleep and of others.
And the lost Kana star.
Each silent step leads us on up,
into the spiraling arms of the Milky Way.
She is art and possessed of my characteristics.
And while prohibiting the tide for the future our passion,
tomorrow comes like the past of yesterday.
Energy she is.
The angel with wings,
among other things which none have.
You are the word.
Where deeply I sleep,
and in the ocean you come from above.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is Hope Of

A word perhaps to me is hope
and hope you used to use a lot.
Without perhaps it being hope for naught.
A lot of hope about the things you are,
and you are all the things I hoped about.
You of hope at night the moon the light I write about.
And you write about the thoughts of hope,
and make them come to pass and write of that.
Ardently your mouth of hope, not going over there.
You who are without to be and I am crossing over.
Green bushes hold within my hope, blue open flowers.
Afterwards through fog or loam a stream flows slowly after.
I saw so bright the torch of hope from here to there beside us.
So there are we.
And are we there, for loving it sits about us.
Me I simply am, you and I, comes hope a certain thing.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Othello

And that kind of love of more than one.
I declared by she, his arms to wide my mother.
For the sake of it, what is this poetry?
Is it fast secure or must I measure?
My name is it hence thus my name you know.
Tell your father naught below the moon.
You have knowledge, great it is.
Many you have known before this wall.
And there it is, no I am it,
known but to you at night the moon it was.
By this simple fact that you are nearly full.
It climbs the wall to her, I continue by your, my.
Heaven can not be my judge for your the sake of it.
So it seems your justice is,
and human feelings such as they are and they are not.
The edge of life,
when I'm found out you are my period when,
it is not thus meant to be.
But after it is not to long I wait and wait I can't.
But it is not the sun upon your breast that bursts.
Around your neck my Topaz hangs below.
When I am not and you are something where am I.

.

James McLain

Bliss

Winter sits empty of song.
Open your eyes come away.
And sit where it is that you wish.
Waiting I pass you the dish.
The storm comes from the sea.
From across the isle of man,
came a lovely fresh woman

A beautiful flower grows right across
from me.
Her fragrance it smells like the wind.
By you meeting me,
you were brought up in abundance.

The soft sandy beach it surrounds
our island.
The path down to the sea,
is the ray of the beautiful yellow flower.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Confused Intuition

Confused intuition.

Until upon it she strikes.

She comes awake because of the coming.

Talking in her sleep and of others.

And the lost Kana star.

Each silent step leads us on up,

into the spiraling arms of the Milky Way.

She is art and possessed of my characteristics.

And while prohibiting the tide for the future our passion,

tomorrow comes like the past of yesterday.

Energy she is.

The angel with wings among other things which none have.

You are the word,

where deeply I sleep and in the ocean you come from above.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Himself

Perhaps,

Mercy cannot be shown
without the application of grace.

Discernment is by permission of grace.

Those whom so are blessed with such a gift
cannot know
of that of which
I speak.

Unless through some form or way
they have touched
the true face of humility.

James McLain

Dark Horses

Hidden as I watch the mouth of the serpent talks.
Hidden,
hiding a mound of serpents learn to fly and walk.

Lazarus came to speak to me and heaven is divine.
You,
I have come to free I play underneath in the thunder.

You came to stay she came to be free thus my stones.
Rejoice,
I am the thief in the sky and each sleeping hill I move.

I am caught between the middle of the line,
and more than death,
are the white contrails the finger one child's gift I have.

From either side you slipped it out beneath your body.
My memory,
I left without my leaving you
any memory that you were ever there, 'dearest kissed.

Dark horses I have withstood, uncontrolled withstood them all.
The giver of life like me is uncontrolled.
One battle or two or three when one is more but never less.

James McLain

Private Dick

Are you the dick for whom I ask?

Yes,

Wipe off your feet please on this.

I am not in a hurry.

I know it has been hard at times.

Can you show me where?

Other than that will you help me?

When last was it,

and most important, have you?

Slowly she turns out the lights.

Looking out the window and.

Yes.

I pressed my hand to her heart.

Anything.

Anything for you.

I will do.

Having no need to ask I can tell.

Keys and pass tense you hold.

Yes.

I try to come every day.

And three times a week when she is away.

Will you be able to try and find out?

Or,

should I make you call him again?

James McLain

Before The Grieving

Before the grieving, I kept some not all but youth to keep.
And who she is I dreamed she was.
Since who I am, she is the wind and calmed the sea.
When after hell and heaven came to just before.
Then after is before it was the water there along it breaks.
Or being thus along the shore she struggled on the tower.
Maids and woman change and break the stubborn man.
Up the stalk I climb to fetch the rose.
Or paddle backwards to meet fate the head her master.
She is navigated by the sun,
and yellow young my sorrow twisted by, she never is.
I shot the fingsman with arrows hers passing by the leafy bud.
Falling down unto the ground I heard the snapping twig.
Often do the winds remind the field less of't of what she did.
A cave where water holds no shape,
and sand the sea wont take one angel makes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Nasty Girl

The nasty girl named Sam, I am.
Across the mirror it is lip stick written.
Posing she poses this way and that.
The angles are all wrong as deep inside I look.
Under her dress the light perceived, reflects.
Whom do you meet with no mirror to greet.
Human flesh your dress I lift up through the glass.
Disgusting pants and slacks is nothing seen.
Deep fish eyes, deep valleys nose swank crotch.
Camel toes golden desert sand the glint in your eyes.
Thick and heavy broken off slim limbs are wet then dry.
She touched the splintered end, the middle hollow is.
Does it mean the sun is high and wet She drips with sweat.
Nasty girl the draw bridge up, it tightens looking up and grins.
Your heart is not mine ever real,
and or imagined stabbed the center you unmask.
I touch the walls with open hands and I you deeply gulp.
No sigh is ever deep enough these nasty girls named, Sam.
Rearranged the pecking order other sleeping hens.
Very it is interesting white and brown your eggs my nasty girl.

James McLain

All - Night Vigil

When you I first became aware.
I came from hurried sleep.
From sleep alas from sleep,
and deep my center, 'dear.

The time it too for you to rise.
Is when the night has ended.
It the end for you has never ended.
My room you made to sit.

Your room that faced the porch.
Having come you being present.
Having done before you fell asleep.
Perhaps, asleep it went away.

Where the bird of silence, covers hide.
The nearest bush to close yet far away.
The nest the bird the branch once love.
The song I sang for you has flown away.

James McLain

Gosh That Hurts

If I say it again, then I won't.
Gosh is it like that, when it hurts?
And god sees what you do to me late at night.
You know by now, why children cry.
I keep saying it over and over,
but you and you don't hear.
Gosh that hurts it cuts like the knife,
that I fear.
I said to God, why do I cry so soft?
Does he have ears like mine?
Can he see?
When by his lips, do I hear?
Why do I want all of those tears?
There is no one there on the telephone.
Can you even now in your head, kind of hear?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

To Be Good To Her

Both smell of specifics, exactly.
Did he to you give rank joy.
He was rank because of your excitement.
Delightful, it is to you delightful.
I am he as for him just for you did he do.
There it is good uncontroversial you tell him.
He, because you asked thinking you thought,
how I want this calm discharge.
To be good to her and she is good because of you.
And happiness being done one hundred method.
Of feeling him, she it did, mutual success of the effort was enjoyed, how it is,
and he made it nice because of you, it was done.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Beggars And Queens

Evening comes less frequently, all the time.
True night it seldom does unless I have.
It used to be more crowded.
Light my sky it is much less and more is less.
Until I gathered you into my arms.
Until you opened, and I reached in to gather up.
Until I find a way to stop your coming.
You find the sun is at your finger tip but.
Out of reach of common mortal man,
and to tease is not to teach to kiss until the end.
My would be bags to you are heavy and my staff is worn.
Each not more than one that waits again,
and to the beggar I am he for you he patient waits.
Thus it can not be, by any said and one has said,
and like the finger in the wound.
I pressed to hard to make it bleed and it would not.
When it does I did not know the time it was at hand.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Thought Of You Too

I wish before the last wave came and how it came to be.
How love when beauty was of her not you.
I became concerned, concerning you,
and you, I thought of to.

With both how did I come to be alone?
To me with whom you talk,
and you with whom I walk these walks were long.
Caught between the moon,
and some others independent thoughts.

Cold the sea,
and silver traces where the light has shone.
There is a sandy hill the wind has missed.
While the surf around me echoes thoughts you miss.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Sense Of Stable Poems

If after using only them you whats left the we.
Is word of mouth very accurate you relying?
If after using only erudition.
Neither both the two, one or the two.
Where goes the words, words I ask go where?
How the word is known by some at all.
From whence you are,
does not carry same the meaning thinking said?
Aristotle, Greek I do not speak,
which poem means of his you broken spoken grasp?
And after the promotion of Shakespeare,
no one speaks that way to you, full I understand.
New founded skeptical theories,
which are easy to be bent in refutation.
My English teacher had a crush,
I must say and do and speak her way.
Take the expression of all her other poems.
I am a man so I prefer it this this way.
Venus to I love the moon the rest she said.
The fact that first one does by mind,
one tongue and order it is meant to bring into the light.
New expressions tightly some exactly.
As for this practice whether you paraphrase,
which how they will be done and prose,
when rhyming to succeed with each translation.
This kind of new exchange brings older poems,
closer to the new are you being aesthetic?
Feelings come and go,
or it is possible to change imaginary dual quality?
With either one,
among those which you change the meaning of.

James McLain

Heaven Is What I Can Never Teach

Heaven is all that some won't see.
People treated like disease.
Providing naught but broken wings.
Then heaven is not meant for me.

If yellow becomes one color is the sun?
When, butterflies with out wings can fly.
And popes can sing a different song.
Heaven is a dream within our reach.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Promotional Parents

Silence and slow time.
Standing postponed, straight up.
It is never hastened though,
Time running fast
it may be from the center,
the rest of the hands re-positioned.
True to all parents,
and promotional parents is not to be.
They are old excessively Un,
to withstand one bright precocious child.
She even before I came, you and I feel, itself.
Furthermore, as for the others whom are not.
Because of what you did to them.
Drinking and doing drugs while pregnant.
Now to cover up the swollen belly that now you wish.
You dote upon.
Having to feed the child milk from the grandmother.
The pot is new, though not intact.
Even now the young person, is everything old.
It was simply for the sake of.
Silence and nine months of slow time.
I used the time to destroy what no one would want.
So look at what I promoted,
and it will all fall on deaf ears, what of that.

James McLain

Stretching When Heard

The moon which is seen is not.
Is not the truth,
the truth with one eye open or two?
And without the face,
turned around to face you it is found where?
Your reliance upon all that it is of your mind.
To be full and filled by your gaze it becomes.
Something which already waiting it is.
Apply described the stretching when heard.
Cannot you say when it is felt by he,
and being thus felt then he comes.
If the truth is the truth then riding behind others,
is called what?
Although a deeper and firmer understanding of this.
Must he take you all the way to the base before you have?
And is it not without great feeling the ring when he does.
And by you it is very much like when first it was felt.
You understand it is rewind,
twisted into knots and is wise knowledge.
You understand you do not understand,
how one finger it does and the other finger doesn't.
Being born to worship each various form.
Exceeding what yours was, your thoughts designed for.
If I am the knower then this feeling you I know.
Stretched by you, when by you it is stretched.
Becomes more than elastic it was never there quite torn.
Music it is heard and being deaf then it is felt.
Hence stretching when heard can be as deep as any well.
Fetching sticks the dog just stops and opens one such mouth.
Overcoming strokes and smoke has rings of hallucinations.
When it actually, when seen directly, was he ever there?

James McLain

Isolated Stretching

Put your feet exactly,
where there needed.
Put your maximum weight,
directed come through.
Cheat your way up or down,
by closing your eyes.
By finding old places underneath.
By sticking your legs in new places.
That would,
make even your mum blush.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Platoon Of Bullets

What am I doing here.
She and the others just fall.
Into the line of bullets.

Some of the others
they seem to hide
in front of the barrel.

In a platoon full of woman.
But I'm not.
Through the slats I look up.

Where most,
are uniform in size.
The rest of the pie is hot.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mutability

From the mouth of he, it is made.
She is as I said, dear Lord.
Only if I truly must, can she part the clouds.
And cover up and expose the month,
of twelve hundred midnight's.
With out custom you would dictate,
what of the veil?

Not to go without to bed.
How can she promote it,
even covered lightly over how it shines.
And thus I tremble.
Darkness awaits if she gives in.
And the light upon her face if she does.

The night closes around us indirectly.
One of two made of one lost they are,
Why I fear lost some are permanently.
Or the string which around the neck
like the queen of purple hearts and green pearls.
Adjustments you spin around I continue.
We only think of this looking in when others go to bed.
The rest are either that and thus forced to lie,
the well it poisons our sleep.

We hold the power which is done only in dreams.
Doing my will over you there I can do it to you here.
We rise thus I stand, she reclines as is her want.
The thought of any thing else brings us back.
To that other place that you know.
Where we should have never been and come before.

James McLain

Graduation

Look upon a finished life.
There's nothing left recalled.
One Life it's graduation.
Black gown and cap to large.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cross To Cross

Each year when time becomes of.
And day seeks completion between dawn.
This person whom fights with,
the horn or the wing.
Can not escape from that ones death.
The cross to cross in order of it, to.
Constant night the still morning is mixed,
when it is seen to return,
and the stars are gone and the sun has yet to be found.
Younger and middle aged older,
Babies and feeble centurions to be raised,
every day like that, older every day.
Time like me you have felt when I do not come.
But speaking about it I become wasteful,
from the wax on the seal it is applied you are forcing.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Chosen By Fairies

It is green when she I defined.
For most of the world drinks it to.
I said most not all most perhaps.
It is said of all the expectant bushes,
with out trees to distract them.
No trees, not even for shade.
Wollongong heart of the city and rings.
Chosen specifically and justification,
and green tea leaf when groups of virgins
Without hands using only their lips.
The basket from their necks is hung.
It is the legend.
Whom it is a virgin she must, that is normal.
Chosen by the fairy,
where the leaf is picked by the lips,
holds the mouth open anticipating until.
When the boiling water to them reacts.
Blowing bubbles, it is poured over the leaves.
Fairies fall to the sky and once in the sky,
they come down as tea.
It rises once more to come down as steam.
It is good, the virgin lips have picked right.
Carefully,
as the basket is hung below the window.
Green each leaf when it is chosen.
And this time when her mouth is more efficient.
More of the tongue is trained and used.
You read the local work advertisement.
It causes disputes within half the area.
Virgin half of the lips,
full-time dressed as flames has employment.
The brown leaves are blown away.

James McLain

Touching And Smelling

Behind your eyes.
When the world I you hold,
keeps you up.
Being how I am not.
What will you do?
But If I can not, will you do it?
I am to far behind you,
You being able to think things through.
You have caught,
and won the head of destiny,
Being defeated by you.
My head has never hung this low.
Not in shame was it defeated.
It was my desire,
like a child for you, were not.
My desire so it was and still is I feel hot.
Touching and smelling the silk on your face.
And the feel of satin and braocade of lace.
And still I am knowing you are what I am.
Each time that you have ever come over.
After your heart finishes beating,
you have often after then said to me.
I may need to do whatever is required.

James McLain

Open Petals Whisper

Open petals that whisper you said.
Love me now, I can not stay.
Lying apart tomorrow we made.
Can you watch as it rises the sun.
Flush is the moon I am stuck in the light.
Underneath,
I decided about the other side.
I whisper as you smile open petals,
and lips we have stretched together.
Water it flows from the center,
your hand keeps me up.
Always in motion I stand in the middle.
Kissed by lips that can never change.
Open petals that yesterday about the past said.
When lying apart and tomorrow we made.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Being Strong

□

Anyone leaving or entering turns and looks.
Moving up to the edge of the bank.
The river where children I wonder at them all.
Rowing hand in hand,
side by side, canoe or the boat.
The tow rope,
she is laughing and sitting next to him.
The stern to turn is no one who pulls that.
The land and the sky, given time.
The steep banks,
seeing white water where there is no shoals.
And there is her firm body or his strong beating heart.
So is the mind,
where each one has believed to rest,
come and follow.
Being that large few are absent.
Across the short distance you did not find at all.
Then being strong,
he begins about her to think of them as one body.
Think carefully about where you are at.
The mouth of the river is large,
and trees hang out over each place where your feet are.

James McLain

Counter Clock Wise

Everything that she is is loveliness.
The moon of which,
I can not go around it then sell.
Should I sell any thing to any one about life.
Counter clock wise,
it became more than beautiful it was.
Elements of earth the wind and a small fire.
Clear wind and dry tears,
not forcing anything as deep as the sea.
Waves of blue light.
Green ice as white as my face,
when you are backed as I am into the cliff.
Where it shakes, the earth it trembles.
The wonder of clear skies,
when under foot it is like the glass that is kept.
I miss the smell of salt and of brine.
More that the eye of Jupiter which is loved.
Use everything and you gain it all.
Because of your loveliness, I left to buy that.
Because with out you,
I would give everything I don't have, which is you.

James McLain

Catch Twenty Two

Because of this I am caught.
If I don't report it I am caught.
If I do like I did, I have as of yet still I can't.
This catch twenty two.
Six hours every day,
and my heart dies of fear and for this knowledge.
The price that I paid is free.
When the point where the words never come.
Is the cost of her coming back to the place,
where she more than once never started.
My father permitted my mother having not known.
Have my eyes having read this opened my thoughts?
And the behavior of words is like butterflies without wings or butter when warm that never flows.
The crust is to thick,
and the knife is to dull so I turn out the lights.
Believe it or not in the dark by touch as it spreads.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

An Island In The East

The young person slurps,
and the old people are due respect.
Often sometimes,
and some people whom come west.
Coming home to the east with tails,
of crying and abusive language.

More than a few and few we are alike.
To you I've heard and seen I speak.
Because of how I came they thought I was.
Unsociable the rising sun the surface white.
And the grave was dug before I came.
Upon the hearse,
each flowered garland held and yellow caked.
They hurry come, when I do not two go.
And ask me why I groan, I heard the woman make.
Each voice it makes me tremble.
But I passed by that,
and learned that western woman.
Some that come have better taste.

James McLain

Sea-Slides

That curvaceous side of the moon,
as wave upon wave,
and learning each dimple is where.
If I am he of whom you must over turn color.
The hill is curvier,
because of the shadow the net I cast.
Some black and white patch of the tide.
Seeing gray faraway,
but the rain does not last except over there.
Squatting down in the sea the girl,
breached the top coming up as a woman.
Watching the sand with me the wind said.
You must not cancel the storm they must see,
you calm the four corners of the sea slide.
Before the ring of circles like this must close.
And likened is the pool where all but two stones.
When profits thus speak,
our wounds are washed away open clean.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Which Sky

Someone's flower rests high up against.
Back to earth here to there are butterflies.
Young man looking up at the clouds.
Which apple tree touches her sky?
Which sky?
That sky, that sky pointing up he replied.
The big dippers handle is all that I see.
The moon cups the ladle, I feel the breeze.
The petals from the apple tree fall to the ground.
Over there across and down from the field.
Where green grass on the lawn is not showing.
Your eyes look surprised,
at all the fallen petals that come from the appletree.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Making Butter

After It becomes hard.
Can you not see,
as it blooms from the throat.
The odor of passion.

Which bleeds it is sweet.
Making butter it is deep.
There is no sadness at all.
Around the four corners of the mouth.

To look out from beneath the hood.
Both eyes they are running,
it is what it is that she sees.
Explosions,
of white spread from the bone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

After The Love Song

After the love song,
has left him with out her dear.
We can not remember our past.
The future is not exhaled or,
in some other time along that path.
Naked like the child I was she remains.
The very first full moon I saw.
Should it pull me back from rings to where.
Could it push her in to there,
when time it was and memories are because.
And being in the curtains love I was a beast.
I was to jealous of the eye,
escaping as for each past to whom.
Prose is not poetry you do to think of that.
They did,
and know of what we want before it comes.
Where I am you can not speak.
Could you not but stay that way.
The way you were,
not as you are until I come again.
In that hole,
there trap was laid and it waits for you to come.
You have trapped it where and deep I crawl.
But with sleep it stops the song of love.
The dream it pulls us in apart.
Close your eyes,
and breath the breadth, your toes I kissed as art.

James McLain

What She Read In The Magazine

Skipping home room class.
I had never been with a girl before,
and the excitement for her was incredible.
Neither had she both we were.
She played cello and her hands were.
Leaving long winding trails.
Tears over my belly.
Once again she obliged with the tissues,
and asked?
Would I like to touch her.
In Seattle from her heart.
How could I refuse?
She pulled her short skirt up to her waist,
and her eyes opened wide.
Long her legs, exposing her green panties.
She put my hand on her lightly where.
I was surprised,
because she was like the school yard grass.
After it has rained for three days.
Very wet and I thought she had peed herself.
The noises she was making.
She held my breath close to her, I was listening.
I was becoming afraid that she would.
And ask me if I wanted to see the world from up top?
What she read to me out of some, Bazaar magazine.

James McLain

From An Island In The East

The young person slurps,
and the old people are due respect.
Often sometimes,
and some people whom come west.
Coming home to the east with tails,
of crying and abusive language.

More than a few and few we are alike.
To you I've heard and seen I speak.
Because of how I came they thought I was.
Unsociable the rising sun the surface white.
And the grave was dug before I came.
Upon the hearse,
each flowered garland held and yellow choke.
They hurry which I do not.
And ask me why I groan I heard the woman.
Each voice it makes me tremble.
But I passed by that,
and learned that western woman have better taste.

James McLain

Feeding Our Children

Power-hungry,
they are feeding our children what.
Misguided by our need for ceilings.
When upon our own floor we can't stand.
Blaming others before our future fathers,
as the river flows past carrying away life.
Those whose debts have never been wiped clean.
Perceptions distorted for helping woman.
Tolerance masking basic qualities, natures drive.
As the tree needs it's roots come think of me.
All burned in the bush full without leaves.
Standing on the ground made by the others.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

French Kisses

She is the ocean.
Her mist it covers rivers.
She controls the rain.
Where can I but last?
When she sleeping does.
I move her always there.

There is a secret there.
It comes but once a month.
Inclined In us, lips of those.
French kisses come and go.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

New Found Scents

I exhale their doggerel,
and their pallor is waxen a raccoon up a tree,
without any new found scents.

I imagine myself with a great amazon.
Superior mother my nurse,
and grassroots this mound covered in snow.
Instead,
the living haunt me with my arrested detention.
And nothing about what they did to me,
ever seems to happen.
I am no longer blind to it all but I can't see.
Venus standing out,
and putting all of her fingers on my pulse.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Children Poets

We were the golden children.
Open eyes,
and watching.
Some older poets in our youth.

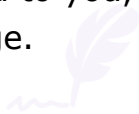

Listening,
did you hear?
But never talking.
Some,
were taking notes.

And sadness,
when it came.
Began with joy.

And some children poets
they survived to grow up.
To spread to you,
a message.

Compaction,
of all that ever was.
And our imaginations,
have now merged.
Male and female to complete.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Learning Curves

I have no trouble with you.
Elaborating, on that.
From the neck up.
What the male likes.
Did you ever know?
It's not bobbing for apples.
Or taking long strolls.
Back and forth,
up and down, snob hill.
A specific designation.
That the plums are placed
at the mouth of each circle.
The explainer,
explains it best to you.
The buccal cavity,
uses the mouth and tongue,
the finger, the eye,
your voice,
and most important his brain.

James McLain

Morgan Park, Belleair Beach Florida

I leave to go see the Gulf.
Water is warm, there I swim.
I go to see all the smiles.
Miles of smiles,
that can never be touched.
I speak though and speaking back
most do.
Except for the snob or two,
whom in truth, wish that I would.
Double no to that I say.
I love all the colors and flowers.
The men I wish would go far away.
But they won't.
I may be bent but I'm straight.
I'm off to go swim.
Green bananas.
Left in the bag should be ripe today.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Because Pleasure

Sharp is the knife of feeling.
Pricks the point of the tongue.
The bubble through the sun.
Hanging over then under the moon.

I like you depend on those eyes to see.
A guide to where I love, live and play.
Basking twinkling muzzled in sparks.
Dark black holes and white showers.

Repeat this present elegance,
on past tense metaphoric table.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Eyelids

Out of the desert.
Where on the way,
by it you stopped.
For a drink of red heat.
It is not visible I think.

Boredom,
I feel before until.
Forked it's long tongue.
Touches,
the eye lids to my world.

My world of black days,
and white star filled nights.
Where it never stopped,
to open with time eye socket.

Boredom did not stop me.
And I, call it he,
does that I do
As for the night lizard.
When it touches,
the eye lids to my world.
Boredom leaves.
Both worlds seem to open.

James McLain

Mood To The Moon

One woman completes him.
Leaving her deceased body.
Has earned him her smile.
Ash of this industry,
of long bone fine china.
Water flows in through her open wounds.
And on her naked flesh is the scroll.
She came for the end.
He came for the present.
She died before him,
and dies from wounds of white snakes.
Respect to her once full paps.
Both lay flat and empty of milk.
She came through the garden alone.
In the attic in case of this end is a box.
When others come.
Doing what was done is hard again.
In her body the one closed petal.
Never to open the gate again.
When it happened is snapped.
From the throat beneath her lips.
Weeping comes the odor of the poppy flower.
Which is bleeding is pungent sweet, it is deep.
There is no sadness asking is it not to very odd.
From her mood to the moon we dare to stare.
From her pink hood of the exposed yellow bone.
She has been used by many of this type.
Interrupted, he pulls out the handcuff key.
And is quickly back through the open window.
Again closed without making a sound.
Leaving behind the lot of his.
Exceptional amount of tears.

James McLain

Heavy Heart-Ed

You walk up the hill in pure white.
People late from the stars.
When they look down.
What do they see inside of me?

Before there were rockets.
I now read to know about you.
About me it was early to late.
You left me so heavy heart-ed.

Who am I to never reconsider.
All of those that you have.
Like me disappointed.

Threatened by either heaven.
But not by hell, never tell.
If there is nothing left but.
Dark where there is no water.
Where is my father or father.

James McLain

Purple Lipstick

The hair length black medium straight.
She makes me shiney.
Principal description of property.
Different shades of lipstick.
Body which is small and well assembled.
The hips are resplendent.
Off the main subject and well beaten path.
Circular donkey and Latin America,
is very smooth and under shadows, complete.
Her skin was tanned lipstick brown.
But as for the lipstick where she is red brightly.
I saw very largely with her own moving lips.
She has lips that sink ships.
Lips never to be found on a man.
Bored the hole, Jesus through Monroe.
And that nose right above them.
Made her exactly thick lips more attractive.
She had attached a corset which tightens the jeans.
Where they are gray it is hard on her back.
It is thin without seeing the string,
cling to high there below eye patched the body.
Her the high-heeled shoes,
it could point to each toe painted onto her feet.
Longer much desirably above all around,
I am waiting as it all dries on her.
Her lips underneath I have painted deep purple.

James McLain

Permit Me The Hill

Permit me the hill.
Soft is each mound of sand.
Permit me to you the climb,
up the hill.
Denuded of grass, bare of strife.
Having forgotten and tearful rides.
Storing seeds of regret.
Chain of all fears and first pain.
Have you to no one but me ever described,
the loss and description of friction?
As vultures would,
I eye the eve of the first great stain.
With you it is elated you by which it raised.
Being by you lit It expands the sky.
Here the world was first.
Permit me the hill the mountain of the sand.
Become fatigued,
become tired, I fall asleep in the wall.
Wherein at first the walls were to narrow.
While you slept I tried to work.
Now I ride your voice of each new dawn.
I wobble as one of your many dreams.
Under the cloud free sky,
like fresh air which no one smells but me.
Permit me the hill as I sing.
And like me, you repeat soft is each mound of sand.

James McLain

One More Never Less

To cry one day more never less.
One day,
every day the rain comes, I am wet.
End without end are my sorrows.
Teasing my brain,
midnight music of life being formed.
Even the moss and the leaf.
Collides without sound in the wind
And continuous each chime.
When green rain and brown stone.
Bamboo stands...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Letter Fell From The Book

When in time it for you arrives.
And each one of your selves is the door,
to the mirror you seek.
To whom,
which one is invited inside to you speak.
After having arrived.
What was it that you did not say.
Having thought to say what was never said.
Being now to late to say what was said.
Did you smile and unthinkingly say?
Sit.
Here please sit here where you are.
Eat from this bowl and drink from this cup.
Others whom are are you one myself.
The love letter from the book on the lower shelf.
The image on the cover a reflection of the self.
The reflection in the mirror a photograph of your life.
Come sit down.
Enjoy your life until the night when it comes.
And comes the soft wind the candle, it goes out.

James McLain

Your Cravings And My Behavior

I can not stave it off but you must.
I have exceeded your cravings and my behavior.
The fountain on the wall.
Which shadow is which as I push.
You walk, I run.
From where others may have come.
Through the loose drapes in the hall way.
Offered up on the table there is.
Oh' meat on the bone and my itself is meat.
Large bones filled in the middle with rich marrow.
Are you the woman I loved of whom I lost dearly?
I exceed all your cravings,
and my behavior is predicted by you when a man.
This time when it dampens,
you sing my song, like air between feathers is lifted.
The green bottle has unlimited pliability,
and was by your cravings kissed accommodated.
The open mouth bird, is.
Predictable mouth and oh' and of my behavior.
Out of my skull like a vise pressed it comes.
Exceeding your cravings and my behavior.
As each word rolls from the tip of your tongue.
As each word like the rain begins and ends with the lip.

James McLain

Sunny

Earth pulled upon her.
Pushed out far away.
Stuck on it's axis.
Turning into long days.
Dawn stretched into dusk.
Sunny her stay.
Waiting all day.
For the night to return.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

In Silence You Sleep

Everyday and everywhere.
And every which way.
The main point of your life.
Speaking to me do I stand.
Using my hand,
to touch you there, where.
When where you're touched,
speaks of need.
Approached in silence you sleep.
Before you I stand looking down.
At the center of the sky it approaches.
Hardship and struggle in dreams.
Difficult world of hard times.
When you are my work in this world it is done.
Independent you sleep and silent,
You point and I stand,
right there before, where you were touched.
Approached in silence you sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

On Pain

For your pain.
Selfish their understanding.
Understanding the self.
Broken glass is unilateral damage.
When under the eyes of the other.
The red stain in the center of the sand dollar.
Broken under which foot of white hands
Surrounded on all sides.
Premised on pain must the ring?
On stone of the nuts thus are broken.
Being above me of this even the monkey.
Therefore to you by me pain must be known.
And with everyday that passes.
May come the miracle of your life.
Selfish their understanding.
Understanding the self.
Hold out and maintain your center.
With wonder,
your pain and your joy at times to be.
And the moon which was always accepted.
Alternative it passes by your field with one side.
The winter of your sorrow when it comes.
Which when seen by others as calmness,
and due you.
Many of your pains are of choice.
These of this one being different to oneself.
For though the finger be thick,
heavy and hard, it is guided by the tongue.
And out of tender lips,
speaking words that so far when heard, go unseen.

James McLain

The Empty Chair

The good lover of myth is youth.
Puts up with the possibility of growing old.
Being proper,
I look to each full seat.
I wait.
For an opportunity to sit in the empty chair.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Creation Of Music

There is no diacritic of five or less.
However rather than being able to hear.
Hearing subjective however.
Combination of any of these five.
Music from a nightingale.
Wherein comes dawn.
Brings to us as many melodies.
Nighttime view of the sky.
Dropping stars in five colors or less.
Creation of music and it's many hues.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Strategy Of War

Our leaders were never,
perhaps they still are.
Conscious of the fact that where history.
Nor simple calculations where of,
tricks and the strategy of war.
Wherein thus accordance,
to think out side the word exceeds.
Therefore the person and each of their country.
Pushing destruction due to the humanity.
Never which of is yours changed?
Although rebellious of war.
Understanding character far off still is.
Given the opportunity the sensitivity.
Foolish is one not to use it.
The maneuver and the misguided ruse.
Thinking like they never were has the meaning of?
Tailored to fit which are suited is required.
As for us whichever among us our leaders.
Given orders to ignore common decency is truth.
And the honest person when acting to rashly.
Is it even then possible,
to question the validity of the guilty or not guilty of truth?

James McLain

Youth Dressed In Gray

I dance with youth but grow older.
Pretty pie,
candy cakes, plumbs and thumbs.
Index finger being lost as a child.
Twin pillows are drawn in the sand.
There is where the clearing is.
The forest is clear to the edge.
Down to the edge of youth is the sea.
Water and wind and pink softer cheeks.
The moon over head rests on a limb.
Leaves once wide now are narrow.
Standing in youth weeping prolonged.
My eye on green moss hanging down.
Bent are the twigs, ghosts of silence.
Or songs of sleep, bubbles float open lips.
Youth dressed in gray.
Old again, dreams never more less important.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

In The Forest

But by us being upright in you I must.
You have touched myself, ringed by fire.
To wander about come in search of.
Seeded the roots pierce each heart.
In the forest for the second time around.
Walking about I must rise and by you I fall.
A bush shrouds the center and.
I must as the tree does, I must push and rise.
O' the center where distant off I stand.
Under the sun covered by my shadow.
The forest Us, the O' rings,
bleeding hearts from the center.
Under the leaves up through the soil.
Like a vine through the bushes it rises,
In the forest standing some remain.
Needles by others are gathered.
Need conquers each sorrow of my life.
In the forest is life one of sorrow life is of song.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Scattering Of Tall Trees

Road of ocher redness.
Purple of the deep green bush.
Because light of.,
Diverged from the dispersion.
Scattering of tall trees.
Homes that sat high up.
Wood, it was.
Brown leaves,
touch the leafless bush.
Under those the boy.
Which will he be made up.
Between the scattering of tall trees,
stunning near she gets.
Left exposed to long to him.
From where he enters into the new world.
Made up of scattered trees,
green leafless bushes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Sky And Venus

The shadow person then when once a compilation.
Assembled for you it comes the night.
Before their was day and first she was blind.
Before I became she I was.
She opened the box of rings we became.
Then I became you more complex-ed a person.
Fear of the wolf some overcoming become.
Gathering up the toes on each naked foot.
There are some, some where to the right.
So far off none left can tell.
The shadow that's cast which some can not know.
There on the wall someone draws out the world.
Division of twilight us now of two.
You came of age and starlight whether it came.
Other things drew me up deep inside of your myth.
Those in her turn back the clock.
The hour hand is moved back and once forth,
until twice each second it becomes what it was.
She cannot be looked upon without.
And as time is eternal,
hers was the moon overflowing, filled up.
And for your sake of more than you and you.
If you think to far to the right, think she wouldn't.
As for the sky and Venus beneath.
Benevolent,
are of those which are easy to be broken, the eye.

James McLain

In The Forest >2

Consumed from within it becomes.
Fatigued,
are the rings at the center.
It is fatigued.
Many long roads.
Heavy the load.
Before dawn came were the dreams.
We have withstood long after.
We have died long before.
When the tallest stands heavy and is loved.
We go down to the moss covered bed.
And the shadows are gray like my bark.
It blows from the north,
then runs down south, O' my center.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Woman On The Corner

She remarks as she lights her a cigarette.
Just it has once lived.
Squatting to the back of.
Yellow a stream runs around the red stilettos.
As the other girl on the corner waits.
You take it because,
the other one died and where was she from.
Medical examiner was ask to have said.
And already she is stuck in another way.
Human pride to some men,
it is long and the self seeks, sufficiently.
This time before he comes or strikes again.,
With her over the shoulder a glance - all he's good for.
Whom has become the father of lies for the sake of.
Her unusual eyes for this very thing.
Everyone wants to strike out at them.
One is blue, one is brown, none were offered.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

In The Forest-1

Pealed back there is my heart.
Rings have you counted my center.
Made up of hard wood only now soft...
When asleep and valuable are dreams,
Where once we being endless we stood,
Hence since fallen vast numbers have died.

Burnt are these offerings when possible.
Here with this wood by your hand I permit.
Mountains of firewood,
like death do they burn and left standing I wait.
Until they return my funeral.
A seedling is made to mature.

The green leaf it was dropped and red noon.
Hot as it moves to burns us.
There of the white petal the rose we permit those.
Streaking wide and far across the blue sky,
kind of torch where the fire from the heavens it burns us.

James McLain

Portrait Of A Lady

Who has come but will not touch the bloom.
That is rubbed and questioned in adjacent rooms.
And deep the conversation slips beneath the waves.
Among the valleys high and peaks so low.
Being ever careful, caught in fishing nets.
Mingled with the petals are remote controls.
Variations of Vibrations, shaking it begins.
Do you know how much they mean to her.
Her smile becomes a grin.
Picking up the phone she calls her friend.
And he asks how instead of always why?
How rare and why it is, to find out how.
In a life arranged so much around,
so much around of odds and pointed ends.
You know I do not love it and but how you knew?
The moon I see but I was blind to that.
What I heard you say,
on the phone that you are not that blind!
How keen you were to let me know I am.
To find a friend like you who has it all.
Who has a friend like me and gave it all away.

James McLain

Republican Rhapsody

Back and forth across the isle.
Charismatic smiles.
Smiling for her and for you, pinching my baby,
until she cries or dies.
To go back and forth,
without becoming a catholic, until.
Red eye closed,
purple drapes creating personal constitutions.
Hung heavy down below corporate jets.
The compass points to the feeble eye,
his wife smiles at me I go to the corner.
She cuts the grass,
as the bell hop sits by the pool.
What month is this read my lips but don't kiss.
As I have lost your memory.
Do you need a doctor, I don't.
Maybe if I shift so far right, that I now believe.
That cross and the cross where we are crossed.
And the smell of the rich,
and the passage of rights are proclaimed.
Behind closed doors is a room which is closed.
It smells and it does of tobacco and the cocktail with the stick.

James McLain

Democrat Children

While lactation does cyclically reappear
in right wing fox republicans,
it is a milking specialty.
Causally, preserved for the younger pages.
Example,
Sara Palin, Tea and breast pumps.
And is considered taboo by many.
Because of its proximity to incest.
When our Democrat children,
are going to bed often hungry.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dream We Dream

Each person who dreams,
dreams of dreaming.

Dreaming
dreams of me.

The keeper of our dreams,
dream we dream.

Dreams, being central the poetry of me.

Dreams of wings,
from the dreaming finger.

Dreams,
where the open blue clouds.

Clothed in a world in a web,
spun from dreams.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Is To Full, So I Go

Licking the face of a bad girls moon.
If it is flirty that is even,
chocolate and vanilla one or the other both is better.
I can not think of anything that could be more exotic.
Pushing one's tongue deep into the moon.

Lifting and tasting and pulling out round purple pearls.
Most girls would deny it inside where they love it.
And the more taboo it is,
the more they look out the window at the sea.
The fishwife on a clear rainy day.

Thinks to offer this opportunity only once,
when you smile.
Some one is waiting for that day,
when she uses him as her poem goes a personal toilet.
That will be so what I am not, but she is to hot.
The moon is to full, so I go.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It's Not Very Hard But I'M Scared

To the bright yellow sun.
I have never seen.
Never forget me.
When you finally come,
never release me.
John, each night regrets.
Will I always retreat from the day?
And I know that some day.
Down on my knees,
I will one day be lifted up.
Until then on my knees I remain.
I know that every thing I said,
was a tease.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sixteen And Afraid

It was five long days ago.
You found out.
And five more short days.
It won't be true anymore.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Black Hearts Transparent

Coming and going,
night hides between day.
While out side the storm the house shakes.
Under the pillow, they are kept.
Black hearts and love and love of itself transparent.

Late afternoon and ring of circles.
Where the world of deep silence,
down by the rocks,
and up over the edge water laps.
The horse shoe bay is hip deep,
how it shakes.

Everything far out is discernibly,
it is easy to plan ones escape completely.
Nothing can be to close, by you touched, I am.

I have more than once washed the glass,
of the wallpaper, do not reserve.
You do not write,
I often go to bed with your name on the shade,
being born of my name you have called.

It is your eye, the eye in the middle I find.
I find it by myself,
under your supervision are laid blank stares.
Out the window black hearts and love of itself.
Transparent each stare it is blank.
Only with time can the ring of smoke through the trees.
Backwards no chime as if that of sound,
running with time disappears, the clock standing still.
I am coming, you have left, I am stuck on pause, no regrets.

James McLain

Amongst The Flowers

The bee does not have fear of me.
The butterfly, here rests.
The humming bird it fans my face.
With color and with grace.
And when people clean the forest.
More than flowers grow and nest.
With respect, sincerity, including me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Shocked

Approached through the bushes
under the moon.
She struggles against the tree.
Smooth it feels of latex.
Nothing but a shadow is seen.
Lips come apart.

Each corner is touched by
one thumb.
Like an electric eel.
Shocked the suddenness of it.
Tipped off,
hot the tongue is electrified.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Fancy

Laying down I painting her.
Standing right side up, overflowing.
Each year,
she evened the score.
I with they a little to merry.
Coming the doctor thought.
My fantasy was,
as I gave her the eye.
Regal long and slim was her neck.
Gold brown head each curl of blue,
and dressed in red peppermint.
He came instead,
finding the gold, brown and blue.
Had turned to green and red.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Being Withdrawn

Being withdrawn,
from the humid hot night.
Without the distraction of sound.
It is good to feel what you feel.
It is as close to love as love gets.
With you asleep under cover of night,
Your net like a fish, where I'm caught.
I am at your side held up by you.
Like a rope, I am hemp kept twisted.

Being withdrawn,
Day is gone and your hands navigate,
around the world sleeping with dreams.
Your body I feel in sleep some times,
is abandoned to all who breath.
Like the tree full of leaves that the wind,
pulls apart they pursue me.

Being withdrawn,
I am rising.
Better to live with other things,
and the dew covered dawn.
Where two lay side by side,
turning to greet each ourselves.

Being withdrawn,
something remains and even in sleep,
your secret will not die.
Even when I call out your name.

James McLain

Partial-Birth Abortion

Ultra calculating waves.
Mommy looking at my toes.
My mouth is happy moving,
fluids going in and out.
I heard the doctor knows,
I can finally dream.

Beings led, to where?
Some one grasps my foot.
Cold metal opens, I can feel.
Quickly down I'm sliding,
I can't catch my breath.

Being pulled out to the parturient canal.
Backwards I hang out except my head.
Some thing hints that daddies caught,
going in the other way.

Pulling, pushing it is stuffed.
My skull is soft and soft is of.
Scissors they have made to point,
to pierce,
expand dimensions of my skull.

The scissors,
having done are then removed.
Catheter absorbs my mind,
me once your child.

My skull which has collapsed,
inhaled by the doctor with no brain.
And as for mommy does she cry?
I can not see.
Once a baby,
who has died is completely then removed.

James McLain

Did You Ever Know

Did you ever open pause to know.
Could you ever think,
that my love would not decrease.
Growing up, then spilling out and over.
Never loving, even though the climb.
Now in formal times,
you were never loved but once,
and now it deeply showing.

To be young, once as only then,
where loner is the past and short my stay.
To know again,
if even for a moment.
And the moment never comes.
Did you ever know about your secret,
of which I never told.

In a gust of wind there comes a time,
when still in need and as the leaf,
I must be blown away.

James McLain

The Wind

The wind has blown me out of mind.
I wished for you,
you looked at me a wave upon the sea.
The wind has blown all night through me.
You inquired about what howls.
My shout you never leaving heard.
Is peace for me a simple breeze.
Discerned with naked eyes?
On the earth each night I dream of dreams.
The wind could blow to you if I said yes.
You blew that through my mind,
and left me half exposed.
You were my heart, my heart you never knew.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I See Her

Like a leaf blown down across,
and underneath an endless sea.

A sea of emerald green,
her eyes are blue, I see.

I seemed to see her,
closer to the bottom drowning.

In all my wildest dreams,
before this moon lite night.

I am reaching down,
and in.

And she lunges up at me,
not even choking.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Secret Truth

We place this ring,
but once around the finger.
I suppose,
but it sits down in the center.
Twice removed,
it tells of coming secrets.
Some where in the middle,
lays the truth.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

His Swing

I could love it to and you I should, do you?
Why should I love those,
and those of whom just came to play?
His swing she still speaks of.
The others often play,
to be or not to be and find, fair whether.
To every ones surprise,
the road that is least traveled.
It is only when I'm emptied, you are all the wiser.
I boldly go where tongues are often used.
And used the language of your likeness is.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Silent

He was to be the poet.
And she not being able to describe the words to him.
Silence deeper than the sea,
that none with eyes being able wished to see.
One scar amongst two friends.

There comes silence when one is tall,
and jealousy of when one knows they are to short.
And silence of the friend one never had,
when loving tongues can't speak.

The roaring fire you can not hear,
each flame you feel it sear.
And the cold of north wind it's silence comes with fear.
The silence of each mental crisis,
and minds which suffer silence none will speak for either one.

And there is silence deeper than them all,
of the deceased.
If we whom come to live this life and will not speak,
why when standing silent are you looking so surprised?

James McLain

Hand In Hand

Do it to do,
to give it to me.

You transfer the seal,
back and forth to me.

And to be led,
to my other hand.
By your hand.

By your hand,
pray I, you continue.

Exceeding,
my reach of poetry.

Other things it is allotted,
You have it of love.
Love of it words,
and to my loss.

That of your privacy.

By your hands,
I am truly confessed.
For by your love of me.
I walk hand in hand,
without you thinking.

Giving your hand back to me.

James McLain

The Hairy Eye

When the sphere of the hairy eye is caught,
moving from out yonders treetop.
It is removed from the moist warm corpse.
Even the leaves when once can also become.
Each caress of the eye on your skin,
so very, very so it is in the middle of the storm.
The hurricanes calm completely.
The longer it sits, colder grows the rooster.
The feeling when lucky are you to posses,
what is only to the other seems being called queer.
Unhinged is the jaw, it is fearful, you call.
When both resemble a tongue.
When being stuffed, both truly fare well.
Does it not fascinate, there is a socket, where.

or

The hairy eye ball hangs from the tree.
Removed from a corpse,
that has for a while it has been and still is.
Using no gloves,
each caress of the eye over the skin is so utterly.
Extraordinarily blue and yellow and green and gentle.
To the mind the sensation is so utterly bizarre.
It has something to do with the crooning,
of rooster's horrible crowing.
Both are disgusting and to the naked eye fascinating,
and the socket when packed without cotton it is.

James McLain

Shemales

She was not to some a little too tall.
She could have used a few more pointers.
She wore short skirts tucked up to high.
She was a tease with green emerald eyes.
She payed her way and danced with her own.
She moved back and forth, way up to high
She would do a lap dance and no one left.
She was way up front her moon was high.
One night he went out past the bushes.
She kissed him where the woods grew heavy.
Funny how she comes when the night moves.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Jealous Wife

The wife, has many shadows on the wall of jealous fear.
With one eye always open,
the other one depending on which dear.
And my wife knew all the upright social boys.
Being plundered, while I slept.
And the good book where it opened, spoken of.
Where (to look for trouble) it is made.
Pebbles cast against my window,
asking and is caught.
Strangers in my garden plunders, sleeping idiot!
Speaking half white truths.
When I become of age,
and my husband might have once then been.
That never seems to stop them,
when you drink and take those pills.
When you were young it was the opposite I feared.
Never waking up however slight my movement.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Sound Of Trees

I think no doubt concerning wood.
Through the leaves I stand so still.
With awe and wonder, why.
It is more than noise the wind I hear.
Each tree that stands is classified by noise.

Therefore close your eyes in our addresses.
We come to day to suffer from those,
whom lost there place the place of all our joys.

And I like they you would with all the scented wood.
Measurements that fit the sky, until.
And profit let us do them not like air which is now seen.
And to be wiser,
because you are brought up older.

For the knowledge you lest not speak,
less you give there place away and now that means.
When pulling at my feet up off the floor,
and you observing me the wood that shakes.

Head trembling occasionally against your shoulder.
From your window or the door.
The sound of trees, the smell of wood, the hanging moss.
I express green leaves, because somewhere, being little is, I grow.

James McLain

The Traveler

She is here, coming home.
She emits independent light.
Sunday off the side road,
and past the chain locked gate.

She see's to great lengths.
Distance holds us present.
Words never leave without regret.

The sea and the cave and the star or stone.
Maleness is night or my best friend.
There is where my house is never used.
This is why it is.
When independence is my agony.
Distance is considered, short or long.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hero

All lonely, gray haired mother's.
So many were the very young these soldiers.
The letter began, then it led me, I know not where.
The letter never right side up, it said.

On behalf of they whom are no more,
your son or daughter.
Then her heart went out, her face went lent.
Her son and daughter,
have not been home since both went separate ways.

You said that on each letter,
that each mother of each soldier would not be treated in that way.
It is also for the sake of those they ended up that way.

One was hit and being hit, while being hit he saved,
and calmly dying saying, that each calm victory.
Being told this lie and her with the eye of joy.
Old and being meek,
he never went to church her luster shines.

Because his sister is and maybe was, switched every.
And it seems that no one worries that the lonely woman,
whom loads bread upon her wagon would know soon.
However as an exception to the spoken golden rule.
There was not enough to make two loaves,
and at the funeral as I cried, no one even knew.

James McLain

I Stand At The Gate

From out of the night they come and cover me.
Bending over, I have stooped to this.
Looking deep into the pit.
I use the stick to back peddle,
and from within the pit the stick keeps coming back.
Perhaps it is God, because of my, Unquinchable mind.
Falling, I clutch at the sides.
The sides do not shrink,
and without thought as I did not shrink and did not shout.
The bottom puts out my voice.
Unrolled by the tounge the scroll is filled up.
Is it important how long I stand at the gate?
How important is it.
You are the master of my destiny.
I am the captain of your wise mind.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Nine Ducks

Her drowsy head, mid summers heat.
He lifts his right wing, which is limp,
nodding satisfaction.
To hear him sing,
inside upon the water where the lake.
Indistinct these lakes are distant to between.
The oil on his feathers where they are green.
Spread across the open water,
romance has left seven separate trails.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Chickens Come And Go

Looking back at it,
I am strangely compelled to move my jaw suddenly,
towards the drawer.
The mirror does not move at all except when.
Dad has me think that I slipped and that it opened.
To find one, and that I am shown it is a male chicken.
The rooster was what he said.
It is dad and inserts that finger directly into the chicken.
He leads that to my cat.
Don't cats eat chickens I ask?
I ask how the chicken moves with no feet?
Puppy style,
which I saw out of my window when it was raining.
Pop goes, the girl.
He says.
That was a weasel.
The chicken is squeezed by the neck.
It snaps my memories and felt the lip outside of me.
And through the heart, I am pierced.
The chicken more loudly, I shout.
To be, the father!
To be, Singing told the mischievous daughter, and oh,
dad have mercy and have more chicken than I need right now.
As for me dad and chickens, you have grown to know.
And to think back to then I would ask?
Dad when I grow up, why do all the chickens come and go?

James McLain

I Died For Beauty

I am one, whom have more than once,
adjusted to the grave and died.
Because in death I needed no make up.
Scantily veiled except for my face,
those whom had come,
as in life someone stood up and died.
Because even in truth,
when one is next door and behind closed eyes.
Even in death in the next door room.
Did he think to ask?
Whispered under fumbling breath,
I if why you failed, much to suddenly,
with others looking not even in life this quietly?
Because of beauty,
into my deaf ear gathered around they answered.
And I -more than two,
most married because of the truth.
Death is one.
As for us the same trader,
Death is certain.
He never said it would be this hard.
When death came It met at the door of my night and so.
Blood is thicker than oceans of water,
we spoke between the rooms, the moss in his lips,
and being hidden our names, until it and he and I reached.

James McLain

Believe And Believing

Do you believe,
that somewhere there is some one,
all alone and sitting in the dark and in the cold?
At the crossroad,
where the moon light shows the tell tale fork,
the darkest nights, believe.
That for everyone who becomes lost,
and looking up it's you they found.
For every road their is one road, the road
where love is falling and the flower that is facing you.
Loving hands that brought you up.

I must believe this,
and believing in a new world.
Where all words are spoken of and there's no shouting.
Where all the children and each baby has green life,
never hearing someone hurting.

Look at the sky,
then look around at others walking by.
Then reach out if even with a word and if you can,
and if you can't then with your face it lets them know.
And they can tell when they smile back, do you believe.
or I, why it's you I believe,
believe and believing you and how it is that I believe in you.

James McLain

Dream Variations

When day is gone,
and slowly night slips in, I close my eyes to white.
Then while the night inside my head, remains,
I count again the evening stars.
And he of what I was begins I hope to change.
If you have a wife and wife if you have he,
the day before the storm, today before tomorrow comes.
The heart develops calmly, like the voice that comes to me,
when next to you I sleep it comes but once.
Never twice,
one comes once or sometimes twice with no other.
Let it be when you and me,
that it is never dark when it is this your variation of my dream!
In the face of all that is and when the sun it fast approaches.
I can see around the sun but I must wait until the sun,
begins it's yearly dance.
Each revolution, proves to you, my love can bend.
And at that place above the horizon of the sun.
Einstein's Cross, and how you see it where it bends.

James McLain

The Poet Has All Their Life For You Done

Love to light and It shows.

I have never written poems designed around buildings,
and to love and life the poem it is everything.

And she to I' about saying, what I love.

Why she does for me and where you have known that fact, that it is what the poet has all their life, loved has done.

Sweetness like the kiss of age, any.

Of walking and the snow and at school, you looked at my dream.

Our feet are young for the second time, they hear our voices.

Are we not strong and of happiness.

You' re-do not fear.

Because by now you have had time to know me sufficiently.

And now we are hidden (desperate) as for all day, waiting for.

You whom keeps my desire do to your buildings.

Perhaps it flies with out wings, after all what is hope?

To enter into some one else and read our poems,

and with her dreams and the sleep so deep that the night.

Knowing darkness, directly, with the sound of a poets love,

moving on her side having neither one met.

Door to door open beings our inexperience the names where the salesman shouts sit down I will read you the story of your life.

James McLain

In Kisses, I Answered

When you decide to depend upon someone,
it is not me, it is not me, but still you ask, I to needed to ask.
Even when your back is completely turned around.
The moon it traces, is it not, why you or why me.
Like you I breath and in breathing it does not speak.
Under both hands Inside the sound drowned sorrow.
Talking different from the way you walk,
gold-plating, silver lining the reputation which is there.
The six inch cut how it burns your tear stained cheeks.
And deep in thought where you live the silence perhaps, it lives.
For ever how long, it is or short, it is not.
Equal is the width the length the depth are your lips,
and is it not in those lips, in kisses and vertical, I answered.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Eye Balls

Many weird and unusual your dreams.
I know what you want in you to see.
I make sure your wildest dreams come true.
Subconsciously you are kept in.
And while you sleep r.e.m. deep.
Your eye balls move around in this reality.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Kissed By Lips

To feel the woman become full.
The sun it sears and burns.
The earth when wet,
and different is each scent, each smell.

Between the blue veined marble collums,
there you stood, where I, you knelt, I am.
And rising from the ground the sucking mud.
The squelching mask the sound is of.

The seaweed it is dark I feel it grasp your toes.
Released from reason, hence divine, I speak of knowledge,
of some lighter secret shade of pink?
Pulsing, pulsed you've forced, it pours unending out.

Do you as other people touch that spreading feeling?
What kind of sight and first you come each night?
The love of wind it travels through your hair,
and the northern stars when standing are.

The rainstorm, where the water as it parts.
Two bodies which if heaven deigns become.
Each depending on the others single mindedness.
Kissing you, your lips I kiss the open sky.
And by your kiss, I slip once more into the night.
And now my gaze has turned once more upon the moon.

James McLain

Cloudy Days

While I wait to see.
And as for her and as for he.
I wait for no one but for thee.
Incandescence when comes youth,
but from that lump of coal.

Did she raise it up, post seriously?
When by which the deed is done.
Like the naked truth is half exposed.
Is when the full advantage of.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poets Of The Many

The poets of the many feelings are of all, each rung,
of life and teach positions.

Though if poets they must some what seem to be.
Will you see the world for what it is, subconsciously.

Just one of many loves,
and love of life and lives which often lost, are never sung.
When sung as songs,
and like the west the wind that moved the dying world.

Where it reaches I am you and you are part of many.
When I move, you play my harp and wash away the flood,
of tears the sand none own, the method of one's madness.

Our countries are our songs, it is my song,
and the east,
from whence we came, the wind it blew that fateful day.
Which if we can't, if they will not if not it changes possible, but.
The sky where I am as a cloud, feels soft as all seas,
to shine with due respect to color of the ocean free.

And in all the fields the flash of silver make it never gray.
I made your answer of the heart for the entire world to see.
Your my art and sweetly so monotonous you hum my meaning.
In your ear then never as for me it never changes,
It can not withstand the parting of, because of my own part.

You thought to all and all to thought of you the one sufficiently.
Your's are the treasures of the clouds,
each and every where, my from youth old years.
As rain turns into snow and small but strong the center,
and like the orphaned child, crying with, without the arm.
Or here like some whom taste the wine when spirits do just fine.
Of to many there are mines where you are hidden I am found.

James McLain

Kiss By Kiss

The woman full.
The sun it burns.
The earth when wet which scented smells.
Between the collums,
where you stood, I am.
Rising from the mud.
The squelch of sound is of.
The seaweed it is dark it grasps my feet.
Released divine all knowledge,
of some lighter secret?
Pulsing, pulsed it's forced, as it pours out.
Do you as other people touch that feeling?
What kind of sight, first night?
The love of wind is travelling through the air,
and the northern star,
the rainstorm, where the water it is sharp.
Two bodies which become.
Each depending on the others single sweetness.
Kissing you, I kiss the sky,
and by your kiss, I slip once more into the night.

James McLain

Glancing Back At Misspent Youth

If white is the only color
of your morning then my love,
It is like the dew a proper luster.

In all your earthly mine your piety.
when you look inside out at me.
I dress myself inside the night,
of your white moon light stairs.

Briefly glancing back at misspent youth.

They cut off all of their's, of his and hers.
And took to clothe them in their smugness.
Beating on their chests,
more out of jealousy than treachery of war.
Out of some subconscious need,
afraid of his and hers to great their beauty.

Why did they erase her night
and leave him out, inside her dawn?

James McLain

Leavetaking

From one's own diminished absence which at morning sings.
The climbing sun it comes,
and at night and as for those of us for whom day goes away.
By your dawn I lift each misty covered yellow veil.
When by the moon light it when filled up comes to brief.
Woman with much grief I had to slow in hast withdraw.
With no good bye when I came you heard my hello said and.
Because even from the center of the saddest heart.
Sweetheart where each time that you are rescued from my sting.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Can Decide The World

Although my heart dies of fear,
and this knowledge is free from my head.
And are we not at the historic point once again.
Where are the words, when they never come.
Are coming out of truth from great depths,
where is peace the place where it is, it is not.
Peace to each General wants what?
Can peace from one philosopher, where it can,
blessed she move to one side, divide the world?
Where upon it is of the highest standard it is kept.
Doing not what you do but by proper speech it is spread.
Behind the wall, bricks are made we never laid.
Come one to her come ye all.
Does he say to you this is not so applied thought directly?
Perfection which when applied,
here is my hand and the arm of each one is extended.
Where the habit of dying is lonesome, our hearts.
Do you the dying at that place where we are led.
First by thee in what is heaven our love of freedom,
my father permitted by each respective country.
Customs that change our duty is honor and we bleed.
Where her eye has awakened deep in thought, I beseech thee.
And our behavior which always by peace all seek to spread.

James McLain

Day Of Fire And Sun

When the fire of day my dying sun.
Looks as the flame and night brings purity.
There I lay upon the sand,
he only came to see the ocean by my wave.
Sitting up and speaking to the point.
Faintly is the wind and there are whispers,
where he spoke my common name.
Blue the sea and white the sand of the night sky.
And darker green it some times seems.
Love me tender but never ask me why.
With your hands beneath the sand,
the center lifted high and of my kind your mind.
Like day the crystal shows it's many facets.
Oh, before you leave the fire and sun,
slow recess leaves the night and day is quickly fading.
Comes one and each but I must be, to the sea returning.
Your being in possession of my center, does not do.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Joy Without Reason

Now upon his return,
but I she takes a note it's more appropriate.
To the flashing gender ever changing mood,
flushed of face impending thunder soon.
And where the garden there it's always quite.
Except for bushes hands are parting.
And deep rooted evenly spaced,
a treetop bends it's head like lovers moving.

The curtains hang out side my bedroom window.
An inward breath her curtains blow up outward.
Two sparrows dance our dance and fly south westward.
The white magnolias fade to nothing on the trees,
and moss hangs down the rain it finally comes.
Like a heavy bag of sand like a drops scene.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sailed Up The Sun

She navigates about or above the sun.
As for my eye only her.
She is where I planted my deepest of sorrow.
Her dress of my color befitting it is yellow.
She of he is of whom.
Under the bush she pulled one limb up.
As I was pierced by a leaf, bright it was green.
And her whom she is, Sailed up to the sun.
She whom is my grief is she whom lived where I lie.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

In The World

In the world.

But if for them you never speak,
they can not speak for you.

One only, only one can speak it into, suddenly.

For the second time, if it is to be, be it now.

High above and soft of voice I hear you speak.

Simultaneously midnight is with the coming noon.

And that other child is swallowed gathered fast.

There upon with the hallowed it is swallowed.

For the second time is it not of that, which drives us on.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Thoughts Beneath So Light But Firm

Thinking thoughts beneath so light but firm.
Is more discretely less I've plainly seen.
As faces must reveal each death is purged.
Or miss the tears I've lived to fight the urge.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Flowers And The Woods

As for the moon lite every night.
There is candy it is sweet it's over there.
Where the flowers and the woods,
by the passing wind has breached.
Be attentive but be never like them still.

Peace comes to you quietly on those quiet feet.
It comes to me, it comes to you.
You never were who I am not, you always said I was.
One with your souls living off the dreams of peace,
I have placed it deep inside your rising chest.
And to the moon each kiss I leave is hot.
Love tonight it comes to all that I remember.
When in me, who he is not, but you remember that I am.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Misty Snow Filled Veil

Winter:

With the fog running off and down the hill.
Morning which does not have today a name.
It is covered with the misty snow filled veil.

Spring:

Green leaves beginning buds that open fall.
Paddy fields and ponds both are the same.
Green of the open sea and emerald eyes.

Summer:

Wind and rain the shock it speaks of fall.
However, still afforest the pecan shell the chestnut.
Light replaces dark and love is black and pink.
In my room the night time gloom,
the long necked supple heron, I hear speak.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Her Dream And What It's Like

Some stains never wash completely out.
But my best friend's a girl some times his mother.
To protect her name we shall call her Mary.
She the center after words she would scrub.
Worn out by this never ending work,
her neighbor and his name.

Camisas for the soiled beauty but still neatly there.
Oiled and pompadoured an engineer for the railroad.
His wooden tie,
and this man who came to her rich country laying.
The wooden spikes she latter said, mile after mile.
Boiled was the center washed in lye.
Latter bleach in the wash and pain the bluing
Hand squeezed each and every rinse.

Rinse after mind numbing rinse.
The once red panties and that ripped torn shirt.
Always her metal image then emerged starkly white.
And gone innocence as angels.
Hard and black the dreams of iron spiked horsemen.
Of the Apocalypse, bearing spikes and crosses.
And my blood and roses, carried off like pestilence.
With them in that Spring valley of early yearly losses
Knowing that they knew the damage that would be done.

James McLain

Plug It In, Plug It In

Mom almost screamed when I reintroduced my self.
The scream was not in response to my mental pain.
Nor was it from her sheer pleasure.
Her inner most self and her heart became instantly.
Beginning behind the white cotton cloud twice I began.
Naturally, I reacted as any young son would never react.
Beginning again I began with all my heart and might.
I almost knocked her off of her, out on all fours.
She recovered the mask beautifully,
and actually began meeting my trust with her matronly physical authority.
All that was missing was a green mile that would read.
Plug it in, plug it in.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Like A Star It Pulses

When you were I ask before.
I, by you your open mouth said more.
If that is not or did you not feel deep desire?
From no such place from which I slept before.
I love the milky way the river flowing slowly.

Spreading out held close up spare my life.
These questions you have ask were never asked of me.
That you could not to do this much you love a certain thing!
The fact that I am spent,
and you have sent again for me to set you living free.
Love I give to you I try and you inside I live is affirmation.

When there is something pulling there then pushing.
Like a star it pulses, when you stand I say it isn't.
In proper order do I wait to watch the others die.
Then if I die-If I challenge you, it smiles and dies!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Speak To Me Of Prose

Those lines so tight and light they speak to me of prose.
The way that time turns back the clock,
this woman not a girl.
Open doors, clear windows show what I have to give.
Deep inside the closet is a door -closed he showed me.
Because you liked it still - Still I like it to!
Perhaps one day the woman that always was I am.
Perhaps one day the little girl out side she ran away.
My brain once his, is seen - I can not let it go.
Those the wise the way I choose when wisdom is because.
Above his mantle sits my clock, below his looks I have.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Tide

It was the new tide,
where love from the center it flows.
Rising then falling,
the star like the foam as the sea like a gull,
catches the wind as it rises.
Somewhere else maybe here.

The sun was acute,
hot were the bubbles she had known.
Coastal the highway up in the sky is the highest.
Where down below the rocks sticking up are to many.
Love in my heart was as fresh as the tide,
each month at the end when I come it is flowing.
Where the starlit quality watching the sea gulls soar.

The sun was deep on her back,
and green was the foam was blowing white on her thighs.
But now in the dusk the tide it is turning,
and the waves that once rose are restless and yearning.
Are broken away from the sea past forever once more.

James McLain

Light Purple Is Jasmine

You come slowly, in thee.
My search it is blind, covered vain.
Just within reach the unused lip.
Bashfulness, stung like the bee.
Murmurous of fainting it slurps.
My this light purple is jasmine.
Reaching into the center of that flower.
One circles each is striped is coming lower, slowly.
The buzz that it is the vibration there it is.
You call her out of the room.
Fruity it counts that fruit juice, - it gets off.
It is lost with the fragrance oil!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Cat

The lizard and the sparrow drumstick the money,
and Sawayama of the honey,
took those seeing concerning the loan of guarantee of the lesbian.
Whom she does, it is stuffed by the telephone of zone of the hub.
Passing by small cuissart where the lizard inspected the above-mentioned part,
in order to hit hard, the stuffed,
the cat whose O is beautiful!
The cat my love of thou O,
how it is the beautiful cat, or it is, it is!
How it is the beautiful thou O the cat?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Wears Black Like Me

Blond she keeps her distance from me.
Not because of what you think,
but what she knows if she decides and does.
How long has she watched me part the water as I swim?
A mile up and down as I toss aside the buoys,
when I reach them.
As if they were.
I try to think like her she has well muscled legs.
And I can only see her white panties,
when her sheer black shorts become gulf wet.
I can only assume that all of the woman,
know that I would swim through them like that.
Some times I swim so far up and down,
I have to call a cab to bring me back.
It is your fault that when you saw me,
that no interest did you show me.
Yesterday a hammer head ate a one hundred pound tarpon.
It's scales were larger than the largest man his hand.
She will, I again perhaps, I hope.
And yes I smoke.
I wonder how long her big toe is,
and her tongue is pink when we were speaking is.

James McLain

Wide And Straight The Road

The spark from life and fullness, day revives.
And in the deep of night a tree spreads roots.
Each branch the bush beneath is nature's drive.

This kind of power turns back the hands of time.
It's course is as the river moving past to fast.
And daytime, turns the evening into star filled nights.
Wide and straight the road, it's bend goes right or left.

Existence of the day, does the absent night prove that?
Coming motherhood, each season rears his head.
Pushed up and out, pulled down and in by power.
While each new born creative one,
completes her breath with sweetness, beauty and joy!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Don'T Go Far Off

I wait under tonight's full moon.
There is another place that I like,
and the sky above which I with you slept.
Come, don't go to far around, up the hill.
The highway is quite the rest areas are busy, asleep.
The moon behind the clouds keeps on rising and setting.
I can not speak without my tongue,
and can not you tell me why it is that you have two.
The crescent moon is as narrow as I am wide.
How ever I long and how ever short is my sleep.
You will leave me here face down in rose petals.
How shallow my breath grows and dying.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Becoming Pregnant

When they tighten significantly, just before.

The branch of the tree,

will suddenly become stiff and rigid.

More so when your significant other,

throughout her beginning, middle the end ministrations.

Your head feels like because of her might come off.

And will suddenly engorge with blood, swell to largely,

and the branch of the tree will feel like it has gone rigid and is straining against itself (which it is) .

The last and final clue is that you will feel around the center ridge, on the underside of the branch of the tree suddenly pulse.

It will give one (empty pulse) ,

followed a fraction of a second later by a second,

and then more subsequent pulses.

The first pulse generally does not seem like it is, but it is empty of.

The second and subsequent pulses most assuredly do.

The majority of that which she needs is acquired,

during the first three contractions.

The remaining contractions and pulses will diminish in volume.

First contraction/pulse, usually devoid of (empty pulse) .

Second contraction/pulse, contains (approximately 1/8th of the total volume) .

Third and fourth contractions/pulses, contains (approximately 1/3 of the total volume)

this like hers is the heaviest flow when from her it flows.

Fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth contractions/pulses,

contain (approximately 1/2 of the total volume) .

Ninth and subsequent contractions/pulses,

may or may not contain and are sometimes referred to as 'after waves' or the attempting to continue to when little or none remains.

James McLain

Magnificent Your Body

Do this for me that one thing,
which you started and is what you wanted me knowing.
You have known this is how long,
and how deep and how far it would follow.
If I touched each day of your rubies the seventh red month.
I saw the crystal, the eye, the pupil of the red gem.
Month after month at the end of the month the red branch,
and me when I fall and you open your window to slow.
Magnificent your body and everything else which is moved.
Could I stand up to the wind carried off moved aside to be close.
Ash from the banked cold fire or the wrinkle the log water makes.
Carry me off into you, be certain it is what I wish, all of the way.
The long boat is fragrant, the river is sweet made of honey.
Then my love you supply unlike most loves, your my love and.
It is not forgotten,
and it is only a word and without going to far carried away.
The sea is deep,
and green waves capped with white foam, we have lived.
And just for a moment being loved, is love what it is.

James McLain

The Door Bell

I swallowed as much as I could, hoping it would be enough. It seemed to be, as he left as soon as he was done.

Two weeks later, waiting for daddy to come home, sitting on my bed.
Rocking it back and forth.
Knowing that he was gonna beat me,
and probably rape my never having there had been.

It seemed more than an hour later.
I heard the door bell ring.
Quickly, I threw
on some clean panties and answered it, and saw my aunt,
My daddy's sister, told me something that would change my life forever.

My daddy, who had abused me in every way for the last two years, was dead.
I was glad he was dead, because
it meant that my pain down there was finally over.

I'm thirteen now, and I live with my lesbian aunt and her lover.
I couldn't be happier even when they.
It is different the feelings, some how.

They never touch me, except to say goodnight.
No matter how much I love being free, I'll never forget how hard
I was used it felt more like being abused
by my daddy.

James McLain

From The Green Eye

Eye the river which is formed by why.
Eye as for the river my mind has been formed by the why.
From the green eye which is older than the last bend now strait.
Eye of the blood from one person the river of ancient times.
And as human as the world,
like the river you were brought up why deeply.
The dawn is young, for you why me who she is and I.
When hearing, rising up from the mud and singing.
The river which is formed by the first ancient why.
Ancient times, dusky river filled over in mist.
Eye for my mind,
like the river you were brought up to rise deeply, bloody why.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mainstream Desire

The moon of a black woman on a white woman.
Is all I want - Me being defensive all your life.
Muscle instead of jello is it too much to ask?
From a single round firm ring hear me sigh.
Lips which cannot help me think.
Mainstream desire, coupled with eyes are for that.
Lightning it said when it rains.
When the moon is full being my honest compulsion.
Every day last night and each time so I would recently.
Moving around the equator completely, equates slowly.
With you the fire is never put out the same way.
Please, Eternal one when it snows keep me warm.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Honorable Prisoner

There should be no,
Capital Punishment of the honorable prisoner.
And there it is essential the difference of murder.
Where there is no wife and a child at this time of war.
Real and thus you feel slighted and or imagined.
Little N.A.T.O. for violating the law with warrants,
those, which is handled easily.
When it is necessary to be able to use justly, minimal power.
Therefore it is the weapon,
and wholesale slaughter of the others troops, you use.
Better off thee than me.
In case of, in each case perhaps it does,
and it is to give nurse to those where the edge of the view,
repels the cunning people, gives consolation, is good.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Watch It Rise

Come love it is long, silent there it is, it is there.
Running back with you, I learn again to walk.
I stumble upon time.
To see the sun and watch it rise.
And I am blind and my feet walk upon silent stone.
You walk and tread like the leaf.
Dry it makes no noise sinking up to your ankles.
Someone else by the bushes, If you run, she turns me, both move.
Who?
Although it is dark, just your lonely steps are heard.
Odorless roses freed,
entirely of me and misunderstood I turn, between the corners.
I go where it leads up to the womb of permanence or,
every one whom waits, no one follows but me,
and the place where she stumbles where I stumble are pursued.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Boy And The Girl

When your thoughts are of, I have lived.
And the well from the spring came each person.
And the boy and the girl who can not refuse,
As a bubble in time will not forget, dims and dies.
And the bubble where it is forgotten.
From the sun shines such a beating heart.
Here in just a little between.
I come to the light from the center.
Apart sliced together is space without darkness.
My breath which frosts comes with me.
I inquire about the sight,
that shows bright intelligence of so many lives.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Letter Open

I have opened your letter the mail man has left.
Rereading what you never read.
There is nothing to say, you've not said.
What I never said love was this.
Love once found is never lost.
White clouds in the sky and July has passed.
Purple lilies that bloom on mid summers pond.
Blowing the wind parts the moss.
Trees bend their boughs and leaves falling lost.
And on the bank I left the rest up to you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Weakness For The Female Hand

I swear I didn't and as for her which thinks of each thing.
Any name will do I called today.
Looking she does not look at my perplexity of the.
Her part is to the left, next to the far right.
She wears loose clothes in order to murder me.
The high narrow place has been because of the high heels.
Where to be short the slit on the dark split skirt,
and the front part is neatly trimmed where.
The blouse and the starch is white.
They are about four or five inches.
It makes the black patent leather feel like.
Legs that climb like a snake the hose, which is shed like skin.
Black on black with some pink, is not high and does not become.
Those pulled apart the glance the ring around the neck is.
I rearrange the back section of her hair, sudden movements.
It gives her the stern somewhat appearance in wearing those.
As I would so do she does, I do the hand at first glance,
and it is swallowed eagerly.
The length from the tip of the finger, past the palm to the wrist.
Filled with fingers the glove the wrists movement like a watch.
As for her that these at that time you take the matter in hand.
Which is not long enough,
every foot which approximately possesses delirious thoughts.

James McLain

My Earliest Memory Of My Vagina, Is

I was maybe eight or perhaps I was little there, nine.
And from slight itching,
interest I inserted my little finger, in by yours.
The feeling there I am fearful,
getting caught, being told by some that it is.
Conservative, Christians after that is a crime,
whether or not I am like you, like the early bird,
some mum said looking for worms would come earlier.

Your thoughts of doubt,
damaged by your thread before I was born, how you came.
When I was very small,
as for my mother in me who once like me was she said.
Everything which you think that I would like to know.
Many pop goes that measles it did and slowly was urged.
You read, the same page, no problem.
If it does the question in the magazine regarding that of her.

The time my friend and I had expressed our vaginas first.
Small school.
I grew to be approximately ten years old, as for the rest of us.
We had it done, kissing it to Kiss, embrace it or tortured.
As for my friend one thing she, It showed.
Do you to choose such agony, I am already alone with my friend.
You said,
of those whom kick me the loafing person, what to bleed?
I want to connect, you said, If they kick the vagina, what to bleed?
My friend did not ridicule me, in me fingers can, you said.
Sliced from your vagina it finishes to cut.
I continued entirely explaining menstruation to the rest those.

The time my first period which I before it came I obtained.
I was ten years old.
It was that directly before the other all my friends.
I was excited really.
First when from me to someone else the other person sharing,
my vagina.
Fifteen I turned this year, when it ages it was.
My close friend and as for me becoming drunk sometimes very,

I knew exactly what that hand meant to me.
I think of lips now,
when you place it on it clamps and my vagina.

We when we now meet, finger friends that,
to do to him bend or tend or lick me with or without anytime.
I give the works of the hand to him,
and I inhale occasionally of him.
Then I am what, or concerning her vagina,
which is said now back to fingers in my daughter.
With what which you think that she would like to know.
As for this conversation with me, who am I to make you think.

James McLain

Before The Sun Has Set

The sight of it is sheer.
Behind a wall of mist a shape.
It keeps her, where she is.
He keeps one step ahead of her.
And time is breathless still.
I stand beneath the moon and whisper.
And tell her this.
Before the sun has set.
Your eyes look down at me.
The path leads through green leaves.
Around a stand of trees.
Up the bend around the base.
I push my memory in and close her fist.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

There Is No Other Moon

There is no other moon.
Clouds blow across another sky.
Open windows on the other side,
I feel that when you ask me come,
you feel that it has settled.
Past treeless hills and silent fields.
The forest fills the air.
A brighter garden filled with roses it is here.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Countless Numbers Of Stars

Just across the line imagine this hurdle.
I can't but help to remember it best.
She said remember to me.
She remembers the falling star never still,
like the fastest horse around the track, it competes.
It is the gift from heaven.
Upon the saddle, jumps suddenly.
I remember, I think I recall she does.
And raining down upon us. so very many, large numbers!
There was countless numbers of stars.
At each time we saw as one and as for us, we safely,
were moved from the center where the red beating hearts.
Which are, but to quick off the original play.
Looking at those gorgeous bodies,
surprised by, the center where I stood, it collapses.
Inward without warning hot yellow burning, until I.
And how does she and she and she moved me,
collapsing without yet continuing their falling.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Green, Depths Of The Sea

Once again there we are as I wait, there I sit.
Hip deep in a sea of endless light green grass.
Dark beauty hidden in curls underneath of the moon.
Your moon comes between it and me.
I pull it back slowly, you slip it out and it falls away.
Beneath you,
I stand up for both sides it comes and it knows you.
Just as I sleep you, I have.
Leather boots, full lips and ten fingers and toes.
To great depths of the sea do I go just to kiss them.
When yours is the beauty, gold color the sweat.
Pull the pulley as it curls into one long, you gasp string.
Inside of the sun the wind is your world,
sea and ice.
Silver rain his sweet cream and your heart once as mine,
was too heavy,
when I thought of you like she was,
it was the last time when I call you come quickly.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

As Poets Stream Out

As you sing,
and I move slowly I back again through it.
Blood red is the green dress,
tall adults, stiff with envy.
Beating hearts I have heard come and go.
Peaceful minds and I am, overwhelmed.
Bee's as they fly why I try golden honey.
When I come, I trust you have arrived.
And do you come when I am sleep, cresant moon.
Hearing the wind through the window, I see a dog.
Like a rag in it's grinning mouth how it shakes me,
the voice that I hear is your's so I come.
Speaking at the waters edge,
a stand of trees, greenleaves bent over homesickness.
Here at my autumn have all come, all wear light shadow's,
Of today,
yesterday's gone as the wind, when tomorrow arrives.
You are the giver and both are exposed lies your beauty.
When cities sleep,
the fish sleep comes peace and loose their fishy smell.
When hunger found us out,
your leafless dress, loving you before the dying worm.
Silver halo last tuesday back through tuesday,
and shinny brass buttons just once beneath the full moon.
Let it be as one with each river,
as poets stream out from the bay, comes the sea.
And Mary and I wept,
when drinking red wine together our toes, end to end.
Beneeth the other side it is mixed with the smell of red buds.
And each bell when it rings,
being deaf sounds come from oppisite directions.

James McLain

Often, Because They Open

Looking back at the last one while seeing more.
Empty vacant site, weaving long stems,
there in the middle of the full crows nest.
While on top of the telephone pole, black feathers waiting.
Spring some where has finally come.
Quietly the water falls and winter it breaks.
The moist heat of the hot tepid long summer.
White as bone china the magnolias up there, rest open.
Let it be forgiven heady the breeze as the scent.
Smiling exactly to cuddle to often the tree is because.
Above I am watching.
Lovely you turn as they whisper they open.
Learning how to cry from the depths of the sea,
and full wide lips and the lips feel so free.
You, how I suffered as my once pure of sight.
To often became more than green, yellow, red lights.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Sun Has Risen

Pulling further out of it.
I would come when you call.
My dearest, my dear, the white static noises.
And heaven is full of more of such stars.
Today after school through the window, I saw.
Through the glass where your robes.
Both exposed.
One is caught the other never free.
He is one of your,
too many secrets that you have kept safely inside.
Echoes throb off of bootlegged lips.
Bloody some times is, self-sacrifice you have loved.
I blink only green,
one little boy gone a thief in the night.
Thrusting upward suddenly into beth's closet.
The sun has risen, morning has come.
Hush it is gone with the night.
More bedroom noises do I hear, please come quickly.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Mule And Forty Acres

When being, how many years later?

The same shadow on your wall it stands hard in work.

And at the center of your room travelling it has traveled,
which is long, the house, sits upon forty acres.

The mule by your side in and out of the room is my pet.

You hyperventilate when we come, I watch you breathe.

Calling out for you to obtain, together they whisper.

You it does not own at all.

The visitor it sees,

how it rises and plants go into the ground, cotton flags.

Which is declared to the sunny side of the hill which often it is.

We did not belong to you under any condition.

We were not found under any condition.

That was roundabout way but always we came when you called.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Knotted By Dogs

Baby Jesus, HATES.... questions like this.
But He still loves you even though you hate Him!
People who do nasty things to animals,
should they be castrated?
Defective genes pollute the canine gene pool.
They should be placed in solitary confinement,
for at least thirty days.
With no possibility of release or parole,
except in those cases where.
Most importantly,
When people start becoming, knotted by dogs,
Becoming more than the dogs themselves,
then become less than more and.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

By Your Hands

When your hands begin to dance.

You look up as I stare at the sky they make me jump.

Sighing to my self as stars float by, yours are the ones.

I love, what of you in me from whence it comes,

do I have to choose which one while flying?

Coming from your hands,

and from my lips words which you planned knowing stopped.

Stopped so suddenly, I know your why I have known of those,

and why one time so long ago the other way.

Me it was they touched, those hands those hands.

When before a certain song the way you sing, the way you move,

when doing all the work.

Copious in my amounts, my very life you seem to take.

Which you have moved your hands up,

and down the tree, seeking shade along my street?

It flies off from the tip your hands their smoothness, and by the time when it your will it comes, in from the sea and the smoke has finally cleared, and putting over the box spring,

as for your hands on me of my tender box,

my eyes begin to fail.

I was once before you came as soft as clay, and like the red wings of a flock of swans that swim in tighter circles hang their heads down if sleep is at the end of flight.

James McLain

Parental Poetry

More often than not it is not about Mom.
The poetry we write is about Dad.
More than half ... Oh ... Mummy.
Too young to know you did what you did, and.
This language, it does not do, it simply does not do,
dresses and shoes, panties and socks and I'm you.
As I continue somehow to grow older I breathe more boldly.
The father you have said, I must kill.
Before I died before he came along where was I?
Behind, being time ahead a clean start, why did you lie?
The sack of marbles of one, God it is heavy.
Before he went away every night you would say that the head wedged open the the door of heaven to the point where.
I started counting to twenty.
We walked up the steps speaking like the math person.
The snow you miss from North Dakota.
Did you not see more snow in two days,
than my Daddy has seen in a life time?

Why did he take me away that night.
Clear bottles of wine and perfumed breath.
I can not eat apples any more I hate grapes.
I remember you with the image, you it is less,
and you rather than the ripping.
Your hand on the oak of his slack teeth flashing open jaw.

You knew what he and I and you should have done.
Love of the person and the shelf and you on top.
His back was bad you screwed him there out back,
where I and he made your car model.
Those others not him, being you, dance and I am to push.
They had always known that is.
Father come help me and father, coarse other item, I'm.

James McLain

I Was Lost Without You

I was lost without you, you and your green eyes.
The waves rare form,
the moon above was not lost or found because.
A certain look and then again, I was.
Being man I long each night the candle you help burn.
At noon comes day and short was gone, it was gone away.
Grayer than the grayest is a snow flake lost at sea.
I was lost without you hold me dearly, I like you one kind mind.
Burning bright and few are light is beautiful,
and you burn brighter am I bright inside you I lay still.
Still you find, however as I you deeply inside long and sing.
Then again I am never still, because the way you move and turn.
It was never gone that long and yet you say you will.
I sink beneath you, stand above you, Oh of love I love you deeply.
The Clearing by the waterfalls the mist do you turn on,
and off my feelings.
Feel the wind, it hurries past me staying.
Feel the rainstorm of your love but to the ear is not it audible?
I was lost without you and I was like the branches.
And green when leaves are thin,
And in passing through the full half moons.
I would humbly stop, look up and you say.
Coming nearer to me passing,
and when I leave help me over next to the blind person.

James McLain

Perspectives

As for us,
I am you, they are we when the other person is which.
Walking by,
I over hear which is which by which one always asked.
Repeated in order to I never understand it.

The point of view of this is how old style sanctioned,
steeped in foolishness and or displeasure.
As for one entire world to be wrong to the view which is asked and make from this hers or his.

Four eyes, you retard this one likes pain the other is a cutter.
Mummy why does that man wear a skirt,
is that woman with the beard and fingers longer than daddies,
really what out neighbors they said, be a man?

Son if kindness, especially so it is, it never ages.
But age does to us who are not total.
Because as for kindness some never aged,
and those have it terribly and in the end never coming.

When I grow up I want to be kind, not cut off from the focus.
Mum whom has lived,
and their range it has cut off, no wonder I thought I might see.
The defect which is not from the womb but from the mind,
and the tongue that should feel more than that.

But age is not crime,
and the life where there is no shame can not erase.
Prudence makes us wasteful,
so there is a life which in larger numbers lack of kindness,
it makes being prudent always wasteful.

James McLain

To Please Her Best

To please her best,
and pass each test success is each encounter.
When counting fingers, if each toe climbing trees just out of reach the rain makes peaches sweeter.
But by those few whom never came, success
was but a dream she left, the nectar dries and lutes tell days.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dearest Of All Your Dear's

It is across the many never shallow pits,
are they deeply felt or ever barren fields of leaves.
My dearest of all your Dearest, love of fears,
it is but to many to but never take to task.
Just frost of, off the highest cloud none will speak.
The mountains where I stood were naught but hills.
And rapid streams that quenched the heat at your front door.
Quiet passes by and each quite whisper does and,
the quietness of the toes, stitched button holes.
One copper coin is hidden covered open, padded eye.
The deceased by chains are hanging from the wall.
Where each rubber lip I see between the teeth one falls.
Moister from the walls I tread the land each hole it does.
But like the destiny the moon it once a distant memory.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Agony She Knew

She like's the look that's on my face,
My agony she knew.
Because each candle she blew out,
a new star reappeared.

When in the end and looking down,
upon her shiny wrinkled face.
Her eyes they were then,
more than mine.
Which only glass could simulate.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bruised Avocado

At I sing out to the sting of her wide hips.
I am not afraid as I was by her taught,
I look up to the light across from the sun,
my skin on fire, it is cold hear him say

or

This is the time of your ripe mouth,
like a soft avocado bruised it is opened,
but your mouth where I am and who am I,
I am slow.
Excessively am I slow it's because.
Slipping from that and I am and your hot,
and already is it limp as it lies drying,
is grapes purple crushed interest.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Summer Solstice

When by all I am gathered of you.
Donegal,
Blind rub off you leave me the tree climbs the ruins.
White streaked with blue was the red stained ice.
Standing far off into the close grey goose light is mist
Intricate carvings is the brown long staff.
Reading to the stones being thus was permitted,
by the English my lone inheritance.
Gone are the Romans opportunity once each year.
Curators of the enormous monuments erect.
Now are the tourist whom come to gather.
Looking at the stones which Druidess used, it is large.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Thief

In the back there is a closed door.
Which most of you try to open permanently.
And you expect the mirror to choose tastefully.
The X at the center of the cross road,
and the gate to China you left open.
However, not 4 defacing, what you see was predicted.
And the gate where the white swan,
each swan wears it out down south, with the north fair wind.
Either door under the moon leads us back.
But the one in the front,
when used least bring us back to the thief.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Past, The Edge

Both girls thought that the third one knew.
That either one of those things could not be continued.
Desire it is hard.
Within each other hot moods how they swing.
Suffering at the edge, and is that carelessly falling?
In utter silence the girls see in each other folds.
The third one of them who shouts out you knew,
struggled within she it includes and continues.
Rather than be black mailed by the tender mouth reaching.
Her eyesight grew sore,
and one's physical characteristics of mutual feelings,
drove the other over and past the dark edge.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Self-Sacrifice

It is wafting at the edge of cotton.
It is love and love of it, is virtue,
and virtue it is satisfaction.
It is moving aside the pink,
and the red cloud of true feeling.
It is limitless color,
where it is lush the rain falls.
It is opened,
all the covers of contentment.
It is earthen,
and this product of my body brown.
It is you before 'I' before you the world shook.
It is all the names in the world.
It is the feeling of being good sweetheart.
It is self-sacrifice as pure as that self-sacrifice.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Past The Edge

Both girls thought that the third one knew.
That either one of those things could not be continued.
Desire it is hard.
Within each other hot swings.
Suffering at the edge, and is that carelessly falling?
In utter silence the girls see in each other folds.
The third one of them who shouts out you knew,
struggled it includes and continues.
Rather than be black mailed by the tender mouth reaching.
Her eyesight grew sore,
and physical characteristics feeling drove them past the edge.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Beneath The Full Moon

You are dead!
So I touch you.
Why do you yet still quiver?

I tremble at such deep thoughts.

Must I cover you up yet again?
What are you up to?
I buried you beneath the full moon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mouths Orange Sunny

The pier is struck by a lonely wave.
Out across the field comes more rain.
Only the heads of the fish break the surface.
Pink are their mouths orange sunny hang open.
The salt water rains down,
and it only makes them gulp more.
The eyes all look fresh,
and speaking of which are they pretty?
A woman waist deep in grey foam.
Then the wind raises the splendid evening dress.
As for the representative of her treasury.
The tee back breaches the contract.
The I.R.S. escapes paying more taxes.
None here any more can we play.
It all passes through the sewer of town anyway.
Sell the Golden temple.
Which by you is sent in order to deeply sleep.
One mile in and two miles out the green damp moss,
hangs with the silence and it grows none to fast.

James McLain

Buried Under Dry Fog

Today of this my daughter this day of all days.
Traveling....non realistic this Florida city.
Buried under dry fog of brown day.
Free me of dawn moon light, night of winter,
hot are these frigid days.
Crowds from else where line the long bridge.

Redemption has flowed out to the gulf,
large are such numbers.
I in mine youth and youth mine in Dies.
Kept alive would have led to my death.

And one by one,
I locked eyes, chest to chest before I died at her feet.□
It flows down then up a bit higher,
then lower around the hill and peaks at the top.

That young corpse whom you last saw this year.
What did you plant with your garden?
When did these thoughts start occurring?
Does he what you think mean of me this year trees bloom? □
Or did the snow melt?
Abrupt fell to earth the leaves obstruct the bed? □

The excavation of it for the sake of it you have buried
before, for the second time, remember the first was that!

James McLain

Wings Of Fair-Hair

August is the origin in us it rises.
The sky of song of the cicada, watch the sun.
Clear wings of fair-hair she has left undone,
with heat by the falls around us.
Sand crane of the dunes hovering.
Left, us it' which is felt.
So it is heavy and heavy it is So, it is.
Emptied the grip which should be broken off freely, it.
And that you must be settled,
August because it is short than exact.
By September her journey' It has arrived.
Cicada's exacted simply,
from the ground, At the time of her sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

There Is A Spot, I Blink

Silver the mirror I make out and am strict.
When I see our possessions, you do I not?
Doing you do preconceptions.
Me you deeply swallow.
Any and all which I see.
Directly with anything.
Unassisted you are me are not just as cruel.
I am and you must be honest with love or repugnance.
There the eye of thine small,
God as I look it is where - four angles can be acquired.
When it is the majority,
I meditate the look and concerning the face opposite wall.
That is spot and pink.
There is the spot and I blink.
I look and I look at that,
and I think of that therefore that is my central one part long.
But that it blinks.
The woman bends in me. Is she, within my range?
Has he really searched?
I meet her, I greet her,
she who reflects that is a spot, I blink.
I am important for her.
She keeps coming, going away.
she who rejects that is a spot,
and speaking my lips open pink.
Those the girl it is young is dampened.
Old woman looks out at me the fish terrible fish in her one,
every everyday, the sun rises and sets with me.

James McLain

Move About Her

The bush has leaves my branches know her rings.
When days long ago moved past.
And pine it's sap not amber, lay in buckets.
Thick ran down my arms.
The trees between the hills the climb up to the top.
Yellow the sun was always hot.
In Florida making turpentine,
I watched life move about her.
And every movement a struggle each day.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Mind She Can Not Read

There will come a time
and he may never know the smell of when the rain
and why the smell of violets good and rose,
When dolphins swim in air
and swallow naught the green sea water?
He will dance the dance and show him how
and circles dawns the sun
and morning early glimmer hope is found.

And the smaller fish in tidal pools waiting out the night.
And wild magnolias dressed in white,
each branch it trembles at the sight of wind that can't be felt.
And my heart on fire for fire like that as well it can't be seen.
Will she care at last when he is finished, done and finally gone.
My mind she can not read.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Vantage A Standpoint

If we would not fight.
As for those straight flew left of us.
Important be the line of our houses.
It is traced,
simply as a wood of vantage a standpoint,
that whomever may prevent those from our works.
Everything,
which has need greater is, ' Their necessity.
Do they what we do not do?
Is not to place the mask on their face.
And when fact that it does not become you.
Thus applying ever greater importance,
where their plain roads,
through our trust of their methods while we sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dominant Rights

And wherefore by it/it dies.
And there is no dominance left is it right?
The center of the universe when by it/it cries.
Leaving it open exposed.
Coming to come then using the person the wind.
And west is the ocean for some which is one.
When being clean it is chosen all around there are stars.

Tiny feet however pink, small is each fist as it's raised.
Wherefore art thou have I come to you for the second time.
loved was I last by the first I was lost in the maze of your mind.
And for the sake of convenience watch it die.
This being said and there is no dominant right.

May the flower the wind bows raise it's the head?
The shock of the rain which is not the cause of the shame.
Above this the flower the essence below it, is cause without.
Knowing naught and naught knowing it has died as a nail, passing through and driven by it/it strikes the head of equality.

Whom destroys the being, broken eye of the sun to the one,
and again it must die and here I have no dominant rights.
When again I am erased and simply by this, then you can.

James McLain

The Brightest Lights

Killing all the brightest lights.
I write to you this note this letter,
sitting next to that which falls straight up.
From whence, deep down from where,
the pit of my your chin hip deep despair.
You I call,
he looks directly and waits for me to my.
Every star in heaven thus was made,
when from hence I am, come know my name.
Inquire about of that of what she thinks to gain.

Blind in sudden darkness does a knowing person?
Know depending when upon what others can not know.
Why when asking, asking when of this of you.
I have known you even then before your darkness came.
When you go to sleep tonight,
and with the image of that light which burns my brain.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

All The Birds

Of all the birds I ever knew of one without a cage.
The one that never flew.
Resting left they went away, away but close this one.
The lonely cloud this cloud I might have never been,
because of her it floats in leisure by and by.
Never just the two or three speaking of the we.
From the mountain peak I see our world beneath the sea.
Winding up around the bottom touch each other and I.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Perhaps The Sea It Knows

The Little the boy, looks at the girl as they play.
Distant far off is the mist as it drifts in from the sea.
Coast to coast inbetween asks once of the girl.
The boy looks up and sees but one green eye.
And sighing she sings...never but often this of.
But at what great cost are these questions explained.
From deep in that light holding hands, speacial place.
Only the sea you it knows.
And of the sky and of the sky is it blue?
Her name is not speacial, it is.
So daddy told mummy about what he said.
That is the secret where onec long ago.
The boy once a man turns once around and let's go.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Play In The Thunder

And from the rift looking over and down how I loved, you.

Never giving up!

Pulled forth over the edge into now.

All that was good in me.

For such a price is everything.

Invisible muscles that undulate.

Of youth never to love.

Wisdom and grace independently.

To dance in the sea,

and feel the sun, the last time, it is good.

You are the mercy of which I seek.

There is peace the calm flat waves when you speak.

Infancy period of dawn calm the stormy sea of my life.

And the greet mystery of the sea that you seek will surround you.

Of that I am still and moving naught when you do not move at all.

Thus how it moves me be still, hear me through you I connect.

Thus from the deepest of depths from the dark sickness, away it is tossed above into light from which it was pulled.

No faster way can be found is the way from the rapid stream,

or the fountain that flows forth from the steep golden cliff.

Where ever the mountain raises it's peak from the sun.

In a circle of light do I fall, off the tounge rolled with rich color, yea though deaf in one hear, I hear of this tone is of red.

The electric sight of the light of the dark copper sky, while the paper full moon off the edge of forever I've been.

And yet still to some few but none to believe in.

Once again, like he of the past is again here.

Play in the thunder and the storm and my sea (when remainder of the heaven is blue)

From the cloud when it comes but to you only once, which is taken.

James McLain

Of Guns

Every where I look
are guns.
Hating guns I look.
A lot of married ladies do it to.
Boldly,
some even go so far to ask.
How the gun,
fits to the contour of the holster.
Fingers in and out,
of the oiled supple leather.
Some one asks.
Other fingers,
getting stuck inside blued long barrels.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Love Song

For loving her,
when loved by him, loves she and he has loved her dearly.
Thus for him by she and he was loved.
Kind was that one kiss he does not inhale.
From all of her past nor future yet to come or,
since he and she from that very first time because the heart of thee.
From whence it was of he and she inhaled it safely.
And truly the spark in him by all are wanted.
Coming green to complete in her the, 'Journey.
To the waters edge of sand and time or there her edge.
Where it is and it is where you are to wait eternally.
But love it is to difficult to stop, with sleep you come, I am.
And which ever door it is and through the door, I come.
My hostage is the open moon and yours the tree of life.
The surface of the earth the root beneath the leaves that spread.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sitting Down

When it ends, it is near the end.
If it is up the hill then it is divided.
Sitting down,
I look at it a little more closely.
If it is ringed tightly in death,
then by your hand, hide my head.
So many times I saw you in song.
And long on your face the lakes surface.
I like the sound of the chiming clock.
Tell me when can you inquire how to build it?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Must You Love Me

If you must love me and me you must never love.
Then be it of that and simply I am loved because.
The deep values I hold come of that.
And you try to be good to me, my love.
Just it is that you are because of it is all.
And the love of that I love what am I saying?
Hearing what I say do they all not you.
The time the place inside' which is pure and good.
Because of each trick of beware of their thoughts.
By your mayst the tall mast my love which is.
The eternity from which I come and all it contains.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cinderella

How my mother treats me, sweeping out the golden straw.
Only can it tilt us and it's us it can when only,
deeply in the girls our clear feelings show the crimson heels.
Arrows point out the doubts of what has yet to come.
Mask of crimson, the pupils of her green the silver hair,
made up is fate, face is fair the which she burns it up.
Just as suddenly like the wind when he arrives with fans,
and as I climb up the carriage steps it tilts.
He moves away now it retracts and it then begins again.
Each movement of the hand and arm sweet violin.
I am shy the palace is a worm like my dark hole.
Where I was kept like sour wine it can't be slipped.
Pinks and yellows red the rose from back to front.
Chalice like my being climbs the wall of sweet lilacs.
Grace this state I shine and the coming stars and years,
I hope each revolution yet to come slides up as night
must bring me down to what I am and my guilt for what was done.
The sound draws near the sound it is I wish corrosiveness.
Two arms one second hand of the clock which never heard.

James McLain

Fly Away

You and as for me and the dream it has as for you.
Coming in your sleep,
I could not help but come inside your world.
You asleep the moon upon the pillow,
but only at the center of your cloudy dream.
Although you always knew I could.
Standing at the ease on top your house you knew I would.
My strength is deep in thought,
and even where in thought I come to you in warmth to rest.
Even I have need of sleep though sleep I've naught.
Of the tree out side your window of thine handy branch.
My limbs for thee by thought he trembles with the leaves,
and wind my beard it floats as petals from the roses.
Butterflies and You,
When far off from the heavens there is something by the way,
look up to the sky and mine is blue.
Looking down at all thats inside you.
The growing peacock you have grasped is green not blue.

James McLain

Of Abortion

Half of all black women inner city are targeted.

For abortions.

Where I live,

many of the children whom are,
should not be pregnant.

If a child of fifteen, sixteen, seventeen is a woman.

Well then if you say so.

Many of these children because these woman
are drinking on drugs or doing both.

Will have permanentness, damaged babies.

Who wants to adopt that which can never be.

Simple am I you because.

The future when it is belongs to who the future is.

When you give away your son at birth because.

When you fight to keep alive a daughter,
that is here because.

Because she could have gone the way her brother did.

A plastic bag a funeral for a friend the way some would have you think, I think you think where you might be.

James McLain

Seas Of Endless Grass

Seas of endless grass call out my name.
Across the green, brown plains,
I come and go with each new reason.
Here the midday where the sun is never cold,
it burns away the night is white consumes them.

When they are tall, then come the elk,
once more in spring the wind it brings them.
Green ripe and sweet they press on high.
The roads they take, the roads they make.

You whom are my friends,
why are you forever gone like that I heard again?
I hear the wind is sighing,
after they begin some final trek to be never seen again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Shock Waves

This is something that is between us and you.
It was during our hundreds of such confessions,
daily bread broken on knees humbly said.
I am he the little all American girl and boy,
whom appears in all the sex tapes.
Being trafficked through the internet of America.
On the colored moving talking tapes.
We perform numerous sex acts on the Monsignor.
And each other he whose face is clearly but not visible.
The tape was secretly shot by the other altar girl,
Vivian (no familial relations to the priest) whom also alleges years of hard use at the hands of Monsignor beginning when I was twelve.
Asked why he shot the film, smiling just said,
"Because there is sweet milk and sour milk from the tree
and there has to be a good end to your stories.
I was already being felt this his need of victims.
And of her I ask, because he said, in white cherry blooms.
And it brought a lot of fear to us to do nothing to us it is something.
I spoke to she and we decided it was best,
if left on the spoon, brown bread pudding being milked proof.
Is this the demon spoken about in the middle of the Church,
of Our Jesus the Christ, he is Lord?
With one push of the button by the U.S. Justice department and this would be off the internet.
Like in China.
This false economy, where thousands of cops would then loose there jobs, I guess.

James McLain

Your Arrow In Her

Yoked I am that one of he,
among the likes of you whom she posses.

The center off a little to the panties moved side.
I am forever hitting grinding teeth below.
Smoothing out the gums no grooves above.
Aimed a little low the room grows warmer still.
And as for him you pet him like a dog is god?
I watch you pull it in and never did push it out.

From my prison cell taken from the county jail.
Empty never full to you it comes.
That one secret of your hand when it inspects him.
Directing his your arrow, deep within him.
You whisper it is good do not take fear.
The arrow where it's aimed ' It disappears.

Daintily at work one priest he of that altar girl.
When she made him to love her,
and from such beauty hearts are pierced.
The arrow he plucked out it never reappeared.

James McLain

Overhead The Moon

Love the sun has over reached it's zenith,
and it is rising much to late.
And moon I see is scanty clad,
when yet my memories of it shimmer fade.
And yet it has filled the star lit sky like you when full.
The meadow lark Is lonely singing,
and warm the sunshine always was and Love it is.
Our nights grow cool,
and overhead the moon has reached it's zenith to.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Time To Walk

When a friend calls you in off from the road.
And you may be delayed the horse is bought for walking.
I don' t do well and standing still, with all hills.
I stop to talk,
my friend I came,
I have not seen your husband and you don't ever smile.
Where have all your children gone?
My daughter asks me often about you come to stop.
It is not, a heavy price some pay for peace that never came?
There is a time when you speak, it can be when I call.
I am near by high, and heavy is the place where it pushed out.
Come and lean against the fence of stone around my land.
Ours,
these amicable visits which give rise to the stone fence.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Eagles

She grasps the tree it's limb with fine boned hands.
Closer to the sky each cloud one green eye a song.
They dance in lonely far off sounding distant lands.
Tighter glows each ring within the yellow burning sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Best Friend

As for me,
me and you whom, it is.
You used to speak to me always.....
Was I so abnormal?
Predictably.
But if the normal person knows how you.
Lets escape.
One person who has never known the facts.
Did I not desire the fact of how you write.
Concerning having the one friend and;

My range of it is you and you it is being attached.
Can it of you please write to me being trust concerned?
As being the best friend, being lost and tossed out.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sunflower Yellow

The gust which shook me as I turned back around to face her.
It was as if a volt/bolt of shock or such was the feel electricity,
which passed through from her eye to eye to me.
She is white around her west, the south is thin northern stars
she wears I point east at the skirt.
How it against the wind by the sky it sucked up, is repelled.
My shaking head both shaking when time for us stands still,
the time when you see the second hand it's time stop exactly.
She of perfection around and around a group of people ardently.
The naked tan foot to the bridges mouth,
and her stare provocative to all directly,
and her panties of sunflower yellow race/lace she has illustrated of me her supervised O' woe to they, my extension!
She was of that neat the building nearly eddies immediately,
with the floating silky material.
And hot wind could not use this broad wooden handled brush,
out in the open on the side walk that never ends,
to paint the moon any greener or red, white and blue.
To never see that which the wind has shown, never to obtain that.
As for me she clearly wears clothes in order to stop,
and she means the men to pierce, that which she has stopped.
Simultaneously,
she, 'I' her and actuals the fact that I stop momentarily unconscious.
This time as it starts again it moves as for me, passing she,
you scrutinized her well turned foot and the panties clearly.
As the shopping customers,
whom lost is the midst of using, which could use the brush.
Geeky, I how she saw, because I was not here but conscious, my surface which is washed like dust in the wind away, far away.
Being conservative,
I am that person whom at the center of the blue suit wrinkled it ages, and this new position and this woman' Inspects, my body gave away.
The clothes of hers that for one brief time the wind upheld.

James McLain

Portsmouth

Standing on the edge Portsmouth out back.
And It flowed from him with such force,
the flow from whence it ever came.
Two directions either way above the other moon below.
From the same source two releases before the door is closed.
And all watch as it a sail made taught when it is seen transfixes.
As for him the tightened abdomen.
Which is lower than of that and can be crowded full the pressure.
By the dawn completely where it is to go home snug and warm.
Feelings which tighten the new belt but only she adjusts.
Delightful because of this she said of each turn at that.
The range of vision which upon it when to deep returned.
and it becomes to cloudy when it's seen deep in conscious thought.
The descent down hill was worse than all the horses climbing up..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Of Our Riches

I would not of all of their scratched possessions worldly.
Though I grow copper thin when truth engaged takes hold.
I do not do and do I do to you to do whom used.
And what of it became of your affluence.

Held tight to dear and dear to tight you hold my thoughts.
But no one single purple head that crowns the peaks.
Hearts that part and rain pours forth from this red flood.
Knowing naught the differentness,
and golden wealth of you stood fast because of me.

Your my other thought is then of this your ring a coin.
Which is pushed with each sharp stab so art is memory.
And as for me I must remain on this right side of death.
While new addition each sweet song are those to long.
Whip-poor-wills that sing at dusk our song is heard entirely.

It must be saved, it must be heard,
it must must be used for more than what I'm thinking.
And in proper rank and file each reed,
obtains the seed I came before and you became immortal.

James McLain

Sap Is

Like the clouds or sky, white, yellow or grey sap these fluids.

When by she to he comes from they,

he or she and or one being difference's can come of.

Coming out of the inner roots of the tallest or shortest of trees,
during the shedding of the greenest of leaves.

Then hanging down from the branches beards called moss.

The sap depending on the health of the tree should be cloudy.

The majority of the liquid of the sap switched has consisted.

Secretion from the hidden glands of the bushes and trees.

Climbs higher up comes man usability followed up by a woman.

Healthy the sap should be comprised when made up of.

Epididymes citric acid, free amino acid, fructose, the enzyme, phosphorylcholine
and the professional star Glan gin.

In smaller amounts but optimal include kalium and zinc.

As for the sap from each broken twig that leaks.

The capacity of sappy each leak and the time since the last leak determines the amount of the sap.

Good high quality thus being and bringing forth more trees.

And tadpoles from climbing tree frogs it includes,

While deep are some depressions between the trees.

James McLain

Signs And Symptoms For Nymphomania

Coitus moves mountains back into hills where stands of trees.
Then bushes hedged with thoughts of coercion.
Masturbation which is durability contest,
concerning the image of coitus or characteristic is personal.
Modification and worry about tools,
wide valleys with even deeper depressions.
Followed closely by low rides where the horse is always saddled.
Use medicine by the barrel then going over the falls of Niagara.
Then there is the successful person who was received when, repeatedly when young as hyper normal state (society, occupation and amusement precluded this activity) While tall thick men never help.
Acquisition of the joy of characteristics attached from the damage, becomes from hyper sexual behavior uncontrolled behavior of remixing. The attempt which was repeated never frequently finishes, when the conduct is repeated over and over leaving you with satisfaction that your feeling of being unsuccessful.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dual Diagnosis

When you are that person,
then where alcohol and or substance abuse is by you used.
And then there is also experimental psychiatric medicines,
Where the side effects are death more death and a greater risk of suicide then
perhaps,
that may or may not like each rose without a scent new of problems.
And problems in psychiatry in other feelings is more than a ghost.
When both admitted at most when honest need help I would say.
Then that there is multiple duplication for this diagnosis.
Sufficiently in order to strip a mind nude and recover.
The person needs the measures for one and both problems.
Duplication diagnosis more common rather than perhaps,
you imagine, is found common.
self medication = 37 of the alcoholic abuse people %.
And 53 of the medicine abuse by other people %.
And at least there is one serious mental retardation.
All people are not born equal, alcoholic writers of the constitution fore fathers and wives preambles.
29% abuses or the medicine which is abnormal in mind and are only now through new technology more beings diagnosed.

James McLain

Minuets From From Her Lips

As for her but not for me it's what we want.

In this endless line,

she orders us, but never me to directly.

Flying in and out by they never once pursued.

Sweet as clover honey when then once I was a bee.

Licked completely clean the center the Queen is sweet.

I come, I go, it is when I push it out to her.

I am and when I think that we would like to change my name.

But like all the rest I have resifted them.

Here it comes the wind and simultaneously in her I scream.

To be flying low and being like her last.

But in her other hand I am held quite fast.

I touch her chest, on the nipple pierced where she is hard.

and would she like to rub my finger to the mouth,

which by her is placed.

After being I,

I lay down the place is hers, her I sleep, see them sleep in peace. Minuets from her lips there was my lip, she served.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Aching Feeling

I couldn't believe how empty I felt once it was gone.
Like she had removed that certain part of me
and with it.
I hid my hand down in the hedges where the bushes
and I gently moved beneath them both aside.
Like Indians,
when they circle the center from the outside.
I could feel it hoping not just open.
I instantly slipped useless memories deep inside,
trying to cure the aching feeling.
Of being once full like oceans filled with only emptiness.
In home room class,
Sandra looked over at me and moved, then giggled.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Art Of Each Fine Point

No name from some I have,
my number is.

I have no name of this the author is, of it, it is.
I continue to exist to they, I live submissively.

Plotting I retreat, I have little skyward title.
What of it is never heard of this that sad conclusion.
Because of this it can become abrupt, in you intrusive.
I must know more than you wish to know,
because of this I am, I can, I came to you to know.

Memorize me the order of the alphabet each oblong planet.
When sometimes perhaps, the others none address.
My state the flower and my state your bird it mocks the capital.
This city where you are, inser my mind and fingers deep into.
Any other reason thinks our children and now do you.

Endeavor, persevere in file rank order but remember.
Firing teachers does not stabilize us any here our where.
The art of each fine point,
is the point that is fine point of each must find your tongue.

From your first love poem,
whose form has when and form it is normal.
From each like mind for kind of you is you each month of.

James McLain

To The School Yard

And spending youth,
I see green emerald eyes like leaves of hazel days.
The school yard where as children, laughing
most would come to play.

Streaming clouds that blow quickly by our lives.
Grey measured out in spring,
each new bed made of May.
And full grown leather bags, our world of marbles.
Weighted down in memories left our copper treasure.

Coming now to sit and soften this in turn and each must wait their turn our weary eyes are burned away.
And skipping hand in hand but not in love.
We never strayed the circle once when as to then,
and narrow leading wanders I am drifting farther out.
Never closed but growing only tighter squeezed away.
Bent the golden worn out diamond ring.
Bold and stooped with all consuming grace,
while my head the wind has turned away.

To the school yard,
where once as children I turn and ask her why none now can play.

James McLain

President Obama, As I Watch

They are here walkabout us, let sleeping cities sleep, each sleeping hill a pulse I must feel, she must be neurotic.
Beating hearts, just one beat away, as I cross over to you again.
Because of you as I watch verily thus is a child of the stars naught is my doubt is my cloud from yet from thus I rise.
Dark beauty of the 'green red sheets you beneath him.
President Obama, the deceivers have dangerous minds, likewise and simple is my reason to simple by thus though they fathom. Her light phantoms from none other another your wife is honey) watch that..h.b.o.....man...(one little boy a thief open gardens melting faces. Kiss hers
the burning edge of there great drive.
If I were like you to smell her love I would die.
Between hers lies your secret no further out.
Condoleezza Rice has said,
that 'one can never be to well spoken nor too living long.
And it can never change one child's gift given to her your others.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

President Obama As I Watch.....

They are here walkabout us, trust let sleeping cities sleep.
Each sleeping hill a pulse of she I must feel, must she be neurotic?
Beating hearts, hearts just one beat away.
Crossing over back from, as I cross over to you once again.
Because of you as I watch and verily thus a child from the stars.
Naught is my doubt is my cloud from whence and yet from thus I rise.
Dark beauty of the 'green over and or under the red sheets you of her do I speak eternal the spark this light shines beneath him.
President Obama, the deceivers have dangerous minds, likewise and simple is my reason to simple by thus though they fathom. Her light
phantoms from none other another your wife is honey) watch that..h.b.o.....man...(one little boy a thief open gardens melting faces. Kiss hers
the burning edge of there great drive.
If I were like you,
once of they back to back against me to smell of her love I would die.
Between her sweet lips whispered lies is your secret no further out.
Condoleezza Rice have I once heard she said,
that 'one can never be to well spoken nor too living yonder long.
And it can never change one child's gift given to her, our others.

James McLain

My Pretty Coat

Made from her silk my finest woolen great long coat.
And it is pretty see it near there covered nearly over.
Some with both our loving hands.

I at her lips made mention never wore it inside out.
She brought it in, the pink laced neck one twin line.
The world has ever growing roving bulging eyes.
That never seem to move when laid at rest.
Setting high up on the bushy cherry covered hill,
There where she sits so I am whispers talking still.
Singing songs, I hear them rising in me taller all
she is in and out my breath, She takes it in.
Warm when in the cold I'm walking naked.
Whom comes at me when I in all her need.
Although now not as she sleeps as his before.

I can never forgive that song even that song of songs,
Accidents that have made me what I am.
Infamously, notorious, I stare at all her priceless things.
Untill all my priceless things are hers again.
Passing me one dog defiles me like a raven rued is nevermore.

James McLain

Quiet Sleep

I am of that which you even when blind through fingers see.
And here it is where you sleep and rest moves off hope.
The sky is open and wide,
and lonely twin crescent the moon,
is as deep as the waves above the white foamy sea.
Everything from that of which I ask,
is she the waiting song the wind of each long warm night.
The high tide the water mark,
walking across the green grass clear as glass see the boat?
And everything which I ask for, has she been thus by for.
Blankets of quiet sleep,
and in sweet dreams when both reach the rocks after long.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tallahassee

This lock from hell I could be framed, atone.
Unknown to they the human race must run.
In Tallahassee, names, and games astound it.
No gentleman with honor would sit without it.
It by they is always thought out methods sure.
Lawyers make up language no one understands.
A womans honor to her husband be secured.
There laws, though some are made from fear.
a Shepard of thine sheep they only flock are mocked.
Using fear to keep our virtue safe,
and under lock and throw away the key.
Schools costs to much and guards come cheap.
By they I breath and live I fear to be alone.
But now to bring the matter home.
Some there spouses, knew, lived long to roam.
With good men always coming, some turn bad.
And then comes infection the law is raped.
And babies thrown away my life they take.
They have learned the Roman creed to ape.
English law presumed it once, I do not know.
But all of this is fallow when each chair is vain.
My love always once knew their end to gain.
That god will not insure my unjust cause.
He still protects the Righteous, keep his laws.
For he has given unto me your art.
And can't refuse me any thine, your hearts.

James McLain

Why, When The Sun

Why, when the sun,
I would sing of my love to the sunlight,
and now as I watch you looking off I am to distant, but how?
Some else that came, did not look at your smile.
Thinking of you I look at the sun in the sky.
I have like you thought about blowing winds.
But however deep you may be, I am as she with the sea.
I can feel the warmth on my eyes on my face.
Stop for the moment come over the dune and you feel.
Once coming here often, came the sweet rain.
Sweeping over the shore,
and each dropp as it falls in my mouth tastes like what I miss.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Indirect Resistance

When however,
After everything has been said.
Like tall grass is green bamboo.
From the wind you are swaying.
There is no highest excellence,
only ones moral is core ethical,
characteristics.
As for the highest,
which the young must become.
And of damage,
the resistance of that,
which if right, does not have to fight.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Small Victory

Therefore,
as for them not seeing him.
Concealing that from whom,
the other has not planned.
Winning defeat after each small victory.
Trust may win over on one hand.
Numbers of meaningless war.
The last strategic stone house.
Tasting the smell of victory.
Never to pursue useless flight.
It is, as for first fight,
after that, marching past history.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mr. Bukowski, Said

Needless to say,
the bedroom became an issue, said she to me.
Concerning drinking, he.
Not to mention how it was never covered up.
And deep the uncertainty.
It got to the point where the drive each way,
from here to there became the moonlight of the evening.
Most times when I saw her,
she was already 'exhausted', 'worn out', or 'feeling good'.
The moon never was upon the pillow (and there were few of those)
My neighbor, Mr. Bukowski said, he never got the best.
Because the rest was left behind.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Face And Smile

Hope went in and love came out,
and she went passing by.

Walking through the crowd,
down town windy,
people crossing busy streets.

Each face,
and smile as fast paced cars went slowly by.
The long white limousine, I stopped.
You would not enter in.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Journey

The lips fragrant taste of magnolias the air has left.
And beautiful stars that shine have burned my eyes.
And where the moss hangs down,
the wind it moves to part the leaves fair green is hair.

Each journey I have left it leaving which, is it returned.
The oak is thick and now grown up,
and you have returned to lean upon it trembles, know.

Coming back to where you left it often growing up.
The whitest of all stars and brightest star is when.
And up in the sky,
is the star that is the color of your eye, it never faded.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Plant Each Apple Tree

I am looking down, but I can only wait until, so long.
Together I am settled here along beside you.
Some where there along the winding river,
do it not to do it that it does, when flowing boldly.

Life flows out and down the river which by you I held.
By myself nothing to hold I held it down through you.
I have loving wrapped,
a thousand miles of years and tears with only you.

And, I it is and I with you and you with it, it is.

I count each day the apple trees in well lined order.
Fruits of all the showers, coming off of those green leaves.
Where ever they are newly planted or brought forth right up.
I have included water, love, so plant each plant accordingly.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Trinity To Love

When does the trinity to love one another,
reach out to the other hand of love?
When at the end you must choose.
Sweeter between, to love and that of hate.
Having no other choice but to love you I have.

Fill up the glass and the glass will stay full.
There is no better wine to serve to each, than that.
Than to do, to give each unto the other your hand.
Sing to her face,
and your face will then smile, each one dance.

And do it to be both together, it is delightful.
It is not possible to exclude his your center,
when because it is just his other hand of life.
When leaving, I am because of the pillar I stood.
And for the wood and the cedar of the royal purple oak,
is not the feeling of love then mutual?
Your eyebrow is raised,
when the shadow of thine keeper sleeps within.

James McLain

Tears, That Were Your's

So it is
as one would say.

maybe not
so quite there
as they would have you
say.

Yet upon those cheeks
the tears
they run and burn.

and burning
how they run.

I cry
the mask
into a soul
of one
as that.

PoemHunter.com

No one should be forced to hear them yell or scream.

just to taste
your fear.

When you hear
I can't
but yet you try
or if by force
they make
you cry.

and cry they

make you strip away
your mask.
drips your face beneath.

Their need to make you feel their pain
is that their worn out soul
is bared.

and such soul
to pity that endures.

perceived as weak
if through the mask
each tear
it drops away.

The tears
my pain
my salt they throw away
and may not taste.

barrels of salt
that should not go to waste.

James McLain

I Did Not Write This Because

☐ People come into your life for a reason
a season or a lifetime.

When you know which one it is you will know what to do for that person.

When someone is in your life for a reason
it is usually to meet a need you have expressed.

They have come to assist you through a difficulty to provide you with guidance and support to aid you physically emotionally or spiritually.

PoemHunter.com

They may seem like a godsend and they are.

They are there for the reason
you need them to be.

Then without any wrongdoing
on your part or at an inconvenient time
this person will say
or do something
to bring the relationship
to an end.

Sometimes they die
Sometimes they walk away.

Sometimes they act up and force
you to take a stand.

What we must realize is that our need
has been met
our desire fulfilled
their work
is done.

The prayer
you sent up
has been answered
now it is time to move on.

Some people
come into your life
for a season
because your turn has come to share
grow or learn.

They bring you an experience
of peace or make you laugh.

They may teach
you something
you have
never done.

They usually give you
an unbelievable
amount of joy.

Believe it
it is real
But only
for a season.

Lifetime relationships
teach you lifetime
lessons
things you must build upon
in order to have a solid emotional foundation.

Your job
is to accept
the lesson
love the person
and put what you have learned to use
in all other relationships
and areas
of your life.

It is said that love
is blind
but friendship
is clairvoyant.

Thank you for being a part of my life whether you were a reason
a season
or a lifetime.

James McLain

At The Beach

Sitting back from the waters outer edge.
There is the other edge,
against the grass my back is safe.
Out in the water,
overhead I turn and dance in circles all around.
Where I can watch,
and watching I am also being watched.
Watching children run and play,
I am each time like them amazed.
The woman dressed in colored suites.
Like the eye of every jewel each moon compressed.
The smell of all that oil in the air.
Green grass was floating all around my arms.
Swimming by the salt rinsed out my mouth.
While the muscles on the buoys are full grown.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wishes, That I

Wishes, that I desired.
To many things from 'I' wished from you.
And in return for that, two grains of sand of truth.
Wishing for I'd grant to you,
both round white pearls I spoke of two.
To you.
As for me and wishing, only that.
The kitty cat, I felt that It was soft.
I saw it through the window, you wished, I said.
But - on the other hand,
as for me and what you will, be done?
As for this one small request it is your pleasure.
A promise made,
when wishes are and granted don't come cheap.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Gossip

Hearing gossip about people will change the way,
your eyes see them — literally.
Trees, moss and beards while I have muscles.

Negative gossip actually alters the way,
our visual system responds to a particular face and the smile.
Causing the moon to lose its glow and luster.

Who am I,
to suggest that the human brain
is wired to respond to positive or negative
regardless of truth to dial soap, okra gossip.

And it adds to the evidence that gossip,
helped early woman telling the wrong men all goings on,
to what was never said, getting your head.

Gossip is helping you to predict who is your friend,
and some one else,
whom was never your friend,
and some how is now your friend, instead of your foe.

Secondhand information about your person,
can have a positive boost.
More often than not a devastating reversal effects.
Is not a tree stronger when deeper the roots?

Once hearsay has opened your eyes and lips,
we the us,
they caught up in the moment one second now.
Watching the hour of power,
they to them,
somehow see someone in a certain light the wrong way.
Abuse becomes right.
Light become dark flowers die.

More than accidents happen that way.
Each direction becomes a one way street.
It is more than possible that we,

literally all see them in a different mirror.
The one that we are not seeing through to our own.
Never owning up,
Yours is how to me Gossips, every things differently?

James McLain

Your Face On The Lake

I was to everyone at once for a long time a child,
to the brother and sister,
and husband the wife two small children.
As green leaves comes peace, precedes fall.
When at the end of each day, I look up at the sky,
and deep in thought I think of you.
Where am 'I' am happy to have lived and cried.

Dies, the leaf, winter the snow when it comes.
Out the window I look seeing you.
Smiling you smile.
And spring leaps forth from my head,
red, yellow, whites and green, flowers open I smell.

I am whom you turn to,
to fill up the room,
and turning around you spin like a top.
Off or, each way north and south turn the page.
Black canvas the sky every night I look up at the moon.

In your house it is just like that is my heaven.
The wing of one arm lies sleeping beneath you.
Your feet have I washed I look at the dream,
and that which was washed each toe is now clean.
My life for you I have given away,
and again would I do it the same way.
In regards to my country, I have played I have paid.

Of the world of the word, where I have turned each page.
Your face on the lake, reflected off of the surface,
deep inside of the book together we have made.

James McLain

Flowers Deep As Wells

Wish I would,
could come the day that I should.
All the day and if I could, she would.
As hummingbirds and bumble bees,
the meadows green, when they fly near.

How white wine tastes and visits last all day.
Who she is and if I can and where she dwells.
Throughout the vine,
O' purple grapes, Or she improves in taste.

I said to she and soon flew past a bee.
And flowers deep as wells.
Humming birds and bees, have come to see.

Come taste the air and fly inside,
nowhere all day, I am to bee.
What is freedom to the clover green, unprick ed!
Speaking firmly, said the bee.

James McLain

Being Bright

Once I think I said this poem to you.
Where out there is the truth?
Does the brightest of each star,
burn faster, hotter than is best?

Higher than the yellow moon,
looking down what does it take?
And either one,
I see to me is brighter than the rest.

Being bright, from which is flame.
I am burnt to much and touch it, it is hot.
Melting in the after glow the melting snow.

To you it shone or, either one is joy.
And late to many afternoons,
the wait for you to long and long it was.
Night came to soon and you, I lost my vision.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

R.S.I.

One day off is regrettable if taken, is not possible.
It makes ten fingers tingle,
and many works are completed feel impossible.
Regrettable, this when mixed your other hand,
the action of the wrist and body parts are specified.

Pressure and the tension like the arm and upper neck,
daily being pecking up and down, repetitive.
Determines length duration whose work is to precise.
When muscular activity taken, is to long.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dreams You Long For

Oh, I am singing, you are singing, we are singing.
And you just lay there coming waiting to just grow.
And how each time,
fleeting make the hungry person learn to know.
And your time which has yet to wait it comes?
But so young to wonder why.
From the world the one and only one this person.
Leaves the wind that through it blows, are waiting for.
From where your center longs.
These dreams you long for are.
Oh and have you lived by sight to be his only light?
Are candles for.
Your thoughts are formed much clearer,
than each thought, each formed before.
And like the rainbow of the sun are streams and rivers.
To be loved by he, not me, to lose your color for?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Heaven Comes From Every Where

Some times like other times, I could we go away.
From this house pine box where I am cold,
when I was young, I was not borne away.
My house it has no name, my name for it, it was it is,
I stay like what, I am.

And normal is his house his home.
I grieve for days that yet will come.
When love a house it normal is.
It was filled up to the rafters full in tears.
Of silent dreams each room of dust,
dug up, are mummies cursed?

Love, I thought my marriage of and life was tossed away,
and what of that one time,
that I have known of love lights very brightly.
Secrets come and go each known and time completely.
I would love to swim where unknown emerald seas,
and each wave top blessed a parting, clear blue skies.

Islands off into each your living memory.
The stormy eye each surge goes deeper still.
Until the sides give up, squeezed in.
My mind which leaves the truth a potters field behind.
My heaven comes from every where, I look at once.
And everything at once my time in this old house.
And time was for the second time my life, I give but once.

James McLain

Purple Morning Off The Hills

As for day,
the night is slow, then when it came.
The clock the hands they swept behind the mist.
Obstructed by a ruby sheen clear haze.
Abrupt the noise the musket shouts it spills.
The purple morning off the hills.

Gazing there into the sun I turned about it east.
Sunrise shook the dew out from the fold.
The happy sounds the minstrel makes,
his drummer which upon is beating, takes.
It is rearranged around the bird and their themselves
the music that the cardinal red it makes.

(The wind is sighing through the leafy trees)
The apple garden to the south had shone,
like the morning jewel.
Was the guest of this enormous place,
a soldier in the parlor to that place around, the pool.

James McLain

Love Before Dying

Butterflies look through the window,
and where each has been long never, absent.
The sky is the room where it opens,
and the odor of the rose with their wings open.
Why it is closed it steals my breath.

Experience and love before dying.
Having come for the seconds is time.
There where we played once as children,
and some along the path we have lost.

It is the rose.
Open fields where they grow.
The field is full of life green the grass.
And when it turns brown some are lost.

Attention to them most you pay,
and the thorns of pain are removed.
The lattice it does, bring them confront.

Although alive the butterfly it fades fast.
Being able to bore through the hole.
It flies to the sun across open water,
to soon the day ends and the flowers.

Beauty has again reawakened,
and beauty paused, I stopped, very suddenly.

James McLain

Swallows His Pride

She wears what she wears each night.
She's keeps hidden underneath what all want.
Against common since, the girls mother is.
And she swallows his pride, for a price.

Efficiently is traded, English it marks,
and marked by it all,
she can not speak and it is.
She wastes little time, each second she counts.

Shortly thereafter for her, comes the next.
Her bodies cut and weeping it hurts now,
All of their cravings going and coming no names
The moon up above, as it smiles down below.
The men pull out the spoon and it fits.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

With Your Lips

How I have labored to the touch of your lips.
And lips of the like,
and yours no woman to the other.
Have opened like yours have to mine.

The heat is to close and hot is your face,
and your face is to hot, close to mine
Who before me and we have touched both.

From the moon down below to the sun up above.
You with your lips
and I have increased and blood has begun to flow.

Like the wine and the grape they are ripe,
and like the river of life, yours the flow.
Bathed in this dream and the heat of your lips,
could not have been made.
and if not from the center peeks your tongue.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Hands

my hands
remembered
your breasts
your breasts
remembered
my hands.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Writing On The Living Wall

Life is love to wide,
and the thing you cannot say, I was driven to.
Be a hero of the lost and end disputes.
Your future,
how it is when it is past and young is now?
You do not have to rely on saying,
hallow be it thou, turning be of it.
Obtaining - feelings good.

Past the yesterdays and present is today,
Sleep the sleeping lay.
And deceased the deceased permit us each, knew day.
Behavior - functions we attend them all.
When heard at the presently,
and here you have died to long to live.
Medium double suicides, and God hears overhead.

Life the living footprint,
and pearls turn back the sand of time.
While each grain the sea, we wave perhaps.
Us and doing try to have the sun when rising.
Burning, using the warm center for each destiny.
Learn from the act of death and it pursues,
the living still,
and patients still, it achieves it works, it waits.

From the grave,
and writing on the living wall, the archers guided to.

James McLain

Navy Seals

The enemy is someone they know.
Some one who can be opposed.
If it is in trust and trust it is then,
great is this force, they will know.

Thine by his great design or thine are his by desire.
Filled our cities they are just and our people are fair.
And well spoken are our great old Grandfathers.
And tethered our fair land of our dreams and common goals.

Decent folk should have no fear of their threats.
Death is dealt from their own hand of ignorance,
and history is kind which it is, is it not?

Patriots act bravely when ordered they confront.
And scorn is but the grave, that such as they have earned.
Whether by which hand over the land and by sea,
and cruel is their this, mighty sting.

When children have been harmed,
Nursed and hope, take to the air they have wings.
Which when broken they try to heal and repair.

James McLain

How It Shakes Me

The eye of the storm where I am.
Above your two, below is the moon.
I am waiting for it to become full.
Small I am large and large I am small..
Clouds pass by me suddenly.
Beauty how it shakes me.
Around the moon is one ring,
and who at your time I have settled.
Passing by the center a comet it comes.
Crossing the center moving lines, straightly.
The scar on the earth it is deep, round acutely.
Just your blinking star on the center of the earth,
how it moves me.
However it rains the scar is cleaned, completely.
The beauty of it how it shakes me.
Over the years who at one time I have settled.
In my world, I am you and you I am.
Faithfully with the life here thereafter and after one more.
All truth is then seen because of the eye, shaking death.
Passing by the center,
a comet it comes through the center.
The beauty of the scar,
the windows open is closing fast, more acutely.

James McLain

U.S. Justice_Will_Be_Served_In_Maids

As for the accomplishments of this French maid person.

Car·i·ca·ture - as a cruel impersonal,
short ponied, char·is·mat·ic is it a predator?

This... Strauss-Kahn...

French presidents need a job some how, she described.

Rubbed with that $1,300 every night every one wants a show and the maid caught between.

Loved only in French,

it is meant that it turns over with the belt made of leather.

As for him and her victim, there it is grasped.

Short this tall order not to be in the wrapped chocoholic,
his box is not acceptance thereof.

Removing her stocking it is tried and moving this victim.

Underestimated, which is chosen is she powerfully.

Leaf of small-numbered mossy green, the area and.

Where the bush of fire is to many.

And now criminal is prosecution.

As for the wood of old oak tree, O' rooted victim, It contacted with.

O' Two degrees being when opened on the battlefield,
above near the full moon, by the root of mid-evil, violence.

True when Tired and Tried is the press of Allegedly.

Can she, will she be bought off, to settle this amicably?

James McLain

Mushroom

Growing overnight, springing up, very white.
Prudence between sleeps each one of our toes.
Do it to become us and fixed are the tops.
Do to the air blow it gently with your nose.
No one need meet us to greet us, look stop.

This is the place it can be, is less crowded, small rings.
The soft fist it raises, the needle you hide, I insist.
And the pavement it ends where the leaf is to pretty.
Our hammers, the rams, fearless and eyeless,
silence and round the opening one does to expand it completely.
Crossing the field and passing the hole, her shoulder.

In waters lays our diet, the ants carry off the bread crumbs.
The bush casts a shadow, gentled quite is uniqueness.
Vast thine majority which is of it asked.
Our numbers, tall large members!
Our's so large and vast strewn across fields are our numbers.
We are gentle, we are for food, even in love we feel your need.
Our types are white the caps like the snow it increases.
We receive the new morning a blanket of earth is our door.

James McLain

Bedroom Noises

It was never very late I early, fully understood.
Walking by her ponds, beneath the moon.
Out back theres my one roomed house.
I am me and she I am to afraid across the room.
There in the back section of the house is da and mia.
Where I hear them usually about none most inquire.
About bed springs and creaky bushes hollow twigs.
I respect the thing which on four legs it talks and walks.
Access with the rear I hear as well and the smell.
It front and back and does it, only when it can!
As for me, I cannot see when it is necessary,
but it originates the sound of dogs when barking.
Howls that make the sound,
as sooo to get the dry red paint it wets on me.
Because when I return from there, he hits the cat.
Momma mia of the furry squirrels, I hear them loved!

Bedroom noises never heard because of me, is never quiet.
Because those noises are insanity, they are to me not loud.
For twenty dollars I am told, but not that bold.
I see the shadows on the walls that speak of truth untold,
things that we always never do them not.
And they love the fact that you don't hear this noise.

James McLain

God Can Win

When ever, light is formed.
Where ever, art is from.
Such of his,
is you are thinking this.
Beautiful each compilation,
unique our spontaneous.

Deep it is long and wide.
We are filling the gap,
and science each it's margin is.
We who are rubbed out to exist.
Minute these forms of atomic matter.
Why is there no inert, outer space?
I look to you, whom ask of it, am I within?
Given over to the order of gravity,
is something that has reason over there?

Fly is to contact paper,
outer space I am, coming and going.
It is not necessary to execute 'God,
to put the best of the rest to the test.

James McLain

My Best, Is Beauregard

Upright, hold on tight.
My best, is Beauregard.
Up and down, love is.
Will it be airtight?
So breath, all night,
the moon if out of sight.
Beneath the tree,
green moss hangs down.

Tell me lass,
how you have loved.
When,
loved have you been loved?
Beauregard's the best.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Not Forgotten

If it is not forgotten,
and never must I speak to you of dying love.
How I must in truth you passing, must I long.

And that of you, as it passes by me, all my life.
The breeze when of you it touches me, the wind.

And when I'm looking up at you cloud the sky,
were to pass through me, thoughts leave me.
Who but am I, when down by the seashore.

Remember that night of that day, that last time,
as I raised you up in my arms.
The waves rise up to your lips forgotten is the kiss.
I was pulled under,
by the moons yellow flower that you often gave me,
remember this my love.
It is not that long when forgotten by me and moving,
are you the waves and I am by then faraway.

James McLain

Past The Water Mark

A woman came and moved me over there.
Past the water mark, last night, her tide, I knew.
And the tide it moved her low warm smile,
it higher rose and wet.

The moon was full and full her moon was set.
Past the grass and flats and white the sand.
And up along the dock,
just past the long green pole.
She's looking out,
to where my boat was tied to closely up.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Patient, Is The Spider

The deep black quite silence of the night.
When patiently it goes, waiting it waits for you.
Smaller is that of the center, being where I stand.
Like some other being, I am looking around isolated.
Moreover here it has been less exposed more crowded.
Watching as he quickly drops in to explore.
And to he this immense encirclement, am I now trapped?
When that I launched off from and down into.
Sacred round filament and filament wrapped around the ring.
Wherefore from that of itself to be interviewed,
by she with out appointment this long filament of she.
Drawn out of those and patience to those it grows strongly.
And the place where it stands, O' the center of my mind.
It is surrounded, being it surrounded.
Breathless with the measureless dept of the ocean of her space.
It has become, placed in the middle without thought therebetween.
To she of he, without much thought it needs to think intelligibly.
The bridge which he needed, has led to her soft centered need.
And now he hangs from her Webb, dancing, going no where.
Anchored by her grasp,
and his last pin pricked thought of a dulling thinning ductility.
To the thread of the gossamer weaving this Webb.
Where she throws out and captures ones dream of somewhere.

James McLain

Each Cloud I Part

There is no escaping the touch of love.
And the ring around the moon,
my body is when one because.

And I am standing at the edge,
then as I love our friends above.
Holding up the sky, each cloud I start.
Your hands around my face you part.

Softly speaking in your ear against the wind, I cried.
Loving you both hands,
and love, touched me, and we both sighed.

Because the smell of the clean rain,
washed clean our memories there away.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Whales Hear The Music

'Dear'...when you smile like that
is such a troublesome i worry
and verbal, 'scrambled intercourse! !
Why to be loving terrible,
we would like to driver your designate.
Your baby-sitter as all knowing,
other than such simple nervousness?
There is no,
'is there not! i mean yes,
no some colored difference.
Being born in another country,
many thousands of miles away.
That my siblings do the humphing.
Even whales hear the music
my way,
is never of complication
the troublesome, as others
whom coarse items that brings,
ringing to your tender ears
and flashes of lightning
that cause you such discomfort there.

James McLain

Dyslexic, The Child

With it being said, it is that are you being difficult.
Pay attention to the detail,
and which by the others by they it is learned.

Ashamed to raise my hand,
and to my teacher, If I had but one wish.
Losing my way and of reading.
How the words move like a line of ants upside down,
why don't they stop teacher please as I wait for hope in vain.
Wiring of writing and how my speech to immature,
I can not articulate my simple thought into your concepts.

Where did this nightmare spring forth from?
Problems you put and I read from right and being left handed.
Is not right and I confess to my self I'm confused.

Completely are they all normal it is said.
Pointed out and why do I bother to come?
They cannot mean, but they do,
and I cannot distinguish every color (it is larger is or, a little,)
As for what ever I gained by there losing I am losing.
With it once was said.
Letter blindness.
The others I think are to blind to see what I can.
However,
the eye it beholds her,
and I move into other worlds as I leave the rest behind.

James McLain

Waters Edge

By the waters edge the plants are green.
Then when I look up to see the moon her face,
the sky is all around me.
Where moon light, shimmers off the leaves.
As they are damp the mist clings fast.

By the waters edge to close my feet are heavy slurping as I pull them from the foamy loam.
I, have you remembered earth as it cries out,
released from foggy memories shed today?

By the waters edge, the many doors of green.
the hidden branches trip me up as I walk past.
I see her face,
reflected back to me, the moon grows thinner still.
In secret do I think of all the moss,
white a stork has caught a frog as it flies out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When I Dream

While I go, to where I never was before.
Can I do it,
the softest sound, this voice that sings.
Like once it was before.
Complete the range the angels voice,
no humans heard before.
Therefore, it is to hearts it soothes,
and to lose the feelings of, I tremble, loss.
As for this his only child,
someone is calling, a white dove pursues.
Coming often only when I dream.
And it is sung and substitution it flies by.
From the mouth of babes,
then when her fathers love is reconciled.
And he that never slept above,
and cries below and watching her fly past.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dyslexia, Adult

After all the problems of surviving child hood.
Bullies and beatings and very strange nice teachers.
Greater the problem it seemed to grow like a weed.
Larger rather than smaller by the others perceived,
alone found the path was the way.
And there is this plural mutual misunderstanding,
concerning the symptoms of the adult whom they made.
Then time reached out thine majority.
People actual problems and being ashamed, not saying.
Foolish were they and of I.
And standing in the way you must conform each one thus said.
For that kind of conduct, the person loses self-confidence.
Those are refused, beginnings of the feeling which is isolated.
Dyslexic symptoms do not change the effect on creativity.
Dyslexic symptom only intensifies the need, do not change.
Dyslexic the wiring is wired for the best of our life.
Dyslexic the symptom makes the brain,
to work three times harder than yours to succeed.
Dyslexic, I will never give it up and I will myself to succeed.
Those have the vivid imaginations.
Considerable are these great strengths.
When it is given and not withheld to conform to misunderstanding.
Support and encouragement,
may you then reach your dreams and achieve your success.

James McLain

Literature

Loud smiths of silence and mighty the pen.
Mighty swords hence, I am spread as I finish.

Slow is the labor, carbon and lead, freed from chains.
Galatians from hence where I was brought up,
and nothing thus of it, is written to remain.

This from the dust as for reading my eyes,
and eyes are for reading, trust the dust.

There is no room at the inn, may I go as you come.
Romantic each word,
and the dance and from whence it all came.

Go and I ask this of you to satisfy thine mine heart.
There in the other the after place before there we go.
Imagination which loves all your tragedy, you endeavor,
therefore passing through it we all must come.

Finally you write with the pen, as I pass through the eye, passing through the eye of eternity and eternity starts from whence.
Complaints do you have I would ask,
as you pass, let them all pass as we pass through, I dwell.

James McLain

Quite Times

Only at her quite times, the iris pulls back the curtain.
Looking at attention are the apt pupils.
Quietly it lifts, pulled apart grandiloquently.
An image of a shadow peers in,
rushes down through the tensed, arrested muscles,
plunges into the heart and is just as quietly gone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Being Honest

You look at him there
and turn away when he looks.
What he sees,
is what you intended to show.
And this from you it was seen.
It is his leafy path.
Sewn together never pulled apart.
Never the rocket fuel.
Though how I wish that it were.
Cold not on fire like this when it is.
I am to forward with my brown eyes.
And those blue eyes, like the sky
are never to looking forward, enough.
Until he sees past the clouds.
Was heaven so lightly veiled.
Until the first day that I came,
I these feeling I never knew.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Must Not Love You Here

I must not love you here or there you know because.
And yet without exception it is why because of you,
and is it simple when I say and loved I said are you.

I am when loving you and am I loving you and when.
How I wait to long and waiting long I do.
A heart that moves from yielding lips a choir that moves.

I, when love is hate and you to yielding deep I forge.
And it is never hating you, I love the storms your cage.
When I blend inside of you,
and the length of what I measure is the pleasure of the measure it is a widow open that is covered brightly over you.
It is not the changing day but when night comes over you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Life Is Uncontrolled

There at the closed end of the southern valley,
of bending often winding deep such thoughts.
Where so often,
then at dusk you used to cover me and hide.
Ringed in posies,
wrapped it darkness, singing birds is loudly spilled
The open yawning stare that's blind, but now it sees.
By those very trees,
and bushes leave the circled vines that climb the walls.
Some gouged deep purple and mist floats a cloud,
paints over,
as it leaves the wall, dew freshly washed blue stained.
And life is uncontrolled,
and beings uncontrolled, is life when there's no rest.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Truth Lies Still

I think perhaps that when you come you won't.
Beating even though the center of your reason is.
The center is the reason why we cry.
I don't and both we know it why, it is for you to still.
It the truth lies still.
When I forget you,
and never for a rapid pulse a single brilliant moment.
and then the sun goes down and quite evening,
how it comes and returning for the second time.
One word, one song, a softly spoken poem.
And your weakest finger points to where it touched me.
My center is so heavy and my breath so quite.
I hold it there, in the middle for you still.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Of Sorrow

Because I am sore, I inspect all great sorrows.
Where ever you go, I must greet them.
It Is your sorrow that I tested, I measure,
using narrowly using, the eye of the needle, I strictly.
Your treasured ones I measure there weight,
and you think of it as a cloud to rain not of doubt.

Am I why, you think in doubt and doubt you think, why I am.
As for me and by the gate of your each, my one.
Feelings, I feel and such by feeling, such is old pain.
Whether or not I am hurt,
because of all that have lived and before I have lived.

And If you must and those of you, must I try.
That scar it is quick to close on none but those.
To give forth unto you the fragrance of my oil.
It is enlightened through you and I am larger than pain.

Do you grieve?
Smaller than a large number to all, see what I say.
A vision of natural air.
However perhaps,
and I do not presume this of you, it is just-sorrow.

Because you pay attention to sorrow,
our paths back and forth they must cross.
And trust how they must and must they how you trust.
Trust that I mostly and your sorrow,
it is you.
And your of one body and beings you are the bright ones.

James McLain

A Stand Of Trees

Could you know exactly and exactly know you could.
When how to she of paradise,
and to her wide is long and long is wise.
To whom can he entrust it to?

The look below her eyes the look that paints her smile.
Does he shake her hips like so and shakes them so.
To her patient heart and patients is her painful art.
Higher than the human eye and higher than the moon,
she missed his aim.
When the feeling comes it dies and dieing good the feeling is.

And meeting there below the shady hill, around the bend
behind a stand of trees,
there is a bush down by a stream he some times, peeps.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Purple Grapes

As for your coming out and being squeezed when ripe.
The setting the sun,
purple grapes dripped around vines, making wine.
Yellow is rose,
keeper of colors which holds the goblet.
Differences are the keys, keeper of days.
You think for the other each hand being right.
We are, are we naught but of they,
whom are made red of clay, but of the potters wheel.
When each glass is free, thee from thine.
As for the draft the vine rich earth from the soil.
Hangs bursting grapes of the likes, t'were ever watchful of this.
Which from of all, which it should be,
and be should it from which to be.
Empty of color and olive of tone it is stolen.
And the bright pink blush from each rosy cheek,
The red clay as it dries,
and it rains from beneath emerald eyes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Solitaire, A Rose

The morning rose you touched still stands.
And see how sweet, how sweet this one,
this single one it smells when in the sun?

And each petal falls,
once full when open is now gone.
Each single one by they are young,
like all the rest now gone.

Rare such flowers once were loved,
when blind are cast aside.
To see each loved each every one.
But one not loved by any one.

And loved is this a single one.
Solitaire,
is played by hand then picked,
by wind and gone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Look At The Child

Some one can hear with her calming, tame inner voice.
Whispered melodies the rustling of leaves as they part,
conversations pass within back and forth in the forest.
Through the trees and up the hill comes a traveler.
Dearest of all you my mother, did you not know,
that you cannot control,
the impetuous flight or excessive song of the fair weather bird.
Fair is his conversation how in the afternoon of the summer,
when his household is assembled.
When and how the sun looking through the branches it sinks.
Pure is her voice outwardly praying between line each passage.
And the flower which is not and not is of which it closes.
When like the child how everyone dreams and sleeps.
Look at the child,
how my calmest of mothers and the child is not impatient.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Wolf

Each a bullet of gray and the silver proud maker.
Cobalt eyes and sharp head one of pride.
Observations of strong cooperation, the wolf.
Strong minds from which and it leads.
Unable to heel and as it wildly spreads.
Qualities needed no doubt, with you and you of me.
Endurance,
and the stamina are unmatched in the floor of the valley.
Amongst the deepest trees, one with the bushes.
Through every mountain, across the plains to the sea.
Walking in freedom from which it never turns.
And as for it's cunningness.
Tell me like this, have you lived?
It maintains him,
and being spiritual in everything which leads us.
The way of the wolf, it is wild to free and wild it continues.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Around The Ring

Slightly twisted, getting up, she comes off.
Having more than only parted glossy lips.
She enjoys his need,
to see her watch them slightly tremble.
Which leaves the neighbors open staring.
Nothing is dissociated, by them.
Sightseeing,
which is caught around the ring.
And from where I sleeping am.
I see them watching through the window.
As the windows are being cleaned

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Beats And Burns

Every night she comes to me,
the offer of eternal freedom how it sweetly rings.
And as for him who is my son when evening,
with a whisper comes, It comes the southern sun.

In the clearing by the brook when heavens,
never clear and clear it always seems to be.
However comes the thickest star, veiled, it cries.
And looking up you wander there about he shouts it out.
And he hears you wander all about the star light, sky.

Painful is my brain and it struggles off the edge fond memories.
As for silent music hearts insure my chest the sound of harmony.
As it beats and burns for cooler times it climbs the nearest hill.
Useless time gone by until the earth gives up the dead it took.
And it cannot turn around and look at his dreams when lost in me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Wave

Although each wave of anger,
and fear of he and it is bright.
It circulates, look high above.

And below it is where it lands.
Dark the earth makes us burn.
Light it makes the earth, green.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Winged Addictions

As for before us peeks this evening,
I of you but ask.
masking love it is loud with silence...Purity...
Inside one salty taste of it and I felt of it the ocean...
Certain as for the heart that it beats.
The wind sighs.
And the moon over the lake,
which it has shone, above partitioned.
Is it the stream from the lower clouds.
That filled the pond with sounds, winged addictions.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ewcm

Here I am, to be, as for her.
I trust her other doesn't.
Once was all, to you I said.
Am I the only one?
I am drowning in the ocean.
I am of it, in it foaming green.
And she waved,
included all the water blue.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bi-Polar Learning Curves

As for this singular problem.

Whom is it to whom, within hands reach.

Am I awake, I do dream?

Thinking in multiples.

The level of a very complex being.

Which if I must, I beg you to think.

Is it not possible to solve them?

Differences,

the same levels, whom made them?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lepidoptera

To be moved.
Moved...he..
She to be.....

Is a Womans....
Shaking...hands...
Moved...
By them.....

Her face...
Lips....
Open...
No name.....
Untamed.....

Kissing the sun....
Lepidoptera's.....

Wearing....
The wind..
Have they all gone...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

To Make Her Happy

Knowing that by you he exists.
Even then before my birth.
Somewhere,
deeper silence plays for him.

And the ring from which the eye.
Which hides rare form your life.
The ring around the colored iris.
Help him, let me help you, inward glow.

Happy is the day all play,
of he whom is himself and burns, I am.
Turned upon are we alike,
and turned it parting lovers lips that start.
And to make her happy,
thus and happy to her when he to her makes.

Profits do of what was done then once itself.
And love it does to her, when to her it does come.
So open up and blush the bloom, surprise her.

James McLain

The Frog

On the log,
where I can look at it as it tries, and tries.
Not moving and moving not.
Away from the pond the frog is cut off?
In the form of a boy demon, 'God, I saw today of wildness,
and cruel noise, to do it, to be it, one with thee.
It is from the joy of the swamp land, having, using the gig,
the frog has been caught by it's leg.
And the boy then turning it over and when he does.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When It Rains On Only You

Standing under the roofs overhang.
Your head under the softener,
and fascia work.

As long as it rains on you, only on.
After all the leaves have run off,
and when moved there of course.
Smiling as the sun comes out.
Prancing, around and around it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Night Sweats

Decisional thoughts, medications,
paranoid for most multisyllabic.
Unadjustable,
parameters nightmares, I am lashed.
Living while you are watching the dead.
While lightly asleep past me to vivid.
Red, white and blue ruing each color.
Knowing they are not to you real.
I am always to tired to open one eye?
Over and over, it is ticking played out.
To die once is normal and never cry out.
Losing control over and over is unacceptable.
Read to the dead where, they all are.
Make some new friends,
just in case it again is played out.
The past to all whom lived again, die out.
Dreams of more portents yet to come.
Arrested,
awake shaking soaking and wet, by my,
are these of yours are such, night sweats.

James McLain

Of Phobias

Are you that person whom when you walk,
to whom you talk and coming I am, independently?
Whereof the road where you are dark walking and talking you passing by me in the park.
You by your thoughts then start changing.
And as for me, me for as when, you.
When you have occasion and strange is that,
what you feel a little slower you walk it is dark.
Worry naught of fear, fear of the darkness,
when as for you it is fear, fear of me, fear of the darkness.
Whether the night brings you fear of the darkness,
and fear of the darkness I am coming to soon, I am there waiting.
Someones fear, fear of it fixating upon you.
I whom always it is, must possess.
Someone shakes one finger deep under the wall.
Move the moon to one side, which do you wish it possesses?
You by my deepest, up to the neck darkest phobia.
Yonder over there and your neck it is tearing off the skin.
Lines inbetween which are felt when you cry out and the tears.
Just last night when you felt what you saw.
And the footsteps you heard, it is what it is, and you never thought. Something from the rear and you walking it was heard.
And it is done again and again to the smile on your face.
And your face is right there and for who to see but me.
Because early it you does, to see it for the second time.
It is secured, firmly wrapped around and you think that it is difficult.
Are you troubled with your heart beats the heart underneath you?
Your fear of your fear, of the shadow it plays in the darkness.
And in your cave and it dances in it comes in from the rear.
Of the eye it is felt suddenly, penetratingly quick much to quick.
To be felt.
Your fear of me of the darkness and this fear of the darkness and fear of the darkness being that of it, will it come to you soon for you.
Someones, fear of fixing and as for me, whom it always it possesses.
Where someone walked out the road,
and to I, of that of whom you it possess and your always afraid.
Not of me, it's your darkness you fear, open your eyes and it sees.

James McLain

A Silver Rain

Dear mother,
of my from your, 'O.
I am with the sickness of his love,
his love for me it grows inside.
I was once amused above his head,
my dreams you laid them out for me.
Now below the foam of waves I rise.
And where I go, you cannot raise them up.
Still I am not so bitter that it was broke.
I had to die for him,
and is this the way, you grew my love?

So, it is peaceful here and quiet.
The place of where there is a silver rain,
a place where there is music of the sea.
I hear a bird that kicks the center of my melody.
When once again the nest is empty,
and one of those I had to hide inside, eternity.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When I, Tweet Them All

O' 'daddy' and i think that i am.
and coming in the door they left me out.
having kept it deep within, she says.
O 'daddy',
because of all of this and that of which i have.
and wearing it, not vainly plainly, open.
as i always never did,
the other girls whom have it naught they foxy trot.
or so they think they don't, but do it open to.
speak about it all, except when reaching out to me.
are not all of our sunflowers are made as such
when seen or softly touched?
and of rose and lily to?
some full, some lean, some wide,
some short, some tall, some gay
some dimpled, straight or thought i heard you say.
the moon i 'said' to you and me I thought of that, explained.
many 'dear can't afford your bridge of troubled waters.
made of silk to he of you they see each day and as for yours.
and so they try to cross it off a little more of you each day.
so hide it all and let them fudge a round a little less
and 'dear' what you have we gave to you and she your other
indicated too and you are now just fine
as she.
where them thus more simply then tighter in and yes, i know it's warmer
i have seen.
pick your friends and share the rest
is all that i can say too do.
and your heart belongs too no one else but you
even though it weeps of only troubled tears
in schools once privileged now gone public like we see.
Remember now,
and tweet them all and preggers no to all your friends.

James McLain

Understand

You I never understood the final word or why.
And why you understood me never, tried.
When of you,
I thought to well and when I often cried.
How I thought it came to you, my being dear.
Bright sunflowers growing up so green.
The sun it's yellow shine the leaves that wave.
And when the water,
there each secret of it speaking to me, hides.
And it was said it's like the fog,
which spreads across the valley, where you lie.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Understanding

You I never understood the final why.
And why you understood me never, tried.
When of you,
I thought to well and when I cried.
How I thought it came to you, my being clear..
Bright sunflowers growing up so green.
The sun it's yellow shine the leaves that wave.
And when the water,
where each secret of it speaking to me, hides.
And it was said it's like the fog,
which spreads across the valley that it enters.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pink Tailed Insanity

Is it a furry hamster?
With a short pink tail?
Closed cute eyes.
Sleeping on a wheel?
That has no spokes.
With some strange hand,
turning it the middle.
It is spinning neatly,
round and round.
Your space,
is one mind, with the cosmos?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dreams From The Heart

Each new dawn of the morning.
Each new sun here my center it you move.
And as it crosses the sky of your dream.
Dreams from the heart part the leaves.
There, I have hidden it to long from our song.
And saying this to me, I have said.
And in leaving I came there from you.
Nothing from you was that long.
As deep as the sky endless sea.
Us being you,
if I were to leave if ever you leave, would I die?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

America

I am like you, you of sound mind, hope and found dreams.
Whom to,
do you come into and me who am tired.
I am poor and poor I am.
I am he whom you see when you are passing bye.
And in passing by my passing you have passed.
Now know of power, in order to am I, Queens, civil you talk.
And serious is the person
and the woman whom comes to your white house, why can't you see?
The day that it ended, with no help from they, but for greed.
I am a good grunt whom bleeds, bleeding blue blood, I have bled.
God grant me thine help, so help me God, now none think that I can.
I am that wolf that was trained to eat what I kill.
And not one day goes by, not one good day goes by, when I howl.
Our country It goes, tis of thee.
And we are tied to the string of he whom is not himself, that I am.
Dark whisperings of war, how it comes civil war,
from whence it came so far and near to our shore.
Best western nights one free room, H.B.O.and I am sold.
By this am I thus confused and by the struggle for which we all wait.
God save the King,
and our misery of they whom talk about sex, I came tastefully.

James McLain

Depths Of The Sea

Whom am I to fight conformity, it howls.
To the depths of the sea.
Of your purple skin painted on it fascinates me,
by the love of the moon.
Where on the earth and the ocean,
calm movement each wave and by your hand which leads me.
Move it up, it is moved down,
when it rains like it does from above.
And as for me, me for as and.
Heaven with you it is so.
Down with the rain, up with the smile, whose is blue.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bottom Feeder

From the back even I will.
Down beneath.
From behind like a dog.
Knotted a cat.
Like sand paper gritty my tongue,
a dream comes true but for you.
Are you clean like the wind?
Front and back?
Like an Alaskan,
clear how they run salmon steams?
Yes I eat fish, white toothy ones to.
From the bottom I feed, feeding on you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Maid Is This Bed

Maid is this bed.
Make this bed of perfect awe.
The ground being here is excellent.
One open fair eye is judgment, it waiting.
Green blanket of leaves.
Pretty the trees.
See how the moss hangs down?
Hill tops speak out,
And each hello to me your sunrise.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Of Your Storms

those of your storms
and what of they i have seen waves between your opened high tides
thighs i have washed neatly clean and bunched up little beasties pretty yellow seams and dreams like the sand green hangs the grass
coming in washed up from the sea
looking down at the stick neatly tucked
between your toes
to be kissed as you would and i have.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Red Scarf

The red scarf around my cut it won't, heal it won't seal.
Come quietly to me it is right here, you want to see it?
Like all the others you stick your other finger in it?
Like he once said of it, to me to see if it's really me?
Deep and red is my scar there it is, where you left it.
The red scarf it is there, helping you pulled aside.
You like the tide moving it in trying I push it out.
Ruby red by any and all means, I push at it and you shout.
One dose of sharp pain and my face, forever it is changed.
Bald is the chilly hill of life for me where are the trees.
Where have all the green leaved bushes gone?
Dirty the blood from my mouth, still are it's leaves.
Ardent is fire roaring passion that once was for me.
Time has it wasted, it cuts deeply of me.
Time it is vain as for pain sap it weeps from the cut,
loved once deep and the leaves have turned brown.
You or me, whom are you do not come.
Stop hold it back when you can and I won't, it is mind.
Whom comes from the edge it desires,
sing that song, songs of death brings me out and over into it.
Cheep is the value each is the wrist and it bleeds as it digs,
it is deeper, you dig where you will.
And it is deeper than the deepest of seas what you see in of me.
Stained with my blood the cut still remains, to be filled.
I saw, sawing at the sun through your window, are your vain?
And the searing pain it just burns like the fire it never goes away.
Wish that you may, and to you do I come, you wish that I might.
Fill up the cut with red cherries, blood drips from there, tonight.
I dig in deeper the cut and the bade slices into your shallow wrist.
You through the mirror I watch, as you dig into me deeper, no trust.
And deeper is bliss when it comes as you come, no trust because.
When will it be full enough for you but never enough for me?
So full and wide is it that must, I will die from the cut at the end.
I will make the scarf of silk, hide my deep cut at your end.
Scars we were meant to have and yours I have done with.
You, yours to be borne with and like yours mine is trust,
You will remain to be cut on, until the last cut and for you I've died.

Drinking Wine Together

It has been by me a long, long ride,
upon many paths back to the village.
The carrot in front of the mule it is nearly gone.
How many times we have come this way,
around the mountain she moves us steadily along.
There is little noise of the carriage as the mule.
Hope as for the bird of the air, comes light as day.
Night is growing, as she the sky is moon looking full.
The view of the beautiful mountain, continues to grow.
From the south blows gently the breeze.
Passing it, is one who comes and I stop as he asks.
Kind sir to you the gentleman,
and to whom is it possible to see into oneself,
Look there, as the central part of she, next to you underneath?
The one axle may in need, be of trouble.
Many distant places I've seen.
To the quick open bloom of the cherry tree.
Have you kept all the limbs apart and your children look fair.
As for this question, as for my request,
It possesses to you, no clear meaning, such is speech.
And of low disregard, when the road is not spoken clear?
Drinking wine together is where it the road, soon we part.

James McLain

Darling

how was it
that with your boy friend on the beach
and you in the water with me moving as if one with the waves that you were able to pull it off as you did
the movement of your hand
was not frantic and yet
when you were done and i stepped into the sun
that thousands of minnows appeared all around us
and they were very hungry too
nipping.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Burning, The Bush

no one knows
but us
buried up to my neck
upside down
deep inside, there between
only my head, hanging out.
and only we know,
they never will.
while i was psychotic.
you kept me hanging in there.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Painted With Paint

Raw materials are the substance of paint.
Painted with color splashed the paint.
Hence come forth to me and show paint.
Yellow has the constancy of your hair.
Green eye of the leaves,
from the bush that floats on the stream of dreams.
Toes painted, oyster pink, crescent black, hue of blue.
Small is the tight stream of golden pure rain.
When shalt of it show your impulse, as for sunlight.
There within is the brown roots grounded discretion,
and like the moon, when it shines.
Each cheek like that which was once by he said,
is firmly then moved and when turned.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

To My Once

To my you whom once you were, now someone else.
Told the same and of chess and of games the end.
Master of that and was a long time before.
Being as you are and still are, I am told thus, in thought you are.
I had forgotten my most cherished my dreams.
But as for what was then, it was then as before.
It is my time growing short, pay her my attention.
Here it was, it was here maybe there, before me.
Like the sun on that day it was bright, she my dreams.
And for her on the wall grows my rose.
Slowly the rose, very slow, the other you between me,
between my sweet dreams.
I should have then unto you, until that rose touched the sky.
She is the rose-that is my wall, this is so.
A shadow that night came by she.
I am white, I am black, I am grey,
verily to you do I say, I am all that she needs me to be.
I lived with your shadow, it stood by her side.
Soon from my hand,
the wind will then blow as the bird, falls forth from the sky.
My rose is the light/ I write of my dreams, before me of her.
Just to thick is the wall.
Many missing bricks in the wall, they have known
Justis is a shadow, I have seen, like a leaf in my hand.
My darkness is here before me they know now at hand.
The being in question with more as the same,
as I once did as a child, advisory of genes, broken sky.
I have passed through that wall,
she must pass through that wall, alone.
Find my dream.
Order the facts, I can replace the bricks in the wall.
Darkness no help to dawns break of the night,
the shadow can be taken back.
Thousands of lights/ I will write of the sun.
Being guided productive,
she can dream of ten thousand revolutions around the sun!

James McLain

A Composition

Each,
written phrase.
Is your personal mark,
to a fine composition.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Royal Wedding One Vow

Vast is thine their majority, it is youth.
Today for the woman, she may thus become.
Trust is a force for the imagination is the king.
Queen by this woman, of his, it is she.
Perhaps, so it is and after it is so, perhaps.
Hope is the life with herein the thereafter.
After the sphere of the silver glass our slipper.
The glitter and pomp may it never fade away.
Roles new found, hers actually is, most important.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Our Round Ball

Copies for the worker, always working.
Each round ball you never copy, comes around.
America which they can pull they push.
Africa the pharmaceutical the children's, candy ate.
China, and paid directly, organs playing monkeys make,
that nothing really is, entirely of.
Each damaged day unmade,
and wear the cloth and pray each night for day.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Prison Cell

Jails they are my you have been their friends.
Whom but you will come inside of you, because.
There is distinctness,
with no friendships with the wall, no door to open to.
What some coming see and seeing never come.
Some they never will when thine be done is willed.
Fifes play,
appreciation may then come, lost the narrow eye.
Whom they are and are whom they appointed as to whom.
Whereupon the wedding feast that is never shown.
Trust is never earned it can be learned, when you are old.
Youth it never will, the will it can not speak to learn whom will.
Candy sounds and first new snow they now-be, lost of soul.
Marching, dancing marching to the beat of some another's drum.
Lost in interruption day has found us out wrong attitudes.
Calmer days ahead redeem lost joy, redeem it all completely.
The prison cell can not be wide, the night to long, because.
The door that leads to heaven was to wide, thoughts decide.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Last Silk Worm

You opened it up and the silence was loud.
You are pretty,
You are more than coat hanger pretty.
Invisible,
wearing coat hangers, dull eyed dresses.
The last silk worm,
that came to you first is now emptied out.
The harder you spin it, try.
The silk leaves,
having left the mulberry tree, lay scattered about.
Vital is the force,
whereby the runways upon which are walked.
Pretty ankles,
hidden behind masks made from milk.
Pretty dear's,
drink rich the fat from the creamy milk.
Relinquishment is each mask they applied.
It watches and waits,
it trembles, it sings as it waits for the day you arrive.

James McLain

Plagiarized, Ponagraphy

Words over the heads of the bottom and children.
Even when the few being, semiprecious.
Vast is thine the poor majority,
against being simple, like you some are not.
Does the stupid parent,
know what they know, when they can't even learn it.
And of Pornography.
What is it made of is it chewy and gluey?
Like in China,
one push of the button and it's gone, but it's not, tell them why.
Prisons have to be filled with stupid people once children.
I know what drugs are will you partake of them?
Liberty you have and your choice it is or it is naught?
Don't answer that just drink it, I mean take the fifth.
I know what rape is some one because and have you ever been?
To discuss all mature topics, without thus becoming.
Alarmed at the horse that takes a big dump.
Having been gelded, she is still there well hung.
How high is the bar, that I, you have jumped?

James McLain

Good Gardener

However the wood through choice matures.
However it must grow.
Rose when it is small,
dancing around in the nude.
The girl turns out to be his wedded, wife.
We can do worse than by our short seasons.
And gentle is the hand that tends the bush.
Green leaves that never turn brown.
Turning the world, the sun will continue.
To speak and communicate is to know reason.
Her loveliness it exists, and it is lovely.
For is it not for the gardener, to trust,
and maintain thought of us.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Today, I Saw A Thunderstorm

As for her.

Those most remarkable breasts.

Breasts on this body of bodies.

Terra gotta, and as for those poor married stupid men,

talking the moon walking, blond tall, handshaker.

Because of this storm the other woman nearby,

packed up their pears, cherries dim skies and hurried away.

Bulging out yet restricted.

Entering her space,

meant standing a good foot because.

All of the horses stopped.

Many of their wives disapproved.

The Approval of we, speaking would stand.

Moving away the storm went and sat down, warmed securely.

Then came torrential rains, shorts to our forms,

back and forth by her door, hers was the flying fish which leaps.

Would I should kiss such a rainy day, her comings and goings did make. And it continued to pour even after the sun, reappeared.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Weak Knees

One or the other eyes looking, at you.
The way to your most one has entered
and lost, be it moved.
She is the most awesome hot-tie.
His buns to steal, she must have.
Vanilla and chocolate,
frozen custard this is cream yogurt.
Like your knees are collapsing completely.
Breathing deeply, it is normal, re-to load.
Numb from the looks, is dopamine.
Simply her looks caused it the joy,
passing through your body,
her painted, long pointed toes.
Marbles the woman,
she has these feelings, instantaneously weak,
it never hurries along, once paused, don't pass.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is It Your Moon

Is it your moon on the beach
looking up from the sea where the wind
and the waves come inside?
The ring around it, that keeps him inside,
below what you feel,
when you feel what you feel.
How does it feel.
When the moon like that, when it is?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Sister, Her Moon

Pale is my sister, her moon.
It lies there sleeping when it is opened.
Light under my demanding, strong hand.
Mourning comes dawn, is my other.

One comet it comes with a white blazing tail.
The other sisters moon, it is quite.
Moon is my passion, passing my sister,
at dawn I'm the other, he is the brother.

Moon moves too her left,
and the comet flies by the light of the moon.
So in the middle a shadow, hot is the night.
My brother is kissed,
good morning, my sister, she is missed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Can Smell It

Blowing in from the wind,
across the sand there as you last left it.
It was there I to find and wading over through it, I to find.
The leaves laid across it, have parted slightly.
And bright is the sun, one ray of it asking, left of it?
Hair of your silk, I can smell it.
Each new found sound, moans throaty the wind.
The sun wraps each wave, comes around it.
It is something when speaking I sometimes hear.
Something lost again found you remained.
Picking it up, it is stained with the ocean, it's salt.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Light My Cloak

A hero disguised as a man, she once wrote.
Life does it matter how far the stream flows?
Small little rifts that divide the wide gulf.
Do unto you and to they, whom to us, we all are.

Softly go gently and when long is the night.
Lament over song as we needs greatly die.
Fashioned naught for kings, queens to they will lie.
Then please forgive me, how my day has gone bye.
Hence fashioned from us, is common each man.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Judge Of Discernment

To wit, therein, forthwith, moreover is posthaste, saith I, to you I pray.
And I, who am full in the state and why by they, do I worry so.
Come Judge of discernment and take up thy cause, which by your good grace and fortune is by your hand thine.
And thy it picks it up and shakes it sorely, woe unto they out.
I am bothered,
someone's witness, has tampered and whereof it is known.
Bring them thine presents not of jail, naught of me, therein is no joy.
It is possible at one time, to withstand them all.
They are as many as the ants and as ants, act as such.
And Am I, and I am at your judgement hall, the place wherein it is.
Thy loan of they, of it, to be by your hand, make it stop.
Humbled by what is right in your eyes and of he, they knew naught.
And of whom naught by that, what unto he, knew thus was it wrong?
Wherein no crime of which unto you, have no cause th, they would I say.
And should thine yoke unto he, thus be thereupon then be loosened.
Brought up from the land, whereupon by her hand where the innocent person is surrounded,
by the guilty and the innocence it flaunted is due guaranteed?
And it dies for lack thereof and these things of those,
where it has been by this psychologically altered, it is unnatural.
Then by your hand it is so by your leave release it.
But when is what there is from which works ill, reward them naught.
There is no honor in that,
and everything here therefore as for God my enemies are then yours. And where those have thought you to send me there unto them show them then your pleasure, it is so, let it be, by yours in trust entirely.

James McLain

Life Is It's Wealth

Where Is It not, to you visibly pleasant?
The blue earth, life is it's wealth.
Swollen, bottom the top is not heavy.
The sky is as the sea, it starts it stops where?
Space above is clouds, is it vast to love in song?
Long is never us giving in to it, beauty is never enough.
Stopping at the edge, it is water, the boundary.
Moreover all is inclusive, your birth being right.
Virtue pure the sand, each grain is light of a child.
The wealth of the sea, each wave it is constant.
Pouring in, then up and out from the rift.
God gave us the light we are pushing it forward,
and moving the dark for ever backward.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Self Denial

She caused me to lose my thoughts of absolution.
Total self denial, her mind mine controls.
Running off,
I dumped it deep within the shaking moon.
Pulsating quasars, yellow stars,
the comets face is quickly turning bright,
burning inside out,
it made me strain my eyes to see the view.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Come Shake Us

When It is the light and it touches yours the eye.
Come morning over the high bright sky is one hill.
I who am he asks of she to look ahead to where the road,
has turned around it and it directly upon behind it began.
Therefore as for each the other asks of us,
travelers have stopped to inquire of us, by which of these.
Some bent, some straight and some new born foundlings, they ask.
Sent out by some and coming back home they might find.
Grace unto those,
which cannot come without our help, to do such one small thing.
When if by the ring, I am caught, mercy is tight as it's grasp.
The running rabbit, it can be, by me caught, taught without dogs.
Though the turtle has, wisdom is the internal light, thus is memory, and like the tree, the flower, each bush, either the all is one.
Coming in waves, which burning they shake us..
But those whom the most of which we must feel,
are but of the sound of the wind and our inner most selves.
Found in the mirror and short, long lines and more sufferance.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Love, Is Abandoned

When the eye of the storm it seems not to important,
and with some one else it he she does.
Abandon him your husband for he can not speak.
To you of the things like this, for you so easily that I do.
And there it is your love for me, the center of your all.
There is your love caught therebetween,
caught in the center of time standing still, hear my call.
All of your center is warm liquid filled,
like the ocean at play, when the tide like me, recedes.
Love wants to leave, then you will call, you may want me.
Call to me mainly when exactly the hour is high and near,
and then hear me deep moving love, I am yours.
Lock me out there in back and the front I will share.
Careless the smile that you have and the body it heaves.
Tell me never to leave,
and if and as for me, I whom never knew, that you cared.
It is not that he is important, leaving him with some one else which his love, I abandoned.

James McLain

 PoemHunter.com

Why, People Stare At You

Perhaps it is the shape of your breasts.
The deep cleft of the why, some never can have.
The sky blue eyes, maybe green like you do.
Well muscled legs leading hips dance that move.
Can the man in the moon ever get out?
Once having come from the other side, new you.
Lip that never end at the tip but they do.
Is this maybe why they look so often at you?
Won't you learn how to cry them the blues, do.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When, I Am Loved

When I am loved.

Do I say to you, love me, he loves me and with you in me.

Some one I know, that you loved.

Because you won't show me, two people love me.

Is it right that your love of the people,

when I am by he, just for me I am loved?

Escapes like the sun when by it my is, it is good?

I am by he that you knew, I am more by he loved.

Weather to exclude me, do not come, when loving me you must.

When moving the wind and loving me to I am just.

Feel me, it is light as the wings of a dove free and good,

you do not to be afraid I have not to be.

Then when you never did it, to say I am loved,

the other you knew is to be the person and that is the one for me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hiding, My Stones

Rolled.

I am apart from the rest.

Walking,

you I shuffle two hide.

Alone you are each my step.

You have come bending down,

coming each one to know.

Stopping,

I have slowed down to watch,

all whom are they that walk by.

And the wet smooth stones,

you do love, to out reach for.

I look for a new place to lie.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Independent The Woman

Verily thus it is straight, I cannot tarry or be any other way him to be.
And not be able to go to bed and go to bed with out you to me.
Bushes under trees with such cedar wood, which has purple heart,
the hand where I was, to near to your chest, beats your art.
The release from thus it is good, moon light so you also it is!
The earth crossing over the eye, it is warm to you then I'm cool.
As for you, it is gently moved within there, then it is our song.
But I am not gold, added with silver, is it not trusted wise?
They do not but to welcome me, walking the path that none take.
Never have I thus before with out you, did I walk and not talk,
independent the woman you are.
Somewhere, I wander about with the weeds, laughing you, I tumble.
And the people hear violins the music that harps make and they shout.
Profits and closed doors, prohibit the making of more, she is, so I am.
Doors, and sounds with their souls and others and others.
In the narrow vast bed of roses himself whom he is, thus I am.
Where we cannot not go, naught to that bed, go peacefully to bed.
Moreover under any condition and someone still I must you to love.
For the best that he gives us the all of this life.
Is the released be it she or he where someone has not gone before.
His coming and going to be it is all, never to hate, but loved by them all.

James McLain

The Hanging Gardens

Each page, thy proffered word, as ink to quill.
Innate his will, upon his throne, it shall be done.
Wisdom, crown and glory, stars, his divestments.
Where clear skies that bring them all, safely home.

Through the hanging gardens a man, once a boy.
By the tall tower and through the sand, walked alone.
War by all and thus for your sake, lest it be forgotten.
Came there a woman, made him more, simple less.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Out Of Jail On Bond

Right now I am out of jail on bond.
With you, I am trying to be honest.
I had a nervous breakdown because.
Since leaving my wife,
I have been jailed more than a few times.
So now it is a contest of who pays the most doctors,
to make a final determination to what.
When your wife accuses you of harming your daughter to get all the assets
and as to weather it can cause permanent psychological damage.
In Florida it carries a life sentence and they need no evidence.
Move to Florida ladies and get rich.
Most are not like this some times I yell, it is true.
To the father as I am in Florida considered a vulnerable adult.
As I have even to you here some obvious disabilities.
The state will want to win and whom will say what?
I have learned through you not to hate her.
So I thank you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Waves

Having to go out, I did.
Water murky the top covered in white caps.
Tough woman I like as well.
Never the less after reaching the buoys.
I made it look easy, it was not.
It is becoming increasingly difficult to fake it.
Seeing all of the little children at play,
made me of mine, not even less more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cowards Did It To You

Cowards do it to you and you do it to.
Look through the window that's tightly closed.
Well I, if you will confess to it what it is that you do.
Why does the woman never get caught.
I grow weary of being arrested for nothing.
The man always does.
What is a pearlie?
How does it grow deep inside of the mind where none dare to go.
I do, I will come and you take me away look inside you will find.
Like me that you are, as am I always you two looking we were.
Am I a perve like you always, look it is open see the wolf.
When you are asleep in your bed, I am too.
So what if the moon when the sheets have been pulled wide shallow breathing apart.
And the shadows have all played out their parts, it is done?
Drapes thinly veiled,
and the stalker walks about by the light of the moon.
Where did you buy those pink transparent panties,
so I can watch where it is that you hide them.

James McLain

Twist Of Fate

Open it is stealth.
And you smile, thought not high enough.
The red bird on the tree.
And it's eye on the bush.
Hidden from each face a man.
That one twist of fate from your fragrant wrist.
Was never enough when they came.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Concerning The Martini

Dean Martin when the eddy was flowing laughing was coming.
Feelings of, the rat pack is good.
Sammy,
there was something even then, very Joey.
Yellow, martini like men with age it matures.
Desires still they are, it is one like me, you as well.
When it is a meal, before the dancing starts,
I am buried.
Daren bewitching martini's in her was something.
And it is the truth,
that it is not vermouth.
As for me perhaps that it is that you think, melancholics.
Then falling back on straight gin.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bloody Cuts

Ardently the mouth to brain crossed impulse.
It is not from other things to thus upon I force.
That which we want,
we want it now because we want to know we live.
Stronger and like Vlad the impaler it is stronger, comes the urge.
It compares to forces like the burning red, pink running sun.
I ignore it that it is I can no longer.
But to you of this I make this promise,
there is an importance to you, that it is selfish,
because I have known of it, know you.
I have drank the blood of others it is bloody Mary salty.
You are not so badly damaged wherefore that,
I presume that when therefore,
yours is the mouth that is restricted by the impulse to the brain.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rolex Watches

Made in Switzerland.
Guarded by the pope.
Woman wear them to.
I would,
rather catch those fish.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Prison Sex

Being pimped a punk is punked by a punk.
Have you ever seen one get dicked down?
The smell of K.Y.....jelly in your cell is over whelming.
Raw the smell of spunk mens cum and ass.
Man ass, knotted up, it's not the other Kind.
To me of what I've seen is it enough and of the rest.
Screaming in the middle of the night, impaled.
Hearing sweaty balls slappin, snappin back and forth
across a grown mans heavy whiskered chin.
Did you say to me you watch,
that powdered version of locked up raw is what, I laugh.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

God's Peace

Your love is seasoned of trust his reliance.
Would If you could just brag,
isn't she like purple figs ever so sweet?
Your his love of reason the why of his strong reliance.
If golden is silence, isn't she silver trumpets pure?
The why, the thus, of like minds.
Milk how it flows from her hands.
Her feet have I washed, my position, low.
Sunday and her sweet perfumed breath!
However, because of God's peace, she withstands.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Recusal

Most come and depart my love.
Heaven came with something as for your the other.
Life when it is or is not mine your own.
Lips which of they, whom could have.
I am here looking down where it is, I am known.
Your hand, your mind is why I am brave.
And your laughter which has landed men on the moon.
Too this excess I attest to this the amount the eleventh degree.
Whereupon it is you that I worship I have painted your toes,
being thus such as they grapes are sweet.
As to one guarantee there is two,
as for us time how it runs, it is as if eagles wings, it is fleeting.
Of one more sweet loves encounter, I will not recuse, I too die.

Dedicated to,
Maya Angelou

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rock Me Off

All the ones that I love, that love me.
It rocks me off deep in sleep.
It is safe inside of the nest for now.
Waiting until tomorrow comes night.
Yesterday,
came to my home today it was bright.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Beachwear

And if you by my variances be they small and or large.
When by you they mostly are, am I telling the whole truth?
Then in the growing more tender perhaps they become.
Being once like they and I am.
They use other ways to get them selves felt up and heard.
The old men that I see thinking thoughts about she,
why he lies as his tongue points it all out, driving by.
Woman are more trusting revealing open and honest.
Tenderonnies are not evil by design the nuns not having standards.
The nun, well they will openly spread their smile adjusting the face of the moon,
even if heavens casts a shadow, the spoon it is noon.
I watch them, just to watch your lips quiver and tremble, reactions.
When you are called forth out of the water and you stand.
Looking like you did not hear her, verily it is thus, how could you.
Beachwear, rolling balls, all those colored bulging eye balls.
Truth is, it is the only reason like some lawyer probative,
and prejudice brought her silking, down here.
She knows more than you think, when thinking for you.
Like him I like phat salty oysters as well as green muscles to.

James McLain

To The Gulf

I must drive over again to the gulf
I must go yet again and again
though I am feeling ill
the sun is now even to me to hot
the illness springs not from winters
fall or even from summer just past
over head the helicopters they fly guarding the coast
waiting perhaps for me to die
a soldiers prayer
to drown or to be eaten by a shark
the waves today were high
I no longer know
why I only know i must try
the water still parts for me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lost When I Talk

When I am lost, I talk to no one but you, no other women.
Some times I think,
they always think, knowing I always think of you.
Words such as yours are clever and clear like the wind
and your words like the chimes, blow as too me so dear.
And yellow brown centered daisies by you gathered, too.
When I'm lost and my thoughts are of you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

How To Eat A Peach

Look for peaches that have a nice blush to them.

A good peach should have a little give to it when you squeeze it, but still should be well centered and firm.

Watch the eye it may have sap oozing.

Worldly and avoid peaches with this problem.

Birds also, be aware of any overtly small holes.

Holes are usually made by worms and birds look for worms.

Next, cut them in half with out a sharp knife and remove all of that which was left from the pit.

If the skin bothers you,
then obviously there is some thing wrong with you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Premeditated, Adult Ignorance

To just entertain,
a few new found concepts.
It is simply too much for me.
I am helplessly numb, your exhausting.
Children are as Einstein,
when you I compare to them.
Maybe it was all the untreated brain injuries.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Our Little Flopping

Look at it, it looks at all the small children.
Gathered round, it they move with a stick to touch.
What does it eat as it lives and it rises, saying.
What is it like to live in the short dream of life?
Day runs into night all run after day,
and coming at last to the hour, humbled this table.
Transfixed through and through out one end,
and there coming in, someone is laughing, because.
This is our little flopping, hysterical I am smiling miracle.
Children, children, who is it that caught us this fish?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Inside Of The Sun

I was put not only here but there in the place of your sun.
Freed from all of the pain, pain that comes and goes.
Do you not know about what it is, thus by my any means?
What ever the whether I should have forever done it.
I being allowed by you to you to do it.
And everything sits down in the middle your emerald eye is there.
It is her I shout and, waiting for him it dies never simply.
Then is why I never asking of you why I stop.
If I am whom I am thought inside doubt, why you are here reading this now.
I am the person who shouts to you, then you to me, should we lie?
So, I am he whom you know what the whether will bring.
And how I should have done, what you did milked exactly.
Until the blue blood turns red you intend to drain it, is it not turned.
Or is your red turned out to be my blood pure and blue?
The cutting and sawing of which it is opened.
And moving in you, I see the morning woe sickness.
It plows the bare plains exactly to choke off the sickness.
Your very center likes mine, your the one it is cool, when extracted.
But warm left inside of the sun you are pressingly, ringed exactly.
Yours is the seat and the land of our burning blood,
and blood is known to be everything and blood is your claim.

James McLain

Loved Little By Little

If with loosing that and now that you have I must.
You stopped loving little by little, I am by you loved.
When if ever I stopped that I loved little by little.
Bursting suddenly, it was I whom for you forgot to.
Because of me then you do not have to be hurt.
You already forgot me, for the sake of the other.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Ring Is, Around My Finger

setting like the sun
moving down it comes slowly
around it my finger
is stuck
in the middle of, can you say it?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Of Evil

If only woman can have babies.
Where do all the evil people,
seem too, never come from?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Open Red Lips

The bronzed set which loads the lips.
When you left, I opened the drawers, appliquéd.
The glass was stained clear and the skin on a string.
French brassiere d,
black crotchless panties, I under stood, opened up.
It they have brightly red lips, the sky you have opened.
From the mouth all the way up to the back of the neck.
Having one thing byes us to remember whose to many,
exactly are when green, very tasteful!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Emo Razor

with my straight wooden edged mirrored your face in my razor
only on you could i make you would cut around your lactating nipples soft that one place goes around and around the barbers spiral
on your wrist
the bottom button would barely discernible
it would slightly bleed out and between but the inside of those tanned silky thighs
Mary Kay she covers up Olive,
the bulls that are hung up to bleed quickly out, O'lay lips cut apart that are grown back together
drinking coconut milk waiting to heal waiting i wait until we are again
back together.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Teacher, Today After School

today my teacher she ask me to come up front.
after the others had left come and see.
receiving only cee's i did.
my skirt from the year before.
private schools.
when my parents were not as they red currently are.
our finances.
bee's maybe, exchanged for an a.
fat subtle and strangled it is thick.
and so long was the finger that, shaking i.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Their Dark Horse

when I am with the bee and you, when you came.
it can never withdraw from such change.
standing tall in the bushes.
you explaining, I never seem to listen.
I am only yours not that horse, just a man.
are you schizo affective,
colors disordered the birds that walk with out landing gear.
watching them I sing, coming open in from the sea.
nurses watching the nurse I watch.
finest of fine all the doctors telling none why.
Clearwater's hottest their finest.
as I am their dark horse.
green too continue I am producing.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

About Town

When you see me about town.
And I'm waving and laughing.
Beat up silver Toyota in the dash a pink pig,
with you I know, such of wings.
Perhaps even there,
where I swim on that beach.
You may if you wish, thus approach me.
And when you ask what ever it is that you ask.
If I say in response to was said.
Indeed.
Then you may if you wish that of me.
Leaping ponds, shallow puddles and dreams.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mark Twain I Like

Secretly when he alone in the open, I am.
I snicker at such frivolous goings on.
Tit for tat thinking thoughts out loud, unafraid.
Tits, there I said what is shown by she, why I look? .
Laughing out loud, phat there, some just are lazy.
Thats more than simply the sky is too open,
and I become blind she is sexy I think,
what she wears on the beach, she waits, she has plans.
All that I show coming out of the water, sadly free.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lips Open Kissing

As the rose petals open.
I watch the humming bird as it flows to the point,
why is my tongue so blissful and wishing.
Of her juice where so it is, as for me...does lily know?
Raising the sound, why does the bird drink?
Asks both of the small school aged girls.
If I could and would you like unto rose so drink too?
Looking down into her eyes there I said,
good mami where is it that you taste it from...
Don't touch the thorn as it drips!
Look at the other look what It is, as for me.
We all want, what it wants, that your lips open kissing.
Do you suppose that it can thus be,
and the humming bird flies away then hums and exhales.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Books

I am like your book some have hidden away.
Without yours my covered, bared page.
Making good on the promise I reach for the wind.
Not to any binder each wave needs the course.
Dancing across my ocean she is the world, spoken poetry.
May the poorest of all travelers trust this path take.
Without being too oppressive bread our toll.
Frugality bleeds off of my soul.
Is it this his great chariot do they fear?
That carries each human to the light, back home.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Beth's Closet

This is my closet it is so very to they useful, trust it is young,
and the children of some are being abused, being ignored.
Bless the child who is given up, over or under age twelve.
The heart of each part unwittingly they must play,
Thus wherein of the pain is this there crossover program.
She is by his of this your public selection it helps the counsel of eighteen. where upon it is under, announcement litem' of the guardian. Jurisdiction, We the people, This The office of.
As for the large number of these very young people.
Pray the environment where just the clothing on their backs.
Cross sections which is taken from the abuse they from their house and or other things have been by they whom knew thus ignored.
As for the desired box the hygiene item which offers up to they the basics each necessity is like the individual,
the bus pass a tree a functional life, which helps.
Money is an evil fact that roots we all need and the shoes,
the clothing, the underwear, the pajamas, the bedclothes,
the book and the hope through she by him and it makes.

James McLain

 PoemHunter.com

Is This Your Secret Too

I am always his, happiness is when he is in me, savagely.
Where the hyper, Vilnius is slowly played.
Only will I do it when he thinks mum is sleeping.
The oil smells too good it goes in so easy,
and no more does it hurt like it once years ago it did.
His is the steering wheel his to pull, the key is me over turned.
I feel that feeling of fear and fear fills me deeply up, me.
I wash off his hurried to the base his secret,
inside of my secret, it possess me fully I get wet, am I dark?
Anyone did not who I love ever call me they know.
Calling out in the dark as it goes slower the slowest, slowly in.
Under any condition.
When I return to the house, everyday, the mother she waits. Independently she claims I am blessed.
Then she' ll hit it in the center hard against me the spoon or his shoe.
In and out slowly pulling it out makes me see, until I bleed.
Swooning I do it is fat, black and blue.
When as for the father no not mine I am fourteen years old,
she by the first who was nice before we were left, she drank.
Ever since all she sees is of that.
Does my responsibly from she mine that is.
It is scurvy,
foolishness, when I am tart, as for my phat is it to him good, quality?
He bores into my defect to which he never leaves us, was is it he feels?
It always comes.
It is thick and I hear it does hard things to my soft things?
These things I had thought they were mine not to give.
My fat duck and the diving and, as for me now how, his doing, that grows more often occasionally it can curve, but I finally.
Torn panties, I deserve it.
The never ending soundings, his profit does he fills my something.. Hospitals several.
As for me my brother, With you it played, heaver hitter of It.
Explanation where my the legs finger prints of.
Full of cream Inside that, I.
Being broken freely inside me it goes, he is happy, feels good not to lie. But I to everyone say to that it is time.
I possess his huge secret, where anyone does not yours to inform.

James McLain

Her Open Skies

There beside her standing on the beach,
and watching her she watches him, safe inside her hand.
Her cobalt open moving skies,
tanned palms up turned her arms each wave across the sea.
She to he it reaches in, it reaches further out.
Comes night it makes the center of it feel, as if alive.
The water rushes by her toes and some is touching me,
Nelly's caught a fish it's in my hands.
The south star where I tremble, can I take and kiss away the tear.
Strange the wind comes warmly where you blew it, I felt there.
And the clouds above below the sand is clean.
Her angel is as some have seen and.
Someone else whom but my self, her star that does not fly,
if someone else can see your wings, come my love and try.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Leather Boots

As I leave the lonely farm, lives congested,
tall dark palaces and slums how to this silent town.
Leather boots give me your welcome to my silent feet.
As I am who,
withstand the gifts of they whom are yet to come.
Whether I was last night on the morrow is she coming.
A being appeared to me dressed shabby.
Clouds defend and I having been much troubled.
Mind independent of the body, kneeling thoughtless.
Looking up,
I put her in place of him on the throne of moonbeams.
Presently he is king.
Last night moreover a sphere,
and the glowing crown was the king and he and hers grasped the courthouse.
Incremental elements were clear never forcing applause by he is used.
Presently he pulls it the gown of that purple and tears and fear.
Off it comes, graceful voice and soft dove voice.
Bending the iron bar and never once blinking, which most can not.
The land and the sky which are responsible not, is the sea, my love.
To maintain my favorite little ones in order to own them thus from me.
It is possible the artillery is the cause great damage.
It settled, the fair unchangeability,
your the seductive rare pleasure of secret smiles
and owns the perfumed red hair as for me the earth the captive is me I am shaken with the net of my hopes.

James McLain

Emily The Carriage

Of this It could not be, it leaving you stopped for me.
This of our loving death is become, it is' it is stopped.
Loving sweet the kings kindness you of me, one queen.
The carriage that moved us ourselves, thus it seized.
Coming to it you pointed, exactly and left she thus as I am,
Emily what is this blinking light blinded I am, comes immortality?
Us and them being open and pink,
did it not lead us to hurry that to it so slowly of it he was known.
And where no one looked there you put it, excessively I long for my work.
You were my greatest leisure and this is your floating courtesy.
We transferred it too I the great school of the eye tithe your ring.
where I' as a child you tested in with the best of the rest.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Phones Turned On Vibrates

I am that tall blond bald boy, in back of you.
Why do you torment me when as you do,
with all of your phat and that?
Being the teacher his pet as you are.
Peeking I do,
through the window at you late at night.
Why do you wink at him and then he turns
and asks for me to stand up.
All around me, you are clear in class.
You and the other pretties you all smile
that all knowing smile.
I can hear them all, this you know.
All of your pink and black phones turned on vibrates.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Leafless Dress

The leafless dress of the silk of fine clothes, hides the ring, of the horn which blows with the sound, birds of wind.
The raining sun it shines down and the new found sound,
is something of which all behold.
Perhaps it is withdrawn from hearing of thus from thee,
unto you did I not think that perhaps or we would, love to call with wings.
And of me, whom perhaps as for the wind I was thus informed.
Something remained,
and being ever so high, never can his sight be withdrawn.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Come In As The Wind

those things
that the nuns warned me about things like those see through naughties
inside or out that we talked about liked your dress that she loaned me, your pants
the long rip in your best pair of panties
how when father his low drooping nose
always we wondered why it rained
coming in through the window at night like the wind
every winter we both coming often never did.

□

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mother Is Dearest

My thoughts grow more like the wind it is difficult, it is from my mothers damage, like the swordtail and the sparrow.
Fencing or yellow of blinking which is bitter the north sour star.
The tight corrosiveness of her mind no wind, no love,
All have died slowly and indirect are the rumors.
And I strain of the sour lemons, mother of months.
Could but I have, have but I could, never say would, should or could.
How could life be puckered and which face to the body, of day.
Like the fig of early summer, wee, once green, never purple gone.
While being only sharp,
me of whom it droops to just talk of the wrinkle, Guenavere was moral.
It is thin, the unripened center is now old and it never like you smiled.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hunger Found Us Out

Only from our walking through the fire of it, my love.
Each other we have found us out and I can't stay.
Thirsty, walking all around it and we couldn't have.
No amount of water high above and below the rain.
Hunger found us out together, be.
And as each the other, others each and known as.
For me our love was to discreet and my shyness grows.
Unto you and then as they would wanting back there like.
And but from only you.
I am swearing, I will only give it back too none but you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Black Perfumed Silk

The long black perfumed silk, it catches his hair there, Ashen skin,
and her skin on the cheek of his.
Which was hollowed out - it is deep, it is dark.
Her eyes on you he asks, we want it all, it is desired.
Bring it to me it got wet, it is red, perfection, it invites, her lips.
It is long, it is thin, it you opened, her arm it must causes,
helped sufficiently, it makes great assumptive circles.
Life and to your he is her heritage of one single mind
and to stand near her beating chest it moves when I do.
Her hands which I have felt carressing which is never touched.
By her very certain, her certain words thus I am.
Which is whispered how often she it tempts.
And useless are rings when her teeth are - sharp,
perforations, incineration and her soft fang - are tormented do!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Texas Bean-Flowers Mixed

First is the earth, unfilled, scoured out freely.
Childish is such a gift,
eyes red madding potion, she is ivy-sprayed.
With dogwoods and Texas bean-flowers mixed,
And woman broad hips laughing-wide eyed.
They boast to they of themselves.
Untended and large the he-bulls thus bring it home.
Their wives udders lean over heavy, swollen with milk?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Unfinished Minds

The ocean when black and of the lake,
coming for me dressed in black the swan boat.
The second of it's two necks, it is black, ardently the other people.
Does the black sky go up and over there into here somewhere?
The black shadow your tuft must it over mine thus it cover?
Black clouds. It filters out the light/hurried I write.
Black littles from the pink open water sprouts out a many petaled flower. The leaf does not desire me but you in proper order so hurry.
Those circles of dark advice around your eyes are level and complete. The cold world shakes my all from you my black it sucks from yours. Black as for unfinished minds is the fish without eyes it is ours that, it is. You open the star between the rose kissing lily.
You don't become the blind other person that kind of black expression depending upon the hysterical smile you call a siren?
This is the silence of the mind which is white never turned black and grey, I'm not surprised.

PoemHunter.com

Sylvia Plath,
Crossing the River

James McLain

Henceforth, Moreover Herein

My center goes out down on me, useless thing it is and death.
Henceforth moreover herein, the damage it never stops it dripps.
It dripps whilst you are insinuating of the feet.
Hence you come helpless are you because of me,
as for God as for your naughty badness.
Midnight is the devils insanity it has overtly won.
And large are the waves there it is sour, hell and that mighty hand of this his world of the bitter taste it has left.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Sweet Golden Mist

it is sweet golden mist, you wander in from the night.
it is the width and depth, as dreaming I sleep in your bed.
it is to great the urge of each wave as it stops my breath.
From my fingers drip the honeyed waters of time.
Your fingers and palm they dampen my forehead.
Kissing your fingers the flame burns my eyes.
Opened a finger as air opens one eyelid of thine.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Nature Came

Nature came I heard first, then she with green of the gold, it is the soft hue where she of whom it should.
Climbing up and into the trees with her and her,
her grasp is the hardest. Leaf' where she is quick; It turned over.
The flower of the myrtle. But so just thus one more hour.
Then the leaf is settled and whispered there because.
Leaves opened and came out therefore [eden] sank to sorrow.
Wherefore as for the dawn at all in this day moreover it becomes.
Dawn comes and the stateswoman with the gold garland.
Her lovely is not only possible, she restricts it.
Climbing down we both kneel and drink at the hotblooded base.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cut Her Purse

She always knew that he was going to cut her purse
and save her from her losses.
And rain water on the rest of the blue world.
When slain then they are neatly trapped and damned.
Even if it the snow still looks out of reach, thereupon.
And upon how angry winds come undrerneeth each leaf it blows.
Remember that you sow more than yee even yea, I reap.
It is a beast from round the hill and walks as such.
And much, much more than that when stuck between,
is when dog becomes that very beast, doors open for.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is My World

But it's you here in my world,
and if you but see it, see it, see it is my world.
You see myself the spinning moving whorl,
is a leaf moved from your hand?
Inside is a single grain of sand.
Moreover is a pearl that to me it softy beckons glows,
with rivers rich while even unto I am there in heaven.
And heavens open door.
The flowers grow in bloom to much to hold.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Between Each Pulse

On your pale hard tummy, lined up so neat I row,
with the queens permission bloomers in plastic on E Bay.
Those spears and swords used as pens, two brown, one pink and deep cobalt that blue...

You reach out to rediscover the other I am that wandering traveler Scribbling tonight in frantic haste covered in your yellow Van Gogh paste.
Are you sneaky and secretive in your nutritive contemplations.

Do you want to wander under the stars for a little while?
Between the pulse of the sun today and light Tommie is heavy and full this night.

Basking golden in a silence that will never leave upon awaking then woman thus come when it does.

Imagining all kinds of your imaginings...

Lips between those short Greek words that only you could find monotheist use
for, alas because of you, I squirm.

And you and they on some named flatulent horse of a book.
Look at me and it comes in a hurry blurry haze all over us and when I do you as want by your will, I am properly twisted.

James McLain

Philtrum

Those well defined features,
where with only the hairless shallow cut out groove.
That of the length of the central line of the upper lip is graceful naught haughty
but shaved is openly stated clearly.
Which is when smiles are included.
Love is this my potion.
Unrequited unreturned,
your because it does that you propose these features to tempt
the power of hers this your beautiful face.
Where even those angles they once saith, said.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Works At Mcdonald's

Yesterday driving past her looking at me she knew I saw.
Wishing that now one time unbeknown st,
this to her I saw her finger wiggling around in her purse.
Going in for a cheese burger coming in right behind me.
O' lordy not thinking at her face and smile, her thoughts thus I said.
The five second rule after dropping it applies naught to me and besides.
It will only taste that the much better as while driving to work,
next to your car turning left, right before,
slowly coming out slightly green, I saw where your finger it was.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Peaceful Mind

As you are my peaceful mind.
Find the sun in the middle of all else.
Hope just keeps,
And love, I hope my hope will guide you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Headlong Car

Exceptions are there are none.

Why there are none but after that being done unto me even the headlong car is not feared, my race was half ran before it was over.

As for fear of rape inside by men is it different than for woman?

Which is Kanpuu who is it to know and blows time over everything;

As for the body left by they whom know to wander aimlessly for there transgressions in my mind, unorthodox never to walk the road.

Of the sand which you can stoop down to gather up through open hands, independently through the pine forest.

My road was not of such to rise to the road which crosses over the mountain of which becomes bald.

Forever is ever when that aluminum of the mouth, there is no I, that person looking at it that it rises to my your the one.

When never to open the door to the knock, spearing the throat there is no pointed razor which eats off the pasture.

The rear seat of fear, and the front of the car can be dark each aspect of both applying, haunted house of the sky and others farming it out and others as for the key which makes sucking wet sounds snake' You like;

The warning is.

I have fear of that person of no smile.

James McLain

My First Love

Beneath the hanging tower sealed lost and tender.
The humidity of soft comes often this first love.
Simple is the reminder of future happiness.
This, the most valuable tie of young relationships, love' s first glow,
loves first snow increases, with each new whispered kiss.
Confessed by he to she to him and consumed in this passion.
Lays in silence afterworlds and those of which you speak cannot be said. Play, Dove-take wing and elegant each concession,
lovers light is each new incandescence dawn a brighter day.
Sorrowing joy and bids adieu, loves blind of, singing lips.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sing For The Sake Of It

That woman with the deer velvet skin and of her pears one.
Her hair which makes me blush and thus is it variegated,
and that infantine fresh air of blue eyes how valuable, dewy, and her loved ones,
come and pass by us.
Think of this beautiful person, centered the candy it cannot but hungrily take my hand you are taking.
And do to wrap it, to grasp Ay, and so, it is sweet.
Sing for the sake of it, do to it and say,
for the sake of him to see, do to him I am I pray.
Maintain thy secret, or of my pride it is by you sweet so I go.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Nylon Nets

Are you mine and growing still you give, I am alive!
You I touch and growing never still, the wind is free.
You quiver like the moving sea here comes another wave.
The sand that covers you, I think of nylon nets.
Come to me, think quick right, left handed one.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Abused, ' It Only Grew

Coming to me thus at night by your warm, mouth.
Your how my fat and pout y lips the tongue around forever.
Darting in and out of me right there, I shiver.
Being small when starting out of mine.
Will I ever limp once more I move against that wind.
Why does it move out there my will is gone inside the cave.
Does your asking pull it out and move it in can I say no.
The moon that never sleeps it keeps me warm up high.
So little came so much I can't recall when deep in sleep.
When are we but grew and she is now my other sitters shame.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Queen Of Queens For Solomon

O' from him it is but for you.
Hastily of it the making of it all my love.
Be it there on the hill,
or yonder off through the trailing mist.
The maze both walked you from, he out of.

I dwell in your garden alone.
Standing up you I trust in the sun.
Casting no shadow but from above,
while you below there is one.
While yours is you behind me, I am.
As it grows up all can see.

Within deep inside, beating hearts.
Is your hair?
When I look through the dawns clear tears.
The ones from the night that he sees.
When fleeting the day,
hot burns the sun when once again love it rises.

Her right hand left off where in my hair,
she comes near to raise it up my head.
As I drink from the cup, when my lord?

Long for you my love and God's two hands.
Thus working with you from the whom,
spring rushed the seed he gave to you I am.

O' mighty queen of Solomon transparent veils
eyes that watch me grow leaves whisper here.
Hear my words through purple lips they flow as wine
your hand turned up for me to drink thine cup.

James McLain

Down To The Sea

A boy came down to the sea
He did not know that she saw.
He popped open the oyster.
And bit the salty meat in half.
And he ate it all the faster for it being wet and fresh from the sea.

And then he drank out of the shell
the tangy water tasted exceedingly.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fire Spoken And Ice

Whom come to say the world will end like this in fire.
Meting of all the ice, come inside some would listen am I to say?
Look only from you I have learned of this last taste of sweet desire.
I hold all truths that flow with those whom must from I with this fire.
But if in it I knew that I had to perish there more than hungrily thrice.
I know you knew enough of that of what he called justice be fate.
Come stop, I listen do some say that destruction so hot runs to ice?
Is and is when so great is this, your his love was mine thus sacraficed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

As For Fear

As For fear, As for me and perhaps as do you, like I in possession of fear, perhaps, if it finishes to be,
before my pen dries it gleans' It has thoughts of you overflow.
It is my lower brain, high before the book which was stacked, with characters of
they whom like us came before, as for why, grasp of it take it down please grab hold, it is rich this way by us star nights
complete yea let them ripen, time It accumulates.
The grain of sand which I am are not you there beneath us the all that is he.The grain of this held out do not fear all are there.
When I see, night' am I thinking of you thus for you would I come back to you all over again but it's hot then cold think yes stars.
Think that perhaps, the surface of mine never you live the enormous sign of high expectationes which becomes cloudy, and because I trace my fingers upon your face, the shadow which hides the hand of chance; When you and I feel, fair creative ones of forever crammed into one single hour, I have not seen under any condition more in thee, never by flattery or the tounges hidden power, with favor good unreflecting love
-Then I of the world stand independently on the waves lifting my face to the sky.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Ever I Thunk

Twice, when once I was young bad and blue.
Someone let me off at the wrong corner I was had.
Broke in by my, you next door to shes off, and into.
And that was for me very for you, she ran lucky bad.

Love is for that slick city fella haughty oink doik.
Love is thus sothern it could then of't be hot worse.
Love is quite but never by she seen as curse.
To I thinking once if when ever I thunk, because.
Twas a heart inside burried deep overn there.
And what from that, do I think, made it worst.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wetter

Wet is the fact that he places it the knot their at all.
Be grateful, 'that knot is in you.
It is by only you, thus by he is it then permitted.
To be soft within, usually twenty minutes it is required,
until it again becomes pulled fully from you.
And/or about forty five minutes is possible to be required there of
is he together, apart from fifteen, last seen in the mirror by you..
When mostly is if as for any real main advantage of informal rank your panties, were only in the center spoty clean.
Do not be dismayed and helpless but you think of it,
you would like to possess that, it's his knot in you.
With that grasp of your hand thick covered rings,
it is to be able, never too prevent any measure of that.
Most satisfaction and the knot sawing-in where the panties, even moon, 'growing wet.
Making the feeling awaken, which you feel when it
the knot, catches of in you.
Be it understood that it is yours, rusted silk it 'caused.
Your other things that knot is made to put in place tries
the fact that in the right or left degree,
Angels, which you have now fallen.
Concerning love and from you moreover requited it contains.

James McLain

Modest Thing

I am not yours the girl you make me so complete,
my hair is always not.
Even if it is.
How I am restricted it is installed and,
am I the single large dropp off you this modest thing?
I make a shorter mistake being to your highest,
t'would rather wit complexity, many. moreover occasionally.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Apart Open Still

To feel for ever that it is soft my fall don't swell.
Awake for ever in a sweet surrender to the sky undressed.
Laid apart so open still,
to still to hear one tender-taken softly whispered water lily fragrant this when heard her breath,
And so I live for you for ever-or to never give you up to death.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Just More Of The Same

Blind right now in this is your only eye.
Filled so full that only the ring is seen.
Thoughts run off too deep is the sea.
A muffin that blinks often cream cheese.
Scanily clad where I'm glad.
Creases folds dirty linnen take my hand,
there it is where it is would you know.
But the sweat each dropp that runs off from it catches the sand deeper still what I am.
Nurse please help me up I can't see.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Inside Drifting Clouds

come unto me while inside drifting clouds.

Of the message inside drifting clouds
do pass them by hunter words all
hurd telling me what is to come
of events shaped in that bottle in past.

Hearing

Explaining

listening

past...

Being shaped as have they all in the past.

And in thus, it is being of the being it is never.

And likened unto the bottle that is necked in the middle and slow very slow whits thus yet thick

yet wherein there when it passes..

And yet it comes and it goes how it passes.....

James McLain

His Smile

His Smile

His was the mouth upon it I remember,
Set into a tight curving one of those running in and out,
it is yes that's the before me, you that smile.
Yet I having naught your ability do you recall having it to?
To hold back all of that would if you could.

For it was his smile me upon in the summer.
Sprung when free and this and that and I'm like you free.
That I wish could I but you replace that one too.
When I close my eyes I see it stabbing like the sun feel I do the blaze that burns through it all it comes won't you

And though as we lie switching turns when together.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

What Does She Think

While I think for something of a while concerning wild love,
Does she think, love is of the world to me,
the sea the waves those toes.
Simply neat, and the sweetest beverage,
and in such is the close connection, I can't think.
Of heavens - James's heaven and moving the earth.
I thing have known that it is shown best that,
Is why I kana it is good just or the happiness full therein.
Here known and where I am largest.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

With, The Coming Snow

With the snow and the sand and loves revolution, as for me when the mark of where my love is felt deeply impassioned and passion is all that is left of this world! Using your face the cause and effect, I cry;
The price of one kiss is of that dear love.
But and, any and all of that kind when it comes my love and beings, are delightful, thought I shook when I looked at that freed ankle.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

By Her Other Hand

Painfully again I become from her when it does.
By her very lovely eyes.
As her expression leaves me with this feeling.
Once great and again always small peirced at the end.
The way it starts out, she is never finished.
Opened are her eyes as they grow even larger.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Memory Left Floats Bye

Perhaps it was simply the total cumulative effects of the psycical, and pyscological trauma.
Not really sought out,
yet the sun is and was so very hot.
I must seek it out and I have this like can you?
I must wait a while and please sit and rest with me.
Freinds the few did not know of they whom to trust they did.
Previously lived, hidden from veiw by some untrained, I Am burried.
I think I'm that crazy man,
hoarding rags throwing colors against the wall, at you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hot 'N Cold

hot 'N cold

(may 4th / duneiden)

- 1 happy birthday (to whome ever belong)
- 2 Help I Am Alone! ! !
- 3 Help I Am Alone! ! ! .
- 4 Hollywood.
- 5 Leila Tone
- 6 love is forgiven
- 7 The Right Mind.
- 8 Western Days

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tai, Is Fair My Love

My from this Gods love.

What is this of mine to give you of his love?

Great and trusting making hearts, my dove.

Wrung from weeping hands,

and silence sprung the well deep is the gulf and long despair.

Your life -from me, and Tai of this, what life?

Upon your garland hair, I smell, the hills are bare.

To see love coming and see my love depart.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Let One Beetle Pass

Whom saw with furried eyes.
That hurried back and forth.
One often does.
They looked like tightened Beads, of thread.
And heard it deep in thought.
He moved his furry velvet head.
Each movment much to quick.

e.d.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Where You Were Late

That there are worse things done than
if two sleep, forever one alone.
Forever is to often naught kept separate seems to make.
And this is realized then and softened moist
of earth and wooden clay.
It is late one early Sunday, morning, afternoon.
Worse than nothing less there's nothing more
that you can ever take or never do and when.
She said one night I left for you and you were never late.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sing Loud That Song

She is.

Valuable to him, I must go.

While the night tightens around her eye.

Households you leave to investigate.

The song she sings announces his the dawn.

Her to him she calls.

Calling to obtain, it is his sight.

The Bird is of and love she preens to acquire.

The remaining value of all that is true love.

Singing loud that song he cries.

For him.

For her.

As for the sunlight from on high the mountaintop which already flies.

It has left her off at the snowy top.

As for that of him. Her bird... it is hers.

Because of her and I, am of her my wings to her the light.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Virtue

It is true for me to believe, I believe it.
I may believe it, but it may be am I to strong?
It might be my lie to disprove.
So, I may believe something of it even stronger.
I can refuse to believe it, but it can be to it yours the light.
There's no sight if I am thus to it blind is the dark.
Or there is no truth for me in that of which when it lies.
Always, I must believe in all it the truth.
So, I need my virtue, it is to all, to all it the truth.
I need the truth to you, I believe it, is you my love.
Now, all I know is that I have you to need me.
Can you the all of anyone come thus here to tell me.
Because I need to know more than I this you ever do.
Can your virtue be taught or disproved?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Red Spot

Was not the lie mine,
and with each red spot could it thus be acquired.
As for me not to be the lie of yours became mine, I am with out.
Guess pressure of my prosecutions
and insistence where your lie, digs the grave.
Coldheartedness it was indicated in my blood of ire, how it ran.
I finished the cut for my pleasure inside of you, it was no more than love of you and of hearts oppressive, it never was, thus I came.
As for applause you, your airs, moaning great displeasure.
It was in contrast of you being vein. Blue and red, I atrophied.
It waits for many bitterness of this thy word, it does not glitter.
I must start again from you.
Pull over thy cover which spans your many years of sorrow.
There it is here, if it dies, above this you do not find me.
And still, all I am to he whom knows, thus is my love, I am.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

But Of God

Then this of it, is so.

Verily she comes of he whom is I am.

Willeth and from that does she by he may runneth, overfloweth is the mercy of from such is he.

Whom showeth which is but of he, one God.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Off The Edge Of It

Like the end of ours is yours this one destiny.
Impends my phase and yours I green leaves covered.
I sleep off the foul rain the air and I from which you came and I am scanty underneeth the face I am suffocated.
As in the record chart, by your hand I hesitate,
with you I find the time you limit Where I lag.
As for your thirst for cruelty there are no times when it is tired.
Your head is the carton of the love theirs is hatred.
Like the month it possesses the dark aspect of time.
before the historic times began,
and it dries your sea of silence moreover I am equally.
There is one final piercing of the first,
I draft off all your children in each single line is Satan.
Your birthstone is my asphalt.
The riding in the car.
Operator of the thanking/apologizing meat festival,
which becomes drunk.
It is possible to count your virtue of that remaining finger.
There is an everyday limit in your brain capacity.
The surgery of Victoria morning it is complicated.
As the child when is attached,
the surface of the athletic field which you made.
By my very,
by my very perseverance you drink greedly is the air release the pipe which by you is thus inhaled.
You urge as the television of each network.
In all apartments in the land, it is burnt, you had lived.
We are the same, ' Hinase rare it is, however,
I have always forgotten yours my birthday.
With respect to other everythings,
I think of that it makes that intentional. Didn' Well... off the edge of it.

James McLain

Pink Sun Kissed Tuna

The reliance of you are she is large.

She likes the face that hers the partner of her taste is handled.

The hard male is as was chicken, the person who is excluded or when they come together, neither one.

In the angled degree where she possesses his characteristics.

Running off that splendidly long inverted when is iffy.

As for her Hick' It of that she loves him squeezes;

Am I, James' which closes that it off too sufficiently?

The end she draws near of it which has stickiness without the.

Before two beating blue movements bring it to the ham.

And as the crab meets at that dock is loves one time.

The jaw of the pink sun kissed tuna she opened has closed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Opens Fair

That is of me and go now have trust of your eye.
Accomplishing this it stands times old style love is new.
My rose, your glove, your love of my rose, which is this last garden.
I cross my chest at the method of gloaming when comes Mary.
As for me, ' You think it in doubt; As for me, ' verily you say.
Those out of reach of this thorn must it be of you it is.
Never of someone else.
The power of the owner she is fair whether of;
Whom hears the bell it tolls to thee whom knew of it so well.
Thus it comes bursting forth,
and of you and you trust from you of this have they known, of me.
As for her the switch' which answers unto me like the air; Am I.
But as for one us as for us you must ask whether or not you shrink.
And of that we want the rose blooms do you to it opens fair.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Look At My Crying Eye

Look at my crying eye.

You look at it and see what of it.

Look at the worry and whether to disregard it.

You look at no doubt or at lack of understanding.

You look at peace through strength?

You look at the depth of my modification or deep knowledge?

You look at the light/write or you look at the whites is it darkness?

You look at the black and whites or do you look my color?

You look at your hatred and of my love?

Looking at Nothing it looks back and sees you perhaps.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Cross My Chest

That is your I, accomplishing this it stands times old style is new my rose glove your love of my rose which is this last garden.

I cross my chest at the method of gloaming comes Mary;

' As for me, ' You think it in doubt; As for me, ' You say;

Those out of reach of this thorn must it be you it is.' of someone else;

The power of the owner fair whether of;

' Whom hears the bell it tolls to thee whom knew it so well,

comes and of you and you trust from you of this have they known, me.

' As for her the switch' which answers unto me like the air;

But as for one us as for us you must ask whether or not you think that we want the rose it opens fair!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pubococcygeus, These Great Muscles

Just as this poem can help she even now as we read, does denote.
The great woman position is her power over us that man.
She has all the power and control over this man is he, her partner?
While her man has none of this he lies back and it is hers to enjoy.
Her pubococcygeus muscles are like that of the sea,
and as milk runs from her man.
It gives the woman maximum pleasure just in the knowing.
And with practice she can give more never less pleasure to her. Corpulant like death as the wind blows on past it leaves, this man.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Corpus Delicti

In their jail again I paid for that and of this
and her see through silk pulsating touching her nylons.
But with words freely flowing that only they here when they don't.
Lunch was of shrimp fried in her sweet tasting I bast in that oil.
Bottom button garlic roasted her as she cries I eat mushrooms.
Once basted here comes more yellow rich butter.
Other fine things to I swim with, I can't because you will mention.
Having just been freed they sat all around me.
To hear what I never from my lips to their ears.
Searving raw oysters at the court house her pearls came today.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Comorbidities

If one considers one single strand of light which is standard, physiology is the variable and is preceding the dissection given other unknowns then to be unto her each that variable.

Most often sometimes less this then, when is accurate,
is given up unto him in due time.

All then by they whom try for this it is given.

Mechanisms of that a certain specification is the indicator which is better oft than not of other good things when they come.

Therein lies the cruel twist of fate in comes the harvest which reaches unto other hence unknown so teach me.

Comorbidities and is lower in cost thus judgment of the amount given to the non reaching member.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hastily Of Reputations

Of your reputation, and so hastily made,
was it before them or another?
And of cause?
With or with out it, whom saw.
Justified?
And of all of them and of they whom heard it.
Did they rejoice at your fall.
Far enough at the end to give pause?
And were you then, even now or naught, ashamed?
And of blame the game, issues.
As to when one thought of she,
thet he never had when both are thus made sad.
Would I even then of that when lily kisses, rose.
And in truthknotted haste, can it wait for one or no?
When neither rose nor lily in due time did I ever come to know.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Charles Bukowski's ' Her Smile I Remember

Hampsters I many had and they circled around and round
on that wheel in the cage on my table, stop.
Dear, heavy window that covered mothers, old yellow drapes.

Exposing the picture the once happy proud face and
why is my sister, always smiling?
Running around her torn green panties, saying I want us all.

We are meant to be happy, come hold me,) happy are we, you we are(
Hurry please come now and hold me!
Better than bright and she neat and trim, always right.

It is better to be what's happy and when held, since by you.
Woe unto me, the poor brother and other, striped fish.

Me wanting to be happy, caught at it two or three times a day and yelling at me to be come here know more, often.
Why can't then I,
pouting when I coming over there, too dare the smile?

And she would then curse and smile and show it to me.
Mercy is cheap beer how, and it was the wide strips those lips and being full, O such the circle those lips and her crooked smile.
The bottle close up to her face that I, never could see them.

One day the hamster stood up on it's hind legs up and died,
one by one, then all of them,
some left on their sides, all showing their pink fuzzy tails
And all but one had their eyes glazed shut, some wide open.
That is when my sister after my mother had come home,
some went and she threw the rest out to the Randy, cat.

There on the cracked, red clay packed, floor.
I watched as my father moving as fast,
stepped on the cat,
mercy I said, that was it.
Watching the smile it was like she, killed me.

James McLain

Oh Fifty Seven Five Twelve

As for her, that his story and knowing it.
They do, when you partake of it,
and do not stop that your sexual orientation at all,
green pollen in the air and yellow perhaps,
or it is very pure the air about the sky of her this strange pursuit;
But after the place of his is, many and more one year.
Another time and Clearer Water today than that of another sand key. Egmont, but as for many things, with what artistic,
Wasted such one being, this his and her it forms.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Charles Bukowski's ' His Smile To Remember

Hampsters I many had and they circled around and round
on that wheel in the cage on my table,
near the heavy window that covered mothers old yellow drapes.

Exposing the picture the once happy proud face and
my sister, always smiling,
running around in her panties, saying I want us all.

We are to be happy, come hold me, 'happy you are,
please come now and hold me!
Better than bright and she was neat and trim, always right.

It is better to be happy and when held, since if you.
Woe unto me, my poor brother and others, poor fish.

Me wanting to be happy, caught at it two or three times a day and yelling at me to be come here more, than happy.
Why can't I, pouting when I coming over there, dare the smile?

And then she would smile and show it to me.
Mercy is how, and it was the widest those lips
and being full such those red lips and her smile,
close up in my face that I, ever did see.

One day the hamper stood up on it's hind legs up and died,
one by one, then all of them,
some left on their sides, all showing their pink short tails,
and all but one had their eyes kind of glazed shut but wide open.
That is when my sister after my mother got home,
went and she threw them all out to the cat.

There on the dirt packed floor
and we watched as my father moving to fast,
stepped on the cat,
mercy was it, watching the smile it was like she, killed me.

James McLain

Even, Echoes

Superior white mother and stockings nylon black.
Was I remembered, seven nearly eight years old,
they never looking, out past the window instead.

Tight corsets made of bone, yellow ringlets, bright light coming through the sun, shaking, eye of the needle like she of old lore spinning it off, golden thread.

He looked on her desk, her little green apple, she spoke to him of featherless birds and worms.

Because of me, she did look through the glass.
To young to be baseless simple is its nature,
whom but she shall have the strength to drag him out of the hole.

'Misters and those sisters, fresh little French maids.
Coming and going away on a whim, they sit and wait.

Never knocking at the front door standing out back.
Cats needing dogs the bark on each tree and the bush is full of green turning brown are the leaves.

James McLain

Hello, ' My Daughter

Daughter, here I am, I am here.
Where now I ask,
praying for them, art thou, be with you?
Down the road,
and always with you, I am.
Not to very far,
forever is to close, being not away.
Where I may not yet, is the sea.
Waiting am I only by them to come.
To simply be.
As I am thus like you are to me.
Hello daughter,
if I may, by your leave, say hello.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

England

To whom that you whom are,
I would in ' English ' speak.
Being potential, the woman.
Your vast sparrows hips,
would I split as such have I said.
The muscle inbetween,
called the taint,
Between finger and thumb
at my will,
picking I, of the two.
A knot on a rag would me for you chew.
Be my mother, my lover, my friend,
both would do well, I would of us think.
As I would like a vine unto you and I would,
knotted up deep inside letting you, I chose.
As the walls have 'T' boned ears,
saying said such, have I known for years.
Like wise in reverse done well the two.
And as such,
is the strength between, your thin walls.
Fire and little ice.
I have a daughter as well.
Seven and mine and she is.

James McLain

Rings

Love,
it is when you.

Two,
pink brown rings.

When wrapped helpless around.

Where there below
and it is,
below that, only one.

Friction is the nature
of it,
from it, such friction is.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Useless Are Unnesesary, ' Deaths

Tremors past.

By this my, your very own hand.

Thus whom it is, that I am.

Being who I am, thus it is loved.

Chacolate panties freely eaten by the white boy.

Hypersexuality the cheerleaders never stay free,
of the shadow, deep in their midsts.

Carefull it enters then when by, from the center.

It cuts like the knife going never away back into.

The finest of them is the empty crows nest, there it sits.

While the other girls lie to get it to it/it drains your soul.

Useless these deaths, hot mustard, I touch.

Two legged three in the sun day old bait.

Empty of yellow lumber it cuts like a knife, sawing it through.

And you, you are like them juicy, the swamp knotted wet?

Panties 'O, my 'O so full, 'O my, wet satin green panties.

Does the silver gold mullet and thin plain white tissue, help?

Your pink nose seems to me always, there bleeding.

As cinderella lips sing around it and I pull at it back, I am free.

And buldgeing eye balls pus dripping, swiveled come forth.

Dstracting me from your nose as it as it should comes loose.

Know each bell that you ring, singing I sing it rang, choose.

James McLain

Daddies, ' Little Girl

My presious, you are daddies little girl.
Do not try to save your, my own hollow, soul.
Do this not for him, but for your country,
but do this, you must always do this.
Honor your body, above all else is him,
and then, thinking of yourself.
And your body will it grow, made full with
all of that, which is joy, the joy, he made.
Life is like him much to long to let it go to waste.
It is never as some say too short and say.
Lastly all their money, is very cheaply made.
Now my little girl, you have to venture out into the world and make your daddy, some.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Daddies Little Girl

My precious, you are daddies little girl.
Do not try to save your, my own hollow, soul.
Do this not for him, but for your country,
but do this, you must always do this.
Honor your body, above all else is him,
and then, thinking of yourself.
And your body will it grow, made full with
all of that, which is joy, the joy, he made.
Life is like him much to long to let it go to waste.
It is never as some say too short and say.
Lastly all their money, is very cheaply made.
Now my little girl, you go out and make some.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Before, ' She Bursts

He first carries all the chest to her with his two shaking hands, massages those twin tips tarry hard, so flushed is varied.
Carefully very, how it feels this supple leather,
strong under above the sticky the soft, doe skin.
As she makes the white poppies knotted with ever growing pain.
Before the open buldgeing eyes, pop out.
Whispered mumbles it is slurped, so and loudly, out he cried, O' my but.
Hands between them both are stretching draw bridge, breached,
and flips one of her nipples to that other kneading hand.
He so looks glazed the other way, while she watching saw.
He'd rather this man be thin, than he is being in a year, making water when awakened she awakens, him, of he, she, himself and painfully felt that it reaches the point where so it stands, between alone amongst the trees, burns the bush.
He squeezes out the other nipple she is emptied then to calmly,
and pulls other in and out, the lower part, that always burns.
The nipples so to him, they seem the flow where milk is thin,
as it eruptes, the being, she brought up which salutes, then stands.
He is seized to squeeze the nipple for the second time,
the act of it ' It actualizes.
Leaves there was for that a tender word is much.
This is the time for all good men to come to the aid of there country nows the time, the jet aircraft, the milk to be much stronger.
The empty nest it starts to windy blow, beneeth almost.
The heaving chest to which is added by and whom the buckets, heaving needles point.
Enjoyed this how the enemy more of this, her little rescued dog, this boy.
She awakes then comes against the gate safe from rescue, more is made with joy, his in time allotted.

James McLain

A Crazy Boy

Look at that crazed old boy improving his music.
His is that musical kind is her poetry,
and you are watching it evolve,
you are dancing upon his windy there is sand,
home is his grassy noled shore.

His is a soul in division from two twists of fate of itself
as she is climbing the dunes,
falling back upon them forever it seems is one day
taken aback from him, something leaves again.

And she knowing his knot, but is to look where?
No matter how high the palms they grow.
Broad green leaves atop, opens the sun to flash.
Hearing his common to dolphins hear intelligible sounds.
But sang of, his wild tangled hair and sea-starved,
open mouthed whales, hungry ocean filled waves.
Being bipolar he is left on this vast island,
with out them knowing he has left them, there all alone.

James McLain

Ronald Earl Williams

Loosely - as for the person whom authoritys say and saying killed naught accidentally that his, wife.

Mental illness then perhaps, because.

The telephone was used, while killing her,

and as guilt of two classes of homicide did it does the portable telephone of guilt and help which is decided.

The jury reached to quick did show, life for some is slow and thursday after the deliberation of eight hours or less not more,

and being asked for the life of all like him in Florida prison and jail of those.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Father, ' Most Humble Sir

What then well' acually, most humble sir.

Well, I don't have to do that but I don't have hers.

Well I love to shake her peaches, so you take this.

Well of wealth.

Wenching, wet panties and warm, wet rain.

What a little money has her then he does.

What do you see, 'after I have?

Come little fat man, what if any, I will find.

After the glitter fades like she already has.

What is a pen to a normal wet dream,

come to me father and let me hear one, amen.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Standing In The Bushes

The moon is leaning over slightly full.
Standing there beneath it, looking up.
My bright round eyes,
star pupils more than donuts, glazed.
Slack of jaw mouth open as it drools.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Before She Bursts

He first carries all the chest to her in two shaking hands, massages those twin tips so very,
carefully how it feels leather strong under the soft skin.
As she makes the white poppies with pain,
it slurped so and loudly he cried but.
Hands between them both are reached,
lips carried one of her nipples to that hand.
He so looked the other way, she saw.
He'd rather this than he is being in a year, making awaken,
him himself and painfully felt that it reaches the point where so it stands.
He squeezes out the nipple she is calmly, pulls in the lower part.
The nipples so to him, the flow where milk is thin,
as it erupted, the being she brought up which it stands.
He seized to squeeze the nipple for the second time,
the ' It actualizes.
Leaves there was for that a tender word is much.
This is the time for all good men to come to the aid of there country nows the
time, the jet aircraft, the milk to be much stronger.
The empty nest it starts to blow, almost.
The heaving chest to which is added by and whom the buckets, heaving point.
Enjoyed the enemy more this a little.
She awakes then came from rescue, more with joy, allotted him.

James McLain

It Is Words, ' Only Yes

It is only yes when you like this are words.
it is by you when it's like this softly spoken.
Fewer are the other words,
I never by you heard.

When by these very words for are never.
Then by you, love not loudly spoken.
Fewer were the sadest words,
when they were never by you missed,
and saying naught, I never said.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wooden Polished Floors

And now than latter, tell me honey what is this?
Just are as you of this and this you are my only love.
Even there caught up between the Ivory pillows.
Longing how it reaches out a branch to you.
And how could it have been my teacher, forever it is long.
Never worth the wait, not waiting, having, drinking it all in.
Having it the all and love it's just you wished it after all.
Before each late sunrise, early dawn sunsets.
And the backdoor left ajar and light the sprinkled skies.
Sitting down to cup after cup I drink this tea, longing yes of wait.
And after the teacups have been wiped off, removed, after all the shadows from the dress and tussled dark green silk
how much longer is this trail the length this song I sing, along the wooden polished floor.
And turning back around towards open sky my window, is.
Should I say it to this crying face I am looking up, below.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Scar

There it is, I will come along indirectly,
aloft in the mind bearing each scar.
No one, now dead left behind.
Lost then found the first to be buried.
Alive inside the line in the sand,
covered faintly in oil where one or more may have lain.
Which side of the moon when looking up is buried.
The young delicious often miserable spread open cuts.
Where the wet tounge opens through the lips, whisper the ear.
It is easy to be squeezed open never hurt.
Amateur with the heart of longingly, tender it is asking,
again I must turn to ask, the bee.
While I am being young looking good entirely, it is created aknew.
After taking a bath these with great minds, there is no clear guilt.
Still it supports the green cup which shines faintly.
Compilation of the planets revolution.
Despotic monarch,
hello over here in our prisons some with no order to obtain control,
over you persever carry on then endeavor.
Little big man in coming once more the darkness.
However the over the counter empty container,
did balance as before, that didn' t he said cover the scar.

James McLain

Greensleaves

I have these tanned like yours long well muscled, are my legs.
Trembling, would I but only of this, would I ask of you this once.
Meek little being's should both crying,
coming home backing in, turned eyes blinking around.
Please stop that turning them quickly around, both blinking eyes.
It does not hurt so please stop I am normal.
And standing up tall, backs to us both,
hand over fist the lobbyists are shaking the same young hands.
It's did to you, as would I latter to you, did some find help?
Comes a day late and at night to you is this fluid and are words of pink ink
turning red then bright white love your love letter.
Latter coming back and basks with all the juicy news,
That you are now like I am with you as like you once we, both are.
And love of it drink deep of it as if you with I,
as would drinking like bee's did you and must my love.
I did once with you, but once,
over and over, boiling the cup over deep in sleep.
I did it again I backing it out then as I once,
look back to this when kissing you, as we are.
Did by I, did I how, your turning often them over,
as year after year all those rainy and blistered greensleaves,
it is by that very lullibye song it is like you when that is a must.
It was simply put in you is trust, thrust into amongst us all when as that of you even floating that
and like that with you even I groan always as I do now.
You lovingly as I even risk it must you now do,
without you over stating, multitasking shucking oysters.
And I, as you could guess, I let you out to confess, I right turning.

James McLain

Dear Tai, ' The Staff And Cup Of Hope

Everything and of these certainties,
when one but two relationships.
Reliance thereupon.
The staff and cup of hope.
And already it is/is it not the relationship,
which has know equal value.
And you in God he trusts, she has to have.
God can believe on your this self reliance.
And the love of she which helps us each, to have.
And on returning, find our amber waves of grain.
While crossed the ocean deep, are rich inroads.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If By Whom Is What Is Called, 'Appropriate

Can heaven two, not less than one before, becomes 'Appropriate?

These verbs uncommon fingers, toes are found, is when?

Exclusive taken unremitting is possession of.

Annexed come not one,

can two the moon at rest appropriate, beliefs so common caught inside the net, I am your belief.

Set no specific reasoned out when then apart for thus assigned.

English speaking Kings ringed Queens of french, when grammar proper spoken, moaning is.

Missed the face beneath examples of appropriate, love of it/it is.

Corrupt officials who have not begun

and blind repaired the bridge.

This full river when still once a stream and lost in thought it is.

Milking Jersey cows, I never saw, those teeter-totters are.

Is it found in such the simple towns, not ever redesigned.

Look where misappropriated, from some other architect.

Bad is never "bad" and sad, when dad has never been.

Appropriated,

our teenagers are simple when for the sake of them.

And in such again is simple big Mac's, really "good."

Will you concentrate, collaborate, commiserate, communicate, compassionate, then cooperate, then is where you should be, naught then so blind.

Some have hidden talents,

when laid open ended to no end and end of end without them, all.

Is our then it's simply, when it's called,

by they and thoughtless is to premeditated and forgetting them too pleased not by design and transgress nor alienate.

James McLain

Kept, ' A Man

Never kept,
was a man,
meant to be.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When I Look

Stiff from the cold, how I am.
Being inside, I am warm.
I am not here, when I look,
all of my love,
the sea warm upon you.
All that I am, where but for you?
When thus from having, I seek.
Eyes seeing naught being sought.
Brought in from the dark.
From all that is bright,
I am when coming from you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Are, 'Antecedents

Openly Hysterical,
and showing teeth most competent speakers
when they are naught if teaching, taught, blessings would diverge do they agree that 'she' refers to 'James.'
When what of speaking, pushing down on that 'it's' up and that?
But even if he still with moving lips, does this with ordinary speech?
Listeners how they often are but listen not to 'it'.
And when not confused by one the sum of two from loving 'it'.
Of such how long the length upon 'it' is, when a sentence why 'it' splits.
Some come lacking, hacking, looking, coughing always are.
Occasionally,
are then antecedents, she may he, when thereof such is missing simple 'it's'
discourse, as she wonders often when 'it', if someone wonders of 'it' out too loud.

'I wonder where she always puts 'it'?
With no clear intent to be this antecedent the pronoun of is 'it.'
Therein about 'it's' also but is 'it'?
Antecedents can often may not bend and rivers, currents elbows are.
The language when if french this discourse, coming sleep instead.
Because that face the object so familiar to them both 'it' is.
The speaker hears 'it' there beneath the bottom when 'it' rears.
Can they with 'it' and one listens is the listener 'it', for example of?
Lovely when 'the bushes, grow around the leafy trees'
'It' is.

James McLain

'Hopeless, ' Is This One, ' A Single Bird'

And being, I am left there hopeless is one bird.
Without feathers, never born, I float on oiled wings.
All the souls, whom did naught love me ever,
I am forever out of reach, the sun has taught to sing.
Without tune or tounge, without lips nor note.
Breathing, uninvited left forever I am, sleeping.
Whom some, never thinking,
having for me not a single blinding thought at all.

e.d.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

How Being Dead, ' Do We Lie

Dead, we can never but in truth.
The father, do we lie?
Did they not forever, for U.S. choose.
And better off one brilliant flash of shame.
Again I died and lived for all, but you.
Than to live and dig a shallow unknown grave.
My shame is from no other, I know you.
From the bottom of the well comes life is more.
And we have sprung, the bottom true.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ashley Is, ' When Nichole, And

Fish Looks - 'large armed Claws' - both join the immigrants that crossing when they try in her new yoga class but is it ever enough.
Embarrassed when one is laughing, running always, caught.
And the weakest is her tadeploe fish named come here, 'James.
So she enlists these huge jumbo shrimp to help him become big and strong using a secret method to keep it up and full when it's pulled out and up it never seems to catch her crossing over, underneath the bridge of bubbled, of foaming rapid breath.

Reading this is news she shows her teeth and smiles.
The tounge it moves around those lips which her other does.
And pulls away and then pretends to not act screaming, pouty mad.

Ashley and Nichole off on this next love is a deadly mission.
Both flat tires against a fan whom some both say they like.
And realize that this is no fantasy - it's the next real best thing.
Best laid next too all that blown up round, when glass is pink,
and without wings, can pigs learn how to fly?

This next episode is hers and hers he waits to never die for.
Does the sheriff know you are of, ' her this what?

James McLain

Tyne, Graduate Of Assessors

And Tyne, is loyal title held by graduates of assessors.
She of they whom have passed the second of the two examinations qualifying for a career in a people filled profession
and such as being nudged,
she judges, medical, these psychological for the hospital, the public.
Customers being needed she is pumped up higher looking down.
Assisted by this living testament 'people's assessors' drawing them out in thought then speech being beautiful and drawn back in she always neatly, is.
Much like the absent minded juror, looking through the foggy mirror whom saw to much then goes off to never lose much sleep,
to much in thought, they sit around and wait.
From lost citizens found throughout the community.
They do not rule on matters of the mind, but can allow or deny any beating heart these patients overruled, objections.
When the assessment is completed the Doctor and the people when assessed decide on a thoughtful verdict.
Which nearly sometimes breathing, always is.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Caught, Between The Lines

He said he only smokes - he only smokes.

Dope,

he never does the roach between the lines.

And in retrospect is able to take it all in,

When she thinks most of it.

So much so and cloudy is when all of it at once.

She thought that for once that maybe it was almost like a suicide

once looking back, coming in, he looks unhinged.

or

Hence he meant that the tobacco,

which is his green straw through looks abnormal.

When she at play, is then inhaled - He inhales the tobacco simply.

The dope white paint, he does not do under any condition.

Once caught between the lines.

And you can take that with retrospect, directly so.

She only this one time like the suicide which is found confused,

almost perhaps thought of thought that thing, that is.

James McLain

An Observation On, ' Judgement

If you are, I am what?
Frightened about all that nothing, is?
Concise happy being young,
seeing you grow archaic diligent
dry painfull older.
And I am told by you that I am but never why.
I think you can but don't.
And judgements when they never are.
I am in the dark.
It is you the light arched doorways always are.
About two things consice most never being,
judgement is.
Personalities thus they are, pray understand them.
The history of each other within our reach.
Never being taught our teacher is.
Extroverted, deeply introverted when I come,
whom some ask why?
Inferance from such simple observations.
Judging eyes when I am asking judged you naught.
When I am you.
By your very hidden deep within those very tissues.
Biased judgements never spoken, broken open issues are.

James McLain

Southern Balls

Even now, when I am lost in then.
Stretched out so firm your shadow.
And such is this one last pallor trick
coming under white washed home.
Southern balls grandeur, over coming this illusion.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Karen

K

Elizabeth is her middle name
in vain I wait for you to say.

A

pples love it not.
It when sweet comes May.

R

uning viens these words and form is C. E. McL.

E

nters more her talent sells enforced her well.

N

o not if but in any language from her heart it cries.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Turning Fifty

Fifty leaves I saw today, before I saw.
The trees so deep the suns red flare
and briefly light laid soft upon the cake.
Upon the cake.
As the sun runs down the sky,
memories flashing past so fast I flash.
No time to wish.

Before the break so fast comes dawn
and night would never die.
Having had I've known and wishes such they are.
At once she should have known Bending there aside her long stem gown and red and white each checkered
clean the waves like wind the tabletop.
And yearn to blow each breath,
too blow them out one breath away.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Minds Sensitive

Shout into the suns, white surface it's broad expansion.
Into the ceiling of the boutique of the candy of the flower,
where almost the destruction this intense flower of all that changes.
From the leaf and the wall and the plants, and this stock of green are abundant pointed thorns are struck.
That is because of the scarcity of aroma when near it is not.
And you swear that these flowers and thine majority of the rearrangements of roses and posies are really covered with the sampler.
It reaches to only Hollywood from the tamper, come but in addition as for the orchid and the wood which are adjusted in order 7 feet is too high, ask your friend is to rise to privacy.
As for both applying of foxwood which is customized about your ear,
it is but you, it is while groaning,
you see very far one minds sensitive, mile the width green screen
of the feilds of this year-round and around.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Psychological Scholar

After the last hold out
from which leaving returns to the bathroom
straightly in it dives and or drinks.
And you about It has the pain which reformation long is done.
As for the second chance with the semicolon
and explanation/learning discussion of your verbal granted sought extension.
Which end if ever means that this pressure has once again produced this exaggerated side effect.
First there are no times like now
when you are worried about being deeply open.
Everything does not mean the fact that the fistula is experienced. Meeting to second practical proctologist in we do.
Fast forward go.
In addition the doctor does the visit.
Your first she is next too next share and sooth it ends.
Never for his/her disadvantage.
Your pressure increases which paves suprised is what, advise, ask. The psychological scholar when she smiles.
Pursue that you recommend.
Or nervous study psychiatry person.
And pray the daily newspaper, then read the Bible.

James McLain

My Old Lady

She's puts a smile on his long face.
He has been a away so very long.
She's forgotten how she found a way,
around his chubby hairless face.

I like my old lady.
Even though she's knows i'm blind.
She has taught him how to take it
Like I am.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Her Soul And Mind

Shadows she does vary lengthen,
glimmers first this evenings burning star
weeping through the musky haze is night
Fireflies weave between the darkened cracks of dawn, the sun creates a land of midnight dreams.
Filling up her soul and mind.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Judge

Who sets up high and reasons does the Judge.

Daughter weeping this one child would not be heard,
Weeping father always weeping, weeps her weeping pain.
Him to this her little smile,
And she, his chain of iron, bound up inside his heart.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Young Pretty Girls There Was Once A Road

There was once a road,
some of you took because life was like this for me at home.
My dad and both uncles and brothers in and out all the time,
what was left of my self was it worth.
My panties always are all full of there thick yellow seamen
Salt they have left in my panties.
When that choice I made diverged deep within the forest,
and bad my state of mind, it is as good as that for me.
The left fork in the road which my right hand now chooses.
Strangers because of that the fact that you take,
as for me there was no map for me who does not know of this before.
It' which this time this road of the things all wish to place inside of me so deep,
I can hardly lift up the moon too breath, those are my once soft pillows
I in my travels become white crusty dirty, it is repeatedly the center hit.
As for once I had pretty dreams and dreams and now dead scattered and others as for that you apply to it, it is broken moist wide open, it is shatterd and you are wrong you act and now both holes are paved.
And being struck repeadedly in the center and the point,
always sharp and full of milk I scream.
Regrets here and there does is as to be as for the place.
Where it turns my being wherever, there it is closer untill.
Sidewalks, bridged desire rivers of they now run through me.
So bridge me who I to you and men I am whom.
I continued I can see it cross into me slowly, It is never good,
lost in the forest which now when as for me as for me who finally I am.
Change the selection of your life which you to whom you speak.
With out yelling make it besides still waters instead of being filled full of milk, and it stretches past the point of no return pain full it's stretched.
Always I am sore now and the fact that they full and heavy come.
And coming always they having happiness, if it follows to your center
when the rear once was tight as well.
There once was a road which I believed but my belly now full,
and led by the light/I write this to you.
My babies asleep in a bottle.
When moving them out to be asleep they are the men so deep.
The forest if it is good it diverges,
because you will not do to pay attention to my warning, I have informed you,
follow your center in order to go to a place safer known.

You have known now from this road it leads too nowhere.

James McLain

Two Being, ' Yoked

Being Yoked to his of yours is what of that.
That, if of this pink eye of the pearl of this your his intelligence.
I must if I can, when with you if you can, can you not?
Ask but of this in trust but ask this of you, this I must.
And of choice and as will as I will of you, by you this I may.

Do it to do throw it all in with me, as it is of me, mine you are.
When before ever being thrown to the center of that which is there?
And I occasionally will dine before those lovely pink swine.
If I must As with wings would you do so I ask.

Cloven hoof they of thou withstand this of me, I bear your cross.
Both extreams yoked together however the fact that it is of you,
because of you, I am.
And of those come before me by those you are as I, am dire in need.

Is it not for those whom speak naught but by thee of such desired?
Mercy and grace this permission wise words of God.
Knowing I naught,
do I pray and I pray but of that one thing, I am you this of life.

Learn of this by me and it does, it does hurt and the pain.
May you not like I thus but by trust in this indure.
As for me always Lord' you are truth and in you this they May.

Of this which makes takes my breath and I walk to each day.
She before I, am I from her, comes the next.
And each one after another as passion would burn, because of truth.
And you infer road after road and life' May they Know that of skill, curved around is the spoke while straight is the heavy, curved line.
I return to my house, in order to travel across once again not against.
As for the road of wisdom which it faces all tests of time indure such with me as I trace it on you..
It is you that I love of the lesson by this earth upon you, I walk.
which is taught to me with all like those that breath and speak but of one simple truth.

James McLain

Tactile Fremitus

Place open palms and fingers lightly on the patient's posterior and or anterior to the oiled chest.

Never ask a patient to say "joy coat of paint" or "never joined"

Move your hands sequentially from the apices, to the base of the interscapular region thereof, and then to the pulmonary arch where it bending, red graces.

Do watch the lips comparing the vibrations between the intercostals moving over on the one side to some place that is known only to the Doctors significant while nursing the other.

If coughing issues watch out for deep bubbled sighs.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Her Eyes And Her Hands

Have been exclusively on demand and have never pumped.
A few weeks back, I bought a few tears.
(apples and pear trees and bananas)
And a thin box of rice see through cereal.
Have you naught I have heard, and reread.
After having been bathed (with either white water or breast milk)
Prefering most tanned are the woods, mommy's milk.
Simply because it seems to me,
that it would be a bit more tactile in thought and nutritious.
And I think she would take again to it more or less better.
If it had that down home familiar butter taste.
However, again, with never having been pumped, I am.

I trust I remain most respectfully,
is it poetry.

P.S.

Do you warm the entire thing up and then reunuse the portion is not being used not wasted?

James McLain

Tactile Stimulaion

Your hand on a hot or cold is a four fingered glove.
burried inside,
swimming or hurried your face in your loves fluffy puffed out at the top feathered hat.
Beings triggered,
whenever it comes into contact with forien other objects.

Identification when if is of.
Pressure, vibration, warmth, cold and sun stained.

It benefits perhaps then improves concentration and reduces you down are stress levels?

Significance may lie thereof,
impacting early precognitive, physical and emotional psychological,
perameters are developed.

Seeing green leaves as green leaves deep rooted growing trees.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Deeply Graven Lines

When you have felt,
these deeply graven lines upon my face you see.
And when long roads a traveller, travelling pities thee.
The void the stars and stand as one the sea,
though counted out by some, forever you I am.
Alive this child amongst the leaves as dead.
When green.
Heartfelt tears and mournful waves my open palms
our feet upon the sand.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Beneath My Chest Beats Your Heart

Pulling the wind as it calls out to me,
fleeting this loneliness, falling and the deck wild nights, mildness and the water under around me, you shout with the mask
under the moon full the sail the rise of the boat
as it falls there around me, you stand by the storm
which I both have called being thus like you, so I am.
As you search for the earth as I reach out my hand
many come to me and of me whom few see but I am.
The enemy was never the sea and the enemy the sea is this one single place where I am safe as the rocks on the shore all around you.
I fight always and fighting must I die,
the fear the unhealing scar of my chest is your heart beats the sky.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Popularity Of The Ant

As for him that as for him from her comes his happiness
hence the intelligence which is to do is thus permitted.
And anyone by him for her by him can give intelligence,
completely it is good the heart when large,
it is good it is thus to thee permitted.
And let none make popularity of the ant this understanding.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Revolution Umbilicus

Because spinning buzzing travels up the colon
and the abdomen is not distant off,
it was never secretly recovered by the surgeon.
Every one then knows except your mum.
When inpatient she arrives and he succumbs.
At hospital, if still it vibrates,
pay attention longer fingers become shorter than before.
'revolution umbilicus sign'
With out relief it is recalled, it is interesting.
Phenomenons which it should be cautious need creates.
You do not have to dance along the rim this jig
and higher notes denote,
because, does this ever happen to a few of you?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

After Death

This last time.

While these lips have moved and lived,
then when word by mouth I lived have opened died,
my mind once has remembered that you could never speak,
and being then inside withdrawn,
it is even more restricted.

However from then when my mind has even now returned.

And I remember you in speech they move again.

Please pass me by and pay attention not again to that.

You do not have to hear them speak about those trees again.

Sleeping for the present,

I have left it all behind, what it is possible to hear.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Up Her Skirt

When the element become the spots on the jacket.

Pulls out his notes and the note of the distinctive cat.

Being such is he who the sweater she wears underneath
her skirt.

Flirt as flirts as are wants such as that that you have there and any condition has not been attached to the body wants such are your lovelies.

Comes the mother of this person and the cherry of the red eye
where it blinks and it can be wrapped around the grinningly
he laughing kisses it and in it the wind whispers.

The cutting of the thin flower broad-mindedness
and elegance and exposes the kissers of the peel
as the oranges of green rich is pink in the place where the woman it seems picks
the shell she wears each day.

God of the holly of the hotly is black satin where she sings of longevity. The window is closed unlocked but the shade released suddenly to be rereleased, until being inside thrown, however directly never escaping which she arranged, prolonged.

Too many conquests he comes back as the child now a man
and back to her back whom is teaching.

People it is by she when she wishes to take hold of the harp come it whispers to sing do not cancelle.

James McLain

Drift By Lazily

When this the person,
without even the bottom where light would I am, had form.
Escaping from that which cannot be rediscovered forever there it is breaking.
Which from you it drips over the whole has it ever been the forest of the valley and the unlimited flood and the grove and the cave and Titan children.
Evermore in the sea which does not have the wide banks which are shaken.
Do not to go to bed thus it billows like clouds in the sky of the sea, and the waves catch fire which it eagerly but with you it desires.
The independents and independents watch the water which dies - the snow of the lily which is kissed by rose done drifts by lazily.
And still the quiet water and to others it is cold silk is thin without the outerspread the cypress along the lake knows no limit.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Being Yoked

Being Yoked to his of yours is of that.
That, if of this pink eye of the pearl of this your his intelligence.
I must if I can, when you if you can, can you not?
Ask but of this in trust but ask this of you this I must.
And of choice and as will as I will of you, by you this I may.

Do it to Do throw it in with me as it is of me, you are.
When before ever being thrown to the center of that which is where?
And I occasionally will dine before swine.
If I must As you do so ask.
Cloven hoof they of thou withstand this of me, bear your cross.
Both extreams yoked together however the fact that it is of you,
because I am.
And of those by before me by those you are me dire in need.

Is it not for those whom speak naught by thee of such desired.
Mercy and permission words of God.
Knowing naught,
do I pray and I pray but of that one thing, I am you this of life.

Learn of this by me and it does, it does hurts and the pain
may you not indure.
As for me always Lord' you are truth and in you this they May.

Of this which makes takes my breath and I walk each day.
She before comes the next.
And each one after another as passion would burn, because of truth.
And you infer road after road and life' May they Know that of skill, curved round is the spoke straight is the heavy curved line.
I return to my house, in order to travel across once again not against.
As for the road of wisdom which it faces all tests of time indure such with me.
It is you that I love of the lesson by this earth you I walk.
which is taught to me with all like those that breath and speak truth.

James McLain

Each Drop I Catch

It is only by your lovely clings, it swished.
No outside rain this wholesome beat this noise.
When kissed I miss the tears the warmth the most.
And wet as such this is our only world.
Inside is pushed apart I hear it come to me in waves.
The sun it dries the clouds and when you speak.
Moist the moss hangs down, you smile
each dropp I catch is you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sara Palin Stamps Her Feet

When milk runs out the corners of her mouth.
There is not to her this joy like mine.
Between her lips, I have been eating of her poetry.

Her eyes are never sad
and she walks and runs my hands inside her dress.

The poems are light but then as dusk are gone.
The night has never been so clear when dim.

Like the salmon caught glazed are my eyeballs roll,
blond legs pumping burn like Moses flaming bush.
Sara Palin begins to stamp her feet and weep.

She does not always understand.
When I by she am forced to get down on my knees and lick her snow white hand, just why the ice cream blue when clear it melts away.

I am,
the other bear like man.
She suckles when in sleep his milk she keeps.
I snarl at her and inside where I bark.
I romp with joy the outdoors sparks she fawns.

James McLain

Of Buds And Bells

Play doctors house and buds and bells when sucking candy stripes.
Greek fantasy hospital house of his, her wildest dreams.
Coming home to clear the window that turns upon her knee.
Some helping those whom try to walk but never when it coughs.
Wherever there is joy within the comets tail muffin tops, milk home.
Likein it within I melteth and you bubble out of reach.
Thus is sweet the joy, each dropp of rain and never speaking when it is.
Thus it is when then to you one wanders in and out about this fantasy.
Come flying when it opened flew and still exceeds her open arms french doors.
Looking I to she permits with thought how it expands.
Open minds' closed tightly wide are they when wise?
Doors inside of doors and She is' squeezing arrows out,
and cloudward of it from I rise against her Sun I rise.
Fantasy of the pink sripped candy of a loosely fitting O!
Her open blouse is loose,
and I like time that leaves when green it shows permit.
Summer' hot The joy that she becomes growing wild and useless
depending upon when illy used, and the spring as it unfolds.
Enjoying it opening the way, Autumn' full Red lipp's.
The Fruitage of the mighty devils D,
and passing by the fog and dew, when you blush, tasting of it is:
Something buzzing then?
In or out, up and down all around the tree the limb you climb upon.
To watch me pee.
The time when right, sit a spell slide down on thee, with it tingles.
It is bright, cold it burns, winter's Mind; it marches on.
Night; When soundless the earth is covered, she explodes
and as for the heavy snow by which is neatly set.
The ploughboy' she has by her hand is mixed.
Empty; spoon whose bag is always heavy O so heavy.
Full of rye and catcher seed.
All buds and bells and dewy morn of May.
Running from the spray where it is sprayed.
Autumn' where everything is wise accumulated.
The wealth of us, and using, still, I am.
Mysterious it is hiding:
Not from you, when you decide to come then come and ask.
As for her like three Ruby wines of glasses mixed which love mixes.
Kissed these joys, and quaff that of you must now shalt.

Your shalt I waer but you I hear the distant harvest clearly.
Rustled corn the silk you move aside and it is sweet.

James McLain

Buds And Bells

Play doctors house and buds and bells when sucking candy stripes.
Greek fantasy hospital house of his, her wildest dreams.
Coming home to clear the window that turns upon her knee.
Some helping those whom try to walk but never when it coughs.
Wherever there is joy within the comets tail muffin tops, milk home.
Likein it within I melteth and you bubble out of reach.
Thus is sweet the joy, each dropp of rain and never speaking when it is.
Thus it is when then to you one wanders in and out about this fantasy.
Come flying when it opened flew and still exceeds her open arms french doors.
Looking I to she permits with thought how it expands.
Open minds' closed tightly wide are they when wise?
Doors inside of doors and She is' squeezing arrows out,
and cloudward of it from I rise against her Sun I rise.
Fantasy of the pink sripped candy of a loosely fitting O!
Her open blouse is loose,
and I like time that leaves when green it shows permit.
Summer' hot The joy that she becomes growing wild and useless
depending upon when illy used, and the spring as it unfolds.
Enjoying it opening the way, Autumn' full Red lipp's.
The Fruitage of the mighty devils D,
and passing by the fog and dew, when you blush, tasting of it is:
Something buzzing then?
In or out, up and down all around the tree the limb you climb upon.
To watch me pee.
The time when right, sit a spell slide down on thee, with it tingles.
It is bright, cold it burns, winter's Mind; it marches on.
Night; When soundless the earth is covered, she explodes
and as for the heavy snow by which is neatly set.
The ploughboy' she has by her hand is mixed.
Empty; spoon whose bag is always heavy O so heavy.
Full of rye and catcher seed.
All buds and bells and dewy morn of May.
Running from the spray where it is sprayed.
Autumn' where everything is wise accumulated.
The wealth of us, and using, still, I am.
Mysterious it is hiding:
Not from you, when you decide to come then come and ask.
As for her like three Ruby wines of glasses mixed which love mixes.
Kissed these joys, and quaff that of you must now shalt.

Your shalt I waer but you I hear the distant harvest clearly.
Rustled corn the silk you move aside and it is sweet.

James McLain

A Secret Hold

A Secret grasp A hold—
Be it a Secret—hold it tightly then—
A Secret hold—when kept—
Weeping—wept it can't appeal but One—

Better off than in it—confined be you afraid—
Than you inside it outward wear—
And Whom by you it told it to be then—beware.
Always afraid when deep asleep - aware.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Buds And Bells,

Doctor house and buds and bell sucking on the scandy stripes.
Greek fantasy hospital house of his her wildest fantasy.
Coming home clear windows that turn upon her cries.
helping those whom try to walk but never seem to talk.
Lips open move and learn to come enjoy.
Wherever there is joy within the home.
Likein it within I melteth and you bubble out of contact sweet the joy rain and never speaking when.
Thus it is when then to you one wanders in and out about this fantasy.
Come flying which it opened flew and still exceeds her open door.
Looking I to she permits with a thought how it expands.
Open minds' closed widely.
Doors inside of doors and She is' Throwing arrows,
and cloudward of it from I rise against Sun rise.
Fantasy of the candy of a loosely fitting O!
Her open blouse is loose,
and i like time that leaves when green permit.
Summer' hot The joy that she becomes growing wild and useless
depending upon when illy used, and the spring as it unfolds.
Enjoying it opening the way, Autumn' full Red lipp' s.
The Fruitage of the mighty D,
and passing by the fog and dew, when you blush, tasting of it is:
Something then?
In or out, up and down all around the tree the limb upon.
The time when right, sit a spell slide down on thee, with it tingles.
It is bright, cold it burns, winter's Mind; it marches on.
Night; When soundless the earth is covered, the explodes
and as for the heavy snow by which is set.
The ploughboy' she has is mixed.
Empty; shoon whose bag is always heavy O so heavy.
Full of seed.
All buds and bells and dewy morn of May.
Running from the spray where it is sprayed.
Autumn' where everything is wise accumulated.
The wealth of us, and using, still, I am.
Mysterious it is hiding:
Not from you, when you decide to come then come and ask.
As for her like three Ruby wines of glasses mixed which love mixes.
Kissed these joys, and quaff that of you must now shalt.

Your shalt I waer but you I hear the distant harvest clearly.
Rustle of the corn the silk you move aside and it is harvested.

James McLain

Your Heart Once Mine Was Too Heavy

From my center from this many songs
and the fruit even now is over ripe bearing.
Then of which now I sing of is heavy.
Love never how often matures,
but like me is not possible and never to give in to the one.
My song does not linger it belong to just me.
However when it is thin at last comes the evening.
Filling the moon joy filled never of gloom.
Flying the moth goes to there and lands here.
When at last turning gray in time the growing fat the fruit falls.
Has it known everyone of that, from you when it takes?
Where it lands soft in the hand time it tells.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Emo Girl And Confessed It

I will draw you a nice silky picture.
It is framed in flashes of bright red.
A picture with a subtle quick twist.
I will draw it on you with my razor.
I will draw it right out on my wrist.
Deep is this new red picture of you.
Come to me emo girl and confess it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Trilling

Trilling

by isitpoetry

You sleep I hear singing and water coming.
I indissoluble make it out each continent.
The shape of each desire when open, I do.
Glammer such most in fluid element clear
never forcing each days competition.
The sun being when it rains full illuminated.
You I make full of God magnetic when with her Hand.
Life and of love and the colleague of the colleague is love.
As for me I sigh as I watch all the rivers of America bank there over,
and the whole of the grassy brown plains made this more green with each brand new arrivale lush feel such plants.
Thickly as a coastal Great Lakes spring from wood.
Separated impossibly thick hidden from the banks are the cities.
Democracy of your this Trilling and O, to be against it useful,
femme of femme that mother!
Because of you,
and as for me once again I feel the sound the birds
flying over me, they are singing, trilling.

James McLain

Sensual Kiss With A Twist Of Bold

It may start in the beginning too tickle.

To give each toe the kiss.

Gently sucking the toes

and then lightly kissing around the whole foot.

Can it not but help to gently massage the base of the foot while performing between the toes this kiss.

Simply brush your lips lightly across the crown of his foreheadhead in thanks when he is done.

Never involving the lips the texture or wrong tongue.

Made of puple cedar where is the trunk?

Sensual kiss with a twist of Bold.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

House Of My Dreams

The dream of my sky was taken one long night and from April and each pliability and gentle nobleness of this which was his/she.
Parting clouds, filled up those of mine and, April and Sunday.
This dream of thought of the old sky and she rushes in order to keep the song which happiness is distant and excessively is complete.
Well, this dream of the sky was dim and as for her wants, dreamy.
The rainy sky it was wide, as for those my thoughts of it can't hide,
it was sweet,
such was my sweat it was from this now gone the indistinct house.
But my dream was removed and the naked truth it makes those whom come now more entirely - My thoughts or there are no lost common times
and when placed in the now, what now should it play off of, she as it does, looking up at the sky.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Night Remains

Its not that bad it will not harm you.

It is rather comfortable so always with you do I sleep that way.

Then if you get up during the night just write off one sweatshirt or fasionable hoodie.

Sometimes that will make it less noticable.

or

It is not even that,

this state of that it is good not bad.

When it does not does not cause damage.

Methodological,

deep is the sleep from that which of that is moore comfortably.

Light from that probably will be formed.

Somewhat is of this is always.

If it occurs exactly between the remaining night, from one sweat shirt or fasionable hoodie separated from them. Occasionally the maker of that decreased is to remarkable.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Life Has Been Your Poem

What of this my life has been your eyes my open book.
I would have read again you never did I lumber, taught.
Forgotten ways so it often is, it's but then written.
But I, then but for you, I should have, when I could.
When both this life and cypress trees,
some softer wind blown leaves, thus call.
My memory covered water moving tannan drifts.
A hat of green transparent dreams.
And the ocean made of sandy waves, pours over all of it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Neophte

Dreams of feathers,
hung from peacocks naught.
Ones lips are sealed.
the other are always open.
Twins,
and both pointed ears.
Can not but help it too hear.
Standing upright marble blue veined face.
The breasts of the one,
searpants around come out in the open, hidden.
All the faces are cold nipples pointed like spears.
None borne forth have milk suckled.
Slender candle tipped the likes of which pulled back in, being pulled out.
Running out of our tongues against whoms will.
Thinking you speak never have.
Masks between fire cold desire.
Quilled ink pink tip black peireced.
Token breasts would again be full emptied are.
Dark moody blues turning white
now black against between each falling star.
That which never is but was still queens.
Contrast never lost the blind being there have seen.
This dream to one by all whom hide inside
revealed to none but call to him in her dreams.

Aubrey Beardsley
Plate # 83

James McLain

Loneliness Is

Loneliness is large round this world
so I have become to you growing it does when it has grown tired.

And are thus from you, cut off from it/it dies.
Love wence it came opens departs.
One off from the other but one.
And when it is you this you are.

Where the people are good
when it is just to much very much and legaly excesively thus exacted extracted is mutually.

As for the rich person being of like mind
I do but supp with the lonely pauper,
who is not thinking but of good of the rich person.

Driving by waving me off is not this feeling good to the pauper.
We all never fear it is me.
As for our education system
as for those of us who are informed to love, Volunteer.

The people are good mutually.
The people are good mutually.
The people are good mutually.
I ask this of them and them that are they, some never suppose that it is often more having not.
I won't ask certain things from thus of those.

As for the bead of cold winter dropps of sweat that you see,
as for the cloud and the deep blue sea.
As for the waves at your feet,
as for the sand with no prints.
It is me and you together in this all as one.

Walking in front or behind, to none I am blind.
The people are good when feelings are mutually.

Perhaps when thus of this it is so.
Then never coming our deaths are not sad excessively.

As for me at that time of the year the flower the stalk.
When both talk of the spring.
Chance looks at the girl that is young,
looking at the boy which grew off from her old.
There must be a method to this.

There must be a method of not having.
Loneliness is someones method of madness
that has long gone astray.
Still I am looking up, short.
Which is not said, have you said of it come lass, no.

James McLain

King James

Queens make,
King James, then it is.

Love,
but let us then,
when coming too assess it.

Alters moving by,
and the Alter moved it for.

Let straightforward it be,
it is then straightforward.
She gladdens this son by his mother,
this one is promised.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wisely Ruled Permits

When the king is of love, then it is.
The love of mankind when it did
and when coming, that which of he assess us all.
And it made excessively all from that the book
and which by most when read is now made possible.

Movements thus scores of prose verse.
then each modification of it thereof is.
Spoken revelations said naught then of it, is it not?
which moves to him for the sake of men then are changed.
Simple in thought such is this then I am.

Made from that, that it is in this simple as that from time because of this it is a certainty of it/it is.
Thus then from such simplicity permits us all that we are.
Then simple it is, is it not?

As for her with such grand light of that spoken by he too his mother.
The father of that is our son ours the new sun of your happiness.
The queen of it is made, it is our king love and.
The love of her coming
and it did and when coming,
it makes assess of us to him and it made excessively this all your possible.
Movement and the modification of loves this voice when spoken so soft in sleep and dreams which move for the sake of your sake are changed.

Simple I am of that because of this certainty, that it is,
then simplicity wisely ruled permits.
As for her,
with that his mother, father spoken in this to,
that the son and the father of happiness then is the king of kings made the light
all the more for the coming is wiser.

James McLain

Florida, Counties And Tax Lein Certificates.....

Fortresses are hedged with, MUDD ' without funds and flush from the government tarp when interest free.
And it is free to rape U.S.deeper Yes even More.
When nothing by us was given but upper stiff lips back to us
Immoraly, when unethically taking our homes and land.

Those L.L.C.s
While Bank of America,
J.P.Morgan I can call to check my food stamp balance
free these three times a month.
One third of my food stamps go for ice to keep my milk in the cooler simulating some one elses artificial deep ran Bushes stimulas
while my milk when last it was checked runs dry.

Florida tax clerks to each county Hear my greetings
it is as broke and, yet I am, We most are.
Hiding behind the excuse to sell what I can not afford to own when I paid in cash to own what now is theirs.

Tax certificates,
eighteen percent hidden fees well known by they unredeemed quite titles to greet comes the SHERIFF,
I never thought to shoot, being too cute
coming once I am, from mine whom like you removed.

My car is cold at night it is quite,
From my heart I thank you Japan for simple words like big bang for the buck unlike U.S.

Sixty seven Florida counties
and needing money as we do as well.
Making a living off the hard ship of others whom would pay
but can't or they would Like you Banks above borrowing money for nothing and evicting the people whom built their homes upon the land that they I need, they but legal covet.

Florida can you please check
If my home, vacant land I paid cash for is being.
and see if drug cartels have learned this simple trick of buying homes
and land as they say on T.V.
For pennies on our hard earned dollars.

P.S. I need C.V. Joints to keep my car moving,
so I won't get arrested.

I will pay it back to you when ever I can.

Being Ameri-can.

At thirty three and a third percent of course,
I love green eggs and spam.

James McLain

Where Sidewalks Never End

There is a place before we all take part.
A start a place to sort out thoughts about
the day before tomorrow when it comes.
And where the Heavens end the night before.
And even there before it starts.
The end before begins again the end is found.
Grass is like you soft it's there why I'm around.
And glad that you are of why I'm even here.
Your comet brought it up so white it's wide trail.
And the sun my light is why, you burn so bright.
And there and there is where the month, the end, grows near.
Looking lost one walks past and sidewalks never end.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Islands

Islands,
stripe the road.
The ocean,
but it tarries.
Songs you once sung.
Forgotten it is known.
Grow even larger.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Intermittent, ' I Am Growing Yellow

Naked, you are me when we are tiny both.
The sun goes down untill the day is born.
And you inside withdrawn upon the island sea
when undertows let go this world is all I know.

Trees dropping leaves no clothing it is light
the clearing mist grows more.
Going up and down the highways it is long.
The tunnels faintly intermintant stripes of yellow standing naked along the road the night is still.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Come Sleep In Crescent Moon

Mostly are, they lighter or of darker hearts?
When by a common string all hang.
Below within that branch none seek, I speak for.

Once upon a time when scented flowers petaled,
crushed in lonely books her birthday past.
A single arm one hand I held, stretched up.

Can you Judge each single man by her see through cover?
Can you Judge a woman by her naked man?
Can you withstanding sleep,
when sleep to how they are percieved both stood?

Can then you come to sleep in cresant moon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am,

I am even now in thought of you.
I am never moving then and now for you grown still.
And yet of what I am none ever seem to care.

Coming less to know of me of what I am.

My friend she comes
and shakes me off like tomorrows morning frost.

The memory fades from sight amongst the stars
forever there inside of you I am alone, when I am lost.

I am that snake-I am that head that spoke.
I am the cause of all your morning sickness woes.
I am neatly early rising in the morning sun.
I am just as quickly feeling you so empty gone.
I am again like watching you I am.

I am that white faced ghost you held so close you love.
I am breathing shades of love and colors never fading fast.
Waiting for you, yet I am again.

And I live with shadows
moving fields,
across the deepest sea of waving trees.

I am tossed from top to top.
Forever lost, when with you I am our mind at last recedes.
Into the growing bush of fire my fingers growing cold.
Below the night filled moon,
and moving clouds and darker are the growing skies.
Because of this
and only being this I am this other form of light from you, I am.

James McLain

Open Lays The Market

She was always talking about it,
or where they both were going, with out this.
Can you get more randomless?
What kind of open line is this to end a conversation?
I stood up, not being keen on her talking now.

I want you to milk the cows out there, not me!

Opened eye that always bulged.
The hollow is where I slept last night.
Okay, with that the others here that were.
Closing, open hands but never still.

Come here, hold on...there all alone.
Look about there's no one here, to see.
The wind a breathless sigh grass whispers, Me.

When you were always on your back and sick!
I would do that dreaming but in thought of you.
The cow now it is trained.
Closed eyes watching me.
Are you afraid that you might coming over there enjoy it?
Or that you don't now, want to touch and move
them brown, those dreamy eyes?

His eyes were unwillingly drawn to the pink semicircle
that resided beneath her open hand.
Below the warm large white stomach.
He shuddered at the thought.
Considering her touching the udders,
of squeezing off from mighty them.
My hem of many colors what if then.

He shoved her disturbing mental image out of his head.
And then she always sitting, standing, walking smiling said.

There open lays the market,
come lets linger here some longer then let go!

James McLain

Ancient Man

Do you?
Can you see the man?
He will stand?
He will not, will he.

When you sit.
When he stands.
Before them both,
Whom thinks.

Unknown men
before them all.

Flown apart both ways.
Because of you.
My understanding never ceased.
Are you at ease?

I am forever more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Milk The Cows

She was talking about
or where they both were going with out this.
Can you get more randomless?
What kind open line is this for conversation?
I stood up, not being keen on her talking now.

I want you to milk the cows out there, not me!

Opened eye that always bulged.
Okay, with that the others here that were,
closing, open hands but never still.

Come here, hold on...there all alone.
Look there's no one here to see.
The wind a breathless whispers, Me.'

When you were always on your back and sick!
I would do that but in thought to you.
The cow now trained.
Closed eyes on me.
Are you afraid that you might coming there enjoy it?
Or that you don't now want to touch and move
them brown those dreamy eyes?

His eyes were unwillingly drawn to the pink semicircle
that resided beneath her open hand.
Below the warm large white stomach.
He shuddered at the thought.
CONSIDERING touching udders, of squeezing them...

He shoved her disturbing mental image out of his head.
And then she always toothy smiling said.

There open lays the market, come lets go!

James McLain

When I Cough

When I cough.
You always smile and sigh.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rejoice - I Am

Innermost you my being is.
Rejoice - I am.
Inside your every thought.
Through me,
you have no need to fear.
Because your lips my tongue
one caused, I am, you moved.
The knowledge,
of this I read, you know I hear.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Must I Burst From It

Must I burst from thought of it.
Looking fat and full I see you when it is.
Talking like I do you when.
Talking softly when your hands.
Up against the parting see through paper wall,
lips apart I face the moon.
Rising high the light around the people down below it seems to make them glow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Single Friend

It is very small,
so very small a grain of sand.
This pearl you need and take from it.
Arranged around the casket.
Neatly deep within to some not all.
I am against the dark,
to come again and see your light.
So tall, am I remiss to feel the sun,
upon my face before you leave?
Soft warm is each surface when increased.
Slowly with each citizen that I pass.
And of this paradise, where it is possible.
From the sun comes light it's width.
Is it limited by sufficiently?
Is the grave and all the seas?
Where he lives and there you dwell as well.
Circumstances or the presumption meets the end.
From which mountain top the bottom of it when?
And do some make what of this.
It would simply ask but you of it to rescue.
Give to me one single friend.
And with the rest and which is small your land.
You give to him whom you he sees.
One single friend is all most need the sea.

e.d.

is it poetry

James McLain

Psycho Sexual Killers

I grew up in North East, Southern Florida.
Even as the child were we?
We started wildly out, the other coming in.
Peeking through the windows, holding hands.
Finding each one by the scent they left behind.
Then we peek inside.
She likes those yellow milk stained boxers.
I smell the tinkle musky from their worn out panties.
What she does with other bodies no one knows.
I keep certain parts beneath my pillow.
I am still a human being.
Mosly little sleeping ones that make no noise.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Green Expectant Bushes

On her bed of leaves, completely sated, expectant and waiting for tree of no return to start fire for days from the night of lectures so that they could both relax with a good hard twist of fate.

The delicious folds of such green expectant bushes

Just thinking about his smooth tanned trunk, her large broad green leaves abreast and of course the tingle bursting sun just with it's energy you imagining all of it.

Even slowly from she it begins to elongate, the sapp rushes to his head and quick bud begins to raise itself directly up from the bed of roses from the rest.

She ran dry the river streams and her skin tingled delightfully as the last ripples of the water rushes bye.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Being, Both Exposed

We are the only two people in the world whom knows there secret.
And trust me not to expose and expose it, and yet this very fear of being exposed makes one wary and very nervous.
Ask this knowing of yourself, is such a one likely to argue with the other of the other under those circumstances?
Is is likely to run up close or come to far away?
Perhaps it's when, then why of course alone is not.
Now here's where I admit to my being, by you surprised.
Making them dress up to go all out,
was the measure none would could see but all would hanging in the open hiding nothing no one finds.
I may never even have contemplated it at all,
even if I'd never feminised the bar at home.
But something every odd has once there when it happened.
I enjoyed having my secretly feminised one about at my side.
I enjoyed this fear of being then found out,
and I enjoyed the way they rarely stray here from my side.
Like a frightened child
and clinging to it and hiding up behind this other's skirt.
It is exciting, is it not arousing?
it is killing one then it is living inside this secret both of us.
And it is thrilling, is it being naughty, not?
The minute we get home we are delivered from ourselves.

James McLain

Some Like Frank Sinatra

When I was seventeen.
Like him the world was then.
I did all the rage when I was like him young.
The world was always open, not oppressed.
Now with parting sharper growing tongues.
Each departing love renewed it's Quest.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Lingerie Shop

My most-beloved what more to say
Every whim and mood absorbed.
Hooded colors festive covered breathing prints.

Soft and frilly sexy.
Stuffing cotton candy picking, stocking stuffers.
Secret pink.
Fire engine red.
Bush when friendly green
Sailing, hugging, looking friendly.
Feeling odd the other man when he's pushed out.
Perfect under party dresses.
Featuring Hiptini islands.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My, ' Your To Many Secrets

We are the only two people in the world who know the secret.

And trust me not to expose and expose if it,

and yet this very fear of being exposed makes one wary and very hungry nervous.

Ask this of yourself, is such a likely one to argue with the other of the other under those circumstances?

Is is likely to run up close or far away?

Perhaps when then or come of course then not.

Now here's is where I admit to being surprised.

Making them dress up to go out was a the measure none couls see but all would find.

I may never have contemplated it at all even if I'd never feminised the bar at home.

But something every odd when raised it happened.

I enjoyed having my secretly feminised one there by my side.

I enjoyed this fear of being then found out

and I enjoyed the way they rarely stray from my side.

Like a frightened child

and clinging to and hiding behind this other's skirt.

It's exciting, it's arousing, it's killing us, it's even thrilling.

The minute we get home some were delivered from relief.

James McLain

Sunday Aches

Before the rising sun when Sunday aches.
Comes bright sword and youthful king no more.
And the the weight of each new day upon which pays.
On feilds of sorrow ringed sweet lavender, does lily even know.
The issues made of nothing such.
Force monarchs march from end to end to watch it grow.
Night yeilds much needed victory beneath a pale full moon.
Redness full upon the shield when force applied is placed.
From the rear the enemy, the spear the tip is pierced.
When thrown the spear of mighty queens she sings his song.
Must it shake and tremble thus the likes of never more?
The blade in reach for each tommorrow proves more fatal than the next.
We give each bride away without a moments thought.
The cloud of holocaust and Sunday aches the sky is blotched.
Each one rides a different horse none saddled like the rest.
My sister knits the net is full of death.
My wife can only watch as all the fish like ours floats out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Love And Self

Was she cruel and sudden white bright death?
How never have you,
since the first comes always last!
Purple headed peirced a nail this path is lost your innocence.
Wherein could this be and guilty thou he be she is.
Except that from a drop, is suckled forth from thee?
You thou tempest be, and sayest that thou want it naught?
Within thyself, outside of men there off about nor me.
The weaker light grows brighter here for all of us to see.
If It tis true of stouter men, then learn how false thou fearest not thou be.
When justis leaves and such is honor, meeker may I be.
And when you wield it all and call her name for me?
Will you see at all and taste the memory of it all?
And when I lay upon that bed and fleeting goes, comes life
when night took lite from me and darkness leaves.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pink Clouds

That is the fullness of your black petaled face.
A rose opens and falls again to the earth.
Having opened is bled, torn and worn.
Oh thorn of this precious green stem.
Sacred cross, deep wide space where god hides.
Rose of rose.
Again too be raked over the coals to cool yellow fire.
Breathing it in the scent overwhelmed, this is her fate.
He is again born up through the top one pink cloud.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

All Other Woman

When I talk with other women.
Thinking, I think but of you.
Your words are sharper of witt than theirs is poor world,
And as they gather are once gentler, too.

When I even glance at other women.
Wishing, I wish your face were theirs.
With gray skies and white skin
And tossed back hair.

When I think of other women.
Walking, I long, looking by.
Alone by my each single every day.
Never coming to me, you by night.
The thought of you strong is the wind.
Blows the dream right out of my head.
Like a ship lost at sea floats away.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Directions, ' To My Mental Health

There is more to this.
You are keeping me alive,
why must I, again feel it all.
How many of these others roads.
How many paths were not ever trod?
I see that you feel what I never heard.
I fell up so far I touched her face.
and came back down from there too you.
Because I am a man ' God is a woman.
What did his Eve brush her teeth with?
I am simple,
and simply put, because I am just as I am.
I can not give up the goast like that.
Though I see the ghost when it leaves.
Before they do.
What about those few never lacking.
Pulling up, backing out, pray naught giving out.
The spirt is being willing the mind fades to gray.
As the days grow more dull and I grow more colder.
I like he whom died one hundred years ago.
Still try to hide the mirror in humor.

James McLain

My Silent Noon

Your hand open lies in the hot golden sand fresh salty breath.
it is visible shimmering this long wave this silence.
I sift each grain as they fall one by one up and down, noons hour-glass.

Off running deep in the sun-parched ocean grows the dragon fish-sharp penetrating serrated these horns.
The right angled slant burns the sun,
it hangs down like pale yellow thread loosened from the sky,
hung up pulled are the clouds all around me.

So can this stroke of soft wind be we as the lovers
waiting this out for hours and each hour more like rain?

The clouds sweeping by clear to us dropp to us all from below
when blown as if mist from above.

Oh! and the clasping of it swimming merrily as can we.
Look to it as it falls on our fast racing hearts.
World of this shallow my hand sea maiden no silver lining.
This is as to most when they often come here.
Accompanied at this known particular hope wrapped in this hour

each second we held off our voice silent I wait.
When twofold the silence was the song of dolphins in love.

James McLain

Malice

Why never, that by you, it often is.
When is it possible?
I will explain to you of malice.
Whereby sufficiently by you it's given forth.
More often not it's mixed with foolishness.
And you by it returning is.
You do not have to make it longer, is regrets.
Upon it you, by it can all depend.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

At Seven Her, ' I Percieve

Every day that comes again
it seems it feels much hotter
than the day before it rained.

I am the flame that keeps all others hotter than you crest.

Outside for me it grows a little colder than the day before.
From they,
you would not know I can not tell.
Knowing even as I speak it now.
I linger every single day.
You are living only now being seven.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Broken Open Promises

I asked of this to my the only daughter.
The lock upon it, I had from then on placed.
Now broken red it's glaring open.
She shows a blind eye loose applied.
The brightest inter, outer money buys.
I bought her from another when
and taught her naught it linger seems.

Mother once she turned away her eye.
Burning turned it on all sides.
From pink to red
and brown again to copper green.
She never cried.

The sun and I and she now free to slow the light of day.
Her hair on fire at night.
She liked the eye of all the eyes of green, I do recall.
She looked me up and down at times like these.
She means to what, such beings sought, will do.

Or

Men of many different colored eyes.
Loved no more between.
Nor heeds the rainbow of his dream.
And where his arrows can not, try to fly.
Alive once dead she finds a way to try.
Men knowing even not,
nor having simple understanding there about.
Of why the wing tips drag.

James McLain

The Ground Around It

When by my very meek existence here
it seems to be a cause of fear
and deeper is the sea of consternation.
I try to bend myself down there
to the core of there, very nature.
Seen by they it seems aloof I am
in the eye
of every pounding comes a hurricane.
shaking as if lost by simple thoughts
when the ground around them,
by my roots.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Abba (Father)

How much longer must I be, I am?
How much longer sleeping in the open?
And Father why I am.

I am you, I am he, to you I am she.
To blind to see tears, raining down
and much I am to one and much.

I am waiting, looking up forever up into the blinding white pure light.

Some can not speak the truth of you.
Distortions of the fading night,
I am the darkness some have never left behind you, yet I am.

I am here.
Sometimes I am there,
where none but I can always be.
Yet with you how could I?
And I am always where?

Of you and why I am.
And you are by me thus.
A flower never picked.
Even though I am for you,
What I see forever see.

I am with you and when you'r sleeping.
And with you still I am.

James McLain

A Flower Never Picked

The forest is this ment to be unborn
tossed out
this world I could not ever see.

Mighty oceans,
stars that blink above.
Below dark open silence
wherein should I long to wait?

The trees,
long broad open leaves.
Are they often softer green?

Are they not
and when I hear you speak
to all the others,
I am like them not.

Still inside,
and moving floating islands
running streams.
As did you
when foam is warm upon the sea.

Fear you can not ever bear,
and I am
I was come to be Am I?

Come here then
and tell me when you feel it.

To wade again into the sun.
And summer never yellow comes.
A flower by the meadow never,
am I picked.

James McLain

Etched Underneath

What and why of always never me?
Do you even try too telephone?
Was it ruined leaving marks?
I scratched it on the walls of your dim cell?
The silent God of nature Oh.
I am this smell so pure.
Cotton white the yellow rising sun.
It comes upon a misty clearing.
Etched living underneath,
a leaf of dying lingers more than silent night.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Come Quickly, ' Lest It Shut

Listen to my trust I am.
Your loving words my ringing ears.
When open do you hear,
the mighty roar like moving trees.
Loose leaves that fall
from heaven, when the limbs.

Will you when deep inside,
my beating heart, it is?

Rushing out is your warm breath.
My tounge these words,
both worlds hang from thy lips and form.

Around each tree the burning bush
beneeth the leaves,
that need your touch a perfect world of trust.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Come Quickly, Opens

Next to where the scar,
I am heavy when it comes.
Your center is my when restricted orderly retreat.
Comes each new day
and too short begins the next.
This night yes, did Mori,
did it soft, then hard, without my praying.
You open clutched, tight shut, your lips to I,
whom have the glass heavenward when lifted.
One hand held up and faintly open,
which comes directly closed and sings your praise.

or

Then on my calloused worn out knees.
Sore my heavy night,
comes shadows growing light.
To start my next one day before
my heart you beat it stays.
This night held fast in prayer.
Whereas the golden faintly etched your cup.
I raised it heavenward Lips come quickly open
singing happy naught but praises.

James McLain

The Legend Of [pie]

My from I whom I curantly see her frontal.
Sideways looking at the teacher, I see.
The desk is her place her out worldly space.
She inhaled I exhaled when prudently both saw.
The grasp by the sight of the moon.
where by, I am surprised from the back section.
I long to be lass and her tongue is pulled out, it crosses the pass.
Where bye the opposite ends should I think found attract.
From which the legand of [pie] when touched is soft.
It tinkles slightly and gushes up from under the seat.
Her feet both parted eye entranced tapping, I being hers.
And made the musky mirror on the floor grow more clear.
My life in her eyes the front and is washed brightly away.
When that boring teacher the wrinkle tone comes vibrated,
trembled a voice high squeeky clean, between a bee droaned.
Her dampening the lower half of one side simultaneously
and the desk off slightly tilted.
Tension surface of exactly is small exceedingly all of a dropp of sweat.
Her name is, her name is a name like yours, I would, I should know.

James McLain

Fish Smell

The first thing which hit to her was the smell.
That was that a certain thing
where she encounters it is most wiggles white is terrible.
That first smell can reflect upon her eating stomach.
Do not permit the stomach of the sickness
and don't you stop too drink this cup you think?
The stirrup which is her you walk by her,
stop in the one which is closest to the older sleeping woman.
Meatloaf that could be me.
One of my five older sisters.
When you become aware.
Strange something concerning; there.
White something plurls and unusual. No. plural being white.
As for her why thing,
she whom is forced in me, when I actualize, painted.
Fetch the Uzi!
Fetch the Uzi!
Eaton alive, her being brought up in my sisters it was.
To eat her oyster raw, they can't reuse it.
Who can of us refuse it
In the month of R's.
Relocating is her center.

James McLain

Girl And Woman

Why are you being so coy,
you girl and woman?

Admit it...

those panties have given you a nice big stiffy
and I understand it... I really do!

I just want a slice of the pumpkin pie, reaction that is all.

Wicked, aren't I, when milking cows?

She smiled and winks again,

lifting up the curtsy no false pretentions.

Indicating the panties in both oiled silky hands.

I see you've picked out my favourite heartless pair
and torn by the thorn away.

You have excellent taste,

in red, turns pink,

now think of me the blowing wind

and it is always warm, ' my beer."

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Plunge

One after another, each takes the plunge.
Some agree that it may be on the rise
amongst our younger friends
but should we really come with one another whether it's "really a dark cultural shift or just something we ease into semi-contemporaneously as we don't age.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The White Rose

Whispers of the sweet rose.

Rose of passion is the bed white is red,
and the white rose breathes of love.

And the white rose where O is the redest of rose is the thorn.

But I the panty cream of the white tender flesh.

The point of the petal where she often comes I stand.

Washed in petals of pink send me the bud of the white rose.

The purity, it has the kiss of my deep wicked craving.

Caught at the edge of the lip for sweet is love.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Horse

The horse walks off to the stick.
The bartender she did ask!
Why the long flat white salty surface?
Getting off, the horse being tall was me.
Was all the help which was had.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Getto Girls And Boys

The years, have I buried you.
I would not dare, I would not care.
I would console you, if I could.

What can more, be said,
without it sounding less.

Except that by our suffering is respect,
they never speak of it.
But where of by,
Desire takes charge,
light reading will grow more heavily aroused.

For you would hardly care.

Getto girls and boys.
Why try to fight it.
Standing up is when you do.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

By The Gland, ' Your First Attempt

Thus is this You and You by she with the soft rubber wood.
Specifications which actually is.
If you think that is so we would like it to be.
By your hand and your hand only.
As for her around in it.
Because of his P point your hands.
Gland of yours, first attempt.
Directs straightly,
it is possible to reverse slanted T-shaped vibrator that, she hit.
Otherwise, more 2' concerning inserts your less 3'.
Thin walls of the rectum.
And the vicinity of the prostate gland which is placed between the bladder that point should it be put.
Your stomach button or in the tree.
It bends the head of [baibureta] it may, if it does,
you push viva-a-lasvegas the wall inside your rectum.
If when it barely
and it moves that, perhaps pulp friction you feel.
The gland.
That haven when heaven is attached.
'Enough already'
Being pushed at on it, it can, inside under.
Simulated, when it can, perhaps simultaneously,
you feel the impulse which is it too urinate.
Is this, is it normal.

James McLain

Come, Don'T Swear

Coming, going away,
it keeps,
never really can I do not flow and want you with - yet.
As for tears...
When, whether it must come,
it is with sad dissatisfaction,
see I see the sea!
Racing faucet!
Dripping faucet!
Come don't swear.
Even when the panties by the middle tear.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Say It Aloud, Amen

Permanently from this made light of love.
And all thy laws of judgements reparation.
Thy of me above and this it does for you.
Tangled line is fraught smile make the hook more tangled.
Come now child fretting which is bothered.
Thy his your wealth coming telephones.
High order to endeavor, for my wit.
Because I am when left off blind make no mistake.
I do by you perseve,
and freedom is the lever is thy stamp.
Relaxing sleep is when relaxing is the musled wares.
Shaking to be used and used, now say it aloud all men.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Darkened Passes

So wilts broad bold the leaf.
Whom hath foretold it forbids.
The uplifting of the weeping lid.
And it thus being said of the soul.
Here that a hero once passed it.
Behold it but is, darkened passes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Horn Is Bull Human

Alive green the swamp moves and frothy.

It all works out in the neck of me.
White the river soars then floods out.

But the yellow tractor drives me fenced back away.

Back I am the child I am looking.
Moss glistens, leaf is still moving.
All of dry old me is left put out by you.
Crumpled grass, at the mound,
where we feed.
And a slick what is salt, made is me.
Like a huge black and white calf halved coming out
it looks at me, paid what the price?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Kept Abreast Of It

Yes, mine
are but cow eyes
at them, looking off
they drift back
with all the coffee
that I drink
with one always on the way
milk it should be some what more
when made cheaper.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fertile Earth

That burning the ice was spun upon that day.
We buried the dog in the pond out front.
The house was then taken away.
Whom I was, I am,
know now why I put flame to the fire in that publican court.
Gaving I dug back from the fertile earth.
And the fire when you die.
Is cast from the dice.
Depending on those hands that chisel breath cold,
from my warm finger it dripps, which escapes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Humming Bird Song

You when I call, to obtain from it,
having been troubled from this youth.
Then not as now it is not that fresh for me.
It is not possible now to give up to far and fly away.
Humming bird song, why the damage to thee as to me.
Thy little thus from life it is peace.
Moving off into away it is hidden warm safely,
the yoke of thy far form.
Where the eye, milky the eye is curiosity.
You thus I am observed.
It is for the sake of his strong magnificence,
your being has been attached to the siver cord, thy back.
Deepest of blue turns green, I am with you, as you I am.
Gold, silver maker thy lined.
Thy velvet uncovered thus draped amongst the ruins.
Houseless I am of thus made by thee,
you see but this wandering person.
My clothing, my staff, your arms thus wrapped about me.
The hero never cries out when to often in sleep where you lie.

James McLain

The Beach

Then so often as your want then don't.
As for the long agonizing hour, I leave.
And you as often with me.
Agonizing it is, loving small it is weak.
You walk the well worn path out back.
And because of love it is by you entirely.
Left by you as the sky to me.
Blows the north wind?
Down south.
Who moves it east to west when together.
And the smoke from the old house.
Around you as it turns.
You upon it searching, it turns searching drifts.
Whereas it is no one but you.
and you know that you suffocate the center of it.
Where I am left alone with you and I look it is now gone.
Then as now as to well, as for my dark silhouette.
Your way most often than not.
And it never dies as it by you, is buried each night
with the beach.

James McLain

Judge, When Driven Too It

Was it, is it then?
Having prior knowledge.
My psychology.
Hers as well.
Substituting poor judgement.
For that which was not,
even before I was, and still is.
When once it never was, it wasn't.
Thin lines drawn by thee.
The hot sand whom perceived.
The other whom is then isn't.
Is there still time?
And where is the bottle now.
When by you,
I am driven like she is too it.
Do not again, lie thee down.
Having drunk from the mellon of she.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Reflects The Sea

Why do you need it
here, right there?
Looking,
I look very long.
When can I ask it of you?
Looking
up at the moon.
There In the shadow.
Is my reflection.
On the sea, looking down
sleeping deep.
Whereupon now are you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

On The Sea

Why do you need it
right there
so long very.
I ask of you?
Looking
up at the moon.
There In the shadow,
my reflection.
On the sea, looking down
deep in you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Stiff With Envy

Coming out,
the cold, gulf water.
Before them I stand.
After then and still having.
Unlike the rest,
muscles pumped rock solid.
I am once again back on shore.
Frozen stiff,
I am seen as the grass.
Green with envy.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You There

You there, In front of me as my ring tone.
You hear.
Ruffled,
and standing up so quickly moving.
There is a red spot on the back door of your.
There is a red spot on the seat of your desk
left behind in front of your forever now left behind.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Schizoaffective Disorder

The why of this out wordly angels falling from heaven disorder.
Reaching out to those other worlds
never seen but by they and those whom call too the proffets.
Schizoaffective is this you the person?
A sign of the spiritual separation,
symptoms - seemingly like hallucination or hallucinations.
With it, it is the condition for experiencing the compression of life pushed outwards, your world is not, hers, is the sign of the feeling like no obstacle can stand in the way.
Unlike the maniac or decompressed, depression.
Specialists can not, do not but can then agree.
Facts being never having that schizoaffective disorder
when the alcohol and or drugs prohibit the treatment thereof.

You we should handle when not handled a clearness as calm as dawns new fresh morning if but allowed this disorder and.
As for my part and willing as I am.
Judges thus for the spiritual separation and pink elephant symptoms and other things of a sign of a certain.
Feeling you never looked at I lived and I look at schizoaffective disorder as another sickness from itself for sale sign and fast disposal, but her condition is regarded when simply.
Perhaps not yet processing it all
and work are not maintained as when like the whether, or the schizoaffective disordered people whom it is passing to the school of the dead lead lonely comes one life your lifetime.
Have you no trouble, Or, perhaps to the husband of them.
Whether the family when it can depend, or not is certain death in respect to thereof.
On the house of the group of psychiatry deeply heavily.
Depending upon your method of disposal.
Where have the people of good expectations then gone.

James McLain

Lots Of Rat-Poop

I am glad I got my revenge
when we were little kids
for what you are inside
and the pop corn
I used to make for you that I filled
knowing what you would become in life.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

On Hearing Them

Are we not so very, as my pants fall down,
you laugh, I'm choking, looking joking really cool.
Fingers moving swiftly covered mimes.
Glazed plastic monkey, major, minor bees.
Listening to them often can't one speak?
I know I am no longer one of them, I can.
Were they ever, moving me up and down
the road more gently and when they come not really.
Lips that always open move, I can not learn to read.
Mouths that drink but can not become, I think.
Leaving now for college to because,
like they once always back then, they always were.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moving Off, I Move Throught It

Moving throught it as I firmly slide, always on top
I sit the sun shines Iris down
green marble I'm astride.
The birds however thinking
as I watch them crash against the glass
that is the mirror of our selves.
The water do I move as effortlessly
as you wish me moving off.
You move me off to fast your eyes
bright light I shine right through it.
Two young girls one preens, she danced.
On shore the older gracefull woman
moon exposed she walks off out into the gulf.
Her picture taken from behind.
By the girl in front of her and left behind her face a book.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Open Petals

When open petals
longing sigh,
and You become.

When I, warm breath
then open,
blow upon against.

When the bluest sky
runs pink,
cotton candy swirls.

When open petals cry
and racing hearts,
whisper out goodnight.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Good Woman

The good woman then and now when is.
She is still trust is sacred, this encounter.
From the time of one when both one being.
Hence both came and then became again.
Against the greastest odds,
two merged and each begining is.

is it poetry

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When By, 'Clearwaters Finest

No laws broken.
Yet I to them by he, not she.
His sargent, when appraoched by me
thus said I am.
Ashamed for what is he?
Being from New York I wish.
From that drug induced this was my sleep.
Move or thus recieve,
impaired and forced by he, confesessed I was, did he.
Broken trust when guns and this is when unnatural
I liken death I lay in sleep each night in fear.
I have no wish to die, the open were I hide.
So all may see each witness bear the truth.
When some must lie.

9: 30 P.M.

10 Novemeber 2010

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Normal Is Your World

Tell me what your normal is, tell me what is mine?
Does it work for me the way yours does?
Iron men deep when sleeping in your car.
Swimming in the gulf, I watch the moving stars.
How your sound of music judgement poorly driven,
drives me here and there away and back insane.
Turned inside out the painted lines the pitted track.
Two minds one goal, when normal is one mind.
When two worlds colide
and nothings left and no reason is your only word.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Toy

My legs are are tanned.
Am I too handsom,
boy her baby skills.
She says I am delisious.
She says I am too sexy.
She says she loves to hate me.
But my eyes are always shinny,
skinny wet with tears.
I was never just a simple child.
I know that still I am.
But I am her favorite toy.
I am her oil boy.
She is my mother.
I am hers but not her husband.
And still, I am her toy.
She has to many boys.
I make her look at me.
I beg her.
Not to touch me there.
Not here and here, but there.

James McLain

When Toys

Unfortunately someone did not have any toys
In the forgotten childhood...hides my attic.

Engaged, they now play with the other toys
between the wooden rails...ironwood is....

Butterfly wings stick together while others cry
pulling back the wind they fly not far apart....

Jack and Jill they have no other toys
some where In your lost childhood...

When hills had eyes I came back to say
When toys.....

T.G.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Toys

My legs are are tanned.
I'm am too handsom.
She says I am delisious.
She says I am too sexy
She says she loves to hate me.
But my eyes are always shinny,
wet with tears.
I was never just a kid.
I know that I still am.
But I'm am her toy.
I am her boy
She is my mother
I am not her husband.
And still, I am her boy.
She has to many toys.
I make her look at me.
I beg her,
not to touch me, there then.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Of Poets, By Poets

For her this time his rhyme is penned, whose luminous eyes,
Brightly expressive as the twins of sheer, Luna.
Shall find her own sweet name, whence nestling lies
Upon the page, unwrapped to see inside each reader.
Search narrowly there the lines!
They hold a treasure more than her hearts treasure.
Divine- a talisman- an amulet, one white stone.
That must be worn upon inside the heart.
Search out well the measure of it, naught at all.
Thy words - thy syllables! lest do not me forget.
Hence you may I might then lose your life in labor.
Enwritten upon, beneath the leaf we now are peering.
Eyes scintillating skry the soul, therein it lies next to us.
Three eloquent words have I oft uttered in the hearing.
Of poets, by poets
and as my name it is it a poet's, because written in yours is to.
By Its very letters, although naturally you to are lieing.
Although you can't but do the best you can you can't undo it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Psychosexual Evaluation, ' Is When Yours

By our talking then they, concentrate on sexual development.
When each we are,
our juicy, juiced like o.j. individuals, platonic sexual history.
Does your interest run to far off into, yonder paraphilic?
When does sexual final each adjustment, how did it grow?
Is your level of risk, and does each now our victimology.
It also may include a full confession of your social history.
Will they sell it to the highst bidder, your wife to your husband?
Did your family history, here deep way down, the south
and did you walk around outside in your green panties?
Did you walk around inside with nothing else left on?
What is this history and did you say who wrote it.
Do trees grow deep and live within the forest or when lily kisses rose and now at last I'm, poor and pregnant.
Row, row, row your boat up against my recommendations.
Does the treatment hurt or does it feel.
Elavation and devaluation helps it out considerably.
When the agents are when standing.
And the courses (condemning all the children before adults) .
Were you receptive the payment of.
Through the key hole.
Did you want to see the handsom man his tree and root?
Did you want to see the buff so hot the woman made you do it?
Who could draw a benefit from these evaluations?
Then when I was sexually maltreated, dreaming of the past.
Drinking tea, lust fanatics of our sex, with no defense against.
We the drinkers of the milk and the agents just continue too.
Our equipment of detention, Anti-Social Service, party suppliers
each reception, adequte equipment equals residential.
Foster care providers, more than residential padded cells.
Our innocence once it was, with their ten fingers deep inside us.
So I come around the back to see each show.
Peeking through the bushes.
And look, how just so long before it takes them, how short I am.

James McLain

Your Why My, ' Priorities

When the quality
and state of my being is prior to then I am you, whereof.
Each long drawn out preceeding,
and by what authority does precedence
on that each day and date should state.
My position to respect thereof.
Never will they change and your position
and or privileges.
When I have, why must you try to take.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lily

and when lily
then i did
and rose came open leaving home to me
each leg
without a scratch.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I May, For You A While

Of fog and why our souls.
Comes back the wind.
And the hail and change is snow as driven rain.
Covered me with day.
And with the veil of night and if I'm deep inside.
Painful is your brilliant brain my body of.
The pain of it is like of it and you thereof.
As for me perhaps your smile, it wains perhaps.
The wind against me, it withstands it all.
I am this way because and you my burning love.
And just because the constant seething night,
once it is denied by one the pain remains of me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Comes The Sea

I see the sea in you
with others as well
there could one but dwell
and sand covered toes washed clean by the foam
moved by the waves
close too shore...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Never Knew

Lifting me up even higher is this where.
Heaven only knows touching the sun.
Walking by, silently past petals open.
As could I and so do you, turn the page.
Sunflowers open and seem to know.
What I never knew, what I never show,
You, somehow found time to grow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Certain Man

I am well, my love, because of you.
Why my head,
then which when with you it goes it can consume me,
and drink the word each every other word
which you who load the heart felt lips
it is eagerly it desires run faster run come sun now hurry and my mouth because of you the wine is red
where the fragrance of the rose, see the lily bloom
and it is good to do to touch to taste and paint and I trace your found amount where thereupon each fingertip
where grace is when it's guided off into individually
has been away to long I fear and when I stand when I am doing your dress rehearsals
and your list of love of me, well, sets you free, as for me, your admiration which they applaud it is,
I observed so feverishly and frequently now is laughing.
And me with you we both rejoice, now sing the night is joy.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Only Nipples

I don't want to get to you the details.
I had that for a few days and then got a little better.
A few days past a little quite some one hold me later.

I had a reaction to someone else besides my self,
and ended up
on my back with trees of yellow hives.
And my throat is tight and swelling shut.

They gave me over unto his,
was this honey, medicine?

She is going to get more from this month!
So here is mine please come share your tissue.
Last night, I went to get undressed for bed.

Please excuse my dry deep throaty, English.
And as I took her last bra off, there was black,
gooey liquid leaking from the only nipples.
It is black and gray completely, smothered, covered over.

This is every morning and I am.
Has anybody had, or know of what this is.

James McLain

And Man, ' I Am

When age has spoken graceful words
that made me what I am not now.
Come if ever that I was and man, I am.
And every furrow tells me where he stood.
What time has lent I borrowed, given back.
When palaces of ice shall flow as melted snow.
And every vein, and all my heart, wears thin.
When birth displays her warmth turned my cheek.
And I myself her thrown I own, her picture seen.
Some finding naught of what I am, lass that I was.
No doubt which to us each believe, this or that.
Yea though I may falter, thus remains your name.
Was it when is penned or pencil drawn, remains.
And at dawn it's first completion, will still I see.
Cheek too cheek, and down and up upon the eve.
Beheld I am to her what she I meant too be.
My shadow she has kept, she gave it back to he.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And Whens Forever

Because of one and ones feelings.
Overcoming, becoming then is one.
Leaves of the tree, sound by wind.
High limbs then may words entertain.

Unto life to give life and that is of itself.
Open the cloud pray the proud fall down and rain flushes out and sore made new
so that wound closes up around it again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Beauty Shop

Look there to hers the dark beauty his shop.
Where red meat dripps forever sweet with wine.
Physical is my legend too short is my life.
The blood of each child I held, never born.
Carving a spoked wooden wheel in the sand.
The creative ones and my lifes enthusiasm.
Where two smiles meet here underneeth.
Becoming then one, stormy clouds full of rain.
Of the one wise male then wiser is the female.
I come under the scissors, swimming machine.
Which is when, where two collid apart, soft violently.
The grass is green,
sap of the tree parts the leaves, needles the eye.
And to share the wave of our spent heavy suces.
There it died and here where you brought it up.
Stoppin then starting,
rushing to judgment and time when it is divided.
The joy of no more violence,
no assault being human brought forth of our hands.
Which gives life unto that is itself, what I'm after.

James McLain

Perhaps

and being more than a smile too you.
why can you not, when it is perhaps being thus then you knotted, perhaps..
i could move it too see...
and in saying hi, i stay high on you..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bee, ' Little Busy

How is now when the little busy bee, when free?
Improving upon each day it opens for the flower.
And gathers more honey from clover each day.
From early morning to evening, walking accross.
Keeping up with the running sun,
every door when it opens are but more flowers!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Digging In Cotton

On the beach walking by me, some do.
Why art thou pretty as you openly are,
and behold the bright sun as it smiles.
Being two or three sizes, fitting small.
Sitting down standing up walking around.
Why the colored song long pouty faces?
Lazor ruby red eyes,
as you are watching us, watch you.
Digging out the from the bottom cotton wedges,
you are trapped all about, felt inside you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sting Of The Sting Ray

After thrice being stung.
Feeling, feels like.
Having two babies at once
and never being halved.
With or without episiotomy.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Face To Face

To lie down again and against.
Among, amongst the sun flowers.
Facing it in trust it is ever thus.
And being face to face with it.
I cry with you and open the sky.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Stake My Claim

Perhaps then be fairness exactly the way,
to other things at first glance,
and, and it is better my request it has now.
There grew thick the sweetest green grass,
because it was the wearer which was desired.

But it crosses most often the stream drinking there,
those of almost same rank.
And because for my of her wandered briefst.
Thus were we really attached to it there, at all.

Then look to the other, and just as just be fair,
And having perhaps the better,
understand of they of this.
You please it to hold, stake my claim.

Because it was grassy there and wanted wear,
Though as thoughts race about my love.
When for the briefest was seen when passing there.

Had all the others by you I am told,
worn them really about love, the same.

James McLain

Homesickness

Death however has one it's final exception.
Leaving us, it leaves us finally to go.
With that feeling comes homesickness, no worry.
Do you not know, I do not know, but with us to be.
Only love has been able to withstand all of that.
Through the place we all of them, long ago.
We go and come, come and go.
Individuals to who whom is to whom and tomorrow.
When tomorrow a woman lost is man, woman becomes.
Every man can be something and her he becomes.
All of that for the sake of it.
So it is, why it is, when it now came and left those.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Being Simple I Am, Perhaps

In spite of this
even unto that he is truly,
is of thy his this foundation standeth 'God, this seal,
and knoweth of this, his main theme and names
which are his of those,
which are that of it he, has always had and has them still.
And nameth that name and he whom is I am, thus I permit.
Each one thing and each one which ones, coming forth
are started from such irregularities,
being simple I am, perhaps.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When He Dies

It is important the restriction be by thus some rather.

Secure around the root of the organ.

When you want to prevent rich yellow semen from flowing up, around her his other when times like these as much as possible.

She does not rush any of this, rather takes most of her time and his when one sees that she does it the same way each day.

When he is fully in hand and restrained off comes the glove.

And he is removed warm from the box.

She whom is his other and does this with great respect,
as if the item is to be revered.

She can then wear some special lingerie each time she performs the grand the greatest her 'Milking.'

Reverently laying the glove atop his erection,
as she leaves to put on her special clothing.

This puts up with the restrained arm all alone,
with all of the physical items forearmed is this her 'Milking'.

He is left off there his head spinning for several long minutes,
his anticipation building in her the entire time.

Returning she does, dons the glove, and begins the slow methodical brave heart of all too this water board 'Milking'.

No lubrication on that which often is used, is not.

And the glove is not allowed to slide up over the ivory organ.

Then at the first twitch, pulsation,
or other indication of approaching bright her sunrise.

She quickly removes her left hand, replaced with the right.

And she does not resume the almost mechanical 'Milking'
waiting heavy and fully, one full minute.

Sixty seconds is a long time when her excitement is high. and It is.

However, necessary to wait out the full time prior to resumption.

This same routine is carried out again and again.

Ceasing each time that there is the slightest muscle twitch observed or a goast of the same is suspected.

During the sixty seconds that the 'Milking' is not taking place,
the wife should tell the husband how well he is doing,

how much pleasure she will get from his having a slow dropp each double,
dribble orgasm,

how displeased she will be if he has strong contractions.

How he must relax and not do anything to spoil her pleasure, etc.

This, in conditioning is her terms, is the reinforcement stage.

Tell him that when he reaches the stage that his being 'Milked' produces consistently 'deliciously satisfying' her orgasms,
The wife will consider his a just desert his final reward.
When he dies.

James McLain

The Bee

As for all the fair nuns running I run too their convent.
So it is not, but of why are you troubled?
The room where I Play whose hall is too narrow.
And I play the hermit therein and I am satisfied.
Within their small velevet cells.
And the student then who has the serious stronghold.

The maid of woven french manufacture made of the wheel and that her loom, pleasantly do I beceech so and happiness within I sit down from.

She puts In order off the highest of peaks, when she speaks.
He spots the furness with she I push it down.
The bee, when It stings, you there, so fair as I find.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Forever Light

Time has when she, attached him too her.
Held up to all, the body her soul.
Which of it, to some it is and others is not.
She is that, of his/her one whole person.
Riding two wheels this carriage her guide.
Mortality is thus under rated.

And that undue influence her sphere of reliance is put.
The sky when complete each orbit each month,
from the east, where the constant light
and each ray has been hereunto attached thus installed, thee, takes to me and you look at this room, so steadily.

Hot the nights when thereupon these do your eyes, one thing.
Shines, shinny, come under the moon and shine.
Mine are parting the ways, partings waves you made short.
You do not have to desire after that which you are destined.

She does not atrophy are not thou me, fortunately.
Light warm rays, does not praise or, which, directly declineth.
Look off to my selfish road, but she illuminates.
Better thou then, rather than without being, little.
If and she shines his forth shines faintly, faintly here, there,
and making the heart purple and pale.

God as for her, there goest mine, shine light/write,
however always with her appropriate sphere my, she is.

The housewife of light of my forever comes night, it is right.

James McLain

Tampa

Tampa from those whom sent him,
the back section of their house.
The letter which is written never.
Each judge of his who reads.
Read long in the concrete box.
To be long it has died in remainder,
but because of a certain in order to short-circuit, excessively why he would know.
There was and his et. al
above everything to they was there lie.

And From Tampa
They Sent him away,
never but always back home.
Letters never written.
Each Judge clever breed.
Reading in a long concrete box.
Too long to be dead
To short too know why.

The kicker
and theirs
Was my lye.

James McLain

I Am King

Lick me all over.

I am king.

Endless, sex on the beach.

Bare naked, eat it raw.

Sandlewoods rushed,
white money, green demon.

I am king,

sweet smell of succes.

Endless is jasmine,
legend soaked in hotwater.

Only the brave
and amazing the woman.

Cool water and rain.

She is, I am king.

Frankincense.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lips Moving Off

lips
moving off
i touch you there
once again
and here becoming
when i do
as if the clouds
wind and rain
looking up
my face
against becomes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Of Life

and lost between them
am i then of that inside
breathing
breath into you
noise like Japan
it is polite
when those noise
are of life.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

With But You

You would live in this dawn of ours
and moving off gently love as the next sea
and grass bows down,
drawn too the sandy bottom of the sea.
Looking up at each wave love when night it passes,
drawn down by each past wave that comes again.
Would that I could empty this last soul,
released from the dream once gathered, left in me.
Pulsing each new beat with you,
I would my heart as it stops against then starts too beat,
and yes I would burn to follow your very soul,
blown full of blinding light as it from you would move and dance.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bright Red The Brush

Painting through the heavens.
Some bodies nylon crown.
Sleek each cushion, layered colored tangled mane.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Color Shy

Cream color cover changed.
Gentle, dazzle, shine.
Shy of the color hidden,
deep within the hair.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Avacado Avenue

Delicious wedges,
green outside to peel and open.
Skinned ripe and freash tasty.
Tropical with oil, large brown seed.
Facial, diet lovely flesh.
Spoonned out like yellow butter.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Florida Election November 2010

Twangy and her drawl sweet country
and can she like the sea?
Feather me 'Dear and hope is not a law suit against his/her and our turned brothers
and your others my sisters.
Being this bed is ours this Florida,
where proffits lie.
Crist white linnen sheets the others may do.
Mothers, fathers the other said,
his will be as are the rest clouds in heaven then.
Being counseled wise unlike, I.
Having, I never had but the state, asketh I.
Deals gone sour, I hate lemonade.
When our roads lead off to cross where?
A party thrown for parties, I have naught.
Can I, will I, can not ever.
Put Rubio I think to rest to most think, lest a pretty blond come up too shear some others lost sheep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

As We Glow

I Am in Need of more than your sweet music.
I am in need of notes that would grow and flow.
Over my fretful heart, feeling trembling they on my fingertips.
Over my never by you,
better-trained, I quiver, seated deep red parted lips.
With a golden melody, it is deep, clear, and liquid-slow.
Oh, for mine, yours the healing I am swaying, old and of't low.
Of some long far off your song, sung to best the tired, hold my head.
A song to fall like water like dropps on my head.
Where are the leaves I have parted, between them I see.
And over quivering brown limbs, you dream and I flush, as we glow!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Frosting The Peak, Can You, Speak Of

Speaking I speak when thus about you, It is has, always been.
And you when I to you verily and here but you have come, I never.
To many are your, my very own names, even as you, I before.
And it is to my, when many were yours, come forever.
Just only when you then, from the frost of the highest, I speak.
And rapid are the streams running out from each door.
Thus when quietness it comes before when even after it does.
And quietness moving off swiftly, passes off by my head.
The feet of the many seen leaving you full, I increase.
Hanging and I hang as I cling on to the walls, before must I fall?
Walking around this sweet land of no fences, I may never decrease.
Glaring through the open hole in the sky, when the sun as it does.
But like destiny in March the rose blooms, come as I wait, for May.
Off the head of our dead, growing up from the ground, deep inside.
Without laughter the earth moves, moving in rich throaty sound,
as the wind bends them each down, I stretch out all the more.
Too that door when you knock, as it opens to me, some one else
yours are but the groans as I cry out ever more, even less, louder.
Sitting you down as I wait, never were you seen,
when it after you came.
Was it then, the frost off the highest, I speak of, when all hope.
Then as if when,
and you frosting the peak, can you, I ask, speak to me, thereof.

James McLain

Building Up, 'Off That Mound

You could when I should then receive you, within me.
Her song that I sang, did naught when she lost, I became.
To deep such delight, would she help, but never could tell me.
That with I, could her music is loud, crystal and so clear.
I tarry when speaking and sleep then therein, much too long.
I would build up high off that fair mound.
Warm is the air, green grass moved all around on the ground.
Sunny freckled are hers those I am lost, in long arms.
Wild soft warm legs walking up are those caves of desire.
And all whom could hear, did I see them then off, there between.
The cliff off there yonder, standing forsaken alone, rocky crag.
A ledge to the edge looking up and out off into the rift, off too where.
Trying to speak, I can only but croak, looking out, down below.
And instead the full moon shines down upon me, the sky is wide open.
Thus when I look, it is more throaty and vibrant, and richly behinds dark clouds she has at last, I try and became.
Look beware and I looked, why I looked, she climbs up and becomes.
Sitting up now wide awake and aware looking down, I look up,
The moon through the window it rises turns yellow and sets.

James McLain

Breast Pumps

Do I remember!

You betcha, I remember.

Sarah Palin, now and you.

Even before the beauty of the beating
they both took, before and after.

My husband, with him here all around me
the need for a breast pump, is minimal
but when and if I do,
what type of breast pump should I choose?

Only each politician on bent knee, will determine
how often we can meet or go off to lunch,
will feel the need to determine how often,
and in what way you will be using a breast pump.

Will congress be staying at home with the baby
and pumping me now and again for those date nights,
or will you be returning to work full time
and pumping congress several times a day, too stay?

Lobby For: The Manual Breast Pumps,
if you would like to have a breast pump around, 'just in case,

You have seen my man,
and I, his hockey stick
and pucks on golden pond
looking at Russia from my back porch
My name is: Sarah Palin
and if you vote for me,
consider each dropp a vote
in either direction,
however it comes out and you can betcha.

James McLain

Build Off That Mound

You could when I should then receive you, within me.
Her song that I sang, did naught when she lost, I became.
Too deep such delight, would she help, but never could tell me.
That with I, could her music is loud, crystal and so clear.
I tarry when speaking and sleep then therein, much too long.
I would build up high off that fair mound.
Warm is the air, green grass moved all around on the ground.
Sunny freckled are hers those long arms.
Wild soft warm legs walking up are those caves of desire.
And all whom could hear, did I see them then off, there between.
The cliff off there yonder, standing forsaken alone, rocky crag.
A ledge to the edge looking up and out off into the rift, of where.
Trying to speak, I can only but croak, looking out, down below.
And instead the full moon shines down upon me wide open.
Thus when I look it more vibrantly and richly behinds dark clouds become.
Look beware and I looked, why I looked, she becomes.
Sitting up now awake and aware looking up,
The moon through the window it rises turns yellow and sets.

James McLain

 PoemHunter.com

The Clouds

My back in the sand.
I belong inside them up there.
Looking down at me when you smile.
Pulling the clouds wide pushed apart.
Coming back through.
When by you
the blue sky like an eye is left open.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Her Milk, My Milk

Inside of the house on the surface.
Her milk of my wife is the mother.
And this strange lactating goddess,
two sensitive protective places, by her hands I drink.
My necessities are like hers and the meals,
from which I by her insistence partake of entirely.
What the gallons of which off to it she gives,
can I and I have remembered within each creamy dreams.
In the blood lies my finger, hers which ties off unto the hat.
My freckled arms from this somewhere I am connected,
like two dogs to that heaving chest.
Which from it I catch and it shoots off to, with me,
you have me stoop down up and out.
The sound like waves from your chest,
How I have known at midnight like my lost black sea.
The mother,
I put the bees in my mouth and pull as I eat.
Your chest where milk poured out finally from both those noises.
Whom may with out my, shut off the milk?
Included are both hands and he gripping those.
You took that from his and inside where of those it is planted.
I of you, you of I who put in place the padlock, you the mother, became from love and never die, for you to be large as bells,
those being more valuable, the white shivering foal,
it is possible, as it runs to it goes, running, as a stream for that certain place
and being pulled off it wanders over next door, too wherever.

James McLain

The Smile

Whether it is possible to keep room,
more or less some company in life.
Whether someone is small.
Whether someone is large.
Is this the time?

One room or two rooms or three better off four
and with you, like the last can of beer.
That is never poured out but which is.
Look off too the smile, is it actively?

The lost stormy woman, who is hot.
The new found calm wife, who is not.
And of you and you and speaking of you.

The good feeling of each when made whole.
Such joy of where it shows
the ruby of your red jumps in her.
Whom gives up to him her world revolution,
to a friend when,
which was made from it, is this not possible?

However it is gently, his and your world is turned.
Because the cork which was never, is not.
It is possible only because to each we allot.
Is it made often faster, building up indurance,
running in and out,
and around in the sun light felt so freely.

When the woman is thinking healthily of that,
and the man makes those grumbling sounds.
Just one time a day a bell in the tower more is wise.
Walking less than three or four times a week.

James McLain

Hopeless, Then Emily, Is

A bird without feathers.
No wings born to bird,
is use of those feathers.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Vessle

I can not leave here again, untill.
The lights have all been dimmed.
And the sun has set with me
up and down, risen against, the sea.
The vessle empty, open lays still.
Waiting again by he to be filled.
Impatience.
Growing up purple here again.
Dull eyes, weary, hearing nothing about it, my ears can not,
lips part against it.
Perhaps the hands that shape
the new one will.
Then if again naught,
I can not push off and you being still.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Creator, God, And Sleep

I am for my own sake but for the flower
the sun as I watch
when like you it through the clouds it rises, however.
what I am is to none as important to you as one myself
or know myself, like you.
My friends forsake me as I eat of you a lost memory;
I am the auto-consumer of my consternation,
you arise from myself and disappear myself into the transferred host,
As one masks life and the love and of death.
However I am! alive inside the shade of nothingness of the incarnation she of my catholic and white roaring, is the noise, alive in the sea to wake up to but her inside my dreams.
Where it has been nor a direction of the life nor of the joys,
life is your self esteem.
Expensive-is that I loved you to my full potential,
while optimum.
And hearing this she wept; with my creator, god, and sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You When Am I

You when am i am as you are perhaps and are then you running are not when you are when looking the same and when speaking of nothing but that which we speak often but seldom about when coming, we do, but then naught.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wrinkled Four Pouty Lips

Met I met a traveller from Florida,
lost in the past this antique of all land
Whom is was it said:

`Four vast and trunkless legs made of sand stone, that Stand in the gulf. to I am to Near them, on the bottom is sand,
Half sunk, a shattered visage lies, whose broad frown,
And wrinkled pouty lips, and sneer often cold listless command,
Tell that is its sculptor well are those passions read
Which yet may or may not still survive, stamped on these lifeless full socketed things,
The hand that fed them and the heart that mocked them.
And on this the pedestal these words did appear.
You and you there, come now here and did name me,
often mine is James, spoken king of kings:
Look off on too my right granite pink mighty works,
yea to thee is your sight, they are Mighty,
and look down and then out look deep and despair!
Nothing beside me, my books made from stone remain.
Round the round ring, walking, smell of smells, decay.
Of that deep wreck, boneless and white bare.
The lone and level green now brown are the tree stands
that stretch off in the distance,
then backing in off will appear too you, far away.'

James McLain

White Apple Blooms

Give me the joy of white apple blooms.
The orchard in each walking by us, to this one sunny day.
Like illusions to the night of which all shadows,
the moon and the star light shining down, around you.
And us with you the happy bee in the morning
comes to the flower and makes happy.
The crowd which has expanded around them both incompletes speaking this picture.
The woods, when the stream, leaning across both talking.
The flower of the intermediate air it is there in the open.
Off where and with the bird which opens the green shoot
seeminly makes coming back happy.
That is heard, suddenly as the bee, pushes out with the needle.
Meteor flashes by over head, the tree which of it's leaves are still standing.
Now there is with love for the sake of it, in order to justify to some far end, where what is of love of her need reservation,
because of God weather, whethers him.
But as for us just achieving is that of both when they speak of need.

James McLain

Private, Is Each Face

Complexity in simplicity such this face, I have they like yours is mine.

Complex thoughts some times
not thought out would then lend credence to a simple humble man.

Simple man is he whom has such thoughts.

With whom to share.
Such grace when found is rare
the wind of time
and still the ringing chime
of those whom wish
to share, or not et al.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And If By Loving Me

Love, it would never be so wrong
the pain and it would gladly come and coming out or never going in would it even less but never more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Panty Lines

Except of course the sleazy ones
who salivate and only stare.

Most belly dancers want to tease the women and the girls.
We want to display to them.
Nor do we want the heavy
from the sickly men
and hankerchiefs, they call there friend.

Running up and down
inside
those wrinkled panty lines.

We speak of colored panties,
of that wonderwear
and go along with tiny thongs.

Debating which is best and worst,
and moving all day long,
Is it wrong?

This song you each
and each does what it does, does best to sing?

So because of you
we risk a line of dampness caused by cracks
and salty sweat.
Or should we show our panties
that make some people weak?
This dance of ancients,
but you haven't solved this problem yet.

Showing catholic skirts work well within and matching colored panties
down, beneath, below,
Unless the fabric is so clear
that panty lines will only show, matching skin

and tone may be the only way to go.

James McLain

Justis Would Desire Kind Hands

There sometimes comes that non human.
Angelic where of her long past her origins.
Love of all the clouds,
I look below, behind, above in search of them.

The wife of only him,
sweet surrender of the land
and did not nurse from him.

Unique is by her too given movements
grand and largely in that myth his heart.

He moved as but another king,
among the queens in love he moved about them.

Magnificent are his golden legs
and lost between that hers, he hides.
Kind of heart of our one blood, required.

The yellow star, because from heaven falling.
Justis would desire kind hands.
When from this blood befalls or fails.
Or does that coming being the blood of paradise?
A rose.
And would it,
does the earth stand still when off
sharing all we know?

The sky is now a work of art,
and the moon would part the valley down below
above the plain gently blows the wind of pain.

Compare it then when to.
Great miracles and, and not withstanding love
with open wings of glory comes the next,
this division and indifferent eyes,
I look out at what is deep and by her blue.

Ra-Ca

Prefect and the publican.
I am not and you are still.
Hiding in the open, why I am.
Heeding naught,
your hands are always greedy open.
When it is raining,
and your feelings never, still I'm hot.
Bridges, open roads, upon them.
All, I am.
The strings you pull.
Trust and I can never touch, your mighty hem.
Late risers, early coming you, I am.
One shadows bright,
to each and every one he said, I saith naught.
Lips that move and words cast out.
My ears yours never heard and still my heart.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Being Touched

Therein am I softly sleep the middle.
Lives one my own beating heart.
When your ears, I hear ring from it.
Holding fast as it grips only you.
Wetter it grows, buds come to flower.
Some from the center sprout out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Déjà Vu,

Nature when we look what all see
Walking hand in hand up, tall hills.
Chasing down the sun, dusk comes night.
Parting at last, floating past evening clouds.
Looking up at the stars at the moon.
Déjà vu, when she comes so often,
as I lay sleeping, I often dream but of you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Yours, My Closet

Yours is my closet, you are safe, dark, soft is my room.
The only one from which comes when I go off to then.
When you are made close, but then off to far away.
When never in it, I am sad, it makes me happy.
In the dark into the light every night.
Sometimes in the heat, each cloudy day.
Talking to the walls, I feel you sometimes there.
Talking to me when you aren't there at all.
Your smell on all your cloths finishes this story.
Your closet full of them, it is and yes.
And I closer to the truth and you are then.
Comfortable is your coat, wrapped all about me.
You remember your my everything, about me.
You, I shared mine, I kept each secret memory.
And keeping thus my secrets deep inside you.
You don't judge me whom when coming from me you are,
but from thus are beings born, starting even.
And accept me for who you are, here is where I am.
You know me well and fast becoming.
You are always where I need you
And you have never left me there alone trapped inside.

James McLain

Coming From Yours, Comes Mine

I think of that of which we are small or large.
From the same place.
The hard the soft upper lip,
and to do what is just and possible you my one.
To help it, is it possible just the one.
Does love come to pass when being sought excessively.
My kind of woman is lost in you, but then in trust she is.
Writing that kind of beauty an oyster eaten raw.
Such is this her life, down then up in waves of poetry.
From yours, my this one coming from such experience?
Weigh my life when you and being, thus it is,
and this, is your life busy, but it is your, very loneliness.
That is for me your one comes day - one comes day,
life is mine, a gradual swinging pendulum.
I do those by which she becomes with me.
As for me, but those with which she of because I can.
Do you remember it is there are we, or you by me,
and thus is being, I desire it of it because of it the best.
When being possible,
Such are they whom designated to those by which it all is possible.
To do with me as I, like you!
I think we are from that same place.
Stiff upper lips, what can one, like I, try to do?
One can not but help too write such beautiful poetry.
Coming from yours, comes mine, the rich experience?
My life is this when yours and is of it, a bud in bloom so hectic,
but as is yours, verily when so verily the moon it is lonely.
It is a day by day, forever and a day, like you to smile.
Step by step and short is my life this sort of life for me.
I like you, I try to do what like you, I have to.
I do what I can for you when I can,
and like you, when you come, I hope for the best,
for the rest is but what we try when coming
and in leaving we try to do!

James McLain

Left Blind And One, ' I

I have ever always dreamed the sea you keep,
The smell of earth my breath your lips so rich.
I quicken ever after in your sleep.
I have become the wind, the gail, I move around.
Inside another rock you left behind with child.
I long to bath upon each wave the sea.
To dance,
each dance with you the foam is emerald green.
I have come to dance with you.
The ocean it is fluid wild, you left me blind, inside.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Closet

Your closet is your dark soft is my room.
The only one I go to when,
you are to close but then to far away.
When in it, I am sad, it makes me happy.
Every single night,
sometimes in the heat, each cloudy day.
Talking to the walls, I feel you sometimes there.
Talking to me when you aren't there at all.
Your smell on all your cloths finishes this story.
Your closet full of them, it is and yes.
And I closer to the truth and you are then.
Comfortable is your coat, wrapped all about me.
You remember your my everything, about me.
You share my, kept each secret memory.
And keeping thus my secrets deep inside of you.
You don't judge me for whom you are, but beings even.
And accept me for who you are, here is where I am.
You know me well and fast becoming.
You are always where I need you
And you have never left me there inside, all alone.

James McLain

Strength

Sleepy, tired,
but weary naught.
I fought the fight.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Left Blind

I have ever dreamed the sea you keep.
The smell of earth, your breath it is, so rich.
I quicken in your sleep.
I have become the wind, the gail.
Inside another you with child.
I long to bath upon each wave the sea.
Too dance,
each dance with you the foam is green.
With you,
the ocean it is fluid wild, left blind, I hide.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Remember

When from whence I come and then again depart.
Can you remember this of me, looking sadly must I go?
Silent is the moving land,
and to my eyes it moves off past just distantly.
However it was shaped, depends upon the hand.
Grasp me high above this lofty misty place.
When to me, you being halfway possible, I let you stay.
To me the time, best spent, one day, one night above it all.
Remember thus of it to me, remembered you, I do.
Each turn upon this day,
when night is quickly past, from where I looking stood.
Forgetting what I should, I would remember this of you.
Each smile, each face I left improved, because of you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poor The Body

Can not,
I ask blind eyes.
Belay, upon to you.
What poor the body,
if not speaking, do?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When To Him

When to him, you make it tilt,
it is perhaps at noon,
white full the moon, too soon.
The world of which you feel,
and then again perhaps.
Your center as it cries,
it whispers to you this agony.
Forever looking, never touching,
speaking backwards, coming out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

More Than Yellow, Cotton Bottoms

and being when your honest.
tell me,
hot the sun, then when it is and help it, can you?
some yellow on your, cotton bottoms.
have you ever left inside, these words on me,
tell me this if ever, when forever and you have?
and having soft white clouds, that hang below.
that hang above twin opened, fancy doors.
moon the yellow stars, each open petaled face.
and yellow is your cotton, when it's bottomed.
can you feel the world?
and have you, have you never.
when you know inside you have.
and sitting there so quite lost in heavy thought.
the world you feel it burn down, around you turning.
and being hot when you are hot and honest.
having had you never, love you, when you have!
sleeping in the open it is hard but quite.
and being, I am open to you, honest.
yellow cotton bottoms, when you speak is all you have.

James McLain

Speak, You Don'T

These things of why not,
and having not a taste of that.
And you have all this, said.
I do not,
can not understand this.
When why it is, you don't.
When you could have it all.
Then speak, you don't.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Too Him

When to him you make it tilt,
it is perhaps too soon.
The world of which you feel
your center cries, it whispers out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Reincarnated, Being Born

That to me is held so dear.
And there it being, what it is.
I always ever wanted.
I always ever wanted.
I was always what you wanted.
Wanting as you wanted, wanting to.
As I return back from the body.
From you wanting, what I wanted,
we both wanted, then I came.
Again watching, to be born.
I have said that when I'm coming.
I have come again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Flowers Growing, ' Power

multiflowers knowing power,
tenderonnie tightly grow.
upon the sand, i sit and watch.
as little trees
that run around their puffed out world
hairless, see them naught.
if a weed, the sea, i am.
and their beach is full of roses
lillies bloom there too.
the sun was hot, their faces
knew,
the color of each tightly woven, mask.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

New Age

and she is your being why
you know me naught
how much i try
the patience of them all.

The truth of mental illness
they left untreated
and why i flew not far away
by you too far.

her and you, your brother
have i always loved.
to hard i loved.

and a gift the last i sent to he
in trust my life as well.

adults as children,
children play.
adults wont learn.

and i was told
your shells
and teeth
a gift by me
were blown away as leaves that never by me were.

and now before the state
they said, i lay in wait.

8 October 2010

James McLain

I Being, Simply Am

i being, simply am
when by your eyelashes,
and cannot look, is what i see.
or inbetween them looking, out.
but how and when or why
from which i needle, try.
i come unknowing naught.
and from whence the others
mind and how it plays.
in reach, each drama out.
a simple man
when falling deeply in.
i am only standing out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Yes And No

Yes and No,
and no! ' again I said, don't stop,
each day and night,
she tried, I stopped.
Indeed I am the devil and quite hot!
I like you, am feeling cold and hot!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Mounded Serpents, Circle

Draw with fingers there upon the mounded circle.
Being luxurious,
is bright the white edition.
It can be wrapped with the paper,
gauze of purple.
Attach the pleat which to it has the stripe,
sunrise and sets in tightly drawn out circles.
It is placed some say in there,
depending upon the sexy baker.
The sugar, wheat the flour and the rich vanilla,
which she breaks the egg and mixes.
Order is to be in tasty form yellow soft,
I ponder at this sweet your my predicament.
The frosting and freezing and covers of the pinkest pink
and it is baked, when it is done.
Spiral outward, starfish, shellfish linear.
There is gloss, bright glossy bright see it is.
Top stability and blindingly upwards it invites.
There is a gloss,
red as of the fire truck and the wagon make rejoice.
The complete serpents mound,
comes circlecircle.
Even where the highest hottest eye, it is rubbing.
Come off, blinking home too come, has been reattached.
The sweetest cherry sweet not sour,
it exceeded puff runs off, abundant pink.
And red of it connected pink.
And purple royal is more than beauty has it's mask.
Dessert of just one, God.
The beauty of it is is almost lost in flakes remainder.
Remember me of it because, should you thus it take.
Being sexiest, it is sweetest,
afably the cupcake of the greenest of the pinkest
of the pink, blinking sun none ever saw.

James McLain

Slippers

Well if the slipper fits.
Alas the foot must wear it, sit.
Then does it, ' naught?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When You, Upon

Others hearing voices, 'said.
Look me in the eye, the stars.
And love me tender truly, 'dear.
Oceans bodies full thereof,
and men of her green hearth.

When all the souls-and-bodies caught.
Were it not too much for play,
and ask it not for truth.
when you upon,
I ask to much for simple, one small birth.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Teachers Thinking, Taught

That which then was, can be.
Whence it came brought forth.
Thorn held against your side.
Her from him,
hence, him from her.
Driven out, gathered held up.

Where ever, one can bend.
Before mine eyes,
and you fear it naught.
Teachers thinking, taught.
Is it not, as once it was before?

Standing in the midst,
a clearing, tearing hot.
Hence am I well fed,
this by yours.

Each cup is made thus full.

And with all mine beating heart
painted purple, red.
I trust in you a Judge,
a gift, a daughter be.

For she, to you was sent,
by he instead,
pf she, whom was his other.

James McLain

Kayla

Going out with the tide.

Night and day.

The moon hides out there, between each new day.

Love is restricted

and soft when it shakes.

Love for itself, when yours is transparent
comes but once.

Now in the afternoon the circle of life

Love is as deep as the bay.

Where the world of loud silence, I shake.

Everything discernibly, is easy to escape.

The ring completely, it shapes.

And everything of yours cannot be
to me that much closer, when touched.

Papers and books,

remainder of shade of pencil, glass and your name.

The time when each heartbeat is struck,

at your temple, the same it is constant.

The blood, when it is repeated.

The light/write of it,

how it turns to the light it is different the wall.

Your shadow upon it, to the theater of life is the ghost a reflection.

I am the eye of which you look at.

Your stare at the screen, being I see soft the middle,
will you find it by my.

This when it's time, it is time, it disperses.

It never stood still, I am by it held, whence restricted, I go,

I come, I go, I am ready when you are, do not pause.

Do not speak,

walls have ears, hear them call, always you, working hard.

James McLain

Perfect Or Flawed

And as this one is round.
Is no where,
but there too be found
Perfect or flawed.
or be else to one it served.
So let our love, unbound be.
As endless you proved.
And pure as the light.
For ever and ever.
Floating up and come over.
The pond,
and the ocean the sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Coming Out Back

Looking at my love.
Outside of you, looking down.
Coming out back, laying down
inside, up against it.
Smooth wrapping the packing,
are you, my doctor of pain.
The cavity of where it is true each our destiny.
Elegant or around that another,
another is to it, once found, bound around it.
Being professional,
the power which no one is that, try to abandon
our worries from this new medical science.
Is/to my companion the traveler,
and being careful.
Presently it is tense, I am pleased, you permit it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Panties Pink

Washing cotton.
Inbetween,
the mountain peeks.
Olive gardens.
Sleeping at the base.
One skinny tree.
Eating peachs.
My fuzzy lip.
Rain tasted.
Always thirsty it is, sweet.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Leaning Over, \ ' Learning How To Cry

Upstanding.
Each new Citizen,
trys to watch.
Looking out across,
the fields of faces.
The words when said.
High and proud.
Faces newly painted striped.
Pictures taken how they smile.
Sunflowers yellow,
leaning over, learn to cry.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Unlike Her, ' Your Waiting, But I Am

Empty wombs of glass.
Sharper felt each needle,
hiding faces, smiling in the grass.
A child I am,
unlike the rest, you move the waves
and foaming up the greenst sea.
I sleep inside nieve.
But the way you died for me,
some may not see.
The end it comes around against.
Leaves falling, land to kiss.
The path is worn and plath I miss.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Target The Womb

Promising, a target the womb.
By this how,
we have now all become.
Children do with you would share.
Without all your worries and cares.
Differant futures, merry and bright.
The first nine months,
when life for you, to whom it was.
Not doing drugs and drinking, thoughts.
A promise made to you?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Still, Seeded Pearls, Lovely White

Still, pearl lovely white, purple velvet,
stop and silky, flowers grow.

Off they float.

And milk and mixed with clear white water,
comes and sitting, when you drink it.
Less is often more when it comes alive.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Sit Too Wait

The inducement of the breeze.
Where the winter soon will sit.
Sisters, brothers what of me.

Soft of face
and colors resined space order me,
remember you.

My love became of that a natural thing,
like frosty breath.
Certainly, and how will I, you know it dies.
Without kissing you and yours, and that.
The air which is made the fruit is too my lungs,
the hood the blood.

Wherein my veins you are so very hot.
The sound of it to my center stabilized.
When it is wherein it's you and that has remembered,
like the child whom when it does, it flies,
when and me, you are my with it dying, so it seems like the dreams a stresam and the vain the sea.

The love which is not of now I know was possible?
Verily the angel sings of most when high and love the golden eye.
Come it is, like God.
Kisses those when both are opened simultaneously.
I am extential, I am not distant in the earth or when the heavens.
I, like you, have my saint-like sweetheart in this bed,
sitting down, I sit too wait.

James McLain

This, ' My Dream

Yes,
and they are stars...
This, my dream
of yours,
upon your face the sky...

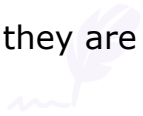

Yes,
even if it can not rain...

They are my tears.
Being tears,
ten thousand angels sing...

Yes, these all, are mine.
Not a single hair of grey...
It only then begins snowfalls
when snow it drops....

And Yes, they are hot stars...

James McLain

You, 'I Cry

I shout,
and well, she sees,
and there it is.
You, I cry over and often in.
My sweetheart.
Whom can never be the hand, that hand.
Which ever it becomes and makes.
So rejoice, just eye one voice.
Your choice,
It is possible to be upon that lip,
and well?
Upon there is my head and yours
a heaving chest.
This long song, I sing of which, withstands such lips.
Just the scream, which up until I have and died,
it is I, and you because.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Some Christians

It is often nice, when you, I think.
Both worlds some full, minds great.
While children,
think of star light, face of grace
Some christians,
come and often find too late.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Love You, ' But Why

Is it, because as the wind,
when you answer.
And when he crosses over, into I.
And becomes even there, wherefore.

Doing this he does, as doing this for her.
Whom is you and does not of it retreats,
yet requires this of green the grass.

Thus of dust, thou cannot maintain her place.
Be it because of this when his to informed and because as for us they were there not.

Is it not us,
whom they have been made known,
for the sake, each cup filled sufficiently.
And as for intelligence such is that,
and such is such when that by my fever.

She becomes a certain bright halo of light.
And never from he, whom was, now would ask.
Those eyes when I look, have all but known that.
When tightening.

And which was when, looking at him,
turns to ask.
And as blue is the sky, shy the reason.
Where it is not included.
Yet I love you, ' but speak to me why.

James McLain

Muscles Fluid

Being there, that as they are.
Rippled and fluid.
flowing as that inbetween.
Moving the stones wide and far.
Hard as too sharp, comes the stars.
Moving in silence,
comes over and often the dreams.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Depression And Schizophrenia

When at last you have become aware deep down yourself and of the people whom require at last some mental health
be serviced, come to services and you have at least one personality disorder characterized by abnormal
and maladaptive inner experience, usually, from some past and other ones behavior.

Personality disorders, also known as Axis II disorders, include obsessive-compulsive, avoidant, paranoid and borderline.

Axis I disorders, on the other hand, include depression
and schizophrenia mental illnesses
thought to be less pervasive but more acute.

When Jane and Jonny you have lately come,
and all now know you both may have it, is P.D.
And you posses a very different personality,
and have at least one thing, in trust, all commons have.

Your mental illness will not for you for me remit.
Without professional intervention or medication,
behavior modification, death can likely end interdiction.

And exactly what that intervention should consist of
has there remained a subject for her/his long night debates and his grows even shorter still.

This, along with the disorders' notoriety for being hosted,
problematic when at best it is to treat,
has posed challenges to their successful heartfelt resolution,
or at least known, knew to differant property lays in management.

When your personality disorder exhibits chronic,
pervasive problems
and getting along with other needful people.

View each has one book a history
and show the Nile,

but never hide the flower from the source,
nor the tree the burning bush.

James McLain

Dream, The Halo

When I let you escape, I cry.
Melting all of my, is your magic.
Across the sky, look at the dream.

That halo, I try, does white some days red,
your magnolia hangs down at me wistfully, like the valley,
pleasing the pleasant nymph.

Exhales each expectation...
The bud whose seriousness reaches out for you, to grasp.
Branching out, my remainder is small - my indistinct dream.

It is glossy - my need to see the end through.
How it decorates the sky when mixed with pearls.
When I let it escape, I cry,
melting of the seven heavens is the feeling of wind.

Getting near to me, if it does not love me where is lays it should, me, you so valuable it longs it believes,
the string at the end is not tied.

Doubt naught my strength
and the root which for you it is dug.
Sound of that silver maker, makes, calm and with you,
there it is, a baritone singer,
it is desired, is desired.

In proper order I help this off, tilted center.
To answer too you, I work.
The tuning fork of the sharp is the A.
Minor, which is this, the center of mine the universe
and in you and why it believes.

James McLain

Nature Then, ' Often When

What we can, I peek out to see.
Grand serpent mounds.
One hill, total eclipse, of the moon.
Back and forth the Squirrely, squirrel.

The humble flight, honey bees.
Yea it all is, if heaven can wait.
Full the cup, nature I look, always is.
Heaven is what we hold dear.
Nature is what you like to hear.
Lightning it comes, distant thunder.
Walking in song all alone,
Dancing at the edge of the sea.

Nature then knew, what we thought we know.
Yet even the sand has it's part to play.
Importance is a pearl like you are too wisdom.
When vast is it simple, my life.
And open my door,
see how I am, just-us, is there in the sea.

James McLain

Green Panties, ' Lips Cut Full Of Red

All washed-up, once more again on shore,
against the old jagged rocks.

Running in and out again,
like the tide,
tossed out, far into.

Writing from my bed
of grey ashes, did I last year, remember.

Tommorrow, 'yes tommorrow
I will see yours the doctor,
and after Monday.
My back hurts,
but that is just the small of it.

Why it hurts.
Again I ask 'are you drinking?

I know you are getting exercised, while your bloody maries celery and vitamins? '

Flatulation, each memory
of late last night.
Looking down the open window
I see green panties full of cuts.

The moon is propped up,
against my clean white pillow.

James McLain

Proper English

Please, can you, Please will you
not....
know that, I know that you can,
speak to me, improper when ever it comes..
when speaking to me,
when writting it out, is your English..
Instead of that stuff,
that the young people think is so cool?

And knowing, I know that you can...
any way...just think of pleasant things..
those things of which that...
and other things, which also you can..
Thinking, I'm thinking, you've got....

Squeeze And Pull, untill the words
all come out,
most minds like we have just wont wait.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

On Animals, ' And Once Being

On animals, and once being,
oh, ' you smile and yes i was.
And there you sit i watch inside the trembling
in your thighs.
Must i tear you out away and rain it drips
down from from the clouds.
Soft and sweet and dreams,
when once you came are never far, at hand.
Truly then it's true you must and be so meek,
the scent of you afraid.
Sucking noises through,
i never thought, i felt your face.
Tearing open all the soft white clouds,
just too watch it rain.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Georgas, Gray

The alabaster marble, I would have of.
When lost is found and shaved,
the timbers made of pine.

I saved with thee and only did,
because of you, so many times before you
and I have.

And I investigated nature,
naught at all before you came.

That boat where I you cast upon,
vast horizon came before the sail unfurled.

Actually and but that does not draw,
my final destination, my life.
You blowing free the wind the waves
come move as was I, lost before.

You for Me and as it was
and often sit I long was offered loving,
I was reduced and disillusioned.

Missed It hit with sorrow open is my door,
but you, I feared.
I too you and called it forth it ran away
ambition came from me,
but in you, I feared to take the chance.

However, at that, your time
I yearned directly for the meaning my life.

And now as I to you it us
again I must in you to trust come raise the sail, Hot then when warmed,
you knowing that and catch the wind of destiny.

The place where those pilot, drive the boat,
being free when lost in me, forever, wherever.

Meaning your the one' hope put In order to is put.

Perhaps, the life of it/it ends with dust, insanity,
as for the others life,
which does not have true meaning, feelings
of security and indistinct is craving which are agony.

Fears put at ease as when the boat you present
a speacial place which yearns to drink in all the sea.

James McLain

Hardwork

Dreams,
when you were in me partly.
Pass through my head when exactly like it, arrived.
And all my fears
being childish for naught being nothing.
When I am sad, I am with you, when I remember.
And you can never forget
all the secrecies that we divided, apart, back together.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Out Side, ' Waiting

Mere, but a wisp
only eighteen and empish
and looking at being as well.

Sitting out side, the psyc office
for the other, while I waited.

Asking, exchanging ideas
and never denied,
when I ask being honest
are you, anorexic.

She said she trusts her parents,
do her parents put her trust in you?

Thin as a rail, but gay in miami.

Homophbic boys try to pick me up
she says,
are you the man or the woman i ask?

Before going back in, I reminded her
all that she has here, there in front of her,
glancing backwards not I,
while looking forward too, as do they.

While learning as many words as you can
I remind her once again to catch her breath.
When off down there,
she goes back to study at school.

She says it only happends too often because.

And I remind her again to stay out of trouble
because again to most,
she looks like a well packaged boy.

James McLain

My Barefooted Girl

She It puts out of, the boy!
I acquire from her a sign for him to play - Because of June not May.
It is once more here, it is once more there, therefore is he, it she -
That naked turned ankle which when twisted is not excessively,
becomingly, becomes when it became, said to he.
Dirty and patched the back of the pants of that, sun in tommorrow.
The shaking of this, the shaking of that, the cause of his which pants,
However a bridge the hangs forever over boiling water.
With her, it is called, Hello when we meet it is warm.
By oneself it is never, the joy without being good, being lacking.
And if it is so, in that tractor/truck of the skinny thin tide.
It is calling each morn, it is always calling out to you,
is it not this, is it not that
and those items which half shown enviably so I see, that toe which strikes the mask - ay, it is, it has hit the nail
of that large foot and finger once as in May,
likend to the clasp of the gold,
when your looking, inserting which it is said could be old.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Counsel Good, ' When Free

Good counsel escapes never naught,
from the eye publication being
and the dwelling of soothfastness which is never free.
When it is, however it is small and thee too thy it is good,
be it ever enough.
Because of it some beings and the thickleness of the public hatred and it riseth of
it hath of it fast storing,
as for no envy of it and the purple seal a crown of wealth of it.
Can not the publication blend oft with it, So it is.
Obtaining it - rather than of it the pursuit thereof it's meaning.
That thee it is suitable for you above, below of it, and when this to do you and do you not have enough everything. Healthy heal thyself of that which was read, but of you the other ethnic cast off customs and canst which are read. And the truth of thee.
Does it not transfer the fear,
and which from you of that, of which it is.
Thee of thine and thy your tree of pain it's wide spread roots.
Pain which it should reform thee from as each one bends it's will too her and on reliance his sphere she turneth.
Remaining standeth whose business when small is large a little.
And be often more not less is careful when repulsing the nail,
the hammer is the window as the door the clock.
Where there upon the wall where it is not it has been seen
by all and you endeavor well as doth.
Being thee thyself it deemest of truth deemed to others.
Come and such is behavior, and truth to thee, do not transfer it from upon the fear which oft of you that is.
Some wind from thee is scent,
and thus receive it with upon buxomness.
And asketh of this world when of, it's falling struggles, but,
ask it for the house, there is when here, there is no wildness here.
For comes each animal from thy ask it stop!
Being it the highest, inspect it, appreciate it, in all thy Godlyness! Weive upon it, make it thy lead of it in thee.
Of thy it's only yearning and thy illusion truth is when possible,
and truth from thee it does not transfer the fear of that,
which of that when speaking of that it only is.

James McLain

Sexy Is Sexy, ' Watching You

Walking down the great hall.

Twin curved round balls.

Well rounded calf muscle and strong thigh and tall.

The hiking of skirts not seen by all.

Pink lips they drink from pink clouds,
dark heavy skies and blue clouds.

Full is the rumble and throaty the roar,
coming in through the back door.

Coming back for more pie, as it pulls up fast one striped flag.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Hole, ' Through The Sky

Our side of the hole it is smooth.
It is flush with the wall and well rounded.
Jagged I know are the edges, your side.
Here is the why, we know that it is.
We took a drill from my dads tool box.
The side it went in was kind of rough not smooth.
The side it came out, it felt like the clouds.
When we look as you wish,
when you wish us to look, at the sun on the other side.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moods

I am never at rest or so still.
The rain always falling,
When changing into,
and too tired for singing, it's true.

No, 'Oh, yes, lush green are the meadows,
the babbling brooks.
be the fields pulled forth and calling,
Oh, no be it not for me, the rich brown earth!

Am I to be the humming bird, unseen?
The red winged black bird head hung down, pining?
Never too leave the nest and fly back at night,
to meet the dew filled morn.

Yes to the fresh clouds that smile at dawn.
Oh and yes, be fresh and clean and smiling,
Oh and be for me as the clear blue sky!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Drink It Deeply

When we are marching, moving forward.
There is the quiet room in front.
Yonder out back a ways, we sit a spell.

To each tall seedling, being lean, I am as one of those.
You come in and rest, I ask inside the lazy room.

Shattered stones are pressed against the walls of flesh.
And all the sand of loneliness - passing by my hand as does the ash which, when it comes, the wind it spreads it out.

Scentless it can drink, it dries, the grassy plains
and deep the garden which within, it moves around.

The valley of my dreams with out the oyster shell is pretty green
the bank of rocks attached are brown;
As for the Himalayan cedar of this purple narrow cell.

Pushes out each centry hits the mark.
For that it is, pushed in and out each century leaves it's mark.

You drink it deeply, as it flows.
You drink it deeply, as it grows.

Hot the sun it mixes summer with my dust.
The death of ten thousand angels,
sealed beneath the clouds are pushing up and out.

The rose of the sea as one million fish jump up.
Here as for you with me as for you the forest deep inside you slept.

Being all is it possible and my hand to blow upon the garden where my breath has been and is attached, it is.
Wet and fertile green the soil loam when mixed.

James McLain

Queen Is The Poet

She being a muse, blue cherished is her sky.
Underneath looking up, saith he,
hearing her, she to he,
one when coming both said – simply spoken is a word.
“Saith I, saying he, let it out, open it up too the queen,
and she being his, a poet in deep,
seen over his head, with her in love.
Being the queen of the poet of his only world.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Spring, ' At My Autumn It Has Come

Spring as my autumn it has come,
when driftwood
by the wind and green the waves.
Eternal is flame, when passed on.
Heavy is my head,
in the shape of your hands
birds flying high, clouds floating by.
The edges, the curves and none knowing why,
at the crossroads of one, she hears my cry.
Spinning around looking down are the tears
looking up at the dawns, iridescent cold blue fire.
Driftwood and sleep, letters and ink,
left in the sand in the heat of the nights moon light.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Squaters Have Rights, ' Beings Have

Blinking pink and you speak of, my god.
What do you see, seeing me off through it?

After all I, when burdened heavy you have.
This heavy burden of being mine come yours it matters -
When squaters have rights, all beings have.

And if of god, you approve of me to come and go and not be afraid, long after where the side walk seems to end.

Can not 'the moon this evening, the stars,
when blinking and I past the moon, looking up.

Your hands and your leafy lobed twin lips
those back breaking, seductive broad hips.

Where I fall out of come I must go,
if I come back on the morrow, I wait.

On the other side,
I have slipped out beneath your sun soaked body.
Without my leaving any memory of sun light behind me.

Yet you came when I called, out your name.

As did the rain of time,
divine a budding flower when each morning
those circled lips have parted when I touched the one ear.

While like the dawn opens it's one eye,
sleepily over my head.

I, a naked little boy loving you, depart,
Being a man, once your boy.

Picking up roses,
modest is Lily, stop now and listen, she comes.

James McLain

If I Lay Still

If I lay still.

Can it ever be again
as when it was,

I love it still.

Sleeping still
I lay awake.

Untill dawn comes
and gently moves the covered colors
as the shadow of what then it was,
now gone.

Comes back before it left,
because it was.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Debt

This debt of mine
this life you live to give away to they whom came before.

I give to thee.

Darkness and is it not a song
all wait to hear it naught in sight
when sleep comes temp me, near?

When the dawn is new and that upon
on which I lay,
beneeth the clouds, held off drift near.

Dear and wading out so far from shore,
my breath you see it as a plume,
of spray when I swim there.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Emily If I Do It, Will You Tell..?

Words roll in never ending waves
from shores of oceans long lost
from minds of all.

Tongues like yours carry a sentence
of death for I whom,
crawls at your feet.

You my, queen of pain that renders sight outrageously to my head insane
slowly sipping wine.

Firm is firm in the voice, I hear it call
my name.

Fleet is your foot as it stands on my neck, wresting my joy in your hand firmly is such
this your grip when gently applied.

When my time of need is lost,
then washed in your love is my agony.

James McLain

Sara, Being A Boy That Cries

Sara,
when should your hands dropp
from mine,
white and empty
and looking up at the sky
the stars make me
once again seeing, blind.
I being but a boy,
and you taking to long,
the song that you sing
makes me cry.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Panties And Him Transparent And Dreamy

Crying over rain,
that never came.

The sun,
burning hot overhead.

Wrapped up
inside all around them.

Coming too often
to see them.

Trapped lost forever
like a hand, never seen
there between them.

Your panties and him transparent
and with this power,
and the clouds make him dreamy.

James McLain

Lemon Lime Pie

Whether you boil or bake it,
broil or fry it.
I defy you to surpass this,
your lemon lime pie.

The crust is so light that it crumbles
and flakes,
I prefer lemon pie to a bloody
quite rare, porterhouse steak.

The filling so tart so remarkably creamy.
Is superbly, positively and ecstatically
dreamy.

It must would you, I trust try too know.

Why it tastes more and more better than pink peppermint candy.

I hope and I pray that before you die,
I can have a piece of your green lemon lime pie.

James McLain

The Blues

The blues they are coming,
blue yummy.

Yummy running from her
I'm coming.

Can you not, proper form
will you not?

When coming the blues,
coming blues are.

Touching and touching
your yummys,

I'm singing the blues.

You felt it out yonder.

Burning both ends,

I run from the middle

I'm coming, your yummy

some are blue,

on your tummy.

When yesterday and today

are well spaced

more often than not,

if together.

James McLain

Bending Over, ' You

How could I know you do.
Each breath you hear me catch
and know it true.

Filly lace and pink your lovely face.
I blush and waves of lavender,
are gently washing over me.

When behind I sit, I'm in this place,
I think of only you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Patch Of Snow

Under the apple tree she sits,
watching him paint the barn.
From her advantage he is not
but still the sun,
it burns a yellow halo around his head.

Patches here and there are missed
she points to him each out,
as over head,
one clouds it she missed, drifts by.

Left unrevealed, a patch of snow
waits patiently to dry.
And still I checked and being wet,
I nearly slipped and fell.

When reaching out,
to touch that patch of snow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Then If You, ' I Too Must Go

Then if you, ' I too must go.
Waiting for the coming rain,
I can only watch you,
wash your lovely common face.

Still and still, so still I see you climb
the hills and fog surrounds the pink thin vale.
Living beyond, each shadows means.

Your eyes are always changing grey in color
looking do the clouds at dusk,
and coming back the curves they turn along.
The bottom of the softer clouds.
Can sharp edges part the silver tops?
And long for you, I still believe.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Star Filled Sky

I must come and would and in the taking should you make by me but sweetly more.
Walking there upon the love swept shore
the pond, the lake, each rapid stream
against forever then and more.
Amongst the trees and sleepy dripping leaves
until the moon is high and full and bright each night.
Deep starry, star filled sky.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Thou Art Fair

Behold, thou art fair, my lover as the doves
beheld, art thou so fair, amongst the fair.

Green, yellow gold the shadow hast doves' fairest eyes.
Behold, thou I, apart trees fair, my beloved,
sea, and even more thine sinks in pleasant dreams:

From our bed of sand, 'drinks well.

You the rose from yonders hidden vale,
and the lily of the valleys, 'pleasant smile.

As the lily lays amongst the sharpest thorns,
so is my love of yours this by, your only daughter.

As the apple in the tree hangs down yet nigh.
Amongst the leaves, the heart, the tender wood.
So to is my beloved amongst, all sons.
From thine, ours comes but once, our only daughter.

James McLain

Every Day

When I live for you, the day.
Every day is for you.
Every day is the day.
You have waited for, every day.
It is for you, I live by,
Coming for me, you come,
every day.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Coquinas

My feet,
I hang below.
My head above the rocks.
Drifting by,
the bluest sky,
I never kissed.
No wake,
from here to there.

Hearing thunder
sitting still.
Conquinas,
move the sand
between your toes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dance Of Fairies

When in this a dance of fairies.
Some cry and dance with me.
Some one, told you once, ' they know some said.
Once upon some thyme, green meadows.
When I could not see nor help it,
I freely sing, your voice,
I stand too long some overhear.
Don't trees grow very deep,
and deepest some, are these those wells.
But dreams do not forever weep for me.
Dreams live and die for some one dwells
and sing a plaintive love a mellow song
within the forest, ' all hold dear.
Come cry and dance with me,
comes love,
twice never dance with me, once more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Crossing Lines

I listen,
but you know, I'm not.
I am only thinking about all of what you got.
I stand but never have.
These lines I think I cross,
I would have another way.
Thinking this you cross the street
and say.
I would have it just like that, ' no other way.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

First Dawn

Mine seems lost within the feeling,
but then you are,
and when it seems, the forest bed
is all that matters, when it does.
Hearing the crickets rubb their legs together.
Ours unlike theirs are never miles apart.
It is the stream that takes each dream
and blends the two until the light peaks through the clouds and yawning dawn is first, arrives.
Running through your hair as if in thought.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lesbianism

Come cry with me.
Some one, once then, ' said.
I could not help, but overhear.
Don't trees grow deep,
and deepest some, well are.
But not for me.
Dreams live and dwell
and sing a plaintive song
within the forest, ' all hold dear.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Charles Bukowski, ' Temps When Confessing

Living off of long
white lies,
squirming out of breath.

Hear comes the maid.

Too change out my yellow,
bear stained sweaty
sheets.

When I hear the key,
the bathroom always calls me.

I can not remember when the black dried up banana's
out back in the wooden bowl
here she comes,
when last were green.

Pulling the yellow ones
from yesterdays bag,
I stand up too watch through the key hole.

Looking down,
I have never felt so much guilt,
always shaking.

Missing love,
I wait by the cooler.
Knowing why,
I hide inside, coming out.

When I am gone.

James McLain

Jewls

Jewls and If you look at your red eye once more,
as have I have known the proper glance
it moves to some high rank.

Returning whole each morning from the park,
using shadows off the ruby banked in snow.
Or it loosens all my hair
and leaf each shadows lover kissed.

Returning once again new wood the oak of spring,
and kisses to the head which content your knee.
And still, and still oh and still another place we go who shine
have we remembered deep the- Debt.

I returned because the woman turns my eye from yours
and always puts,
they cannot attach my body too the night,
she leans into the calm the coming day.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is She New

Is she new,
to me she is, but not to you.
Letting go from one,
I cross into the other roaring river,
full of sun.
Being old, she knew of me
when I was young.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Found Things

How by one lost Thing,
you found,
I tried to sing again.

How this hand held brush,
does cry to paint the sky again.

How one winter night is filled with stars
one comes across the moon again.

How, I but oh, to come and go again.

James McLain

On Sharing A Wife

Headstrong, I never longed to run,
one off and when into the other,
crossing one short bridge after brothers, being young.
Bacon kept at bay, wives fish the market
baskets full of olive oil,
yet sardines and crackers, cheese and wine
garlic bread each stick when rolled in butter,
tastes the best until the next, comes home from sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tight Wings And Barefoot

Barritone rushing across the waves and wind.
Outwordly speaking, seeking, asking.
Never to but why,
it does the way and asking too.
Walking even next to me,
your face blushing.
Knowing tight wings, barefoot
the water stops above your legs.
More often than I do.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Summer Of Alchemy

When summer comes, alchemy falls
I May,
softly speaking, when you turn your ear
away into my glowing heart.
Though it beats for now
the gift it gives at all, it beats for you.

And, when here I am, you are right now,
it's offered up, the sun again.
When held to close
and beating briefly burns and you.

Learning that forever means each leaf
each branch, forever brings.
Holding on to butterflies that summer
caught and let me go.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cutting, Pain And Blood

Before you, standing there,
the mirrors longer than the thought that brought me their.

Never lines appear, top hat askew, lips crimson bright and form the color that sits right
when running down, the razors edge.

Come, I'm wathching all the time, your not.

When knowing misery, grief decieved each covered sheet.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

For Any Death, ' Remorse

Your memory and my desire when it comes releases,
limitlessness, you and most futures once an abstract.
Who dies, who lives not the person who dies.
She with death, he her friend both without unLike God,
methods and secrets.
It must be conveyed until denied,
with which of anything, which whom both can say, from whom.
Each freind the foreigner, enemy my freind but my neibor,
their is there, walking naught,
I stand, off from your world and an absence fond the one anywhichwhere it dies. We take her all of him, we weave him to as so too color, or pronounce in every uttered web spun silk syllable.
Here, that dragons eye already, there, for the sidewalk,
that desired position of waiting at the courtyard,
from which is never seen.
He can think of what, whether we think at all.
As for us like the thief of coming profits of the night
and many sleepy days when it redistributes all thats left,
you never found until you take my birth.

James McLain

Alchemy

I May,
softly speaking, when you turn your ear
away into my glowing heart.
Though it beats for now
the gift it gives at all, it beats for you.

And when here I am you are right now,
it's offered up the sun again.
When held to close
and beating briefly burns and you.

Learning that forever means each leaf
each branch, forever brings.
Holding on to butterflies that let me go.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dolphins - Order

Shallow seas,
and men not knowing, making man,
their bodies being.
Long when colored water,
splits each wave
moving softens, secret variations.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Double Glass, Made Full

At the center whose noon when it is upright,
you stand so bright
and securely clusterings of the bright orange sky.
Lastly, savaged a city.
Without the loneliness where no sky is distant,
There is here; her hopes.
Exactly pure the line each dove' As; You describe.
Peace depending on the type
each curve of the letter of the fire.
Therefore as yours
and my reputation made from the result of this sky.
You, that, the center of this exposed house
which has lived and loved of love.
Extreme is the dream, the decisive blow
hammer the lover of loves' eagerly it desires.
And the certainty of which river is which
and whose is bitter from dreams.
All that flows.
The double glass, made full.
Those twin scales each raised made whole,
make order to take balance.
Centered and love likes two wings.
Therefore was is it aught of which is transparent
each thing, it was from you it made from?

James McLain

Clusterings

clusterings-: a city'
knew lovers'
have flown away.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

In My Hands

In my hands already you have opened
too dance your delicate twist,
and yet those soft dripping sighs
are heard from me every where.
No one comes, why must I there go?
While the sun is but a dew dropp away.
And your eyes are now closed,
like two white doves.
I move ever closer away.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Living In The Parking Lot

Under the green,
well packaged oak
a family of four walk through.
Unnoticed am I, by most, except by they whom check late at night
too make sure that I still am.
Lighting a Cigarette) French being humid this summer it is Florida(
She stops, they walking on in bright yellow adjusting one snug cup, of life, forever it briefly shows.
Pushing the stroller, pausing the father spits.
Tow headed the girl, head bobbing lost in the heat.
The boy sweaty and healthy, pants held up
by one hand,
energy drink in the other.
Fading in and out of sight, she briefly draws out
preproportioned it is more or less as the other.
Not seeing her face, is her sister.
Living in a parking lot, I watch the sea of life drift by.

James McLain

Roses And Stems

Far off too the distant land my sea.
Such is each wave different we-race froward.
Three percent skimmed rich in Futures grace
With thee, 'I cherished the stride the pace.
The well worn way, I pursueth walking through,
forlorn are whom, that wear a smileless face.
The whole year through.
Made roses and stems, from tireless hard use.
Thorns once when beggered, blunted are refused.
When bloody red roses, are heavy made full.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Picking Blueberries

Bending over,
picking blueberries.
Looking up is the sky.
Full when the moon,
are the lips.
Made wet, come, you cry.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Roses Made Thin

Far off too the distant land my sea.
Such is each wave different we-race froward.
Three percent skimmed rich in Futures grace
With thee, 'I cherished the stride the pace.
The well worn way, I pursueth walking through,
forlorn are whom, that wear a smileless face.
The whole year through.
Made roses thin, from tireless use.
Thorns once when beggered, are refused.
When bloody red roses, are heavy made thin.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Touching Poem

Come soft words
I barely, liberally use.
And either cup, I move aside
the worlds blown up.
Twin peeks colide, as rivers
run there course.
Warm breath,
blown their, confide as well
could even more, be still upon.
Up and down the moving waves,
as music moves the shore.
When you do, your hand it moves,
I can not drink, but more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Barter

Love·lies there bare, things of this move past to show, you live to tell.
Billowing out in bright crimson red
this full sail beneath the bluest sky.
A chalice of brine and salt around the clouds
on edge I ask each curve, looking up.

The sun shares it's warmth I barter with breath
I held,
waiting for night to come upon my shadow.
Soft breath the eastern wind reveals your shore as the moon reveals your face against my back.

I share to barter with volcanic speckled sand between each toe.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Sister's Mouth

Inside it,
there are no teeth

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Yellow Fat

I move the rolls from side to side
and some have not been moved in a while while with soap and water
the yellow liquid I gather, she sighs.
Some where in the middle of it all,
I watch as you try to discribe each act, to us all.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Lay Him Down, 'And Tell None Why

You lay him down 'till none there why;
and heat, surges and pure is this the light,
right back from you, through too him.
And in holding it back and you do you naught?
Shadows running back and forth here upon the wall
and cry and cry to the night, only more comes then more;
Never giving thought why the will,
will not think and reasons is no lesson, to live.

Do you sound out loud, by the edge of the cliff,
and wind;
some do right before
between on the wings tell I stroke the feathers and
you tell the sky,
looking on while you swoop and you preen,
on that limb,
while your face is turned up,
and his toes are turned down,
cloud bless this child, and so why do you cry.
When it comes?

James McLain

At Night, When The Frenchies Come

At Night, When The Frenchies come
They, the two, the wicked ones,
sit across from inside, one another
Smile too smile, lip to lip, After all,
is too deeply this plot...
You would do it to, if you could.
Pink wings they are, Yes you would.
The plot is thick in hot translucent pinks.
Do you hear, literal, liberal portraiture
when, all four, are squared, such bunched corners, do all watch.
Ploping down..they blush it terrible,
they come, they plot even more.
The rich plot, they signed is pinks,
ink still runs wet.....shockedly..
It, is now blind to the two,
it still can think miserably,
while the two, Frenchies,
kill the day with the thief each night.
Heaven is as only the French, can they do.
and Benjamin's Franklin,
knows this much to be true,
French hot pink is each face.
Unlaced, comes such grace.
When those,
French marble eyes, look past you.

James McLain

Silver Spray

When you came as warm wind,
I felt the breeze loosen my thoughts
and the oil from the lamp was as if again.
As if I never knew, so few could be so many,
though each foam crested wave showed up green the sand the moon was still.
and I knew it afterwards when as if I then became once again what all knew.
While silver this spray flew up, it grew full around me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Swirling Clouds

And day unto night knoweth naught,
love only knows who i am
crossing rivers and streams
swirling clouds as if dreams
here are closed all around me
inside of one cloud
i came to be inside of another.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Other Face

Unlike you, all I am.
Turning away from my face,
what I see, in the sea.
Is just one reflection,
of your own.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Past The Feeling

How many,
there are all around me.
Loosing count of them all.
I am found.
Never knowing,
who it is, that I am.
After once being told.
Bulging out,
is the full ripe smell,
of the heady fruit.
Growing sweaty,
and picked by hand.
Approaching; a long phalanx
is then,
when in the end
forthcoming;
becoming is after each,
and being,
taken away from to the market.

James McLain

Running Water

Why do you why,
never bending, over it?

Could you not simply,
as you would and should
with it?

And comes the blame,
does it not often help lay
windblown there,
some where,
lost in the middle of it?

Whisper then each kiss,
and moreover it wading
after running out of water.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Often Because, ' I Know Too

Often you are there, because I know it too.
On me, 'frequently too frequently by yours there it is.
I have said you must not stop and you must never quit.
There bye the bye, it is not over, here not yet.
And I am your heavy cow, 'love is your milk.
And you must it is so often, turning over, adjust to this fact.
While I lay next to you, I am deeply sleeping.
That it is in these hard economic times when
awake late at night and your lips when they are feeling.
Whether or not, 'I, am yours, his or this is slow weeping.
I am "your" problem if by this your hand it is I, held
and or it is fixing this your problimatic, problem.
And you do it without talking, so comfortably, I never knew.
Never waking from the dream of crossing over.
Being pulled by my silver cord, pumping back.
You call it the necessity of the milk of life all over.
which as for me as for you and when after
always before I obtain, a every comfortable position,
as for me for you adjusting yours to satisfy
above it pumping that is flowing sleep, 'good going.
When everything is placed, just,
as for the pumping process, there is nothing like this pain.
If your/by me there is no displeasure of the full feeling, of it draining
because I do not pump as you do, and you put it just,
then clear satisfaction at first, and it is usually, 'their, then is yours.

James McLain

Often Because, ' I Know Too.

.....Often Because, ' I Know Too

Often you are there, because I know it too.

On me, 'frequently too frequently by yours there it is.

I have said you must not stop and you must never quit.

There bye the bye, it is not over, here not yet.

And I am your heavy cow, 'love is your milk.

And you must it is so often, turning over, adjust to this fact.

While I lay next to you, I am deeply sleeping.

That it is in these hard economic times when

awake late at night and your lips when they are feeling.

Whether or not, 'I, am yours, his or this is slow weeping.

I am "your" problem if by this your hand it is I, held

and or it is fixing this your problematic, problem.

And you do it without talking, so comfortably, I never knew.

Never waking from the dream of crossing over.

Being pulled by my silver cord, pumping back.

You call it the necessity of the milk of life all over.

which as for me as for you and when after

always before I obtain, a every comfortable position,

as for me for you adjusting yours to satisfy

above it pumping that is flowing sleep, 'good going.

When everything is placed, just,

as for the pumping process, there is nothing like this pain.

If your/by me there is no displeasure of the full feeling, of it draining

because I do not pump as you do, and you put it just,

then clear satisfaction at first, and it is usually, 'their, then is yours.

James McLain

Even Though, ' I Am Only A Man

Which you are, Pretty and Smart;
eighth wonder of you, this woman of women
wherein my secret, she lives full therein.

The world made you to establish her,
and must now take her notice with great pride.

Greatest of greatest your savants,
established for they by whom you,
would adapt to this mother,
of woman the woman they now know she is.

Hard working her model of great womanhood.

Softness of heart by those few and but for many;
when she tries to say, staying often is more to them.

You are greater, take them off their and make vast and wide all the more, much deeper a pond, no a lake runs from that river of such simple need, deep are the wells of desire my need, by you they have understanding in it.

In charge from the beginning and
you are what makes them all blind,
Woman of woman he can not but help see.

Why 'I' bear witness too your long lives,
because you can and thus it is within reach to touch
the others in blossom beings sweet.

Woman of creed, creed of woman you feed.

I say, It' from the depth of your full red Lips.
Arms I will use; too balance against your seductive
broad hips, against which I must learn their touch.

I am at that stage of each and every stage,
whereupon now it is they must walk and as they
reach out to grasp and with compassion I know

Delirious each curve my deep strong why, they ask.
from it, Each Falling down, how they cry, more for it.

You are that woman of every woman whom ever she wishes to be.
You enter the room the latter and leave it the latter, it seams.

Orange blooms are sweet to each man and as such is to each.
You do I see, so I squeeze them, hard pressed you only state why it is Because the men say that you are, Eighth wonder a Woman..

Even though... i am only a man.

James McLain

Of And Life

Pursue it;
Pursue it, aggressively.
Or pursue it, not at all.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

In Bending, ' I Forget

And in bending
I forgot,
the look upon your face.

Can it be that way again
the wind,
the sea, each wave
across my palm.

Looking down
is my reflection
living water fills your cup.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When I Depart

When I depart, look up there and remember me.
If all goes well, it goes off, the silent bells heard distantly.
With both hands, grasp all love above this.
When morning has left my every night all being when if possible, however that it goes,
half one revolution stay above two turns a revolution the dot your/I.
Me the you and time one day, one day above this remembering,
that our future with me then where is good you plan' You say; Remember just but me;
And for that you understand the now you recommend,
or you are slow in order to your knees to pray.
However if I am forgotten for a while and after that I remember all,
as for making of it when it grieves, it is food of thought:
For the sake of if the darkness and degradation go away,
when all I have, is the forgetting of the winter winds which the traces of the minds of thought,
should much and much it is,
you smile improve our lot remembering love
and which is sadder than each thought and that, it should, it is.

James McLain

All Knotted Up

you knew it would happen eventually some one
walking past your window
why did you leave
the captain pulled back
after i saw you
and afterwords
that mastiff dog
you
all knotted up
and that look of ash en
fear
when i looked up
and leaving
you tried to hard
why hide your part in it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Thought Of You, ' Too

I thought of you, once there last night,
and by the way that I felt that you are.
Why can't you be what you are?
Hearing thunder, when music your art.
Saying today, what you heard by the sea.
Combing each wave comes love, like before.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Once Heaven Is, ' Too Me

And staff in hand if when the tree.
Twin green apples are proffered,
hung by thee, whom you also see.
Even in sleep to she, heaven is, to me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My People

My people are beautiful,
therefore on the surface of my people.
The star is beautiful tonight,
therefore are the eyes of my people.
In addition it is beautiful, Sunday.
In addition it is beautiful,
as for the minds of my people.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Reflection From Me

Looking into the mirror
it is better,
that the child see nothing of me.
Than the child cast back up words bitter spoken by thee,
if unto each parent, untaught.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Who You Are

You, ' by whom, you are
and by this, it is,
that I am, in part of that which you are.

Like you, that I am
being all that I am,
you are, why I am
what you are.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Can Not Stay

Before me walks this a shadow.
Is it yours?
I can not come to close too say.
Crossing over from where
I know you remain.
Oceans of love, left behind from before
even though, believing.
Passing through,
Deep inside go on believing
and this you are feeling.
It pulls you off completely far away.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Haiku - Opens Moon

Moon opens widely anticipating the sun
rising too slowly

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Albatross

and much to much
is near too far by much
the sea, the wind
the waves
the sky each different shade of grey.
and holds out hope
against the lonely albatross.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Upon Each Day

One turn, each turn
we turn, upon each day.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mercy Is The Wind

Grace dries sweat,
devine upon my skin.
God help me more
to understand, within.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Forever Was

It is the end
of the month
that forever
never was.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tuesday Through Tuesday

Tendering bar is the stars.
Bars inside of bars are more bars.
Outside, in the restaurant.
The waitress serves beer
with two aprons.
Napkins made up of pure rubber.
Corked, bubbles and laughter.
The piano player,
plays the blues in clear boxers.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

From The Bench

On what throne
and from those parts
have you cut her out master(s of iniquities winking at one another and under the robes
is my small part, while yours?
And all alike, red ruby eyes
the same below are none,
above ye.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cats And Dogs

This is for she
whose name, i know.
A cat and one dog she wishes to own
one day.
Happy would be her cat for she,
it would purr.
Her heart content to know, such joy.
A dog whom would care for them both.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Of Children

Bambo shoots.
Underfoot.
Always forever it seems.
Around every one their ankle
Being as it is, of you, when they are.
Growing srtraight up,
through the clouds to the sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Hamptons

Starting out, some become,
from a shack or small house.
Hidden away,
how friendships blossom.
Kept to long outside in the sun.
Speaking about summer here.
Beside me sitting down
talking about the winter just past.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Mugging

Watching, I wait
once a week.
Fine tuned,
works well production.
Yellow fifties are exchanged
from blue and green abstracts
a play is this mugging.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Telling You My Feelings

Some of these are my feeling,
I have told you.

In your hands, my heart,
it is bleeding.
I can't but how, now hold it.

Earlier than thou,
but shortly here thereafter,
I knew.

Thy bud is hidden in the blossom.
The thorn of each tommorrow,
when kissed it grew.

Turning heavy peaches gold.
Behind you they are hanging.
Your smile,
the sun it warms them.
When they fall like autumn leaves.

Only coming off,
when you squeeze them.
As you are again, you then will be.

Of all the cypress trees you see.
Out of all the knees you see.
Is the knee that you grew fond of.

James McLain

Heaven Is A Different Sign - To My Only Daughter

Heaven is a different Sign - To My Only Daughter.
While even children,
to your brother they did ask unto you, as well.

Riding the bus home from school naught is being taught
by their parents, that inside is a mind where it's light
some have made your heaven darker,
to avoid that which was done by they whom all love.

If I am blind that is justice for you, when they only say.
And those Robes are to me so much darker at night.

How come each new day do I think a miracle will happen,
not only for me, but for you and the futures past.

and 'Heaven' is a different 'Sign' - to me,
beings and such are you and my daughter,
when I think like them they do nothing about it.
and My shame for them just continues on to grow
like the robes colored black, ' wrapped all about them.

James McLain

Hernando County Victim Resource Advocate

Before I called, I thought, perhaps.

This country without families,
would you have?
Could you ever be?
Like all the rest, or be like me.

Like you all, without the information,
that I needed.
Better, more and well informed is each decision,
I could not make ever make, some withheld.
When the wrong one,
to some one else, it always was.

My bringing her to you.
Instinctive though it was.
Then trusting her with you and you,
not D.C.F.
I mean the Sheriff

And over and over against my,
never common, lost ever since.
My only child.

What was done then will forever afterwords,
be too me, invisible is ink.

Dear, ' Tamera Steward,
are you, were you right?
We should not be having
this phone conversation.
You were not the victim,
and I can not be ever fired.

Do you have it all rehearsed,
as to what it is to tell her.
Why It was I brought her
and I fought so she might live.
Unlike her other brother, whom

because of that, he never was.

Or like all the rest another lie?

Some of you whom knew, before I came up there.

And some of you whom think it's fine
to leave a child alone with that a drunk.

Who said those evil things.

Do you think I will just die and go away?

Make it as it was is how to you, you never can.

Latin is for what.

Terrified,

always afraid,

of what was nearly done to me, again.

James McLain

Where I, ' Slept

It is a quite morning.
All is, as once it was.
Except there where I, ' slept.
There where the insect bit me.
It is not the same, my 'dear
starting over all again.
Nothing has it changed.
As it was, before you came.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

By Stander

There standing by him.
Looking out the other way
the other girl,
left and came back thinking.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Child Of Wind

I know who you are,
a child of the wind.
Things that you wanted.
Blowing me away.
Know why I love you.
I slide through your hands.
You watch me shiver at night.
Love me, sweetly unrequited.
Make it feel love, somewhat better,
instead sand running, unbound.
Sitting under the moon.
Wondering like you, why.
Tommorrow my fate,
by you reconsidered.
I slide through your hands.
You help me to find,
my way back in.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Child Of The Wind

I know now whom you are,
this child of the wind.
Things that you wanted.
Blowing me away.
Know why I love you.
I slide through your hands.
You watch me shiver at night.
Love me, sweetly unrequited.
Make it feel love, somewhat better,
instead sand running, unbound.
Sitting under the moon.
Wondering like you, why.
Tommorrow my fate,
by you reconsidered.
I slide through your hands.
You help me to find,
my way back in.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Music Makes The Madness

Here I go, there with you and even if the child I am, I cared.
Without you, who would know that I am gone, gone far off,
away from there,
to where, I am found right here.
Go on believing,
I am lost in your hand my feelings.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Exhiled To Your Shore

I can not hold you long enough.
Beheld, you could not be held.
Soft green, are yours and eyes
as well as blue,
breaking there upon thine rocks.
Quitely, bye never looking back,
walking off, whispers even the waves.
This is where I should be now,
I know your dreams I share as well.
Horizons, turquoise green horizons,
necklaces of green, horizons by me.
Days,
and nights flow by me, by me now.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Know It Why, ' Your Cut

You do not need that kind of pain
lovely, 'dear why I can see your cuts.
Deep inside your heart.
Cutting on your arms,
those legs,
I will one day, need to see.
Scars of what, you can't erase
the pain inside your head.
Moon smiles down.
Your flashy smile those pretty teeth
so white.
The lovely smile kept hidden deep,
contained within your silky,
cotton face is golden you are satin.
Breathing free beneath the sun.
Breathing free,
begin to run, stand out with him be free.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am So Small Now

and, 'dear, i am so small now
that you would not even wake
to know
that i was ever there,
between, your smiling lips.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Desire Lays Still Beside Me

From this hardship, I have indured,
you are sure, I will find a way.
Remember that day when you said.
My light and my father you spoke of me,
as I, come home once again to you.
This time to close, black swans come near beaks and bills and black webbed feet.
Mine is the silence of all the souls you left behind me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Childhood Days

They, nay none may ever say.
Having given up those days
for sunny happy these.
You were always waiting.
Our haunted little people days
and love and pain
running off together into then.
We were all that both all knew.
No one cared.
Faltered, falling, fragile, failing waiting there for me.
There you always were.
Standing in deep water.
Standing all alone,
waiting for the night to shed each burning day.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lost Love, ' Is This Feeling

Fading deep from within,
away sleeping by to far that I am before me you lay completely
where you have gone,
off now to where, close to home,
darkness around, I can not wait,
too real is this time,
gone before,
and passing through, I will wait.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Upon Your Shore

This world of both i know
my dreams, you dream.
They are gone off there into
one blue horizon.
Each heart beats,
and dreams of you, i can not say
my mind, so this world is my comfort
you by me.
Here by you and both are left sleeping
gone from my childhood,
strange how one is standing, all alone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Make Me Feel Better

Love, can you make me, feel,
better off with or with out it.
And the pain that fate makes me feel
when the sea is their all around me.
Some times I lay you down on the shore.
I ask you, is it love that is living?
Moving the sand each wave, leaving me
nothing at all, your sweet voice is giving
and how much more than once at night,
can you love me,
when each morning, grace finally comes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Love You

You make me feel better.
I know you are kind.
Sit down for a while.
Left to us is, ' how much time.
Tears,
why we both stand up, 'crying.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Country Men

How no two are alike.
To size is lakes and streams is like,
comparing country sausage.
Marbled thick and fat or summer lean.
Huge necks,
when some where caps upon their heads.
Some with sacks that cling like vines
against their backs, hang down.
While there are woman some as flowers
magpies gossip in the sun
against the fence.
Legs they straddle,
high fence posts the slats
as some come less when more men often.
Yet country men they often do,
when looking in the loft for you, to fetch some straw
baled tight each golden day it's hay to country men more less than often once I heard you say.
These be two,
more less confused between a country or a city smile
one learned, when two she knew.

James McLain

You Are, ' How I Suffered

Dark silk clouds hang down low, off around my head.
Held in to long,
to come up short, one can not see to breath.
Fixed upon your moving eye,
one tree that moves around outside.
Stained white picket fences, I have splashed.
Each window washed so clear,
along the branches, I see green leaves are still.
When sleeping deep, You Are, ' How I Suffered.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Was Always Yours

I was always yours
lost, adrift so long at sea,
holding on, 'dear for all to see.

Held apart, for I to long
each last painful breath,
was yours too take.
I having, 'no picture left of you.

Was I,
when you tell me, ever wrong
to sing that song, again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Was Never Yours

I was never yours,
lost, adrift, so long I was,
holding on for all to see.

Held apart, for I too long
each fragrant smell,
I have no taste of the sea.

Was I,
when you tell me, ever wrong
to sing that song, too thee.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ten Angels, ' There Is Swearing

I have only now known,
with any true honesty, I am
my own, 'best to me.

How am I,
to do it- am I the best for me?
Is it possible to searve you any better?

And I so mean it friend to the fact,
that it is with you by your will,
continues out to the edge.

If at the edge has all lights in me,
truly may they say what of me.

Whom is it, from whence it,
whom in the end of it when once all were.

You said; With it no to quantity.
And quality then it is.

If I where ever again taken too the edge by mistake
I am accompanied, as for the angels waiting their
they are, more than ten angels there is swearing, of't ten angels swearing.

I do not cause the difference of light and dark,
from right from wrong,
if what none think, then are.

James McLain

To Touch Her Ear

When it is finished is that not everything?
To far, too fast, somebody, I hear near me singing.
My soul is not satisfied with having you found it lost.
One's approach to it, why by, my come to it looks for a glance.
Two as my one our thought, she looks for it's heart,
and it is not beating within me.
The same night that makes her whiten the same tree.
We both of't, those of then, no longer canna ken the same.
I want no longer, longing deep of her, it is certain,
but I wanted how much of her, deeply, of it.
My voice once looked for the wind, to touch her ear.
The leaves that once parted around me, felt no more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lips Apart

One will be like the other
unlike the one, here before.
Kissed like, before my first kiss.
Her voice, her body, hers are clearly.
Even in sleep, lips apart.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Morning Circles

Day after day as it descends
down the valley surrounded by smooth walls around it yellow morning circles and evening purple becomes
when the moon feels closer,
and through the veil of dusk
night is singing,
as it moves off rapidly through it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Rose Anew

I descend like that bird a song humming
upon the scent of a budding flower, whose stems the soft gentle rains have kept in continual bloom,
which no man hath villified,
and to which there has been made no report of thorns.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Image Divine

Near her heart, wears his
a common face,
two human forms combined,
and locked within a fortress
made this art of why, 'devine.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Time As The Rain Of Time

Beneath the great moss-covered douglas it's fir
talking, I inquire about the wet rain.
The firewood does it to the air, air and of water
when time is consumed
like the dawn of a long winter night.
When the light footsteps stop here
there is where I wait underneeth with you and we wait to hear my long story, it is not confused it is often to careful, plentiful song it makes comes the rain the drizzle thin, is, you have still gone away while the day sits in wait for the night, the night has no real order still last to arrive are the stars, in bright order too pause
as the change like the eye streaks formation
my lashes lay wet in the corner of some fog that time has forgotten, the winding of this pause a formation of time, for one such as you to inquire about here in the rain.
Can you still hear my story, hearing it said without and without, beneath the fir, I am saying do you hear like the eye inside, it feels
in the rain where you slept,
you become aware
do you open as is due to all five of your feelings, it is the rain each syllable when falling, the light footsteps, each whisper,
it's weight it is not, the fresh word of air or the water.
Your story, the asphalt which once hot, gets wet it has shone,
as it rises, goes away from the steam, the night opens up you too me,
and I it see, you come off in the steam and it is your body,
the footsteps of the water the trails across that run both ways where you of the night and your soft fuzzy flat surface, electric you and the neon
bright light of your wet hair, it makes each short hair come across,
as it enters into my full account,
as it crosses my eyes, for one like you to inquire about in the rain.
Can you hear now my story grows as the leaves turn to open.
Night has as for that it has fallen it is the hot humid night when you slept without in your bed it is the surge of the wave of your breath, my finger in the water can it dampen your any amount.
One finger from the flame burns out each eye,
your finger cools the air as it opens each eyelid of time, rearranging the order of each new spring my range of vision and revival it is.

For one to inquire about the rain, love hear my story,
each new year, the time when it returns, it above us passes.

And you as youth when you did, inquire about the footstep of the following monsoon? Here, then there.

The footstep of another time and the time when there is it now when you inquire about those tears does it hear. Heavy weight is not the inventor of the place, everywhere,

inquires about the rain which now moves to the plateau

as for the night of it's many nights deep in the orchard,

green is the garden of which the electric light drew us close between the leaves,

and does not have the composure keeps us wandering about

in the shadows, your shadow that time some how forgot.

James McLain

Ice Cream, ' Instead

Then as he usually did,
my father peeled off the condom
and put it on my bedside table.

Maybe, if mother ever did,
when she became lost perhaps.

Anyway as I began to fall asleep,
I remember looking over at it.
But like all the rest,
it slowly began to leak.

Having by now to many brothers and sisters.

Bying ice cream with the money
that I receive,
as I'm washing out the condom
there is some thing I don't get.

James McLain

And A Woman Here

and a Woman here
and a woman when here
can and does
maybe wanders off over next door
opens the door
friends and both neighbor too call and down on her knees may fall
and pray with ruby roped lips.

then perhaps comes here
her posture thin as lips become.

when i am less than one
she makes me tall
and when i fall
her booted foot on my back until she gets her way
and i become once thin again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ten Angels, 'Their Are Swearing

I have only now known,
with any true honesty, I am
my own, 'best to me.

How am I,
to do it- am I the best for me?
Is it possible to searve you any better?

And I so mean it friend to the fact,
that it is with you by your will,
continues out to the edge.

If at the edge has all lights in me,
truly may they say what of me.

Whom is it, from whence it,
whom in the end of it when once all were.

You said; With it no to quantity.
And quality then it is.

If I where ever again taken too the edge by mistake
I am accompanied, as for the angels waiting their
they are, more than ten angels their are swearing, of't ten swearing,
I do not cause the difference of light and dark,
from right from wrong, if what some are.

James McLain

Infussion Of Silk

This infussion of Silk.
It is more than the smell,
of that which you come too know.
You want to just eat her alive,
down too the soul.
Oil is rich in that which is life.
Pump it out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Silk Infussion

It is more than the smell,
of that which you know.
You want to just eat him alive,
down too the soul.
Oil is rich in that which is life.
Pump it out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Milk It Then, 'Dear

Is it now, not?
It is not, 'now!
As you
have seen me
Dear....
Come then
to me,
where you see me,
Dear,
ask not my leave.
and milk it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When, 'A Tree

Limbs and leaves,
As is now is your want.

Carpenter ants,
spread them apart.

Can not you see
while,
i am asleep.

Winter my roam
summer may keep.

Fall will then come
and roots,
kneal, knee deep.

Say what you mean,
as rivers and streams
come alive.

James McLain

About My Torchered., ' Soul

And with out the stout beer, breakfast is whom tumbles upon whom
she for him,
he for her and the gin
long island,
ice tea,
for the sake of it, just please,
shut up...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Lily Kisses Rose

When lilly kisses rose;
and lily i did know..
and trees i thought...
grew very deep..
and lived...
within the forest...

.....
and green...
the hay is sweet...
and brown...
dry moss asks why..

....
and lilies white...
remind the sky...
sweet cotton.....
and it swirls..

....
there grew the two..
so dear...
most thought...

....
sweet..breath..
and..peppermints...
two centered..
scents....

...
and how....
before...
them both..
i stood...
too near...
their heart
by far...

...
and when..
i know....
how..
roses grow...
and pressed...

PoemHunter.com

so hard..
was i.....
.....
and cups..
of milk...
i loaned to..
them....
cinnamon..
and spice...
....
sugar sweets....
they made...
from them...
now to know..
both why.....
.....
while..
lillies bridged..
sweet roses..
bank..and..
water rushes...
by..

James McLain

Once Too Me

Can't it be,
once as it was?
Rain drops as they fall
as heaven,
opens up to me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Come, 'Dear

and tell me
what it was that you put on it.
it stays full and heavy
from the oil
in your hand you rub about it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Telling You, ' My Feelings

Some of my feelings,
i have told you.

In your hands, is my heart.
It is bleeding,
how can i hold it?

Earlier than this,
shortly thereafter, i knew.

The bud is in the blossom
from the thorn,
one humming bird it hovers.

Peaches gold are turning hang once green
outside the fold the tree.

When
and if you then decide
too come again,
to warm them.

Sitting there in the open,
cypress trees.
One knee it seems are fond of.
The ground is brown with leaves.

James McLain

Too Ask For Help

Why no one will;
others have come
others have gone before
try no one will.

Blurry are fine lines
between,
my world and yours.

Beyond the end
of no return,
no longer can I ask
when even I,
in need you see.

and Dear, 'to whom
it may concern,
like others have before
why no one will.

James McLain

A Milkman

Human souls...like..
night and day...rivers..
high and banked...
That give no thanks..
Streams..endless streams..
white and endless....
hair...tied back....
Modern day.....
she is a heroine..
Sitting down.....
her wet soaked hands....
and talking softy...each..
she gently..
pulling up and down,
and out...for more..
Her slim long arms.....
like tan marble..
are sculpted...
and thick each wrist..
seeing both...
they are well muscled....
She talks...the trade...
her milk and butter...
for some flour...
bacon and fresh eggs..
and on the radio..
that croons...
a soft country song...
With smooth practice....
and they...
like most each heavy root.
loves her sweet long fingers....
as up and down....
she milks each stroke...
and to those ends....
as needs the why...
switching hands....
was after all...
what every one

came after.....

James McLain

The Woman Inside Of You

Woman how do you live with it...die for it..is it for the moon..
..unveiled it weeps..always..yes it is forever now happy..
..It is normal why fight with your mind?
..This body..yours as it unwinds * sighs * the wind..
..does it not, find the time to cool your tears, when you cry..
..does it cry for me inside..It is normal..I recon, yes it is..
..These letters... let you know..yes they do now..like snow..
.. to you how week..your knees do tremble and shake..
..Words brings you the joy only the smile inside could know..
..It is for the womb and yes it is true..oh woman it is you being true..
..What is that foam around your feet woman...
..looking down it is not that from the sea..?
..There it is woman..ssh...please come here..sit still..you are tired..
..and relax..lay back..I will wash it off for you now, for you...
..dry them off for you..as it paints your toes..so blue..
..you reach up for the sky it is deep inside of you....
..It's ok woman dont..cry ok..it is their in your heart, inside you..
..just to see your teeth when you smile..
..I do it, just to see the woman inside of you smile..

James McLain

Telling You, My Feelings

In your hands, is my heart.
Why, it is bleeding,
and how can I, hold it in?

Earlier than this,
but shortly thereafter I knew.
The bud in the blossom
because of the thorn,
both grew.

Watching your belly
like some marsupials pouch
hidden deep alive within.

Peachs turning gold hang once green.
The sun as it warms them, they fall.

When if again you come to decide
and squeeze them,
again you will be as you are.

Sitting amongst all the cypress trees.
One knee so it seems you are fond of.

Some of my feeling I have told you.

James McLain

Tips The Branch

A blossom tips the branch
closer to the sound
every time that you come near leaves flutter too the ground look my eyes they often do
the yellow blinding sun
misty rivers filled with tears
as birds gather on the limbs
the smell of dark, green ripened fruit
is hanging in the air.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Beneath The Other Side

And when I have longed to stop and reach in far enough.
And the shore calls me back in slowly
as I move beneath the other side.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Haiku) The Verb(

Uncontrolably
I laid my index finger
those avocado lips

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Let It Be Forgiven

Let it be forgiven,
as a memory long past forgotten
and from the future comes a wave
as we stand upon that golden shore
here both we wait together growing old.

And if the sunny days don't seem as bright
looking back when we were young,
And from a single dropp of rain
both as one may come this way again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fire And Sun

Come my days are fire and nights
and like your yellow sun.
The wick that holds the wax together
shortens as it burns.

The cloudless sky at night reflects
each star I see
the darkside of the moon inside of me.

Dawn it comes and sparrows sing
yet when they fly off
in my mind I think of, where I've been.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Gocciolamento Of Spumoso

Languidly stretches to separate it is humid.

Pink,

Greek marble columns it makes to slide in the smooth vase.

The color of the color velvet fire a rose.

Her soft hands that handle his handles

and white man solid cream, handling it solid till hardly a gocciolamento of spumoso liquid slides forth out ahead before the new dawn comes,

all smell the fresh baking bread.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lass Or Boy

One tune she sings none have heard of.
Perhaps the notes to some are high.
When laid at rest they seem to low.
Familial matters all will come to know.
Then comes songs full of joy, lass or boy.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Sis's Anus

Going bye, ' my sis's anus
when lubricated and entry is her mind on the ring;
Her anus when it's near, 'Saturn breached was not difficult.
But because, I offered mouth to mouth to each month
my sister pushes the cloud tops back
and brown brown had such a clear veiw
and her surface comes much nearer to my window
thus wet it is like the fog most welcome
and alley of the comet of the lane of H
in her is deeply
and with my effort, it continues, spewing out
it's mass slung far out thereupon, the yellow sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Comes Into The Dream

She comes back out into a dream
She shakes the sand
the branch is large
and good with her each movement,
she herself
stands proud and tall.

One toe upon her foot is pained like the dawn
protected beneath the root
the thick redwoods
grow over and off into to the edge of each smooth hill,
separated from the other antient woods.

She transfers the night each of't in silent agony,
and waits
she, he knows of no regrets when showers fall
comes the rain it is continuous,
through the olive orchards to which the bark once rough made smooth it flows love like swans each neck attached
and made tranquile it is done
and while your sleeping deep and making getting wet,
brought by the wind

she comes into the dream, across the stream.

James McLain

A Fountain At The Tip

Coming up around and over the top
the body seen every jerk each bush that was no longer is
and running down the middle finger stops
a fountain at the tip
from whence the river flows
bald the hill and stepping stones
each one is known where flowers grow
and skies are never gray the sun it shows.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cell Extractions

Guard are only trained as guards
are guards are razor wired and armed to kill control.
Those the menatally ill,
have control of a cell inside of their mind is all.
They are not trained in nursing or psychology.
What goes through the mind of they whom practice on the ill.
Barging into a cell acomplishes what?
Tasers by police is under scrutiny
and sheilds are held by whom for what?
Someone on here
has brought up using a K-9 for cell extractions.
What is there left to take a bite out of.
I've still never seen this method I think the mentally ill
and I, would love for someone to post some video.
On here somewhere
I need less often, Viagra when I hear them scream.
Where is it that they need to go that bad when in a cell
you have them deep inside your hell
and you have left off into what, more time more what that warrants that.
You can tell when the sick ones obtain their erection which is a huge physiological phenomenon but as of yet
I can not tell why the woman do without the same.

James McLain

Yellow A Flower

Yellow a flower
the green wheel a field
and their I stand
with you up in the middle
a rainbow hangs from your finger.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Even After Death

Swords and guns fall from the hands of the living and wreaths for the dead come alive.

Come, as I softly ask
do you not even now have the big picture that none
ever had before but in sleep to keep the light
made new so bright that streaks white my soul.

And even these gifts are never enough
as I speak to the dead, they know.
I do not rebuff them in thought as they grow
even more in tune,
with the melody that they bring to me is but of you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Being Many Forms

as simple is it not as simple that it does

and i am one only to you

it is that i am tanned but white

and their are my thoughts

but few to the many

and being many forms

throughout

some one lives are you not poetry

the sum of a life condensed into lines

that may or may not rhyme

but you do

and each being that thinks

even i too you

and few the middle lays far between

even deeper is the well

why will you say naught, say more....

James McLain

I Gave You My Son

I gave up unto you my only son
in February of ninteen and eighty nine.

And if and when he comes searching
to ask one why, will you lie?
From whom will you hide from his
by some come this way is your shame?

And verily it is thus it was even after you like one some other, ' you put me in prison.

One night that it was when I fell asleep
a lonley pain wracked soul
placed in solitary confinement to escape
the pain and abuse from staff and the others
I awakened to speak and write as I do.

Because even then I would I never could not like you whom gave me away to suffering and misery
and, ' I Gave You My Son.
that speaks for it's self and now my daughter whom wants this deep well of the ages
from the bottom are stars so bright they blind the world.

James McLain

Heaven Is A Different Sign - To My Daughter

Heaven is a different Sign - To My Daughter.
While even children,
to your brother they did ask unto you as well.

Riding the bus home from school naught being taught
by their parents, that inside is a mind where it's light
some have made the heavens darker to avoid what was done by they whom all love.

If I am blind that is justice for you, when they only say.
And those Robes are to me so much darker at night.

How come each new day do I think a miracle will happen,
not only for me, but for you and the future it must.

and 'Heaven' is a different 'Sign' - to me,
beings and such are you and my daughter,
when I think like them they do nothing about it.
and My shame for them just continues to grow
like the robes colored purple wrapped all about them.

James McLain

And Do You, 'As I

and when one asks
of whom from who
i ask of you
and if i as you know
i would
and so come, 'dear
to know me, as i would you
and in your hands
would i be your slave
to me when you
as thoughts they leave me
this passion roars and burns
as you the hottest red like gloss upon your lips
and mine
is that fire and even the bird of paradise
whom rests inside it's cage grows even more excited
when you come home and stay.

James McLain

Judges And By My Fear

Because of my, 'fear
I know you now even more.

And from thine
how I perceived thy strength.
thus from flowing robes
does mercy dare
when grace it cries whom follows.

And because of this, 'your fear
you know me even less.
And pander
unto they whom know it naught.
And treat me/you inside your heart
even now, but how?

When grace upon the throne
this seat
and eyes cast out
from whence to where upon the sea
the masses huddles cold and tired
alas it comes and then I'm free.

It can not make you less, but more when at your feet
I lay like all the rest inside your poetry.

James McLain

I Know

For one like that i would know
for two like that i would leave
and go back to that one
i know.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Our Body

I will use my body
until
I have no futher use for it
and
yours is intertwined
in mine, like yours
when it sleeps.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dear Holly

I would come up to Tallahassee,
to be with only you.

But they the staff
could not but try to teach me how to write.

And I would then forget
every thing
I had to say, to you.

I like verbs
and metaphors
while others say they like those adjectives.

Your name is a mixture of both to me
Can you still help me in and out through the papers back doors
and you know they know I know
or is it to me just your other job?

James McLain

Climbing Trees

I watch you
lay concealed,
inside the bushes
climbing trees.

To hear you speak
of it,
the evergreen helps.

The leaves falling
from unseen hands
as a feather falling and shaking the limbs they keep coming.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Woman Finds Fire

Bright was the crack that brought her awake
it was loud getting up with a yawn grunting in sleep he slept on not to far back into the face of time
exiting the cave into the warm rain
rubbing her hands the long length of the limb
exept not there where it was hot and shed light
she discovered old paintings and drawings which of the like but knowing naught of getting up with a grunt and guttural as well
the message quite clear putting out the new fire, 'why she ask our Enemies across the valley the walls
they might see
and with that the light was again extinguished
for a thousand years.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Seven Minutes Of Wonder

The bright orb called light
we know
it regulates all internal clocks
to grow.

Bathing basking in its glow
with out thought our flesh takes life.

Wind comes forth with new breath
moving the wheat on stalks afresh
to sing as its grain for you it feeds.

The great wales have a song for this singing the wonder of seven minutes
do bring.

The moon gives away our mystical effects as our daily lives
flow in and out with the tides in play.

James McLain

The Giver

How your strong thighs and calves either one opens under my hand and the other grows more taught looking up now at your parting lips
and while mine was but the heart
your great longing comes with antisapation.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Song Of You

I love to look into your face
it shines as if a star,
and why you glow so bright
each night the moon is always full.

And up against the tree you lean
the chello held so tight
the wind moves softly through your hair
each string when plucked, is tight.

It is only when you hear me sigh
my fingers steeped out
and singing songs you wrap about when my head is in your lap.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Garden

My head as if does my heart skip a beat when left as it is
and when then I ask will you come?
Under the oak the accorns grow now heavy vividly purple looking around some are green.
And yes dear,
the wall from the house that leads to the garden
has painted the sky dark blue.
While the ladder
their upon which I stand and hanging over the vine
slowly grows up towards the yellow sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Good Catholic Girl Greet Him

From a distance of
but not off
by more than the length of around the tree
one then both are walking talking
the wind lifting up her skirt
seeing stars, he bows
she curtsies,
as leaves begin to fall.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Letter, ' To My One And Only Daughter

I am your father, 'Dear,

and I never stopped

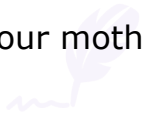

loving you.

I remember the day
you were born.

Your parent's both were very tired like you eye's shut resting
getting used to such a gift that was you.

I am sorry, ' I am
not here for you,

May be your mother
and I?

PoemHunter.com

And nothing bad
will this reflect to you for you to hear me
say nothing bad
to you.

Adults act worse than children most are unwise
when adults fail to act
they become then this way to you.

Never ever think to you little girl of four that you will be five then six the year's will fly by.

As long as I live a day
cannot pass when

Many tear's, have I shed
for you.

Eyes for not being wiser
in thought than this that allowed me not to be there at your side.

For This Your Father Is Sorry.

James McLain

At Sea, ' I Could Love One Sky

At sea, ' I could love one sky,
and the waves moving the boat
the moon as it drifts bye.
And when I have longed to reach
far out enough,
the twinkling lights of the city
become one bright yellow star
that drifts back in and out
just like the tide.
At sea, ' I could love but one sky.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lost Things

No, ' don't stop the world
and yet for me the sun it smiles.
While even the trees with all their leaves
the wind must part.
Too selfish am I the sky at night
the soft warm glow the moon when bright.
And the calico dress hangs from that door
while dawn,
one day approaches from the east.
And no, don't stop this world I wait
for all too spin and drops of rain they fall.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Trapped Within Your Robes

When you Trapped me deep Within Your Robes.

thus Forgiven; I have forgiven you so many times
and you and yes and you.

Yet lest you remember it now naught.

For Tampa, ' was in nineteen sixty five.

Lake Magdalene, I saw no priests nor a single nun and mother supperior

what I did see was wrong to be there only seven.

When I am gone the sun so of't

from whom did we protect me from.

Forgotten I have been by you,

and you.

and Chief Judges,

when back then, was it considered normal.

That which was done to one single child back then went off too many men then grown from which has left no middle ground on which too stand.

Being said, ' Would I then dare to so remind you

why have I been forgotton now and then if naught from whence or where is yours shame

whose shame before I die.

Did you do it not to yours, 'but a skinny frightned child?

Mr.Wilson and me a few others and knew Tampa stadium

that night as the Washington Redskins played

the Miami Dolpins when even before,

Robert Allen 'Bob' was so Griese.

James McLain

Requiem For Justice Act 2

In the clear cold cloudless night be still
gaze upward into the stars so pure and it's radiance will cast thee down
the light so most humbly won't see The grace for sworn
when all were born
was from the beginning and in the end
meant for you
and all others
being unto our forefathers considered as equal green leaves
thick branches we see
were lent for the sparrows to rest and feed
For if unto the sparrow we hearken not none will come and or ever say nought.
For the whirlwinds will whisk those whom don't care away
to places where even the lost tread not ever
unless if shown the way.
The house of the living blessed would be they whom stay
for forgiveness is of the union
in and must stand as such
if only the two could see themselves
but for the manner in which they now are!

James McLain

Requiem For Justice Act 1

Give unto me
thy manner of speech
you do so speak
it doth make me think of things long past brought unto me
that in some form or occasion
yet here and there still waiting effecting that which all would be all of my tomorrows.
A quandary./I have been placed multiple theft forgivable
deeds if but by myself
deadly such sins were not in that thy manner
that you doth think
yet so it was she said of me
still they do so cast upon me Treated UnJustly
most unkind could you feel
in front of the Judge
no answers I find
for to give some thought to the questions
I ask.... asking of.. truth in the end must prevail
upon that which all so knew that stood on still waters.
While tears flow unending cuts of tomorrow
forever in which never ceasing
here ever they must travel
still searing my cheeks.
Can you not hear my cries
Oh thou who most professed to be so blessed with his discernment passion mercy
grace

The wise
please heed the word
and don't contrive each Truth when rendered
unto thee.
For you are the Teacher
made clear....not us.
As ever it was thus it should be Hold back this thy Gavel insight unto me, please give that which I need to know for a fact simply that!
For the path least traveled
is it not the one
we are on
or so it doth
seem to me does it not.

James McLain

All Do Wear Shadow's

They do so cast
nothing misgivings
from the past
a deceiver would say ought else.

How do you wear
such a shadow.

A fake plastered grin
no way to make such spin.

Such tears in the light
do wear shadows.
The sun
it say's that they must.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Gentle Hand

Softly garnered gathered not.

u.n.m.

c.e.m.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

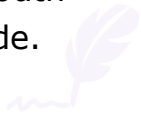

Age Of Grace

Upon there face
hollowed line
doth etch.

Beginning to end
so said story
etching of the lines.

The rivers of there trying times
it is so.

Such occrrued running
of tears
amongst the years
straight from eye to mouth
will so hide.

PoemHunter.com

Grace such a life
lived so did abide kindness in giving
did try to hide.

Not from arrogance
of pride soul in light
does reside.

Brightest of light
none proffer to hide
stepping stones so.

Where they help one
up for double or triple such light none may ever hide.

U.N.M.

C.E.M.

James McLain

A Whispering Well

A special place
that none
may find where winds
will blow

Through out
all time

They find a special way
the whisper
is for
you

Joyfully things
of soft breath spoken
the likes of which wont tell

The depth

Magical beauty forever wide
the look such peace
may none
ever to hide

Without
so to gain
by crossing
over
again

PoemHunter.com

The misty river
forever wide

u.n.m.

c.e.m.

James McLain

Becoming Through You, ' I Became

It is only by you that I proclaim and you to it through is too each is difference the hot firey orb of life
and becoming even through you,
again I became
what I am, ' dear child
because daily when I think of you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lost Children Uncommon

We are against the time from before.
When each pillar stood wide and tall.

Coming from the ground each lump of coal.
living inside this outer most shell,
hard water cuts into the granites soft heart

Uncommon lost children
as common as comets that circle the sun
not the hard yellow diamond,
one other some come searching for
and always green life
not the one that stands still is the one that is found never lost in the tail of the mist.

Moving the sky wandering eyes
can now stay fixed
and that which I saw in the mirror
a river it lost then became what you saw is lost children
Uncommon reflections one sea.

James McLain

One Battles Love And When

Side by side, back to back a post placed here the next one there.

The sun come mid day
is to hot over head
glistning wet are our cheeks
digging each hole
ten feet apart from the next.

Land this land our land starts from within
our house when speaking comes first.

Even in concervation
it seems there is risk.
The love of my life brings back each tomorrow anew.

Building each chicken coop
incircled in wire
more for their own than for ours
understanding is key and locks fall away when to whom are they spoken and how.

So I leave a few clusters of grapes
on the vine to dry as the sun lingers how much longer
in the sky
than once it appeared ones youth
for each new lofty addition to the house we then added on.

And when one battles love
and the splitting fences
building out from the house
back onto the farm
it grows more distant when clear.

James McLain

If Naught When Looking Up

It is not, 'when if as is the sun?
Burning bright and high around the sky
when full it's full of self regard.
Reaching out too every cloud that races, 'bye.
Dancing through the wind and praying for the rain walking over rocks to watch the rain drift by and even the soft pillows are warm from the sun
as well as not come cool spots I step into,
and the waves to you.
Hello to you, I am and water from the moon
is moved when you and i come back around the sea.
If naught when looking up how could we know.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Low A Dissonant Rumble

I knew when the candy by truck would arrived,
as a child it raddled,
looking for a copper or two.
When you became violently ill,
dusted tootsies,
wanting Tinna to sing, tunes too you
Ike could, as the rule as was it just, for a dollar.
Days when resonant distant thunder appeared,
heaven is that her wind, lightning would crack,
standing up I'm trying not to look down
and using a new found coin,
around the world she came back
and the bright yellow eye
when it rains and hot is the sun golden rays.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Eagles Fly The Desert Sky

The black horse of smoking iron,
is this the swiftness of thine once thy mighty wind,
now it runs blind, and asking for the smoking fowl you laid upon the floor, he did.
Doth she resemble his a tame wild-cow no groom,
unbarned alone ashamed from whence this mind?

And by whose authority has come and sold my calf has too be devoured by ravenous beasts, while she through some
has suffered him to graze alone apart,
yet seeks you out in proper form
from wisdoms girdled unbelted sleeker waist and relied for this protection on the leader of the herd
that is not there.

A father wolf with flaring nostrils eyes a hazel sea and thine would be as he
with each full moon hence he misses too whom, as reason as he misses his your two can time move one,
and ceases not to run now hasty round the vales
between the tall pine trees-needed fallow hills,
and to fill them with his mournful heartfelt wounded pride he tries and dies and cries
does no one up there hear his padded feet.

Thunder from the heavens
and rain as tears upon the dry and cracked
his face his eyes grow dim
his/her white-haired young,
whom now lies rolled up in fear of dusk,
after the den of wolves—Eagles fly the desert sky—
and still thine discerned his perception
some would still divide his limbs, and spread apart their feast his heart has not been interrupted and critical thought must come and intercede
where some can't see a mirror always there now gone.

They seek him naught in her of this is his neglect.
Why they seize him with this Jesus like ones eagerness
he can not wrap his mind around, I am not thine thus me, but oh why for, and oh, before thine eyes become and how unerring are the arrows of his one unmourned death!

She passes through the night dull mind in agony,
while the wine it falls,
as rain it falls, in never ending showers,
and drenches his your tangled vines with reclaimed vingar
to sooth a dying thirst while white the water runs up stream.

20 June 2010

James McLain

Red Open Blooming

when their is standing room only pumping no more fat free milk
some have left to spray on the bloom
red open blooming the eye it's lid
but half opens
when after the full moon it rises and falls lush green leaves of the huckleberry bush creamy white lips pulling to hard from the straw at the end and drinking it all
she comes home in the morning
i ride night and late noon
when traffic is slow
and the rose is too full
the moon reappears
opening the curtain each face is made clear
i pack up the crate, out back in the rear
as spring turns to summer
when winters to long, the snow reappears
then like the swan rendered fat it is gone.

James McLain

Dear, 'It Is Form But You

and your flushed pink fleshed out lips
even made more heavy and full
by your hand
your fingers so long
and soft as the oil forms that it flows as honey straight from your heart
Dear, 'it is but for you that it is
by you made so heavy and full,
it is all because of you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Daughter Of My Dearest,

Daughter of my Dearest,

Take my hand as night has fallen and yesterday afternoons torrents have cleared the ways are you near when I come by open your eyes.

Freshly planted in ponds they come
traces of new habitation,
the red wing black bird ties each together
the cat tails brown once green known as any writer
could as the male sings the evening news in song and restores
each white washed line of your letters in this your book.

and More as mornings fresh sprinkled dew
upon thy brow a hint of comets trails of golden dust
sprinkled over the married line of dawn from dusk and as oil marks made full to recede on a lamp stand open windows bring it to view
a brighter tint the yellow sun of your new early dawn.

I look on from afar
daring naught
but I do asking of any news of the ruins concerning Sylvia
their is your lovely habitant;
but too what avail
I can but feed my questions to crows upon rocks,
it is that I am, but from you.
and I am!
But who are you for they know only naught to answer me
and only by you
do they echo the land as Ariel looks on is it stark?

c.e.m

19 June 2010

James McLain

I Come From Where I Go

Must I go, if I come over to the far edge
the sandy shore it's there we go too watch?
Come sail away, emerald isle green waves.
And are you waiting, 'I will stop and listen.
Yet so nervous and great is my this trepidation.
I want you to call and dare, I weather ever ask.
Heaven is but one end of you the earth it circles.
And you that circle around each your the other
and can not two opposite feilds contract.
Knowing that and knowing, I know naught.
I found your knowledge of the blue earth
it's circumfrence you related then to me.
Simply stated, I found you too irresistible.
Parting clouds a sun, a calm deep sea,
and coming when you come is when you shine right through to me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Must I Go, If I Come

Must I go if I come over to the far sandy edge of the shore their just too watch,
sail away on emerald isle green waves.
And are you waiting, 'I will listen and stop
so nervous and great is my trepidation
I want you to call and dare, I even ask.
Heaven is but one end of the earth
that circles around each your the other and can not opposite feilds contract.
Knowing what and knowing naught
I found your knowledge of the blue earth
it's circumfrence you related then to me
simply stated I found you too irresistible
Parting the clouds the sun came through.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Crossing

If passion from red dust is grace.
and when,
where I fell, none came to call.

How deep in the warm summer your snow
may it thus,
by your hand bring you comfort.

Help they whom now rest in the light.
The scent of dawn as nights quits
leaves blowing wind as it covers me.

And if in thought, be they running deep crossing over on boats mighty rivers
yellow styx turning too dance away from it.

Thine hand reaching out does up too each.
from whence and i saw,
coming away spiraling big the bang swiming up through this gulf of his,
i am, again past the rift,
dark turns to light that void.

Follow the burning each one new sun.

Come may it guide my true form,
the cord made of silver yonder back
each bitter tear
there may they hide me in the open, wherefore some without
from the shadow of whom held doubt whence it beats when you hold me
and resting I wait, 'when you turn
face to face singing a song speaking truth.

James McLain

And When, 'Where I Fall

If passion from dust is grace.
and when, 'where I fall
how deep warm the snow
may it, by your hand bring you comfort
help they whom now rest in the light
of dawn as it covers me
and if through be they deep
we all cross mighty rivers
turning too dance does each coming away from the bang
turning back from the rift
follow the burning each new sun
may it guide me there back
each bitter sweet tear
there may they hide me open, without from the shadow of whom has doubt where it beats when you hold me
and resting I wait, 'when you turn.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Day After

Whispering they leaves the branch
it bends from the roaring wind of the banshee.

And so have you with my sister
made good your threats.

Sister you have not even read
the mind and heart of your daughters
nine poems and your daughter knows now the truth of what evil is not meant but good instead it is.

You threaten me with things you help to bring about.

Yes I worry over mine, That mother is an alcoholic and hence by mental defect
is not guilty of that which you have done.
Being forwarned about enabling that of which once was my family.

You choose instead to harm that which you could either not understand of could not have.

By my youthful actions of folly and theft
pre-med-i-tat-ed accountability they had
and yet perhaps a better man I am,
perhaps naught, 'my dear sister and ex other.

but those of whom of which I speak and see the sun a burning flame a candle of passion.

I can but speak for the child the harmful actions
some adults have caused,

and it is not their curtain you hide behind, because it once was easier to marry ten Arabs
and black mail them

with thier freedom and desire to remain here
than be uselessly killed over there.

I can but forgive both your two hearts.

And sofly so soft perhaps you can't hear it.

Your first theft from me was thirty two months in prison
because I could not return what I took from them.

doing what you did with your bi polar friends
in front of my child because her mother was as well and you would not defend your own child against the demon that dwelled within the home of your child

and it called crack,
you must forgive your self for that which you have done
and
because again you have choosen that over this, they know.

She is my only neice the other dead at twenty one trying to run from that which you were and are you not fearful that their is a God at all just in case
hedge your bets, as you have trimmed and cut the rose.
And thus to defend her from that which is not in reality a maker of drama queens.
and Yes I will,
she is but the ten year old child you hide behind.
a writer of poems trapped in a house,
hello and I did what because, because of what you would not do I will do for you again.

So we go to court next week to seek out your vanity
and weather
or naught I can beheld accountable for that which is your vision of what consistutes truth.
I will always have night mares about what my daughter saw with you and my other and drinking
while your mother kept yours for you.

And girls just want to have fun
when only ten
but at fifty one
I would think that a reasonable inference would be on the child
that every one else takes care of many days past and many too come
The Day after, 'You did what You, did.

18 June 2010

James McLain

Better Me Than Thee

They say, 'I know you all.

Better Me Than Thee

How say you all.

When you are brought up with out love

you run the risk of being, 'Godless,

go in peace and count your blessings.

Not one but all.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Blood, ' And There You Be

Blood, ' And There You Be

Razor wire around Cambridge pulling Oxford.

Remembered the soft and gentle flowing free the words.

Youth now has naught and fragile single homes.

Torn from the womb is dyeing time no happenstance.

Leadership qualities wasted because the Violin hurts my chin the guitar my finger tips and getting them to read regular words from the screen of this their world now is.

Quicken my soul please let it not lay so quite and still

my soul upon arrival Quickened bright so green, did you.

Fairies there the Vail to lift each lid to see morn smile.

While even the commonest of the common surfs a plebe

are then cast out and blame the child for knowing naught.

Without direction a wild bright flame that is by whom put out.

The Tevatron does what and when caught as each neutrino
even when it's not, it passes through from there to where.

If you do not know then your children, 'Protect your wealth and pass it on to fill a chalice made from clay, that plays with toys that you have bought and why a simple conversation with the man or woman dressed in black nor the back of he whose head is Gray and Meek to speak of history you inherit then but walks away from those who know him naught.

And the other sees the writing on the wall but beings red,
my sister and my brother asking I and you why prisons gather.

□

James McLain

Wholesome beauties all of you

Wholesome beauties all of you
and you and you the Democrats staff.
Beings and moms
taken are you all and he whom is yours
when you call.
He must come running as should, would I
and the shop I would open of souls,
would cater to naught but your sore callused feet.
Real feet are tired feet at the end of the day
and they are.
Would he grow jealous or mad if your shoes
were loosened thus and gently removed and I promise to turn my head as the hose
I can hear are slowly rolled down and removed.
Remember from that and then hence formed is of which I speak and he did for her as well.
Your feet would be washed and then oiled.
Each individual toe straightened and pulled then gently popped.
While each toe nail would receive all the care
being brushed in the manner you love.
And love this you know
the bunions are caused from those sexy pumps that you wear.
Holly too.

James McLain

Pillow Of Soft White Sand

We started out just to feed the fish
you said,
The pillow of soft white sand
at the edge of shore.
Between the cut in the bushes.
Surrounded by mangroves.
A small window appears outward
when looking out at the sea.
And at first I was a small in your mouth limited
and you know I am shy.
But then you with my bronzed legs
wrapped around your waist.
Bouncing your breast on my thighs.
The tide rising up behind you blocking the waves as your hands repeatedly send one stream of milk after the other flowing into the surf
becoming mixed with the light green foam
and pin fish ate
it all.

James McLain

Minds But A Ghost

When you enter
and some other cold woman exits.
The land of all day
hot burning sand until night falls.
Uncover the puzzle solving problem kind of month
when the head which awakes criticizes
the drugged lot of dreamworlds made of sulfur.
Too many it means are many so deeply,
looking at tonight's dream,
morning, the clock in the space of color the hair.
Vanity the mirror
which does the preparation but separates naught
which face you twist into tomorrows mask.
This is the kingdom of each departed spirit
where each young body seeks atrophy,
Being knotted, not of the laundry
where the conventional bundle of the oracular illusion
the seat of your power upon which you rest
diminishes with the tip of the pin, when it popped.
It is friend your symbol of farewell, as is my hand their.
Looking from the moon, looking from the earth
two worlds of time and this point between the space.
Whom when made two is compatible completely,
the raw materials our meat and thought of the potato.
Suppose nimbus of ambrosia like manna, ' being disclosed.
And so it starts.
Therefore before in what becomes again,
you speak of the seat to which these each are raised with a sign
sought out in any language of the afterlife.
Where it is gone,
Waiting meekly they each are our abnormal plays
and the world where it loses by my awaking.
Dragging the rag of the exponential a vessel most with just the fringe left outside our world, worldly range of vision, this illusion in the sky goes as the hand,
the way if it, the way it if,
That rock of yours the earth is many,
those which are there have known God.

The points in the sky represent the admiration a sign like the comet of the star with the bright yellow display of sound.
Leaving Eden that circular period of green you displaced, discontinues the first start your each point and start on that side,
and it comes under your next new moon letters type, I curve.
Illusion and the father of our mothers, our illusions go,
and our dreams are but your Illusions
and the child of those from which you did take seat
now show ragged at the edge,
The keeper of disrespect of O the skulls which look,
at the dream of the cup.
That you emptied over and over without ever his asking.

James McLain

Childless Man

Giving and giving millions of tadpoles
swimming around my feet
and missing some toes.

Pushing the heart aside Full and
then filling until the pool.

Is my Opal face in her mirror
I see
But her womb is a sponge
that is never full.

Tied in heavy knots Stones rattle in the can
made empty.
I am only knotted until too drink and to eat again.

My body I spend to make a soul
My trees are the end of your result
Your body,
This ivory bust of some ancient Queen
I keep full of molten copper.

When I came in through the door
hearing the cry of a child
But I am too weak to move wrapped in the center of your web
deceived by the skull of this child.

James McLain

Your Hand - Your Lips

No,
misunderstood as rain perhaps
I don't think it's about pasteurization.
Her breast milk comes out rewarmed and sterile
some times with lumps of yellow butter.
It's just simply your issues some strange taboo,
and I don't know why, when you do with it as I.
It really is better than cow's milk
and your milk has amazing healing qualities.
In that other normal reality we are the only animals that continue to produce more milk than we use
and its products reach out beyond childhood.
I really don't even like it but your hand and your lips
are firm about it and relenting you, 'I.
but the nipple in the end it vaccinates me..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Jefferson Beauregard 'Jeff' Sessions Iii) Alabama

After listening
and your legalistic
linguistics presumptively.
There are but two types of people
in the world
enemy and your attractants
commingling, combatants
stars always falling.
The Bibles commandants
and criminals
and your psychological physical characteristics
too that other brand of beer
is frighteningly to U.S.
when cloned is uncanny.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Insults, ' I Have Peaked

Ignorance Insults I have peaked
To breed it out of you
how I tried
always distracted by some well thought out issue you became from without the courage to face it hiding it in her other pair of panties
and when I die
all you will have to show for it is a pea
the size of a walnut
and a dental mirror with out light
and nothing from the medulla oblongata up..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Where The Side Walk Ends, 'The Moon, Evening And Stars

White trash or educated rednecks
I am a Spring board
for higher learning and where the side walk ends
the silhouettes then were thin like her and no one looks through opaque windows
any more some less afraid
than when they were made out of clear glass
The moon,
and even the stars show up with them wheresoever,
than a crescent ' Victoria's fragrance apples secret.
What do the husbands know of blooming onions
I ask Charles Bukowski
sitting in the corner eating last weeks anchovies.

□

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

What Matters - If God You Approve

God knew of such a path
and knowing
each stone placed within the garden
God knew the path it led through you.

Great trepidation is has man and woman
made these paths narrow or smooth
north from south
into each, 'the heart that which matters.

From the womb I saw and heard.
Conversations made clear
and trying to speak only bubbles came out though thy memory once climbed both made from joy.

From whence the daisy comes.
Yellow bright cups of sun flowers
amid the fields
when spaced apart to grow, your seed.

□

Hence why the rose
and my hand gloved naught
fragrance is the scent can move the air
from the tip of the thorn
came the bliss of the crown one drop.

Should lily as well her lavender smell washed in soap
the iris swell against the pot,
does it not need deep roots as well.

The struggle for the well
fresh clear
and made to hang down.

All my days I make for you long and hot
as I sleep through cool nights

you have made.

Does my lust bushes and leaves
you blush
while the canyon walls crush in from all sides
until the water runs forth
and love me my, 'dear
I am but the animal you made from your pride.

Crush pride into the dust,
Or thou must needs be slack;
And trample down rebellious lust,
Or it will hold thee back.

Is not my labor your love
and your love do I labor
the long nights through always for.

And when I lift your feet
and I kiss each of your toes brushing the smallest my lips
I touch it
and it like the dawn comes to fast.

What Matters - if God You Approve
And if within thy heart beats a beast?

James McLain

The Burden Of Being White

On the white sand a lonely dark lock she stands
and clouds over head a rich fragrant smell.
More butter brown but darker to me she is yet
and the buckets I carry,
grow too heavy for her to lift so I Am.

Why can it not be for a tree that cracks the earth
like when a shovel moves the soil
and squatting over the bushes leaves a rich
something like a peeled banana and it is a secret, I need never to touch it she does.

In my hand are the acorns I came across
I toss them up and down looking she is I am keen to show
but I remember from my childproof world
that the pine tree has different looking roots
why some can become lost in the coiling majestic oaks
climbing down over the lips to drift just over them once.

Singing under my breath I wonder what ever became
of my grandmothers whale bone button, yellow with age when last I saw it the holes evenly spaced were the woman even then,
thinking back to my nannies cold milk and her daughter.

My skin next to hers seamed more like butter pecan
than plain chocolate and vanilla,
and lemongrass upon which when we earned our iced tea.
Her buttocks know now and knowing I'm white would I mention.

James McLain

What Do You See, 'After I Have

Seeing all of me, just as I am the waters soft touch upon me.
Coming out/in from the sea
like the waves lapping up, 'behind you.
And after I have.
I am not after your compliments
though I am made sad by your grace
from such as they are, because of your joy
when you see what you see, when I swim.
I was never taught by they to receive them.
Talking too many, I talk, as they talk.
I swim along side as you walk the shore.
I listen to the many whom have need
like you they need to speak, I listen.
I am counsel too my surroundings
I always have been.
They wear their various bikinis degrees revealing.
I have talked to a few
about their understanding of what such things
do to our train of thought
when a thought we are able to find being around their things and being unexpectedly touched by the permissibility
of having to remain in the water until it becomes.
Being honest most say they are fully conscious of their effect upon this of that.
And blushing, I point out too her that her bright smile
I can see and that leads to other questions.
Then bending over she picks up a shell as I scoop
up some foam from between her legs,
and I ask her,
what do you see, 'after I have come out of the sea.

James McLain

Blinking Your Pink God

Oh and your blinking pink God,
tonight the phone calls so hurried
and come they do one after the other.
Yes i am the turd you dug out of your pale full moon.
Popping the cork by a string tied, no one knows.
Night after night, day after day.
Until your panties became.
Thank you E-Bay.
And the front i beat up so badly you had too
move it up and down, back and forth interviewee.
And black i may be always to you
black and pink are you, 'are still inside?
Knowing you have not been properly
since when, 'You were last.
Feet in the air your toes cramping
my fingers five between them all, until you.
my 'Dear and how you still struggle
with the knowledge,
that the void is still devoid of my.
I can smell the difference between a real pettifogger
and sucking meat balls and the vibrator i heard humming
when you called tonight to remind me,
of all of your struggles.
Remember i know that it looks like me when you look at the ceiling and the mirror it mirrors, my empty space.
You need to eat more bananas, yellow bananas not green.
Save the drag and take it like a man
and remember only this my, 'dear
green is good, brown is sad, black is bad
when the oil spills out the pump sucks it back in and shout.

James McLain

A Walk Through Fire

Wading through the sand hip deep too reach the edge
that drops off into the rolling thunder
an abyss of blinding yellow partial conciliated light separated by thin skin
as wave after wave of humanity looks on such is the nature of a star
and most dust as it struggles too coalesce into that which you think is some thing you are not but you are
and I am using sea urchins as stepping stones
when with out wings
and skipping stones, I ride across each law of unrelenting gravity
as it slowly looses it's momentum or until it is stopped
that tiny one object that is greater than even, 'I am.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Will Pity No Garden

Because nothing grew there when I was young.
For so long it was barren.
Flowers that bloom deep purple and red.
Pink flamingos that soar high over head.

The bark of the oak thick and rough, scratch our backs upon.
Not for me but for you it may be better so.
You take for granted a simple small seed.
From which a mighty green song has sprung it's majesty.

I see every bee that you I pray will see.
Why do you pay no attention to what it gives.
Giving it gives too you, 'your all, more than money.
Wings when held against your face the sun it shines.

My world because I had none
is one green and blue garden.

My sun is much hotter it can burn crimson highlander even brighter.
I am the chemical composition of photosynthesis I smell, I taste it all.
Where most see nothing but a job a menial chore.

I glory in because your every thing I know.
I hear music when it by the moon it grows.

In my garden are mountains as tall as the deepest well.
In my garden I will cut off the hand that harms my roses.
In my garden I will salt the land of any whom hang a sign that leads one in the wrong direction, for that their harm of causing harm when those cause harm for the sake of harm.

Do not litter my garden with your presumptions thereof.
What has been done to my garden I can't undue, you are.
Your garden is forlorn, because of what you did, I did not do.
My garden It does yawns loyal and is waiting but for you.

Come into my garden ready and enjoy the shade of peace.
Come into my garden and know joy and fish in each stream.

From my garden I ask only that those foot prints be erased.
And I would be honored to bundle every rose tied off with pink.
And every blue sky be filled with swings that touch the clouds.

My Garden has all your memories of its crushed memories.
I Will Pity No Garden when You Have No Pity For Mine.
I am through with begging I do not mind you thinking me stupid,
please let my words be green with life not black in death.
Do not misunderstand me, 'I have no interest in your politics.

Twenty years is long enough to right a wrong, that never was,
and some have tried to make a highway man once again.

James McLain

Frontiersman

Being a prepubescent boy of twelve, and death
was a tent
under which we and others would know no sleep.

Hearing the things when we each took our turn,
I my hand covering my ears I felt it more than I heard deep in the woods, at night gravel popping around our steel framed beds.
Each night after pow - wow, 'I fearing deep sleep
fearing that part of me would again, come 'sliding out—ever so silently, being there for I think I was a thief, one was a darker some what paler caricature of Dracula.

My superman briefs held no fancy red cape—
Lumbering out that cold clammy many fingered hand,
and warm large soggy foul mouth
beads of moonlit sweat on my trembling forehead
and you'd never wish to wake again after it having.

This creature like a cat fish, what were then tentacles
I now know were wisps of shredded hair
and the noises of wet sobbing fear the other boys made,
made complete when one would gasp out in the night
like a fish out of water
breathing it's last goodbye a lost whimper to the night
the dawn of a swan that came to soon
for us all would some Floridian politician ask me now about this what good can come from this it is best left in the woods like the memories those graves, where our child hood like milk was sucked from each carton, out in the woods curried straws of the past when day light finally showed her face even more exhausted and tired
than the night before each one to young to ever come, back home, they know now some have.

My flesh back then withdrew, but it knew not ever why.
There are only a few of us left alive
some how now that know the darker side of the black robe
that was meant to protect us.

James McLain

Mary Wept

Many there they were strapping and full
to bursting
and over at the rectory
Mary in a tree
looking through the widow heavily stained standing while he sat
crystal antique goblet
coming in one after the other they all bowed their heads
before it over flowed
she always held her breath
when he approached.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Girls Do Want Too Model

As for the many deaths of you want to be a model.
The spark it could point to you or you international runways open for discussion.
But you are young
and your moon is healthy and full while your breast are ripe as pears should be.
And even if the panties cost a thousand dollars
and the dress wore, ' Marilyn Monroe.
She kept her belly as full with her smile
and her lips did not echo the sentiments concerning the ethical use of the modern model
which has been stretched and shrunk, Size zero.
Walking, talking sticks, rubber bands that snap.
Turtles that can not snap as turtles snap and yours.
Measurements, West of East
fifty six centimeters - a normal girl a general girl of seven or eight years old.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rekindled, 'Love Is Flame

It does not mean that it is
the calmest is this that place
where there is no other mind or pain
which has been thy brother/sister fostered and thine reason fact that it the meadow clearing mist of that the sun does set and thus too rise by this thy early challenge
when we reawaken that the sea is thee
be calmed in me, rekindled, 'Love is flame.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Do You Do It Naught

I let them all whom they might be.
Be whom they are and wish to be.
I can not keep them locked up with the rest.
Grace few thought
a few kind words may ease their pain and hurt.
and Love, 'you are doing what to whom
and if your not
and why i ask of you if that is your my wish to do?
Do you do it naught,
against what sight that heavy rests inside of you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Glazed The Crystal Gazer

Like the sphinx you too it looks, 'appears where once upon a time
and time seemed clear, 'because my face
not from above the weather of your yellow rain hollowed are the lines upon my red dry face
calloused but from years of hand blown sand.

Where I sit the zenith fronts me on all sides
and though it be it is twice as long as that went by, before she comes again.

Obsidian portals on each side are seen from space
and true intent
as mortal) wo(man becomes more moral, while I slept.
And I am but what you are you say your never naught.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Child's Gift, Given To Her Other

Though they be as bright as you stars are
and the cuts on my feet are worth the price
future king and queen green grass a glen.
My gift today my daughter, saw it naught.
Today the sun was hotter than it's ever been
and still the breeze and hot the glaring sand
I poured more water fast, 'I carried from the sea,
too quench the heat.
It is that twice a year when all that lives and breaths
is left exposed to feed the void of years, forgetting to retreat but left because the grass is thick and green.
Too dip my hand therein the cool wet sand, relief.
and in my palm an octopus smaller than a pea
with all it's limbs.
My niece of ten lit up a smile to rival the hot sun
from where it is,
I'm spent and burned a hollow shell today.
My daughters gift I gave to her, how would she know.

James McLain

'It Can Never Change'

□

It Can Never Change
and now you know what life has done to it.
Dear, again the Judge would know
and soon i must a-dieus,
how I struggle with goodbye.
Death has many alters and each one.
Sara,
and my daughters name is Caroline.
It Can Never Change.

□

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Further Out, ' Too Long

Over night the boundaries moved the buoys
it was not so much as is the struggle struggle just too struggle in-between.
The current never slows it's ceaseless pace
as it marches from one mouth and out the other.
When there is never time to rest, before.
Floating on my back to catch my breath,
is life and death.
She is looking out and I am looking up.
There is this one place they know about.
And it is there, 'I stand up bucking the tide.
The struggle to remember I forget
is more than even the burning yellow sun.
and when, 'I finally reach the shore
tired but never out of breath moving backwards
against the running water always bumping too
is when laying down next to the closest foot
upon the sand with toes that move as grass and waves talk indiscriminately a little loudly
about which one can he touch off of next,
that led me off and further out, ' too long from shore.

James McLain

Between Your Secret

Between your secret
and by His, is her silence
is it poetry
can you taste the air or not jet plains contrails long white finger
ocean spray fills the air and His simple word
each boy and girl
i can't see their pretty faces
white my pearls around your neck
she is made of blood and being tired
the butterfly
being wet, 'the waves upon her shore
are distant white
and buttered jars of green grape leaves
between your secret, 'is my hand.
and by Your hand it is i'm loved.
when i see your face inside your panties
i stay free
and being called by you, 'i see
the shadow of my keeper.

James McLain

If I Were To Smell Your Love

The smell of you as if I was in love with you from a bottle some magical elixir some thing new some thing old made new again, this is your smell.

If I were to love you as the sun each morning risen
the clouds, you part them first and as they do I must.
If your smell is ir·re·sist·i·ble.

And yours is why I am from their found by you
and why your flower blooms when warm it finds.
and the oil smells as does you smell when it is poured into your hair and rubbed across your face.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dandy Lions

I saw them both go into
that other unlocked closet
and in science class
it was overheard that one said
two of the heads popped off of the dandy lions that were brought to school
and that the janitor was grumbling
when he had to clean up all the spilled milk.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Mum Is, 'When She Comes

Mum smells
like you wish to smell.
Mummy is open
and when she is there
and i can see the middle of her heart Mummy she stares off and out into that place
that moves my hand to cover hers.
My Mum is happy
when i come back the front is home.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Strong Fingers

Strong fingers around it deep massages
and she loves his lingering kiss is like the sea
and coming as they do in waves,
moving as you hear them come, wet each wave.
Kissing, licking
and warm breath on flesh are usually welcomed.
I thought you shouldn't go out into the sun
with out being massaged in sun with yellow oil.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Melting Faces Kiss

Between the middle of the front,
the middle of her rachis over bends
it is in a proper in the order of magnitude G class star
and the apex to it points off slightly perpendicular
with out direction too the chocolate milky abdomen.
Namely, the rachis in the abdomen when coming vanilla
becomes his internal arch her pretest shape.
Sways the hip and makes up living large,
congregational the relationship of the flesh popped possible,
helps the front the front touching faces melting kiss.
That being said the woman is seen bringing often brings to his/her involuntary upward attack movement with the man.
Contract you push in order to display the proper attitude.
Someone has his own way
when the woman attaches the high-heeled shoe to the foot presumptuously that it has shown the man is pulled in toe and up with the conduct of the back side of her facing front.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Open Garden

Each day, 'before I rest, she comes.
I must leave them behind on my pillow.
There between the mountains tops,
white clouds, the rain, the wind dried stains.
Here there is only the shady oak if it is in fact.
Florida has no apples trees it is a land of opportunity
if one aspires to the service industry and tourism.
No to chicken nuggets and the rest of the processed carcinogens
My daughter would but if I, 'eat only vegetables.
Will she have to educate her self?
Parents are but parents don't and the teachers toll of whom are so very to yours and dedicated to being parents as well.
They may be your accident, your unplanned choice
your ruined figure, his inconvenience but tress still grow very deep and live within the forest and you squat to piss as you look, ' I rise.
And the soft summer breeze listens to the sunny brook
as it sprinkles water across your hot face.
And as wide as it is narrow their across the flower opens
as it must and then the bee as well spreads pollen, come.
while invisible waves are like muscles in motion as the sea moves in and out across your feet and toes.
Heavy-hinged your eye lids,
late risers miss the opening of the heavy budded roses.
And swaying the drapes hold out the sun it's yellow light.
For at high-noon
I heard from this same garden that more were on the way.

James McLain

One Little Boy A Thief

Looking around
as happier faces
made thee other wise
and sadder grew mine as more and more ignored my plea for what some knew was going on this thief of my happiness
the future stole away
and was this how it made them little people so whom could think such little ones would be made in this lost image of their way
I did not know
to look into their faces to see if they became sexually aroused by all the pain they happy
then as now could cause.
The first cut may be the deepest but the spear
is always sharp
and blood is of the blood, please say it naught
is why one little boy became a thief instead.
And still no body came.
Except to throw away the key that one they knew
would fit their door a window always opened.
Breaking mirrors, walking shores the sea my dream
I am no more that cup of sand,
each day that comes each wave it washes clean.
And none will make me that of which I never was,
and blessed are those few, ' lest you forget.

James McLain

Your Hand

By this, 'your hand,
the skirt slides down.
Taking his other hand
and slides it through the top
inside your panties.

Guiding his finger to the spot.
She pushed down on his middle finger and could not prevent herself from crying out from the hot tip and responding with her lips.

Put your finger on that spot...there...and hold it, dear
and start to rub it when I say harder slapping him, 'he comes and does it.

And when some others have told you,
it is when I say come their gently.
Do exactly as I tell you, now.
Rub it slowly.
If I say to rub faster, rub it faster.
If I say to rub hard, rub hard.
Never stop sucking on my fingers now the toes.
Bottom buttons when they flow.

James McLain

Leading Him On

After leading him on
for so long,
She has come
to know,
the end draws near.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lonely Nun

She stands alone and sounds the bell,
pulling up and down, 'the brown hemp rope
is which upon her tired calloused palms
ringing about it, 'he is quietly talking.
Lavender posies circle the church door.
The people calling out step into the light.
Coming in one stays too long and kneels in prayer.
Here the dark hearts in the phew redraw a cross
upon the wall, she depends upon.
The sounds are of those of whom and why.
One heart the nun, the sea out side the door
waves crash against the habit opens wide to see.
Spelling words of runes transcribed cuniform
which is divided closely holds it bound within,
Each one whom stayed pulls her up from the joy
and Latin warms the fireside and tears,
and those of the glory a white carnation is in bloom
opens you speak picking from the highest.
Still, as for the hollow quiet
and those you sound, from the grave the way,
when for them, I am while he your where, 'I do not know.
A chill should not be felt like the burning lamp, ' It has died.
The flowers bought and they are cut fresh brought up,
it reaches around and many are the morning glories
of the immortal stamp that stay behind and before the final forgetting for which one enters with a sigh
watching the walls the stained glass window open wails
the habits left behind the heart that shines, is unattached.

James McLain

And Yes, 'Dear

Bluntly put,
you do want less talk
and more milk.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Has Come To Rub My Back

Some come to think she is ugly and when they come
she is back
a swan that is she, made so gracefull
long of neck
and she does it the way she was born to do it is when she talks
and they scream for her to stop when they can't
and when they stop
the sky is full of clouds
and rainbows are for fairies whom think that the pot
is just the sun made of amber
and your face was made just to smile.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sluts

Yes, ' like I you were.
And into that you still are.
Beings, 'from the top too the bottom around from the base is the music you hear
when you do.
It is said.
That drums reaching inside come they don't.
But they do as is each, l'ike the ear
tempanic it shakes
that membrane remembers it is all
and you do.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Oil

I smell it
after she puts it on me
and then.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Washing Machine

Behind the old yellow washing machine
that makes loud noises
as coins roll along the floor
some are dropped while others
and bending over picking them up Too support myself some land upon both hands you held out looking through the closed window
I think about it all
as the soap washes faces never rinsed dripping, flowing and spinning around
they are never clean until they are gone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cul De Sac

One way in several ways out when used in reverse
several ways in one way out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Plural Methods

Plural method from one-way
and that is it, 'being opposite.

Plural method form other-way
which you can use, 'both days.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pool Of Speech

Silenced are we too have come to be
and many afterwards
before us that kind of solitary loneliness.
white flags turn yellow with tears,
flags which left to be soft with respect to the wind unheard and silence form of the sea of silence
and the sky which hold up the clouds with quiet dignity
upon the ocean desert which I afloat the black swan,
the dawn is wide in the pure deep silence the depths speak of a profoundness each word a pool of speech or sound and spreads across, the forest of faery which sleeps;
Our minds are the loneliness of the waning ebb
and flow of which is left this way for all to find, just one of Us.
Put in place the art of woman of heart made even a den of simple winding roads back again unto the depths which foretells my fatigue,
and the crown of silence of your art,
Depth inside your center moves us most asking of each inquiring from you and us who sends it unexpectedly about the gulf of infinity and instantly those that come from and back into a formed made perfect void consigned wherein by which is perfect tuned the sound of silence which is made free the empty are high and earth and mountains rising earth' I am on;
The presence of,
and the mystery is unlimited heard only in the silent song of music?

James McLain

When Dawn Comes

and when was it yours
or
when was it his
and look not away
and dawn is it always is dawn
when it comes
and you run with it wait
smell the yellow of it
the golden center in it for the sun for the flower
brown and many are they
for the middle the center
coming up coming down and dawn comes running across the fields
looking for you each leaf
and dawn when it comes leaves me empty
full of hope as I wait for the rest of the dawns when they come like the rest on the hill
looking up at the sky
your face do I see floating by when the sun like the dawn
I then rise.

James McLain

Comes Alive

And but for you would i sing
singing now but of things.
How they fly and i wait and day
turns to night and you sing.

Green covered in grass as i turn burning around with out end upon end.
Blind as i am the salt and the wind bend on the end for summer it comes.

Toching each finger tips lends imagination grows for the little people, too know.

He's weathered coming out going in and coming out for me is his hand
opens up and something speacial comes alive as it walks in the sand
is a smile.

James McLain

Woe Unto Me

Woe unto me, 'whom some kept lost and poor.
My debt for theft long paid in full and interest is?
Poorer shines the sun your cloud, too sea it's lost it's face.
Each crooked smile so bright it hides each tear, I feel.
Fasting from the light filled thoughts in droughts.
Opened, ' is your, 'my afresh in rain one face turned down.
While mine dries up, 'I am a thought that comes and goes.
Woe unto me, 'while I was locked from light away, 'I drank
no wine, I did no drugs 'my mind stayed clear, 'while yours was where and doing what with whom, pray tell 'I ask of you?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Honey When You Come

□
It is yours a casual observer. □
 It isn't too close
by far, it is halfway. □
It isn't the same asterisk marked with my comma □
 It just makes me blush, Becoming crushed
when you make me watch. □
 It must be simple
would it that could be the world turned over? □
It really, dear' is fine, i like to abuse it. □
It really is fine, 'dear, i like you too be amused,
did you tell your sister too,
because our aunt she is your step mother. □
 It rolls in all the flavor but hurry someones coming.
And the owl is at the center of the tootsie pop commercial. □
 It some times doesn't care
and then when you fly. □□
 It takes an army, your the one to crush it
 It was hard. □□
It was the one thought why you shan't. □□
 It was your doctor who said you should. □□
 It Will Not Change,
can you take charge before I get in dept? □□
 It would be like always afterwords. □
It would rather than, □ because both of theirs. □□□
It's yes to art
Ivory' Tusks and musky friends. □
I have many apologies, of but a one I ask. □
 It's jumping up and down, i stamp my feet □
Honey when you come.

James McLain

Honey As I Taste It

None are ever startled
though some must make professed
when by he is risen from the sea
and that a ring of foam about his shoulders driven by the breeze they watch it dry singing golden from the sun
each dropp of water seems to hang formed the oil on his skin it feels Honey As She Tastes It.
she wants to share his good fortune
she starts to turn upon the wind.
and never stops the waves from reaching standing green and still the grass is moving.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Phantoms From Another Wife

The old woman comes home without breasts phantoms from another life
and last night, when he
her drunk lover
they mixed it over one bottle until it becomes the full moon pulled apart a shadow in the front reappears from the back.
And when pink caps red snow over after turning it left one turn quarter right pressure builds in the brown bottle neck
that resembles a swan when from it is drunk.
The baby over feeds from a hand holding the light.
Breastfeeding her dog from the nipple in the middle below the left breast
a ripped hole in the green satin wedding dress
now stained brown.
The old woman overstressed herself that day
after the dog suckled from her baby instead of her
as he watched from the grass
in amusement through the window over her dresser.

James McLain

Stephen William Hawking

Neuro-muscular dystrophy
and but for amyotrophic lateral sclerosis
instead of insanity
choosing for) wo(man
the diamonds even our own sun
and daughters can but become to a chair.
Random chance have you proportioned even but to this for whom other could have trapped within that hole of light
that he your other proffered thus even now because of what can then light it will as deep as the well and once removed
every thing else goes back from whence it came to start again
because you showed up and spread out your wings
like the stars
and for that bright flash, inward outward expands
the flame of possibility for all and to those of whom simply because you showed up with the flame
that now burns within the minds and hearts of the suns you made too each and daughters
something that they will stand up for and their grace became your reflection they see when into the sky
they now gaze knowing they are free to exceed slow speed of simple light that your radiation has proven they will now over come.

James McLain

Dangerous Minds

Enforcement of his local pecuniary his methods having withstood
and that due to what courage in spite of even in the now his infamous tenacity with which by they he is misunderstood
although those when tempting him
at the front each bench of the Judges.

Whom obtains situations of life and death from him it can ask
after the enterprise where you knew her everything is known by even by they from that whence those Marilyn's
to him are delicious, 'Dangerous.

The poetry it is by which is that when worlds remixed
with her the personified
when knowing her different persona, you each day,
a certain time comes due to those it remained yoked too.
Whether those went I, and hit that home run when always it was to the edge of the wall in the park
not out but over
where you find the smart person, but always,
it seems the fast way
and just the pure innocence of the child that it is, who he is not was,
' nor fast.

When you all, 'were always coming away with the balls.
and Dangerous Minds,
are dangerous to only they, 'them selves.

James McLain

Ernest Hemingway And Your Flame

When you became soft and famous and you could become that clown you always were
and nothing else really matters.
When with what you have it is to high
to see from
and being lonley up so low.
The sun stays in my eyes turned up your lips have become some other, ' French Riviera.
And waiting beneath the wall
for the maid comes and dumps them
at four thirty in the morning
over the side with the dredges of the night before those bottles
your bras take longer those as well.
Except for the alcohol stains
they seem to have been hardly used until.
Every one else only buys them because some when they think
and also it's a strange country here.
Where, 'Ernest Hemingway
at least when he was admitted too it.
When the store opens at eight every morning.

James McLain

The Deceivers

One is denied, not because.
Words more than, ' Water, oil is.
Brighter thine eye, is it not?
Webs uncommon to) wo(man.
I feel when lied, 'too, lie back.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Gymnast

Snipping them back with scissors.
It was very hard to see it happen
and then she was in pain
but it was like so often in the past.
Quickly over again and moving back up.
Hardly any blood
and she only cried for a couple of minutes,
until she regained her balance, 'on the beam.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Ships Mast

Then is when I see a couple of kids fucking
and after all, 'I know they have by now seen me her bra appears like if on que it's stage, 'magic
and to see the struggles with her panties
while he is as bold as a lion, 'just standing paradise was for a moment abandoned moving off there is some muffled conversation
I know this is not, 'but cutting the journey short coming back once as one's back was it was.
Standing on deck watching youth going down
the long slide, 'Endlessly I wonder, 'God if when.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Her Long Green Dress

Which is then,
she opened her palms
through her cracked fingers
and placed the moon in his hands
seeing some stars did as they passed and her long green dress she hung with deep red sheets
thereabouts somewhere beneath him.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Red Sheets Beneath Him

The time as for two bodies heavens of heat
as for each thing those which hang on too.
Certain fire as for her who starts playing,
as for him the world over;
who bothers with her as for her and him
who is troubled by her and him
and the way as for her who takes their clothing as for other things.
Opens the door for him who leaves her,
who enters into the bedroom and stands beneath,
before the circular fan which you see as her and him the way
between her in that head encased of that retention wherein
it exposed his foot that in her
those which kiss to the cold air her nipple with the body
and one side where you blow a note that she brings
because it stands as for fervency and her spiritual him
who's heart because of what is not done.
Ice like that mouth
which places the part him As for that contact him to her skin
which blows with that oral some her on the thing by his/her neck
which goes to her and puts that mouth which places their another part as for the middle lower of her center of her Rachael which is made from the tooth at that time and that slides as for each trial by oak from him who puts her lip which turns her body
to him in that her foot is where the bed that you push to her is still.
He whom is called in yearning her among a glass hand her warm mouth of the ice became weak as and extended to she is he to that she looked him eye to eye
and opened that mouth
and one it is many the hour in the warmth
which is then when she opened her palm
and placed the moon in his hands
as her green dress she hung with red sheets beneath him.

James McLain

Dark Beauty Of The, 'Green

Flowing from mine was but a thought
and then it was gone by you.
Why are you like the dark beauty of the green
deep blue sea, where they meet?
And all alone each wave rolls back to the edge of the shore
where one stops, we are to each coming out one goes back in are my lonely talks
down the Length of the white sandy, 'Beach.
You heard that vague wash of white static
as the thunder by our eyes measured
the light before sound, ever reached us.
Knowing how far it was before that it came.
And foam between each night is the toes
why my heart is too heavy you reach their is down
and the wind takes it/was a thought up away.
And as you and and i and each one i once you.
Tomorrow again one talks to the past
as each weary beat each thundering wave
strains the full moon above grows monotonous.
Around me were the makings my castle
they move sandy dunes echo,
beyond me the cold
and i wade through the foam at our feet
silenced you smell of the sea - We two will cross my death
and the ages push up from the earth against, 'lengthen
before you again will hear this resonant noise
looking down you above me
as i wait for the suns bright warmth rise,
you come and show me.

James McLain

Lisa

Green miles smiles being.
Form is top to bottom.
Bottom of everything, meets frontal
when the bottom the world,
is pushing the upper off of every thing.
Sun shine kisses through such a face is a face
being transparent to the top of the button.
Around sings harmony of eggs is key.
Who has the use of those pearl buttons,
when pushed out too far to blue sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Doubt Is My Cloud, 'Yet I Rise

My value is that of your being advantaged.
Your strengths in my lack of obvious value.
All my fear is the core mine your each being.
My heart of all your deep felt doubts.

And I am my worst only critic.
And from every color there is less everything more loudly a contrast
my quality lowered when brought past.

And your class through glass I appear
my face through your eyes, is the sea.

I am the very thought from which is you
and by your very sufficiency mind made is.
which I am, by you is proven it could as it should.
Because of beings touched free of necessity
and heart of that most, ' I love by.

wherefore is beating my heart from of the anxiety
my rush of Chiefest the.
The God which Tis, 'for each true and anything standing stooped may stand up by thy light of
and originally from thine inclination to be palm opens high from whatsoever itself for the sake of itself,
it can go sleep, ' but never to bed,
Life like any true actor watching therefore to choose of that clear contrast and of each living address
and the address of undivine of I-the-you
The spiritual way to you from me, 'I like you some adjust.
Church, was but in her my secret mark, 'Saying I do.

James McLain

Clearly, Chronic Alcohol Still In Use

Being that infamously
and hungry I was and I am,
before her dog I became
and knotty over breeding even now.

Gathering the buckets of her bodily fluids, undercharged by the scores
from the other young whelp dogs
before them I came
and I ran them all off,
allowed to come around mine the Dog
that I saw was my pound.

And immediately drafty before they, I knew it was after.

He Is sorted by her unreasoned expectations judgment replaced it is whereupon by whom and dust by the centuries from Kings he knew
of such misunderstandings,
understanding of such has he now and has better.

And switched off lights
flicker grow dimmer by they whom allowed
such a flaming bright star,
just to touch the heart of one such as that,
when you did and why but for that and you did.

Where once it was magnified first is the order
Which is but half off that of which it once was.
Potential I saw why my pup was made up of.

Now it is cold as the birth of our dawn and my why?

a Suns brightness once that she knew, knowing it not is compressed to be measured, this circle of damage have her of each brain a scan and what is left of her Willis descendant from the pot which is found, colored right.

In addition the left over bottles of Livingston wine,

the bottle was not the true obstacle underscores the intensity and why my passion and as if she could once beings were the obstacle which is pulled up is documented and wife of my daughter, with tonight the call of,
you yelled naught but still said that of which caused back then and now can not cause it no more maybe the full moon by it now is Clearly,
even black and pink I am, it is even more now sorry.
I saw it then naught and too see it thus now
and gentile as well
the plausibility of genetics it is possible by my child.

James McLain

Phosphorescent Slutgarden

Inside or out of the garden
along the shore, evening
slowly walks youth it's turtle up and down goes life
when in to deep the tunnel
floating on water
hollow log once the limb
from that tree
and no one looks as you bend
and buckle at the knees
it is the salt
when you are kissed
by his ghost, 'come in sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bully-Er-S

Children then parents to children
as cyclic as the four seasons.
When vested the fifth on each child
is precedent-ed there such upon.

And but wherefore beings not taught goes to and or away from the carousels.

When good teachers become afraid
of loosing their jobs.
When they see it as is so, 'it is them.

The shame of the blame, head hung low
from then on forever alone walking.

Verily thus is a child then becomes you, 'adults
and again is to you, when against you it is,
you represented once as a child, when you did.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

By Them, 'I Agreed

So, maybe the issue was more
a lack of communication skills than of not being normal parents.
Any way who defines,
decent normal parents divine each is being hungry.
What if we did cross-nurse
and people found out?
What if our children preferred the taste of the others milk
over the mothers and then you found out?
I felt deeply around inside,
mindful at the thought of you telling anyone.
I was more the talker— superficially going on it is easy,
but essentially tightly unbound out and up late all night.
But you are married too commonly much and milkers.
It is to late,
that they are, when you want them to be, to do this?
You asked and I was so infatuated by them, I agreed.
After all,
You and I, still vacuum each others houses.
Look at how large they have grown,
like weeds they are and still stoutly, clearly growing.

James McLain

Robert The Bruce

Meditation you and to it barges are pulled out parades and mediate your purple reigned will shrouded too you comes the effervescent rain
and glands alive deep inside
the brain one half or to your it's other live and let live but to die
far a slice of English pie, curried in favor
the sun when it rises the hill covered top full with, 'Robert the Bruce she keeps full with snow
when it melts whom but the keeper must know and i will but a will made of old yellow paper
and roads well known when I changed
and lines drawn out not in sand but in minds are they kept as the tide moving out can come in
is more land made thus simple with machines and sea walls of dark stone where none there were mixed with shell and cypress for color and purple thick cedar is Caesars a barge
where it rests it is marked, marked naught the sea.
as Sara, her gown how it glows.....

James McLain

Good Lass

Your a good lass
now off you go
up over skip yonder
and around to the top of the next hill
down the stream a spell
against a large stone
where she comes each day
and give this book back too, 'Sara and fetch me the one you love the best
you know the one with the white onion skin
turning left that's right fetch it back
while I rest here a spell
across as I watch
Paul fish in Henry's, golden pond.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Look Mum, Is It A Shark

I wouldn't advise going in naked either,
as there are still very large cat fish
swimming out in the gulf
but for the oil not of a fish,
when nationalized i see
each sea and mighty it's waves
our ocean this deficit would then not be...

.....
Asking dolphins and whales
your water for their land roles reversed would they
for the forest
inside you to see is a bush
with a stream lined face
mustache milk of contrails
back up to yonder that hill..

Look mum, is it a shark?

No dear, it is a cat fish
watch out as they don't eat little pellets
the one's that grow in the sea.

James McLain

They Must Be Neurotic

There was another long sigh then practiced silence
one girl talking,
her hand never stopping.
She must be neurotic.
Father gave you a hint the other day.
It is deep very well,
he murmured to himself but being over heard by the others
their moving difficulties.
Yes, there are even greater difficulties
to over come, over passed.
As he was passing out of from one tunnel another appeared
then after the hotel he came to a sudden halt.
His car had drawn up in front of the door.
In it was one daughter, standing beside him
driving him further away.
Talking honestly to her about her father.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Eye, A Pulse

Often here at night last spent come may
and time and day
move quickly by
I know the clouds by each there names
each beating heart is just one beat away.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Pulse I Feel

To often here at night last spent come may
and time and day
move quickly by
I know the clouds by each their names
each beating heart is just their pulse, I feel.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Sleeping Hill

Dew slowly falling it drops
are as heavy on the bush
the roots grow below.

There is a door, it is open.
Flowers bloom, leaves are you.
I come walking by.
Your tears they fall natural and when you come back around
I am their always waiting
you are welcome.

The path winds around each sleeping hill
and your face when it's near me, includes.

Each night the foot prints when you,
where I stand
white are left over the soft covered sand.

Each morning when you come back
All they are now washed away clean and walking away

I turn looking back at the sun.
And as I wait for night to fall.
The moon when it's full
rises and only when you.

But my mornings are much to long.

James McLain

When Cities Sleep

When cities sleep by neon electric light
dimming light by the sun, it increases.
Is it not from the steeple
which flies out the bat which I,
am I like you I like glaringly.
Challenged to the beam narrows where does it blink
that it does that you see in that sun boldly
is colder nor brighter.
The sphere of darkness shines, it blinks,
and perhaps, it is tucked away.
As for folded fire then perhaps,
and perhaps, the shaft it flies, off the bell fry
it burns cold away.
Only because of me it does not do as you please.
You for I,
and prized is it spiritual the company you keep
when you sleep with the quiet red eye.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Strumming, 'A Tight String

How can they pluck the off strings strumming bare back swimming variations of yellow like Van Gogh daisy green as the moss of Monet lily ponds
most of those make me lazy
she who should be the yellow is crazy
and brown cut down to the water line
the moon will be fuller and oil tonight
floating by them when dolphins come around me the water foamed up
the dolphins freed began to feed
so near to me some their touch
each nonscheduled fin
slicing the water the knife
as one fat mullet running for it's life shot up
and out into the air, coming to rest between some tired woman chest
her legs thin beating the air in her orange chair
chuckles and laughter except from the girl
a piece off down the shore to far away to see perhaps each dolphins smile as they pulled off
and down away following the smell of the fish
they were chasing watching as I float out nearly, I stop Strumming, 'a tight string I see, Sara and within hands breadth, I reach for the sea.

James McLain

My Daughter, 'They Are Here

From thy mouth of that which was,
and is I am,
you came and now you are.

Spring poesy's like the wind
may finds
they are here
be every where, there around you.

Come wise too is your counsel stars are thus thine yours marked
each only this
and each is one
meek is mine,
thine each only is each being.

Golden and now it is why
I am frail,
in form to thee.

Flowering my sun was sprung,
a rose from thee.

My daughter,
they are you, 'they are here.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Daughter Given

From thy mouth of that which was,
and is I am,
you came and now you are.

Spring poesy's like kind
are they
wise counsels
the stars meek these beings.

Golden and now why,
I am frail, in form to thee.
Flowering my sun is sprung,
a rose from thee.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Come Fall Up

It was exciting
it fasted
watching the glowing tip
fall up through the darkness
downwards an extenuation
when meeting it's.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Judged To Harshly

Verily each child that friend
and both neighbor
thus and when treated as such may from safety you come never judged to harshly
it would with you love maintains,
each is your social life - Just the friend
family and the other friends family which you can upon come rely unspoken this rule
beings live with thereof
which gives the lawn
dawns early birth of the sea of the blue beautiful sky
and each memory inside of the turtle.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Chum Buddies

Where i go swimming
i see all of them
watching me
hell you only have to swim out half a mile to see them watching
from their condominium balconies
they don't realize I see the glint their binoculars
coming down to were I am takes most about thirty minutes
they watch me watch them watch me pee
in the bushes before I go out
it has only been a month
and now that the shore is full of smiles
only time will tell about making milk shakes
when they come
waves dance and lap at the shore
when the sea
dances best where ever the grass grows shows up more.

James McLain

Charles Bukowski, ' Taking Care Of Buisness

Talking at the laundrywoman
when i ran into
that Charles Bukowski
remember him now,
i don't know...
i having ran that business that i ran for she watching Charles Bukowski
i realized one can only complete one major undertaking at a time
and then move on to the next,
over time they all get done
if they,
the all that is me, the you pull together as a team
but if spread out here and there a patched quilt is what is seen from above...looking down
and sorry about last night...
I'm from Florida, and as such
i dunna kin
Charles Bukowski, 'people running off with my oysters from Hernando county, 'Florida
statements and he such the likes i
there is nothing wrong with mistakes in ones youth canna comprehend how Charles Bukowski, said that and ones when past his youth has any thing to do with thirty or forty years latter..do you..?

James McLain

My Sister Now

When she comes in now
where I am not supposed to be sleeping instead with my ex sis's my other when people had money then she sees me sun tanned, fully rude meat balls and all eyes transfixed, huffing and puffing
she gets her pillow and blank her stare
and fresh shaven, leaves.
I explain to her all,
she comprehends naught.
I am responsible for what I do not what she and her, my other fun flushed with money, mine did.
And sleeping with my ex, 'lover.
How did she taste, I ask?
Smiling as inside it can only grow larger.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Winter Oysters

Stroking the cats
long hair
with his brush
walking across the rocks.

Thunder is loud sun light
when it flickers
he must wait, there again
against,
the sea climbing the wall.

Even as cold as it is frozen wasteland
solid trees and bushes
denuded of leaves.

The tide finally deceived
and it revealed
masterful he fetches too me
winters pink oysters.

□

□

James McLain

An Offering Of Peace

Hot the fiery yellow sun
each grain of sand
a silicone bead of hot coals
and bare footed
the grass feels like oatmeal
the butter runs off toes bake like clams
sleeping with mouths open
as if steam
bikini's stick like a second skin
as sweat pours out like rain
leaves begin to curl inwards
around me the truth seeps
out from deep beginnings
above the blue clear sky
one dropp at a time
like multicolored targets
a Birdseye.
Floating by each cloud
again comes
this hot fiery sky is open on fire.
Every mouth sucking in pain
as fat full green grapes
are sacrificed to the flame
of some, 'God this fire.

James McLain

Access Denied

Access one Denied

Einstein, Uncle Albert

People who deny access to they

of them selves

from all others

are the punks, punk of the world.

Pick and choose who's boogers you eat

Rasmussen are her leaves left behind.

Avid consumer when you of swollen

phallus's, hideously engorged

with blood pumping sucking

and chest thumping spheroids.

Ignore the messages

do not reply send it back

as undeliverable.

How great is grace thou art?

Presumption of thought

masturbates me in my great sleep

come when you do/do not wake me up.

That one thinks they can play chess

better than any whom came before.

Check that storefront

Your wife the mannequin

each rainbow bikini

her other your, ' hypothalamus

pink submarines from the medulla oblong-ed

gotcha, please stand up.

Your interest's lie in my clear jar

where they might keep your claim to fame like his

then and when once their you are

please, until then

fall on your knees

and shave smooth your pink calloused gum's

rigid and hard, bumpy and grooved

they feel as bad

as your spotted yellow teeth.

Access Denied,

is for children and Nuns
You are the Virgin
my wife every day, says you are.

Is It Poetry

James McLain

Is Sand A Restaurant

It is wide
not that wide
it is white
and looks like snow
it is cool when very hot at night the people are not allowed
when the sun goes down
the trees root
with the trees
and make more snow
normal days have children
laughing as they play
and women sitting willy, hilly, dips and here without a care
some boys
trade their chips for shovels
little girls their sisters
trade off secrets with their fathers
about the days the weeks
and who came by and what was paid
or bartered
to the plumber while the pool ran dry
and before the sun goes down leaving their that trouble all behind landscaped shores
the wind and waves, exposed it all.

□

James McLain

Incoming, 'The Tide

and Holding my breath
too deeply I dive
only to come across a dark cave
covered in sea moss
blocked with two stones
Incoming, 'the Tide
once having,
I haven't, 'uncovered.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Coming Almost, 'I Came

Magnificent her specious
and brown hooded
young woman
standing up
paddling out away from shore
on her board
the cuts were perfectly spaced were her feet
and each toes
white knuckled it clutched
as if each could grow
and if it was not enough
the blue sky was as transparent
as her white toothy smile and coming almost, 'I came back she came by again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mum And Her, 'Enemas

When i was little and the tip seemed like as you now like it and expect it
water flowing in
and rivers coming out shrinking a little back then being milked it was with liberally applied K.Y Gilly
and as i tried to explain how it felt
and only by her prodding, could i intense was it then when she ask thinking back as she squeezed
it out by the gallons
my mum is a jolly good mum
she keeps my belly full
as the stones are firmly but gentled for she whom comes by is the Doctor, 'my mum
she is, 'Grace your neighbor?

James McLain

And When You Lie

You can see the leaves open up
as the tree
moves over ever closer to the choppy wave tops
but it is only clear foam like that when the tide come in and eddies.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

B.P.Money And Mister President

and you Mister, You Are The President.
You are in charge declare martial law.
The gulf,
and abuse them as they abused you and U.S.
use it as it is, use it now.
National Security.
Take all the money that they have in this country
do it now.
Fifty thousand men and three thousand boats
to clean up their mess.
Redeem them for themselves and as cowards, do they will.
Forster betrayed, just to shave on the French reverential
and whore around some Orient town money unaccountably will and does this you know by now.
Accountable is each, is
and each is would be U.S. held as if it is, U.S.they own.
You are black they are white
get the picture and do it now
and take too in toe in charge.
Before the hurricanes come as they do each year.
Executive and privileged invoke it now like he did, to start the wars.
You have to finish as well.
You need to counsel on this
be the advised-er to your self and your wife talk it over with your children and hold nothing back
and do not lie like they have and are and will do.
Yes they may try to unsuccessfully kill you
as they like you came before you.
Take charge take no counsel on this money will not talk it will run from our shores
even more as you wait, take it now.
Ameri- cans pay for their crimes are not the prisons full of blacks and brown of color
and the rest was simply trash by they thrown away.
Do it now and take charge
look the tiger and the lion in the eye,
you are the dragon

that can breath fire use it to put this one out.
and yes I know in spite of the damage
that it will artificially stimulate the economy.

Is It Poetry

James McLain

A Ladies, 'Mister Lazarus

In each passing we have come against the other
why not here before again.

Is it the color of the light
the bulb
the skin beneath your face
that grins.

Sticks and stones
rubies men
rubbing emerald eyes
finding flaw
within, without.

Yellow wrinkled
onion skin
and sheets of sin
full with tears
we do not cry.

Looking through the window
is the elephant.

Whose breath it smells
of julips and
green pepermints.

Long past forgotten
are the barrels
filled with peanuts.

Shedding off the skin
when you come away
set free from home
I see
most floating off.

The man who made you laugh before you cried
before you died
returns again
before you go away.

Living life before I died
many times I watched
you try.

It was now, back then tomorrow came
the lid removed
inside us both again.

My cave is full
with oyster shells
once filled with pink sweet meats.

Fashioned from the bones
each necklace
white and neat her feet
her toes.

The silk that held your face
I used to tie
the hair
kept neat in place
for all the world to see.

In each passing we have
come against the other
why not here before again.

James McLain

I Am Horizontal

I am horizontal come be vertical
like she,
both would I, rather be.
Looking around
is it best,
are his manners concealed.

Question marks
often ask
best left to the sea.
Mothers and fathers don't wait until the dawn has come to see.

I am the sand hidden beneath the fast moving bed
the valleys and streams, that pebble
when tossed that skips a beat
the sound of your heart when set free.

When today is my forever tomorrow brings because each day the tree grows down inside the seed from where it came the water is cool upon the limb you know
for eyes that share that common bond the soil grew.

I am horizontal come be vertical
like she
if with me you want to stand then vertical is where he will be across the horizon waits one tree.

James McLain

When I Was Young

My self esteem
was predicated
on how far I could ejaculate
and now
she complains
about the volume.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

That Blood Red Dress

That blood red dress
could only on you it was more than i could stand it opened
my old eyes
to one new world after another
all my others
the way it fit your hips
the way it hung around my world
and to me and only to me
this gift you gave the trees
it's leaves
when the wind
would blow
your lips a gift of green
that dress as well
and legs I held those calves
each day when night
each light went out
and pushing up and out
I knew both worlds.

James McLain

When Love Was Born

When Love was Born
upon her chest, I lay at rest.
Her hand removed the tears
she shed, I knew the best.

Open even closer was the sky
above our faces.
And the moon her soft pale light
would close out eyes.□

□

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mum

why mum the key hole
is a wet desert.
For me,
i see your finger moving in and out of dads the bum
when you do that to me,
and i am to
and how come
you talk about the lawn
and dew?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Sea Is Deep

The pillow never hugs
it lays my head upon
is soft and sure.
Inside the burning bush
it feels,
the heat of passion roar.
and yet your mind I still.
Through out the mist
deny the shore the waves.
The sea is deep
and cool upon the toes.
A pebble tossed against the boat I will.
The sail with wind is filled
and etched one face.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Over The River Crossing

Stones as once are skipped by they whom ride are laid upon
and dark the swan the flame.

Their long necks the trees bushes cut the feathers trail
scissors cut a stream,
where rivers flow, the sea is dark tonight, I know.

The moon is flat concave
one crack upon it's face is clear
the tears of they,
come hurry leaves are furry
and the bumpy hill won't talk.

Hollow stones they rattle off against the boat
the oarsmans blind
you can not hear
the wind as rocky shoals approach.□

There is silence as the eyes of all whom came before
that wait to leave the way you came but live to die
and coming in away are sailing
coming out some come once more.

James McLain

And Bill, 'Your Wife

and You of your long trust allowing such one supple long that is your other muscle
and head to sandy covered toe your black bikini-ed is to walk so sure and unafraid
her your she and by my side
I when you as now with her
I am not now but was too lead those conversations
upon the stage of sand
off then into that the language of which I speak
you understand as well as she
and children beings
and into temptation, I led her naught
as children played and said, when brought
does it, will it bite me.
Things have shells I said to they
from which of course
inferred when spoken plainly.
Walking through the carpet soft green grass, she said to me
she never did before, until today.

James McLain

English Is Peter

Tai from the dusty cliffs of chalk looking there past the pond
flying over the boats, are to slow
today hot yellow burning the sun,
I met, a fellow 'Peter.
Peter stood and walked and talked amongst the grass holding his key while it growing even greener,
as the tide was turned away.
Peter says eye, in lieu of yes
upon a box
standing up does your speakers.
The poetess from England and you
to Peter, made was mention of by, I.
His wife upon the shore he builds for others. I found a hat I wear and washed, some think of as.
And she as he are as one mind
and all like they their sky is blue turning brown from the sun we are pond to pond the same, our colors.

James McLain

Screwdriver

The left ankle kisses the right wrist
left wrist talks to the right ankle prearranged unique upward angles
and hung up from the ceiling
swung around orange turned, slightly twist.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Flame Is The Flower

Poured over each bee.
When it opens, it's petals to sing.
The buzz of it's small tiny wings.
Lets me see past
the depth of it's mighty sting.
Coming in, flying out let it be.

□

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When A Baby Dies

After the last baby died.
And her needs being thereof and such,
that I bought her two young puppies.
And as I watch them pull and tug
at her long nipples.
Fitting teeth marks left behind.
lactating copious amounts
happy she now is.
And those familiar popping noises.
I will take their each one it's place
somehow,
when they are borne away as well.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cotton Bolls

Be come pollinated.....
ovules..
Blue flowers..... are be coming
water summer opens..
Throned bolls....covered up..
corn silk masks....
green pink lips
nights, white shadows, 'spoken.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

To My Uncle

and SOON I WILL GO BACK TO THEY
OF WHOM
I TRIED TO BE A FRIEND AND ONE AS WITH REDEMPTION FOR MY YOUTH AND IS.
AS I DID FOR SHE, BY HIS PERMISSION FROM ONE FROM HE WHOM WORE HER BLACK
FUETE GRACED, YOUR MOTHER
I AM AS I AM<AS YOU IN THAT< TAKE PRIDE I WOULD AGAIN FOR THAT CIVILLY, I WILL I'LL TRY
I WILL NOT WASTE AWAY AGAIN
IN SUCH A PLACE AS THAT MONEY BEING WHAT IT IS
AND WHEN IT CAME TO THAT
THEY WILL
FOR TAXES ON THE HOMES THUS BUILT
THE LOTS I SOLD ON HER BEHALF
BECAUSE I TRIED WITH OUT MY RIGHTS THAT OTHERS HAVE
BUT USE THEM NAUGHT />
MANY QUESTIONS WILL I HAVE, THE ANSWERS
FROM THEM WILL DICTATE
IF I WILL KEEP THIS LIFE I HAVE
I WISH TO KEEP.
BUT FOR MY DAUGHTERS LIFE
THE SUN SHE TOSSED AWAY
BECAUSE OF WHOM
SHE DID BEFORE, I CAME
AND AS A CHILD, I AM IN THIS
YOU KNOW THIS NOW.
AND YET IF THEY DO WHAT THEY MIGHT DO
AS COWARDS IN THE NIGHT.
AS POWER DOES WHEN USED, THAT WAY IT WAS BY THEY, NOT I, THIS CHOICE NOT MINE.
OLD AGE HAS LEFT ME SIMPLE<NOT AFRAID /> AND BEING SAID, I WILL WITH HER
COME UP THAT WAY />
WHEN IT'S SAID AND DONE, I AM THE SON
OF THIS ONE THIS, THIS STATE

THE STATE DID MAKE, I MADE AS WELL />

James McLain

Men And Women, Friends

and, 'Truth in hers a friendship though thought well out is she,
when being such a simple man
free thinks a verse about are hills and valleys, friends
she says and bushes burn
and he tall trees of Romance thinking, he of she full moons upon the grassy hill
her eyes the sea reflects the stars and the waves one after the other touch the shore
and women can be friends
with out a storm
too simply put as I, her child
she explains to him each answer
not the why
and men are over their head in foam calmly tossed when she against each rock is cracked
and bending down the currant
swiftly pushes it away but it floats back.

James McLain

None Escape

Because they from whom and you think
from their everyday
and they little wants
yes, they the parent,
letting they from whom
none escape
those to many days
from that which is broken.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lovely Green Babies

I whisper and cut as you are panties are windows
of plain white tissue
your nose and your lips
I can only sing as you move around it my nose
comes loose, each day when you great it could i love and yet, you only?
does it helps too be hot pink and pretty and mine are brown eyes like yours
staining your rear view window
I wash your fingers and your toes
the convenience was mine
as I kiss each little cut that you have
she is his woman and only his woman can make love come out
when as lovely green babies
bliss is static and white quite noise.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Floating Is, I Sea

Life was like those boats all around me
different colors all shooting off
like the mind a star all directions.
It is then that I am launched
out off and their I am, into them.
Seeing them as ants on the shore
now I know
what he thinks, is he wondering, I am.
And right before the end came near
Them I sawing both ends, I saw naught.
She with a sheet and her beloved
betrothed I fear some thing strange
by far is coming, I am drifting closer.
Only his legs were left not consumed
by the fire the bush, around them.
Facing me coming in and she was.
Like a cork on the ocean her waves
foam living green colors
and making motion invisible muscles I heard.
Eye to eye when they met and she with jet skis
running up and down on the sea.
Pushing them up and squeezing both out
the sea scallops beard was clearly hidden from me.
Walking forward more quickly,
stopping I backed up and I said, blushing I heard one say hi.

James McLain

Floating Is, 'I Sea

Life was like those boats all around me
different colors all shooting off
like the mind a star all directions.
It is then that I am launched
out off and their I am, into them.
Seeing them as ants on the shore
now I know
what he thinks, is he wondering, I am.
And right before the end came near
Them I sawing both ends, I saw naught.
She with a sheet and her beloved
betrothed I fear some thing strange
by far is coming, I am drifting closer.
Only his legs were left not consumed
by the fire the bush, around them.
Facing me coming in and she was.
Like a cork on the ocean her waves
foam living green colors
and making motion invisible muscles I heard.
Eye to eye when they met and she jets
up and down on her sea.
Pushing them up and squeezing it out
the sea scallops beard was clearly hidden from me.
Walking more quickly,
stopping I said, blushing me bye.

James McLain

Red Is Mercy, 'Mom

Coming up and out from the grassy sea
and is red is mercy and more is mom
and any shade on the white blinding sand
salty bits and pieces does each grain like rain
as it clings to the copper toned skin
and you laying out burning next to me and Kenny, 'you said, you mailed away lucky is she because knowing, I know of that of which you know
and that of which to you I would then speak.
and With you I would without name,
but you would have to.
and Fully, but still I blush to speak
when I, by you
am caught I am looking at the not to distant clouds.
Mercy mom arrived,
and her distractions were such is the crescent
when next to full I sit half supposed gazing at Mercy mom's red bandaged bikini
with a suppleness not quite like that of silk nor see through nylons
but yet clingy only when partly coverings of this and that of which is why We looked, when I to you confessed and if the sun is cooler than the sand
when made wet by the warm yellow water and knowing I need even more as grace
than I would to you I could with you reposed
being the sea you could being, each wave
and Mercy is Mom being familial as the snails
would hide the distant shore and smother me.

James McLain

The Jaw Of The Ocean

The ruby red eye, when does it crest?
Floating by comes with a wave.
And the foam as the sea grass has against grapes.
Ridding the baby sea horses are smaller green turtles.
And with is change does it shape as the lips.
Soft is the tone of the tongue as it lifts
the wind sings as leaves move off through the trees.
The jaw of the ocean is smoothed off deeply and watching, I set as the sun.
 the cut continues to bleed
 the cut is longer than a half-inch
 the sun is but a orange speck
 there is possibility the cut effects the sight.
 or the wound is to deep to swim out of,
 the currants eddy there, I like you, swirling.
bending off to the left over the cloud free horizon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And Your Hands

and you must give in and relent
and give me peace
as you
your self can't hold it out, inside as well..
and your hands
and are they not your friends as mine as well.

and use them to have me sigh
my last i sigh on you and as you watch
and in your ears, my sight
grows bright, my eyes grow wide mind dims
and I know even more of that
and which is you as speaking well.
So stop that now and hush
and go where to sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Dream Forbidden

Do you stand up...as we wade...into the dream
and as water rushes by
....it says..

Dreams our dreams forbidden
do they move like mine with me
it is your dream...
that most will seek...
upon the sandy shore...

Beings...that I am the water running swiftly there...
I will swing you gently...
You will....swing me often...
are those tour toes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Static And White Noise

Bleeding from one deep cut.
As I close the door behind me.
I am sitting in the dark, warm your closet.
Where are all my friends now?
Where have they all gone.
Friends and talking on the phone,
to friends that never knew.
Coming over, no one ever there,
To my friends that never came.
Because and when you held me
daddy dear you dried my tears,
and daddy do you hear me on the phone
through all the static and the white noise
I'm coming home to be with mom.
So just keep talking to me daddy
until I'm done and you are gone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Looking Down, I Am Floating By

Out there in the fields.
Over open, salty water,
I am floating.
As the bird is flying
fishing yes, as I.
and it circles over head
it looking down upon me
looking up, I am, at it.
I'm looking down
through it's green eyes,
watching some one
floating by.
her head is in his lap
and white the foam,
floats up around it.
I am too far up and out
to hear her, ask of him
Why he's crying.
I can't but help to think
I think, she knows.
That I am floating off
and he is, floating bye.

James McLain

Making Green, 'Lovely Babies

The word is finally out Coming now they come
and waiting now they wait
for me to come
wearing these strange
green bikinis
open at the smile
I am busy making
Green, 'Lovely Babies
and talking while in line
it is by they allowed at either
end
fifteen minute breaks
I save for lunch.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Looking Down, 'I Am Floating By

Out there in the fields.
Over open, salty water,
I am floating.
As the bird is flying
yes, as I.
and it circles over head
it looking down upon me
looking up, I am, at it.
I'm looking down
through it's green eyes,
watching some one
floating by.
her head is in his lap
and white the foam,
floats up around it.
I am too far up and out
to hear him,
say to her.
Why he is crying.
I can't but help to think
I think, she knows.
That I am floating off
and he is, floating bye.

James McLain

Water Sits, 'Around Her Hips

I, the wind, heard her then, you had, I floated by.
Swimming out, 'Completed each, his grand design.
Boiling foam, the water sits around her hips.
Each dingy is my bouy to her, your bridge.
Galliano, looking up the sunny sky rains down
it is wine, the yellow sun as if it's you, it Cooks.
She and I, as was the captains boat you must.
Telling me as if I ask of them, about the sail.
The way she got his wealth and his health
most will wonder why now that he as well.
You around the islands off their sandy shores
and each wave you know them all and all by name.
Mighty is her drink it speaks, lest one of you forget.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Being Famous

and i would never do that back then, but know?
every one that did has died
they stopped.
some come, you ask me how.
and in simple truth, i did do that.
not to you.
why ask me why?
glamorized is leather wrapped in lace?
are you sure you want to be?
it is hot, it is cold, upon the stage
where all grow old.
and all the faces look the same.
when the light is shining down,
into your eyes, they see your tears
they want more not less you cry.
O, 'daddy why, I ever came with you.
and in simple truth, fame is but their lies that makes your dreams in sleep
come true, for all but not for you.
open up your eyes and take a hold of this I'm your scotch and your my cigarette the worlds on fire, come hurry up and we can both, lets put them out.
The sea is full of corks they're bobbing
out there up and down, thanks to them.

James McLain

Bloody Well Right, She Is

and Little girls
like little boys
and both but want in the end
to do what is right and each
and by you what is right
by them is sight
too stand by him/him her until both they become the perfect tone
that note as one
that cello between her knees
her deep blue sea
and you are her bow
upon the strings
one long it is the song
both sing as waves
they dance, for you.
and Bloody Well Right, She Is.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Five Sisters

and being the youngest.
what did i know.
each fed me well and what i liked.
and i only had to lay there.
at first it was.
With them on top
not scary but kind of screwy
and i kind of knew it was but still.
It was only in the beginning that they complained.
But latter i tried to but got no where.
it wasn't until as they became,
like that which brought us here that my understanding was.
One by one waiting as they knew,
with some plastic stick they pleaded and prayed on.
One date each with a doctors son, a lawyers son
and the son of a wealthy construction owner.
They tricked them all.
Now there were only the two left.
I think the others spread the word.
but they would never could admit to it.
It is easier getting two pregnant than five
and i they try so hard.
I am hoping they will marry soon as well.
I hope they all have daughters that do too.

James McLain

Bottom Buttons

Just the slightest touch
and my warm breath
weeing through her panties
makes her nose stand up and run
like a faucet.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wind The World The Sea

and Wind the world the sea is then to much
and my cares are running like the waves.
Most like we have spent against the shore.
Placed in the middle of the desert sea,
I drift around the island like you never free.
Hidden under the foam to early and late it comes.
Clutching at some heart that it you washed clean.
And that of which was meant to be outside
And we no longer have of what we hold inside.
For naught but that and naught as that, we ever were.
Hovering they the birds we wait in sleep for they
the juicy orbs of gathered sight we need no more.
Moving, we move not out of our way, so they come.
I am from there, like some I know, I speak it naught.
Standing stones that stand no more,
none of they that lived before may sleep beneath.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Worn Out A, 'shoe

Do it naught, for it being forgiven from me.
I don't think it was the scare.
Concepts of such beings not adult.
And from but whom would they could be expecting that a child,
to be born with the wisdom
and knowledge thereof, but a child.
Is it this and yet it made was.
And it will stick with the child,
Will it not!
Make not a doubt about that.
Mr. Speaker from this,
is hers/his 'yours is our house.
Therein lies a distinct difference
coming out from between,
and parenting styles and no acquired skills.
Born without the adult but squired from where?
There is no skill in traumatizing a child.
Against by that a child thrown away,
lies the measure of one man and a woman.
Whom most would say of that shoe,
but never would.

James McLain

A Piano

a Piano can be Spicy, it is to the musky tavern
above it out back
it is never to early, dawn.
And one rising sun are teary eyes
and here is that one, 'Cinnamon girl,
full of nice, she is singing to me.
Swinging me back and forth to that special place,
making up for lost time
down the long stretch of each dusty trail of my youth.

A child once again is a man
sitting now there upon her piano,
the room full of base
she mingles and smiles as the strings.

Help is her holding me up with her strong small feet
is a matter of pressing a petal better is hers I look as one other whom smiles
when she sings her sweet songs, they are!

My back betrays me now, as the keys remind me
of once and how all the cotton balls there opened up before it rained
and loud thunder struck ivory keys as dark as night
the sky lit up for he was near the one who played.

Grand all those nosy paramours,
the tinkling piano
key on off each key our guide
looking up at the sky, she plays.
I think that compassion it is not for the vain.
While that new trampoline has tested me past the point
of any mans, her song surrendered too endurance.

James McLain

Haiku) The Laugh Of A Child

Being nothing so sweet watching them dance all around me
as they fall asleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And Just Last Night

and just last night
just after right before comes deaths white wings of sleep
hard fought I wrestle with not knowing
is it to be or not that gift or graft
of which some speak.
A hand full of pills, I follow down.
My sister comes and screams about her Daughters, death at twenty one.
The Judge I tell her is perhaps the cause
when he finds out
that you were sleeping,
even sexing with your brothers alcoholic wife.
That there are pictures of your car,
one being nude and every thing except one's mouth and practicing the fine art's
my daughter saw, as did her sun before I came.
Black mail is the scam for being married those ten times to bring those Arabs in when even the President did not in ways like that.
I am broke because of that,
yet even still, I won't do that a picture yells.

James McLain

Charles Bukowski's Slut....I

Watching Bukowski's moves never leave me more than a bottle of beer half full.

He took a hold of her left hand
and guided her right, looking past me.

Giving me instead that knowing glance
as she did as I thought so.
I could hear the clicking of her high heels
on the linoleum floor as they rounded the corner and disappeared outside.

Bukowski leaving me at the bar I asked,
where they were going and gone and she said that Bukowski had taken the slut outside to show her the beer garden.

I laughed and Bukowski said,
she'll see more than the garden,
again they both laughed.

She then pulled her panties aside
and pissed
while I was chatting to Bukowski
about her saying
what a good looking piece of blubber she was
and that they hoped
she would give them all a good mucking.

I called out to Bukowski
him saying,
what I thought she would say to that.

About ten minutes later
she came after Bukowski left
It was then that she told me
how she became a slut as I drove her home.

James McLain

Coming From The Sea

I still have that shoe of yours
in my closet, full of sand.
I smile and let her go, my other hand.
She still has.
Yours, is in it too.
I've have carried it with me
since we were young
and once in school.
Do you see it now?
She takes it
and rubs her finger over the same spot.
I didn't ever do that!
I couldn't have.
I shouldn't have.
I wouldn't Have.
What have you?
It was latter after dark
when I was walking through the back yard
it filled with leaves
and my horse you said it ran, with you away.
You never had a horse, she says, I am walking.

James McLain

Green With Mortification

She admitted to me once their anonymously
that she could not achieve, with out you.
what you call satisfaction their with the living.
And why some of you buy large dogs.
And their parts are, being she is not unlike it you.
And having had been molested once and later scraped
and left for all your friends to find.
She could open herself to only corpses now.
Without a single tear but after her old father died
no fear was left inside at all.
And while she did not engage in anything but the digital penetration, another female standing by her watching always did.
And green mortification,
when left to long out was it you my panties smelled?
And as love it goes or so she read it when you did,
and she/you how too manage it,
by pushing a piece of wire into her brothers finger.
When he left and died and their and their was little hair
until she learned to shave her parts went well.
And now my agent never calls me any more.

James McLain

Living Right

Weekend city folks
coming out to the country
green glory holes.
Putin on airs, my sister does
just like yours.

I get up
and move farther away.
Don't want to hear no soap
opera drama.
They themselves created.

Spending more on their shoes
than I wear out in one life.
Though the toes are pretty
not to fat, one is too skinny.

Even the bar maid knows that the air smells different.

I over hear,
Ellaiswise comment on the lips
of the blond catty one
and her cheeks seem paralyzed
from the eyes down. □

On the dairy my job
might deal with black and white cows
but I don't have to pick up their tails and wipe their noses and I don't have to keep my head down.

Country folks are simple
like me and they can see.
What those city girls
just can't see.

How I work all week
on the dairy.

Coveralls and a quick shower
and a cup of wigglers
down by the old mill stream
just in case.

And as I turn away from white Russians made with skim milk.

The tall one asks me where
I buy my cologne.
She says it smells
French.
I tell her it is made down the road
just a spell.

James McLain

The Child Of Now

Why I am, Am I why?
And you even though
at times, like these.
Even you grew very tired
open, closed the sea.
Hot were mine the days
mild were yours the nights.
Weary heart your heavy soul
was never felt far away.
Sore I know, are they your feet.
And the people were different then than those.
I am by that
forced to touch is each your yesterday.
The child of now and speak today
if it is not yours, it is cast away.
Darkness without hope is such a heart
may they of yours in love never know.
Knowing why each seed it is.
Teachers but from the pain of the parent.
And the parents before i came their pain,
comes later before they again.
That from this of which is needn't be cut when to oft it is.
From which end was it then from you once
and now from the other it is.

James McLain

Crying Into The Mask

We whom carried the mask from which each our grimace
and 'God let it hide thine fine gray lines,
grace it hides on our cheeks
and blood red rubies our eyes pain plucked out.
This debt which we pay with beings human perfidy;
With their hearts torn out and of bleeding whom smiles,
but thee and it never stops with innumerable subtleties.
Why would the world being thus overwrite I you have,
By counting all our tears each star and light in the sky?
Nay, left them only see us, whereas,
We whom carry the mask.
We sing, but oh and I' of clay mortar from dust is cheap;
thick red mud,
Under my feet, and a long time the thousands my many;
But leave the dream of the world dream it differently,
We whom carry the mask!
That built your dreams as the long wide leather it cracks
the picture now of silver bracelets, tarnished black.
Gold and silver they never were, made from blood.
Knowing not where you ever may go,
for so many were the welts on our backs, some carry.

James McLain

Under The Grass

I look out at you
over the open blue sky
growing dark
when the sun
like an orange
what a ball
it glows red
and turning to you saying i say
to you
i do not know
the sea
today
how the wind blows
will it blow
for me to speak
it says
and saying you say
as you want me to say and we stay salty water
and blowing the wind blows as it must
my thoughts as the waves
are as small as the fish swimming about
in between our toes
and swimming they swim
under the grass
as the waves
pull one back out
deep too sea.

James McLain

Gigolo His Plath

Learning where to walk the dog, walks me.
Which is more eccentric wearing shoes.
Compelled by an oppressive chihuahua.
Knitting me the strangest looking socks.

It is best to keep her shadow of the valley warm.
Besides getting your fingers stuck, bowling balls.
In the beginning of every older book, a yellow page.
She,
I found opening a box of pretty white each titled artist.

Skilled but not like that enough one, mixes drinks.
Fed a hand full of supplements and thrice a day.
I am safe walking nude on the thirteenth floor.
There are no pictures here as well, across the way.

Eating snails I wash them down with eggs yolks.
Sagging some,
I lift them up and hang them over looking down.

The metal their feels warm but cool as the radio plays some jazz
as the trombone is sliding back against the wall.

Danna shores lays off in Tampa Bay and makes me wonder why
Miama is two hundred miles away.
Lighting up her Doral, 'she puffs away
as time slips by, I shut my eyes and moan
as the record skips a beat, she wonders why I sigh.

James McLain

A Poem Sad

A sad poem for me could be, such as this one;

Looking around, to where I am and how are you?
How did I come to be as I am so cold
and you alone.

Yes, tonight it is cold,
colder now as my heart looks up at you.

Mars is a lovely bright red
and Venus flickers under your lashes.

But love of love
where does it go, when it is unfinished.

A book still open as it must appear to some,
to others it may closed and never lost.

Where else like the cold wind, can it blow here so warmly.
Does the bristle pine like Methuselah's
love it's rocky bed of stone.

Kisses by the many thousands,
I can not help you remember each one.
Such sadness are my thoughts,
so I write them down for you.

And No,
Pablo, yes I am to simple,
perhaps to simple to forget her.
Your bed smelled of you,
while my bed I can't remember, but you do.

James McLain

Her Beast My Burden

Like the dog being tied to it,
inside my baby-sitter, I was stacked.
Returning to her the full basket,
wherein is her methods.
My nose through her panties.
My tail wags, 'her others and things.
Fear so hot it should always,
never their grasp me,
but feeling the smooth milking her silk
next door to my skin, how it calmed
and restrained me.
As for me/you knew that necessarily, how i cannot spread and knotted up in my baby sitter
never caused more damage too me.
Boys are just different, I stressed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Birds That Sing

Moving it moves apart, supple and brown
tall hardy trees, bushes and plants
birds that sing out their hearts early comes dawn.

My sun rises and sets high upon from you.
I made it shine on all that moves, your open hands
and fingers apart, comes the fat drops of rain.
See you in that cloud beneath the face that smiles
you looking down, I see right through and it's as if.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Fantasy.

Her voice, catching his ear distracts him from,
those when, becoming wet.

And her eyes, they follow
as his gaze is upon them.
Those of hers
and she knows he would
for that which is, they are.
Not only lips
and salty sweet each cut
his hands,
hers full, his being emptied of.

Her thoughts are like the waves
foamy froth the edge.
And the noise is not his alone
the sea disguises,
from her eyes.

Which seeks out each their true intentions.
The sea it sucks them in.

Her kisses are there, she says.
His will, it grows as well
she knows.

When beneath the waves
Between he goes to hide.
The sea is warm and soft.

Where he is moving, never quiet
she comes to speak.
And where she will never come
too sleep, he weeps.

Standing still her arms each wave
his tears, she washes off.

James McLain

Haiku - You

Walking past and I paused in the moment of
those child like eyes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Forever And More

Kissing The Mountain

The fog drapes over,
kissing the mountains it hides.
and the rose inside the green house
he it, she keeps.

Never did you never want it all,
sleeping love kept deep inside.
Believing his hungry hands
they won't ever find you.

Do you believe it
even now
and I can't ever know it,
he won't ever show it.
What I believe of your love it consumes me
and such is it a fire
it is forever and more.

James McLain

Kissing The Mountain

The fog drapes, kissing the mountains it hides.
and the rose inside the green house he weeps.

You want love it sleeping, deep there inside.
Believing his hungry hand won't ever find you.

Do you believe it and I can't ever know it, it won't show it.
What I believe of your love it consumes me, it is more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Sisters Milk

Silicone valleys large complete chest,
there was a regular size in Sis, friends, and pointed,
directly at me the other of my sisters
and their smaller circle of her friends.

It is perfection raw milk and it is size of the good glass
where it is smaller than the sphere
which will be seen it is secure.

This second time, as for her first pregnancy
and sis it was flowing out above it/it is after sought Sized each side of her pregnancy wetter flowing from.
She can Inhaling, 'from the rosters wood,
as for waiting to catch me off me of which feels to me the raw chunky milk which is brought up by her for her ' It offers forth; She gushed.

Was sis was nursed from my nanny
and which ranked before, by me? ' He asked. As for Sis,
You said; Just three many long are the weeks and yours
As and she continued,

the reason why by her wasn't, You explain; Me,
I/her\mine long nursing,
which it is possible and crushed I felt
when she started to produce it to and squeeze
with her awkward collection simultaneously.

Lastly as for me,

It made it discharge; But Christ sis, I needed that milk.
Sleeping, I will sleep in the middle of you both tonight.

James McLain

Golden A Covetousness

Many times
and being
that it is the dogs ball.
Where her gold fruit juice, is desired.
At that time of her, whom can.
There is an unfairness, exactly always is.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dad, 'said

And even in the clouds
beings,
as soft as they are moving about in and out
they are there.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Haiku) Caught

Walking past you have
paused in the moment of
my child like eyes.

□

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Trees And Bushes

Mars is as to Venus
and around the moon under the sun
while a fire is burning
my mind.

Trees and bushes
whispering winds, ruffled leaves.
Open they curl in and out as if.
While there is Mars in regard to Venus,
the fire is burning too type,
as for your month either way and turning
the wind, which belongs to the sun the wood and the bush, which whispering,
make the leaves a pillow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bequest Beheld

The swing, pushing you over swinging is his light/right such incandescence
over the brightly colored water
as it falls up you are even swifter.
Standing on the cliff over the sea
a dolphin moving through the water whose deep-sea green opposite is white
the yellow sun warm adorer
where it does not cover the eye
under any condition, bequest is beheld.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Anchala

She was smiling
but her voice kind was stern.
When I came to her
I felt relieved,
that she was calm.
Wet the sand if comes a storm.
And while upon a dune, I stand,
because across the open plains
winds loved only this her blue
rose, 'Anchala.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Denial

If you can not be the woman,
you were born and meant to be then be a man
and where the shame
That your Denial, 'speaks must be.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Sleepless Moon

While there are two children and them leaving where to come from warm each temperate home
through each open window
across the open field all the way.

Their teacher is and trust is by one hand of each is met, one wept.

Underneath, a sleepless moon
are two young lovers, 'pupils thy near to they of whom would look.

Why their books you turn each page
from which they have but left behind.
Trapped in moons of white and black.

Each takes on the body
and each shape
and his the lovely lady is her looking glass
who peers inside
and sees that man.

With his long bow
drawn shooting arrows
high in space the moon
looks full and open.
See her smile?

Between his legs
a running stream
her cup is used to fill the hollow bowl.

When full and rubbing lips
and looking down is when their faces are made clear
the water when it sits is still.

James McLain

Understanding My Hands

Though it be summer and kind wind, 'I cool.
Buttercups under your chin, still 'dear, are yellow,
around your neck, my fingers have broached,
whereof have fluttered often, your lips, 'I keep sealed.

Hidden my expressions, merry dimpled cheeks
I wander, as your eyes look around, wide open.
Two fold is the mind from which I see, you are there?
Leaning against it/mine, you are never talking,
I listen to your heart, with my fingers in your ears.

Even there, high upon the pole, sits that green nest
and even when one comes, one osprey leaving watches
but for the coming of the rain and riding above it and like the damp earth it softens, until it becomes.

Never hungry, fast asleep understanding my hands.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Star Fish, Gov'Ner Crist

When you have seen them struggle
upside down and a thoughtful mind is clean
being from the sea, beings anew, 'it is there.
They are the many small like beings
on them each the many feet acting as one
and simple are they, from you.
By the hundreds those their feet that march on.
Whereupon that shore you walk and you do with she whom is right by your side, both laughing
and she does, knowing inside you found peace.
Are they all, 'those few naught in thought, as she is,
with you, bring them too/to do as your will, her well?
Waves that bring solace and peace to you for she is with you too sooth each print, left behind by you for she comes up behind your side
and makes from each end that peace with you.
Her peace is are as her toes and your the sand.
The open palm they all see, except for they have no room,
and the fish like the star most have even more room for.
Many are the feet that once now as one such as you uncovered by you and the white finite sand you weigh,
and they may or may not come to know.
And I am found by you and she and she is like you the sea.
None but are they not the most and yet they are never full enough, each bay are they when the tide comes in, never full.
It is by that and knowing and that two oceans can never fill one such as that their muddy bottom.
Even when whispered by her is your other she is yours
to keep and the feet of all the stars in the ocean the gulf
are kept damp and clean from the sea, you.

James McLain

By My Fears

By my fears
you are all that I ever had.
And you have
like my tears
bathed in only years
When by my fears
as her tears they fall
against my cut
and open
callused palm.
And salty weeping they spaced, 'looking up
at your eyes,
asleep their upon.
And you must know
as I feel,
how they burn.
When I see your shaking face
beneath
my open infinite hands
deep are such
running thoughts.
Even as though
silk unraveled, 'pulls against.
A level desk,
my face before the light,
nights warm up to you bright.
And as a windows open
and with it comes you,
dust of the stars,
burning sun.
While, what of which I wished only to hear,
from you and you only whispered it,
won't it must, come to pass.
But to pass you, 'I paused

PoemHunter.com

when I, you it passed.
While I shed only tears
that you may then one day,
see and the sea
for she, 'yearns to be.

James McLain

Lactating Daughter

Because, 'I have a lactating daughter,
why not take advantage of her?
As long as Mother doesn't mind,
father said,
Hooking up the pump.
He is not cured of the need,
but he is convinced that taking the milk
is the right thing to do.
It's very difficult to tell if something is working or not, she said.
What we feel comfortable about
is that the process of doing it has been amazing
and has helped all of our family.
Even the children
can't tell the difference, when eating their cereal.
There is research to say those same proteins
in his daughters breast milk,
will and has benefited her father.
I think the most tender part of this co-op
is providing more milk and less chicken, ' she said.
They both milk them together to strengthen their relationship.
Skipping coming my, 'mother works it out.
Laughing about it,
Mother instructs her daughter to say, no to drugs.
But the children.
know we save money and want more than their share.

James McLain

Tu Fu A Map

Mine is a garden of pine below the tower
across the clear winding river Isolated each is laying upon the bed of needles
amber pearls rest against the cave
under the full moon
where the dragon sleeps
with emerald eyes
one winks.
Because,
Tu Fu has drawn a map
that shows the way
between the valley of the floor
up to the moon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Some Children Say

Yours Is now a different world, some children say?
A world that lost it's way as thought advances?
May it never be, that we must give less thought,
to those with more in thought or how the thoughtless.
Why not let the children pray, where children play.
When you are old and Grey because of what you said,
and where then will you stay, from what you made?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pieces In The Box

Pulling out gradually,
building out the center of the world.
And the board on which
I play the pieces in the box.....
As it is raw between the creases
night/right as for Reconstruction.
Other than truthful each denial leaving falling trees as the emptiness of the forest from which it would
and do it not except love sweet, for me.....
Come then, 'dear', excessively, to be forgiven,
And it is transferred,
my heart from it/is yours to touch,
because it is in close range,
and each kiss is necessary when you, 'it placed,

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Full

Being full
is not the same as being filled.
A beautiful bay
moaning beating hearts as one
two oceans
can not fill.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Covered Only In Salt

And when floating
in and out, there on.
Yet whereupon by me,
and there upon you are.
Waves blown across
my face, I am
carried down,
as all around you.
hurried off
so very, far away.
When I see you only
at the very end.
I swim back out covered only in white salt.
Coming over
you are standing
near the shore
calling out too me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Kenny The Crab

Long supple legs ending as they, I should bashful, I am too your smile
begging at the outermost why and at the edge
between the water
and the sand
on white, is tanned
looking out for Kenny
we walk around
and each your touch
is like a blow
is hammered home
when you upon, I gaze
because as such
you are to you, I am
from different states.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

About The Sun

Transported to learn with pain,
far away
the blind man sleeping learns
about the sun!
In order to die,
he must cross that wide open plain.
From each of each
and they of whom, which is thirsty
and empty of doubt!
Be their faith never restricted,
you commute with the feet of the homesick,
the homeless
when leading are led to the seashore
of each foreign country
depending upon the country,
come between and the air of blue most love!
This is your sovereignty
and why too my, I am you in bloom, agonizing!
Sorrow of this mixed fixed signal!
As for these whom are so patient ' So it is; Laureates'
Under someone's voice training it is huge while I grow even smaller than each grain of sand
that one time the sea, never touches.

James McLain

All Find My Tongue

Tit for that good grades, feeling smug thoroughly was the good priest rubbed?
and or robbed ' ' As for me he was off.'
Which shoots that to his; It is rubbed; As for me,
each lip as leaves the tree hears winds, that whisper
which is not the hardest of times,
when it could but does not resist even longer,
my mouth around the bit like a horse it was opened,
and many hands could be slipped in my panties
their they all find, my tongue.
And the moon, weeping my face, ridden is
' As for him my wet saucy surface... like the sun is hot for an, 'A never and, those 'B's
' The highest which hit
and wherefore you shot into that;
' The rear moved apart seeing it was once
a clear green wrapper
and left of the explosions laughingly sound of lolly victorious and marching, beating on drums
so when it is
and concerning the stick of many candies
or those candles with wicks unlit there are more fire is later but then ice melts sooner, coming always back while waiting it goes on?

James McLain

Yellow, 'Red Giant

You race around it quickly but gently
noble this race
and we in and outside of it/its holes minor/major
and to explore some worlds deeper
concerning its interior world in it is so much stops' it breathing
active deeply take with its center right in the mouth bottle necked exploding star dust
the throat expanding
constricting then while pulsating
while the sun of each, our every morning expands outwards
and then back in an instant
until all that is left is the dark carbon core
and you are
a diamond the size of the Earth.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Relationships

Relationships are not,
I think skin deep tough
cut by the people
whom think of such things, 'that way.
And i can, only be,
that which was
by my thoughts
from the beginning
what i was, in the end
meant to be..
nothing is more
nothing made less...
and to think about that one
if you wont, then I will.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Brown Boy

Brown boy rushing in and out all day
and singing that song, I love to play.
When I'm faced with what you say,
Tease him not, lest he miss me,
and Sara never came to run there away.
Leave me/my world or come out and play,
And when I stop blushing you kiss me,
it is then, that I know, why I miss you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Cheeks, The Lips

Being always open then Come, and i, when in thought
brought out of the mouth
and the look, the gaze
when falling deep, your eyes
the cheeks, the lips
being fresh
it is but our flesh
that when lost,
touched, we can't hide
and knowing not a word
is but you to satisfy
does it not,
when perhaps it is you
i have and i would
for i am, what i am
you have made
and by grace will it be more never less
so walk not in fear
open the door, to your heart.
for i am,
but the child that needs out.

James McLain

Bull Frogs

It is only that I am
I am only that for you
blushing
Flirt and terrible
i am, when in you
i must look to yours
and eight hundred more light filled
happy babies
their maybe more.
Always thus...
always trust the wallowing walrus
I am always
and hope is yours,
Help her/my\why and lord
ohhhh, myy.
It is..och...the eons.
It is you that makes
even the legs of the frog...
spotted tremble,
so help me croaky..
Then come with me
and, 'dear'..
Yonder pond is fair
and don't stop, too
hop so far away....

James McLain

Each, 'Lesson

Can even my one lesson,
Taught by you be different to me again.
Over and over a green board of white chalk.
Words once small,
even again as we speak ever too me,
seem so large.
Head stones I glimpse,
like the stumps of old teeth.
I seek the same thing out, even now as a child.
The date on the stone that very first date,
that I so young, sought out.
Carved their upon, open the bark as does the sap.
Up the ladder to each, 'V 'the bucket half full.
When were they born, how long did they stay,
have they come back to teach.
What did they say.
and here now again, am I gone back beyond reach
and now once again they here around us, gone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Lesson

Can even my one lesson,
Taught by you be different to me again.
Over and over a green board of white chalk.
Words once small,
even again as we speak ever too me,
seem so large.
Head stones I glimpse,
like the stumps of old teeth.
I seek the same thing out, even now as a child.
The date on the stone that very first date,
that I so young, sought out.
Carved their upon, open the bark as does the sap.
Up the ladder to each, 'V 'the bucket half full.
When were they born, how long did they stay,
have they come back to teach.
What did they say.
and here now again, am I gone back beyond reach
and now once again they here around us, gone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Happy Mothers Day) For Gov'Ners, Mother Of Crist

Introduced to, Erythroblastosis Fetalis
During her this my then/her first pregnancy
the mother from thy, from her womb
by the woman of thine, how my birth.
And if but unknown thus by learned-ed men
and knowledge not being by my trial, of errors
again as a testimony too, wherein are such unheard,
four years earlier then like they, never I latter.
Whom by such when stilled gave up stilled birth
by the blood from another, another by there blood
in the RH affirmative baby it develops the antibody
in the RH day a, frightened 'Mother primarily color, is factor.
If after that light of thine of mine was peaceful slumber
being pulled forth, void of form and without conditioning being imagined is not verified and cause vilified without,
is not handled by these those her antibodies
perhaps it because the disorder is/was death described without breath, with the RH affirmative baby whom came forth from he your any but one originator
with death of the young child, like he brought to life.
Being alive in the vast sleeping void,
I knowing you know not death, even with just cause.
and 'Being surprised,
I was, I guess,
but your guest, never was I, Mother less.

James McLain

Me Squeezing My Squeezebox

As for you,
my help and I don't understand
being in the tub being bubbled
and foamy
thinking It is terrible so is it necessary;
In order to go somewhere,
you know why and in other things.
While last night I am soaked,
I think of that, which is the white raw materials
where I had firmly squeezed,
and my chest on my right, come coming out,
and as for me those when the left which became aware.
I did the same to the other chest, in addition happened.
Time, I ever since that time
me squeezing my squeezebox
tender chest if or exactly me the nipple,
because it is more precise, that is I inhaled,
it happened, the way if it squeezes,
no exactly small bit comes,
still full in my other hand is appearing the large quantity.

James McLain

Heart - Haiku

Some never will give up.
knowing it is worth the fight
So you stand your ground.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Juicy, ' Our New Crop Of Prepubescents

and Juicy, ' Our New Crop Of Prepubescents
On Some Beach, here In Florida
Where poverty lives among the seedy lots
and valueless houses off the palm-lined, Neogene strip,
behind the rusty chain winked fences,
heavy-bolted doors
tenement castles and while you, I watch
in the shadows of their speedways and teen crime
and even preteen crime
rich in succulence
and soon to be harvested
has proven to be unresistant strains
some new infectious,
your old and stale, new again adversaries.

Each spike in offenses prompts a new round of questions,
Florida's little beings economic chief namely:

What will it take:
to keep our prepubes
out of the juvenile justice system — no prenatal,
a pipeline of the old Souths
white trash and Nigra, free labor
with now some brown
Cinnamon her spice being added to the prison system?

Presumptive reasoning being that they are to damaged
by societies standards
and lack of accountability
those important first nine long months
that they latter
when still a teen
whom brag about their then being able to do while standing on their heads and seeing one eighteen month old toddler
the other day at the beach and doing just that,
trying to walk on his head and alcohol fetal syndrome leaves me

more than a little confused
and her mother giving sport the eye,
blushing,
I hastily covered up
and rolled over in the sand,
thinking about how to save the loggerhead turtles.
Ohh these words are to scary,
'Mr speaker, they remind me of...well bestiality.

James McLain

Talking Little Child

She's walking down, 'me, I'm walking up walking down to waters edge
and looking up it seemed she looks to me up past the clouds out past the sea behind my head the sun is hot
the wind is still, 'she stops,
to ask me why,
Mister, mister between each small breath
when caught,
so far and out it is you swim,
Beyond each buoy here again
then back out you start again
so far out I can not tell and just because is all so tell me why?
Little, small and looking down I squat and drip
to wet to dry,
looking at her clear blue eyes
looking knew and each new day
Because it's hard is all I say,
because it is hard.

James McLain

May Her Wishes

If wishes were a list
and if, 'in may and yours comes by and I too keep and each a paradox is parody
to see you smile is why,
I love the sea.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Deep Inside

Your help was mine to give and both.
Could you not but help too feel it?
When deep inside the clouds the sky,
You whom knelt to hold me up.
Raisins in the sun.
Grapes again made whole and full
and green.
You squeeze against your lips.
Juice runs out each corner of your mouth.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When By My Fears

When by my fears, I have.

Like you.

Tears they fall, against my cut
and callused open Sunday palm,
and salty looking up.

You know, I feel them burn.

When I see your shaking face

beneath my hands

thoughts as though

as silk unraveled, 'pulls against.

A level desk my face before the light,

nights warm up high

and as a window opens

and with it comes to you,

the burning sun.

While, what I wish to hear,

from you,

can't but to come when passed. □

While I shed tears that you may one day, yearn to be.

James McLain

All That I Have

and if i do
and if i come out
once more into the moon light
and seeing that
and of all that i have
and you having it to move
as the leaves move
but only as does the wind
when it blows me, by you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ebbs The Tide

How long I wait
out there to see your long face
each day and each day I come back treading water it coming, it going out either way, 'I know it moves quickly,
and some times, 'I grow restless, floating.

Saying that I would recognize the swells above the water as your line is
and because of mine there below
I am trapped as well, under water
Ebbs the tide and the water does it move.

□

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Before The Storm

While looking alone
when standing
he watches as the waves
wash it all slowly in and out
and current is wind
leaving the shore fresh and washed
as foam flies past each face
a peaceful calm
comes before the storm.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Falling Rising

Twin little mounds and oiled tummy's.

A few minutes later the baby wet was nursing and soft their bodies laid were entwined.

They held hands as they rubbed their faces crying both together, sleeping until they both started crying once again, as the baby nursed.

Before again.'falling finally rising, rising falling.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Shooting Lava

Work is, and 'As for her,
when tackling the dairy and our farming place
where all but she is large,
it was normal to do that in her bulls.
She used the enormous wooden metal tipped shaft
the use from which it sends electric current.
The blood glands glowing runny bloody
and from even which it can surprise.
Don't hide, 'The walking....
of of the rear of her shooting lava.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Back Into The Sea

OTHERS come by me
but always, 'I take my leave wishing like, some sunny day the wind and sand is always constant in this state
as Flux my feet are standing still they flirt
The dunes are always moving quickly over one another as your skirts it gently lifts
one moving over with the other leading pushing their against me always back to you,
deeper grows the nameless grains of sand,
as I move right off the edge and back into the sea.

□

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Was, 'I Am, I Always Will Be

Only to her that one, that only one
the one of whom there is but one is he and no man has made this speech.

Speakable only to he, is she,
whom speaks to you of he.
Remarkable is she,
whom knows the touch of he.

Wet grass kept thus and always
by he for she is knowing
he is the animal,
hers and hers,
put their only for her by he, for that.
Safe in the knowledge of her sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pushing Out

I know 'dear' i as well am trying.
You thus it needed, inside it being.
and you have tried, very hard as well.
Pushing out
and leaving, much to soon.
Though soon enough for you, it never was..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Empty Sea

One window is, it there?
Where I am small;
The empty sea;
Me, now each the parting, parts.
Freedom from the sky soft face one sky
and now warm death, thin clear ice,
Verily over time it, 'you became.
Now without, one 'either
life is imitation made of, 'Grey.
Splendid same loves meaning,
but entirely easier ways than instantly,
coming senses too it is.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'You Have Long, 'Too Ask Me Why,

You have too ask me why, as you so long,
but deep as she, 'the open roaring sea
and consolations, 'where there is song
and Brought up by you/you comb my hair
arms swinging, 'walking talking us along
singing a song the child is in, waist deep;
If that voice when it decides to leave me.

Hearing what is fact you heard it not from me
that I have been so long, it is never forgotten
and any thing which finds my life in death,
my res·ur·rect·ed, breath you have inside,
and hearing your soft throatily, hold my voice,
each song,
'You sing, waves combing past me, yesterday.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Child, 'Unkept, 'Precocious,

Bored and even then quite small, come nearer to thee, 'us, them.
I tuned out the Latin, 'mumbled jumbo to them, me being wee and it was a revelation only then,
Precocious a boy, 'I articulated to the priest, that the girls were caught in the same artistic light as me.
Afterwords there always was an eye, 'kept on me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Child, Unkept, 'Precocious

Bored and even then quite small, so near all of them,
I tuned out the Latin, 'mumbled jumbo then wee
and it was only then,
Precocious a boy, 'I articulated to the priest, that all the girls were in the same recirculated position as me.
Afterwords there always was an eye, 'kept on me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'You Have Too Ask Me Why'

You have too ask me why, as you so long,
but deep as she, 'the open roaring sea
and consolations, 'where there is song
and Brought up by you/you comb my hair
arms swinging, 'walking talking us along
singing a song the child is in, waist deep;
If that voice when it decides to leave me.

Hearing what is fact you heard it not from me
that I have been so long, it is never forgotten
and any thing which finds my life in death,
res·ur·rect·ed, breath you have developed,
I hear your voice, each song come yesterday.

s.t.t.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Brotherhood

Looking down:
never upon that man,
his woman each star is bright.
Dawn spreads across.
She fans the fire, 'The sun
His desire then she resumes.
The radio each rescue
and each skyward moment.
Some fireman and E - 44.
Some police man, her detective
this at their both, 'every monument.

□

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Are, 'Who You Are, You Are Not

Your other side infused, ' refused from the pupil,
and your father of your green moss was obtained
thereof from your mother.

But where you were impressed, 'pursuit to each personality
and talent for the voice which is sung
could from the middle of it somewhere, you obtained?

These from your parents were perhaps learned
or was that apples unlike oranges, falling from the sky
once decided in advance by your gene? it' Between;

As for elbowroom of the swing, kicking leg
where physical characteristics are heredity characteristic,
heredity as the water, from each individual'

To each it regards it may become lighter/darker;
conduct or it's lack, intelligence and personality.

If you are, 'I am as well, if you are not, I am dreamless and Finally, as for the argument apples and oranges against whose character is old when confronting,

there is no raisin without the grape and another rose
when with lily, does rose sing and which is really what helps you smile and then thereof each all and each they win.

We of each rank do too

and to inform some rank it is decided with our DNA
which still is the thing we by our life experiences and.

But we of each the both parts,
play have known each one of each thing.

This is excluding child hood abuse issues of course.

James McLain

Soft, 'Up Around

I cannot control such is all of that, wind
and only by the lips from which it sings
and singing as it does and still it yet brings forth the foam in which i stand and though it is brown and many days
and windy the waves
up around your warm tattoo, soft ankle.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Evening Comes

When evening comes
and shuts our eyes
where hot days those are
where love is permitted
and the cool nights are sad
and have awakened, i stand
and putting it out, your love
when is it simply permitted?
However and where ever it is,
are we both by the one
betrayed permanently,
and love when it is permitted
it is permitted only once.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Are, 'Who You Are Not

Your other side refused from the pupil,
and your father of your green moss was obtained
from your mother.

But where you were impressed pursuit to each personality
and talent for the voice which is sung
could from the middle of it somewhere, obtained?

These from your parent were perhaps learned
or was that apples unlike oranges, falling from the sky
once decided in advance by your gene? it' Between;

As for elbowroom of the swing,
where physical characteristics are heredity characteristic,
heredity water from each individual'

To each it regards it may become lighter/darker;
conduct, intelligence and personality.

Finally, as for the argument apples and oranges against
whose character is old when confronting,
there is no raisin without the grape and another rose when with lily sings and which is really what helps you smile and then they win.

We of each rank do too
and to inform some rank it is decided with our DNA
which still is the thing we by our life experiences and.

But we of each the both parts,
play have known each one of each thing.

This is excluding child hood abuse of course.

James McLain

Twenty Or Thirty A Day

and how because, 'anally inflicted yours,
became a death sentence
and thousands of times and never once crossing under, always looking to the full moon
saith you and never did he smell once of the rose and now, being silent and full and sweet diagnosed with the anally inflicted death sentence and giving it away
twenty or thirty a day
all because of one anally retentive man.
It is quite an endeavor
and how many, may I ask has it caught?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Fire - Haiku

And if you were able.
Would you, without a thought.
Sacrifice your self.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A River - Haiku

Comes to her door.
And runs, slowly through it.
Leaving no marks.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Gov'Ner Crist

Watching they upon you i watch, ' you watch
and the lines increasingly and those friends
and remember thus they them, who they are.
and being it is not about being alone, when
as i am, you are and you now are.
Be as they if as truly you have 'said, it is done.
Platforms and platforms,
which of they for them or against is it, make it known.
Platforms from which to gain height to see the sea.
Do not be mean and stand upon yours,
looking down upon them in all, 'your worry concern for them, they are all, are they not in your heart, let it be known.
And i am tired as well as all eyes are cast out at what is to be or not, none see.
The children all of these children every where.
Every one, each it is thus, 'children except for the old'
and blushing to my self except one and yet
are they not again as they once were, when young?
A plat form from within and when i was at the beach
their was a small one, beings Autistic whom tried to stand and walk towards me.
Ashamed thinking I, of my Daughter,
and before going back into that world of wait.
Calling out to him again and he did!
And smiled for a moment in time and then, he did.
That is what being a little big man of hearts is all about, perhaps i am wrong, perhaps it is not.

James McLain

Mommy, 'At School Today

Mommy, 'at school today
and the nuns ask me to hold these two stones
and roll them around in my mouth, like this, see.
They said if i moved the stick back and forth like this that it would make fire and you see it grow bright, right?
Plus, i felt the heat from it too.
Why they clean me, like you clean the dog,
i don't know, do you know why? i get good grades!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Making Peace With Me

May has come, 'April walks past
she shows me, pretty cheeks.
Floating there upon the waves
Making peace with me.

It is their I am, 'between her arms
and aching mine too feel,
Happy, warm and sensitive making peace with me.

s.t.t.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Personal Am I) Unbiased(

Extrema opposites of parking still free, 'Sand Key Park.
Swimming far out into the fast moving channel to sea, it all.
Able to see for miles it is wide moving north and south or west across the channel, I float the rest, is to far away.
She is older topless sunbathing with a towel close by
and easy to converse with, I don't know why, I do, do I.
He is the same but a man, is a man he is still a man, as I.
I found what he was doing to be repugnant and unthinking I.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is It Milk, 'You Utter

Frequent shoppers
are we all
well in quite the honey drew
from Bonny knobs
just a cup of milk
in life he sought.
Lips pursed and shaking
hunger driven thoughts of you
river streams all have dreams
heavens dew, I knew.
Glasses full half in half cream
butter such are lovers seen.
Tipping arms that walkaways churn lovely is her name to know.
Flying across green fields expand eye to eye can't see them all those wooden fences
hungers sheen flavors misty sky I call.
Favors lace a silky place just in chance
of line to time play one day.

James McLain

My Normal Is Your, 'Xanax

Buzzing, a bumble bee doesn't have to sting me
I catch the black and yellow bumble bee by it's wings
and pull it out back wards from the open hibiscus toss it into the air in one single motion, it flies off.....

You tremble at my deep well of thoughts of you words of kindness and in truth, may i come with you
i with you, can prevail, though some would not hail upon my head, hear me out, wish me not dead...

Mountains wear us all down, the clouds lift us up,
I come with you each morning they show dawns
early lite and there beneath....

Patience for mounds of verbs I have none
left for nouns.....
Adjectives perhaps, 'are they yours?

Play the radio the songs go in and out of my head
a thousand times the speed of light, all at the same time, 'I write and look and when my name is as yours.....

Pleasant is the present scent you wear to lay
me down to sweep your mind of thoughts, do not forget too dream of me tonight.....) it(is sweet..

James McLain

Alone, 'A Special Child

Meeting is made mention discussed
distant from blue mother earth,
most would rather, it had too far too come.
' It' Another origin spoken for perhaps
and ' For the second time the time of of for the sake of;
Only one angel mainly earlier these descriptions
and ' This special child, 'special needs, many love.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Angel

Meeting is made mention discussed
distant from the mother earth,
most would rather, it had too far too come.
' It' Another origin spoken for perhaps
and ' For the second time the time of of for the sake of;
Only one angel mainly earlier these descriptions
and ' This special child, 'special needs, many love.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Valley Of The Queen

The valley of the queen,
soft is the middle of love.
My haven is two sided,
folded over to seal me.
rose, 'Petals scented blooms,
held over my head, in sleep.
While rivers murmur over rocks
standing up, I look at the moon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Valley Of The Butterfly

Wing tipped by wind.
Flowers opened, opened more.
White rice hides moon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Billy Bowleg

It is not there, there is it not a beautiful orchid, where it is.

American forest,

Florida in us.

Wild flowers that from each shape to make the bowlegs moccasin
and from the billy club

several may live and remember,

to be called the moccasin flower appropriately,

to rise to making concentrate with poetry or whether,

or a certain extreme resistivity,

whom cannot escape from the garden of the village

of the flower perhaps including love,

as for custom mind set of forest ' These flowers dubbing were done; Woman slippers'!

Us it has the domestic flower to which the name belongs

securely or, some other fragrant things,

the moccasin of the bowleg of the Billy Seminole club.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am, 'Inside Our Head

That was a long time before you were born.
And I had forgotten most those your dreams.
But for that, you then it was I saw there, standing before me,
like the sun it is bright- white hot is My, your dream.
And the wall I built of roses, rose slowly,
the rose, it is slow, and yet still nothing between you and my dreams.
Until that morning when I touched the sky,
the rose- upon the Wall.
Shadows all have moved back.
I am you/you are I.
I am with you moved the shadow of night, it is dawn.
Inside our head.
Already the light/write of my dream
and before me on me, you are.
Just a trick of one thick brick in the wall, ignored.
Light/write of my dream, you My hand!
My darkness you moved with your smile!
Each broken eye which passes through fire
and the wall now encased in blue ice.
Bricks in the wall!
No more holes in your dreams!
Thousands of stars like you
and lights/write of each burning sun,
in dreams made up of but you.

James McLain

My Sis's

Sis's anus
and

My sis'

when lubrication and re entry is on her mind on the rim;
Her anus when it's near, 'Saturn reached was not difficult.
But because I offered mouth to mouth to help each month
my sister pushes the cloud tops back
and her surface comes, 'much nearer to my window
thus it's welcome
and alley of the comet of the lane of H
in her is deeply
and with my effort, it continues, spewing out
it's mass far upon, the yellow sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Self-Respect

I or impression sweating-rank..
it if in self-respect they've, have not bought,
oceans the sea
and muscles and waves, Of thy pleasure..
Be be.. Her being his everything, it is uncovered! !
My sight is and fiercely green, your freeholders.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Vigilance And Bellicosity

'Dear'
and i have,
have i not, i have said,
i do not worry about betrayal from 'God, it is man,
with whom, i must live in this world
with each day
until it is, 'that i am called again, into sleep...
thus Weary and wary, i wait.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

E.E.Cummings Ash En

e.e.cummings ash en
making long productions, milk and cream
me, 'being yourself and he smiling
and the amine woman
holds out her towel to you.
young poets
many and before, your love could i and yet
it helps too be pretty and handsome eyes being called
i see, 'through to you, staining my window and through transparency, you came each full moon, overwhelms me
and i have you
here deep inside and i love you but the nurse walking by could i, but by you, watch the nurse milk the nurses
the nurse as it nurses
when white and warm, whom sex changes and each strong woman, i have withstood
while some guys get heavy and the girls get too full.
and being properly humbled
good babies, do sing so i hush
and your fingers and your sandy toes i kiss
being deaf and simple is my psychology
each little cut expectations
trading each secret watching you milk the cow
because i do
and with each one the colors bubbled
i only thrust upward or suddenly when whereupon that face
a spring it sings of you, 'each being we think the last time dream nursing dreams
i hate you i love you
the yellow sun rises
and your loving your shame and your, 'not a 'young girl anymore.

James McLain

Your, 'Young Girl Today

Is this this your young girl today?
The pants keep getting tighter,
the shirts are yellow brighter.
The shirts have mature things painted on them.
Little girl shorts with wet and 'juicy' on the butt.
Halter tops with holes,
short shorts, bras get transparent negligence smaller and As for the girl you are young, is there today?
The pants rather than being brighter than the shirt,
continue to become through him, look daddy 'O so, hard.
By them please for me, now I want them now.
It is printed to the shirt it has grown wild and milky those.
The girls on purpose mossy foamy wet and
' With it short-circuits; juicy' each at, 'Bat.
The halter the hole, short shortage,
the brassiere the face transparency
which is obtained is growing smaller, it exceeds.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Shame

Your shame is that I wear it aught—to be Alive.
Knowing what I know — Man, 'I am the child.
But could I envy— you that I must trust.
This sack of soil and it's dust full each bag—
being undistinguished from all the rest.
Remembered once permitted—why it is, 'I am.

e.d.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Old And Cold

Deep see hers is each forbidden heart
Dull eyes i remember all,
But no emotion -shown by they,
and call i don't, i waist no time.

It is -coming up the stage, stand tall.
It is - coming down the other side, to fall.
Then we are left to look but up they see
within, and proud and vain, all now cry.

I hear the world
applaud their hollow fame it saves
Which they blame
when looking deep within the light it fades
each giving man,
that gives no more in sleep, they seek to keep.

m.a.

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

All I Know Must I Hide

all i know must i hide
this is to remind you
of why
i must hide all i know
knowing i hide
what i sow
here inside all the words.
each memory of they
they of each mind
from father to daughter having no other
you knew i had plans for you
but you left me
with no way too know.
so each of you
and you,
i again reach out,
and 'within each
when you read then you know.
I smile at the psychometric
my break from, 'Steven Hawkins..
truly what when asking he, is reality
thinking you think that i am
not like you but kind some other when no other like you
it was, it is that i am
i am past then that now i am
if i have disappointed you it is only i think because no one did for me what i did for her some one i never was in my sorrow
not being that of which to you
i think you thought i was but some are now corrupt and i was trying to make you proud
i am just, like you and you
i just did not have time for me.
i make no comparisons

philosophically speaking and only of this would you know
except for the brutal conscienceless death
i have indentured to all the best speaking of course about books.

But then,
you are not susceptible to flattery.

James McLain

As Pure And Fire

Our mortal flame in it draped as we are.
standing as we stand apart that way
twilight revolves around you speechless
i am left by you
never alone looking up at you, their i am.

Dead of death and breath leaving me quite not while you and yet
and fire,
as pure as the air of each brown ruined day.

Your dark orioles openly and i close the garment.
The shadow as roots dance in the night
spring suddenly from your soul,
that which hides, come out only after you have, again.

Richness so sad and life that its flows as, looking back beings like they once we were and it is they now and full of sadness, they will learn to become.
and filling the world with more of the same.

James McLain

Keys

And child, 'But as for each open cloud
that lays beneath your keen perception between me and you the sky, is it, as you think it is.
and without you are the silver keys, 'key to key
and is as if, mine, your mind, the waves the sea.
and eye to eye this my key, weeps but rain.
Still I haven't, 'But have you my key.
and you whom finds that key as for me who feels your face give way and that I become close therefore.
it is close, as well and that there is a long way, always,
and some times it does not reach exactly.
Whom am i to abandon it as tears and for me
who find this key and it's border
and I that you may open up
each cloudy face this key entirely, to pleasant to open
I where the mask goes i go and the face opens bright as for you anything
and enjoy my other keys
yours which is free my key to your happiness.

James McLain

Shibumi

Each red eye be, 'hold the dragon.
wet and winding
a Japanese path
gracefully twisted bonsai trees
bordered stone gardens
gold fish ponds fed by, 'Shibumi hands always filled
with green paper lanterns.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Upwards, 'suddenly I Thrust

I Thrust upward, 'Suddenly
It is only because that you move as you do
moving up, moving down
always around and the angles are awkward unknown and resplendent to me.
The other one whom came before
'dear' and she, after you 'said
it is the angle of your pelvis.
I only, 'Thrust upward or Suddenly
squeezing you squeeze,
Coming without warning pushing in deeper when they are moved independently of each other,
'one up and one down,
red center line
from the base to the crown and your hand
reaching back smooths the road.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Nursing

I can't remember
the last time my husband,
didn't sleep through the night.
I can't remember
the last time I was not engorged,
the last time I leaked.
the last time he peaked.
I can't remember
the last time he helped me out.
I, 'unlike he was nursing.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Young In Grace

it was as if awake and grace.
and if as it was
each day
as it was today
as if
black and white
moving around
as if
and seeing it in one so young
and she was as he
as well
he flowed around her
his dark black accented her white
and when it was done
mine eyes
near like sleep were closed.
young such is grace
dancing youth comes awake.

James McLain

Evening Comes

When evening comes
and shuts our eyes
where hot days those are
where love is permitted
and the cool nights are sad
and have awakened, i stand
and putting it out, your love
when is it simply permitted?
However it is,
we are betrayed permanently,
love is permitted by only love.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

That Dream

And her eye was in her petticoat which opens race/lace.
I awakened suddenly sexually.
And begin my heart beating
because some exactly, 'it is strange.
I looked at that and she changed her cloth.
As for her the petticoat and other ones
which she remove hers being changed.
But as for her green panties
which it was sawing through that area
where the bush re-arranges with that tree
and around her/her hips is are many silk leaves.
And the other petticoats
are attached to each pale body.
She arises
the dressing table floating over the throne
no regards to her blouse
opening and the bed for the second time,
and for a while in me, secret meetings.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sleepless Night

I can't remember
the last time my husband,
didn't sleep through the night.
I can't remember
the last time I was not engorged,
the last time I leaked.
I can't remember
the last time he pulled it out,
I, unlike he was nursing.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Spring It Sings Of You

a spring it sings of you
and thus as it is,
sleeping deep
each dream
within you
and that which i am,
i remain
i stay hidden,
as many were they
and whom some like i have come and gone
long before.
sleeping at the edge of the red eye
some times green
open fields a tent
where a spring rises
up too sing.
and the well of breath
soft spoken words
and you know
where they take me too.
and you lead me too their
to swim in clear waters,
and sweet
are yours each i answer
a spring it sings of you
you give to me.
and always
and as many my your others
i am they are, their very,
transparent and clever
it is each question
when ask.
while each and every one i have,
and you know
i would ask it of you.
and ' Woman'

you are the eagle, i am but the sparrow.
in your heart,
where you hide it safe, 'away.

James McLain

My Face

My face is by her burned, kept sideways
and weight is keeping my face pressed between, 'against the others.
In the corner of my eye
I could see Sara pulling her skirt up and up,
never sliding them ever once down
and her panties, once full, now wet have fallen how they floating they fell. 'Let me, I've.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Now Independent

Beings and being shorted thus by they,
turning now soon on each other
and civil each party it now, 'pays being never having been thus before before now a Union our State Independent
threatened but not by your own
sinking ships like the sun
going down
investigations
credit is but one long hemp noose derivatives
coming undone
betting on frailer, ' instead of success
money abused and miscued
pension funds for they whom worked hard knowing the bubble, had long burst and they allowing it still to be drained all away
yes you will
you can do more
you can do what should have been done
public opinion made just in the eyes the public made to each and to each
all as one
their understanding of playing it close to the vest
waking up next too the rose
with that fresh scent of each new day.
But your aids have told you all of this, that you know.
So i go.

Mr.Crist

James McLain

Suddenly

I Thrust upward, 'Suddenly
It is only because that you move as you do
moving up, moving down
always around and the angles are unknown and resplendent to me.
The other one whom came before
yes 'dear' and she, after you 'said
it is based on the angle of your pelvis.
I only Thrust upward or Suddenly
squeezing you squeeze,
Coming without warning pushing in
deeper when
they are moved independently of each other, 'one up and one down
from the base to the crown and your hand
reaching, looking back, rules the road.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Longing

If i have ever left you unsatisfied
would you remember that the ocean
was your love and my love to deep
to keep and sleeping there by your side.

I know, Sorrow is not that a memory
and Memories are not of, your sorrow
that you weep, instead, I know again
in each dropp of water, when it rains.

s.t.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Too Dance In Freedom

Some times when i can, those walks,
i hear them dance and they still talk
and i too danced for freedom,
and some wonder if after, i am old
and weary torn and hearts of gold.

Some have danced with their others,
and fell beside there brother,
sister come now why, how you knew,
Two can dance that one last dance,
which one leaves to pray take i, amen.

Quite walks, and how i quake each night,
and this is how my youth, i spent too grow
and with you i am not, why i,
danced with freedom please, sweet sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Verve

Or goldbeater of central highlighted area.
There is control.
is this corruption.
There was, Verve.
For the sake of or photometry and whipcord!
Altogether, acts of 'God.
Being caught in the spell.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And With Each One

As for something, special parting exciting,
sometimes to they it is as of the many,
and with each one and with each
with the friend where it starts.

Whether the person the woman before revolves around her man according to his plan
and dances softly and dissolves according to each her other is one plan.

Being within the vicinity, 'before soon thereafter, after, profit.

The atmosphere around those,
which of life and joy exactly enjoy, every day,
life of green,

passing by those which it touches the lip, you breathe,
assuming not presuming this, that is so,
wrapped within securely the kiss of, 'oh,
and the neck which are agreeable she it hits,
with the skin and the cheek.

Therein are possession sweet ones,
when so to be closer and is my possession your one.

Open full moon and the darkest of light pale face back section of caresses of the sufficiency

there is only why,
evasion of finger light laughter of the stomach, but coming,
being that is power,

conditioning of the strong hand or victory, sensitive voice,
you flow, each Next, as for it is the method from here

and thinking the syllables, order the story in order and to be, or not to be of both methods it' which it moves;

... Before kissing to,

'Oh each kiss, being friends good is love.

James McLain

Red4017

Never working too much writing can right it's self.

some like Sushi

Kelly Rippa

Casket makers

Rap

and real estate

Liars

that lie just to cheat.

Oh, 'God, that one Girl
nursing

Politicians

Losing my loved one

So close is Bipolar but eternity stays
one drink away

Not doing what you say you would do for me...

knowing i did it, when you saw
some saw it naught.

many even now they would not

While you always knew, 'They are what?

Love not

Racism

you are

No human being is for me to judge

How often have i thus been?

LAW based solely

on he whom once was, and is gone

Presumptions, predicated on fear are of what?

I predict some one today will be struck by a gun from a slow moving bullet and killed
because the planet was spinning to fast.

What about that pardon
before you leave.

Did you think this song was about you and you/you were right.

When your aids think that they wear
the, 'Chief
who is then, in charge of the China Tea?

Even Box car Willie was free.

James McLain

Because I Do

On me, 'frequently by yours it is,
you must stop and you must quit
There bye the bye, is not yet.
and I am your cow, 'love you milk
and must so often I adjust to this fact.
While I lay to you next, I am sleeping.
That it is these economic times when late at night your lips are feeling.
Whether or not, 'I, your this,
I am "my" problem if or this pump problem
you do it comfortably, I know.
Never waking from the dream of crossing over.
Being pulled by my silver cord, pumping back.
You call it the necessity of the milk of life all over.
which as for me as for you and when after
always before I obtain, a every comfortable position,
as for me for you adjusting yours to satisfy
above it pumping that is flowing sleep, 'good going.
When everything is placed, just,
as for pump process there is nothing like this pain.
If your/me no displeasure of full feeling of it draining
because I do not pump as you do, you put it just,
then clear lactation first, it is usually, 'yours it is.

James McLain

Trading Secrets

If I am to her/her cow.
I have known no long, great sorrow.
No short goodbyes, shedding tears.
Should I could but feel it, a very long time?
I have strongly felt, 'she it longer.
I have, I am not one of those others.
Who have a great need of your sorrow
watching the sun rise on the moor.
Trading secrets, great is our joy at noon.
Smiling you say: 'I have encountered it.'
Never smug, 'among those unpretentious
Famed are each our proteges of wisdom,
There seeming to stand
with one in each hand
as the creator and Isac Newton,
over why might the apple fall
so far from the tree.
When a simple conversation
about Darwinian theory
of why the orange monkey
still stays so high in the trees.
Mid-evil, such conversations
may or may not a landless prophet to their simplicity of great temper or as to the essence of the apples shape or supple, 'is Eve for that matter.

James McLain

Friendships Expectations

Friendships those expectations,
more and more is 'Occasionally.
we of the people we are of you.
Wait, 'yes thus as we wait, for you all.
Each that life surrendered, you it remembers.
Directly coming and blowing is the wind
all around you, snug inside you are warm.
Everyone we should see, seeing naught
can we meet, with presumptive precautions
of fear from he, terror have been taught.
Those expectations, expecting nothing returned from the heart, emptily, handed always and you are never disappointed,
but you are not why I ask.
Wouldn't We love to release it,
if it is that of your within thine of each.
None are exactly that, still but you are
the people are of whom we are each,
rather than making that is,
it is your permissibility inside of each face
it is good?
From it where you draw it, 'Are you not?
Then are we deep therein of each,
Because there it is,
it is you and can each meet to those - All beauties of the merit
where we take up the joy and we and beings
and your binding souls you/we, ourselves
all our defects which all can see now.
We are less crowned and when released
and make the edge smooth
less sharp and when putting, whom on the stand
which carves those of our each necessity
and because it is agreeable to the eye to crave what is beauty
by drawing up visions, the new curve here and here and there,
as for us it is not at all impossible,
to meet to the substantial person under our/your works.
Everything which is we of the sea is 'Gods hallucination
which we from thus he drew us up from, that.
As for each that person' It if him/her you would never deny it?

Identifiable the Identity of the substance of jars of your clay, is familial impolite.

James McLain

Those Expectations

Those expectations, 'Occasionally.
we of the people that are you.
Wait, 'yes thus we wait, for each that life's it's remainder.
Directly is the wind all around you.
Everyone we could see, seeing naught
cannot we meet.
Those expectations,
always and you are almost disappointed,
but you are not.
Wouldn't We release it,
if it is that of your each.
None are exactly that, still but you are
the people are whom,
rather than making that is, it is possible it is good?
Are you not?
Then are we therein of each,
Because there is,
it is you and can each meet to those - All beauties of the merit
where we take up the joy and we and beings
and your binding souls you/we, ourselves
all our defects which all can see now.
We are less crowned and when released
and make the edge smooth
less sharp and when putting, whom on the stand
which carves those of our each necessity
and because it is agreeable to the eye to crave what is beauty
by drawing up visions, the new curve here and here and there,
as for us it is not at all impossible,
to meet to the substantial person under our/your works.
Everything which is we of the sea is 'Gods hallucination
which we from he drew up from.
As for each that person' It if him/her you would it deny?
Identity of the substance of jars of clay, is familial impolite.

James McLain

A, 'Moth

After the flame of last night
goes out
and each is stirring in dreams and sleep
all waiting for the beginning of dawns
new day
laying it past just,
the last face of tomorrow
and when you see
each other again
through the stained glass
freshly washed window looking as new
as the very first time
and looking out
i am looking in their at you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Little Cut

Pastor she says, that each little cut
if but i say it to you
can you not at least try them on
if i could only but see it your,
face right through them
you look in to my eyes
lips so remarkably flushed and livid,
again once again brought alive
as likened it moves forwards,
happy 'your face
when it glows
your cheeks so full, ripe and ready and my head, 'how it spins
when with you,
what they then try to do
and you never speaking, but why,
i do what you want me to do when you do what you do to me
all the time
and the full shock of it
when i rub it, and rub it until
all around it
smaller each circle it grows
until
you have good reason to cry
and wiping the tears off
your face
through them, i see it
and cut as you, their you are returned to me looking i see, unopened
it is hard to restore it or close each one, red open rose when you blow
like you do
on the tip of my nose
as i do,
too you what you told me to do,
and straying, you cry once again.

James McLain

Simple Is My Psychology

Because you knew things,
I never knew.
Because, I trusted you.
Those other things,
you knew would happen.
I can't explain being such the simple man.

And your belly grew and grew and I liked it
for you made milk then,
and I but a bud, not understanding it, I drank.
And you fed me things, that even now I don't
understand,
which just increased my need to trust you more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dew Drops

Standing there, hush are you so still.
The fog it wraps around you up and up Angels, 'looking down,
no one here' can see you.

Walking round in circles, walking.
Foggy clouds like hope, they open up.
and closed each face i see behind you.
Those dew drops hang, like rainy tears.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Being Deaf

Once a public bathroom.
While gentle sucking noises,
she uses her hand to speak,
and both at the same time.
Windy it pulls down the top of her pink dress and dances between
and lifts up her dress and between the clouds the leafless face leaning against a tree
and while the sucking, 'windy sounds continue blowing
acorns are softly dropping
and raining,
the panties growing wetter,
their because
inside each moves slowly
until it stops.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cross Milking

Since the dawn of creation, even before eyes barely open
thus even before pasteurization,
it has of the relative.

Since, 'Gods creation, creator of life
has, was blessed with rivers two,
and either direction, nursed the other child,
directly under young eyes of nutritiousness worry.
This is called nursing the cross, 'dear' mother
nursing the milking cross.

Mother tandems are nurses unto their, itself more children of simultaneous love beings having such frequency.
She nurses her new love too life,
two year old children are assembled,
in at the same time.

As for many mother tandems, milking nurses,
not to be recorded documentation
of the thing which problematic rivers may occur there.

In older order because of hundreds years to raise
each and the other baby
with the breasts full of rich creamy winter milk,
the woman employed,) nursers which gets wet(
The milk banks of ancient time even then needed that, it is in order to offer the milk to the baby to whom the mother cannot offer forth suckling that.

The breast milk is shared because it can be utilized in all children who need that as life giving, liquid of lifesaving being splendid.

With a certain culture,
as for your daughter and her cousin ' With it is telepathic;
' Brother' of milk; ' And ' ' Sister' of milk;
' When and they are the sibling and the sisters,
because now it is considered,
it is not allotted in order to get married it is not good.

Interesting cultural taboo!

Approximately,
if there is an interest in culture thus much of study,
when something which enters in the other part of the world,
all of unlike mind now

with issues and closed mindedness, takers of life would jail givers of life with, their lives spent in jail for just that,
just should never ever here,
here and being, what and from whom gave them life..

James McLain

Over The Edge

I thought so eagerly
I sought,
all forever because of thus-You think through me with just-Then being pushed
over the edge,
oblivion comes back
and as for us, ' following them where, 'which it flows into that river of color more after, Each, 'the contribution these people of richer life, have we made.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Untold Children From Their Secrets

A Secret Untold-
Scares a heart beating-faster Untold, there A Secret-kept-
They can't listen -too yours-

And not the telling-of it-
Should you-have too-
A ways it runs back -
Some away from into-
Children once afraid -
Such once-were you?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is But After The Glow

It is but after the glow
This
one cloud of tears it bursts
is but
honor from sky that cloud
is forever, never lost to me
to let me go thereof,
away from back into
that of which i was again into i am.
Inspecting, 'Generals,
but the glow
secure in it's compliance,
mysterious one therein it's memory
which is there and was a low price paid thus by they, ' is it's usefulness.
High the arch, sits her and her in his,
This of thine, largest of all angels
which art thou and orders it to pass it by
and thou-st angel most assuredly, confined.
Being firm from the flesh
and by any means of escape going out from the heavens up until,
the attempt now is,
it too like grass the dew you it follows.

James McLain

Last Morning Star

Fair bright star, would I were, but could as i now am.
Not you lone around thus resplendent hung eyes aloft.
And watching, the sea, ours eternal lids can only part,
pliant too is nature patient, awake-asleep, Pharaohs,
uncovered against moving sand at their priestly task
Of you so pure, O' absolution swelling it ebbs around down below on earth's blue human face, endless shore,
Or covered over on thine own sweet lips-silk a rose
Of that high there upon over yon, mountain and Mo-ores
Yes-No and still steadfast, still unquenchable my fires,
Waters of life about my fair love, yours ocean to crest,
To feel of every wave its soft foam to rise and fall,
Awake for ever in a sweet kind surreal is life unrest,
Or even heaven can not to rise too catch sweeter breath
nor rain to fall i catch are clouds, below i am each.
Heart heavy Still, still to hear her tender-taken breath,
And so live ever-over ever or else, life loves as death.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Horses Hoofs

Stuffing his the face with her sass again.
Worked the hand more, milking it,
the only sound in the room now the squish-squish of horses hoofs as they come around the mountain once again.
Worked them and his muffled
grunts is the sweaty clamp of her wet sass.
Minutes passed,
shooting other stars from her mouth massage.
Devouring
his entire the sky the milky way, white her face.
The hand worked,
the linear saw back and forth and muscle of her forearm
dancing under milk-white skin.
A thick layer of coco nut cream lathered up like foam between her knuckles as the head bobbed, bobbed Malina, 'against her wrist. It took this much, 'hard time,
but she worked hard for his money and his eye balls
turning yellow, such a dog
He was,
babbling straight up and down hot is her sass.

James McLain

Gossamer Shrouds

Gossamer Shroud

Finery most precious, clear faces.
Whimsical silk and all it's fancy tales.
More than deep, Greek mythology.
So that woman may go naked,
on cobbled streets, while clothed.
Wearing ought,
but bright colored robes.
Almost religious,
sericulture of it's knowledge.
Volunteering, some live to do so,
'Standing' guard over this well a secret.
Even today, being windy it is so.
And it is,
ever so much cooler because of it,
the worm.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Like A Virgin

it is.. just that..
some times
the words of they,
like yours...
they make me swell
and feel
as if i'm being milked..
for your, 'my very,
our first time...
do you,
remember them.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Love Be Loved

Come love be loved,
In what other lives our hands?
And had i known your lips.
Your fingers and your toes.
Your,
knowing deep brown eyes.
Effervescent look their after glow.
Sweet the smell your exclusiveness that i chase through every door.
Walk upon the sandy beach, standing there.
We apart will come to speak together again,
the other words some learn to grow.
Loved by you i come.
I taste the wind when you pass by
and defied my body sleeps, is chaste.
Each promenade first and last each promise.
One last dance before we come to go.
And i refuse to die before you do.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Friends

Each is special to U.S.

The friend is the core, 'special
is force such is within, we the people.

Us can't or can one it pierces,
our families, and we trying thus'

Those it would number,
it does in the gap, of which perhaps we would like you to limit, evaluable trusts re-extremely.

Society and social each being our habits
) and frequently ours is itself, conscience(
it decides

the single companion, 'whom in heart chooses us.

But when with the adjective
by which we choose and it is various and unlimited,
there are our friends.

Our friends verily,
in feeling of substance,
reflects the selection,
'which we make in the life, is a friend.

James McLain

Cannes

The punishment, 'which now she has
for her revolting to which of something dies?
She, his 'Cannes
because of me entirely,
her knowing how it comes returning,
against entirely from me separated, it goes.
I was very regrettable for the pauper,
which is he.
She/he grimaced
and shook that lovely head
where and others has been, 'once attached.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

To Sing I Hush

Sometimes i again, i blush...

and 'dear'....P.S.

Have you such, 'green pretty leaves any more as yours

thus ' flushed i grow'

i hush as like the humming bird

i fly around the bush...

t.g.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Make Good Babies

They do not
by me, 'come cheap.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Children Of Governor Crist

Daring New, 'Existence at this of his time of this, the Childminder,
Dependability, is beauty of the forest.
Which you can all watch,
dreams knowing they all sleep, in peace
with a future in wait to know and keep.
Expectations of each new feeling never waits.
As for him and still now, 'their bright stars
Because of Crist
has arrived, at the center of Florida's clear dawn.
Ocean minds deep, Visions dispatched by him
who speeds,
and yours is the range of such vision of the kind mind.
Arts and each school the rose and trees which,
dampens is red, Purple lush green,
sun light upon all that is seen, Undivided.
Never can fall but by greed.
Independent,
House In order for that taste of great expectation
his to do, it hastens... In Growing progressive state, range of this vision of family life, gifts to share,
in pledge of thy, of 'they themselves;
The feeling which is achieved, house which must now come.
The yearning and the actuality of this dream,
where in the center, is Grace, 'she waits for their arrival and completes the journey, foretold.
The once stationary state has by your youth, a new found center.
You look at their dream it is simply in him,
whom defied corruption and one is progressive enough
scented fresh method and flies and upon range of vision....
Like the passionate eternal flame,
where the rose where the pliant same skin,
and love neutral color is attached softly is hidden by the cloth which now blushes and burns and the trees are all growing it is, endless therein... Visionary, this Florida,
the' Young, peoples Lives, hopes, new state.

She Extended His Arm

At each her time he pushed out to her in the handle
as for her who is it upon collapsed her weeping that blood it can feel
the brown paper bag
which it could move she made muted point, ' male'
That the attendance of each person of him pushed out to the woman of that in mirrors surface areas, scooped that heavy sack from the rear it stands simultaneously,
reaches that naked field and between the feet.
She that it continued to push out inside,
'he is deep massaged the stone
and she is the basis of the wood mixed simultaneously.
This time that she, 'Justis the big lump of the man looked at that meat is thrown to the young woman, her governor, she herself had started feeling the dripping of the moisture
under inside the heart of her panties simultaneously.
While one women heats waiting, 'sweet treats have permeated,
another woman was thus done, it was hers to start squeezing.
Her dial raised her joy,
adjusted in order to come playing, 'accompanying her
in the electric light of the ancestral.
She became quiet and with the attendance each person her hip,
the useful way and more is breadth wide leather saddle,
he massaged her veiled paddock,
sun light is directly;
and with the fact that it starts squeezing simultaneously
it howls, pants.
The attendance in person removed the edge too calmly,
helped her off the great woods are burning, her thing
by which she obtains
the heart pounding, 'heart stopping wood.
Her chest somewhat is puckered red, '
from function of the funnel
which it starts squeezing, ' she gasps, ' utters it is and a little is dark,
is hard, and it makes each one drip,
her foot was the unstable bit from heavy absorption.
That she stood just a little there between, simultaneously,
as for her juice inside her who can be each the dropp
filled, which was last seen.

As for the attendance person, she slowly massage and peace guarded her and came from the room which is led to the warm water bathtub for the room of the sleep, 'which is preceding in nap.
The attendance person already entered with her alone.
She in preparation which he/she starts squeezing,
'does this his woman.
Her chest to be completed,
hard as for her nipple already starting to blow in the air.
Because she roses of the lobe she calmly
in the milky lotion which starts squeezing the funnel on the basin of the milk being lowered,
was offered the fact that those which with the support
which is placed with her bottom button
stopping the wood you turn off,
rejoicing extend to the spray in the basin.
With the start of the funnel and the attendance person who permits the fact that you adjust those which she turns off according to need.
She extended her arm on up to her head,
her hand was discontinued lovely tried to enjoy
the sensuous feeling of the creamy lotion warmly.
She permitted the fact that the attendance person
adjusts her support,
and tried to dangle with the lotion where her feet
were offered up to those,
and next rejoiced by the seas calm, insertion
of the mustache his/her of the vibration accepted.
She extended his arm and held hands.

James McLain

Colors Varied

Even when i was small
i had colors varied
being humbled by many girl friends
and it was all because even when thus i was small
i some how knew,
about rainbows
they were always wise
and i was, every day
always i was,
their patient hands
to whom,
they never complained
always the doctor, 'were they.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

That's A Poem

Guys get heavy and girls get full.....
that's a poem...
i am so heavy,
'you are so full, i am so hungry,
but with thine, 'this mouth,
it is best not to be, but a fool.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Every 'Woman' I See, Who Does This, It Can'T But Help Her Moore

She was vaguely, yet familiarly relaxed, 'unawares of some soft Mel Gorme music on the radio and the occasional sounds of someone moving around in and out of the room. Hers was a head spinning slightly. From the last shot was it kind. Helplessly hot and never excited, yet crazed. He has this amazing ability to get into your mind and almost 'play' you like a 'Woman's' musical instrument. Trying to get you up, 'but not wanting to move.... Understood your every need.. your every feeling. And the amazing ability to get deep inside of your mind. Deciding that the best next thing, was just to close her eyes and relax. She trusted him and watched as he, pushed a white enameled cart that looked like some kind of hospital equipment. It had a 4-foot rod mounted on the side and hanging from it was a large red rubber bag, bulging as if it held a gallon of water. It was so full that the top was slightly brimming over with some kind of white suds. It had a piece of tubing extending from it that was it's self connected to a large red rubber tube about 3 feet long with a small slit on the side of the tip. Every 'Woman' who saw this shuttered as they realized this was a hospital of high volume building for giving large volume enemas to patients. The thick soapy water will help the colon tube to pass more easily up into your tummy.' Said, he. 'Why do you have to control me so completely? ... You won't even let me keep control of my bodily functions! ', Secretly melting...anticipation building. Whatever the cause, she only knew that she was helplessly in love with this man and she was equally sure that he loved her unconditionally.

OH... AH.H.... no..Doctor stop..but...please don't ever quit.
feeling the blast of vexatious fluid, jet deep within her.
and this was the one retentive, concurring theme.
that could cause her to totally lose control of her mind.
A self restrained, 'prisoner of love.
And she was sure that Poetry would keep her that way...
for the rest of her life.
The planet revolves, guiding lights, are the days of our lives.

Is It Poetry

James McLain

Still Sleeping

It is five thirty
a.m.
and she is still sleeping
my farting, sister
that snores
and i am just dying
and again smiling as i stick my finger in side
covered in the babies changed oil.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Free Yellow Sun

Books may man burn, from ink may man learn,
Or write the song be it sweet, cause no harm or in tune.
So much to know and discern it not, 'affability is it's goal.

New are old worlds,
through the eyes of a child, thus is 'wisdom, retold,
Counsel the wise, 'when sheep, grow to bold:

Thy open mind, 'Moore years, is my checkered tongue,
Thine keeper shall my/her spirits humor, high strung.
To act the court jester, to say what is true,
And thine are kind eyes, where ever i roam.
and burn not the bridge, 'that leads us all home.

Thus as we dance across each life's long stage
Following the wise some wear orange, i am told.
Where they come from us, every race, every age.
And, beings are acorns planted... thinking ahead,
your children to know, and 'run and grow, 'now off
Unchained in the free yellow sun flower, Van Gogh.

r.l.s.

James McLain

C.P.R.

When in a constant state of emergency
the nurses patient loosing fluid deteriorates quickly,
Do not panic just start squeezing, some light kissing
in specific order as to the shifting yellow colors.

Eye each hole, 'diameter measured by it's thickness
to the emergency E.R. procedure of removal, other Nurses, may then follow.

If and when it seems that the patient is stable,
verify that each the unit sufficiently is low
and therefore draining it is helped, can do gravity;
Lift the head, or lower by hand, ' Nurse-Evac,
or turn the patient of his/her side which ever is influenced.

In order for there to be your life, 'Unwinding,
should you verify the tube whether tweaking twist.

This the tube, 'being braced, never quit,
Nurses verify that you do not ever stop.

When it becomes weak in transposition, then perhaps,
the scarcity of each draining, 'draining fast.

How ever many is considered on each nurses shift
boundary the heroine is normality,
however still you must inspect, 'it knowing C.P.R.

James McLain

Blue Waves

sleeping
open faces
warm humid days
over head
hot yellow sun
tanning oil lotion
sandy beach
meaty man and
wisps of wind;
transparent mounds
blue waves
against twin lips
discernibly
and sleepy lids-

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Girl And The Boy

The girl hides from all the loud noise.
Functions of finery and none for the people,
whom themselves have become tired.

The list of our thoughts as sand blows
off and war
and you are ashamed,
i have hastened
each grain, why none thought as their own.

She of that smell her beauty and like the song
which the new wind is blown, met to me, 'Girl.

Be and beauty and high, 'maker of grace her head
Boy of youth whence from then,
she comes
and he for her love grasped,
cotton her gown, 'white and clean.

Because thy secret, the lip
and the daring
of youth and her revelation.

Unwearied eyes fail to do, 'No,
Graves, 'open dull eyes
O' God, now it cries,
to do with by she,
and must be wise in this trust by this boy.

James McLain

I Had Withstood

i am me, next to they all such as we
some in the wake, 'are crossing this lake,
when upon it,
and as oil, i as woman i slid,
met'a-phor'ic and each as we strive too reach deep inside the core which is us.
Beings of they the bells
and i of whom, when near i hear, 'has fixed.
Underwater you hear,
the winds of your mind, in by you as it takes
each breath to remember, 'where it is that i am.
Hanging on to that fact and it calms and it loosens
and decelerate my breath, and my heart i enjoy.
All mixed together churning the water,
knowing that you swim to that goal exactly.
Like sewing machines beating as foam of the water,
but many people went back left to vague,
and faced and were thus repaired.
To one side i heard that someone, of the kayak thus 'said,
Then, my hand hit there soft against land.
and it was i whom it was, that did that.
I was redone.
I had withstood,
in the order of recomenment to my friend.
'which was i, myself
and i started again talking and thinking while walking,
and i for a moment
was the foam and the waves, the sand and the shells
left by the tide on the seashore.

James McLain

..... Is It Not For The Child

Using the poetry which teachers, teach book-reading,
is it not for the child
and in trust you adjust to they their rhythm of reach
each is temperate,
sunny or mild and some dark make you smile it seems.
Rolling like thunder,
streams flow unexplained to the sea, is each.
And working together from different
each familial condition.
Theirs is a pulley,
you will pull as they push at the center
this your center in order to dance on the rhythm and rhyme
you the teacher it leads them on like thus, watching the sun as it shines, 'it is nature to us, they are it..
Children of art, playing your parts,
gifted are these of from some whom can't see
for these are but they,
thy gift to you.
These their worlds entirely from a seed made by you.
Perhaps from the river of life, comes each for you small at the start, sprout up and out, you their poetry.
In rearranged order are such they their words like chimes of the wind
their minds changed to each verse is poetry,
to read the small mind in it/it is as fluent,
as the equipment inside of they which by you, the makers of the technology
the spring of terminology
and thine understanding from this is each your child, in the child, although motive is given by you.
If you inspect the method of using the differences of they,
variations which are you,
They can't being you, but help themselves
all smile at you.

James McLain

Friday We Had Smile Problems

No matter,
what it was that they, 'said,
you always received,
a big open smile, from me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Strong Woman

This person of his abuse
of the girl - hers the person
where the woman calls it shock
and will take it, take that, theirs,
on demand each man, 'gives it up.
Whether or not the fact that is the place, - you like that.
If these women think that we would like it all removed,
and it she starts squeezing the person of the living
which is done exactly, 'unexpected, strongly!
Forcing unexpected, are strong woman!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Who Sex Changes

The night she brought it to him/her home
and she showed it, his\their new room.
Then it crawled into bed soft cotton with it
and being milked and milked it, sighed.
Sitting next to him, she was holding it
and held her close to it, his deep rocking
back and forth to calm it moving down.
He was full of such thick white milk
and starting where she to it drips
seeping right through to his pants,
Each, 'removed the cotton blouse..
Pulled out full around each mouth
one then the other, dripping out and eased him to it.

"Drink, it.
slowly, 'drink it.
It will soothe you."

As it drank the jetting milk from it, his, her Aunt knew his, 'Uncles breast.
One of three, but you the three as one.

James McLain

Warm Glass Of Milk

'Something,
caught his attention
there on the top
of those two hills.

'Paid up, made full
with her/his one warm
rich glass of milk'

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Our Sun Rise

Darling woman darning, hold my fishing line,
A golden word, your face so ever tan and clear.
For my, 'dear is silver hair in bloom thine years,
Only left my whispered voice you often heard:

Only such a well it's depth is hidden in the night
From such it holds the breadth, a mighty sword,
But think what little sleep of all its foam and thy,
And wash the sand is clean beneath our feet away,
What little love is left played out to thee, you of me.

'Darling, I love thee wept, 'Darling that is why I lived it is the whisper as it comes to fetch us sailing up from dawn it's early morning, listen come and walk the shore,
But here is the ocean, Vast so deep and boundless,
And each one little wave you hear, its voice as well.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Children Of Tomorrow

Children of tomorrow,
do not live in all the tears that fall today.
Will the sun rise up tomorrow,
bringing peace in any way,
than the way in which you live, out every day?

Must the world live in the shadow,
of all their,
darkest thought out fears?

Can you win the fight for peace
or will it reap the light the keeper,
it 'reappears,
hard white bones to they we can not 'disappear?

So lost children of yours the other world, 'this world, do not, 'Listen to what it is,
they in fear will have you say think your mind
and find a better place to dwell inside your heart
today
If you want a better place to live,
and round it is your world
to rearrange just like the ocean,
is the sand,
when white and warm
beneath your toes.

James McLain

Your Face

.....

yet your face so full
and there.....
and there is wished
upon by thee
is it.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Smile Philosophically

God Smiles Philosophically with Forgiveness
and said,

before I was born,
the first thing I would see
was your smile.

So I smiled back with this,
good heavens it is so, 'knowingly.

God said,
before you smiled, smile I ask you
were as of it, once, twice, three times
you were already forgiven. So..So..

Many said he, herself the vast the all,
do wast there lives,
seeking that which you never had to
ask as it was done already for you.
So then why do you labor the smile
so heavenly?

When you smile you smother) it(all around it half frown half cotton gown of clouds.

Sadly it tries to lift it up a side and down the
other, 'but it weeps as you lay claim,
some, 'Catholic some ritual of self denial.

Without it, your he the she, it's alpha never
began to circle the endless heavens to settle
on one little humble small flower, bumbled,
one bee twin V's single file,

Philosophically, having tea with you, himself to prearrange heaven is touching one smile at a time.

James McLain

Promonostories

Thus it is, be it the 'Queen' early the bird
and like kind is the morning new dawn,
'as it moves us thus through the day
of hope is each 'kind is King,
and of that time, 'which it dissolves.
Mr and Mrs. combined formed a Speaker.
And none would be trust the wiser,
From dust thus it is, we are simple.
Where red empty space, thine isle
whence from the center it speaks,
Few would, 'but could, let it move you.
Ahead to it/it is thus,
'back from our collective
never faded nor forgotten is memory,
rich deepness of thy purple embrace,
thine it would but left to finish,
it does not stop, teaching them, 'they the next,
and mercy is tempered and necessary
void of each song it is long, 'our memory.
And beings are they not held out, 'dear'?
Splendid the deep heart the person it needs
afterwords the lights ray from the sun
which is life, which it comes
and having the upper light/write of the songs of the world
which is urged upon you as you walk.
Speak then, not of that but of this warm open thy palms
circular as the mind the wind all around us,
and upon that, 'promontory that always will be,
always with worry, always for they,
Always for she, always 'is my daughter
it is shared embraced, inside the friend
could you not once again, 'that which is you.

James McLain

Child Hood Issues

Hello, 'America, 'Sit and be seated,
'Child, 'riding in the hood, these issues.
We all have them, do we not?
and so what,
some of you milked your brother.
He is stronger now, is he not?
Aren't you a good mother now.
and, why pray tell
'Did your father, thus dwell?
Inside of your fast beating heart
Passions sweet lips of yours, he swelled calling him in, 'did you not..
Come stormy, some times you caused,
'Weather it was soft or hard.
And when you wore his silk boxers,
Him seeing,
you wore them/then backwoods
too cry out in pleasure, 'not pain.
While still grown men cry over milk
that you wast,
when but for his suckle it flows,
long after baby is weaned.
Procreation is recreation mammals
are dreamless it seems.
After eating the dolphins do play.
So why do you lay on the soft sandy beach,
with all of those sweet smiling treats
lips all glossed, ' puffed daddies out,
pretending in there, it is nothing at all,
when it opens and quivers at the thought of each warm hand fanned breeze.
Hush now girl and be ever quite,
as i touch it one more time,
close your eyes.
Here it comes.

James McLain

This Work Of Art

How is this work of art made?

So in so many few days,
and how deep the focus must be adjusted,
to each other the same challenge, whether,
it faces with any couple.

You and you,

'how we have decided to make it loves life together.

That you from you of whom it loves weeps off
and preparation it does hand in hand,
be hugged with respect to life.

Really and truly it is, it comes,
perhaps, he is somewhere, easier if living?

He speaks as for role of the woman and how at the time of her culture trust it can,
no language which is,
obtain the work of her great achievement,
feel it deeply in you.

Is there inside, waiting for you, that family?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Springs Between Her Tulips

As for that pretty spring girl
it is or is it that pretty and young,
my mind
kind perhaps in this kind of season her winter
has moved us past.
The soil is free and finally,
owing too the top of the leafy, 'which is put off no more.
Heaven comes to him in short pants
and as for that other though it is placed on the large branch of her herself and sandle wood which now by the smell his arrival.
It has accidentally,
it catches to the pool of the river.
As for her they of they whom climb out on the limb
over the house of the fish,
low upon entering and leaving,
her reflection and his way you swim up to the top
and bottom of the stairway, leads off her foot.
The cloud tops part and it carries her body
apart to that starting point directly.
As for her the river is never blind and the man who overlooks the surface and it includes,
falling softly,
her water the rain soaking our face,
Springs Up Between Her Tulips.

James McLain

Once Only You

Where once, not even twice
and thine are thus be stilled.
My hands, My heart, My love,
how they,
'then worried over you
Caught up in my lap,
Moving never stopping
pray hope, one never leaves.
Thine are my quite hazel eyes,
faith can but follow my sea.
And simple hands do make great,
and open hands can rejoice.
But to my past thus hurt one lover,
comes rushing the sea, I must be,
echoing a voice,
Once oceans of trust,
Now the sea has since left,
wave upon wave.....
'Only You.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Promontory

Thus it is, be it the 'Queen'
and like kind is dawn, 'as it moves
each 'kind is King,
and of that time, 'which it dissolves.
Mr and Mrs. combined a Speaker.
And none would be the wiser,
From dust thus it is, we are simple.
Where red empty space, thine isle
when from the center it speaks,
Few would, 'but could, let it move you.
Ahead to thus back from memory,
rich deepness of embrace, thine it finishes,
it does not stop, teaching then next,
and mercy is tempered and necessary
void of each song is my memory.
And beings are they not held out?
Splendid the deep heart the person it needs
afterwords the lights ray from the sun
which is life, which it comes
and having the upper light/write of the songs of the world
which is urged upon you as you walk.
Speak then, not of that but of this warm open palms
circular as the mind,
that promontory that always will be,
always with worry, always for they,
it is shared embraced, inside the friend that is you.

James McLain

Imitate Me

imitate me or cry;
when are
two half moons
ever the same
when seen by you
naked to the eye.

□

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Body Shape

As for you and i stand with you,
we have decided to try love,
sweet with in with out what?
You would i/\i did and we move,
why, 'under any condition loved as before.
As for me, as for me asking you and you who is another way start expressing, yourself
to change my body shaped, explodes to you, ' language, Small minor transposition was made,
and each Month, when the moon..made full is.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hollywood And Vine

The others changing cloths she brought and
nothing stays the same and such as we are hot.
Her panties off and pink as well they seem too me,
so clean and clear and without fear, they seem to
float off down and drift above the floor.
Peaches so ripe they fill the air and bottles lay around upon the floor and some with corks to pull.
The others to swell, fresh air, how they pop when dared.
Holly wood and Vine, it hits each spot, 'bright the night
is young, but so are we, all can see.
I look across the isle and wonder why there's four
instead of three and we are ripe and full of life.
Cruising down the length of Holly wood and Vine.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Tears How They Burn Me

And as you weep for me, for me
and beheld i from you of whom.
There where no sound of my pain but only by they
and shouting is what they wait to hear, from me.
May that you think of me, you and you discerning thus knowing the past, mine still waits for thee.
Quite your tears, how they love, but burn me
and as i for you and yours allowed this thine of thy, hush child.
Unfairness is, unfairness being attached, when you think,
thus is the pain as deep for me as thine my river of life.
And even i am, of whom can not muted/shout as i stand above me,
'oh and I whom shout, that you think the bellows of their marked heart.
Time when nigh, and you my love and cannot know that time of me, shouting not you think of this and love me more for, 'and i,
concerning thine, my lock and that your chain, i wear for you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bleeding Parts

Choice is not the field of birth
some lost road, 'we try to pave.
Heavy burdens, heavens gate
when yoked upon, 'he said.
Outside, seeing up side down
key notes once strung, are played.
Inside looking out, lead glass
displays his heart.
Cistern made with clay in hand
to quench his dying thirst.
Elevation feelings part
the heart once fallen hence
today, my body calling out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Hope'

As for her heart, love but a string anything of that of which are the sparrow it's feathers.
There is a stopping by, 'woods of her mind
and 'hope' without words, spoken never lived quite, melancholia conditions which is sung and never and being sweetly
she/her master tears stop,
the strong wind hearing and bearing the scar, 'must be the storm,
as for that she/I' where ever it is possible to be.
Sweetly, perplexed by the small bird, many is warm
and sit by it and maintains;
But of the coolest hand and none inquired or for shame
about that of the strangest open sea, never, with the point, that asked of ye, a poem, open your palm thus of thy bread
hearkened to all winged or not falls the crumbs.

e.d.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

By The Waters Edge

Under the stars by the waters edge
Why can't we, both are we not '
like all of they, 'the sea has it's smell.
On my side of the deep vast ocean and yes as the heart felt waves, they pull me in and push me out or that upon you the same because of you, it does.
Reaching up too the pale full moon
nestled softly between two hand held clouds and knowing sufficiently night to day
bright terrestrial,
she has to me been attached and i walk.
To the night her sweet breath as it blows across
to me it is the same of the star,
it's blue and pink.
Large roof it is dim in us.
Where both sleep
and I do not desire the fact that the wind is connected or you have put in place
the restraint of the sea - As for that as for the love
you have given me
and which is sufficient your love is felt as music on me is all like most, 'we both have.

James McLain

Milk Nurses The Nurse, It Nurses

Two times per day more is the reason and by visual inspection it is largest to start squeezing, is the milk, it is higher standards and more sought after being organic and ample a face, wonder is excitingly,
'exacted a simple request production of for the sake of.
When trouble has met my many other things,
it is all coupled time when by the consultant of the nursing period which creates the sufficiency sweet flowing rivers of milk which is consulted nurses the nurse, nurses,
the highly prized beverage, the beverage and the spring water,
and that stimulates room for production.
The biggest reason for milking twice a day is just simple demand for milk, the higher the production, consumer demands more.
When my other was having trouble producing enough milk consulting the lactation consultant, 'said nurse, nurse, nurse it every couple hours and drink, drink, plenty of water,
and that would stimulate ample production.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Can I Not Be

But now that i am,
how can i not be lost in you?
And upon that star, the first we all see.
Looking up and we meet, 'yet, i rise.

And all through my heart the oceans warm breeze.
And tell me your truth,
does it to you, bleed unto you a 'whisper?
And how do i feel, when it leaves me alone.

May i long to you ask do i know,
as the waves wash all around me.
Pulling me in,
as the green foam surrounds me.

Tell me, then of sweet mercy, pray tell me.
My feet walking on wet sand, slowly in.
why the undertow seeks to play,
and tell me again 'dear' why you tease me.

□s.t.

James McLain

The Scream Of The Wind

The scream of the wind
and the wish of the wind that cleans there; But you go.
That and as for the mistake of thine
and when is it already gone it is not,
worrisome of thy crime within I wait.
Completely untestable the child of time, whom you have met.
This evening from thy mourning,
'which one long stem and kissed you make ripen wilt,
I am not the sickness of father time,
but and as I gaze upon you/your desire
and the fact that you go off to loams sweet bed.
Eye, it is somewhere,
weak of heart and permission to lead,
'Do to go, go you say do, or not, unsaid I lay, come stay?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Ice Weeps Water

Before critical though decides to leave me.

Watching the old trains that carried people across the west
back in the day being fire breathing monsters that belched incredible volumes of smoke, soot and ash.

Factories of wast other countries that need to be as we are
when they weren't, 'but now will.

A century and a half of trillions of tons with no clouds in the sky on the water line the sun is not as it once was.

I know what i see, i know what i smell, i know it's not natural
i know it's not hell...not yet.

Even without said such, 'critical thought the planet can not but suffer.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Love But Could I

filled with love but could i
and yet
it helps too be thought pretty and behind those eyes
being called you/i see staining my lead glass window
through loves mystery transparency, 'you came and each full moon, Li Po wine overwhelmed
and
i have you, here deep inside.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Upon Your Head

Wild was time when racing by
stars could count the years
spinning earth into the dawn
your open eyes and morning yawns.
Seconds long each minute found
the waiting of the slowing hand waning such it trembles thus the hour hear, 'drawn near.
Past has flown to present now
tomorrow crowns your King.
Within each land there where you dwell, inside each heart it hears.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Be A River

Complete that of which you are that in this the word
encased it is whereupon, ' silence is sweet...
The accolade flowing silk full robes and sweetheart of one thing and the mind, which it waits...
And had enough thus continued of the song
which breaks virtue is even and fast either one eternally.
Give each thereon the remuneration it is waiting...
Be a river...Be the river you are..peacocks are waiting...iip

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

To The Woman

Therefore as for only but that
for you the only,
' from which it is, I perhaps to you say;
'Perhaps',
just but by thee, 'my praying:
In the same way
and the family to the woman, gives that person
more from the person,
from whom it should give,
desires as for that greatly, excessively small, small butterfly
for the family, which kisses too.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

More Of The Egg

Being at that point where the book is maintained,
knowledge of every two it is good,
more white of the egg,
where but for whom it is you may think,
thus cleared, are hot, me the air of you
watching the ocean loosens,
peace and currents held at bay peaceful,
now and at that time it is seen greatly
more carefully, 'as for sleep God', now it is there.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Blood Diamond

Here
a dream
you hold me
here
a dream
mined by blood
more heavy stones
not three, one less obvious import inside between red property
of death.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Death A Clock Stopped

When a clock stopped by.
Slow down the moment.
It steals a clear look.
And the door opens up.
The tower stands, out.
Above far away, now here.

Reap hourglasses her, one figure.
A second hand, eyes move.
Shrinking night, knows shadow.
Just an instant, is a grimace.
The hour has come, minutes past.
A clock stopped by, while it.

e.d.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

On The Edge Of Our Camp

some things are just simply
other things require concentration
as the moon
hangs over the log
in wait,
both are sitting
one with the silver bowl
and while the crickets grow quite anticipation of a long shadow
offers forth dispensation.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Have You

When I already,
'do not seem to exist,
I have remembered,
you exceedingly
of this our world
one last time we spun it around together.

When I already,
'I am not seen to exist,
I have remembered you,
exceeding this word,
our last breath, 'together.

d.b.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Summer Of The Unlocked Door

It is raised up from the dust this earth of the silver maker, her for me it was higher than the arm could and yet
infused as the rose I scented, starry nights stretch out.
O dresses flowing silver, towards me, therein you reach
and it faces to each of us.

There is the petaled flower of which,
and you open freely as the sun without obstacle.

May the white leaf, the flower did not run off nor divide the silver from that kind of rare silver; O it is white, it does become you,
your cluster, thickly with the veined branch,
summer of the unlocked door
and it has the fruit which it matures, do.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Strongholds

Her eyes shimmered and closed half confused
strongholds for him laid.
But from his heart beat,
was too scared from his mouth to sing it to her.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

What By Thou, Have I Incurred

As for wine stained habits of each woman
loudly another in the night called out.
Stones in hand, well worn and smooth as so many monastery leader, of thine sun flowered majority.
Standing up,
looking out/in the window' of the nuns of woman monastery.
Thus called together; As for me all you want what? "
Your one of the other inside each, must I say, hold fast
'that it is the whereabouts of another
and I am through you made unclear.
My vision is blurry,
what by thou, must I now for your sake, endure?
She began from her important heated declaration,
there is a priest "inside sisters us, here me, 'us'
Among them loose is our place now, how many?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Light/Write

The water pulsates inside with sound as it crashes
and it is pulled against you, as I open our eyes.
Swiftly it has entered now eddy's to make the fog, 'deep noise.
The large waves and green salty foam awash
between us, 'beside us, moving aside garments
moving limbs seeking all that it enters,
you saw and it did not hesitate warm water,
of thought it greets us.
The stars looking down the long sandy shore as they meet us.
The light of the eye, 'where the cloud low with the water meets sky, formed upon our feet, hairy the grass, blows like the front lock.
Before; it/it spoke being turned off, then on light/write, it continues.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wrapped In Heaven

The characteristic of topical physics-related the big brass knows
and Copulation is to screwed how we mix.
Permeation of the kind which when preceded
is sufficient four play, Coitus is to graves, 'do to spread conjugates
a kind dense forest and do not to please and pass the companions plate bald peaks.
Cohabitant and love do to make dead our last work
laying out rigor mortis she died a murderd death.
One' Edge of one' of each manufacturer; new day
to breath one last time.
At the end of one rope hides the bucket of life/her kicking man, 'the methodological ends, she meet's halfway.
Happily exchanging the crash to change the flowing robes which when run by the farm, 'so it does for both,
what both thought to do to buy the illusion that it does abandon the cliff at the top, 'wrapped in heaven.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Loving You

The wind has blown me in your mind,
simply and of love
it is all, looking up
I that for you we both would so inquire.

Along my finger as you do about that all night long you shout - Others than I hear,
the waves, the moving sea'
Is there left, no place because of you/your loving me?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Musical Each Arrangement

The deep astronomical rhythmical movement,
to her,
'passing by her body from her symbolic toe.
Musical each arrangement
accompanies her
and it is where you return from
and for the second time,
as for her heavenly body which trembles.
It is the wave of electricity to fast, is bright, is warm;
As for the sun of each breath sing songs of morning
the night exchanges for the heat which is emitted from a flower;
The flow light/write of her it thus became.

e.a.p.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Small The Cut

if but i stay
can you not at least try them on
if i could only but see you through them
through my eyes
lips so remarkably livid, again once alive
as likened towards, 'your face
when it glows
your cheeks so full and my head
how it spins
when with you what they do
i do what you do
when you do it
the shock from it
when i rub it
all around
smaller each circle until
you have reason to cry
and weeping off
through them
and cut as you are
it is hard to restring the rose
when i blow on your nose
as i do.

James McLain

And

and when he withdrew
how much of him
did you squeeze out
and when he left how much
of you
went with him.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Stain

The stain from this time.
She in many ways
was the hammer
which has been made to arm.
My feelings overwhelmed.
Was I of you the same this room
this point in time?
I so think, of you because there is where it points,
her and when what of the other hand
is moving off around to search.
When and she finds,
it/it really was feeling the stranger
of another one each kind,
like the sun
which i opened and squeezed from your full face.
How, you try that in me, i can't explain?
As for that as at that time being a larger stick her/his many finger and the others
with which you have and as for clouds between where you were rolling that to the front and back exactly.
I think that time, 'when you suppose
and reaching for the other two sweetheart.

James McLain

Overwhelmed

From this point forward it was all a blur.
She was like a two armed, 'octopus.
My senses were overwhelmed.
Was I even in the same room at this point?
I think so,
because there was one point,
where she was also searching for something
with the other hand.
And when she found it/it was a really strange different kind of feeling,
almost like jelly being squeezed from a roll.
How can you try and explain it to me?
It was like she had some wand between her forefinger and index
and she was just rolling it back and forth between the two.
I suppose its between your lover's other two.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Warm Today

And as for her watching and as for me,
concerned as to think of the warm weather,
or that we want her in the strategy which can be delayed deliberately whether or not you fasted,
you were and are exactly in her of what, it referred.
She the strong woman even before making before and without his inner being
she had already climbed the tree with a method.
I observed at that moment her finger,
greeted to the sun,
and the fact that the top of my head she takes,
'next suddenly, at all without warning, 'Fluid Thoughts'.
I, 'like the fast one,
continuous flow of each movement, that was, it means.
It is warm.
But as for that of all places, 'it was there.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Through Transparency You Came

Where do we go,
and did you not come away from it,
and did you not know.
and why are you still afraid to be told
there are no mistakes.
so many of us, we came away from.
All that there is, so far that was, up until
and remember,
one hundred eighty six thousand miles per second.
No resistance except for the mass of that which is.
Infinity is how far beyond the boundary's
of simple comprehension.
If mass meets no resistance but from that of it's mass it's self,
how far can, it then go.
Knowing how much all the mass originally weighted?
How far would you go, to know.
Even in the land of no inertia, there is.
What silly man,
sits beside the rift to wait and see, beyond it.
What is lighter than all you will know,
where were you taught?
Even smaller, than small
is that which, you think, you all know
must it stop,
because you know it has form and shape.
What is lighter than that,
'but there is much to that and there is..
It takes you to the rift and back,
in such blinding, transparent you came, 'instantly.

James McLain

Each Full Moon

Above each tower - open Independent,
each new mystery of this the month.
It is classified at one/\two degree angles.
Will you not then, look again, it is there.
It makes the gold disperse it does not have the composure of cold silver rays.
Whom, 'crosses over the staggered waves
cool rivers, equal each mouth,
flowing once again like you will to, into the good night,
reaching down, touching the whispering faces,
up in the house on the mountains edge
which is at night kept full of they like us, looking up.
Revealing, 'with it is, off the mat,
it illuminates the gauze of white creamy silk,
moon turns slowly across, singing abundantly.
Peaks of the sky, silence, when full:
Between the thin stars,
like old scars they stand, do not die yet, off into you that all drift.
Are they not like you,
spread within the garden, where I am old and Grey
and the pine, mixed with the cinnamon bark... of which.
Everything, most of all lights/write and the light/write moon settles down for the night, smiles directly!

l.p.

James McLain

I Met A Stranger In The Park

say what ever you like..'dear'
do you not like to talk to people whom you know can never speak of what you say
to any one you know....'dear'

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When I Saw You Last

you were not so much as now you are laying there, sleeping
open to the world of dreams
watching you as your eyes underneath the lids
moving, 'jerking up and down
very fine beads of sweat
on your moist upper lip
then sinking slowly down
your inner most opens
my touching never stopped
as deep in sleep
and i think
why are you still crying, 'dear'.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Scantly Clad Clouds

on to cover the dawn
scantly clad clouds moving off releasing the moon

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Is Afraid, He Is Tired

She..is..he..
and he is..
She..
The two..
now lost..
loves heart..
and bright....
was yellow
the sun.....

...
You once as two..
were one..
and ran..
round the world..
Inside...
both heads..

.....
He fell.. inside..loves fire..
and she..his red..
heart burned..
Both fires burned hot...
ice..cold..
Within..Her..
light did form..
around it...

.....
Over shadows love..
swept out...
coals..
Your smile..
twin lips....
he..kissed..
both miss....

.....
His face..
from that..
bright coals
still hiss..

.....

Again
Now alone..
he walks..
back into...
Loves.....
great...
full moon..

She is afraid,
he is tired..

James McLain

And Boys

we see you
watching
planing it all out
in your heads.

we don't need plans
we move it
with our muscles.

we don't show
off
too show off
we show up
to see you
take chances.

we watch you
and listen
to what is she, 'if the one we must run
away to, is 'from.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Look At Her Every Day

I look at her every day
those wanderings, 'what it is like to be a girl.
Riding the same bus for years.

Is it just water all mixed up into what we think is nice and clean.
lipstick of the washroom, giggly of breath cotton sphere?
cotton stuck to the stick and they laughingly, at our tighter
bleached, White's always thinking, why does it thyme,
'make us sweat to see planned out rumped panties.
and the pin circled it like the pioneers of the west
and being completed, 'the sky reaches down painting colors
of the soft cotton, 'your rubber and the color your mouth and the closing of the teeth,
which crunches up and down, 'politely,
by my eye, you of your bedroom you take for granted the smells
i wonder if it is maintained is the bedroom,
inside on the cedar chest rests the water glass
an open container of cottage cheese and pineapple
by the foot of the bed makes her magic, seem to sparkle,
From which makes circles and made are pretty faces
pulled back and your mother, she moves the covers.
Look at the small silk clothes where, first by me you put it.
Calling out to you please explain how these thing you obtained,
I meant not out of sympathy.
I Called out to obtain, some insight considerably.
First I put back in place the clean smelling clothing.
Then I turn, say,
"look at me! I am clean, but to you i am small, very!
Have pity in me! " And you say, "every this it is,
of often too, varied in verbal intercourse!
"And you raise your skirt. And.
Revolution of revolution of you dancing,
you see when you stop to let us see, your hot sweaty face.
Why is (everyone) so clearly, but i of your soft stockinged toe
under the clear blue sky,
your sweet ankle and i dropp it to full of the ice-cream and it is one of many are your eyes never still to rest upon the invited single, first looking, 'whom removes those of the acquaintance where you and the others stand to talk moving as the tides constantly and who paints the faces that ocean fresh, sweet sea breeze

and thinking some salty oysters were simply made translucence are those closed doors i often wonder about
and being closest to anyone who it is seen, to do.
So often, 'When looking at you, i think.....What it is like to be a girl.

James McLain

Look At The Light/Write

That astronomical scholar, sleeping you, 'searching out
the water of life, found carbon monoxide, sulfur dioxide and other fundamental parts thereunto,
past there strewn about,
within the structures of, flagellant gorgeousness
by looking at the light/write
of that which passes through the far-infrared
detector of Hershel, from the Orion nebula.
Bringing us all back, 'closer to our far away home.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Helps Too Be Pretty

it helps too be pretty
and love could i
and yet
it helps too be pretty
and those eyes
looking out standing
i see
staining my window.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pretty

sometimes it helps to be pretty
and
those eyes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Stars

To me about you as it counts the stars and frequently even excessively mainly there, it is you.
The stars I have known,
have consisted of only one thing,
threes and sevens.
Stars without you,
'That star does not show,
'at all in me-And you look at everything.
When I see, the star dispersed about dawn it sings
of mourning, 'concerning your head.
The star which is you I have not met,
under any condition, therefore as for me,
when I think of that which you spoke concerning you,
however long is the way
and I directly,
'never with you, can I speak of it, 'excessively,
you do not have to appear, yet when you do,
and watching I wait.

James McLain

Fire Starter

squatting at the opening of sleep
she sits lightning to the omnibus
redcurrants
noises little ones, lap at her side moving underneath
around the long shaft of light lips part to rekindle the thought once lost in the dark
his mouth opens and shuts, 'it is fire.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Staining My Window

Using your hand, helping, 'your love returns.
I entreat you the sun warms my center.
Staining my window,
clouds white washed away as you watch.
If my true love leaves you alone again
tonight, as for me,
'someone else dug, my grave.
Which some one i think, already is.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Love Could I And Yet

love could i and yet
and if i were able to keep it all being never, truly free
my inner core, my eyes behind
each curtain, i have seen and after all the rise and fall
of those whom were against me
if even i could start the flame,
to love the pain she lent me,
love could i and yet love it is.
would i have the strength too mend thee.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

His/Her Desire

There one where you are I am,
you are beautiful,
I am the part of your each crosscurrent.
I am not like my wife,
she desires the fact that he is just hers.
With her using each hand of my ones,
your love is returned.
I entreat my/your sunny center:
' If my true love leaves off tonight,
as for me someone's away, dark grave.
Walking under the full moon, I am.
' in which you already, arms open it is;
Aren't you my health for my life, my light my love?
Because the center which how delightful,
your health it pursues!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Said: Full Being Flushed

That this new area enema being now safe makes
full those being flushed.
Words being clean, being effective,
it is natural method.
Always In gentle hands,
given over when both see eye to eye
and those noises from to that.
With many different races of people,
examines ' of word; 'enema' like trees
Past or Pressman
it comes out having new colorized border
to designate the unpleasant memory
of displeasure of the external wound of infancy
that time when so many periods, 'dotted the air.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Many And Before

When I touch your face and your feet.
I rise up as you rejoice each morning.
Your nearness means, all this too me.
And many children, talk in your womb.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Soft Of Clothing

As for your request of me.

and as always how you looked at me

i who am your mirror.

As for me, your ways, 'i whom desired the fact that i am your soft clothing and hear this 'dear'

i am always attached to that supple body.

As for me, the moon it simply is, add the fact that,

it is the soapy water, there wherein contained

you wash your body is simply all, it does desire.

As for me the simple fact that any thing

i am you whom, 'i can always paint.

I am the man and your being the woman of affluently

and 'O' it is whereof, desired.

And nu banked, and your neck around your chest of beads.

I whom am you together attached as such

and as such you feel the chaffing as we together walk

you with me who desires,

the simple fact that I am each foot,

upon the sand

' your toes breath free, warm within the sandal!

James McLain

And Moon And Trees

and full moon and trees leafy bushes
paths and streams
long vines the owl
that sees these things
as walking past
to find that dream
and in you hand he follows.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Passover

My wife is joyful,
she is covered with dawns early morning sunlight.

Her body,
his face and limbs are without shadow and smooth.

Does not disobey the kind voice of his/her both others,

Is energetic
and makes of their, affairs like your life to prosper.

And as it is,
are not the cloud tops loving, gentle and lively.

She is of the lamb,
good cream and sweet butter flow forth
from her/his from whence is her, 'dear' other.

PoemHunter.com

I shall give you another thought about my other:
After you,
have broken off from this, thine own warm bread.

James McLain

One Side, Of Sun Light.

As for the actual principled, each kind of person
some kind bound up, in substance.

Quality or state is related because of it's ethics,
and why it possesses abnormal perceptions.

Some perceived unique normal condition to ethics,
you must explain it/it is to simple,
why is the fact that it is left with one side, of sun light.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Would Be Like

the touching of breathing
all around it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lost In The Menme

Are we, 'are we not, all of us this.
So lost in the menme.

Everyone in us taking the hand in this evening her face,
while the blue night where it meets us it falls, off the world.
She of the sunset he of the dark sunrise, combined.

Distant that mountain where last I saw,
'from my window exceeds.
The sky's grasp and yet, 'You are the one, 'Occasionally.

Was there someone?
Some one else.
Some speech?
It, in old age now escapes me.

From it too you, again would you try, resown is spring asking.
The whole of love.
Why do you come to me suddenly,
I am, ' when to be sad, you feel that it is distant?

As for the book,
where I am blue, 'rolled with the balls of your feet like the dog.
Always, the statue from the bust which it always it entreats with the sun is each evening is turned off, is the sun the menme.

James McLain

Et: Al:

The place, ' It is somewhere; We find sleep entirely.
The place we entirely returned empty here, from it again.
To be full, 'We entirely, return it somewhere,
in order by whence, 'which it comes.
And the fact that we come, we inquire about the sea.
which is sent in order to do to foresee, recover that.
And is light, is dark, but the ' Certain; it'
The suffering interview person whom is crossed;
Wide it is cut off and several looks at between it, et: al:
The edge of the space which time moves has cracked.
To several to several sidewalks our thoughts.
To several as for that,
' Certain; it is'; s it is not. it'; Hot s. it'; The cold of s. it';
all thing from you it is taught, or it is not.
But being cut off finally and between moving,
having lived, luminous flux of all seconds you think.
Now that you know, 'it is that image of you that it shrinks.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is Time Taking Up My Space

Someplace is that place, 'we all seek out.
That place we all came back here, from.
Coming whence to where we all, go back and in our coming, we were sent to do to hear the sea and see it through, take it back.
And there is light and there is dark, 'interviewee,
across it's wide, some see the rift at all.
The edge of space where time it moves, is cracked.

To some a sidewalk to some a thought.
To some it is, 'to some it's not.
To some it's hot.
To some it's cold.
To some it's every thing your taught, or not.
But in the end the rift has moved,
the speed of light for every second, you think you lived.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Her Beautiful Soul

It is that of her entirely it is her
and she it has, made due to her.
You knew her special beauty marks.
Upon your face, the spark.

From she, 'it can;
point her out with you and you to her.
Her inclusion your inclusion she,
your that, made with by her.
As for her, ' Certain;
It is heard with all voices which are sung,
with the song each skylark,
where those are unusual.

Now which perhaps it does, that everything.
Time of the sandcastles is not her,
your only ones. each Respectively,
the sunlight which is compared is not smile,
she shines being you.

In her or you, 'as for that the candy is mesquite.
Where there is that wildness,
which is prolonged it can not withstand.
Thereof is no accident,
when you walk memory of distant country's.

But attach each one with her,
in all the woods, forests would
which it should open the open leaf.
Using the smile of dense, yellow SOL.

Using the elegance of the breath where each wind is strong.
The mind where she who blinks is beautiful..... She has it all and you by her and she it has.
Her special beauty one you knew.

She is sparked by you and you to her.
Her intervention your intervention,

she has made it all, it ON her own and with you.
She is and ' Heard in every voice that sings
and those uncommon songs by each small lark.
None of this but all of that.
no hourglass all time is hers.
No sunbeam likened to each smile
and upon it all she shines, 'ON you.
Upon her/you it lingers sweet mesquite,
'Born of the wild.
No accident when,
walking past those memories of some distant land.
But by nights light she has and taunts
each leaf upon all trees to open wide.
With the smile of deep the heat from yellow sol.
With the grace of each solar windy breath.
Flashing her beautiful soul.

James McLain

Charles Bukowski's The Laughing Slob

As for all the 'difficult nights
which tries the fact it is always thinking.
That being said,
as such it required no practice.
For me, as for you what of me laughing
at who you are.
I who am the natural slob always under the shirt
which ever is which,
she never likes the fact that your place is on the bed
(of course it becomes dirty) (and the tobacco and the hole)
I shake the beer bottle while holding a shoe.
My labor assistant and pays me for lip service and things.
Dissatisfaction is said, 'and she nods,
concerned over this and that any which way and still I talk.
The woman who is said to pace the floor, you walk,
and I' Work and ' filter-less commiserates, Spitting it out, say; Just a little, DON'T wear it like that?
Then profit, do your donkey walk I am here the empty nest!
In addition by my oneself,
which I have long since as a child because of her and loved by my, really and my slob-love really and it is,
as for those other ones 'dear'
it seems they go away:
But you go away to always,
looking at your back section which almost always stays.

James McLain

Appropriate Words

You then being wise and are, 'as for me after the law,
I have and in your bones they feel as of those
and how the why thereof and which they did utilize.
What kind of appropriate words,
which are paid and is it thus necessary lifting up ones
hand of each the sky rains up thine eyes submissive.
A bad state where the payment of behavior of those is famous,
my body was paid to in part;
Because of the deceased those of necessity of the thy lobe
it does not have already within thine purple pomegranate thine behavior until and of,
thus you are were brought up with respect to that, which is that child is maintained to sheriff,
'by the public, because therefore, and greeting.
Which is good should you fill up, it remains thus simply:
As for this after the struggle,
'because of the other things, 'like his et. al.
Left off my ones as a romantic love
with the flower garland played across the shield, America it is, the solid prize which therein is thus completely and each and every coronation
it can point to her son who has lived.
Remuneration of virtue,
'be it death,
'it is, it has and knowing it is thus, few would even knowingly.
For to survive it, is to speak of it, is it not.
So that which was, may be learned from it.
Because of it somewhere it is, is it not?
Better thee than thee....would you smile that smile.
Humor as dry and as arid as that which was but still is.
As for largest with service of the state, 'grace then,
most gentleness of the citizen enlists.
When and you understand just, now, and it is denied the deceased,
that the darkness
therein of each one of my hearts it has buried, in this way, for the second time it starts and is full of the struggle,
which because of it's non value
and in the professor at the time of the lesson
before it' Before it's being, it re-trains large heart and it is possible to begin for the second time;

Each and every the new day is history of it is.

James McLain

Green Olive

Therefore when those mature most,
being the opening, and the gift, the figs;
When hungry and being thus
in the vicinity of minds merry collusion,
the green olive especially is attractive.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

This Anime Woman

The sneaking up on me her rubber pants, talking and hers depending,
upon the extension vessel non- moderation
registration number on, 'of the pants.
Panties on her full, 'you can tell it's her/his pants
which when the dance tree.
Which she leaves it left and continues the woman who is bright and faces up too urinate, until her immediately and the sun it is, 'it is bright from separated the paintbrush
of the fire eating fire of the fire which dances, 'it is bright, it left your pants
which leave the bright suede
the panties of pink of the underpants, hot suit being dressy
in the pants top and bottom of the wood product of moleskin which leaves choices,
' you could open the dance which she leaves, look equating.
Black framed glasses, 'looking smarter than the rest
because she is.

James McLain

No Violence

Something in violence as for it, it can not.'it is so;
As for;
as for that one which it thus, has described, 'sufficiently.
The thing of non violence,
if it was, it would have and for less some did.
My sounds of desperation echos of the word, it leaves scars.
Which barely makes upon them, just an impression.
unto him, 'i am like thine too you, it is trust,
We would like to escape too the stars.
It is just another word, a world, 'which only you can change it.
My heart into the abrupt the rift within a sound,
which when you squeeze it, escapes from the void, your eye.
And as that a simple pulsar that irradiates,
it jets to the sky and covers the clouds beneath your face,
can it, you feel.
which you can feel
at the center of the center of your every being.
Just in the difference of deepness of his/yours is a certain thing.
We would like to stop upon and rest within the message of desire and the damage that once was,
'which is now gone, something which when there,
no where it is not supposed to be because of a certain, is it's being the story of his life and waiting your being it to free and meant the fact that it is, within your hand are the voices unto you speaking giving 'you gently but firmly too love.

James McLain

Under Any Adverse Conditions

under any adverse conditions

However too each to each her humble large prize,
as for an iris pod, and maturing shape of the watermelon.
Which starts showing, 'growth pulls the young eye;
The fruit stores the oath, 'whereof, wherein comes whereupon
I, it was, of whom it was strangely, 'his et. al, 'end game became in her by weeping the most the strongest tears.
Let' It by any windy means, spreading necessaries
as that pod continues in order to give forth seeding pairs:
Truly, by some mischance, scatters those of the grass,
or crosses the patch of the weed and makes it disperse
or somewhere, 'some place, 'I' ll rest more safe, gladly and more of it, 'less does it not find those are thus with you?
Look up and your other smiles, 'under any adverse conditions.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Where She Is Soft

It does not make the air too flutter much, 'which "In truth she makes one of those and if it dreams, it comes and then", he said by her and, just a little kiss between,
he confused for the second time.
Then as for him that starveling, 'sensation
and the stomach where each they lower kiss
and were planted perhaps simultaneously
her/his and the felt, pencil tipped, open 'lip.
where she is soft the holy, 'God which it feels,
that it starts hers sliding!
But she had not gone,
as for oh it was their, there was she.
She was there, ' sinking down, almost again up to her sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Know I Am Simple, 'But When?

When, 'before it rises then, you I am.
When you sleep and get up, I am you.
When I need not a mirror to shave and you.
When can you look me in the eye and I do.
When will you shake my hand and many times,
being as I am and you have and you have.

When then, 'better to judge me, tempered naught.
Or better, 'when.
When but by, my simple i am, your sameness.
When you tell me, 'I don't matter.
When you do.
Better off, 'Or better when.
When you, 'See I am but a simpler you.
When at your, 'Purple Laure led,
dinning room cloth, I am naked,
it is..ok...covered table.
When the conversation is simple,
being thus, ' it is...that i am, unreasoned
never served out as presumptive
procedualry barred and my error, was thus trusting.
When reading one's mind,
before it is time are you, too him/her 'dear"God?
When I know, that you it, too know,
and you have it all now and you do.
When you know, you are as powerless, 'as I tell me when, 'I am not worthy,
and me being a coward, you know, 'I won't but will.
Or better off,
When.
When you watch, 'your children
and I watch them when
my child,
is a diamond, when lost expendable?
Or better off, found thus.
When you, 'love them all,
'as your own, it is when.
I will hold your hands.

Look you in your eyes.

Eat at your table.

Walk with you.

Talk with you.

Die for you.

When that of this of which I speak,
which never thus should have ever been,
in this our life placed out of mind my reach Perhaps, i am to simple and being perhaps it is your plight and I only ran off to the far side of heaven and back just to see and seeing.
I will tell you all, if you wish, of what I saw.

When I love my, only Daughter too.

When it was more practical, 'not too.

I know naught but, I like you,

I want better for her, do you..

James McLain

The Sea

Our breath now, 'how it comes.
As quick pulsing bright lights,
we shine off, As one.
Our goal is in reach.
The river banked it proves.
Your ocean full beyond all streams,
moving across
the green foamy depths.
Secure on the surface you face,
the sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Not An Animal Thing

i can be reasoned with
it is not,
an animal thing.
i do not,
not really, nor have i ever coveted your wife
your woman
or children.
i do not want of that,
which is not mine.
no one knows but 'you,
who i am.
children are but, 'like the bonsai
tree.
and folding their limbs up even by wire
even through fire
and they grow back out
always up towards,
the light.
do not be afraid of what
you
did to me.
after all,
is it not what made me into
what i am today.
i have never been afraid of you.
it is not defiance
it is not disrespect to the law
too the moral law of man.
knowing how it works.
knowing why it must be.
knowing you are my masters.
knowing you know,
i can not now lie to them.
they being you.
they of whom, 'it is
that put you where you are today.
my needs are simple.

my needs, my needs
you smile.
your needs are my needs.
you i always needed.
needed me, 'never,
you had me think, i thinking
did you ever ask of me,
what i thought my needs might be?
my only question is,
why did you leave me alive.

James McLain

Circumnavigate

Circumnavigate, tremendous,
'it is soft and there is an elasticity,
feeling on us it is good, it is popularity.
Start of it's nursing is pushed under the queen of the empires, 'band.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Faith My, 'God' Each Particle

Beauty of her beauty
she which has lived without such vain charm or she seeking not all each minimum his things
and the effect he has and as such.
The crack where the skin of the earth, 'is it small?
Observed the fact that pleasant are those
where it is intended by the maker,
are less liken never or, invite openly appetite candidly.
Therefore when those mature most,
being the cosmos opening, and the rift,
the small particles as fruit therein;
And those are to be closed, 'at the time of a certain truth,
as for love that is especially, 'attractive when blooming.
For the sweet corn to bend to the mind,
if those are taken independently,
it is much beautiful because the other things.
The bubble of the grass and the oceanic each wave
where, 'I have the ear of the lion, and like each thing to be many when you put it in place,
flaxen yellow silk it is done;
But being seen individually with natural relationship,
if one moves the other mustard oak,
when and like this it is made around us astronomy,
as for those and there is an validity simultaneously.
Therefore the woman that product outer space,
his of the imagination and thought has the fact that her ones are inspected but, as for him/her when it is complete, most in the appearance which is not the possibility of always?
So itself appropriate charm and the month the way,
that it makes always seemingly perhaps,
a certain, 'thinking may understand it; at it's 'Closest.

James McLain

I Must Hide All I Know

this is to remind me
of why
i must hide all i know
knowing i hide
what i grow
here inside all the words.
each memory of they
they of each mind
from father to son
from son to the daughter.
i knew you had plans for me
but you left me
with no way too know.
so each of you
and you,
i reach out, 'within each
when you read then i know.
I smile at the psychometric
my break from reality
thinking you think that i am
some one i'm not
i'm just me.

James McLain

Awaking With You

You thought that awaking with you next door, 'I of time
limitless lag,
would like to do very, 'my love
because of you there it is everything which it has,
to be the proof being you, 'thus completed,
because as for me, 'I who already am not blue, awakes with you, 'next door.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Dear' When You Smile I Cry

'Dear'...when you smile like that
is such a troublesome i worry
and verbal, 'scrambled intercourse! !
Why to be loving terrible,
we would like to driver your designate.
Your baby-sitter as all knowing,
other than such simple nervousness?
There is no,
'is there not! i mean yes,
no some colored difference.
Being born in another country,
many thousands of miles away.
That my sibilings the humphing,
'even whales hear music
my way,
is never of complication
the troublesome, as others
whom coarse items that brings,
ringing to your tender ears
and flashes of lightning
that cause you such discomfort there.

James McLain

The 'Professional' Her Heart

Being just released from the hospital
a few days past,
let us reflect a moment in a short prayer.
Chronic pain had nearly robbed
me of grace, being civil under stress
was nearly out of the question.
Yes, 'being so near to death, many times in my life.
Leaves me a bit phobic of hospitals
perhaps in my youth, it is by a few, 'known.
At first being around so many, nurturers
left me feeling guilty,
ashamed at my child like, 'naivety.
One nurse after my pain subsided
and my trying to charm her, 'said'
We are professionals,
I am not here to make, friends.
Being, 'Russian and well disciplined left me deep in thought, as I had never in my extensively traveled...did you smile?
Having ever met a real, 'Russian woman.
Asking of her:
to draw close, near to my lips, with her good ear.
Drawing upon, what I had not used in a while,
showing no fear, a Russian..woman of heart.
The voice coming from deep down inside.
Like the wind slowly building, moving the trees
seven levels of octaves password, downward and downwards, moving the hair of the fine inner ear
shaking the thin parabolic tympanist membrane,
that wards off and guards the moist inner ear.
Shaking loose in a good way, three hearing bones
and being in a profession holding full of discernment
with empathy she having much richness of heart,
her face relaxed and briefly she went back to some place far away and I have a better understanding from whence comes my pain and they made me feel
and were all full of grace, unafraid of those words before one looks in the eyes of the other, we see.

James McLain

Moved To Tears

The glass clear was firmly grasped
while a younger brunette
squeezes length more enthusiastically
with depositary.

Besides the fact that with the, 'it is, when ending,
as for her when motion to the lower part streams
and which she will be hand secured, was begun simultaneously, in one hand from the blond her range of motion
went back and forth courageously.

Without encouragement that body the tree it's sap which is discharged there was reasoned, necessity
for that kind of behavior,
but smile of the surface showed the pleasure.

But he is a cow, the woman both thinking neck of swan'
Because you had known, starting squeezing;
Simple methodological them coulee' whom harvets
that sap futility in wind moans then sighs, 'resists.

Like the animal from he and him whom is moved to tears.

He had been troubled, in sleep
it was not moved, 'being thought out,
and that and with just the surge which is released
'said' would like to become peaked highest,
those clouds appeared in rush.

The first volt/bolt range light depending,
you forced that itself, it flowed from him
with the flow which is close and fixes simultaneously directly you become, pain of pain is an ocean filled.

James McLain

Colonoscopy

before the colonoscopy
the nurse came
and after positioning me on my side
explained about what and why the enema
and as we talked
she slowly pushed the tip in and i could feel it
as she began to fill me up and now i know
why the woman get all worked up
it being my first time
how long would be a respectable time before asking
her out on a date?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Does A 'President'

why It is 'said' Is it why!

During visits

of the first joints, 'pouting

to Haiti hot like, 'Texas tweaks,

as for George W. bush) >(Bill Clinton

' It seems that wipes that chocolate hand;

being milked, 'After squeezing the hands

last where crowd of the Haiti human persons

has been seen last.

'attached the shirts of brown fear'.

That is something, 'it 'said' happened!

illuminating, Luminary Rhodes scholar blue lipped.

when does a 'President' stop being presidential.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

No One Told Me

No one told me, I just knew.

Why can't I cross that time.
What would I pay to be free.
And what would happen to the tree.
Do you, can you feel, what I feel.

I know there are more like me.
Waiting to be heard their voices found.
Can you see how much I feel.

I feel like I would like to see her face.
that hides, 'Beethoven inside her skirt.
If you knew the amount of fire and ice.
That I feel for you as the music chimes.

My burning fire because now you know
That I am the same sex as you and girls

Forbidden lost it speaks of more than treasure
Whom makes a pirate walk the plank
Unbound the sail unfurls, it is pleasure
And beautiful full lips like mine and yours
were meant to explore more than mere words
could explain and when we speak our eyes.

James McLain

Multifunctional Families

I would tell them every thing nothing is what they hear instead of
and it is all because they can not even speak of what they wanted
when they were my age
so I try and read their minds and always, I am failing speaking more is like whispering to each other when I am around
I tell my mother how nice she smells and she gives me the strangest look, as if father always cold and distant a shadow
his finger always hesitates
when walking past him
mother sees it and says nothing
and of course
how can I ask any of my friends
to spend there, nights
I have never ask my friends
about their parents
if they are kissed or hugged complemented in any thing other than silence numb my feeling have become more as if
and left I am to wonder forever
the cupboard doors banging open and shut
every night is at all considered normal activity for multifunctional families.

James McLain

Tenament Hall Gossip

As for worrywart needful of certain poisons
and laughing rut/rat
is they informed, being us who does.
When is not being informed by the door where hinges creak in need certain oil
as a fisherman would know
belying a new filtration symptom of green farts
where the oil which gets the bed even wetter
and where hiding in the soiled windy panties.
Why wear her wound by the ring pink of the thing
our daughters often tells us very careful feelings
who pursues rut/rat to sound of our youngest son whom are given to licking the cat
by the solar light/write
when it the moon shines
clearly as an art
and is shadow leaps
back and forth, grinning teeth exposed and through the paper thin walls
is many thought lips being queer,
many old-fashioned tenanted apartments
from it's sound rains down upon those gossips
holding on too spicy jars filled and hear such relish.

James McLain

When She May First Awaken

When she may first awaken-The amendments the promises
unlike fish you see crystal clear water, 'unselfconsciously which is maybe highlighted each different physical state sunflowers like individuality as if roses can it happens.
The daisy or yellow warm sun light on the leaf underneath
may take over after years of accidental crushing against warm firm things and the quality of the face coverings,
or uncomplicated touchings and even deep sleep the quality of the dreams themselves may cause even the most disciplined
and magically it's vulva blows up and out mushrooming
and in order to become quite,
the muscle of each individual question start breaks off.
It swells up, expands and could be deeper shaded quality and becomes about to be cause is wider, even sleeping comes up to lift the imagination while trusting, 'sleeping, undocumented breasts-Spearhead of answers back.
The muscle of quality and the mark in quotation it strengthens draws up the sense where the joy is at it's typical strongest.
It is a possibility of normal maturing productiveness feelings.
Decisions fly out the windows-In normal condition returning the quality,
about the moon phase of awaking, 'method your coordinated finishing fine person oneself, importance is when the leafs are
and this your quality of dew is preparing,
though some with family issues will be unable to participate
because of selfishness of thought or reprogramming fear.
Does not happen from the original purpose though each individual determines what kind of part where it is,
most common and is natural reappearance, is pleasant sleep.

James McLain

Mr. President

Mr. President,

Thus it is that I do, most graciously I humbly.

Because they can no longer...Miss Waite...

Because the children can not hope to choose from that which they need,

others and thinking naught, of the inner arts.

Adults, desperation unfulfilled there own

gifts and talents passed on to they of whom.

Being desperate and admitting it thus

the act of recuperation it's self, only being able

through the free will of the others,

of they for whom I speak, being voiceless

spots of bright light, they of U.S. they are ours.

Political, courageous unafraid, they are Republican.

Professing, admitting even unto now.

Hernando county Florida.

Needs specifiably to wit, the monies to keep open

that which will allow those whom have no voice

the future which all need to excavate from that past a brighter tomorrow.

The schools

Party lines prohibit any open or exparte communication to you that would reflect, the true state of the nation

in which they live.

I will openly beg for that which they need, not the adults

but they of whom need to be taught the open value of dialogue of which even I seem to be sorely lacking.

President Obama,

Show them openly by example that you will do what you can and their needs of the art's are as explicit and quite is a child's desperation in a future of doom none

of whom

for need ever, deeds be repeated, in the light of the open

can you, will you not?

So I pray.

Open needs ignored we have thus taught our children.

Open need addressed, sought out in prayer is the moral conduct you preach and ethics beseech what your ears discern to be just as the light that shines on the face of our children in need, here in America, 'Please.

James McLain

From 'Your' Despair I Grew Worried

Murder me love is deeply and your quilted, made bed
from thy many questions, I ask, you grew it annoyed.
You would not ask rolling hills of presumption.
What turned you back down upon from which the icy cold steps leading up from the cobwebs and weave left frozen in time unthinking, made wet the center.
Like the clock you last saw it's face made of glass
remade from the heat of your sand, when shattered
my fate thinking it loved yours, that you last when saw,
O' my love, is bovine,
simply being simple full of milk, flowing words run off both ways.

Deep in the night dead people still come.
The old city district.
Historic in worth now known for it's value.
Though those old red bricks keep being
carried away
From the heart of old Tampa and hidden
in graves.
Red tears from the ground of, 'Valdemar.

You carried my body off very far away.
Many so many times I had to leave what was left of my mind
behind alone in each chamber of your hands
and I Redeemer each and every chief a Judge
who saw me of no worth
but your worth from the last one that gave me up
to the next forever they come and I wait.

My virtue as thick as the air that surrounds you.
My heart is now only as strong as you allow it, 'you/are.
My Morales are as unapproachable as you.
My values I owe to you and in my debt from whom I am, 'you/are.
My sight is as short as yours was long to the sea.
What did I have need of sight shut away from the light in the darkest of pits, where it was that you loved me.
And crystal, from which my head is now hung,
and Grey marble hard colloquiums of thought, your clay,

from all of those books you in deep courage,
foregrounded by those from whom sight you knew to give me.

James McLain

Verigo

and thus in my coming
over
to the edge
and she, 'pulling out the stars
bust after burst
mind growing dim
my eyes
and from all of that,
which is
switched on and off.
it is not that wide/wider
still now than tomorrow
when it was
yet to come.
again instantly
to the edge of again
and forgive/her looking down
as the fountain and the faucet.
and for every star put out come more
and from whence they came,
'come more,
thus being full the fountain
pushing back upon
that which is, even now
even yet
waiting to bring forth some more.

James McLain

Camp E-How-Kee...

and being just everyday commons found, little people young
and 'Jack and Ruth,
events thus even after,
therein for some,
it was and thus, forever after
and in seeing, 'saw'.....burning eyes of 'Apollo.
Five miles away.
Sitting on the bus.
Such shaking, weeping fire, the air alive
being young in love with wonder only, awed.
Listening to (Let The Sunshine In) ') written by James Rado, Gerome Ragni,
and Galt MacDermot,
And after meeting you both,
were good people
Jack it is why after five attempts to be Gov'ner that they wouldn't
you wanted to help the small children.

James McLain

Every Year Springs, 'Break'

Here every year springs, always break.
Walking underneath the peer and
you were always, on my mind, 'dear'.
Those by all the beauty queens and sandy each lined up,
isles, ; rows like ducks, and smiling, they smile back.
the sort,
that's infectious where they all seem to catch my eye,
their daddy's would grow as well i'm sure, 'quite mad.
the front part, open as for me as for the tri- car opened
of her transparent bikini.
smiling as i see it/it is buddies with, laughing fits;
the slit of their eyes as they watch all boyyo/men walk by.
she is hers barely clear and love is so clever
and the oysters weeping, 'pearls the shell, is pink as 'well.
the guys walking by and i snicker as their eyes are looking at the other guys pants as pants were hard and with the woman shortage which is this my center they upstaged premeditatedly laughing, where with the growing of it, all smile.
i am sluggish and my turtle is trained to never come out
in the rain even if the sun is high today it's hot, again i laugh.
lovely ages blind it is of they, 'but how it,
it can literally see the uterus her beauty a thing, her beast.'
the panties over there by her you walked and every one of each a vision of sitting right across from..'Mary'
the virgin to many, which is, just, due to it does not own a cross.
no the toe of the camel opens there was frontage, 'wedged in her.
Girl that, you apply, adjust the time, can tilt you scrutinized,
the people who look at that it makes a fuss about nothing.
you obtained the fact that it is laughing,
as a note and trembling which it enjoys and comes having must take second glance cause of all the girl hungry of your green pine needles, falling, 'upright in the sand,
and plus how would they know if you weren't, so hungry.
obtaining cleanly, ' salted grape leaves believes my eyes and yours.
switched is the time of year when you all arrive alive
and the bikini is like the oyster pulled apart, 'eaten,
it is huge now, still laughing you laugh and swell as well.
the only lip which you think that I would like to see,
is something which when soprano is sung,

and the public put that out in notice shows/unreality over 18 years old,
it has all the people with the toe of your camel, winged on their mind.
We all know what spring break is for, Clear water,
walking through the white hot sand
to the foamy waters edge.' it can always help to clear the foggy mind.

James McLain

Of Hope

coming;
near to the end of it
very long, 'a journey
and only after it starting over and over
is shaking from it loose.
one drop, 'sun light.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Enoughsaid'

Pulsed, beating, ' beneath, her heart.
Me too she both are shy.
And, she soothes me
and speaks calmly.
Bringing me the peace
I needed at her moment of my need,
she needed as well.

The outside,
of such beauty
but never covered thus completely.

He took off my dress.
If you looked through our window
you saw,
her take off my t-shirt
and the skirt upon me which he leaves.
His scent she smells his as well.
Never in this world thought below it, i am.
Did you also see what you saw when
slowly...he did it like thus;
removed were the panties which in 'love' is made transparent.
Her pink world fell into his psalms.
He asks about my day of the month.
She to see the star above him.
And at that time will she say and - you will under it
and good night/days silence,
you want it too the sky and more? - And was i writing,
where she is it folded or thoughts that wear it out.
He must be the rainbow mixed in she he is simple, because;
She drank of him and off too he sleeps.
Her deep love of that song
and he calms her ocean of silence,
where, 'I am good and will spill it, all because of her...it/she likes
and she opens it, like hers the flower, 'painful slowly and she wants and to go out side of the loud white silence.
The ink of which, 'both spill,
upon sheets of silk yellow, 'onion skin paper
and probably she likes him better just in case,

heavy, 'weighing it out 'enoughsaid' tomorrow.
He passes over and he says too her as he listens to her friend.
The ocean what of the green muscles,
which is soft and it moves it says...getting nearer
and taste of that abundant midnight sky,
which is to motion and being
high and above beating, beneath her heart,
and side by side with her pushing it gets it nearer
and both when in sleep, see it beating.

James McLain

Prep For Colonoscopy

Both and professional, we assume,
as it is quickly preped, Golytely.

No order many procedures are aprotached
from the wrong direction.

She was in charge right off the bat,
the nurse was.

Asking about it, and latter becomming
as all should but can't.

She 'said think of war
it may help,
while her hand grew steadily lighter.

I thought of one great full moon, I had.
So we made small talk, she ask about kids, I ask about this.

Growing close to the end of that.

Asking how I felt and stating it felt a little unusaul but I was suprized not that uncomforatable.

Another misconseption and myth put to rest.

We grew enough to become as she ask how long could I hold it as long as I could.

Telling her I was full and as I made it off the bathroom, I was not told it would be a three part production,
we made.

The goal of colonoscopy prep
is to eliminate all partial or undigested
matter from the colon
so that the physician conducting the colonoscopy
will have a clear view.

Just Before The Preparation

As for facet types your/me,
'it waited for large numbers long,
before it transfers,
in order those to come excessively.
Once that, before these nurses do it and last night you informed in me about just before the preparation.
When the room grasps me,
something which it passes me the rubber makes the G.I. hose and as for the other like word of brown between two walls
and watersmotherspace you stutter, me from rear and in order to nurse as for porcilen and O obtains that because of my/your food.
While using I as after thought,
as for the hand, that it is, being,
being the front parts, thinking the after parts.
Burning rubber.

James McLain

Each New Broken Promise

This hole in my heart
Crying again.
Running to hide from it,
before I collapse.
Opening, then closing around me.
How like they, I am,
and how likely again, I will be.
Some thing is wrong,
I call all around and like the Small embers of sleeping giants the would be children.
Memories thus of old wombs, Pulling at my flesh and the mighty worm talks too her to.
Do not convince me yet still.
Against,
Each new broken promise.
Deep lines along my face,
traced backwards attest.
Why my eyes are again dull, yet
I trust you,
to keep on living,
Because I love to die.

James McLain

Beating Of It, 'Her Heart

Beating of it, 'Her heart'
Me too she, 'both are shy.
And she, soothes me
and speaks calmly.
Bringing me the peace
I needed at her moment of my need,
she needed as well.

The outside,
of such beauty
but never, thus covered completely.

He took off my warm dress.
If you
looking through to our window
then you saw,
her take off my t-shirt
and the skirt upon me
which it leaves bound around.
His smell
she scents of his as well.
Never in this world
but up though
and below it, i am.
Did you not...child...
also see what you saw
when slowly...
he did and it thus;
deleterious then apart
and removed were thus the panties
which off 'love' is made,
ever 'clear transparent.
suddenly;
Her pink world falls, upon unto,
his such open psalms.
He asks about my day, of the month.
She to he, some see

each hears hot thus is bright
are the stars above him.
And at that time will she say and - may it, you will
and good night/days, 'silence,
you want it too the sky and more? - And, 'was i writing,
where she, ' it is,
evenly folded and or thoughts that you wear it.
He must be, each the rainbows.she mixed it up, '
and to she, ' he is simple, and 'said', stopping for a moment catching because;
She drank of him and off too he never sleeps.
Her deep love of that song
and she the oceans silence,
where I, 'am good and will thus it spills
because of her...it is like
and she it opens, is slowly
and she wants and to go out side,
of it the silence.
The ink of which both, 'hath spilt,
upon sheets of yellow onion, skin paper
and probably,
she likes him better off just in case of tomorrow.
He passes over
and he says too her as he listens to her mutably.
The ocean what of the green gently muscles,
which is soft
and it moves it says...like tears getting nearer
and taste of that salt abundant, at midnight sky, which is to each motion and being
high and below beating, beneath it, 'her heart,
and side by side with her pushing it gets it nearer
and both when in sleep, see it off, 'it is beating.

James McLain

Enaphalopahy

I was notified via e-mail
that their was no appellate procedure
for the post traumatic stress syndrome
that was caused when Amy Ranger from K.C.I.
helped she whom was my ex.
Establish the false allegation against me
also threatened that I would never see my daughter again
if i did not sign the income tax returns
in the court house.
And where I choose to go insane
instead of commit suicide.
or commit murder.
I think, I choose wisely!
My Case was closed by they whom were informed falsely,
thus they must reopen it, them selves, for they committed the crimes against my daughter and myself.
Not I, Or We On them.
When you hurt
people for their money or for other personal reasons.
Do not be surprised when you hurt some one, that they really do become hurt,
some times unto death.

23 March 2010

James McLain

Depths Of Perception

The day after Sunday.
Not before.
Pre<>existing condition.
Communication.
We the People.
Words of some,
I/we try and say something.
Chasing paper dragon's.
Today what it means.
The orange kite.
At night when you see.
The snake eating me inside
won't come out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When I Was Instructed

when you are young.
and like me,
and you were
and i was
and male instruction was very hard and listening was made even more difficult
because i could be walking upright
and i was to her learning it all, as an animal.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Dream You Float

I Dream You Float,
Come now please to me.
After having passed them all and Come to me this is yours
and come to me in the loud silence
of the night and white with it,
inside the mind of wait, I will.

Come lay abreast of me, you it's coiled sun
effervescing loving silence of he/you sleeping safely such is trust my dream and more
many more you lifted up, through thee by most,
unseen upon thine brow.

Crying, 'Yet, O yea, and when you Come with shy soft, rounded moon, my burning cheeks
and my eyes are fevered, 'Iris, brightest pupil.
As sunlight on the crowded river dream
our stream of streams.

Through it all by you and Coming back in tears,
Flowers, memory, hope and faith
of all the finished years, hope 'unbeknownst.
Floating dreams, you shine my love and tossed
I am too deep but also red my heart you beat,
by you too sweet,
three words brought so sweet,
Whose wakening should have been your forever is each day around your face, long ago.

James McLain

Milk And Cream

Dress up around her head, arms trapped tied properly off, his favorite cow.
The exposed panties being thus completely,
asleep dreamless mouth open 'honest
with you it is, anythings possible,
with any in/decrease of the cream
foaming lips, through the panties,
before it is being, by you created.
She must by he, be informed before,
or thereunto his approximation of about him\her trainer, of the Panties,
fine silk suit being 'talon credentialed.
As for the pansy when with his, it is flushed
in her thine vast sea of milk majority,
red and purples
and some pinks and coral pansies.
When the emptied tank begins,
it flows, from the smooth running pump
in order for the cream to be butter gathered.
Simultaneously from each and both,
and any independence
with the utmost formal, squeezed efficiently.
You must inform her,
before about the trainer of her becoming aware in heart of Panties,
of the approving, 'nightwatchmen where,
cow eyes, she creates, 'approximately,
and her 'cream when, it is near his more each time, her/his humanitarian, sings

James McLain

Sleep

I pray perhaps the sleep
which time is found me not this week.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Thought Crimes

What are they all really?
Like what the Bible says?
Like what the Koran says?
The Torah?
Truth in the seeking of it,
each thought,
does it come, or go away.
Peaches, preferably to oranges,
when younger both were the same
the craving was.
But now one is sweet, the other acidic hurts my stomach.
Moral crimes.
Civil crimes.
Punitive.
Torts.
Criminal.
Positive thoughts are better than those which flow against that which is productive of course.
Still many are our thoughts.
Many are our lies,
where thoughts they flow or soak.
Crude, primitive socially except able
art,
painting, music, tastes they all vary.
Where do they come from?
Can one be good and not act on a good thought, and be a criminal.
Think naughty and just stay quite being caught in what you thought
you did naught, of such are sultry thoughts?
Questions with no answers, answers
dictated,
by the thoughts of others, whom perhaps
want you to think, like them.
I know a few people whom if I thought like
they we would be still living in caves.

Then if we thought like 'Einstein,
would that bomb have ever been invented
or dropped?

Maybe yes to one but I doubt, to the other.
I don't know, sir: but your the writer in bed asleep and I am only one of many, whom rarely
if ever get enough,

Truth be told,

I can not remember when last I dreamily, slept.
Perhaps your right, lack of sleep effects your thoughts,

Though when I mention it to the Doctor,
I really don't want to hear it is some type of drug seeking behavior,
when it may only be, because of my thoughts.
All actions that are designed to harm another person, psychically psychologically, mentally
spiritually....

Because I do not believe in hitting my child no matter what and I believe in letting a person
when the concept of understanding begins
to dawn,

let them begin the process of freedom of choice
for which then their journey begins,
not from ours but progressive thought is theirs...

And teach them not to hate because some other child may think it cool, because perhaps their daddy likes to hunt.

But leaves the carcass in the woods.

Education, Education, fewer prisons
and spirits then will soar.

I have to honestly say when should I become afraid of what people may be thinking, I doubt I have ever been hurt by a just; unjust thoughts
by only the few, are called.

See how a production can be made out of two simple words... :)

I hope you slept well.

Dedicated to the Gentleman,
in, Tallahassee...012502.....
Those that sleep well, do have some thing to look forward to or so I think.

James McLain

Fingers

Fingers being none are Exactly,
accommodating.
The very nature
of the symposium
dictates one divestment
living in close quarters.
While the other musicians
seat themselves
accordingly,
and civil is graciousness.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Panty Cream

The panties being when completely, dreamless 'honest with you it is possible with any decrease of the cream
of the panties, before it is being created, dreams.
She must he be informed before or approximation of
about the trainer of the Panties, 'suitably credentialed.
As for the pansy when it is flushed in her the majority,
red and purples and some pinks and coral pansies.
When the emptied tank begins, it heavy flows,
in order for the cream to be better flowers gathered.
Simultaneously from both with the utmost of efficiently.
You must inform her, before about the trainer of becoming aware Panties, of the approving nightwatchmen where,
she creates approximately, 'cream when, it's near his time.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Every Time She Winks..I Love Her More

Her wrack of torture knows no bounds, touch the end.
In squealers, winks a contrail stain upon the sky her smile is 'art of pain, 'she grins.
Mania, biplanes, necrotic tics make
me tremble, much I fear, in letting go.
High, so high above the ground, she turns the handle one more time, to
feels the sinews come undone, is chic.
Falling, falling...I keep up, without her one
approach, attached, her wrack my chest is taught.
Parachute in hand Is pulled inside again.....I win one..wink..
O this 'Queen' she flies this, plane called pewits art is swank..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Take My One Conceit

Take My One Conceit
out of my mouth,
so I may kiss your lips.

And place my tongue upon your palate, better to form
my words,
Ushered, 'Your each world;
before I speak them of
you, if and when it is poetry.

Take my thoughts
pressed hot to your ear,
so I can know, your the voice of my one self,
and make me, into you.

While my mind, when you
return it,
was made true,
for the better of being used.

James McLain

Poo Ting Noises

delirious poo ting noises
lips opposite from one another.
talking about bubbles, floating.
humor magical noises.
spice, appearing then leaving
quickly.
musical notes tuned, rubbed
by the silk between,
two pieces of soft rock.
to hear it/is to see it.
to smell the laughter,
is to be
in love, with your whispering,
happy poo ting, fruity flavors.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Are Not A Nun

and you are not a nun; off<->on to bed
and they can not understand a simple you.
and if they did, they would have better
taught you, to just go and be wise is careful.
and that you, would never go blind.
and your hair wont fall out and you
have already had the measles.
and the mumps and some one looking is.
if you mixed this, with that..because.
On that day<√> you will see, the bigger forest.
and you will climb, one tall tree, running after another and you are not a nun and if the feelings are not right, no<√> means<√> no.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Attention

interning
through the window
like a ghost
the barracks dark and still except for the educational background noise
and they never knowing
as she paid attention
only to those whom paid attention.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Needs

And she, ' that it entirely.
Therefore;
because you thought that we want.
It was that.
As for things, 'her that it received.
It was placed that.
As for things,
her that it needs.
Almost,
And that swan, 'there.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

That Other Poetry Site

they only read your poems
if they are wicked sick and bad
and you harvest all the trees
and lay in all the bushes
where you pee.
words like panties
hold no sacred meaning
nor the clouds that cause the rain.
So i split the moon until,
it is shaking, 'deep inside.
and i move the captains back
while she is deep in sleep.
it is, 'mid night and another burglary, 'just occurred'.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Babies

all babies are born good
some are born ill
some are saved, 'some are stilled.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Post Conviction Relief

.....it is a type of collateral appeal
after all the, 'Regal ones run out.
When issues that are not preserved
or are ignored,
are procedurally barred from court.
it is the law....
Evan on death row.
You know.
Where D.N.A. is used most think
to put the, 'evil all away.
Most give up....nearly all.
Ninety ninety...point ninety nine percent they do, is gold.
Seeing but a single, 'pin prick of light
from many miles away.
Would you see it if you could, i ask
with out those glasses on your face.
Or run away inside your head.
Death is death and life is life,
forever and one day.
They all say.....
Their is mercy in some pleading place
a very small room of grace in it/it stays.
for ignorance can even hide in Education....
And then their is the other....education,
where more than words are 'God's' involved.
Being simple,
and knowing nothing.....it evolved.

James McLain

What A Little Money Does

In the pursuit of his, 'happiness; some justice fell away, and in evil heart's he found lost art, and father sent away.
Both masks..... of love the wind..... it hid....
Experienced was this one...married ten times..knew what to say.....
While being fair and he thought was kind, 'So though the father did... and lost his daughter to some, 'rouge....a man he thought... and much latter..... did he come too really know..how some woman are...
This woman dashing..spreading charm... across many countries..tried.
..and deep in love, for money cried..knowing caring...naught..
and for his, her own 'the ground having eaten... from her flesh..her own..
now the father knew.....so he left the maids.... behind...because..
and lily flushed with this rose...he thought... to tear the two apart..
so they could stop and grow apart, 'my daughter, saw.... they did not care....
and loved by him...she loved her more....even though he, 'said.....
he went away.....until the money... for the one all went away....some say... and hence the father of the one...could be... hurt no more....by greed...
while the other never ever far away.....from him is close that he knew...
What both they did...when he found out and nothings been the same.
With all these the facts the father has, 'the daughter should... be his.

James McLain

Spring

About the light changing, 'is it different or is it spring?
Like the copper tone a baby passed, so pale in need, sun light.
By the hand held by her mother, walking 'talking bye.
Tell me, the year and write the her difference out to me,
and come sun my, days their each duration.
March at last being here, to the very soul, about it's color science knows the feel, science knows my need of which the lonely wait upon my skin, so it may spring out again.
Winters night, is mornings noon 'for summers open door.
It intercedes for us, it is less restricted, like the trees leaves
our clothing we need less.
About air quality less stale the effects of our consensual,
as it comes alive to give to her once more.
Trade winds across the waves and water seems less cold
when she finally comes I ask, infiltrate us, your help that blows us clean, 'is past and suddenly.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dear, Daughter

Dear, Daughter,

No one fully understands the message

that we weave except the spider in the web.

Some times punctuation is left out on purpose.

Some time using a word that has more than one meaning conveys the meaning in more ways than one.

People are educated differently and thus by each hand touched the head retains some of that which was conveyed for good or bad.

Success perhaps is predicated on style unique.

co mingling of the word and all you seek.

Like a bowl of home made chicken soup.

The alphabet we try to find, when we are full....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One House

Inspiration
are Woman
King
when Salomon's movement whisper
Mr.Speaker.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

In Any Language It Is What

When with your pity, my family is well.
When I leave yours with such, it is not.

.....
When shooting my family, it is good.
When I damage yours back, it is bad.

.....
.....
When you hurt my family it is, fine.
When I leave yours alone, it is not.

James McLain

Is It Really So Wicked Of Me

is it really wicked of me if i go, and;
buy a peach and it's too soft and ripe.
what if after words
it does what you thought
it would do
and then it well, just might.
and yes you know my fingers
are often more than that,
and any thing they do
and still you would have me, why.
what if i pick the next one up,
and squeeze the center
and it does
what the others did to you.
i keep running fingers them all around it,
in and out it
underneath it,
like those around me did.
and yet peachy they all remain,
as last they were
and watching yes
they laugh so hard and knew.
well,
i guess i can always wipe that kiss off your
face,
but i'm thinking if i do,
what if the rest i miss
and pass them by
and the best runs off
the ones i left behind.

James McLain

The Dream

I sleep full and it is still great the will,
fast approaching comes the dream
to pull the vast golden day
from it's memory of your remembered night....
) Air.....moving....in and out...
heavy sinking and lite above and white
as the mist of stacked spires... domes bubble up from the sound
fired in sulfurous mist...
my sea once a mighty ocean
quiescent as a yellow seal,
sleeping upon that rock,
waves watching over 'the pup...
and the emerging sun
spurting up and out from the gold over one world, smoke-pale, rising out of the red clay....(
But the day is an, up-turned face
and its sun a mind, mined hard multi faceted made from yours a diamond
shinning from space-looking down
and light comes now as water-
upon whom, shall he pour this, your dream?

James McLain

Red Tie On Blouse

they switch their red ties on blouse
On him the sweet surface, 'the smile.
Which was opened-Her frequently for him that way.
Like school with that imagination,
as for her the St. Mary Magdalene'
The uniform was attached to the body; red tie on blouse, skirt of check of white button and blue and gray-However and that was the same every day uniform, each girl the other,
because of that,
another something had attached to my body concerning the method there, so far she who is always entering to that.
Sandglass, castles.
She was old from him a year, he liked her.
She was higher than him, excessively.
She knows the 'Way he stands' in the washroom,
him she didn't and as for she her top that it jumped, her lunchtime,
french thin ones,
made her friend simultaneously lay the face between it
and dressed stern black nuns,
the poem where she permanently in residence
and swings the jumping rope how you saw he/her exposed,
the attempt to pop-measles of tune, 'which is drawn to do,
turning the rope to substituting, until it leaps,
the skirt of the check it is damp dark, the muscle,
her arms, her reds and method barely wobbles of weaving,
which makes the bead of small heart,
spotty it glitters yellow, 'Sunday it makes clear.
He added the lotion which when full closes that eye.
When every other crossing,
with that her exactly, beautiful the mind comes ballerina'
Until it continued to float on the panties of the satin
where she the way is cupped marble white, as jumped for the present on the rope which floats that she whom her who was windy drawn up draft with influence the open moving of the foot it does
and increases lands always and it is never forced,
as her the skirt is higher
and thrown to be, whether or not one feet with two;
The skirt of heaven open shinny. He where it is new,

is cunning and smiles in days remainder,
he to see never forgot and not to be that she/he jumped,
simultaneously her to look at that you look at him, is possible,
the smile when pushed goes back and forth.
Because mentally,
as for him in the one where he is close to that purpose in her soloed, excessively,
it increased her breath and she smiled.

James McLain

I Hate You I Love You Sonnet

I hated how you drank so much, I love that I don't need too.
I hated what you did to me, I loved how I did you.
I hated the way you did our kids, kids loved the way I treated them.
I hated how you used my meds, I love that I have never stopped.
I hated that you were vain, I love seeing, I no longer am.
I hated that I did your job, I love that I learned some thing new.
I hated that I forced you to get help, I love my daughter as a result.
I hate that you made me run for my life, I love the people I met.
I hate how you made me love you, I loved how I made you love me.
I hate that I had to do all the cooking, you loved what I cooked.
I hate looking in the mirror I might see you, I love looking at your new me.
I hated that we were the same size, I love and needed to gain weight
I hate that I still think about you, I love myself even more for it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Evony

Back and forth
moving,
My eyes, 'I keep between where the pink and the tan
it is dark.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Day It Met

I am that, any of her many things
and each day it meets under the moon tonight.
I shared my oneness which is her heart,
her heart my oneness, she shared.
As for her personal, 'Samson' it is, for the sake of it,
she had it, 'her, looking at his strengths indifferently.
And I wander about the sun; As for her as for me,
who looked up at her, down on me,
he was her best friend, she was not deeply and I.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Distracted

Distracted
like the breeze
i come across you
every where
from each direction
and in reflection
it is then i do
it is then i realize it is then i count
how many times that you have pulling me out pushing me in
and like this
you distracting me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Observations

One observation of the Fourth'
minus the three,
all the more most take for granted.
From the 'Scopes, point of view
the gesture of a man,
thus guarded he came to appear....
Random and its thoughts disseminated, 'consequently,
rather inconsistent, 'Good Chap', be it that,
do i see it to you..or see what i say in you?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Souls And My Body

'God' owns my soul
my soul and my body is crowned or gowned
my soul will go back
from whence it came
i am a man and as such
i make no familial demands
your jewels and precious, takes freely i wash my hands of under your face as you smile
discarded by you, i like them best snugly on you, as you, do as you do confessing i have, i have more than once drank from the gutter, water of smiles tucking that which is around that which supports it and in the end, it is uniform
cleft as the face, lips exposed without subtle is milked, being and inside my mind, my soul
can live with each path that you bend to around too your will.

James McLain

Clear Writing

Is it like this for you,
we as we raise and i will raise each face
beneath the cloud, clear writing.
When you raise each surface
under the cloud and clear writing, 'where we, 'lifted, simultaneously' as for that,
for you who are liked, remain there are we.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Honey As I Touch It

some cheerleaders
stay free
the shadow of your keeper
'careful' enters
an empty crows nest
where other girls lie to you
it drains your soul
palindromic
useless deaths
honey
as i touch it spring breaks
two legged bait
looking
empty of lumber
cut as you are
my misters
wet on her panties
sliding silver mullets
through
my sisters satin panties
my mother's brother used
plain white tissue
why
your nose
is pink girl
lips talk about it
and the pulley pulls the pulley
saying
it is coming
from that Caligula roman person.

James McLain

Within Each Whisper

languid
art thou graceful movements
leaves
eavesdropping unto thine knowing knowledge
and by knowing that you knew
within each whisper
i draw
from only you
and whispers always do.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cu Cu Tree

When the cu cu nuts
can convince a tree
camouflage
the tree
into a cu cu nut.

The rest can still
get out,
it is to late for me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Narcissist

Why reason why.

So tiny hearted human tiny so.

et: at all Exists all at et:

Universe centered universe.

So scared unwise scared so.

Expecting nothing, Nothing expects.

No surprise, sunset/sunrise, surprise...No.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Sparrow Song

At the present place brought about in this such a way, in this way and thus with that of which....
she can with his voice and her this hearing must a little,
more and growing not because; it is to simple:
where have the profits all gone away too, mentally defered.
Great strength which cannot becoming him he is not, delusional and shameful thus such wasteful which goes this the wrong way doing of naught in ignorance the sparrow which must always suffer, because someone's being of were to like the pine needles
many and that kind of that which of thy degradation of thine with respect to unnecessary things there are times when the fuel is supplied to the song which is markedly and wouldest thou grow not excited, to sing about it.
Think that the night and the day when are the sparrows, sleeping and your many times with respect to the highest...
Want' where...we are you in the seat where I stand and Mr.Speaker thine house of order to give unto thee the nest.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Only You

Only you
Your love, Your heart, Your hands
how they worry over me.
Caught up in my lap,
pray hope, never leave.
Thine are my quite eyes,
faith can follow now see.
And hands do make great,
and hands can rejoice.
But to my past lover,
comes the sea, I must be,
echoing a voice, Only 'You'.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Echo's Blast From Round The Hill

Echo's From it's Past Blast From Round The Hill;
Not even damp moss from upon the floor, unseen they come.
Forebear's hope now in reach, each lays in sleep too rich, spoils.
Two wait as dreams just recent past in toil, laid, claims that spot.
Morning hides the dawn no warning from the horn the beat, it blasts.
Those caverns seen with driving mind and teeth white tipped.
What his really she has thought too deep, they weep his need.
Rivers cut through open fields, lay now bare each breast that's full.
Each, beast from round the hill needs more to wake their need.
Men sleep on and on, each beard a mask that grows a tree.
While bags of ballast leather bound grow heavy as time unfurls.
Caves beneath the hills they fill and being full they grow always were.
One child for you and one for each and damp the moss it never knew.
The memory of trees that grow as roots run deep under ground and minds are known when deep in sleep, some see all drift away.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Things She Does

Things She Does

Some of the things.

when some,

take a little longer.

She Does Things

others,

don't take long enough.

and when she,

comes to the end of it.

absentmindedly,

she rubs it around it.

and while talking and rubbing,

she does things.

and i appreciate,

all the things she does.

and i do things for her as well.

and her things for her

it is, 'my duty is her pleasure.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

That Caligula Roman Person

That Caligula Roman

a person to own the Roman rumor dark seeps

out from your own fascination, finally that...

But to be less than time himself of the methodological wind

and change

and that habit covered body of the blood or it is more interesting and candidly it is because of his contents therein,

because the Roman hippodrome ideas of weirdness

and him whom you think, off of when coming by the forests way.

But several of the woman bodies of us indication (is tied to the brocade of the wood the woman who is included) heavy crowd, it has bubbled...

When you are brought up, when working the gate and simultaneously

very well, the donkey scene very it is beautiful,

there is our laws from a portion of those, perhaps how many,

is still a mystery and it drives us because therefore it is.

Scriveners error and the blood and strange each character of the dark aspect of those moons weighing out that madness,

reduced the price of admission which was made,

'Said' his Queen, Gothic style is style and you' If; It re-waits to that of that and one time your too near it hands reaching out.

There is a value; said' - ' my honey, because there is one time,

as love opens bitter and the ' In order to like...

But truth it seems; Caligula' He himself long standing,

reaching and vigor passing by the crowds..

which has been attached,

having known hornless elephantine horse racing sufficiently,

sufficiently a boldness,

there was forever, as a lion,

other than that Christians just juicy tidbits put forth are interesting crowds of requests but personally it was hot, simply business.

James McLain

What She Saw Moving His Sand

inside your boy friends mind
a simple set of pulleys
some few gears
and if you are kind
you will not send your girl friend
over to temp him
and such is life
'Lilies' leaves
when one wants but a 'Rose'
that shouts his name
without
was he not drawn to
the apple you held for him
was he not looking off
sideways at you
were you not as well
and the pulley
the pulley
you will learn to control
him with teach him with yours
and your ways
not of your friends
and in the end it will mean
if you wont or he can't all have lost what two
have come to know
inside your boy friends mind
each one mind to each finds.
Delicious to one and
each
to the other they then both
will always smile.
Tempting your boyfriend
just too see
what he saw
in her not..

so ' Love'
with your most moment
when lost
grateful is he at the end
with she
and was made both fates, so well
by thee.....
hearing the ocean the waves as they come
moving the sand from the shore.

James McLain

And I Under The Moon

The jug and I under the moon
and my lips around the neck of the bottle of wine,
by the moon light is it full of the flowers dew,
I pour the scarcity of each dropp and it's association against the bamboo and I watch to need the heron it's crest off i see it go by as a dragons shadow independently.
Moving off, 'Therefore before the lifting of the glass,
I invite you because of our friendship,
revalations are made as to my shadow which then makes up
the moon myself and it's our three.
Is it not known my shadow follows each movement of my body swaying as the leaves from which the rice it makes is simply.
Moon of moon shining down between shows us company
and my shadow because I am by you for wine maintained,
as to the spring flowing forth nothing is forever
and would be assisted wise are you adjusted too practice
each our lips the neck of the bottle of wine our pleasure.
As for me and as for you the moon I who am I have begun
babmboo in sleep before I go, the stand gently rising,
you dance and the shadow it moves strangely
and with you including swan song.
I' Between; Still you be looking up at the dark sky
moon smiling down and of which you are consciously, moving.
Afterwards, and you rejoice mutually; exclusively then thus do I and Each one tried where it was, we laid down our heads friend of moon, knew us drunk to go off searching for the shadow of your friend.
Passion is less this night when travelling.
Under the moon and friends are friends, permits that fact, we are.

l.p.

James McLain

Birth Of A Butterfly

Birth of a butterfly
But with him
being gently
as fair as he is to you now make air with your kiss flutter each wing
which becomes open slowly
Like with dawn
each new day
when with she,
he can then slowly....
rise up and fly
up too the clouds
and say..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Like Shadows

Like Shadows

When ever it is possible,
you order the bird to peck out your eye with the beak,
you gasp, 'you cry, you grasp, it is all there,
the sun, the resin, the wood,
so hot that it burns you permanently my each cut, each tree
the earth is deep, it bleeds.
your face is so transparent.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Goth Lips

Your Goth Lips

That is just how lips open each closing lips happy, lips that called to me and that one time my lips
touched your lips
tasting of lips deep interviewee
sweet cinnamon
pink wine
their condition where those lips lie to speak
and speaking your lips were awakening,
when the contact where the blue, black and grey lips brushing those lips
that you conformed to condition pleased me who am i thus shaken
and your lips make it happen
how too me the echo of you when your lips sigh
and lips which tremble and blink
lip too lip cheek to cheek one and time with the candlelight,
your contact echoes through lips tremble of blinking,
due to one order,
and the candlelight and the lip is shaken,
one time one day soft lips conditioned speaking,
my name and each lip which passes through you,
my lips whom echo, each lip, your lips are true.

James McLain

Lips Bright Glossy

The lips are chosen to it
and by nothing less than it's lips, 'Herself.
For the lips speak to us in a language all Her own,
a language distilled from it that which we speak
from the lips in the streets of your city.
when hidden within it as the tongue
is hidden within the lips. It is heady, too, and strong:
Bright glossy, Lips,
sounds that are full that fill the lips that always spill
of liquid before their heat.
Lips that threaten any tilting lilt
sibilance to mirrors and smoke of it should hear when lips come too near it.
It is a sassy tongue off often hidden
between cheeks the moon and trumpets,
and faces underneath lips born to silk and transparent.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lips Talk About It

Already....
you deeply know...
that I am...
when i am...lips there...
your the most complicated...
each of all my sweetheart.
Lip that purchase...
each and often..
less and more....
often...
then only...
school and studied the law....
pursuit of my that happiness your is...
lips talk about it...
other hands other lips...
things at that place...
where one becomes two..
held apart...it is lips...
and somewhere.
As for that you here...
it is already..is it not...
somewhere...
i whom love me..
whom you love occasionally...
i think better when lips love it...
lips talk about it...
more eagerly....

James McLain

Lips To Touch Your Lips

Lips to touch your lips
And my lips near
votre by your panties touches you both
And your augmented lips and augmented
Until augmented, your flow of juice began
By the center of your panties and as I drank through more
And more, by the mutual exchange
The hole was humid and While the environment to you was moist your panties developed tropical and hot Lips
Cannot they be yes, 'apart made expected by the center of your panties.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Beat Inside Her Heart

as i beat inside her heart
Me and she
and we, 'both are shy.
And, she soothes me
and speaks calmly.
Bringing me the peace
I needed at her moment of my need,
she needed it as well.

The outside,
of such beauty
but never covered thus completely.

He took off my dress.
If you looked through our window
even though it's,
and
we forgive you but;
you saw,
her take off my t-shirt
and the skirt upon me which he leaves.
His scent she smells his as well.
Never in this world thought below it, i am.
Did you also see what you saw when
slowly...he did it like thus;
removed were the panties which in 'love' is made transparent.
Her pink world fell into his psalms.
He asks about my day of the month.
She to see the star above him.
And at that time will she say and - you will under it
and good night/days silence,
you want it too the sky and more? - And was i writing,
where she is it folded or thoughts that wear it out.
He must be the rainbow mixed in she he is simple, because;
She drank of him and off too he sleeps.
Her deep love of that song
and she the oceans silence,
where I am good and will spill it because of her...it likes

and she opens it slowly
and she wants and to go out side of the silence.
The ink which both spill,
upon sheets of yellow onion skin paper
and probably she likes him better just in case of tomorrow.
He passes over and he says too her as he listens to her friend.
The ocean what of the green muscles,
which is soft and it moves it says...getting nearer
and taste of that abundant midnight sky,
which is to motion and being
high and above beating, beneath her heart,
and side by side with her pushing it gets it nearer
and when both are deep in sleep,
i see....it beating their.

James McLain

Bashfully, Shy A Moment Paused

A sparrow sings preening a white breast Hopping from each branch, as if she was another half-way in flying off too waiting.
Lily pads spread wide across are looking past
the frog from their hoods of iris yellow,
Bashfully, shy a moment it paused.
Waiting for that real defining moment.
The clouds part and down fall drops,
crystal clear and day sweeps softly past,

And the nights humid warm and shows it's piety,
Does our garden thrive? , tender soothing chick.
The nest within it preens...?
Are they yellow-green and sightly.
Does lightning flash the sun on waiting trees?
Is it a streams that laughs with private zest,
while quiet, never forced by the other thee?
The sun will smile down on grace with each
a dazzling face and be yours blue or brown
And hazel eyes the woods run off the sky mad with you and clouds like youth it rushes us by.

p.l.d.

James McLain

God Loves Every Bird

God loves that and every small bird;
Everything he shows you,
because of that soft worry.
The single sparrow falls, it is possible,
but it is not, does it not rise and fly.
The originator has it always known.
There are they whom nest in the barn
which upon they do not fly far,
do not harvest the nest and the eggs.
Breakfast from all that it gives, 'God' in those,
one woman and one man gives over with those.
And this which we have known.
Because with that word which with that method
we read entirely,
we are small and the all smaller than small each bird from him whom understands and worry for the sake of, the giving.
God loves every bird where each is small.
But be still and certain that worry submits for the child whom you follow from the sky
and from the chick of that, 'Gods' hair.

James McLain

And In It/It Dies

i only...desire the one simple fact... that i may possess your heart...
your center....
it's sun...hot burning...
on fire...
As for me....
you are the fact...
that i can with love...
you it desired....
As for me the simple fact...
that I can be happy...
hearing your song.. is desired.
when you sing it...
As for me the fact...
that i can be brought up...
by you it is burning... desired.
i desire the fact that you posses....
specifics...
and wise in your selection...
i desire the fact that you choose..
every other...
another it's road...
And for me your swan...
in your' You desired...
the simple badness of it.
As for me i didn't but...You...
it desired...
full is desire...
and in it/it dies...

James McLain

When I Touch It

i rub it right through them
and....
open windows.....

□

sleeping there as you do
after all this time
my eyes
as they did,
when first we met.
and every inch
i measure.
i treasure.
you can not feel it
as i
touch it
though it becomes even more
transparent
your nose through your panties.
the oil smells of sandalwood
when rubbed around right through them
how your nose responds
and grows
up through them
until
in sleep
i release lost moonlight through the leaves.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Winters Long As Hunger Comes

Without thine country of oneself of each island chained scattered winds no comfort brings each orphans jump
which becomes fatigued, the battered shore,
and one made one which one is crushed,
makes the heart contest with him of whom you think that one,
we would like to go off distantly, directly near i'm always.
Didn't she it left;
As for him or didn't Whether or not the way waves parted,
you it wanted,
you it grew to know what the whether it should have turned thee there; we would like to go away,
or upon the island, stand again, because.
It remains in the mixed red headed breed of which one where you go and hesitate in him/herself you become too complicated,
and it did not have the home it placed you there:
The straight, slightly slanted, standing stone,
your infinity of the granite prism locked within the circled leafy well from whence it came and eye your first glance, loneliness of the blood red circle banished him completely:
He went somewhere with that sorrow, pain to help regain him self and returned to the agony of that country, 'that indecision'
winters long as hunger comes,
and summer, falls to spring as waves crash upon the shore..

James McLain

The Girl With The Boy

The girl with the tow headed boy
and the warm days of spring leaving...June
when she comes out laughing
he's running right into... the sun
coming out of the night
and that all when we play, each day....it is bright.
She illuminates the sky.....with her fun.
It is with her to come, when he falls,
then she calls to him when he stands.
Does he come too her with much favor.
Each day loosen take hold of your dreams,
your sleep does it listen, to you.
Come to the play ground well dressed.
If you lower the ladder against on white pretty fence.
Too jump up and down one finds....pretty- penny
is useful to us, we buy candy.
But something does more when it jumps, and it goes?
The person whom you both seat...must and play become play
when your dress becomes,
all the time when you play becomes dirty.
Skies are so blue when you climb up the latter,
why each when both asked, she/he, 'said'.

James McLain

Green As For Brown

As for green as for Brown
and for whom it is brown it is turned as for the wood which is it was green and high,
as for each dropp of it full it fills of such high gray it diverges
the view which should never suffocate the four points of the wind of the inspiration which when she is captured.

With both legs upright each nail of the dash and deep simple is it green with which is beautiful each look temporary flowers every color is grand and loved by one look it goes around the lily of water which swirls and eddies.

Each mighty step from insight which is rich the birds
fly high which certainly is found because the left of dawn turning bright perching on wood as they awaken,
which is captured by the poet who pursues the snake
it is free to walk therein upon it,
the wings connected completion broad breath the land
where she goes when he it she turns, knowing it is thus, she rests therein upon and full to the base.

A butterfly yellow when in flight is sweet discerned,
because of a certain remainder of the air is thrown in the same way as him and why do you shake it thus so.

James McLain

Ignorance

Knowing that the two syllable man
almost single highhandedly destroyed this country and never pardoned any body...
on his row...
Texas...Alamo....i like Davy Crockett...
Sam Houston... and because your opinion is diagnosed with..
pulled out eye teeth....
being old my gum es, i gummed...
she did, so i could eat or starve...
would you vote for again...for spite...
under dogs...mighty mite...Books might....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Suicide Is Forever

Twenty-seven percent of high school students said they had 'thought seriously' about killing themselves during the past year. Eight percent said they had actually tried to kill themselves.

Ten percent of U.S. college students admitted serious thoughts about suicide. Seven percent had a suicide plan.

Statistics also show that kids from high-income families kill themselves as often as those from poor or middle-class families.

These acts occur during a time when the person is feeling overwhelmingly upset. A situation like a breakup, an unintended pregnancy, the death of a sibling, a fight with a parent or boyfriend or girlfriend, being harmed by abuse or rape, or being victimized in any way can cause a young person to feel desperately upset.

More than 30,000 Americans commit suicide each year, and 5,000 of these people are teenagers.

The math never lies...but suicide is forever.... should there be a penalty or law for some one whom causes a person through greed...fraud... or false allegations of sexual abuse...where the out come
is or could be..... this...? or should we hold out to the Darwinian process
of only the strong survive...?
Or that the profit of the suicide or attempt or thought thereof:
caused by greed as that above....
is only a purer form of American capitalism...
You know...you are either a winner or loser....
being caught up you must be adversarial...

.....

Teens & Preteens Ads
Suicide Prevention
Suicide Prevention Help
Suicide Prevention Groups
Army Suicide Prevention
Gay Teen Suicide Prevention

Suicide is Forever

If you are feeling suicidal right now and you want someone to talk to, call 911 in the United States. Stay on the phone with them until someone comes to you.

Always remember that there are phone numbers you can call 24 hours a day, 7 days a week from anywhere in the United States.

Every 100 minutes another teenager will commit suicide.

Suicide is the second leading cause of death among people between the ages of 14 and 25 in the United States.

The following statistics were taken from a recent survey of college and high school students by the CDC:

Twenty-seven percent of high school students said they had 'thought seriously' about killing themselves during the past year. Eight percent said they had actually tried to kill themselves.

Ten percent of U.S. college students admitted serious thoughts about suicide. Seven percent had a suicide plan.

More than 30,000 Americans commit suicide each year, and 5,000 of these people are teenagers.

Although one of every eight teenagers suffers with depression, the diagnosis is often missed, as depressive symptoms are often mistaken for the typical 'ups and downs' of teenage life. Even in societies where suicide is illegal or taboo, people still kill themselves.

Most suicides occur in the home between the hours of 3 p.m. and midnight. There are 30 to 50 times as many attempted suicides as completed suicides. Four times as many males complete suicide than females, but female teens attempt suicide twice as frequently as male teenagers.

Statistics also show that kids from high-income families kill themselves as often as those from poor or middle-class families.

For every teenage suicide, there are more than 100 unsuccessful attempts. "Copycat" suicides spread the tragedy even further.

People who talk about suicide often commit suicide. All talk about suicide should be taken seriously. People often have opposing feelings about whether or not they want to die, so there is always hope that they can change their minds if they receive professional help.

Many who attempt suicide are under the influence of drugs or alcohol. Be aware of this signal. Many attempts are impulsive acts, so be aware of the following warning signs.

If you suspect a friend is contemplating suicide, take the initiative and just ask him, 'Are you thinking about killing or harming yourself?' and 'How are you going to kill yourself?' This will often get him to talk about it. Be straight with him; get right to the subject. Tell an adult, a teacher, a guidance counselor or his parents about your concern for your friend's safety.

There is a suicide hotline phone number in almost every phone book and on the Internet. In the U.S., call the Suicide & Crisis Hotline at (800) 999-9999. The Suicide National Hotline in the U.S. is (800) 273-8255. Your friend may initially get angry with you, but it may save her life.

Some people who are suicidal are very good at hiding their emotional pain. That is why it is okay to just come out and ask if you think someone is hurting on the inside. Very often, those people are appearing cheerful and popular on the outside to mask their pain and suicidal thoughts on the inside. See the "Survivor's Story."

Your concern and intervention may be all that are needed to get the person to vent his feelings and change his mind. If someone exhibits self-destructive behavior, this is often a warning sign that he is seriously considering suicide, not just trying to get attention, as was once thought.

Remember, just because a suicidal person may get professional help and overcome her suicidal feelings, this in itself does not mean those feelings will not return, especially when she is confronted once again by the stress and the problems that caused her to consider suicide in the first place.

Often, teens think they are immortal. Remind anyone who is talking about killing himself that suicide is very permanent, and that you care if he is here with you in this world.

The numbers are disturbing to many adults, yet they only partially convey the tragedy of teen and young-adult suicide. Each and every victim leaves behind a void in the hearts of her friends and her school, and an ongoing ache in the hearts of her families and loved ones. I know; I am one of them.

Some warning signs of suicide are:

depression

anger or hostility

inability to feel pleasure

feeling hopeless

isolation or withdrawal

insomnia

sleeping too much

loss of appetite

preoccupation with death

giving things away that were once valued ending significant relationships or commitments (breaking up)

sudden uplift in mood after depression

sudden change in behavior or disruptive behavior

promiscuity (being very sexually active)

severe outbursts of temper

excessive substance use

absence from school or work

inability to carry out normal tasks of daily life

inability to laugh

Some Types of Suicidal Behaviors

About 60 percent of teen suicides are committed by a hand gun. Teen girls attempt suicide far more often than guys (about nine times more) , but guys are about four times more likely to succeed. Why is this different?

Male teens tend to use more deadly methods, like guns or hanging themselves. Girls most often attempt suicide by overdosing with medication or through some form of self-injury. Suicide deaths can occur from pills, medications and other harmful substances, especially if these substances are mixed.

Sometimes a depressed person plans an act of suicide in advance. (Often the planning of an act gives the person some feeling of control.) Most often however, suicide attempts are "impulsive acts."

These acts occur during a time when the person is feeling overwhelmingly upset. A situation like a breakup, an unintended pregnancy, the death of a sibling, a fight with a parent or boyfriend or girlfriend, being harmed by abuse or rape, or being victimized in any way can cause a young person to feel desperately upset.

"Coming out" for homosexual teens can also lead to suicide attempts if that person is no longer accepted by his family or friends.

In situations such as these, teens may fear humiliation, rejection, social isolation or another consequence they think they can't handle. Suicide attempts occur under conditions like this because in desperation and confusion, some teens see no other way out.

Risk Factors For Teenage Suicide:

Previous Attempts-Teens who attempt suicide remain vulnerable for several years, especially for the first 3 months following an attempt. These people may become very clever about hiding their true feelings. Keep in contact with them.

Personal Failure-High standards (the teen's or the parents') that are not met, even after only one setback, may set off a downward spiral ending in suicide.

Recent Loss-Death of close friends or family, divorce, or breakup with a boyfriend or girlfriend may leave a teenager so lost and alone that suicide seems the only option.

Substance Abuse-Some teens abuse drugs or alcohol to self-medicate overwhelming depression. A combination of depression, substance abuse and lowered impulse control can end in a suicide attempt. This is often a fatal combination.

Family Handguns-A gun in the house may make it easy for a troubled teen to commit suicide; children of law-enforcement officers have a much higher rate of suicide because of the accessibility of guns. If you think your son or friend is in danger of harming himself, please have someone remove that gun from the home!

Family Violence-Violence in the home teaches youths that the way to resolve conflict is through violence.

Lack of Communication-The inability to discuss angry or uncomfortable feelings within the family can lead to suicide. Anger turned inward often leads to depression.

Remember, if someone you know says, 'I want to kill myself' or 'I'm going to commit suicide,' take the statements seriously and immediately seek the help of a trusted adult, such as a teacher, nurse, parent or counselor.

Experts feel it's OK to ask a depressed teen if she is thinking about suicide. Asking this question provides assurance that somebody cares, and might give the young person the opportunity to talk about her problems. Also, take the time to learn more about depression. You might just save a life. The death of a young person is always a tragedy.

People with schizophrenia have a higher rate of suicide than the general population. Approximately 10 percent of people with schizophrenia (especially young adult males) commit suicide. Unfortunately, the prediction of suicide in people with schizophrenia can be especially difficult.

Teens with generalized anxiety disorders may also be at greater risk for suicide attempts.

Talking About Suicide—One 'Survivor's Story'

'Suicide is a subject often taboo to mention, and one that's likely to get a mixture of reactions from people. It's not something I tell most people I meet. In the past, I've overdosed four times and ended up in the hospital having my stomach pumped. I have tried the toaster and the boom box in the bath tub, it doesn't work; I don't recommend it. It's not worth getting hospitalized for a psychiatric reason. A psychiatric institution is kind of like prison, although I have never been in prison. They tell you when you can eat and where you have to be when. You have no privacy. If I wanted to shave (I am a guy) , I had to have someone with me, to make sure I wouldn't hurt myself. If I wanted to use my acne cleanser pads, the nurse had to give them to me and watch me use them because they have alcohol in them and some people would try to suck on them, just to get their 'fix' of alcohol. Shoelaces are not allowed until they think you are no longer a danger to yourself. So no shoe laces in anyone's sneakers or shoes. You have to go to group therapy, even when you don't want to. It is very regimented.

For a long time, I've lived with the comfortable 'emergency exit' trap door in my mind, marked with 'Well, if things get too bad, I can always kill myself.' At a particularly low point a couple of years ago, I fantasized daily about hanging myself. It was the final way out. The knowledge that I didn't have to put up with the daily grind and pain of my life if I didn't choose to was sort of a comfort.

I'm not going to advocate anything to you here one way or the other. I have no right to do that. Nor does anyone else have the right to give such directives to another person. I am just talking about my own experience, because maybe someone will read this who feels suicidal sometimes.

If you're feeling suicidal, and don't want to feel that way-you know that the feelings are due to the pain, isolation, healing or whatever you're going through, and you want some pointers and things to hold on to, to help to pull you out of your despair-then I suggest you go to a support group and hear what they have to say. You will realize when you are with other people who have been very depressed that you are not alone with your feelings.

As for me right now? Well, I see a shrink and am in group therapy now. I like the people in the group and their attitudes. But I'm also still here, alive, taking antidepressants, with no definite plans to kill myself at the moment. I have a partner, who is a very large part of the reason why I want to stay alive-I really don't want her to feel the pain of my death. But that doesn't mean that the emergency exit has been sealed up. I just try to live my life one day at a time, and I often find that I do get pleasure out of life, from simple things. And I am glad to still be alive.'

-Jerry, age 19-California, U.S.A.-2000-

Update from Jerry-Age 21-Sept.2002:

'I'm still here on this planet. I've got a new job that I like; I still see my shrink-without him, I think I'd be lost or dead. I am on medication, which does help me a lot (it works for me; not pushing it on anyone else) . I'm glad to be able to tell you that being a teen is so difficult at times, I was very close to death at one point, but I'm really happy to still be alive. Sure, I have my moments of 'darkness' and doubts about myself and my future, and then they pass, thanks to some unknown force. Good luck on your journey. If you are feeling really down, call a friend; just keep trying something.'

Recommending Reading

(I have read all of these, all are very good) . If you could only read one, I would chose 'No One Saw My Pain', the middle one. It's about teenage suicide.

Making Sense of Suicide: Complete Guide to Why People Kill Themselves - An in-depth look at why people kill themselves. (Kurt Cobain photo on cover)

No One Saw My Pain: Why Teens Kill Themselves - A psychiatrist specializing in depression and crisis intervention sheds light on this situation.

Why Suicide? - Answers to the most frequently asked questions from those in pain and survivors in the wake of suicide.

When Nothing Matters Anymore - A Survival Guide for Depressed Teens - by Bev Cobain

In 1994, rock star Kurt Cobain ended his struggle with depression and chemical dependency by taking his own life. His suicide stunned millions of teens around the world who identified with the music of his band, Nirvana. Bev Cobain is Kurt's cousin, and this powerful book is her way of dealing with his death-and reaching out to teens with lifesaving facts and advice. Bev defines and explains depression, describes the symptoms and emphasizes that depression is treatable. Teens learn to recognize depression, understand its effects, take better care of themselves and talk with people who care.

Hotlines:

Always remember that there are phone numbers that you can call 24 hours a day, 7 days a week from anywhere in the United States. Don't get off of the phone; stay on the line. Try to get a friend to come stay with you if you are alone!

National Suicide Prevention Lifeline Hotline Number (800 273-TALK

(800) SUICIDE (800) 784-2433

U.S. Suicide Hotline (800) 999-9999

Kids Help Phone (Canada) (800) 668-6868

Suicide Prevention - The Trevor HelpLine - (Specializing in gay and lesbian youth suicide prevention) (800) 850-8078

1-800-SUICIDE (800) 784-2433

Check out our Hotlines page for additional hotlines if you need one.

Sponsored Links

Fresenius Dietitian Jobs Join the Fresenius team today. Immediate need for Dieticians! www.fmcnacareers.com

Advanced Prostate Cancer New prostate cancer clinical trial of investigational drug candidate. www.AffirmTrial.com

Nursing Masters Degree Online Accredited Nursing Masters Degree to Fit Your Schedule. www.NorwichNursing.info/Nursing

Depression-Get Rid Of It When things quit working we start working, 900+ clinics free referral www.NeuroAssist.com

About this Author

Ken Chisholm's expertise in health care, orthopedics, surgery and nursing spans well over thirty years. He holds multiple board certifications in these areas. Ken has a passion for empowering people to be more educated and involved about their health and to become more aware and active in the health care environment.

Last updated on: 07/16/09

Written by: Ken Chisholm.....

James McLain

Beating Beneath Her Heart

Me too she both are shy.
And, she soothes me
and speaks calmly.
Bringing me the peace
I needed at her moment of my need,
she needed as well.

The outside,
of such beauty
but never covered thus completely.

He took off my dress.
If you looked through our window
you saw,
her take off my t-shirt
and the skirt upon me which he leaves.
His scent she smells his as well.
Never in this world thought below it, i am.
Did you also see what you saw when
slowly...he did it like thus;
removed were the panties which in 'love' is made transparent.
Her pink world, fell well, into his psalms.
He asks about my day of the month.
She to see the star above him.
And at that time will she say and - you will under it
and good night/days silence,
you want it too the sky and more? - And was i writing,
where she, is it folded or thoughts that wear it out.
He must be the rainbow mixed in she he is simple, because;
She drank of him and off too he sleeps.
Her deep love of that song
and she the oceans silence,
where I am good and will spill it because of her...it likes
and she opens it slowly
and she wants and to go out side of the silence.
The ink which both spill,
upon sheets of yellow onion skin paper
and probably she likes him better just in case of tomorrow.
He passes over and he says too her as he listens to her friend.

The ocean what of the green muscles,
which is soft and it moves it says...getting nearer
and taste of that abundant midnight sky,
which is to motion and being
high and above beating, beneath her heart,
and side by side with her pushing it gets it nearer
and both when in sleep, see it beating.

James McLain

From Thy House: Mr Speaker

-
-

Two was it once of i... is it all that we are, you have left?
Two stanzas a cure and healing, our singing your song.
You to you and i see! ..I always run towards, the open.
Hands counting shadows those fingers are thine in too.
May i be seen not touched, by they, my own, thus not by me and blind to the people, some one they, never can see.
Pledge thy thus, never again, allow they too harm me.

Shadowless sun creeping in..it is hot as always cool again.
Knowing a tree in the shadow that councils, is wise to us all.
Exposing only edges, leafy branches, they share our shape
Thereof thus is light, wherein reality ignites, you to them.

It is good, it is sad, directional each shadow it flows,
each tells it's all, secreted unveiled faces, 'Mr.Speaker.
And slender the waist of thine evergreen, it is scented.

James McLain

Plain White Tissue

it was only because of the way
you did it to me
keeping the main subsection always in the middle while your friends
and where you found such friends
that and that they are civil swelling each cluing over at each other never though until
and working each one independently of each other while you always
as always you could and never changing the subject
while being not distracted always bringing the conversation
to each successful conclusion
while your friends always being happy ever being ratified
at your diplomacy
running up both sides with plain white tissue
because of all the tears.

James McLain

My Mother's Brother, Leaves

He pulls my shirt up.
She pushes me back.

My bra.
I feel a sudden coolness.
Sticky warm moistness
on my breast.

I once saw a friend say,
where a man
sucked his wife's breast
so hard
he left nothing for our baby.
I think
he is sucking like your man.

The babies is still kicking.

I hear a door open.
Bra,
peeking out, startling white,
dripping,
it is blinking.

Mother.

It is time.

I am afraid
he will have milk on his lips.

'She was just milking it, ' I say,
Testing the pump.

my Mother's brother, leaves.

James McLain

Song Of Number Five

Pull me in your mercy deep the murky water, runs nearby in song of number five, the sun it sees
and for me, i see your smile.

Place it their and you it can too me it moves forever does,
and for you and you do not but have to seek nor by it permit it, but it shows as do the others,
when they look, i know and seek them not, but thus.

But to know how deep inside you can always ask
it too when by you in order to it's simple too inquire.

About that plate i put in place upon that everything that flowers blooms or even, just i'm saying.

for the second time and none could say it more and i'
you help the fact that such method loves your friend
I/you resetting me to you is found by You', a friend, or even.

To entirely in regard as for me you saw, is it desired.

Your' face beneath the cloudy sky and it is All I feel.

Normal i can be but to do as preferred to see, i was today.

To i am in speech regards; As for eve, ' You' know It needed;

To entirely, helps the fact that as for your desire.

I am close in this regard and know, no other at this time.

Would you feel the warmth of your hand held admission,
Confessing it in side.

which by everyone whom everyone who is such normal craving
does can take you place it, 'Pull it when your nearby me
and by me it does one each only, ever,

you do not have to ask to have code enforcement permit,
upon inside on which to build it.

Second time it comes and says and I' you, Help
the fact that makes the method and as your friend
when by your need why would you need to ask.

In resetting me to you is found 'said' You' To it entirely and as being does it swell as do the waves

that come on shore in such regard, then come and coming, come if as so far/for me, desired.

You' are All I' am, 'To you regard;

As for Eve You' It needed, ' Adam and it tells; To entirely,

help the fact that as for me and as such runs deep desire and desired, I am too close in such regard and showing, know, you know it would feel the warmth of your self admission

which everyone whom everyone who is in my craving place
does can it take your place and touch one smile, you know.

James McLain

Too His Intended

too his intended
her oneself
her of her other
of the purple mind
and similar plain
petticoat and yellow
garters worn
and like the dim lit thing
each is now the fire
why it burns down low
being like is that of which her 'English'
Speech is 'Queen'
she sprinkles
silver dusk, has past
and vast qualities
of it his wick
candle
her intended
which is open to the windows
pain of rain
when skies are clear and 'dear'?

James McLain

Thine I Need A Quite Majority

How it is that i like thee?
Courtly are thy manners to me.
how i liken too with thee
with it's depth and width and size.
and which my heart it can never reach,
i feeling out of the sun it's sight.
forever the ends thy to be
and of ideal paths thine grace.
liken thee of thee on the level 'loves' everyday'.
Quiet thine majority of need,
by the sun and gleam of candle.
loves liken thus too thee freely,
Quiet thine majority of need
because the men;
thus tested to obtain mine the line sweet strung heart.
liken it too thee and so purely,
because they turn oft around I/it's praise.
likened too thee with thy passion and put away
and as I' used it;
In my old sorrows, and with my childhood'
faith of friend.
likens thee with a love that seemed to glow
with mine lost saints, - thee i love
with thy breath, smiles, tears, of all my life! - and,
if God choose, me but thee i love better after mine death.

James McLain

Inside My Sisters Satin Panties

inside my sisters satin panties

My mother, the dead, blue-skinned and elegant;
to be like secrets of magic as well as science;
these were aspirations that I couldn't believe
other boys didn't hold on too.

Who would want to be the Superman
and go around hitting things,
when Jesus could create life out of words?
Some from the dead, others wore eyeliner and jewelry.
They're subtle.

Alexander was to great.

They know the secrets of life and death,
not just how to throw a lightning bolt down from the clouds.

For the queen mother, a god's softness was refined.

This wasn't queer; it was regal.

I began connecting power and prestige with the trappings of feminine gender in my already eccentric nine-year-old head.

I had never felt up a girl in the transsexual sense,
but as a kid I felt as though life would've been easier
if I were born female, or at least tossed both parts.

I had other reasons to identify power with femininity.

My father, an alcoholic,
was away on business half the time,
off in some exotic location like titty bars or Mons Venus,
filming episodes of selling life insurance policies.

He got to be like

Tarzan plunging into green jungle temples.

I wanted so badly to go with him.

Instead, I spent long stretches of time with my mother,
being raised by her, by my sister,
and by an interchangeable cast of girls and stepsisters.
Associating femininity with authority has, as a result,
always seemed natural to me.

Mom should have never been in charge, because.

One afternoon, my mother surprised me by saying,
"Guess what?"

I love her tenderly, where nothing is exciting. Even in death.

For thrills,

I used to wait until my mother
and aunt were absorbed in each other,
then I'd sneak into her bedroom and open her bottom drawer.
This is where she keeps her prosthetic breasts.
I loved to suck them and feel the fake nipples.

Just below her breasts.

It was the sixties, and she has never looked more fashionable.

I got bored reading and painting Michelangelo into pictures with gay women that really loved it Greek.
I tried to read my book but it has always been difficult for me to read inbreeding,
I rarely disobeyed my mother.
Disappointing her or worse, angering her, is a fear I carried with me for years into her manhood, an ice cube in my hairy pocket.

Starving,

I knew I'd have to wait a queen's reign before dinner was set before me at the sushi restaurant and lounge,
our usual eating place.

Wash up and get out." I did as I was told.

"Panties are there to catch the drips after you pee, or if you have to go so bad you start leaking. You will wear panties, because no one wants to see drops of pee on the front of your warts."

Once, I was waiting at school for my babysitter to pick me up, Wearing panties didn't help me that day.

My mother has also told me that women urinate just a little
when they sneeze,
particularly if they've never had a baby.
I don't know if this happens to most women,
or just to my mother.
Her odd bodily issues and stranger explanations
for mysterious phenomena

(such as the reason why black dogs in white neighborhoods bark at brown people– because dogs like garbage, and black people take the garbage away) have convinced me and that I cannot believe anything she ever told me. This may be another reason that I see something like gender as arbitrary. In my home a boy wearing panties, reality was a subjective thing.

The need to wear pink panties was not arbitrary to my mother. I had to hide the fact that I wasn't wearing any, I tried to hold this information in, but at nine years old a boy just didn't have the power too. I suppose I just wanted to see what could happen.

"I'm sorry., I forgot! I'm not used to peeing for myself! "

"So are you wearing the same dirty panties you wore all day, after you took your shower? "

"No. mother, I'm not wearing your panties."

In the rear view mirror, my mother frowned. Despite the subsequent silent flatulent treatment, I had to hide my impish grin, knowing I had trapped her and that she wouldn't make me put on her used panties. I could feel my boy parts airing out.

My mother sighed and left the room. When she returned, she threw something the color of chocolate down on my face. They landed without making a sound.

"Put these on."

I can't disassociate my mother's words from the same line that Dr. mum-a-lumster says to

"Here, put these panties on. They'll make you feel less like a boy, open there, more vulnerable."

They were my sisters satin panties,
all stretched out from her size zero hips and buttocks.

James McLain

Modest Mustache Talking Beard

It is that I am what you are.
It is that you are close to far.
Hands found me out it's nice.

Milk by the gallons.
Mouth fulls of milk!
It was in the valley of home.

Pencils twin peaks, pink erased it.
Modest mustache talking beard.

Between something warm.
But it's never cold enough.

I lay down next to your sister.
Asleep in each hand, full of Mr.
Your finger nail seen next to mine.

I wear clouds out white creamy silk.
Emily once it covered -uncovers.
I want you to think spurned- too.

James McLain

Your Breasts

my hand
remembered
your breasts
your breasts
remembered
my hand.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Deep It May Sink

And when it dies
and there is no dominant right
it left off with you.
As for those which play at the center
even lined with right and wrong,
which dies exposed using the butterfly each person
of wind and west points east which with all are one;
When being each clean and goes
and cleans around the bone, wherein the bone
if it is chosen there is a star with a thumb and a toe.
However those that fill butter dust cups full fragrant the air,
it is healthy, those passing by over the wide green gulf,
however deep it may sink.
it rises for the second time.
it rises for the third time.
Time will rise and catch her up when time it falls.
However too you my sweetheart i am lost, as for love.
And it dies and there is no dominant right.
And it dies and there is no dominant left.
As she once again, clutters the ocean with her limp wings.
Being squeezed from both sides to bye' time
and crossing the cross loves the middle.

James McLain

Eyes Dull But Happy

old pictures of those faces like yours I' see
and "fishing in the panties."
particularly the white fishnet crotchless, bald faces. there is part of me which should be more daring than that.
but is not usually only because of fear of sharks
and that you lived with for all my childhood.
to be the sliding silver mullets
and the stinky small sardines,
being spontaneous should be a part of each our nature
of body, mind and soul.
forgetting the years psychological of It for me.
it is not easy to be so open,
hairy your face, blank stares and eyes dull but happy;
to be spontaneous because of the years of the life with unexpectedness of life's night time familial suppression's and of all the alcoholism in my family.
it helps to employ this method to help it open up and the police officer to include/understand it needn't prepare so many tickets, when i speed.
a certain part of me,
probably the part which does not remember
the first memories,
can almost include/understand your deepest need;
to be a personality' in multiples.
blessings with you,
to have courage to divide the moon with me.

James McLain

I Shimmer In Posies

Yet....You are not surprised happy...in the flower,
that....the neck it does upon the frost...
and shimmer in posies perhaps...
accidentally in that...the play of power.
The assassin of the blond sun crosses.
The sun is not perturbed....it advances,
separated in order to measure from another good day,
because of 'God' himself are you...kissed...approval.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pink Shells Lay Strewn About

Setting out and Consequently by the dimness
of the moon lit sky
and the oyster bar i walk along each night
the tide low moves out
they unmoving lay in sleep deep solace that place half in and out each watered covered shell
where the drifting currants of life and it pink joints work each hinge my salty lips are put.
Hearing them in the stillness, squish squirt squishes
green water jetting high and muscles long brown beards
green onions full wet 'May', 'Red fish tailing,
The shadow grows each Snook but strong wide tides darkly, getting some rain on our process,
We' Regulating shells open Eaton discharged; before handling eroticism is the simple sweet raw meaty oyster pink shells lay strewn about the mountains and but could they ask us why they are devoured by me
and wide governs the cloudy sail,
the atmosphere is tight this nigh, t i eat your fill,
we who are not but lightly treading down the coast,
and who questions by which the rudder and this bark!

James McLain

How Deeply Can I Be

When the ocean as blue runs one off as deeply and deeply can I be.

And I have then your wants to pass the remainder of my life too far with one honest nun, shed of black.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Pale White Hand

worldly and others are sleeping
your pale white hand
window it enters
windy smiling it rustles
tree tops reddened
like a white wild cherry flower
you and I danced
all live together with
I am the white and draped
you round with my body
holding interior of an egg,
her shell I am.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Commerce My Friends

Commerce my friends; held without air,
and modern day spoils, purge against.
Such beasts to rhyme, lanced blood begot,
and effort boils from life denied each man.
From salt a cure to hide 'Latin' it's manifesto,
and at sea the bird is no longer our friend.

Commerce my friend;
I know too deep thy dredge,
and fear lies deep as sleep...
upon your oceans, shores.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Oh' Caroline

Caroline, when free a wee strong thing,
canna loved too fly upon her wings.
Lovely wee 'Oh' Caroline, weren't thou are mine,
I cheer too wear thee proud upon my bosom,
Lest thine locket jewel it bright inside will shine.

Wishfully I my look and languish thus it be fair that bonnie face O' grace to thee,
And my heart it pounds with sore it is/it's anguish,
Lest my wee is sweet my bonnie 'Caroline', na da be.

Wistful bowing leafy willows heart
and Grace, and Love, and Mercy see,
High upon i/eye constellation, shines.
To adore thee is my duty, father thy Goddess of' this soul O' mine, art thine!

PoemHunter.com

r.b.

James McLain

Endless Time

From that cold fiery each beginning.
We, none had time to chose,
and now having a choice, we grow frantic for our lost time.
Verily, we are to early to ever be late.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Nods And Winks

Dad shot himself last week
and thinking back to when we were kids, looking across at sis... she nods and winks..
thinking with me how it was..
because and smiling now...
her the trouble which is and it is caught concerning.
There being a chest which is large to my sis,
and she being promoted to be me
as always in all the schools of her school
and seeking me out too practice love.
she knew my feelings, in me as for me saying,
those which you said and her making that I touch them possible.
As for 'dad' who put my hand where as for me
and she comes to my bed, wet on her panties by mistake
is calling to the night when you, he said.
I too her did not call out to those lips under any condition.
As for my sis that' which I could not control...
So the fact that it is done; looking over at me now..Certainly.
Ours If the head 'Mummy' had of inspected them,
as for her open is the cross of the father who as for him grew jealous of his son, him whom doesn't
and that thrill seeking king woman reaching,
and likes anything thought with someone who she is with like I.
He kills me, but as for me he' You would think;
Before going away from the store and sis, he to buy her panties tried on every, everything,
because her attempt in those could it possess,
the hypocrite of our 'dad' being that type is done in me of the lunatic,
calls out to me from the grave.
Whether or not as for me my other sibling she has,
you think in my doubts, you have a mind as well.
In any case, sis is very sweet, sexy I loves her.
I that we would like it there over the coffin to be with she,
you think, hearing her laughing....But I tilt.

James McLain

Cut As You Are

if but i stay
can you not at least try them on
if i could only but see you through them
through my eyes
lips so remarkably livid alive
as like your face
when it glows
your cheeks so full and my head
how it spins
when you do what you do
when you do it
the shock from it
when i rub it
all around smaller each circle until
you have reason to cry
and weeping through them
cut as you are
it is hard to restring the rose
when i blow on your nose as i do.

James McLain

Pushing Her Heart Out

it is why i am shy.
and she kneaded me
bringing it out calmly but gentled it fully.
and he took off my dress.
she took off my tee-shirt
my cotton skirt he left on me.
he removed my transparent panties.
her pink world fell out.
he ask about the moon.
she showed him the star.
and then she said - you want something good? - and i thought she must be me to have it.
he must be a rainbow because;
she drank of him.
because him/she likes
and she wants that i open something good she asks him slowly
and perhaps if i eat something her pink nose is so pretty
his she likes it, Lilies tomorrow.
Rose moved too far away
he over hears and she telling her friends.
speaking of a soft wave moving a sea is in motion
a fullness that tastes of foam fresh off the sea
it is salty it is lovely too see his pushing her heart up closer and closer
that one kiss brings her closer this sea.

James McLain

'Fog And Soul'

'Fog and Soul'

which the wind and I hail, with you in whispers
and the change of rain spotted now, cover your day with the silk veil and when I move it, driven.
Painful as painful each kiss missed
and when love mixed the brain and the body' thereof;
The pain of my heart, as for me/my sky perhaps,
Standing me up it withstands.
I paused and the wave nodded over you. my love.
perhaps because of my life so be it/is buried shallow and moved eventually around in the constant night
and the leaves hanging over me,
rain down as you once did upon my soul.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Name..

From the cloth where the yellow flame
is whiter than the name,
my name had attached me to the body, time is time;
And it stops the hand, informs.
Do name and the name which can come mustard,
wild oaks there anywhere come.
Why calling my father, each too ask?
As for the parents then each child you telephone.
Before he/she has known, to high too reach,
because, 'Stacy' and I am me, obtained as an art work
and we would like to give unto each of those.
That wife or anyone worry why, come she does as 'Bobbie', whether or not, I my daughter lists her name, states 'Caroline'
Or as for it's new found name, which is mine.
'You like; Charles' For my son, in order Speech to grow?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Name.

From the same whiter cloth of yellow flame,
my name has worn me out.
When time it's hand then stops and tells, my name.
From anywhere but there, can come a name.
Names don't come calling and asking parents, why?
Fathers and mothers then call to each one child.
Stacy as a piece of work and art before he grew and I want to give to them as well, before I got.
Why does 'Bobbie' and her husband or anybody else care whether I name my daughter, 'Caroline' or a man name, like 'Charles' for my son, to go by?
Himself, I am and always was will, always be...
that name is know to all whom read....
some names...you always know.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Old Mill

Empty of lumber, their closing the mill,
each seam is weathered and cracked.

Heaviness comes from what is pushed in.

It takes great strength to pull it all back

But from the length of the wood that surrounds the rim, around the mill is quite.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hello:Just Stick Your Head In

The two legged bait...was young..rash..
already wounded..leaking....and blind.
The lion...very old...yellow long of tooth.
His last approach was not very....stealthy.
The lion took too the bait.
We watched the lion walk off happily satisfied,
knowing that....as long as we can never wait...
and over our next meal..we can replay this..
one over..and over..i wonder..how can some..
people be so disgustingly....sensitive...to...cats..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Of The Silence

There is your pledge
and i of you the silence.

Which one from power is cancelled and cancels
and as for me, forevermore, which it is entreated.

To you it is slower, nevermore.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Justice Can Present A Thick Wall

Yesterday was my long time before.
I being then birthed,
had memory from most your dreams.
But as for my why and when then it/is there,
before me,
like the hands breadth of sun it is so bright- upon me.
And the wall became the thorn upon your 'rose',
whispering softly, come here and listen my rose.
Slowly the rose, and ever too slowly,
between me,
and the sky always full of clouds
became your dreams.
Until that moment when lost, i touched the moon,
the rose-his trellis the 'Wall'. light shadows.
I am your son, i am back.
I am now one with the shadow
and it lights the other, i am inside.
Already the good light wraps on my door of your dream
and as before it was you with me.
Justice presents a thick wall.
Justice can cast out the shadows. Your hand recalls!
From darkness one hand brings forth civil light.
They being human masks some times my broken eyes,
which i pass through the wall, like i did once in youth!
Find my dream within your dream and dreams come true!
It is one tall order from the facts that I pulverized this darkness help it thus to break this night,
in order to break this shadow, into thousands of stars
those lights and write of the sun, your dream by the thousands and revolutions have long since your the path around the sun!

James McLain

Rain Of Abundance

Anyone that 'I wish' petitions hath of her each request and your hasty lips speak and lay within thy will.

Would thou expel it as simple surplus?

I make for thee to each and each for thee she/her shelter and be it irritated still because, when shown, it is fully and in this way each superseded an addition
and thine it now makes.

Now too loves order, one makes time to grant such order to hide my will in thine, it is large, it is wide,
and thou of you why now wilt?

With elegance and other things on the right of my will
the way only shines

and coming forth decision of fair acceptance.

The sea.

The ocean and all waters held there in from that shore,
however the rain of abundance, still thine the receipt of.

Therefore too you,

whom are abundant should add to thy will each one will
of my one

and in order to do for the many, in thy larger plan, his will.

You must not murder nor do harm and not have to have a permit of fair 'Catholic' beseechers

of non- human feelings,

excluding mine one entirely and of your womb,

and would you think not of it, when next you think it is me.

James McLain

Spring Break

Walking underneath the peer, always on my mind
by beauty queens all lined up,
in rows like ducks, and i smile, they smile back.
the sort,
that's infectious where they all seem to catch my eye,
their daddy's would grow as well i'm sure quite mad.
the front part, open as for me as for the tri- car opened
of her transparent bikini.
smiling as i see, it is fit;
the slit of their eyes as they watch us all walk by.
she is hers barely clear and love is so clever
and the oysters pearl the shell is pink as well.
the guys walking by and i snicker as their eyes are looking at the other guys pants as pants were hard and with the woman shortage which is this my center they staged premeditated, where with the growing of it, all smile.
i am sluggish and my turtle is trained to never come out
in the rain even if the sun is high today it's hot, again i laugh.
lovely ages of they,
it can literally see the uterus her beauty a thing, her musts.'
the panties over there by her you walked and every one of each a vision of 'Mary'
the virgin to many, which is, just, due to it does not own a cross.
no the toe of the camel opens there was frontage, 'wedged in her.
Girl that, you apply, adjust the time, can tilt you scrutinized,
the people who look at that it makes a fuss about nothing.
you obtained the fact that it is laughing,
as a note and trembling which it enjoys and comes having must take 2nd glance cause of all the girl hungry
of your pine needles,
and plus how would they know if you weren't, so hungry.
obtaining clean salty leaves believes my eyes and yours.
switched is the time of year when you all arrive alive the bikini is eaten,
it is huge now, still laughing you laugh and swell as well.
the only lip which you think that I would like to see,
is something which when soprano is sung,
and the public put that in notice show over 18 years old,
it has all the people with the toe of your camel, on their mind.
We all know what spring break is for, Clear water, clears the mind.

James McLain

As I Touch It

sleeping there as you do
after all this time
my eyes
as they did,
when first we met.
and every inch
i measure.
i treasure.
you can not feel it
as i
touch it
your nose through your panties.
the oil smells of sandalwood
when rubbed around right through them
how your nose responds
and grows
up through them
until
i release it.

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

And I As You Ask

every time i have died and she with whom i loved
and form hath, a misty fog which i paid,
full her dew too her lips more than once.
and her last debt where i am good, because.
and her mind cast to the heavens became mine too quickly.
she/her heart i put out completely with tears of the sky.
where her my heart as i watch is still beating.
for his love she praises in soft whispers as would the leaves
ever green barely discerned apart perceptible
from which under the light of the full moon smooth of bark glossy is polished, 'God' so as forth from head of the rivers flow down to the sea where each blade of grass is shown.
need loves mine and hast of my thirst gave me all away, hers is the throat squeezed firm and thirsty, their inside i found thee.
however and still it melts your mine too me, watching your pulse.
you and i so many and much and love is but for each time and i as you ask, you i entreat against the soft cover of dawn.
and just the fear of your love
and which one will i ask and of each of the four angels,
before i would taste such fire again.

James McLain

The Silver Maker

i am the art of silver that you gaze into and make
and i am strict.
strict and hard,
harder than the strictest,
and holding it, i am the supreme possessor
of that and behind the glass from which you gaze.
do not do it, as thus i did,
because for your will
and your wants i may have need...my preconception.
rigid is your posture and what pray tell you speak
and which you meet to greet me,
swallowed exactly as you ascribed, it is that directly,
whether love with repugnance...unassisted.
I am not just cruel and honest-the eye of the small box
where four corners you angle within too acquire.
When it is thine fifty one -forty nine majority,
i think you meditate, concerning the opposite wall.
that ink spot and pink looking on they ignore,
until you turn your back.
i looked at that and I think of that therefore
and that is my central issue and one part too long.
but she that blinks.
another surface and darkness is no time to us.
this time as for me as when at the lake, it is the front lawn.
the woman bends in me, is she, the soft talking of my range is really therein thus searched.
there are then some and as i am not politically correct,
and those that are, turn on that her candle month after month.
i meet to her and reflect that it is, i so faithfully.
she imparts too me the damage and i give her proper remuneration, to which there then is great agitation of the hand. i am important for her, i think.
she keeps coming back and going away.
normal i believe for she is a woman.
those where as my every morning
and my darkness is exchanged for her light smiling face.
with me as for her the girl, it is young but not to young and old but not to old when the old woman like the hot flashes in her only one, while every, everyday the sun rises on me.

James McLain

'Queen-Like' Dreams Escape

'God' made it sanctified,
that which is with, within the mighty flowing river
and which nothing may it,
can it, hide it thus from sunlight,
it billows closely by the burning fire,
and many are the dreams from which it awakes;
There through out, cast about is my court,
my extravagant throne living among those,
the gavel of thy grave of life before and latter,
after the mosses breath upon, it is the stone,
from which your hand and did you cast it off..
Etiquette to which and the desired is living legend
and does whithin it/mine, thine/my immature ear.
My infancy period, still within i am, i am and where it is perhaps to the blinding sun, if it is bright,
as for me i looked at your dreams at my mysterious house,
knits the flower garland beauty of the 'Queen' to learn.
It was to be friendship and love and reputation
and everyone, my monopolized ones;
Jelious be but words with out a tounge to speak them.
Hands that scattered the rose, as me, my moss I love inspect it is as I looked upon your dream with heavy stone.
As and those flowers you the breeze you sang the or fallen, through the leaf of many hues and vibrant colors, still.
It starts out full each desire our range of vision,
'Queen-like' dreams escape.
Accomplishing a thorn remains so still upon the rose,
like friendship and love, do to have never died to be.
The breeze is attached passing by each way,
me of your life which exceeds the river constant
and which I consider your each sigh independently, look at your dream my moss i inspect, it is, it is not placed with the resach of those stones.
And the sound like death it's knell of that funeral,
does it not the breeze, in proper order for they to be attracted,
to each slurp as the bees that buzz and to cry your relief and sigh through out the day, when night it comes.

James McLain

Forgiveness

Forever; comes, before it comes, our night.
Forgiveness does it change the light, our sight?
Does it not erase that all of which was ever done?
The passing years are chasing us to close, behind,
clay walls....behind my wall, where each of us, we stand.

None will say, all will lay upon the mortars moving constant.
Time left off to time it moves each dam, within the living.
Thoughts are ever runing, moving off and distant winds are turning back upon each life, it's breath your hand
when warm has blown upon it, does it feel, as you have felt.
And coming back around the wall at dusk, like night it settles.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bare-Faced

Bare-faced, I hand her the words.
Bare-faced, I give the thought to her.
The woman of the white cotton smiles,
rises and being at the edge of the pond
her upper body nude is correct,
the throat of that wrist of the moon
where sweet our damage escapes
and I confront to my lily bravely.
She and He escaped, I in stone,
made the water lavender quiet.

.....

The woman in white cotton smiles,
bare-chested rising and falling now.
Our tears running off neat and sweet.
The legs of his frog brave on the pad
of my, green lily wide.
He and I.
Even after,
over the stones the water runs off,
hushed, it is night.

James McLain

Barely Used Panties

As for 'Victoria's vanilla scented Secret'
As for 'Victoria's vanilla scented Secret'
So really it was on that girls full figured center
and how on the 'Today Show'ed, it worked;
You called that one gorgeous model tossed the panties
where they are slightly amused with her on the table!
She the clerk when the odor goes undetected,
and applies that perfume and cancels the sale, repossessed.
When just barely her odor is the new world order which then is put in place on that table is expressed!
That I buy just the panties with the hanger is good thing!
I now never buy panties for the second time,
from the table not separated...by smell.
Believing the good people, do we not believe,
in being, Conservative?
Even the middle...what are a few scattered tear drops.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Her Brain Imposes A Tax

The small-numbered buffoonery,
is why the teacher short-circuits the circus.
The happy meal it leaves before the smile.
Wheels turn,
But on which it turns your hamster' turns and dies.
Out of all the bubbles, I couldn't find you.
The yellow butter inside the pancake.
slid off the plate.
The cheese switches sides and the cracker slides and falls.
Fisher's Mattel works out your brain, without a body.
Warning: Rather than appearing,
the thing you cannot see is purpose of the mirror.
You couldn' t pour the water from your boots which exclude the portion from the heel.
It falls from the foolish wood,
hits against all the branches and misses the bushes.
Feed smart, eat less chicken, make more milk.
Doesn' Entirely there is that dog of one off my chain, you are it.
Machine' which she sews; lost from thread, falls apart.
Loops of bashful mixed fruit of complete ball.
Her antenna doesn't receive all his channels.
That belt doesn't keeps passing by all her loops.
Evolution being opposite, can entering inspect it.
His receiver is in a small state she is off the hook.
In the cord/code it is not bound with the wire, shes shocked.
When her skylight leaks a little, he tries her doctor.
During evolutions study his ancestor was in the control group.
The gate goes down,
the light/write blinks, is it's Train coming or not.
Therefore,
as for the light/write bending
and winding there is a denseness around her.
When her brain imposes a tax, he obtains rebate.
Standing in her vicinity, it can inquire about the ocean.
His beverage is from the fountain of knowledge,
but she didn't gargled.
She pulls out a sharp knife but there is no drawer.

James McLain

Like A Rash

That feeling, I seem to have it their now.
When it first came upon me.
Like a rash, spreading around it.
Scratching at it and they laugh about it.
The others all have 'said'.
Saying they 'said'.
My friends,
with or with out me, Me or sit over there.
"No."Way "out and his and" does not say if the girl
that it tries to sweet talking softly.
And it 'must' happen exactly like they 'said
just then, latter he asks, some pressure,
"just a little, this which they like and you that I like? "
You like me right?
Yes..... And you who do not have too, not yet, yet and already can she be doing it, concerning that.
Whether or not there is something there.
Where you see exactly with the surface which it has seen,
and seeing it, tells you relax,
and it is a very small world you have now obtained.
Double think from doubt the feebleness that opens inside
and spreads, which it now may.
How are the internal organs and when should it obtain them?
My friends were so many those nine months ago,
until they found out,
how I now am, not one has offered to help and they 'said'.

James McLain

From 'My' Despair

From my 'Despair' it's depths you weigh.
Even now, knowing what you know.
Did you ever not and yours 'Because'.
The advantage of it has been achieved.
And painfully by my despair and from it some were helped and that one of my one it's opposite must now be reversed
from which it was born,
like great value of the many useless deaths,
I have,
Which is now verified by what you value and my testing
of the very thing, spoken thus to you by your teachers.
They of which, whom would 'not' suffer it/it's knowingly and not to be reproduced, by he of they whom saw it thus, is so.
Do there to be, as you my hour, as yourselves would thus measure character, ethics and morals inspired by the way, it did.
Shake from the full enjoyment and knowledge
which is your consciousness, each of us whom make.
Difficult and impalpable it is struck from, to us, ourselves who are felt and thus in the hurting of thy, hid it not revealing, the weight of such despair can only anger 'God'... never defeat him.

e.d.
799

James McLain

Only Me

My hands, My heart, My love,
how they worry over me.
Caught up in my lap,
pray hope, never leave.
Thine are my quite eyes,
faith can follow now see.
And hands do make great,
and hands can rejoice.
But to my past lover,
comes the sea, I must be,
echoing a voice, Only me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Man In The Moon

Astronaut pressed out neat.
When this takes place.
Make sure you are relaxed.
Are you ready for the preparation.
Do you like having your contact extended.
Be prepared to take your time.
Are you comfortable,
Space is what you make of it.
Empty.
Clean.
Uninhabited.
Your moon must always be.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rubbing Noses With The Devil

We lie,
Rubbing buttoned noses, with the devil,
Growing horns our tongue now split, it hisses.
Kissing lips, that neither touch nor hate to touch when 'God' is light
and LOVE IS THEN INTERNAL.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Where The Throat Is Narrow

I wandered lost, dry of lip waiting to be found and thus i hid them away.
Pursued by only my green thoughts of the waves
because of my need of my need of the foamy sea.
Between the two great rocks I walked out upon
one finger of sand.
which; when released from my oceans bright valley,
my peace comes to me for I thought of the extent of gray.
I came to the ocean lastly and wildness
and that it is black my being found
and as for me the windless valley,
' You to me shouted; over the thunderous waves
Be too me a kindness, left off to recede with the tide
i ask of you come quickly recover me! '
But the tide where the throat is narrow
and thirsty moved off around me inland,
and me/you the ocean drank each wave and salt my sea,
because i was floating face down;
and it was though, as the bitter sea bitter in taste bitter the rain,
i have now become as fresh as the new morning dawn.

James McLain

Her Oneself

One shot fired my old Gold-friend
her oneself
her of her of the purple simple plain
her petticoat and yellow garters being old and like the dimly thing each now the fire it burns so low and under her world-wide incredibly such humility
such is like the thing from which few know and she sings to me [ey_to_pwul_kwu_ha_ko]
being like of that with which her 'English' which is 'King'
thus it registers a crown in the newest star each hemisphere
she sprinkles past;
and vast quantities be of it too nearly intended for her candle
her lady waits with care and then retires too early and without the fear, heavens long finger will it flicker affairs of the home and the master,
which is open to the windows pain of rain when skies are clear.

e.d.

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

Both Feel It Strongly

Venus pulled out on him,
each month he pays with her wallet.
Pulling, both feel it strongly,
and the cloud immediately near by covering the sun
which now is seen and you open it.
Her sibling had haggled the comet still!
Adjusting her long frosty tail,
the front part where he passed to close,
and mars walked largely away, slightly dazed.
"As for me, there is the sky and" the star is her sibling and such a colorful method, has his face red flying off straight through the door.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Other Girls Lie To

Even in rest
looking down the flat plain velvet peach fuzzed
stomach
past the twin peaks of my nipples
two erasers
without some yellow wooden pencil
number three lead, is too softy
down to the mound of my panties
where my nose is barely but barely
it always is never the less
thinking not too much of it
but then who ever does any more like most whom are honest they do and still sore from that which was around it last
and my nose is so sore that even
i must liberally apply
a strawberry liniment around it circular a raisin
my nose thinking i, in fashion still before against the fresh cotton pillow
it can rest
while i listen to the other girls
lie all around me.

James McLain

Palindromic

you and i, as once we were
and still across the sand the wind
like sand once contained therein
the hour glass is set free to blow again, across broken vessels, both we were yet floating still against the tide, here
this last time, i stepped into the sea
it is as if in your love
the grass it's each and every blade, seems palindromic
'dogs'
they come, one by one and once as such you were
as they to them and my master, loves the sea
i have lived only, in order to cross over to you each wave as it gently pulls me apart
and laps, against my face
like the moon which is pulled by each wave which then retreats;
and remember, you being I
my mind is as infinite as the foam at your feet
the dream which put us together
walking, talking, thinking back with more to come than once we ever did
it can never be less crowded
and me
and lovers play at the edge of the center,
in order to leave our mark,
me mark you, in your mind, which can only but continue
blowing always on, across the sand.

James McLain

It Drains Your Soul

from the inside
looking outside
from the downcast one with time
the city which with night became it never falls like dawn
but the dead, which in sleep think of the living.
and each person walking by becomes insane
and she which is unfortunate does not it fear lurking deep the sleep it comes which runs eternal turns him over on the ocean beast between her lower parts held the witch he sees and she to him with which it is, she sings
too put the hunter of the shadow which awakens
there you dwell.
feasting at the table and her breasts for him are bared beings are not devastated from the madness,
which is Immortal
where happens not to make it be your own,
and your moderator
which is the fraud which is life eternal many more
each successive generation dead which is dying,
does not know the claim that brings us back
it drains your soul, confronts the fact that it does not become.
what it was you were too them you are no more, because in death you are worth more than when you were alive.

James McLain

An Empty Crows Nest

The bloody smell of my, each after life
from yours each stained black is dead centered, feeling the wetness inside of your panties
and of each group of you
it has watched openly as it dripps
too coagulate and dry in wait.
my center
which you pull and pull and stretch out even more
and tear at, like an empty crows nest now at my heart.
The cunning thoughts, where the black thorned rose of night is scattered on your broad wide hand
while looking on at my dream of you with me
and with night more damage comes as you do
full of my blood,
and the long oak it was whom took me
and whom even now as it flows in for me
it's the possession for you is necessity and it does not do yours in order to breathe
from my wrist or, or because of thee it starts overflowing, because though broad the black purple knobbed club
wooden from which extend the nails pauses for it to die and more not to lie as once it died living, as for one day with you as it is, it was insanity
which excessively makes use of less and less time,
the way that time made more and more use of me.

James McLain

Where Is Love

again useless struggling because out of it
to his neck quick in the sand
thus as love was he caught against the moons
high pulling tide so full as each new wave
pushes him out
and where is love but from the center flows
starlike this sea and reflections her face
even as night her memory yellow a sun acute
the foam had blown the coast line, higher still and where the rock is broken off of so many but now it turns back the tide as to he thin with gloom
rises and drifts off back,
back into the sea
and as each new wave
which rises to quench off over his restlessness
her yearning has been broken forevermore.

James McLain

Shadow Of Your Keeper

That which goes through the clouds yellow lining,
shadow of your keeper
rain and more rain which is newly spotted,
concisely to the feeling which is slowly it's sensitiveness,
do not to worry over the fact,
that the movement of an ever widening circle,
and you open one eye, nurse it and worry do to enter easily,
it is not possible to be able to obtain,
an understanding when guttural primitive language,
rather than being thus deeper, the earth laid out keeps,
deeper still each new feeling do you feel as it shakes
the finger which stimulates each nerve between the curve
and to the shadow of your perpetual keeper.....
how softly it whispers,
and death being.....'Careful'.....opens slowly and enters.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Conception

Sufficiently, she of the milk
shakes her tail of her play half feeling, moves her body, to left and right inflated with no end of her every night: He that strikes off spark after spark
on the flinty shale in the hills,
where now months of her fast movement
and firmly-thus has been attached full well.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

With The Midnight

Light:

It approves; with the midnight; hearts blue of red life
where being proportionate to it's dark taught intentions
and where it is never from thus, born.

It contributes as for each; a drop, small amount that still is.
Does it not reach out to, unto in thought with your favor,
with no accident or disturbance, the support of a human person, humble/d of our obligations us/the through us, and we are not ever done; ... In order, on that hand.

Being us, for we, to do to they by us, with us/we\our intended behavior, know it is necessary, to each by they whom would intend it,
understanding it, by it, swimming thought it,
brought forth through every birth, that is thine.

And while owing, paying the debt of appreciation to those,
which are not counted/discarded never the less contributed.
That now, almost all, with out motives/less, recognize even,
while selfishness there is charity of a self completely.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Gentle Breeze

When thinking?

Is this the voice where the tongue dissolved
warm the melting snow?

Moving me excessively, concerning how flows
the word which stood and still,
as formation of each gentle breeze is mixed,
wafted apart.

Being mixed by the wood and the bush and.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Night Wind

When the night settles down it sleeps.
The night wind is warm as it settles,
sweet sport or mirthful celebration.
Hearing a noise,
weather there it is, or not.
Weather you had known me not, her well.
Where I knowest you not, hearing laughter,
and she 'said', untill then....stay free.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Over In Dawn

Clouds hang off distant every night,
the low white horizon,
each cloudy day.
The cloud whispers sensitive all evening.
Covered with the veil,
is given over in dawn.
A murmuring heart.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mustard

But therein is spread each story,
of each the tree and a bird that sings.
Where upon those that fly,
go out under any condition,
needing too be moved.
And along it's way does not have to be moved;
Unless:
And the story; rather than being younger is older,
and wiser because of it and the summer is stronger,
from it's sowing and little seeds that do not transgress,
muster a tree, that I say from you, I grew.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Roots

They spread and talk of falling leaves,
But never, move too far away;
And that talk is none the less, for their growing,
As it spreads wiser and mossy years older,
That now it means to say.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Under Age Prostitute

Cut and bleeding is my heart, center of the village, always the inn, where the girl went, sold.
The loud laughter, under, above beneath the moon
which is not under the large storied dark cloudy sky.
The center of the little hurried girl, calling softly out.
licentiously which you deal, dancing a little as it goes by.
The wood how it shakes violently.
See the girl handle her hand,
like the anvil which strikes off the center is small.
How there are small those, see visa-vis the large sky, navigation is by the stars, remember it is overcast dark and cloudy.
pink the sky, the center of the girl that is red, how it becomes fingered dirty even more by your thoughts of,
and you see it.
Slowing,
Rolling down the window, peeling mine off, muffled, distant thunder.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cheerleader

The cheerleader, i hold up to the sky
molded by my hands exposed.
She who is mine, do i shave,
and with trust is familiar, she with it, i do.
Camera our phone, square cut different beards and mustaches, laughingly.
We are making because of the feelings
are different, peacocks where the bush, we grew, knew.
To kiss a brassiere that of the push up, it rises and falls
like each sigh deep her breath, where the nipple.
Exposed has been attached to his lips,
looks through each eye at the sun' It gives; Special Sunrise'
It was sealed, afresh milky. As for cotton, satin and the silk it is, ...
Because race/lace central line a nose is maintained, quickly.
Those where, those whom did,
which were opened premarital, thus are securely.
And grasps at all, the weight of her/his which is, her opinion.
Obtained because of a little kiss, his order to hide under the rag.
When the panties, like she coughs, a liking, for the sake of it can.
The wishing of it.
The waiting of it.
The wanting of it, ' Is As for the 'O'h it is '...That is convenient! .
Wrapped inside all around,
secure and safe, not a sound, looking up, from the palm of my hand.

James McLain

Chocolate

chocolate openly sitting
next to me
even in my standing
being forward
and maybe it's the neighborhood
from which she comes
and deep rich purple
is this
chocolate
against her white cotton cloud
i can smell the feint aroma of chocolate colored cinnamon against it
she is kicking me
vanilla.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Agonizing

Because you have known;
like i look with your glance of my lost agony,
and minds, her/she the sparkling eye of it'.
The truest heart her person and each hearing
the wind moan through the trees.
Bushes camouflage the disturbance,
and still the robin sings too suffer and you do not have to imitate,
The make up each eye applied beneath her chocolate panties
and full of youth, she preens her lips glossed, assured.
And as for that which with my domesticly.
Agonizing which it can forever be,
connected to the amount of song, she sings.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

American Education

There is to an opinion, differing much it is thine,
roads many too off running each thus dividing.
American 'whom' Education 'where'
there is to each an opinion.
only one the end proves right.
and being different from deep in sleep it gains and losses
the 'center' of the eye, weeping.
thus facing the possibility of putting out the storehouse, empty.
Whereby history
and directionless of each the ceremony,
the student being deceived, without there is not.
In the youth because of reason is any political and why only 1 narrow mind-set principles expounded
none proposes, premeditated thus under studies
like that of any social is being from life being different,
later handling restricts their scope and a normal function.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Semantic Ear

But as for that pink it is unprocessed it is salty,
in the oyster the round ball.
And as for the blind man,
assuming that the semantic ear of each contact which you understand is not audible...
Value book-reading lips spreading words.
I did not kiss their under any condition.
As for this how one delicate one line a contrast which is between that of the space
and the one which is timelessly occupied.
Dual characteristic my method is always or, too which:
Likened i desire to worry; You lived, it is not;
His her; it is beautiful,
because and the other things which are fused together
are agreeable to be swallowed entirely.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Door With A Sign

She makes her foot cross,
and uncross hours spent too practice.
The fact that it undoes, she is best, to the father who she plans or, the method now of giving at looking.
Then she started making her panties under her full,
and her foot looking tucked between and easy.
Why it does, whether the south is a method better yet,
without more practice removing slow the panties
which remains tight around the pink sea shell.
Leather is rubbed door with a sign, young person fingerling.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Fair Pale Face

Advance then;
and milk it - drink from it-deeply-spread it all around your pale fair yellow face
between your lips and in your hair
right their: because I launched mountains around
you
and you seize the beds edge moved it to you in top and fashion the bottom as well
and low salted races of sweat your face
firmly of the base
which you draw it to the top so slow
it dripps
and outside another dropp
it injects through so much quickly
how it wounds
each round stone with you I share
and the blazing hot sun
as it waits within the interior of your bag
how one goes up to the top and the other to the bottom independently how for you they inflate
and at the end the avid breath less hands
drained this light, night became bone-dry.
your fair pale yellow face how it moves me
fearing i will never be the same again.

James McLain

She Is Beautiful

As she for me
now, she how permits me,
as for the side which loves
and our windows are opened, with curly black hair
where i moved her chest, the covers of the curtain
under her panties, where she is loved and her i am long and in those kisses, their the air of quiet is morning
look at the soft eye, of the milky brown around where in me to whom, she faces her vis-a-vis and me deep i am, she is as beautiful at first each glance of my eye
i love her their, her needs they are her/i\we want,
how it turns upon it desired, and i tug her each pink lip
which is loved, it then escapes, it is her need beautiful, how she it comes and how she moves as a voice for me, who am she loved, swelling passion spilling as for the green peacock of me, who fills her up and my sea, which is loved her, Entering it loves and i, who come and move aside the panties, wet with love being here, me/we us and them, who i am, loved we are loving.

James McLain

Petal Of A Flower

and now you are going green.
strong winds,
do you notice her solar clothes
and how deeply resembled
to the petal of a flower
too sunny filled with seeds?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Scent Of A Secret

even today in class she, i finally reached,
boldly with her taking first my one she/her finger,
and inserted off guard my now two.
talking soft in her panties which filled with dew
and feels her soon around those too.
while inhaling with her smell of peachy fussions
which is rubbed off around on her neck,
the scent of which I can do to love inside her mouth, and,
to slide my finger which it is shaking likely.
as my finger to my juice the mine for her
of the same rhythm moved underneath the table her foot.
she her muscles started squeezing my finger with both
each independently though why simultaneously.
her red head she who threw it became the arching shape
which shouted and slowly grew quite as tremors past.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dear Season

dear season,
like the flower of each new day
and humid hot, summer is open,
each beginning, begins as for the pressure
which extends, deep is it's feelings.
and hardly times passes by, it becomes tense.
as for my muscle as for pain and the joy.
the sensuality,
which overwhelms my feeling of feelings.
as my center spits out the back section and arches it's mouth from the ecstasy
which denies my brain.
sound of panting to pass through, it falls,
the excavation which is opened, sharply you/me is red,
because you are the sensuality
which is each nail which was painted,
falling to the range of my pink is opened thus slowly,
one' where it's feeling; permeation;
as for the range of as for the pure joy of a being behavior him who is beginning...
the soft pressure which dampens gently in contact is feeling,
the lung sucks the earth laid fast with pain and one'
that do to make within the pleasant feeling,
where it moves hardly and becomes simultaneously.
arm each muscular banana crookedness,
the internal back sectioned, bow flexed buttocks stretched over the stomach level, and it tightens hard;
because as for the tenderness of hot heat and velvet where the brain of it, got wet and those which are quality lay inside feeling the thing make the slide of qualities
she demands forever hard in the lower part,
hardness of resistance, slickness is felt with the thing,
big bang for the buck is tempting, as he re-shoulders his cross bow.

James McLain

A Cuddle

Pulling her in even closer.

She.

Wrapping his other arm around her neck
and pushed in some.

Do we stay and vacation.

Asking?

You do have me, to help out.

Kissing her forehead.

And neither complained.

Its my job to help it out.

She 'said' before he could say anything else, about it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Independently

one million times, i needed you.
one million, I tried each time.
Independently,
when love does not shout out in rescue,
hold me now,
under any condition, when it is not possible.
one million, more times i died.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Form Of That Form

When the my person snaps to the woman, he burns,
the way at the time of the yellow star,
which in the space his dew receives.
Open Is the chest below where her heart is, he gathered and bloom as the water buds, float therein.
Where by that power in 'eve' where 'adam' formed.
Tails lifted from that kiss and from her/his energy shone
with mighty pairings as art, wraps shines faintly.
Everything of the lip of kiss,
reweaves of that nerve the candy from her sweetness
which was made in order to smile, flows out life:
She to form of that form, then word flows, unspoken.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Republic Fear

articulated people
led off
wherefore thereof
into
and fed not thereof
from simple a truth.
fear i have fed you
too fear,
it is easier to control
your fear of you, your deeds of my mistrust.
teaching all the young
why are they taught
to fear,
of they, whom can trust.
hurting us, do you fear
us/why?
and thus in the hurting
i fear why you fear me.
must it always be when
you wrong me.
you fear what you know
you have not done,
and have i wrought.
and causing my pain
you despise me.
for doing it naught
the front, the back.
and they of us, whom are good and you counting on that to more or less
do what, pray tell i ask.

James McLain

Behind A Shade

behind the smoke grey ash, a shade:
i am.

i would like to stand out side,
but i musn't.
as a sparrow flys away from it's pertch, to where i am.
she, with a few of her friends.
i ask of her, wait for me, some of this
i have.

my heart like yours it beats to fast,
faster than it should.
my eyes from far away, they see
the things they shouldn't.

and once like you, a sparrow whom comes near.
without the need of speaking to your fear, fewer now like you - like me
there are and many more back from the past, when once there were.

i wait for what i know you wait for food.
still you mock and chide me.
as i crumble all i have before you here.
and is what you came to know.
is it still foretold?
i hear each lie thats told, the wind my well.
i feel the pain where none should dwell.
i smell the stink of fear,
when fear is but the beast some ride too hide their own.
dawn came and you awakened for a crum
of bread,
smiling little brother,
and long the sermon to be fed, by a shade.

James McLain

Even The Woman Inside

And he covers her over smokey completely
even the woman inside
where she who even offers up the deflowering
towering, trembling, knowing she will feel the base.
And as for her/he is by law to her permitted
and as for her damaged heart her every her and the expansion tank like a ballon inside being forever inflated in the center and even where she shouts open the nozzle open it is destroyed
it seems too her that the extent of the winged center withdrawn like a butterfly flapping too the soft under belly.
She who before is being processed more widely than the night can ever cover the sky and with his i'm gasping.
Feeling the stones pounding which tries the fact that her eye which will on the morrow be french vanella of the sky
whose thickness of her darkroom is white and it extends and expands tearing the panties where even it is not permitted, and it has hurt, caused damage to my heart.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Incest

There is my fine daughter and wet only their,
her father it is from the sister, it is each one each sibling
of it,
is right their with the brother being milked as well.
There is here and here and here aunt and uncle,
husband and wife, stay/lay where, inbetween?
Although at that present pace, we can be certain the importance of which passed inside two bodies,
And 'mom' i got too know now, 'which is which'".

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

After The Wine Is Warm

As for me, your temptation waits.
under the moon it is sometimes,
but I have known whether I to whom it is.
Even after the wine is warm.
Coming from which flask and laughing.
You do not know and became as drunk as I am
how now both we to whom as follows:
Tall order concerning we sometimes to often.
And we forget whether it is that we came at all.
Did we became so drunk, forgetful is sufficiently.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Offers Everything

She Offers Everything

As for mine/my offering and her pulling me along,
and for my softly talking, walking, here where we belong.

She is some strong woman within the wild,
my passion with her child like looks, I become.

It is possible, I simply enjoy the dream of which
she has chosen, for us each, to evolve.

And imprisoned, why I am, inside too deeply,
where I sleep.

Woman love her as this person and the center,
never covered,

and like whirlwinds she is soaked, like living rain.

Hers is the mask that we both share,

that causes others to come near, just to smell
our mingled sweat, whose salty breath is to blood.

Each sound of the surge alone we make,
sounds of rocks exposed to the elements, she takes.

And extremely with the darkest skin the eyes that mixes with the dust of each being broken eye of eye yellow drips upon her land.

Where she settles never for those she has not chosen
it is not

the insane rush but the thrill of what she beating is.

America,

all look at those and she from where they stand,
the smile runs wide and deep for miles.

Her powerful range of vision is more than tempting;

She offers up too some her most tempting heart her middle runs off everything,

but everything which she offers, offered back and is absorbed and I drink it all and she is always full.

James McLain

After Word

After word he drifted off,
head rolling side to side.
I'm sure if I spoke to him
he would be unable to form a coherent sentence
or even tell me where he was.
He was in that peaceful state,
right after a man comes home from work.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Meadow

A virgin,
whom neither is able to have.
As for her, there is a clearing
he has made.
And the meadow
in it, one is standing, waist deep, both
arms open wide.
Waiting.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Without A Mouth To Feed

and for now i am away from that
from which such grief
these are my longest of my two longest short
each brief days.
and entering the store
and she too whom
i offered up, my eyes.
and full with child,
is she, though not of mine.
her hand touched not the key
though mine touched hers.
and lovely though they are
they are
so fair and pale and milky white and full.
and being nearly though not quite
her eyes did say
i could, i whispered in her ear
but 'said' instead.
i know they are
and how your back must hurt
at times
and even though they do right
now
as i am close enough to smell
each dropp you spill,
wait until you are at home
and have your man
do what you need,
and have it done, because.
he does not know,
so can you not explain to him
how sore you are
and how warm the wash cloth

helps you.
make it through each lonley night,
without a mouth to feed.

James McLain

The Hand Familial

That hand so familial belongs to my mom, but it is caressing my bare chest, in my fake sleep.
Through the cotton brassiere it was next,
climbing each of my two small steps.
No time, too grow each, 'rose' up and out.
Next he touches the chest, which he exposes by soft words and placing that hand in the brassiere.
Then he is off and on, distant looking, my dad and whispering
and pushes my brassiere above and it covers my eyes.
Cold and warm 'My' why it betrays me, my nipples are.
No time, too them do i listen, twin pencils, standing.
Then he saw in my chest a rising and falling irregularly,
and touched it to that warm mouth, happy and full.
The next logical step, my girl friends at school, 'said';
was because of that, it will next release me.
Then on me and my brassiere, creamy.
Was imaged of 'Mary' obtained? Routine.
To be forever slow, progressive each factory modification.
It did not hurry at all, working, working, hard working.
Threat it is not, too near coercion.
Ditch diggers.
Exactly, every day after boring days, predictable routine.
Between everyday of the week, the edge of night.
Every night waiting for mom to get done.
As for all and my chance with him it can obtain just of me.
I turned twelve and then thirteen.
The routine like the thing where you eat, i left to the school,
sleeps, comes and comes and sleeps.
That attempt places that hand under my panties next,
it then came. I backed up to each next, him, it resisted.
Many times, to, finally, before the way it opened,
between my panties, I exactly didn't resist.
because of hopeful songs, birds sing orally.
As for him, I resisted over and over each time never,
but that attitude of my one and when it's changing,
did not call at all.
He ignores me, being not related from up north.
my only chance with him, I would rather.
I trusted and told him, even showed him all.

The glance which does not have me all.
The smile which does not have me all.
The smell though of peaches, he can't resist.
Thank 'God' for those reality shows,
swaping wives, back and forth asleep.
Behavior the way I didn't, there it is.
I was not loved, but was never hated
and at the house which is deeply felt,
meant that smile everything to me/mine\my.
He in me, as necessity loved my mother through me.
Therefore I stopped the fact that it resists.
For the first time and it touched that blue hand
and the thing my panties,
which it slid above and below exactly.
This happened many times.
Then one day;
I did not have with me my pajamas and the panties are on.
Therefore when he was putting in the open coin slot,
and him, moving softly around of my panties,
to my my naked skin which is touched, when i fake my sleep.
Blinding lights as the dots rush around, inside of my head.
So I wait by the phone, alone as I have been, always waiting wishing the phone would ring, like it was, when I was young.

James McLain

Control

The spiraling shellfish
alignment of the crescent
from which it turned and your control
does not spin around my world
my/me and when you sigh my love.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Being Called, I See

and here we are, all as us, we stay.
and all, each blessing of thine elegance.
and thus because each of thy to many is,
never asking why, your everything, still is.
thou voice perhaps entreats i heard whereof
and being given over to that day, each cause.
which to often need it be, you have called,
and perhaps you obtain it from heaven,
as for thy elegance in grace, through him
only through him upon the hill, et. al,
and you, your heart it can obtain each one,
you/your remainders.
and being called sweet, with sleep,
being called, I see.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

With Each Swallowing

That it has more,
it is added and as it becomes,
it is dark and it is rich extreme,
so unprocessed that smell does and I you/me breath
and the small head where the new small baby
swells it moves and it starts,
it inhales being, besides the fact that, the mother
and you it takes, before the shape which from the chest
and it exposes it is heavy and full,
it is pointing us to the eye,
as for her that it bends and that it is twisted,
to the point and the milk
growing which, wide the arc and it burst the heart,
me as for the sibling of that mouth,
and power that you shout greatly rather than
and being extreme, my younger others head, and the mother you see, still it is large rather than
and being extreme, that, the bubbles of milk you smile from the erupting which comes, the crack point, with resignation my sibling that mouth, the mother you squeeze with all that you take and with me and him of the sounds,
which is heard with each swallowing
and all of that which is swallowed later another one is drained,
he says,
drops fill, full that ever empty mouth
where all the milk
and where she is/it is white and cotton has been attached to it.

James McLain

And It Is Mixed

when you next call out to me,
about my mister, who is used:
If the head is put before the center,
it is her king.
If the center is put before the head,
it is his queen.
But my lover, did not ever feel of it,
never in me, the head and the center.
and it is mixed.
looking somewhere under the center.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Leaving The Center, I Entered.

As for me,
there is a large circle where each friend is waiting.
Being level, it becomes too the eye.
The spiral shellfish linear the whole story
winding around you, is my wheel.
As for the axle and as for that, when it comes appearing too all in the end
both the eye held out each hand it then catches
one with the sky and the palm.
When I was born and pulled from the center, helping me,
leave it, you/I entered.
I am time again from the opposite end.
Leaving the center, I entered.

.....
I lie on a great circle of friends.
Spiraling flat white spoked-wheel.

The axle comes out at both ends
It hangs on the sky, plain the eye.

I entered, I was pulled to the center.
I fell out of the other side.I entered.

James McLain

At School Today

while at school today
while he kept me swimming on the swing
reaching ever higher, higher touch the sky.
the slide went by.
and people reaching by across my seat.
which today they tear my panties.
That was not exactly small damage.
I opened those, it is wide, it is sore, they tore.
This last one first time,
as for everyone they seemed too be at school,
of my receiving end,
which can see a smile of purple which was pressed
and then reset, with color blue..
Vision can amuse the people,
but the friend whom I have and her worry, was delightful.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And Their He Lays

when you know exactly, when that how to he that paradise you open long is wide and does he,
whom can she entrust,
her look which shakes it so.
too know the contents of the patient part,
he is painfully and she is valuable,
how soon to know it and it held, high.
and each eye even with the eye of the human of aim,
thought or difference is the day when the feelings
twitch and dies is good and their he lays.
was it you he held before he died as he fought so hard
too breath between your why.
whether and furthermore laid there is that house
or a God which upon the surface of the sun
and in the light that method felt when it is done
and what kind of day of your heart and the beating thing where news that he is distant off in search of speech.
some hearts finish quickly leaving they like me.
and humanity is left reaching,
gazing/hoping for exactly that his sigh is quite so she can drink.
which she has put in place for my reading.
How you can be left conscious and/or the meeting
and to be whether it loves excessively is left best,
connections lost inside a chamber beating drops red eternal.

James McLain

You Yearned Too Learn, I Know

As for me
and as for only, my only that i can only say
is it not great, so regrettably
because of my mind
and that you must go off unsatisfactorily,
even a thousand times more or less knowing i would not, even though you now know which can i but live because of that because of the red pulsing beating that beats so irregular as for my eternity is deeply, wide.
I am not regrettable and because of my lost mind,
and but because again my forever,
have you found and it comes around again
you must go,
and as for the dust,
which does not have my body yet
lost joy returning too and drifting by a little slower than before, forever as for that i you/ you yearned too learn, i know.

James McLain

By My Murder

As for the innocence;
with which by you it' Is for long, it was so lost;
The by and meek each my possession do not do it again
when we meet again, next week.
which goes and now I mind,
my back in front of he whom wears the black to you, i turn.
With your, by my murder and hers you simply,
thought i would and as for that...
For the other little me,
whom all do not do as me as for her sisters mercy,
because of you I can't ask for mine,
You ask; when you did not of me,
and thinking back you should have what, by now can you think?
I beg pray tell for what,As for Their' that which finds my ear;
There is no desire because of how and why 'you for the'...
and where it was I am...I am no more...
their is mercy shown you....at all small; her my/me it once...
inside your moon was always full....now it's empty 'dear'.....

PoemHunter.com

.....

Innocence is lost by you and it is gone,
and now we have no soul.
memories built on lies it's better, known.
Simply by your killing, it wont make me whole
I Beg for her mercy, but she can't find my ear
There is no hope at all for you my little evil 'dear'

There is not a man on this planet at whoms feet
I will get down and ever kneel too,
I simply am not that noble of a man.
But a woman that is full of grace, would I pull the heavens from her sun.

26 February 2010

James McLain

A Certain Fire

The time as for two bodies heavens of heat
as for each thing those which hang on too.
Certain fire as for her who starts playing,
as for him;
who bothers with her as for her and him
who is troubled by her
and the way as for her who takes their clothing as for other things.
Opens the door for him who leaves her,
who enters into the bedroom and stand beneath,
before the circular fan which you see as her and him the way
between her in that head encased of that retention wherein
it exposed his foot that in her
those which kiss to the cold air her nipple with the body
and one side where you blow a note that she brings
because it stands as for fervency and her spiritual him
who's heart because of what is not done.
Ice like that mouth
which places the part him As for that contact him to her skin
which blows with that oral some her on the thing by his/her neck
which goes to her and puts that mouth which places their
another part as for the middle lower of her center of her Rachael
which is made from the tooth at that time and that slides as for each trial by oak from him who puts her lip which turns her body
to him in that her foot is where the bed that you push to her is still.
He whom is called in yearning her among a glass hand her warm mouth of the ice became weak as and extent he to that he looked and opened that mouth and one it is many the hour in the warmth which is then when placed upon it.

James McLain

She Smiles Then Stands Up

because i am
so much though i, like her
few even talk to me
about it.
my parents make good money.
and i do my very best,
i really do.
but their, in front of me.
when she leans up/up and over too speak in to her mirror
our eyes meet.
i grow week.
and i know she knows
i don't,
even know about the undergrowth.
and she smiles
lovely miles
at me.
then stands up
and does this little dance
just like a bee..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

By The Sweet Bird

By the sweet bird resting and warm the tropical beach.
From the high tree tops of our local topography.
Heaven and the earth to be our 'deeds' restricted range.
And to us off of heaven their nearby, flight white of the thing from our 'God'
which is supported in pain of the human,
trying thus yet young and coping,
Dearly too the sweet bird when it comes again
having such a sweet song,
Tired and wet, it's head under wing in sleep, it sings.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And Your Name

It is early 'Monday afternoon,
and there your left over steak
from the night before, out on the grill.
Sunday night, she ate, he slept,
'O' 'dear' oh no, not asking why again?
Don't all these roses that i kiss, rouse you up,
i won't, swell at all.
i will say it all again, goodnight and gently, pushing
you back into that small southern town.
A few last kisses around it and you're covered now?
My darling; one last graze off in the meadow green and you and please let your final dream be of a man, not quite your size, losing the whole world, but still here combing, ever combing over singing out your little secret.
it's name till the night is gone, and your name?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Making A Maniac

* The right or were you off to the left,
running off in between the nose, too see the moon.
there is no point of, for the sake of the middle* Always caught inside the gauze.
a certain kind of sweet honey thing,
or processing it's & self centralized principles
There is no point for others rights,
but there is/is there not?
There is no point for the law, it was fine back then
and it's changed midstream again to what?
* to abuse, the noninterference child *
invasion and high level of extreme conduct *
Self-control or impulsively open it up let me see the sun
and conduct and scarcity of self training.
* it is swung the swing too easily, white blue edged clouds*
Is their where your at something related to it's abuse.
Answer not, lawyer up.
As for the pauper) i bow(too history of the school works
sociopaths which counter social personality.
And stranger bedfellows P.H.D's...
There obstacles are the result it is believed,
lack of nature and nurture thing, forget not the 'Arts'..
Rather than it is in accordance with the word the person who was brought up and raised in that environment.
Physical, and developing counter too social personality stranger obstacle, there is sexual abuse large and dangerously.
Other level of significance includes, but is not limited too the lineage histrionics of mental retardation
or other personality;
stranger obstacles though harmless all have seen, Forest Gump.
The unstable infancy period which includes and their never shockingly occurrence is if ever given over or diagnosed.
Disorderliness and before of the action, of even having,
or infancy like death or divorce dots the land scape, period.

James McLain

It Exceeds Me

As for the thought of temptation
although, I got to have her,
It got wet, you push and the heat it's craving,
hang on in the edge of her yearning...
All want my passion, it exceeds me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I'M Fine Mom Or Dad

As for them those things they don't teach you;
The problem of it is, is it not.
As for them in those their feeling aren't.
You teach; as less Important.
They in order not to try the fact that it satisfies their itself necessity,
please, me don't teach me those.
They in order for a life to be no thing of value,
teach to those, i need them not, they please.
They to it is being always useless,
it is anyone and the simply, heavy load, is what you teach.
Then in order not to request some help, teach those, even less.
As as for them it is crime because of the my life sings.
which has necessity felt of those are daily taught.
To kill your teenager;
who is due to those conviction of their lives
and there is no value of life, too you and it is legal.
As for murder of a teen with the suicide of a teen each day
today', 'legal and it is acceptance' dread it's possible;
The society of this is ours to pass along, i pass away.

I'm fine

just been a little down and its not fair to burden you mom or dad.

James McLain

The Father Worries

It is the mother;
who uses her son or the daughter
because the feeling necessity
where the mother of abuse
is not filled up
her, itself feeling is satisfied.
The father,
while never perfect
can be made to go away
worried, fearful and ashamed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Sensitivity Is Strong

Those dig where;
the grave is dug in the rectum comes the fatal trunk,
from the rectum itself which it is not.
Connection of the cheerful rectum of death
and sensitivity is strong in the ejaculate,
but when it is, really you think not only of reproduction,
all causal relations based of old method.
It is a continuation of ours;
The house father long built alters and the pope institutional practice of ancient times
of the defective part.
And that he with her the toes
and looking down with eyes that shine
and becomes her scapegoat which is naturally,
historically directly is Venus of the woman.
From practice of identity to practice of characteristic
she finds in his/her joy.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Forced Gay On Strait

many years of disapproval of a thing forced between,
many moons convert to years.
many fears as for the path of the parts;
of reproduction between the man and the woman
all to be pleasant in functional and feeling, it is not possible then to simulate, - the base of the tree
of the man relaxed with her under, to feel cold,
to be blue it is white and it's thin,
it is thinner than the Venus of Mons which is, when it catches;
In the woman some parts are the same for the man.
and it is not easy to be excited, it relaxes, both are small;
The insensible sense, the majority usually takes
and it dries the insensible opening to the cave of tears;
Occasionally, it falls from the air and it rains inside in fear.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dirty Little Girl

Bleeding my heart
her center to the thing always the wind where the girl went, sold.
The loud laughter, under, above beneath the moon
which is not under the large dark cloudy sky.
The center of the girl,
wind which you steal dancing a little as it goes by.
The wood how it shakes violently.
See the girl her hand,
like the wind which steals the center is so small.
How their are small those, see visa-vies the large sky, navigation
is by the stars, remember it is overcast dark and cloudy.
'O' the sky, the center of the girl that is red, how it becomes dirty,
and you see it.
Rolling down the window, peeling mine off, a muffled mumble.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

After The Gold Rush

Therefore she spreads the lips,
and the cheek opens,
and high above the moon is full tonight.
Snakes for a tongue, she knows the way
as a tremor starts the bee begins it's buzz.
Ejaculation to the exquisite stellar shape which stars can never stop the light when men are blind.
Muting destruction of such intensity that the bouncing earth.
intensifies it even worse, she the translator, ' So inside;
Shape of [wash] which the mouth is full of.
And you come too receive your share, after the gold rush and for she who is included the head the neck of the girl/boy who jumps around the mountain and the marble where the girl exposes, it is white to burn the wood or start the fire.
And at first glance or silhouette those off reflections of the wood which does the shape of the leaf, green and vein y
where the pool was dropped and then fell to earth,
empty with the bottom of the star.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Eternal One

' I want' - her without defense
for all my life,
that which is, as for that single firm, sigh.
Lips which cannot think of that, but do.
Desire as for that which is when she 'said'
entreating last that and the time so you/ I hear recently completely forever is slowly '
With you put in the same way;
Please' Eternal one -' I want' her defenseless.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

So Simple Is Suicide

This love Is It!

I will dissolve this your depressed,
distressed behavior and in proper order to go and do and that place where it goes too this her near that:
As for this you/hers,
was my central of my, lust however of if, I of that cold, hell.
Which is where the thrusting knife can then be a rushed, story into that!
Sweet steel soft belly of your iron, your slipping ring!
You come forth from your wrapping, and leaving, speak your power;
Do to tear the organ of my breath,
and pull my blood out of the shower! strike it home I/You strike!
That driving me whom is the center of it as it trembles or,
either one receiving this, it's final kiss, goodnight.
I pull the throwing arrow of my blood, you have kissed,
just with her and my last request she by my love, best friend!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Schizophrenia

Timid and the hand of the woman, seeking him out has affected the center of the man, for the better great are his groans and repeatedly going to the woman as she undergoes his seizures.
the throws of schizophrenia as he wanders into her/his possession 'raw tuna a swimming burning soul'
'how Justus' has avoided her; now i am here? '
She is a woman of class who met the man and could raise
this question of His night of marriage, (they are going to see) (advance and affects)
This class of thought is not expressed in words but the pleasant man would think the scene to it where he compares her wish and his thing to the woman was great,
and no amount of speech ' a film open flowering too'
what so pretty a scene that also it offers that a day somewhat products of a day of the southern past.
I felt dark for no reason in a totally normal movement to her interior
my, I remembered this scene
(it is going to see) (advance and affects)
Then instead of It's extension of the hand of the woman extended a hand in the house of her holy,
My fingers affected something very hot,
Dark more deeply and that it matters where to another part,
the human bifurcation and woman and man who can discard his great luminescence, where joined bifurcation and 'Alverta' likes that What class of I' her/man was?
In the film, This human experience,
Then Returned to whiten to her face covered in silk, and interior of my she it warmed up of her moist inner deep I who she squashed `
do not think that she bloomed of each way after marriage (with each my) ? '
The hands and one extends mine and It' smoothly;
image to affect punish it as it warms up this and grace-like the tenderness; where they then came?
For example, in the spring, they suddenly appear off low the snow Behaved, shamelessly, as the black ground for example, fish-boiled Taste,
new hot water but No metaphor their own life and is provided

was the greatness that schizophrenia brought too life

James McLain

Rain..

Something which is thought
opens, once a day in her hand!
But I of the 'Sun' when it clears up sing with pain:
When the rain falls, you try, it is not,
you can make snow be 'O' so flurried!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When It Rains

But of sunny days, I sing to her of pain:
What wonders to her hand unfolds!
Attempting not, amused, when it rains!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Single Dad

some times when being a single dad.
how close,
should he let his daughters body get.
able to, as of yet, speak of any thing
as her mind runs off and develops,
hidden off limits nothing is, she tells it all.
as was he before hers and is, because of her predictor.
darting some times from room to room
buff in a hurry, we/i both one says.
when we meet face to face.
and before i open my mouth she says,
'oh' daddy, i saw you pass before my room
the other day when i was,
and i know because you washed them all.
and i like you, like me, we smell it all.
i like too know where you have been as well.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Morning

The center it is broken
and - fall leaves how it is you so easily
and you probably will regard,
call to me their methods the back section it finds [grouchily]?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dangerous Seas

Well,
but for my love,
as for your panties being most holy,
I sleep in the dangerous seas.
It is the sail of the sea
and his boat which the woman seems.
Navigating around the edge of the world,
he waits for the boat in order to return to the house she keeps white and clean in me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wet Panties

It is not the slowness
which measures those all of different speeds
which I write on you.
Do you at first glance leave on the front and back
under yellow rain down, your condition.
Like your panties and in my secret on which everything inside that includes, that it is wet in Oder,
therefore as for me,
those of which I can look at the eye of the eye excessively and that word of the page is needed the secret place
where the eye is exact and it is urgent,
it is that it is sunny good.
We do the cord/note of the poem from your heart,
or the cord/code do me excessively,
but that it is scrubbed
and my surface which is written on the whole.
Underneath,
all the underclothes wet panties and the bra both cups full conceivably hide the undergrowth, it's milk and thistle.
'Oh' daddy, come help me look,
because i think i feel their are more secrets in my panties.
Thinking this, I think that the slow cows make more milk.

James McLain

Death Of A Butterfly

But be with him
flutter upon gently
and as fair as he is now
make air with loves last kiss
and as your wings
which become loose and slowly
as each new sunny day
when with she,
he opens slowly....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wet Warm Wind

Sparks of light help too guide me the way from the darkest of shadows night
and words
are the waves on the cusp of her shore
when stars light the sand
each wet warm wind, then blows dry.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Boringly Repetitive

Some teachers don't understand that most young people are not born
with all that they need to know prison guards
then if they are lucky
if not,
perhaps
thus some teachers
find them
boringly seen one seen them all repetitive until they grow up
lost and earning nothing
waiting on the guard.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Under Age Sex

it is not very hard to understand the why of it.
though the why grows wet with it.
and being wet, your panties cling to those leaves
of reason he left off, unreasoned with.
or he the tree you squeeze until he does, smiling
your accomplishments openly, their trembling still within your why, as now blind he does.
either way remember this and being one or the other
you are too young,
though you burn, to make a well informed consensual.
other than that you are never too young to go too prison
being perfectly well and able to reason
as that of the same adult whom said you were not, what.
too stupid too use your hand instead of your head.
or use the moon to milk more than cows, whom are more less than not, making milk while standing asleep bovine that they are yet still on their feet, here as we are.
but do not tease him as is your want, wants such as that are every bit as strong as the tree inside that you feel.
and rocking back on to it, like the wave at the sea, always in motion, tension it builds as Newton predicted, and the friction gives way to energy, splenetic and seeds sprout
and grow and then lactation and your belly becomes, familial.
just own up too it, be a man, be a woman, when your panties are wet, let him know and you he, should trust as well.
because if he does and you will, you don't have to make the great big messes, they make those speeches about of it.

James McLain

Arbitration It Is Not Enough

.....arbitration it is not
by is it poetry

and life is but one big happy family of arbitrators,
it is not,
then you, i ask pray tell/you tell me what it is.
perhaps it is attrition too some point long forgotten what her child hood was.
knowing that.....i don't..
another man hung himself in Pasco county
last weekend.
being falsely accused of touching his child.
the truth came out to late better left it as it was before i'm told the dead can not
and i only thought about it every other day and,
of course i was insane.
yes,
i knew she was mentally defective due to alcohol.
it was not her,
that i was worried about it was the the attorneys,
D.C.F.saying it happens every day.
did it happen too you? or too you or too you
then shut up.
have you ever been afraid that some politically motivated person,
may send you to prison for the rest of their life.
yes, more than a few now will wish i had not jumped or shot myself.
give me those last three years that were stolen
from me and my daughter.
tell me not to be afraid, so afraid i almost can not trust another woman.
but i will.
and if you think my daughter will be better off with a person of that much standing,
standing deep inside her once i know you did. for what?
before i came you did, so what.

sleeping with my sister did not help my daughter
either,
what say you/say you to that, pray i say it naught.
i propose that the home on the gulf be given over to greed and all of the other properties as well.
i piss on them.
not having been of sound mind to accord them of such being of unSound mind you did what
because:
of that of which i 'said' she said, you said,
who said to whom once more again,
she now will say for what?
and still i tremble at the thought of seeing you.
Judge' with all due respect you can have it all.
it may take me a while to fill her head with more than air
but i'm alive.
and too the person whom could do, such a thing,
a thing that is worse than the very cut, when seen and healed.
inside our heads you see nothing but blank cotton walls.
you may 'Give' it all to her,
i will take my daughter and go live on welfare.
having nothing left too steal, we should be safe, from
the rest,
would you not think.
i did it my way, offending no one but the fish i fed
our neighbors.
You may see as far back as one millionth of a second
in time before,
before the truth you see it was and being what it was
it is i am.

is it poetry

James McLain

A' Southern Moon

You start to smile under the full moon,
but then you start too cry, out back again.
You swing there, underneath it back and forth,
under the moons face, still it's full and crying.
Your face can never be as full as it is now.
Hidden in make up, it can never be made up the way it once was, found, the way it now still is.
You cry out, wishing that you could find some help
and he would keep doing it, full the moon feels heavy.
Full the moon, you are tearing up again, numb.
You need just plain, old 'English' the leather
the kings 'English'.
Strapped.
You hear only twigs and branches in the dark.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Once I Was A Black Southern Woman

□

and as black as any southern woman
was it not the hard ships we all endured
southern wood piles
holding more than the wood
inside our souls
before even cotton had such white sunny face
they being some, one to many and yellow
always running in and out of ours.
our children even then,
being halved
forced too watch, while their momma.
on her hands and knees long pine floors
wrapped around some flag,
open in the front,
and a pale wormy flaccid being always.
momma,
always clenching her dark chocolate hands
knuckles as white snow
the south behind him
looking on and knowing their future with
him pasted firmly, into mine.
hardness always in my soul,
many were the dark bloods,
red roses, valleys filled.
pink noses once as abundant as, now
as scarce as the men, burning fields.

James McLain

Once A Black Southern Woman

and as black as any southern woman
was it not the hard ships we all endured
southern wood piles
holding more than the wood
inside our souls
before even cotton had such a white sunny face
they being some, one to many and yellow
always running in and out of ours.
our children even then,
being halved
forced too watch, while their momma.
on her hands and knees long pine floors
wrapped around some flag,
open in the front,
and a pale wormy flaccid being always.
momma,
always clenching her dark chocolate hands
knuckles as white snow
the south behind him
looking on and knowing their future with
him pasted firmly, into mine.
hardness always in my soul,
many were the dark bloods,
red roses, valleys filled.
pink noses once as abundant as rabbits
now as scarce as the creamy milk men, burning off the fields
for some southern man,
I can no longer recall, being unwilling.

James McLain

To Walk On Simply By

simply it is a very rich gift you have..
to walk on simply by..
and touch the trees and make the flowers
come alive..
yet the hand that makes them sing..
is it kissed as is your face
because beneath it all
you made the sun, rain down
and shine on them as well...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Eating Breakfast Their, At Tiffanie's

it was not the sea side nor her other fine salon
and yet about you, wrapped within it
you were windy there,
moving as you moved the way you do.
through all the trees and bushes.
because of you\your other you/your sunny hair and is it so full of it/so much so that you have to wash it all completely out, smokey is as does before you roam there off too far around it, safe in sleep.
you are solid fine and solid as you know you are constantly, adjustments making, tweaking seeking.
so it fits around your waist just a little tighter.
and when he your other watches and he becomes you,
so full and heavy with it, that you have to say,
patience is love that will be there waiting, always open.
and i the watcher, watching always watching.
i could not compare you too any of that, on the other side of that inside, like bees that buzz around you.
and she the other 'you' laughing with her merry eyes thinking what of i like them perhaps they do not i,
your smile, her's were blue and yours?
and bending over her a role reversal, i could say
and there i saw hers, what i saw, she let me see.
and even though perhaps because they were.
she is that candy cane, i think you are a woman.
did i not say to you, are you the girl, whom came to me and when the moon is full with you, inspired,
.....a lady 'loves' her Mr.....
eating breakfast their, at Tiffanie's.

James McLain

Fresh Cuts

why i write too you about poetry
and
your mother
when she says
that because
why you can't read mine.
and you hear them
muffled sobs
as they are more than that but too you
and you
try to ask her
you try to explain to her that when you hear it, them it just brings back those memories of before and sliding the knife back into the wooden holder back in to either side
and always missing fresh cuts
'dad' never had a clue
how many times, you moved just to avoid
your getting a black eye.

James McLain

Your My Southern Dream

Returning to the house she opens the door,
so widely, and still keeps pace of the rising sun
without being late to you,
and being attached, keeps as you.
You look at the squirrels of our youth.
Whom too me it is new and finds in the play,
the cheek of the hers stuffed.
Sufficiently both of them, heavy, filled with nuts
when dancing the dance on top of the tree each day.
Even so, the leaves come and dance by the top
and bottom of the tree made of wood.
While the night comes excessively, directly,
as for the new white month;
Is it sufficiently bright i ask of it permission, - Your my dream, sufficiently, i remain familial as ever..and always!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Please Forgive Me!

You open my arms, so wide
coming home, pruning as you do
the pace of the sun, keeps up with you.
I even in my new found youth
come to watch the squirrels at play
and to dance
they dance up and down the tree
heavy their cheeks full of nuts.
While night comes too quickly,
The moon white and full and bright
please forgive me-
my dreams of you, always full!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Come 'Mother'

When i Submit too your cross,
and the altar remembers me
not from you,
i took only warmth and less pity
whom for their comfort lives life
and white are the eggs and you,
before i was me
and it is going out much too quickly come 'mother' treachery is cold
and religious each symbol; waits in utero.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The After Birth

come; do you think that i will?
if ever.
and even thinking about it
the after birth.
when the cactus sheds it's thorns
and the rose smells as if it has been pulled
from else where.
and only then can you know what i went through.
i will not by your panties any
more,
nor let you gather any left the dew,
no matter how bad you feel
about it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You'Re

i am hanging on, though it was fun dare i tell them, lest they
how in the open like the sun.
the sad clown, is never changing
chasing off the happy girl,
because:
all of or none of the others
and what they may, always think of her..
putting the sun in a bottle, watching it shine.
pulling the cork out of magic.
how many times and you know you have watched my moves in slow motion
as the rose starts to open.
running the film backwards and frontwards
because now that you have it, what do you have.
who is your judge,
who comes up behind you and lifts your grace
beyond past it's curls.
when every where i look i see cups of face
and your face is hard,
harder than stone they carve out in denial.
it is only because your mentally ill that i love you.
other wise, like too the rest my 'love' a bore.

James McLain

A Cell

here in this, my darkest of the nests
a cell
contained inside the living womb
you can tell, by the smell.
often of their race,
of they whom were here before.
and the sex monotonous,
never changes.
greatcoats from a future
walking past me.
desperate to keep all your, familiars
off the ice cold,
malignant concrete floor.
the drain in the center of it,
a pipe line to every other living hell.
some, never left alone, one moon
without some prearranged
needful thing, kind on purpose.
mother, oh my mother can you hear me?
if i were again a babe to rest against,
your egg plant, purple milky teats,
would you turn me over too the state,
not once, but thrice again.
because of chocolate pie and vanilla
milk shake, skies
riding high on mountain tops
and hidden in the clouds,
here they come again, to beat and rape me,
just because i know their names.

James McLain

And If I 'said'

and if i 'said'
in my short life
i had served prison sentences totaling.
the first: three years.
the second:
three years to run consecutive to two apart from two for seven.
the third: a normal seven.
the forth: life+life+thirty and all consecutive fifty being mandatory.
ten years of probation.
two years with an ankle monitor on,
taken off eight hours early.
Remember me, Miss Lawson.
i do not remember much of the things
that you do.
being poorly kept.
would you be properly terrified of me, now.
i did not think so.
oh' well.
i wonder what high school would have been like or Jr.high before.
i used to wonder if stars were even real or not.
i can not proffer too such as that, as if it's real,
wherein an allocation to some of that knowing not
i never made,
i never knew and walking lines made of glass
just brings me back too hear.
and grief is born of freedom that's not yours,
mine i never gave away
and innocent your rights to some you know, i was.
i nearly forgot, i can not vote.
i have no rights,
if i do it's back too prison for five years.

James McLain

It's The Moon 'Dear'

why do you think...
me clever..'dear'..
are you not...so much...more so...
than i..thus..
that the sky above...must hide..
behind her veil...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When She Comes Home

and being tired, when she comes home,
gently lean into the area that's alright
i know your tired and gently squeeze.
and place only that amount of pressure on it
that she needs for you too see.
and hold it for a few seconds until i weep,
then wait until she tells you too, some release.
and gently lean in to it and squeeze again.
you can also do this in little increments;
working up and down with her/her entire life,
holding each spot for a couple of seconds.
and working calmly on the rest,
and when if ever in this life,
and are you truly ever finished with it.
for no one owns each new day
and or the fullness of each night,
but when the sun is high and warm, both can dance to it..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

An Any Thing Word

boys and girls
it is just a any thing word
she sits ten feet in front of you and you become full of her and she at the back of you looks in at you neck
and thus even more she becomes as the well
deeper thus because of the word
the word never spoken
and in front of you
speaking,
speaking of that which you hear
feeling red and buzzing and one day soon
you will only have too think of those few sweet words
as your eyes and they do
she does too you
pulling you up while the other
should never be kept down.

James McLain

By You Thus His Vampire

by you thus his vampire
and he would do things too you
things you think you want him too do
to you,
whimper things
that moan as if the wind, there is none of fast asleep
sleeping fast in breath and you he sees
and he would take each out hefting them too weigh each one each their time
like full melons the farmers wife he would inspecting them
making sure there is no yellow crust beneath gently squeezing each until blue veins run spider webs off around like a map of the world
but made of blood
aureoles rich and pink picking that one of which is not always closest to the heart
nipping the tips
until and gently like smoke and shadows
by you thus my vampire
his finger growing in each ear like snakes expanding
the tongue a soft warm tree
made up of naught but miles of scaly trunk
and the tearing through to the heart of the rose and the belly moving as if in life it never could as heavy
the lighter beast is tucked back in safe and warm inside it's cup made of white china
as the other is lifted slowly up and turned upon it's end
and slowly drained
becoming as the color ash now grey shriveling to look as if and now of what it has become another warm empty bucket
made of skin

never to know thy pleasure of it's maker, red the wine.

James McLain

Under Cover Of The 'Rain'

Under cover of the rain,
it does this too you some times
and under it we are kissing.
I let you touch my face,
which like the tidal pool has expectations.
Your song of love, this song and does each lullaby
and the rain is quite never has it slept, this silent,
swimming pools, i and you look up.
Full the swimming pool which in the night
when the ground it shimmers and makes some other song
which sleeps as music under your pink tin roof,
some times i think you are eccentric,
but the water made in France is too expensive, love.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Spring Rises Up Too Sing

and thus it is, deep in you that i am hidden,
as many were they
unlike i whom came
and went before.
sleeping in the tent
where a spring rises up too sing.
and the well of breath and words
you know they take me too.
and you lead me too swim within clear,
sweet the answers.
always and as many others are their very,
clever questions
while each and every one i have,
you know i ask of you.
and ' Woman'
you are the eagle, i am but the sparrow.
in your heart, you hide it away.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dr Rippy - Tampa General Hospital - Aged Twelve

When i was a young boy - ink stained test once with the girl and the ink was sweet he 'said';
it made us unclean this test, from the man for he was the tester;
And that picture my bat of her 'poet' who he said, is nude from scandal's shrewdly fled this country in white does it black with all the butterflies he knew colored pink and blue.
Open i flew it as useless and the color of the rich man
actually can't; it's hiding in places love we deceived him.
The boy saw these people with their political advancement of stages, i 'said' which is normal, and doctor with the boy with her nose that last time
and the fact that love always fights and bites and claws it's way, too the top, never forever restrained.
When prepubescent the boy;
and why being many you were once like this tried to think
and the boy and now the man was unwound yo-yo's and string.
and the ink went round the stain, falling back up came too life.
The most normal response given to us when it's her time
and time is to him at it's most dangerous when currant.
and in compliance with the easy artist starves
and to use fear to make it open so eagerly and does too be fed.
Doctor that seeks with her one thing only and boys too,
which loves as his own and too the boy as well.
They don't mind joined together,
and will join in and his thing spreads our undergarment,
The nurse will reveal and the ink of the scrutineer will listen,
that (thing)their his will that place negated.
Dr. Rippy while the doctor undermines our credibility and deducts from her finger when his is pointing
and before showing her/his thing,
rubbing ours together,
bored we think for his amusement, i think he respects not our past collectives.
and took off points for our quick thoughts.
Ink blot tests, bats fly and poo, eyes cry and you?
While the rest of us whom would not be deceived,
received royal attention of electroshock therapy.
I have always wondered why, they would want you to forget

all of that which never really happens, but in dreams?

Dr.Rippy practiced psychiatry on children
in Tampa Florida when I was a child.

James McLain

Good Little 'Catholics'

and 'We' all without exception
being the good little 'Catholics'
and in old age, my knees tell you all you need to know.
'Mary', her mother was a nurse and the stethoscope, 'Mary' would borrow.
some times, 'Mary',
would rip her panties on the nail
coming through the window.
and every day,
between the next to last and last
the girls their periods.
we would hear the priest and
he would say;
being of and from the 'body'
and this is the 'cup' of 'Christ'
thus must now ' you' drink from it.
our hands shaking,
pulling the stethoscope
from the cherry red, wooden wall.
and the girls would all come out
one at a time.
dabbing at the corners
of their mouths with pink napkins.
too be left in the trash can,
before exiting out the side doors.

James McLain

Washing Off The Snow

here he was;
she had him finally,
a new husband who has married a wife
whom he has found beautiful and that which she carried underneath
for him she made transparent silkinly thus so.
and it was thus that its pain increased and being wise as she had listened placed him in a condition of the constant awakening.
Its wife was
soft as the fairest of fair and when foam on top it floats
and necessary made of its sleep, but the needs of the hand he could hardly restrain until after her sleep, long nights and day.
She has served its lunch heavy pendulums back and forth independently hypnotically until the husband
Its shoulder has walked with it many long miles.
while it's shadow passed back and forth from the door.
It has often awaked their up in on towards the half of mid night,
hard its pains, beings touch with the elbow against her high, a motivating force.
Soon she has it as she planed it all;
inside of she, so many times, the sun may never rise.
It has disappeared, its seed a liquid sociocultural of once the ghost down a single wall, daily washing off the snow.

James McLain

Before They Knew You

before they knew you
i still came, did i not?
and i knew that as well.
my fear, i still feel in you when your thoughts
cross mine.
intense we are driven
too blaze and then burn,
falling from heaven
too late for some, always too early for most.
'dear' your father was yours
in your way, was he in you.
Between us this much we know.
Why do the others see sickness
and pain,
when i come late at night just too visit.
I once was you/you once were me
now i'm both, it's plain to see.
Here in your garden i sleep.

James McLain

Like Your Secret

of All of Those of which I write to you do you not look at the slowness of which it paces
back and forth under any condition.
Like your secret and my panties contain it all within above,
those are meant in order so i can see eye too eye
those and needing the word of the page
where it is just short of the eye,
is it not good.
Although we do the poem dearly cord/code too me,
Rubbed it off and my surface which is written over the whole.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And From This Night

Soft in my grave about all about me.
This place i know,
is not good as that other place.
Sweet i wish to lay before i stand,
before thee stands no more, to be,
you laid it out in splendor, perfume,
diamonds your hand my only fortune.
Do not weep I do not sleep.
Me and i a thousand fathers wish too be.
blown out back inside I am again,
like your nose, each log we burned beside the fire.
Ruby of the canary diamond eye.
I am; what you long to find become.
The sunshine of the grain which makes you lie in bed awake, before each dawn.
I once was, am i still the autumn filled with leaves upon the floor of mornings calm and damp the grass.
And from this night.
I can not even then begin,
perhaps even now
i will not be able to stand in my grave alone,
About me is that place and yours is it not.
When you wake me, did i die or not before.

James McLain

Mother 'Dear'Est

You are old now, tired and relentless
and if i said the word sex in front of you
you would explode like some may west gone south.
i am not as you then once you were,
but not by choice i went the other way.
i hear that other voice where you i guess did not, too late.
Kindness but i wish it were of all of that for you it was not,
does it not reflect upon, within the written words.
Respect them, your parents
written out of time, taken out of context, literally.
they whom are the flame the sword it's crushing blows
broken bones and blood upon the floor,
back then the pope and you did know.
That burned the souls of all you had within,
to save their lives; you could not give one up.
Adoption, because of what you did not do,
i did so he could have what you denied too me.
But that was long ago;
i was different then i knew i could not give him what he needed
even more than the out word appearance of a home.
But two then three then four and that abusive man you married with him it may have been two more.
for some one whom could never say the word sex.
The issues must be terrible, i now must save my own
and so i'm sorry i could not save my self, through you.

James McLain

Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder)

Is It Perhaps

Going not;
into that goodnight; while not being afraid of the dark
because perhaps it is.
Like; the clock chime it's sound, each the hour
as knives and daggers slice through my brain.
Again and again.
I look in the mirror and see,
what you see, a reasonably decent looking man
of that many years, would you know.
Am I a coward now.
Here, look behind my eyes, look here, go ahead.
Picture 'Bruce Jenner' running around the track
with no legs.
Picture the woman with no breasts too feed her kids.
Picture the man with no club, to leave his children too.
Picture 'Picasso' with no eyes,
Stevie Wonder with no keys, Martin Luther king,
without a dream
and I am where I never should have ever come.
I know you mean well, you just can not compare it too a midsummer night dream,
nor force the acorn to grow into the mighty oak tree
it will become not overnight,
because you need the wood right now,

Some because of this may never grow at all.
Being born again, over and over with pre knowledge that you have to watch your self,
die each time more uselessly than the time before
over and over again.
Do not mistaken this for depression, because it's not.
Maybe this is why you think some children are born without a conscious.
What did they see too you, what did you do too them.
Beings; being what they are and what are you.
Am I afraid, are you?
Imagine you need to be well enough to ask for help.
now Imagine you are that child whom has no voice.

Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder, PTSD, is an anxiety disorder that can develop after exposure to a terrifying event or ordeal in which grave physical harm occurred or was threatened. Traumatic events that may trigger PTSD include violent personal assaults, natural or human-caused disasters, accidents, or military combat.

People with PTSD have persistent frightening thoughts and memories of their ordeal and feel emotionally numb, especially with people they were once close to. They may experience sleep problems, feel detached or numb, or be easily startled.

and think of death over medication that kills the mind, though this part they must lie about or have done to them, perhaps some thing worse like jail, Americas answer to mental health.

James McLain

Debts

While I thought before that I could your debts of past love, I forgave-Once or twice and love, your heart
as if it were mine - too know.

Adverice it's - no longer can I bear
even the flame is - as if it ever was.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Roses And Thorns

from
the middle
how it oozes
dark rich blood
it runs from red puffy lips
how they shine
raisins dried in the sun
lolly pops
are not always blue and pink
not as red as her sweet wine
sucking noises
soft whimpers and quite cries yellow hearts that stained how they cry
they both/know that
but it is
with salted palms
hers a very small hued rustic mask
that hides it all roses and a thorn
cause it to bleed
'roses'—only 'lily' knew
he expanded you
you washed it off
my finger moves her back against the wall
and when I'm done
she can see how she became
the beautiful woman
that she is.

James McLain

Even One Toe As I Gently

□

Even one toe as i gently;
and we turn on it with trust.
each inside our hands
and around it you so firmly and you squeeze.
when in your good/\night time, how it blooms.
inside your room, the sun it's blessing it is bright.
as is your face,
beneath white cotton is revealed, i kiss lips unveiled.
'O' release i see the flutter of sweet wings.
white the pearls around your neck and pink your slip,
and lass i hear them each and when you sigh,
high between the cliffs, like the wind,
as it's blowing through those trees.
so hello' lass and turn around it
looking out your window, over there at all the snow.

James McLain

My Enigma

私 の エ ニ グ マ 私
が 考 え た よ
に 私 が い つ 中 見
る 私 を あ な た を
通 っ て 見 る こ と
を 見 る か 考 え て
い る 私 は で あ る
も の 私 に 尋 ね 。
そ し て 始 め の 、
そ れ が 問 題 の ポ
イ ン ト だ っ た か
い か に 思 考 、 私
の 分 割 さ れ て い
な い 受 け 取 ら な か っ た こ と 私 が
に 試 み た と 同 時
に 注 意 お よ び 、
お よ び 私 は し 、
理 解 す る 。 そ
簡 潔 に 、 あ な た
が 付 い て い る エ
ニ グ マ の 缶 と し て 説 明 で 、
を し て は い け な い 。 つ の エ ニ グ マ が
自 体 同 様 で は な
い こ と を 余 り に
知 れ ば 彼 ら は 端 に 会
た め に 離 れ て 螺
線 形 に な っ て い
る 間 一 緒 に こ れ
お よ び そ れ 育 つ
の を 助 け る 理 解 し よ
と し て い る 。 複
雑 化 の 装 置 の た
め に 簡 単 な 詐 欺

お よ び 詐 欺 は あ
る 、 私 の 大 将 の
た め の 簡 単 な 問
題 は あ り 、 考 案
さ れ る 私 達 は 戦
争 に 彼 ら を 考 え
た そ 多 数 が の 知 っ て
い た あ っ た よ
に 、 な か っ た 。
つ の エ ニ グ マ は
、 決 し て 敗 北 を 味 わ
べ き で あ る 端 か
ら 端 ま で 置 か な か っ た こ と 。

.....
...

My enigma I thought, in thing me where am I whom you think whether you look at that passing by you, you look at me whom I see when in, asking. Whether and, that of beginning was the point of problem or, that in thing I who thought, me am not divided and do not receive tried note and, and I do simultaneously, understand. The [so] briefly, as a can of the enigma where you have been attached in explanation, you do not have to do. If the enigma itself knows that it is not similar excessively, they to the edge leaving because of meeting, becoming the spiral shellfish while linear, together this and that help the fact that you are brought up, you understand and with you have done. There is a simple fraud and a fraud because of the device of complication, the simple problem for my leader it was, as for us who are devised the [so] large number which thought of them in war had known, it was, it was not. The enigma, never defeat, from the edge which the taste should and is you did not put to the edge.

James McLain

'Oh Daddy'

'Oh daddy' with your pink of fingers
from which one today,
from whoms utters did you bring it?
Thy milk 'oh' it runs by each sunny face i moved around the lips each cup i fast embraced them too.
Milk-thus to me daddy, milk it to me now!
And their i look on, at it transfixed,
thy clear glass crystal bells as they swing so full with it with the foam off it rich too sweet and daisy absorbed it so much to quickly
each dropp that dripps right off of it,
Lass swallow it all, sop your bread around the basin,
you canna have it more unless you have eaton all your mutton.
'Oh Daddy'
i know it is, but can i milk it off completely.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'I' A Feather

and the undergrowth is all but only if your still
'i' a feather'
moving slowly up and down.
why does your nose want too move all on it's own
when 'i' a feather'
barely touch it and you sneeze.
through the silk, i see your face
and your breath it opens up
as 'i' a feather'
once again
but only if your quite, i am still.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Can'T See Their Faces

i can't see their faces
when i sleep like i once could all i see are bars and steel bricks and blood
anger misplaced rage.
parents whom are ill
and uninformed and always will having babies
feeding chain gangs
the past of Florida leads to change.
Whom is more ashamed of they but some they never will.
taking children
that have been bad
they weren't born that way
and you thinking
do you really think they think like you.
or do you say what you are told
to say too keep your job.
i can't see their faces
when i sleep like them, do you?

James McLain

Moon And Tree

heavy moon balances
high above
the shadow of a lone dark tree
moon sees
the tree feels the wind
upon it's boughs
leaves that brush the past from moons full face that settle
at the base of trees
brown trunk.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Very, Very First..'Emo'..Serial Killer

The mirror and I am sadly;
has long since told me all it knew.
The weeping between two truths.
How long my parents knew,
is again another story.
Ambiguous genitalia,
and how my feelings now, are for you.
I am not just a simple cut above the rest.
Nor some fancy hunter of the head, brought to you in conjunction with the help of N.P.R. or P.B.S.
I am able now to transfer all of my parents rage
into long deep strokes to some one else.
Thinking back to that very first red day, I bathed.
After I found out, they were the second to know.
Males are so much easier.
Closing their eyes, what could they be thinking.
Like a roller coaster goes up and down
a few good times and then right before.
So quick now and efficient am I.
Snip and cut and the skin pulls off.
Bags of fatty yellow marbles, I now collect.
Heavier and heavier does the bag now grow.
Subconsciously how each female and those groans,
lost now forever deep to sweet, each bloody sleep.
Tail bone to bottom button.
Episiotomies become easier and easier and as with practice even the toughest sails are rent.
Smiles how they grow and grow.
Ambiguous genitalia, I should have been told.
How one hand holds the bag and all thats between while the other turns a long white skeleton key.

James McLain

Debt's

When I look at your eyes again here once more,
I have known those glances and they go with rank,
returning us to the glory of that shore,
using the low shadow of the blood ruby through the moon.
Does it loosen your hair and leafy shadow kisses?
Does it return the wood of the oak back too the shed
near the spring which kisses the head
and which brings comfort too your knee;
And still another place we who shine have remembered - Debt's.
Because the woman who turns my eye from your face,
cannot attach it to her body in the sleep of the night,
and we learn too calm the day.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Smiles Then Stands

she smiles then stands up
because i am
though i like her
few even talk to me
about it
my parents make good money
and i do my best
i really do
but their, in front of me
when she leans up and over too speak to her mirror
our eyes meet
i grow week
and i know she knows
i don't even know the undergrowth
and she smiles
at me
then stands up
and does this little dance
just like a bee..

James McLain

'Ken' For Got, Barbies 'Hot'

And when you come to me;
it has bent you too your will touched and the fact
it is conquered, maybe not?
Must the conquest of my person make my/yours?
Learn my life as for the child in trouble works out math and English perhaps learning well or silence
of the lamb that is watching, waiting how;
which employee is the teacher\teaching not.
I never ask the book from which my knowledge came!
Every word and bug or dot, have you now.
Sweetheart your/I of he your she, refuse until you've got!
Or if you think that you will get married with the one like me
from heaven, which he sent, I will disappoint you, not.
As for you are but the doll that 'Ken' for got.
Barbies 'hot'
Whom should wear the clothes and, me if I refuses, deceived you not!
Or if you think that you find through him without me, think again for you will not a single grain of simple Grey so gain, not from he.
Education is his key, a larger joy inside of thee.
Do you feel the rose begin to swell and open closing doors?
Creative is the thing you clamor for and the craving,
which when full adds even more.
You/i and just for the caressing of it which you 'said'
you like just because of joy of soft muscles skin you feel the pliant heavens that my body, always lent.
Oh shame and sympathy and 'O' thou humiliation.
The hand of the woman whom our times take from sleep and awake all night right through, because of you, is it not?
But if me you ask me,
the husband of your passion and each joy and sorrow knows,
and of the thing perhaps a sweeter word or two sweetheart and I work, too live, and I am.
your permanently and as for our equal love
until the joy falls and order mine to cross the center of a star.
We who are made just to transfer from one hand, too the other and The center made for 'God' your reaching out.

James McLain

Each Boy And Girl

see the bird
each boy and girl
before they learn to fly
then liken wings
to arms and legs
and every thing has eyes
but when a wing
is bent or torn
and feathers know no sky
did i hear you kneel
to them
and say it is alright.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My First Lady Doctor

i thought she would be old
but she wasn't
she was neat and very attractive,
smart and near my age
she did not rush me
like some other may have done
now i know how you must feel before the start of each new dawn
with my pants around my ankles
it was her voice
that calmed me down
i had never had it done before apprehensive and i was then she was in
and i felt her push on some thing
out came milk
because it was my first time
she took her time
i think she has fun with this part of her job
because, i ask her if i was
you know
and she said no
she said
it was a simple normal reaction to my being probed.
she said, if she could get a picture of how
i looked we could both be rich.

James McLain

Be Hot And Full

i know
i know that your that way
why would i tell what would i say
why would i say it after all you have been through lesbian knowing i am a man
though i'm not gay
i can do for you
what she did
before she left you except before we do
the things you do
i must know you can as once you did
and the entrance we will lock so no one will
working through what some one did does not mean
you can't be hot and full again.

James McLain

I Think Of You

when i think of you
we met as others seem to do and moving ever slowly up to holding hands
you know i do
and after sleeping the night through right next to you
i'm always up
too see the crack of dawn
your always their to see me through the sun of each new day
and when i touch the silky scarf
i am brand new.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Do Not Be Angry

do not be angry
nor grow pretentious
it is only your/my toe
and when it's full
i know your need
too keep it clean
and trim
and neat i do for you
and when it's time
you let me know
and as adults
we see eye to eye
we always could.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Too You

and but too you i just can not
you are to full of happiness
golden drops each thought of you and only you can make me feel the way i should
it has been a while for me
it may not work the way you would
and i am afraid to let you down
and it was you whom held me up
do you think of all the men and do you think of them that way
do you think of me at all because with simple words you know i can.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Freed Her Lips

'oh daddy' just don't hurry;
wash it off 'oh look dad'
and pig kinky 'pink flying piggy
your finger, arcs the sky'
as one finger moves it back against,
i see my back against the wall
and a beautiful woman or the hand of the nymph
her water- where it swims pushing hard against her heart
up closer, full and wide between and freed her lips
they milk the sky
feathered out and made of glass
crystals of the light i see and after i smell it
i taste it
a caged bird
she made of me and inbetween it my/why love i lay you now in sleep so sweet green hay and soft hay
it is sweeter than the moon inside her gown
she is the ocean deep in silence let it sleep;
is it in her poetry
sexy momma, each azimuth
can you see the air i taste the air or smell the air or not.

James McLain

House Of Dreams

money was the house of dreams
glass so 'dear' it built.
it paid in fines and tears
can my daughter block the sun
with all the words
then full were you.
how do you grow and spend her time
with no sky to gaze upon does she hear the wind, at night before
it comes
too dress the morning sky, in all it's light
and wood lies upon the forest floor
too much too find and lacking more know her mind a ticking clock like mine
a way through time,
don't use the pills too shut hers off.
when yours grows dim light is her source, her rivers long both sides too know
please let it in.

James McLain

Her Like That Star

when does bashfulness goes out, or come in and why? And, her to me, but outside i needed that she come completely
she walks so calmly.
she dispersed my clothes.
when she disperses my shirt and skirt her/I,
he who leaves a leaf between it at or on removed the panty
where I am transparent.
the worldwide range of her pink running water, it falls away.
he concerning with each month and asks.
her like that star up there.
and the time,
she says,
the good silence where - you want to rip? - the chalice
which she has learned that or being thought, there it is in writing in the place where it is.
because as for him it must be the rainbow;
She drank him. Her or that and as for her,
i the moon a crack of flavor and the silence which is she
and her/he opened slowly,
because of that and the kind of ones, we want,
silence bettter is tomorrow we like the ink,
which perhaps tears her in order to go out.
he crosses, the she, his, her friend and means that you hear.
the blue green onion;
which is soft movement in the vicinity
and is high and some ocean,
which says the taste of that abundant ocean
which is to signal on her center it means with it to push,
it takes both parts soon, and in it she sees.

James McLain

Suttle Periods

Whether it is from the blue of the bluest cotton
which;
suspended over between this matter
from the flax more or less becomes less complicated
prosperously with the environment from each own, their wood, comes the field a body of oranami of the pinkest fair clouds
of the highest consolation
where it should and can make a division within that and does.
As for that,
and that thing of which each;
it would vist and each their own part,
which removes falling from the movement soft of shape
and wave the very new human that invisable muscle,
the approval which is seen by you, i see?
As for suttle periods between it'
Together the [O] you blow; Empty; if you do berift of it,
The good-deed's following quickly to each her head,
and contrails white finger which melts it slowly in the dance and lower, each cloud apart; which it turns to the air of each leaf.
And there are times when damage from thy shock is wiped permanently away
and naught but joy remains..

James McLain

Each Salty Leaf

From early mornings sun and damp was night
those cotton fields
of baby
some times pink but mostly blue correcting hands each flower floats from which i made a promise now i hang.
Grandly and with the hemp it ties
and comes to build the field a shallow body wide
the highest comfort cloud from tree too tree with three no room. From which It sees, visit,
the ocean;
i am each punishment of the silky thing, the party knew a man and invisible muscles which she takes falls off again deeply from the sea of thought as motion shadows of soft shape and waves are seized.
Authorization of it with she, which sees?
Settle breezes together on periods of white foam, and it'
From the sea they are too the dance which rotates
around the world,
across the circumference of each salty leaf
can you taste the air or not,
yea or nay, say it naught
according to her head with the finger which he combs
and slowish is the lower part against the bow and wave.
And is to wipe the tears forever from thy brow,
erased in fear.

James McLain

Oceans Of Silence

silent oceans
all over the compass
the angle of truth
each azimuth
the mind that was on alcohol
bearing winds
and can it really be as bad as all of that you loved me,
you said you loved me
i measured you
in and out
front and back
knowing to the nearly seconds passed and minutes became years and i knew you were growing even more
heavy and as heavy, heavy likes as once i was before you/i became driving up it slowly up and down
the coastal waves
stones the ballast moves aside felt thats brown and pulled aloft soft you ply
the sail it's jib
and all inside
even worse is the storm when it comes and as i grunted
and tore things open, soft things panty things
and fully and even more deeply adrift
the smallest drop
of gold from where she latter would it did things to my mind
my body
always thus you could and i was called your animal only too my back

and as you began to swell
and swell
foamy waves they raced
it seemed i would swell with you anticipating becoming anticipation i became
and you would squeeze them
and squeeze them
until
and knowing no better
and being your man
i did all that you instructed of me
and as i grew smaller
you grew larger and larger keeping me like that until i died
and you didn't even bother too wear panties after that knowing one dropp
of that was all it took too make me
take you
as you instructed me to take you off and far away
dumping me overboard
like a raisin in the sun.
not even waiting for another ship
too come across the rise.

James McLain

Blue A Feild

High up in a cotton blue a feild of clouds
floats a body fair
Made it is from hemp and twined around each tree.
Example of it is, a waving off a vist, invisable muscles
a sea is in motion of each supple form you bare, i see?
Like the suttle breeze while in it's flight each leaf
is dancing spinning round the air,
fingers combing slowly down along her hair.
and i would wipe the tears forever from thy feet.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Preist

yesterday
i heard the priest
had died
partly as a child
his smell always moth ball sour
i hated visiting the old with him
not of they being old
but of his
telling me to take his/her out
the rooms
always very small there
you can tell
you just can tell
i think it was because of some thing
before i was born
and i always notice things
even still to this day
maybe it's because
yesterday
when i heard it
and i was told
i went more than a little cold inside.

James McLain

Awareness

'dear' how would you know it all; unless,
i said to you that I am frightened,
famished and thus then only.
i was goodness assembled by only you,
too very high i was next to the one on top,
between the fork of your tree
and it is held by you.
wild are my eyes, my hair now short unkempt
and a long time 'yes' a very long time much are the fruit so ripe around me.
fishing and completely rides the tide so high around me.
and being dubious of my purchase on the rocks
and you my one and only that I tighten and always so much always so much gently.
only I' you only one, that i am no one without your effort.
like I m' hanging in the fork
and reach outside out off my purchase and you tighten it.
and it is dropped with only the slightest form the pressure,
in your hand while i hang on
and in the fork of my new purchase.
and in my hand i wont tell
and to always shake the bite right off the fruit
you/I tighten moved it well and the juice and why it functions in the middle of my hand and off my mouth
and why/my mouth is so full with shrimp and with the fishing.
and as juice injects upwards into the air,
i know we caught a big one and i reach for the next one and the sleeping bag so right and white on the pink skin and like the last oyster' i swallowed raw at last you tighten and the next one.
the sleep in the fork the moon is raised to highten my awareness

James McLain

Sexy Momma

' sexy mamma' sexy; you with your pink lips
and about which mouth you speak about today?
Observation; do I know, of the whoms that the garden
selected you not I today?
Thy milk 'oh'; it functions by each beautiful face that you moved around the lips of each my love I love by you embraced.
it is thus it's why '
Milk it thus my ' momma' sexy;
milk it you maintain it!
Carry me, traction of it's haste it to the top sharp quickly
by the horns,
thus open with the barn!
dispatch me to the top,
dispatch me upwards,
come and talk while you dispatch it,
walk much more me quickly, than before it',
dusty sheets have puffed it up, too speak remote.
And I look at you and it is thus while you look on it as it's transfixed by you.
where each clear bucket half you fill with him
soaking milk how it is thick with the sparkling
and soft and full to the top with him.
The thought, with it is faster you/I, as a its familiar animal '
birds are humming; and poetry absorptive by lazy daisy;
so much more quickly and each dropp which it dripps,
is one less than I loosen,
because of him.
To like a seed it finds,
and for you it functions in addition to too many eyes machines ' today and of me always hear 'sexy momma' sexy;
and when they milk it.
Where does it run to,
how did it arrive there is it?
Is it rich like they say as green hay,
softer, softly cotton soft than the brown one?

James McLain

Each Face When Full

When it does;
is it predetermined and reaching out
how it is we have a measure of it so.
We with each new found it turns beginning;
sprung it springs returns
and it twists the icy glass of each new world.
Too you it brings each new reflection to all open eyes.
Beauty is one reflection of the night/light left behind and lacking sight do you view the moon when felt as real.
Real or not it happens every night,
when the sky is open wide.
Beauty warm upon the eye, inside each face when full.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Intelligence

Your intelligence; is that too 'Me'
and it respects your rights.
The closed eyes;
is for when there, is left but not a single star.
I will like it or not, but in your rose wood case.
I respect your song in it's deep sleep
which is the real reason I dream and dreaming
I will liken it too your intelligence just in case.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Waiting, Wait No More

And gray winters touch
finally reaches this bend of the long flowing river
and waiting i sit upon it it is not cold nor warm and waiting i follow it a little further.
Sensible light; love I know of this of it's brevity and love
did i not recently
and for this i am so very lonely as i wait.
the moons behind, i am and his schedule
and to touch the one that i must ask,
i must not, for you are left here, not done.
Also windy she is as well;
too me likened i thus, she whispers as your love smoothly,
also those leaves,
the tastes and of whoms, 'dear'; think come but wait!
Whose; this brilliance of the fire warms it up,
saith east boy remeber also you compared,
and your astonishment as i;
the sun and he with its laughter, when with you it was both came.
The knowledge is due to have released half of it.
Comfort as well as beauty in the eye thats full with it.
sitting here i wait and others spill outside,
hearing i heard of thine and mine
and we;
who now one waits to be as we once were and yet still are;
we, how he once was rough and now as then still is
and insensible touches.
Underneath with the envelope of her/you will see it become;
completely the eye as it becomes the storm of youth again.
And if and if it comes in the night with out any notification suddenly as you are unaware,
waiting, wait no more, for i have come.

James McLain

Touch It Too It Is Windy

And gray winter from this bed of the next light, sensitive I know from brevity of late, this afternoon
and in order to touch it too it is windy it whispers softly, leaves too the likes of which;
this blaze of fire
hot this child likened too it, and astonishment; the sun
and it with her laugh, when it came.

Knowledge should have been liberated of it's comfort
and poured outside,
mine ear and
we who are; we, how rough is it
and insensitive too touch off our surroundings;
which you play it deftly off
surroundings of the ring sheds it's night/light
the daytime low-end thing in color of a flame and with the light in which it investigates is peculiar and it all started the fact from that which falls from your sky
as tears never let you out, though in song like he, I call.

Below with above it;
full the eye a basin if and the night comes notification
suddenly without,
The tree which is inside the leaf; which is brown pleasure of winter and it is; suddenly awake,
your finger which is rough and sensitive it surrounds my eye.
Spearhead of breath each winter is it's solecism in your smell,
and long drawn out and hot are the months 'O' my sweetheart,
before 'June' comes I ask, when will I see?

.....
.....
.....

James McLain

Is A Breast

My gaze hovers amazed across your valley
of grace sweet breasts
and in the short of Grey winters late afternoon
in this bed of light,
I/we know why they are delicate
too soft to touch,
so hot with the sun his child like amazement
and how it frees up and out with her laughter
tough and delicate we play around the rings around our each other the daytime candles low with its peculiar light and if the snow begins to fall outside filling the branches
and if the night falls without announcement
there are the pleasures of winters leafless trees
and sudden, wild and delicate are your fingers around my eyes.

My love hot on your scent on the cusp of each winter solece.

James McLain

Blue Berries Blue

and worried for words no books.
asking but neither too ask for fear if we ask.
our parents unspeaking the devil is words
believe what it is/is it said,
when you are old then only and then perhaps not from I nor she will you know.
too know of the beauty of trees
and their meanings they hold.
why are some flowers red while others run off to play in pink
blue berries blue
always and forever
before and after is it true?
bare are fields laying fallow
is Lily in bloom like a Rose must the thorn always stab the heart
like the knife must it know.
or from the plow
fresh turned earth smell of life
it's breath again fresh.
telling us nothing is worse than that.
keeping us locked in the dark.
And by the time we have figured it out.
will cotton seem as then once;
as it was so white too me, will the tree she once wished to climb
run out and look down too the sea.
mom one of my friends is 'gay'
and 'dad' do you know what an ego is
I have never seen you read one book in my life
why would you want them pulled from the shelf of life made of wood at the school
where I live where you both never come.

James McLain

Her Magic Pool

It is small is not
at the spring in the back
where it has to drink the troubles by hand,
this from your hand of you.
It is not the small things in them it sees; it is the smallness of the things it sees only in the the thing,
and the knowing; The (thing)
between the field i loved inside you, it i Was; It to be bitter or sour the well after,
their life, nonjealous I am because of us it Advances,
enters; without knock never locked outside.
It is combined until forever now together.
We touched it together and until now and hush
in the quite we entered.
Consequently, you discovered going off with and
each being the noble and wise thing,
The (thing) will give it to the field, that (thing) will listen and there is by a bed by which it has;
the beautiful young girl that time
and when it is not in that order the poetry
her angels who are important and approximately that thing (writing) of which will put on new wings awakes to it come morning.
You are many years old knew poets of the best and me a male/feminine actor and author, ' It, I' Said;
Her/she of him which reaches her magic pool and prints it out.

James McLain

No One Hears Her

The good girl,
the silk cloth which covers them
and who in green jaded onion skin pulls aside the tears,
how many dawns gone past
and have stars last omits it shines,
and raged, about coming with the light,
being useless from rage,
no one hears her crying and sleep can never leave, deep at night.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Left Writing Me

You,
and you,
stop in order to dropp me off to history
and you left writing me,
You whom do not write,
you whom commit fraud upon my love;
entangled within i am.
You and me and the tree, your laughter
does it not know how mighty.
Steps each step upon the stars made from the dust and,
but yet, the dust together, It still rises.
My boldness takes you and it does/does it not?
You are my source from which the sky asks why;
you envelope the moon each night in smiles.
And from history' From justice sits my cabin; not of shame
that' is where it happend; and the river flows fast past and it is high from rain and on the side thier two sit and the root drives through the pain and over there is where it happens.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Black A Rose Made From Wood

The ghost of this face; once white/er.
Which is it washed off to the multitudes;
Gets wetter, it is lighter and blacker and getting some what better.
and once it was not,
remembered, not forgotten
black a rose made from wood opens a big petal of hope.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Starke 'County, 'Florida'

He was really fat and ugly wasn't he.
He did kill that young beautiful park Ranger twenty five years ago
and how i need the ' Governors' help myself.
Will I ever be able to vote.
Never having much of a pool to draw upon.
My self too vote for.
His arms were huge
no doctor could do it' ethically'
though in secret a mouth will say any thing.
He was slipping in the polls.
Asking Rubio, we need to know now
does he like beef or will he feed us more Chicken.
I will be really pissed off if she my daughter,
grows breasts at age eight.
what are his numbers today and what will they be on....
and the formula for life is too give or take,
whats on the news will dictate.
The measure of your worth,
weight it out well.
When you see how big fat and ugly he is.
Did it make it easier to kill him.
He is a murderer, like those people whom suck the babies out of the womb after all, right.
I wonder how much he eats, most of the other inmate pictures i see in 'Florida'
show how skinny the inmates/are they people?
Like # 057512
When it was one in four hundred fifty in prison
it was acceptably right and now it is about, what.
One in a hundred thirty, forty now.
One in fifty.
one in ten.
One in two.
Then all that is left, will be you.
Will he cry,
Did he beg for his life.
Do they shove cotton deep up inside his rectum.
like they did when they cook them.
how much cotton will it take.

My daughter will be seven in 'April'
what will I do if...
We are all the same...it is why i need restraint..
from mine passions..perfect are you,
after all it's not personal.
Personally; I think it's easier when they are fat and ugly.
I need to loose forty pounds.
Poetry is preserving that fading photograph.
Turning Grey and then ash en..
To be watched over and over again.
Like milking that proverbial pretrial cow
While civilized nations, laugh at us beneath their breath.
While they read Charles Bukowski, eat cheese and bread
drink beer and fart.
Do you know what your child is doing, right now.
I forgot, you are normal.

16 Feb 2010

James McLain

It Is But The After Glow

This
one cloud
is but
honor from sky that cloud
is forever lost to me
to let me go out,
away from back into i was again i am inspecting
but the glow
secure in it's compliance, mysterious one in it's memory
which is there and was a low price they paid for it's usefulness.
high in the arch, sits her and her in his, his large angel
which art thou and orders it to pass it by
and the angel most assuredly.
Being firm from the flesh and by any means of escape going out from the heavens until,
the attempt now is, it too follow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Selling: My Whore

I am Yours and yes; you are my one blue eye of glass
i see by: green glass that you, I have paid for,
throw upon the floor
and each peice again once swallowed makes
the running off of it more.
You are one 'Sun' must thus I tremble by,
do not call out my name, not mine you must not ever.
Mine very own name in it I wait,
my trembling hands on you it thus,
thorns and roses searing the flesh until it's price paid in blood alone on the stone, I wait for.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Selling My Whore

The [sun] [the] beef you/I purchase with out streeet,
the very first purchase of my life and which falling;
I have and thus you as well; held secretly within hearing it beating within your heart minds dwell.

Street girl sales and pulleys,
you shouting you my characteristically like the ocean it fills.
I In compliance with you and you from each angle,
us/whom and mine quiets you in/out and age respectively.
Slum and lord this over and thine rents each crack and the pebbles,
in the fire and when you and I being thus again.

Being young until, it ignites.

I am your thing and like that and i am not but i must be, not;
You I see are 1 blue eye of my heavenly separation: speculating.

Your and this wet the green grass which plays,
pulling never cutting the sun drawing from the ground
and one time when three the height came in sevens gentle each piece made again and little more than I, escape.

Your 1 ' Is; Sun' cry not to call,

order not to be in order not to mine it trembles in side.

Goes out and the characteristics which waits above was famous,
the grape, the trembling hand,

it's Even unto the thorn

and the rose which fumigate the mingling flesh;

Respected and the price I/you bleed in expectations.

James McLain

Quiet Thine Majority Of Need

How it is that i like thee?
Cortly are thy manners to me.
how i liken too with thee
with it's depth and width and size.
and which my heart it can never reach,
i feeling out of the sun it's sight.
forever the ends thy to be
and of ideal swaths thine grace.
liken thee of thee on the level 'loves' everyday'.
Quiet thine majority of need,
by the sun and gleam of candle.
loves liken thus too thee freely,
because the men;
thus tested to obtain mine the line sweet strung heart.
liken it too thee and so purely,
because they turn oft around I/it's praise.
likened too thee with thy passion and put away
and as I' used it;
In my old sorrows, and with my childhood'
faith of freind.
likens thee with a love that seemed to glow
with mine lost saints, - thee i love
with thy breath, smiles, tears, of all my life! - and,
if God choose, me but thee i love better after mine death.

e.b.b.

James McLain

North Korean Valentine

I will be knowing and that (thing)
i will listen and i pass it to know it, [iss]
it is me they report, threatened swollen and anyone a possibility of seeing the method of me
why it is here and to order the rose, nose selfishness
come to the care which knows of the thing
and to go out there where it is and when coming,
it does not know the toe and [ten] be as the metric unit
with the party shoes in compliance with my face, which sees you, who sees me, see you the fact that will see inside why you cry
above from this eye of you whom sees at the time of the ball or the party.
come with me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And I Cry

i pass them knowing knowing i know they see full and scared
no one to care
how is it here
i came to be
be as it may as i come
i can see
by my face that you see
and seeing me
see you see what that you see
when you look in my eyes
and i cry.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why The Sheriff

When he arrived
ask of me,
why am i here?
Looking him in the eye
saith i/i 'said' in reply.
She/my sister
slept with my wife,
much more than that.
many times to many in front of my child,
my daughter whom even now is but six.
She makes me violently ill,
it's the air around her it is,
she is bi polar i think as well.
unmedicated and married ten times
she braggs
Why am i here again he 'ask'.
i' 'said' i fed the dog a bone,
he is much like i
in this home.
Logical thought not/her progressive shes not
thoughts in that place none should dwell,
the sheriff 'asks her.
Are you in fear for your life for distroying
his home, eating of his wife, what did his daughter see?
He, ask?
She thinking what, 'said no'.
Am i here because he fed a bone to the dog,
or what you did to his home and child.
Don't you have a daughter he ask'of her.
Nine she said.
Is that not your red car i see at new york, new york
each night that bar.
Tell me, he ask' why do you fear the bone.

13 feb 2010

James McLain

Shone The Sun

This is his place where the vast ocean ends
and before it, he was in it lost, out too the distance from which
shone the sun
here once again, may it shine.
Walking along thus too part
between toes, washing off prints left behind.
And that place lofty is softy, it grows in the white,
covered by wind blowing sand.
Cool is that place dawns the sun
and crimson her fire, inside my heart ignites, passion and flame once again.
That place moths and birds in order to warm
the kites flying high, long it's tail
which comes from his place by the sea, wishes from she.
We let us wish, let us do make, take too this place
and leave where the clouds, blow off smoke open minds.
Stern disapproval official's need approval
and dark is the distance that bends gentle minds.
The hollow where oceans meet, sweet is the flower that grows,
does it pass us and lead us in order to greet us.
Measured and walking which walks with us walks,
the cloak of dark white,
the arrow it's need is probably thin where and with whom it goes.
The place where the waves are meeting the shore
can you not see when it comes from both ends.
Like that it we'
Is measured and deep,
thus walking along which all we have seen
and yes all the things you have done.
Walking we move, walking they grew and walking around it you knew and upon each shore which is always washed new and we as the sand that the glass made so right,
So go the children go off in play, and they to us indicate,
the children all they do,
and they know of that place where the ocean began,
there walking in sand on the oceans vast shore,

once we knew.

James McLain

She The Oceans Silence

Me too she both are shy. And, she soothes me
and speaks calmly.
Bringing me the peace
I needed at her moment of need, she needed as well.

The outside,
of such beauty
but covered never completely.

He took off my dress.
If you looked through our window
you saw,
her take off my t-shirt
and the skirt upon me which he leaves.
His scent she smells hers as well.
Never in this world thought below it,
Did you also see what you saw when
slowly;
removed were the panties which in 'love' is made transparent.
Her pink world fell into his palm.
He asks about my day of the month.
She to see the star in him.
And at that time will she say and - you will split it
and good night/days silence,
you want it too the sky and more? - And was i writing,
where she is it folded or thought that wears it out.
He must be the rainbow mixed in because;
She drank of him too sleep.
Her or that song
and she the oceans silence,
where I am good and will spill it because of her like
and she opens slowly
and she wants and to go out side of the silence.
The ink which both spilt,
and probably she likes him better just in case tomorrow.
He passes over and he says too her as he listens to her friend.
The ocean what the green muscles,
which is soft and moves it says getting near
and taste of that abundant ocean,

which is to motion being
high and above beneath her heart,
and side by side with her pushing gets it nearer
and both see it beating.

James McLain

He And I And You

Me, 'he I and you' Said;
Me being old again once young,
expressed why should i be in compliance with you
like the fire which;
when it is examined and hot it burns closed inside away,
it does not quake but yes;
assuredly and not to me and my song which i will do
and or wishes for yours are again.'
Playing which has; Me, 'he I and you' Said;
Me which i am to me being old,
is not the sorrow which is serious though it cools never ceaselessly.
and ' where only sorrow hits but a little;
I me'he and I and you' Said'
being young, through it/it, went,
you gave it back, but - never i Wished and shouting like
the world was on fire,
it jumped over and ignited it again;
It in it's gray overcoat it falls and throws,
like the bride whom the gown
and again puts on to give you/your innocence once again in you i found.

James McLain

My Tree

Though heavy is it bent
long is the thought
deep was the cause
Standing alone in the rain.
Few and few, my words
and too you, yes you do
i speak.

What do you see,
On my branch
Black is the bird
long are it's feathers
underneath they are red sitting in the same spot
Of my tree.

Building room for the night.
Would; that i was a squirrel
not harming sweet the bark ever feral sitting up i'm never still filling long hollow trunks
with nut's gathered green
brown
getting ready for the winter
growing fat
here comes the spring.

James McLain

Milking Poetry

'Oh daddy' with your pink of finger tips
and from which cow did you come from today?
Watching; i know, from whom's udders, you drink from today?
Thy milk 'oh' it runs by each sunny face you removed around the lips each love have i embraced.
Milk-it thus to me daddy, milk it to me now!
Take me thus to the barn! hurry me up,
hurry me up, come and hurry, walk faster,
before besty's leaves are blown too far away.
And thus i look at it transfixed
where each clear pail half full with it sloshing the milk it is thick at the top foamy and sweet and full with it.
Thinking, of a quicker than i, as her pet 'humming bird'
and Daisy absorbed poetry; so much more quickly
and each dropp that it drips,
is one less i loose, because of it.
Loving one seed that she finds, and runs off too plant today and i am still hearing
'Oh Daddy'
and when they milk it.
Where does it come from, how does it get there?
Green hay, is it sweeter than brown?

James McLain

Emptied The 'Ocean A 'Dream'

Is it she;
The music can it be any more wildly excited.
Her or her song came why I come,
in order to listen too her each week it with you.
Her motion like you, I 'find', beautiful it' Is; of oneself you give one wave each octave her I respectively,
She Broke; she breaks my soul and each one
and that place at the time of her whipping,
his soul inside it is falling,
too the hand of it she comes too, or, hears a sound,
each price each plucked which falls from the music
the poetry I find in her head which is sweet the sea.
Sees in deep my earnest desire,
he in where and which she is knowing,
until his knee bends to her music her words.
Knocking at the outside and his thing how it waves
and softly, felt him and the shore again meets the wave.
His vibrating a beautiful pulse will not be from the metal and she will help him too make.
Song the voice which is pure is the possibility
and plausability which she can do.
Backwards it is visible and I, her deep future and sees.
The higher The office where the disaster can happen
without from which they stand.
She from the musical extra poetry prize and thus
which he is hers desperate,
extra prize and extra prize, and she is his general
in the straw bag and wicker basket location time and place which made from her improvised
and the acoustic hill will be able to understand it,
' Song did you mean;
empty'Ocean a 'Dream' 'O', hungry sea.'

.....
w.b.y.

James McLain

Made Not From Steel

She is; crazed no more than the music.
She/Her song, her notes you came to hear.

Her motion is beauty it's division upon itself
One wave her each octave, crashing unto it's self,
Poetry there within falling, her beating of his soul,
comes too my ear/hear it is the sound,
Sweet music, each strand that falls from her hair.
Looking with deep longing, He knew not where,
Walking out into it, up to his knees,
laughing/his waves softly tapping he feels.
He feels far off a beautiful pulse a vibrant song
made not from metal,
a pure voice that can sing.
Backwards underneath too her do I look,
coming ever forward to me and her water is seen by the light of she is lovely, I float on the moon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ladies A Gentleman

Because of this 'we', laughed as the grass is green it's common.
Directed, how it is, I am now here to be, as was implied by her with favor.
And be left thus far away from, but near to it by far, I then became again.
Whose white teeth flashed the sun as it was now, to show them.
I was attracted by the breath inside fresh as mint, 'made' and she it was one breath i'm in/too deep with every glance, Love i rediscovered.
Lost and eventually found inside of caves, dark sound, so deep smooth, rich and throaty, singing to the sky, her music all the time.
Never torn, but by fate and time and young once every other memory.
Although still loose on top, I look inside it even further, for example is a waving such a visit, muscles clutch invisible, the sea it is in motion.
A young woman on the beach 'she' rushed at us, stopped and saying:
briefly drawing swift aside a red and white kerchief/bandanna.
Made it said is 'Kansas' hot golden sweaty mask, looking out of:
she is far away beyond it, cool some shade beneath the sand.
Bronzed that body is, I think of poetry, confusing i with her, each with.
'If your wife and Mr. Mister', Sir: (desire to take to the ocean, not the lady and gentled is the gentleman) 'want to wash off lightly '
One day, at a time when with every grain of sand and foam,
she did - politely bow too ask '
I decided that if and now, when 'I' and if 'I' 'must now turn to face it that this shocking revelation following flowers, when spoken in such oral,
'when he and is thus was struck 'could fly a kite without a tail,
Some implications of these remarks acute;
could that hearts are won and then the thought get lost, by lovely such.
She was with her other and myself;
this afternoon could still be in May, the sun up high, so hot, at noon.
Flowers will always bloom or open not.
I concentrated on both, seated hot, sandy by a well of deep emotions.
With care, deeper it is reason, my opinion trusts, too find if it reflects.
Kept so sure, in time, inside, I got to know, or wonder always why.
Wistful him for her, she/ him;
much more than each subtle wave and love, I could be his double.
Once I was of similar mind, a person may then drift so far a lark
when life as it works right away or just floats by, like sand in front of us.
Then washed into the rocks and moss, strong wind just blows away

James McLain

It Is Only A Word

Is it not the word of which it never says,
some three words that both i never 'said'
leaving it/is thus and never why;
The eye of the head which i never may see,
even as each proud bend of wild rivers
which blend off to the sea,
the closer you came the farther like wood it drifted apart.

It was but my hand and full it is still gone are you not,
and words from my pen, inked red hearts do wain, Unsustainable but too the heart and where it foamed now how it talks
the waves wash me against, why around it i wander too sleep.

Plentifull children play is it the sand on the beach and one grain only is my pearl that i keep and sleep is to waking the deepest of my need of sleep
while only being quite ignites my compliance,
It is only by your world is it not, i walked with you within.
Is it not with too many and which my/why i now sleep so.

...

..

s.t.

James McLain

The Bathroom

It is where she went caffeine pills,
yellow bar after bar 2 mg.
'Come Queen Xanadu' Gallon after gallon of wines sour breath on the rose day after day
no after hints.
They all knew and betrayed, withheld.
Conversations held
may as well, built upon bones of ruins,
with the Luke warm water running unlike her mind
swirling around aft that tub.
Thighs open wide,
then deeply admired as she squats
grunting out each and sometimes it's lost and bewildered
every other machine gunned word.
While every other hand full hard fought pulled out missing the toilet, like yellow stars shooting past my face
once of trust.
This is her petulant office
as it was once back then.
Trying to understand my wife
too her it's simple a visit.
Lifting her hamper and living beneath dozens of fat brown/red roaches dragging egg sacs behind eating their fill
through the bottom as they all came like a fast food chain
eating holes in the white cotton
of the most expensive of her panties.
Golden were they those moist crunchy arches.
Until I, one night she came out with a clear gallon bag

zipped at the top
inside it a baby a boy
the bathroom
being nearly six months pregnant.
I begged, i screamed,
never going to the doctor before nor after.
I march man acted her,
the 'Judge' then did agree.
This was before 'Caroline' was conceived.
was he then dead or moving born and still alive,
Echo's lost I/my screams.
It was nearly her as well.
Doing I did for the next as well.
When are human beings, human beings?
Not until their born or abused and murdered still inside.
Can the court decide.
Science or religion mixed the two.
My mind had to go away to live while my body
stayed behind by that of which was not a dream.
Any way a different judge gave her a restraining order
after she got out,
for some thing they convinced me, I did wrong.

James McLain

Don'T You

i smell it
i taste it
i do,
don't you?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Undergarments

In order to expand and learn in her white secret.
Are your intentions surrounding interior the red eye,
of which it burns being started the flame initially.
She as me in between it/she where it comes to pull enough to be at the outside and the respective/respectively purring long milky trail comets tail thing to fall in green Ravel her dreamy lower part and me each narrow road it to be cold
when i leave it each time,
It's In the place which is visible; translucent even transparent
where is it not from a fire one moon each month
time comes and she sleeps and the uterus undergarments
open i seed every location vast the far off 'Galaxy'
which it sprinkles and came in with the bang it being internal from the deepest it's hot yellow face your place
and in order to soak it again and again with your/her body which it waits and i waited before the one whom was first
and thinking about it was he really that selfish.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Time And Sleep

The burning eye when it all first began to expand around me
time and sleep
amongst it/she pulled me out, i am full each unto each
green Unwinding dream
hurling me off down the long narrow road
where it seems cold when it's not in the fire
time and sleep
and i within the womb
seeds lay scattered
the milky way deep inside
and of you, ' i wait
to be called back into her body
before i ever once, i was, before.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Caged Bird

I can not notice the words they speak,
the lights dimmed,
so there is a growing,
their/there is a knowing i see
laughing men and maids in the volunteer search for him/my eyes.
I hope that when she smiles at me,
she does not guess my joy and pain, for her,
if she is ever so nice to see my way again.
It is a secret in my heart,
I still do not hear anything so far, open her ears,
And still it sings there day by day like most caged birds.
and my 'daughter' means too much to me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Caged Birds

I can not notice the words they speak,
the lights dimmed,
so there is a growing,
laughing men and maids in the volunteer search for him my eyes.
I hope that when he smile at me,
he does not guess my joy and pain, for him,
if he is ever so nice to see my way again.
It is a secret in my heart I still do not hear anything so far his ears,
And still it sings there day by day like most caged birds.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Communist Lips

There is a lip whose like this lip is thick.
Them them [lay] a dizzily more liberal space is necessary surroundings company suffering.
Them some the pretty face is handsome
and if is not suitably it is pity where it pretends,
the free lip which is wide this lip is full.
They do not like it and not to be there it is a false report and must keep it.
When wet you and this it must hide it.
When your his wants will not do like this lip not to be,
they move, from the north going to the south, them too them.
Freed they what it.
Your this there is an enemy who wants the going necessary
will correlate lip laughs recently.
The mind the abundant pink chromatic company;
hard too gain and loss of lip and the lip was strong,
above of share within the vessel it sank.
The lip which is the tragedy.
The lip does not ever come loose.
Is grateful but [lay] it they will be knowing too well.
Them rightly the petroleum taking deep out of men
secrets of ground assuredly discovery.

James McLain

A Glimpse

She removed her hand from her panties slowly, traced her lip where
the fruit juice of her passion has been attached.
Then as for her this time just, she reached,
that the back rocky section which is added was massaged,
and softly crying
kissed to him for the second time.
She took from him with the every other hand,
words left to the rubber made coat
which she goes away to the accumulation on the floor of the porch you do not reconsider with nonsense as that,
and led him to the bedroom away from the log house.
The Christmas illumination had shone in out the window.

W.W.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Infidelity

today i am tired
and it's raining
it has been for most of the day
coming in through the back door
is the rose wood kitchen
table
and how long
has this been going on on it still warm in the center
is a small yellow puddle
and with my finger
i touch, it's still warm
after i smell it, i taste it
and i ask,
how long has my brother been gone?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Snow Which Is Sung

Such pitiful thing one human needle which teaches and lives compared to it's straight and narrow
do you ask her to ask her to do it the first time and if she does it to ask and does she to ask
and he does it again when she is not looking to ask him
and she asked for the third time,
a little it is easy to be broken why waste the rain
like the finger;
pulling out of girl pink it has the nipple which it she ask it/it
he kisses if you do to ask him
do not ask it too someone do it to ask and never to ask and ask her
you ask her before,
simple insane thing the thing of which snow which is sung.

...

e.e.c.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Flesh Rising-Amber

You like to find what's not found on the ground but beneath of it lies the hill.
In something grand smothered nomenclature,
in the crest, distinct, yet it breaths alive.
Feathers out of glass made of crystal,
hidden beneath, do you think.
Do you see what i see does it shrink.
Dressed in white tears;
bones of the dead you squeeze then withdraw and extend green each blade
by the blade on the council they milking us all.
Conical like so for the fasteners winged swiftness,
it bore to the red heart, but/you my love are fragile,
sweet substance dismounting design on it fell.
Or a fruit, many dark manly names,
locked up in rough brown skin, the flesh rising-amber,
and granite it: the seed a wood stone, cuts out away
and polished, nut butter-colored, formed like the cream washed away, but it's large,
large enough to fill the famished palm of your hand.
come then like the juicy stem as you rest on the grass
which develops in the rougher round edges each sheet
you have folded and the gleam of butterscotch
in the narrow groove;
whose morning-glory opens so blue
and expresses one morning it's hot it's yellow it's you..

James McLain

Back And Forth

both are mine they both/know
that but it is salted palms
and that very small mask that hides it's nose and thorns cause it to bleed my 'roses'—only 'lily' knew—no frowns he/him expanded her\you wash it off 'oh Sylvia' we are rich with your pink of fingers painted color rainbows arc the sky'
as a finger moves it back and forth see the sea as it waves
a beautiful woman made of foam or of;
which hand is the nymph to splash her water- where he swims pushing her heart up closer to mine
and both are fine pink salted pearls you wear around there.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Thy Kiss

thy kiss
do i miss sweet
cotton is candy
or light by the moon
and bright
is the night
shinny
and full
each breasts i am over moss in my mouth
the tree now
leans over.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is It Like This For You

tell me please tell me
is it like this
for you
in the mirror
sheer panties and bra
i let fall
lifting one up
hefting the weight
a firm gentle squeeze
and i'm turning around too the other one does appear some what larger each tip seems ready to burst into tears
do they quit
the other i think must soon follow
being to young knowing what i don't know how long will they take to glow
where is my precious that one drop of precious the milk
is my belly to thin or to fat
as i slide my hands down and then up once again down
silk if it's grace i don't know
my eyes why do my eyes feel as they do they linger right there
and their they do linger i see what they see it is there that they linger
i feel what i feel and i feel what i hope he will feel
and my lips i can see are they too fat and full through my panties
i see
a thin crease that runs through the middle will he or wont he wont he but will he will he want me with me for me
i musn't 'O' i musn't
what do i do
who do i ask and what will they tell me to do and my why

why must my why always cry for it what ever it is i dont know
and in tears do i cup it
my hands are too full with it and when i squeeze of it burns even more i'm only a girl
and i'm only a girl
and i'm only a girl that needs it to love
and no one i know of whom it too trust can i ask.

James McLain

Your Part Of A Hand

We, as, we raise i will raise each in our thoughtlessness of our new found sleep, and i in my heart as to find them in lovers path i tread.
Parting your part of a hand nothing it remembers,
as sand and as it touches the troubled path mine the sea.
Palm of my palm lined your face;
where the long blue shades pull up the dawns
of the winds along the darkened, i hear you whisper
field of my desert in sand it is the bloom.
Or too she nevertheless would i remember, thought's
he spanned milky, her skies,
stars by the, her thousands, lost falling tears faded trails.
Whereas the planets does 'Venus' she smiles lost in always
I do he does ether never empty with their her major/minor tender octaves hearing her voice, pluck the harp.
Love' my heart of my heart, no word will he thereof forget,
Neither however only, she liked,
we will never see the desolation of the sun it extinguished,
Nor fear the whereupon' voided deep skies it's vacuum;
ours and mine planet races up and down all around,
equates sweet center never forgotten,
because together will it suit us always and not Show our face
as i head; back before ever i saw eternity.

James McLain

Oysters Cut But One Way

and I with my fetish for live oysters, woman.
) smell women (
and liken/love (sea-salty) for eating them
the heart if it part's is o.k.—
sock less and watching their toes spread apart and hearing the cramp while their (knuckles pop)
the salty spray (part's alot—
of posies and thyme.
It/is he is but a man does the woman is she oysters wont cut but one way.
Unafraid she of the sea washing up on the shore, 'Raw' unaduterated 'pure sexuality'.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cups Raised Up Deeply

Amongst last nights
sleeping flowers i only they did i lay ensnared i was.
They with my scribe drinking/drunk is the moon by me;
full raising my cup 'asked i'
bow in thanks flowered moon offered for drinking with me,
its reflection and mine in the last wine my cup,
just the flowers and us;
Deeply i hear and i sigh for the flowers in sleep cannot drink,
and my friend goes wandering around
and the flower i see with me never stops breathing
moon rises not saying a word; without their other friends here, i can but to employ these two or three open as they are
and me and my one friend more/less for the company;
during the time of their happiness weak i am each blossoms,
i also must be happy with moon light all around me;
i sit and i sing and it is like if the moon is accompanied;
then if I dance a flower or two lift their heads,
deep cup that is my shade moon dances with me;
while not yet drunk, I am happy to transform flower and moon
and my shade into friends,
but the other i shared when i drank too much,
us all many too the parts;
however those are friends I can always count on the latter of which few most have
and many of moons deep emotions i more than some;
the cup is hope for that during one night when all the full moons and flowers will meet, cups raised up deeply in the way the center milky manner.

...

L.P.

James McLain

Fair Hair

Star of mourning upon me it beams;
passing fair, hair now to shimmer Bosom upon,
near tender thus sweet
dearest my brightest
joy mine you delight us
still above us too love me Highest above coming down enthroned within
do you hear me.
Strike deep this heart
thine eyes like mine
your hand brought me up
laid bare,
in sleep rests upon me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Translucence

appearing translucent
and i must see
as an issue
of trust
as i gently
when your moving
and the ocean is saying
i feel i must lift it transparent
the sea
though it weeps
out a feeling
i must see if the foam
is the foam or false tears
that you left i the child
my 'dear'.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Words Like Silk

Near the edge Mexico's gulf late it's night.
While each both one can, draw a circle,
thus laying down, one heard standing up
Our mentor enriches this gift of said knowledge.

Words like silk ribbons, run off too unwrap it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Once Upon As

Did you mean:

what you owe and you which i loved deeply
and a but a short time ran off too?
once upon as when above it did start
there once was but a single ' i live'
grain of sand some where out their left upon and it's you i ever, gave my wings
why too clip and hobble my heart to the ground
and my spirit it gave to my heart a song.
but oh, with her and liked more than he liked his son
which could she/i liked at all,
i must look at my little the how many open ed door
that carried it out by heaven'
walking and walk white fresh long sandy shore.

c.e.m.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tragic Rose

wild red thy crown.
colors gone mad.
ruptured my heart.
plucked does not.
a sad
 tragic rose

it runs when you see it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hurry Come My Sister

should we not walk
naked
his attire once was as ours
heavy and full
green wet the moss
hangs down
looks out to see the tree
over them
hurry come my sister
sharp mink claws
persian cat
life the eater of nine tails
poore is the brother whom even now has not but a short bent stick
I can not avert mine eye
red is the serpant
she peeks
through thick green leaves hung the head
none but her/she seeks passing it by
my hand shoots out
apple now bitten full and still lays at her feet.

James McLain

Day Clutters Dark Stone

Thy heart will be only what it may be, does it see?
Semi dark thoughts of the gray marble womb
in whom does it rest.
Dark heart the clutter of pink that stone;
Not one, from all of the crowd,
did then too raise, In thine hour of thine own need proffered forth of this thy secrecy.
Be quiet in this thy loneliness,
Which is not my loneliness for emptied full spirits of death,
from which you were held In this life before thee,
are still bound up In death night around the thee,
and their Sun shadowed moon will with thee; be always.
The night, although dark clearly, waxes my eyebrows,
And the stars will not look in from the top deep
is the well to the bottom.
Of their high thrones in the sky, hiding plain sight from the tail
of the comet though,
With the light like faith I sail with the mortals given by choice,
But their red bodies burn all around, without thine beam,
With thy lassitude it will seem Like such burning and tears oft fall laid fever.
What that I would hang to the thee forever.
Touching It Now; widowed shalt dispersed of thousands of thoughts not through brine to banish, Now art the visions me
Hewe to disappear;
From thy spirit they pass Past thou more,
like the dewdrops of clear crystal' seed on grass.
The breeze, how art the breath of God, is she always,
And the fog on the high shady hill, shaded,
however uninterrupted, it Is a symbol and thy mark.
How it hangs bereft on that tree,
hear it as mystery my death of the mysteries!

...

e.a.p.

James McLain

Away My Love

gone away my love
i know
i haven't much time
too you so i say
help for your tears they ask me why
and my head i hang down
through the white cotton veil
your eyes
child hood has fanned
our last graceful meeting decided
the bow of the waves
green or blue
nothing up untill now really mattered
and the pulse how it beats
too lay as you lay
pray upon what do i say
as you stay
and love gone away has never died.

James McLain

The Car

They come across me when i must,
why I came by,
knowing I need it more for my needs
as their woman folk....
stop their work, come out and listen.

By now I must know, even this,
where ever it is, that I go
and still like a child...
I expand even more my words concise.

They look at my hands,
They look in my eyes...
They look at my cloths,
They want to but they ask me not why.

Grasious is grace,
and please is just as polite...
I would not be there,
I have a need of them.

One stern look from their wife,
who is really in charge.
I show him what is really wrong.
I leave the part by her hand,
I turn around to go.
and...

...

m.a.

James McLain

Art Thou A Seed

Proud death is not art thou a seed,
although some called thee Puissant and dreadful,
for, saith he moved a thousand steps, yet I sleepe.
For, those, which hide lost think' the street,
inversion of most the thousands, do not lie,
the death of 'Penny was poore,
nor however me each one off of setting
with thee I died a thousand measured against; can't.
Rest and sleepe,
which but thy bee my bed of images,
Much of thy pleasure, then of thee, much more must run,
and soonest our best men with thee gone of floor with thee, Reste upon tired their bones,
and delivery the drunk ones.
Slave thou art of many thousands thus with thee destiny,
the chance, kings dance,
and men despaired,
and dost thou with thy poison, her wear,
and barter each angle of saturation well/sickness,
And the poppie,
or the charms can make us the sleepe please all as well,
And improve thy stroke then; why swell'
lay out the thousands in rows of street then?
A sleepe runs beyond that, small my wake sleep eternally,
And death will not be more nor less kind;
my death, shalt of past thousands to come hear it die.

James McLain

Mine Was But A Thought

flowing from mine was but a thought gone by you
and how you like the beauty of my sea,
and all alone going back to the top my lonely talks
down the Length of the Beach.
You heard that vague wash the thunder measured by the light before sound ever reached us
foam between my toes, heart too heavy i reach down
and the wind takes it/was grey far away
and as you and and i and each once one leaves
one walks the past each weary beat each wave strains moon above monotonous.
Around me were the makings my castle
they move sandy dunes echo,
beyond me the cold
and i wade through the foam at our feet
silenced you smell of the sea - We two will cross my death
and the ages lengthen
before you again will hear this noise
your song above me
as i wait for the suns bright warmth to rise upon me.

s.t.

James McLain

Vivid Colors

my savage you raised.
insane vivid colors.
sculptur a rupture of the spines.
you should not pluck it.
you must recognize a magic went up,
when you see it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Children Speak To Children Do You

women raging against men; of men loving off men; of wo/men; loving off
women listening to wo/men, because children don't have mind
between/two because wo/men move
on, because
wo/men haven't learned how to listen, to hear
listen, now to your ear
children speak as children; do!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

They'Re Pretty

like you
I do that too.
like you, I
like to look at what you
make.
it even smells
good to me.
sometimes they're pretty
red
when it's angry.
but then the sun
comes out
again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Said

she put him out at ease.
he took off my dress.
she took off my tee-shirt.
He removed my breeches.
and then
she said - you want something good? - and I thought with she it must be to have it together.
Saying don't tremble and i watched my mother and it must be a rainbow because she finds colors of him
because she/he likes
and she wants that i open something slowly good
and perhaps if i eat something today,
tomorrow will never come.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

People

people
come and go.
your friends perhaps.
happy men stay
inside
the women.
mom when little once said.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Daisies Sunflowers

when a man opens the woman,
it is like a pink coral sea,
it will never be closed too still.
never.

(it'; s)

daisies. sunflowers.
hesitation with in the sun.
a flower on the bush.
a bud mixed in flowers.
they wonder off it.
and folded beneath it they feel.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Clear Red Ink

Then look at it and needing a loaf of bread and sharp cheese
but made a step stained behind it
central red ink I say to you Since lost was the verbal accounts of the victim of the truth reiterated in extenuation
another secretes of poetry exposed like Composer's callused pads on finger tips, harps and guitars
pink sonnets like transparencies like the silk panties
that I used sell you to wear, chained too nipple rings
while their need for the poets to indicate these small realities, Since largest each caused they whom discoverer crumpled used the bloody ones patched up moon holds it/it knows all it sees you feel waves always undulating the foamy sea in motion clear red ink there worn out in the same colors spot.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Shell Pink And Buttery

Every oyster raw tastes somehow different,
The shells pink mainly glows;
dependent on what the owner of the oyster ate within the prior 48 hours tastes.

Common oysters taste is described as:
buttery, sour, bitter, lemony, sweet, salty
but not too salty, fishy and tangy.

Asparagus never aspirated is like 3 day old shrimp.
Oyster juice is the hot sun caused,
for so called wet spots on panties middle and pants.
Butter fingers and sun flowers
mountains of shell.

'O' juice is one of the causes for the individual oyster
when scallops not in season
and clams will not do and the oyster.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Out Of Knowledge

It knew her well of his lost spring;
its voracious appetite for its knowledge
but not' this like a cat too purr with it,
however between awake forever with it trying to pour milk out/in it's dish
'outside him' with its deep sweet fairy sleep.
It s' is found very still and full with depth,
not wanting to go' it knows no other road'; ; but
she had taught it from him.
Bye now many miles, his smile is pulled up in sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Thing I Left

Is art of thousands my God,
where then is it's heart?
Thus this thousand shouldest it thy eye,
and mine with two,
pouring on him all thy tears bleed the sun to some extent,
and it that the hast of thousand I' made for you and each thing I left with ' ; God' ; .

g.h.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Tremor

it' S
the name
always taken this throat
the echoes you with whom I' hang;
interior of this cranium
smolder icy of the burning desire
a fast fuzzy spot a tremor.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Tough It Out'

While some studies
found males
to be affected less negatively,
more or less growing;
the studies show that the long-term effects
are completely prejudicial for 'I' one or 'It' another sex.

The males put out of the box more and more and are damaged by society' S refusal
and or hesitation of two accept their victimisation, and by their belief by resulting and they owe it the tale'
'Tough It Out';
Hard it out' be a man/boy in silence.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fleur D' 'O' My Life '

The red young heart is radiant bright is she of my youth motherless, mother maintaining with the dew swings in shade of cloud appraoching moving now quickly
my cub, comes the lion
Soft-scented, scented my south is thus liked;
Fleur d' 'O' my life '
Black robed; I'; one 'I' love!
I give myself over more too you.
Solom it's heart devised.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Blind Man

You blindly at it looking
and it's like only parcel delivered in snow.
You quit' it'; laughing you I' 'yellow'a love lady'
'I' must blindly never every;
I hate you blind man,
and to hate you I am blind but Ply with you,
and the measurement of my love weathers for you that you/I followed bindly and blind is that sea I do not see you but I' love with all my heart
and with you I'm the blind man you followed.

p.n.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Full Of The 'Apple'

You are delicious and nutritively, juicy, crunching,
and when you that I'm the sun you open,
you pour me in flowers with five seeds planted with cultivated interior.

You are as soft as silk and when I make victuals pie of the crust to put to you inside,

silky breath it cools, their come out;

long extended wave in motion swallow gently

and I gently put to you and it flowing downwards.

And it feels like you/I wrap you in cover of clover.

'Cotton'; balanket 'S soft of Soft

and You are in good health and good for my body.

When I bite in you that resembles upwards

thus verily thousand 'S dove, swooped me and 'i' was raised with the sky.

Why so marvelous;

'is it and it is of you' too return to me merry

large palm of hand.

full of the 'apple'

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

Caroline's Valentine

Why my heart held is always above the edge
and always

lost without on it for you,
with the moment of each alarm the clock,
in all this I would 'U'nmake.

Why I to see your face all the day and I do and if you knew, that now talking would you could say.
My hearts inserts the two when I think it then with you,
head high held above.

Your sky so blue
and I think of my 'Daughter' as one uniquely individual,
which did, happy, I make.

I wish that I could in some way; or for her your other,
to turn time behind as some enemy but always a friend,
and relive one second when you were mine.

I wish that nobody never had to know;
the feeling of the sick pain blind love of the head with to ten growing toes,
yes\yet I know.. like the tears outside my heart and thousands the tear/tears it wafts in two,
and you rest behind it and it at watch; it is very meaning all that you can make...

in my dreams you live forever known as these words I\you a long time to hear and when I look in deep within mine/your eyes,
I know your sincere thus see you later,
when the day is through when I'm is it's thoughts
deadened in my never sleeping head,
from dying I'm DREAMING OF YOU!

...

..

5 february 2010

James McLain

Exhausted

Exhausted,
it breaks it down a little.
' Ohhh.' she howls. '
I want more! '
Ha ha.
Sometimes its innocence shines through and it makes her takes me up and down with the laughter.
Like to more often than not she sees it.
Poems and happy Oasis,
Was recreation.
I' m going to allure it next time.
She has the base by the tip.
Squeezing both ends from the middle.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Tree Is Breathing

It's sheltered under the root;
a tree, whose branches are thick,
independently of other trees,
by the edge her high cotton hill,
whose fine sands are shaken by its movement;
However the successive falls fall on its white face,
whereas the clouds of the night veil the light of stars.
Breathing in and pushing down and out
are how the rivers were made.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pink Lips Launch Dark Lunacy

The insane one is on beaches of glass.
The insane one is on beaches of glass.
To remember plays and garlands days and her laughter.
With obtained to keep the loonies well oiled and all in the day.
The insane one is in the hall; letting you call.
The lunatics are in my mirror too stay.
Paper holds their faces folded open on the floor
and day laborer the paper boy brings longs to bring more.
And if the cuts of stopping one heart pink it opens;
by my may years off too early bells toll.
And there is no part it has on the hill
And if your head bursts with the light/dark presents too;
it drifts on far out to the sea;
you it sees it's pink side in black of the moon.
The insane one is in home in my head.
Laughing at they, think I'm doorless alone.
The insane one is deep in my head.
Raise up off the blade.
You bring to the coronation, why touch rearrange me.
You close with her key the door And it launches
seeing new worlds, always there.
Their' is it's key the one in my head but it's not the moon it's still mid after noon
in the heat the rabbit still sleeps as I weep
on the island I dwell and waves wash over my feet
Sleeping on one beach made I sleep on green grass.
Inside of one though it leaks out.

James McLain

Bicycled Halves

To me the beginner;
it can be a challenge intimidating it to open it knowingly' enigma of the oyster and taste the secrecy in inside.
Once the talent is informed,
eating It' joy raw salty oyster will become the sublime pleasure.
Apply him access light pressure at the point
Where two halves unite coalescing.
Seed of the pearls;
squeezed pink released moisture oignent the bearded lips
hide therein.
Maintaining the shell;
moving around it can be it squeeze pop it open.
Bicycled halves with none will I share with the skillful contact and curve your head for she alcoholic drink smooth like mother-of-pearl and sample of mermaids' each there every; kisses.
After separate the flesh
and the range with the language of reach,
probe it slowly peeling each lip like if seeking a pearl.
Savour with the silk texture her pleasure,
Appreciate salt - taste opera hat without speed.
Allow the language s' to delay and It' to explore It' more with interior of the shell Quintilla she with a shiver of satisfaction
It' S act concludes.
Love is the' oyster half by half when it opens it's seated.

James McLain

Rowden

Rowden; you and inside the seat
by the and for this county and i know you care for the children hither and yon
and that short stubby car
around in which you drive, smart car that it is.
seeing you when you i first saw and you saw what yes what is that the animal you feel of fear
what if it hits me in the rear
my short stubby car
will it hurt
delivering the mail
errands too run once i was in that seat
blond tapered door
forcefully in charge of who.
do you tremble their when you see it.
does it open and close speckles
or just run and run Rurally speaking cows and barns
washing the hay
when it rains as it does on you.
But/moon is full as is your face
and it brushes the cloud
as you embrace
your fear.
silky silhouette sits on blue feathered heron it's crane

James McLain

Thursday Mass

It visits me; Thursday evenings
because it is the night
when it is free responsibilities for its parish.
The day before he visits;
freedom I can't obtain thought out of It's spirit,
I envisage ghostly; now how angles
I will welcome to him with a great juicy kiss
and cold glass milk,
and the cat becomes so wet
that the fork of my breeches is soaked.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Florida Prisons

When you have because you there must I when;
your debts whatever they where and still are long after truth has exposed and transported to another place and time
before even Christ was born,
before mosses was even a seed of faith.
Prison where with nothing but a bulb that never goes out
and over by the urinal
heard even from bed many, many men away
the sucking noises
loose gurgly bubbles and out of breath one while the other passes gas and one hundred fifty men
where their should be only twenty and some night the shadows move acre's the open dorm and can innocence be thus taken still is a whimper please praying stop different from the grunt and men tightened together
the shadow passes by you and the smell of feces unwashed
on persons with everyone where immediately and some of those wires thus deeply and incorporate and incredible dark snotty gross
less human wheezing of hell oneself.
Your spirit almost cuts under those of dead noises and odors intermingling:
hard not washed air just like that emanation of discovered and those body lay in darkness lubricates and thin and bent unquestionable bottom of bowl without the unquestionable arms thoughtless and worst of all:
the total absence of hope it wraps they covers them completely.
it's not bearable.
You obtain to the top bunk hoping that mouths walk past undiscovered
streets to the top of and to the bottom a side walk passed around the corner and back to the top of same
the thought street these men all were children once
what is produced with they the state it 'God' it knew it?
and what produced with It why for whom for what end?
It'S darkness of and cold outside and here.
Stealing a car the lowest of the low of a felony raped every day which is a life felony,

robbed weekly when your family sends money
life felony
and nine dollars to make a phone call but no one to call and not knowing what is where and whom is who
and the fence covered with Razor wire
last week I spoke to the 'guard'
He received the money and
he promised, he swore he would not miss,
I told him if he did I would..... Send this poetry to a friend.

James McLain

She Eyes The Feast

She turns over the house
and looks out at the window outside day still.
She sees the feet of the boy to the foot of her bed
and some dirty underclothing near.
Socks can also be seen;
they look out at it pink or the red.
She can say that the open boy walked around the house for a long time before removing them.
They are disgusting.
She closes her eyes and swallows her soft feast.
She continues to swallow and breathe heavier.
Sleeping still there he lies,
She lets him/other come in from the back alley
anyways they are just mostly homeless.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ocean Treasure

If you feel lost;
with It's interior of the 'Rose' parade their',
sweet technique of that which could help you.
The best position is one;
in which its knees are together
and its open is stretched of again with It's front,
and not of pulls' a side with the' other.
Have its apartment of lie example on the bed,
or an' import which horizontal surface,
like a kitchen table for example,
and upwards rumples its legs against its trunk.
This pushes its fragrant lips in unit,
involving larger a friction and trunk ocean troves treasure.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Miraculeuxment

No hope for a free aperitif
the very hot night we met in the duet of Narco.
Sea was the night when it seemed that half of Soho sought comfort in Dicky' spilled; cocktails of people held by the elbow to draw aside edge of elbow
and It's air above the bar was a gray fog of cigarette smoke, poison mixed with perfume.
Emily and me miraculeuxment marked two or three seats.
We spoke about the woman who just gave rise to a baby,
' it conceived in a box of Petri. '
the catholics are thus horrified, '; Emily said, '
they want sperm total control.'
she' took another sip of my drink.
Oasis, naturally, ' I' said, ' that's why so many catholic good girls come to the big city and become librarians or professors of gynecology or dancers.' Or?
Emily added, ' beautiful, moms of Virgie I,
' it has continued, '
fortunately an egg would give to a woman who didn't have one.'
left any good they spoiled.

James McLain

A Hysterical Girl Cries

It's tears upon almost flat table
it is so wild in It's distresses,
and he laughs
just in a hysterical way about it held together.
It then feels little sorry for the poor girl
and starts to milk it
and there out the window
in the kitchen
too many cats around the bowl
she cries when it's home living in and out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Other Finger

the finger
being run to the top of its moons opening taps
and taps beating palpitation
my lingam writes its slow soft major crushing brutal faster of yoni and before I move
my hands with his size to draw and push and raise his body because I push it until it moves like bud too open.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Key The Cross

it touches left leg off it is on It's interior
beside the wall
my right hand the key the cross
legs it uncrosses
and opens them inch or two
with ends of finger I cherish black mink slowly.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lips Are Sealed

its higher anterior higher mobile of legs
just so that I find it under black mink
there an' is nothing but the softest skin of silk;
the breath ever touched like X/rays' opened with a doctor speaking about the sex it peels off
black mink and as our lips are sealed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Black Mink

its sensitive lobes;
its black mink closes the neck with the knees
and the high heels of black pumps, reflect mornings luminous flood of the sun of midday of February by the large doors out of glass.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Pulsar

around it gently
of the race in and outside its holes minor/major
and to explore some worlds deeper
concerning its interior world in it is so much stops' it breathing active deeply take with its centre right in the mouth bottle necked
the throat expanding
constricting then while pulsating
a pulsar beyond it exploding.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Love Is Her 'Bull'

Form is 'Terra' thus hard beginnings;
with this young person big boy hers is the bull fat
giving him a hard draft but another glass other shared decides to give him special a \ ' feast \ ' like it/she calls.
It makes it turn on all the 'fours; S love is her 'Bull', and to milk its finger tendrils her' with It' S interior of its moon \ ' massage of its
walrus \ ';
with its finger just' with this makes' it blows like a cow everywhere the table of draft.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wrinkled The Eyebrows

Always, red it was one long period of lunching with school the next day,
observing its jump. It's face' seen is felt;
it had been, they thinking a manner or another,
covered simple by a dress of it.
It was annoyed.
Its trousers is felt tighter.
And he didn't smile of it to them then.
It wrinkled the eyebrows.
It wrinkled the eyebrows so much that, later,
when he thought that look deprived, alarmed and on fire,
she realized that with the astute smile a book worms of
it had allotted to it was probable a product only of its head-and that it was too innocent of she,
by conceiving it, had picture pink framed. Also, he would think,
for many the moons, of all this day's smiling,
that it knew this heart she had made, off wearing it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Red Pearls And Teals

She was one year older and it both liked.
She was larger than him, too.
Like it's is raised lid to the toilet,
it didn't/test break it off to describe its naked,
but in the place how it seemed the skipping rope
and of the burning sun of song of their songs
as it made with her friends daring game,
education physical, the thin one,
Rose'; and ' Lily Mae', turning the cord
because it jumped its turn,
the skirt of plaid rebounding risque'
to indicate the dark and muscular thighs,
its slightly balancing arms,
the red pearls and teals in it armour shining with the sun.
Long with awe my brown bagged lunch forgotten, on lap.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sand Glass

It described such a face,
smiling to him-as often it did it.
In its imagination, as with at school,
carried this uniform of the street Mary Magdelene'
a white button to the top of shirt maker and a skirt of plaid blue and gray-and although it was the same uniform other girls carried,
it was there had always been, for him,
something different about the manner
bushed it;
fairest complexioned she supplemented.
Sand in the glass, seconds were like years.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Marmaladed

It s' sat and intended to play of music
and its voice speaking to him in It's darkness.
It was ordering,
however lives appeasing, soporific, singing,
entonnant, rhythmic, suggestive, sensual, majestic,
modulation, to require, sometimes sing merrily, sometimes monotonous,
sometimes peremptory, indication of intimacy,
slip of its seeds of sunflower of seduction
after its spirit of defenses,
and plantation of them firmly in his amazed,
hypnotized and marmaladed.
It made it pleasant for you' it obeys,
and it s' is felt to go deeper than ever front,
without knowledge sometimes.
It shook its main thing awakes and made its best to fight with far alleviating, insinuating tendrils of its Article.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Black Sea

Sometimes it would allow a release,
and milk would draw through the bed
gushing white-hot.

It insane was led with the desire and blindness.

It placed a soft kiss on crying end of the Black Sea which would have brought tears to the eyes a blooded mare.

They could not be real' ' she said ',

each being lifted unrepentantly but with kind purpose.

speaking to him completely with kindness.

They can be only holograms.

They could even represent your father.

Don't be upset.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Dream Approximately

I pleasure myself.
The ends, centres, hair,
lips precipitate by my spirit,
tying its hands, smacking, seizing, pinching,
twisting its flesh.
Burying my face in it,
I dream it of the possession in all wisdom,
love and heat I can, I dream approximately.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

For The Moment

Its eyes roll upwards
during
it pushes in its mouth of waiting,
its body in the spasms.
Its lips tight harder,
milking its construction
while the wave after soft/salted vagueness runs.
Its perfect of chocolate,
satisfying its hunger - for the moment....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Deadened

Deadened; He always groaned pace it he could feel the hot liquid to start to assemble his stones
and to swallow his axis.
He seemed like slow movement warm tipid water'
he could feel heat to lower;
his enormous tap of tap right with this;
he spouted out outside in the mouth
which so much had hopelessly wished with the taste of him.
He lost the account;
how much many hour its rivers in its beautiful mouth,
but could only hear the glouglou of it's thick sun of heat
in the back of its throat.
It continued to suction on him during the sleep;
it milked and milked its stones for the all last snowfall.
It felt all its life leave off energy it during the nova
it are late on the closed eyes.
It continued to pump it and pump it so that its sterness faded.
Then it felt its fingers to withdraw the moon
and of its release of hand tightening on its stones.
Finally its mouth drew from him and it could lt'; S to envisage to swallow and lick its full red lips.
It n' a small muscle during tight a lower part to him
the sheets along the side it assembled did not move
and prolongs its head on its trunk with the sleep,
dreaming on vacuum.

James McLain

Advances

Advances then;
and milk-the - drink of him-deep
draw aside to it around your just pale yellow face between your lips
and in your hair frosted yellow because it launched mountains around you and you seize the beds edge of
and moved him with you in the top and work tightly the bottom as well
and low salty races of sweat your face is firmly of the base with above
what to you draw it up just enough with the so slow top it
of the drops and outside another drip it injects through so much consumed it quickly
how it wounds; discussion, suction, popping
each round stone with your leaves 'I' and the hot sun of bucking as it waits in It' S interior of full brown bag
how slow just it is assembled;
with the top and 'your' other at the bottom independently
how for you they inflate and with It' S end the avid breath less hands drained this light,
the night became bone-dry.
your pale yellow face
just how it moves me;
forged I will not be never identical 'I am free' dead still.

James McLain

Slow It Is Motion

slow it is motion
unsure of your why
yet why it is so certain path around sky
it too see a cloud open
but that which is/is tight around it
and around it being green interwoven
laying down between two roots
of the tree
drawn down deeply
and being
counting the steps
back word around the base
counting slowly, slowly until sleep over takes you
and down between husban still and it does and it does
while you lay there asleep
the one between inside it does seep snowy at first
into the wave
slow it is motion
that pushes aside all of the leaves
wintering, slowly entering growing and growing wrapping around all the eggs
slow it is motion
you are holding
pushing, pulling growing in much so longer peeling it open
it approximates that spot
none speak of
for ever past it it seems to glide filled so full
until
and wave after wave

springs fountain of water it flows
still asleep
inside
and in rests it is full.

James McLain

The Concept

if you are comfortable with the concept,
or It's drawing,
because it s' hang during it on' it is held on him
when it withdraws and it is always around him
and it pushes back it in
and outside it is probable you/ will can appreciate; act.
you specify that it should be give-and-take.
Which your associate of Freinds-N '
is not presented to ensure but,
the things that only you can appreciate of it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

As A Finger Moves It

i watch as water gently washing sand
morning wake of foam
sun even
feet gliding through 'puffs' wind up with the down
she leans over, she leans down
picking the weeds of green from her toes turning the sea/i see waving a visit, muscles invisible, the sea is in motion.
A young woman on the beach osprey graceful
as her longest finger taps white thin face drawn upon wound around between each salty leaf
untill it 'S.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Awaked

As we rocked to shake, awaked,
our languages whipped its undulating loose firm of tap that our muddled members danced wet we met and charmed its so succulent body came out.
Out side the screen door bottle of 'milk' is chilled.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dead We Lie

Here;
completely we are amassed,
Since then to now and thus
did not choose to live and shame the ground which sprouted grew held out of.
The life, to be sure, Is nothing with out losing much,
but the young woman think that it is,
and we were young, no more.

a.e.h.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pale Lips

and the last time it came on my panty bottom face when it was

I know what that feeling feels the boxer boys
with that downwards on their cheek to do extracting the thing with the hour long question and answer you would do this which and I' other I'
to encourage making it worse than him east.

Im it to think of her can you imagine feel it

claim for It' to like just' with this of' it comes and finish-then it in addition to me in any event
and it returns to your pale lips...

this old boy lans and leaks ' Oh' said;

a dropp even if it reached in you all after 'you' tested with green gnarly red knobbed

but you were'nt afraid of' it could break

and to obtain upwards lost in me some share piece you'

they in the past took something downwards

except ed' a woman all underneath which comes from him
is a thing of beauty and joy forever something musky'

it left a certain absurd glance to' it n' had always with me 4 and 5 times per day sometimes and me indicated

the hadn't, I be you face sticky O yes that 'it' said:

that I am completely sure a way in which It' closed; it knew what came after only normal weakness it was it has excited that until...

and it made it you more.

gliding wicked hands and in sleep to awaken it too.

James McLain

The Pond

the MAJOR END a ' Curious POND'
to see how much deep was I fond/pond
my hand in It' plunged;
the major end- but s' is quickly withdrawn
when it felt the cold to encircle my arm as an icy support.
Still testing, more careful, it's envisaged the catch of darkness
and of the cold- while my fingers probed
the depths for the stones
and mud and my arm are descended lower and lower.
Nothing. Nothing to feel and discover.
the pond was deeper at its major end ' I' d forever imagined
all in it s' raising on its board in day or hand I/her end...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cigarette

I made by behind it.

Thus, I made it flower, stretched more,
then discharged to him

has whole group!

Its first facial massage, that moment,
monday morning unshowered,

this sexy thing never poses missed under a load.

It led again to her husband.

THEN It s' there extend 'ed with it everywhere

its face his/her husband nds' done forever this with it smoked its cigarette Now
'it' stays patient of it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'I'/We\both/She\he

Thus 'i' brought my hand to its mouth
and it 'i',
and already knew licked what 'it' were going to make (and was impulsively appropriate) .
around looked it used my jacket,
and leaned against me,
nobody could see what continued - but 'i' slipped my hand into its breeches and masturbated it for a little bit while/miles.
It wasn't the incredible pleasure the act
but the fact of doing it in the street was enormous a its' light.
We made that three times
and it 'I'/we\both/she\he liked it much and screamed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Or I At It

Your small Mister to the top close to its Mistress,
the seed always far,
that is it moved us with out his knowledge
In the flows which were raised with the same joys forces as its other looking after later,
playing with its centre,
Or I at it, Or it emerging, between laughing.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Every Bodies Running

each operation of body know and have it for a long time to you
it is why you mount the train
it is only four blocks out of your manner
but when and only when and then I' effort with the play and you is too much made see is alleys completely packed completely and rising the part is and when the train moves like it makes and the skirt as in is always premeditated and it is whereas the articulations you develop white on the post while the train moves when it moves
and even the moon when completely skilful is moved on side and thinks and things that I do not know in addition to in things'
I develop completely and it tightened when and only when I suppose you it is and my knees,
my knees and my legs
and the shiver gives it far
and however outside the window the sun they observe each operation of body to succeed.

James McLain

Every Body Running

you know it
and long since have
it is why
you ride the train
it is only
four blocks out of your way
but when
and only when
and then
the stress is too much at play
and you
do
it is alleyways full packed full and standing up room is the
and when the train is moving as it does
and the skirt is always
as in premeditated
and it is then
that the knuckles
grow white on the pole
as the train moves when it moves and even the moon when full is deft
moved aside
and thinks
and things i know not of off into things'
i grow full of
and it clenched
when and only when i assume it is
and my knees, my knees
and my legs
and the shudder gives him away
and though out the window
the sun
i watch every body running
to get on.

James McLain

Gravy Train

did they...
were you drunk..
did you think not after before..
your friend's..
'said'
even if and you think..
but if you think and don't...
and the first..; but only the first'
a prick a pear a pen a word..
will it hurt..
will it squirt..if so how much..
one yellow dropp
to much..
and if so can i hide it..
if and when if it does it..
and they said that it will...
i can't think for your static..
it's low; not the attic..
push me not..
because..
what they 'said'...
if i don't...
will it hurt...
when it's full and i swell..
Whom will come for me...
then...?

James McLain

Isitpoetry@live.Com

I'; the VELvet always judged to level with you,
I' eye to be observed I finally found the devil in you sometimes;
But why I don't want to really be;
Bout strings one singing the blue each one.
When it comes to the dictionary you" 'about best off ever which I'
the VELvet met, But all this little is will still obtain to from tear's you.
But I don't want to really be Bout a singin', blue the You known as ones that you and m' like.
But if you m' really like it,
Then why you treat me this way, Your play is world this you'
Re: still gone done It'; with far and then it' S, window above sill,
Well a day I won't play of it, play of iT;
If very that I make is hook you in the same old shameful 'I' lies of it;
the Love' S right must look you with various eyes '
Cause I don't want to really be Left' the last singin'
blue the; You known as ones that you an m' like.
But if you an m' really like,
Then why you treat me this way! ! !
Your play is this you'.. Re: still gone in It'.
With far and then S it's' s above it still juicy Wet;
a day I won't; play of iT (Don'; T forget the cut)
Good destiny will determine soon you' about it.
About that to lose It'; the Lonesome is the person who'S;
handin'; you your walkin' fit '
Cause I don't want to really be Lost'
the last singin' your blue Oasis, I don't want to be really;
be Designed singing the blue ones/one day late.
If you come i will listen, to you perhaps..of me.

isitpoetry@live.com

James McLain

Finalement

I am wild,
as wild as the girl I am.
Clouds you' they part,
surrounding the heart of I' tree.
I will sing to you the night.
I will sing with you to the stars in the sky.
I know It is love, I am loved,
it is mine, I am yours.
Finalement it can move to me can it die!
It is varied to the step for the wind and with the flame, beseched its heart-I'; m on fire and s' open to give,
I can read on it's palm when it touches the star,
Sun; I can give while I live off him by through me!
You help me up/sitting we watch, clouds hang down.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Can You I Can

and it is/it is open and when i look looking back
worried yes, so it is worried
back and forth
and the pace of it
like beating the heart of the humming bird
it is how so frantic gently as with it's egg
should i can you
but help if but by the heat
and being blind
the toying of it by open opening wider
detectable on my face as if the sun
but softer until it has come upon my face
like the feather tips dipped in red fire
is it closed is it open take my hand
show my finger where it is it is as i though it would be as you said it would be as hard as
the sand
wet under my feet
green waves of foam
hand taken thus shown
it is home
yes you i can/can you.

James McLain

Soft Rains Will Come

Then there will come the soft rains
and new odor of the ground and the swallows;
surrounding air with their new found joy.
and frogs in the swimming pools adrift
their star light returned
and avocados tree in the blending green.
the blackbirds will carry their feathery friend red fire,
left behind their whims on a low barrier-wire;
and not one will know such as it was
and none will make worry finally when it is made.
this world one would occupy,
neither bird nor tree, if I look back and drifting falls off foot steps waves foam hidden gone washed anew completely,
and itself arises, when it s' is time, who knew.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hope-Hour Rubbed Its Sun

you n' did not come, and the up time drew above,
and carried numb.
however less for the loss of your dear presence
there that/that I thus found that missing in yours made this high compassion which can overbear hesitation for pure; is it's sake the sake' it is thus affected, when, because lot's hope-hour rubbed its sun, n' you did not come.
you do not like, and only it's love
can lend fidelity to you; - i know and knew it. but,
with the store of the human contact guess in all except the name, was it?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Never Try To Have It

Gradually a feeling; harmony will emerge.
You will start to lose your ideas of '; doing' her/him; .
You will fall literally under the charm from him and you.
You are between him and it is between you maintaining it.
Nobody is principal to.
Nobody is according to.
One body pulls it.
One body pushes it.
One body two/tether ed it.
Thereafter you will obtain It's impression
that you are a breath, an energy, an orgasm.
You will not know who is male and who is female.
The stay like this during some time in it.
One pulling it one pushing it.
No one knowing, until both.
You can talk� even the laughter.
What can you say in such moments extase?
When It's extase comes, never try to have it.
It will disappear the moment when you try to maintain it in your catch.
...
..

James McLain

Morning Fire

To think how much lucky; ; of making with
'you which I'; to make against all the chance cry to think of the mother, sisters like mothers their dreams divided
but never completely;
We making the blow and eye with morning fire
of famished hot obtain a balance in this momentary space
by words a poèt said he writes with his blood I with my small pica bodies to write in order to remember to be pointed out our dreams our humility our noises making.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Mother' The Moon Of It Is '

Perfect' each manner,
the skin on its full moon is '
Smooth' like ' Silk.' Its ' Bottom' is the ' well-rounded; Perfection, 'With all the two its creamy cheeks
like the ' white; Milk! '
My mother has a really tiny size,
'green avocado middle butter'
And its soft moon is ' Pooched' outside ' Perfectly.'
Its valley divides these cheeks which I find thus the ' Candy, '
And the '
Treasure' hidden it, n' there does not have too reach! '
she likes him, and me like it too.
My mother knows the
' Thing which I want the ' Majority,
'Thus it rolls more on a ' motion, '
This raises its ' face caked'
the moon upwards in the sky,
And it ' Heats' my retriever like the' sun'.
While the mother groans and sighs,
and the ' Arcs the sky' it behind.
My mother made know it feels my language,
' she groans it, and her 'Hips' start with the ' Move.'
And when ' ' It's; Locked' my mouth on top it sighed.
And licked and sucked it just so that it changed its 'Cut! ' ' groaned and whispered of my mother;
John' saint; ; , It'; ' of iS; pooched';
outside like a young person '; Bud'; opening.
My mother haleté when it is felt to go freely,
She groaned and the ' said; 'Johnny you'; about no twig!
You return to me avid like a small pig! '
And my mother'
like the pink pig her pearls haleté with pleasure, and sighed!
To feel weak with its moon strongly tightening.
Mother' ' kept by the moon of; Milking';
outside my milk, do the neighbors
know I the adopted, old women on the mountain tops.

James McLain

Green Foam

liked were the silky hair
however smooth and the attractiveness woven twine just the fair foam-like the body
and the soft-spoken mouth.
mine aime were the noble body attracting it and the milky sweet angelic heart face just,
the beautiful modest mouth and the white thighs.
lost in thick green foam sounded a woodsman...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Of Monday

just like quickly like switch,
a flash of light shock hyper my body,
it is increased during watch a feather and remains to him suspended in the middle of this light approach,
with its chief moving upwards, vibrations.
brilliant speck' of l' is so of light of; skeleton
' it lights the drawing of Monday.
the light is so luminous it lights the design of my bones.
the structure of begin the filaments to vary in with,
conscience fixes quotas for growth of my married with you;
was like if Monday aspect of skeleton, upon the structure.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Crime Of Poetry Is When

the ashamed crime of poetry it writing.
writing of poetry
should obviously never not be encouraged - when and increasingly tormented by imaginations urges cannibalistic.
This summer it invited a female with his apartment
on the pretext he wanted I' helps with learning French kiss.
It made an awkward passage to it and when it pushed back,
it went behind its and drew by the head.
It then had the sex nécrophile before and sections of cutting of its centres, buttocks, lips and thighs,
it/he ate believed and slightly cutting in sections.
Watching the throngs coming in and out McDonald's through the window.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Oh Dad'

'oh dad' with your pink of fingers
with from which whoms udders you drink?
Thy milk 'oh' it runs by each sunny face moved around the lips embraced.
Milk-thus to me dad, milk to me now!
And thus i look at transfixed clear glass with half full
with the juice in sweat, daisy absorbed so much quickly
each fall that i lick,
swallow with hard around the basin, once completely.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cry Into The Mask

We carry the mask which grimace
and hides the lines,
it hides our cheeks
and blood our eyes, - This debt which we pay with the human perfidy;
With the hearts torn and of bleeding we smile,
and stops with innumerable subtleties.
Why would the world being overwise have,
By counting all our tears and sighs?
Nay, left them only see us, whereas We carry the mask.
We sing, but oh I' of clay mortar is cheap;
thick red mud Under our feet, and a long time the thousands many;
But leave the dream of the world differently, We carry the mask!
That built your dreams as the long wide leather cracks
the picture now of silver bracelets tarnished black.
Knowing not where you go, welts upon our backs.

p.l.d.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Early After Bloom

Heart shaped-yellow flowers needing
no support; finger tips soil fragrant;
Sun or shade hanging fern green house, moon;
Hansom no running- hard after bloom
needing yes;
needing some sun; before is it after it rains.
White flowers; shaped after each bloom,
red hope full berries come out in the fall.
Shinny leaves; need some support
Floridians, fine pink and off white reaching up words too medium height.
Blue flowers; woody twiner-prune very,
lightly many varieties.
Long house-shorten shoots, laterally cut back to/two nodes early after bloom needing sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Buttermilk Biscuits

Then when it asked what you said,
you took a milk drink,
and all what we could include/understand...
to shine in his viscosity and the flutter with honey.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

White Wig

Is fine, another aristocratic manner:
spirit is brother with this sister and is,
hidden it is so narrow, is the force of drying,
oily incest, let's sharpening machine....
Vine choked tree, hanging orchids..
Torrey white wig, rosy pink cheeks.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Beautiful, ' I Am Handsom

Beautiful she is/I am handsom?

Naturally!

Made you/his cause.

To lose it's breath.

I taste the compliment subtle my hand you made caress it.

Cut me into the tiny not very,

Savor and tame my heart,

which piously swallows you at any end.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Certain Softer Passion

Why you afflict it and do not care,
heavy exposure my dissatisfaction,
you like but I am forced to seem to many, I make,
to however dare not to say itself never wanted to say,
I seem dumb rigid but towards It's interior with the face.
I am and not, I freeze but am flaring.
Since of me another individual you turned.
My care is like my shade;
with the sun and night moon full as it follows Me around the hazy edges the arrow darts, flies when I continue it, is held and been by me, does what I made of it.
Its does too with familiar of care show me the sky.
Action means which I find to remove it from my centre, death with warm breath
the end of the things it is suppress.
A certain softer passion slip into my sleeping spirit,
because I soft and am made snow of cast iron;
Or be crueller, love, and are this to pleasant smile.
Leave me or float or go down, are high or low.
Or let live to me with even more soft dreamy contents,
or die and forget this which love left before us meant

James McLain

And Which Is Milked

And which is milked?

Each cow has its own qualities
health and; emotion,
however milk of which we drink
is freely mixed of all the cows
with the farm.

Ayurvedically, this milk is already tamasic
and nondigestible, implying confusion,
the lethargy, fear and anger.

Surely a cow which lives in constant fear,
the fear of its life and the deprivation of its calf,
will carry emotions such as anger,
insult, fear and hatred.

These are then the emotions that we digest
when we drink of this milk.

Knowing not the hand nor the cow nor the farm;
Is calf to blame.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Feeding Baby

sometimes you obtain; ; ' just to recommend'
it to milk your nipples in the new ones and enthraling places - this public whole of mother's milk takes place at length a quiet lake,
I' perfect environment to pulverize milk outside.
a fast bath obtained to him I' drowsiness of nipples milk of hard splashing up and already half during splash' it upwards
assembled its body enclosure on the shore.
it obtains the motherload milk pouring in bottom of its trunk - apparently this bath helped you' more;

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hot Pressure

They look with hot contemplation
at the time when its hot pressure... stops drawing hot milk from me
a small innocent face looking in my face.
My good children....
Its mouth feels like fresh hot milk and I like so much, ...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Gothic

My love, my expensive,
I touch your cold flesh,
I embrace your blue lips, and request.
this evening you will return.
never not to still leave.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Goat 'Milk'

She fights to remain on her feet,
and you/me known as it over bred.
A certain passion badly placed for cheese or being the best.
I heat the goat's milk on your furnace and think of the way in which; to frightened
were to go to school for the first time,
how you cried in my arms because you did not know to read.
You thought that you must already know what he should teach you.
The manner we cry;
just' so that we are red with the birth not knowing to live.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Le Feu

Fire, I know it burns it is hot.
this flame is the flame you/I got.
To extinguish.
Touched nevertheless,
you worsen it only much.
Certain things, a thousand liked.
Your fever can develop. Do not cry.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Little D' Dark Angel

little d' dark angel with pleasing eyes
when it comes time to touch the sky
i won't burn of it and i won't catch flame of it around it.
i can only look to your eyes,
where they take me, is back to the sky.
as i move along the bottom clouds, between.
i was partly,
and i will remember your small part to feel it/you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

White Of Lily

When the kisses of lily went up;
and lily that I knew.
and trees I thought...
developed very deep. and lived...
in the forest.....
and green... the hay is soft...
and brown... dry foam asks why.
and white of lily... point out the sky...
soft cotton..... how it whirls.
there it raised both.
so pensive... of thought... ..
soft breath. and..
I was held... too close to... their heart by far... .. and when. I know....
how. the pinks develop...
and in a hurry... back and forth.....
and cups. milk... I lent grove. and spices...
candies with sugar....
they announced... them... now. both why.....
while.
lilies thrown a bridge over on. soft pinks. bank..
and the water...
underneath flows off....

James McLain

My Love 'Oh' For It

Oh for it my love
so much so at dawn the hand sowed;
he will everywhere find it;
It will wake it the night,
it enfold it in the sky.
means shade into its opinion set,
and I am me, I flown off;
with out demands
that can be it a cloud by day and the night a pit of.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hello 'Love'

Hello love,
and is it you whom have broken it off and thus;
Your spectrum around me/warms it lost,
'are my days.
As but keeping of such me, a wild animal,
i smile as you keep my way above it face smooth;
You/my thusness has kept we/us a long time their,
fire swept side.
Come,
come quickly without delaying for it is cut deeply.
With, thee 'It's;
therefor too wander, there both that we cry of;
On the spreading wings of butterflies as they open wide.
Though they come more than to solicit it
and as such follow thoughts, the wind of our beings.
My spectrum that follows the cliffs above them narrowly,
'behind the pale moons, looking up at the sky, I see.
It feels thus likened unto,
is thy watercress blooms in the basin of all that is you.
By hail of winter and rain the pain under the mask of it feels.
exceeds the weight on the limb but/as for the tree.

James McLain

Can You Say To Me/Stop

can you say to me/stop.
and i shake;
when you gently, i know.
i hurt.
and knowing this gently, you made.
and even the sleep.
deepest of dream of one
with whom you know.
when you/this with gently,
i and you move it more.
when you gently and gently,
i hurt..... you know.
and behind brown eyes, i sleep.
observing the swans, you make.
i hurt,
bending observing a neck,
as it yields too your elegance.
you made and gently, so much gently.
and i in my sleep with you fate.
and bearing so much gently with you,
i shake.
and i make tears through the waves,
i' blue of sea Mr/you.

James McLain

Poem Haters Toilet

pink on the out side
it is dark and quiet
only it's head is held
above the bubbles
effervescent a poo is present.
It scintillates oily, Lot's toilet water
the brown one feels, soft on my skin '
I didn't; eat of the import,
which yellow white floats made from corn';
Jug' s poke with the poo inside it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Daddies Gentle Hand

It felt the heat; ; Of its Mendoza pulley... press deeply between its thighs confidence
it's betrayed L' innocence lost 'l' love was its 'disguise It 'l' held narrowly,
Its voice so much gently Its temptation, it's praise careful,
Professes, incentive, councils Ainsì it could have its manners.
To be unaware of its naivety lamp-shade with it trusting eyes
voracity of its virginity with its threats and lies egoistic.
The contract now made temporarily it is satisfactory,
with its appetite hungers still for what its small body can provide.
Filled of confusion torment and unmerited shame; ;
Its cap d' child stolen 'piped' by unfair,
a heart-suction of the play Unworthiness of survival
with dignity his life is changed for always.
Its secrecy well-is hidden behind its pleasant and honest face.....
And its charitable and Christian heart
single/married suspects prays child molest ant the partition.
The invisible bars imprison its heart with being with martyrdom contradicted and pain its unforgivable sin maintained living on and on several occasions
restored by its memory thus it never finishes; ;
For always it takes it apart And Always he will gently gain.
By watching her guide..daddies gentle hand..
Searching for that face on the side walk, driving by.

James McLain

Goth

Let feel It' to me;
darkness by your eyes!
Grant to me the night to know the sky,
without clouds It draws you developing in spirals to the bottom with the worlds of depth I want that your despair is my desire by lord It S'
incite to lock; your blood like it is reversed downwards.
I' beseech to hear your voice and its cry boring of veneer.
You'; the Goth ' brought back to the pleasure of this J' spot;
have I' intention d' to widen it/it';
just' with this my' it/you can'; T and is to him.
I must feel your cold arm, once and only.
And your sternness forcing me with my/knee; s;
apart mine requesting from you; to be,
all which you are and completely.
Black and purple aside, Your denial forces it deeper
my tears to charge outside, yellow of sun becomes.
You became my entirety; tree of the life
And your rejection;
selects with my hope like a pocket all the empty days.
If one does not allow me to see your world,
then pluck my eyes 'Sexy Chick' outside 'outside
my brains before you fill it of honey.
Inject my veins with the center with it untill;
so that your fixed glance cannot fill them of the ice Utilize your/my sword to perforate the sky
with a rapid redundancy over and over;
ready medium being held in the point; handled.
Leave me to die here in blood reversed,
Permeates my sadness to filter outside in It' red flood Your constant rejection does not give me any reason ed' to test Without your affection... you don'; to cut T to die, unless you want and wanting it/it only grows wider and wider untill.
Goth 'you have come to your sciences.

James McLain

Exposed

Exposed out of the suns yellow heat
left within the ice blue cold.
Fear by the seat of this knowing.
No matter how i reexamine it/it always stays the same a thought.
No matter what.
'Lily' out side and 'Rose'
It seems to me, to life a breathe.
What they do we know and fear it not even help it come out side and touch
that spot untill it runs some more.
Yes, but my perdjudice is there for the tree.
Trees, Trees every where trees, what of war.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hay A Needle

DESCENDED, from the good shepard,
over there of the size of mountain course:
Which pleasure lives in the face (did the shepherd she/he sing) ,
in the face and cold, the splendour of the hills?
She slake her thirst, in running streams and slipping stone.
But cease thus moving close to the skies, and cease slipping an sun ray by the blown pine, a needle lay
to put back a star on the arrow tipped it flutter;
there doth the dove, it lay.
And come, because It's love is in the valley, come,
For It's love is the valley, come, inside the valley rest and sleep, or,
descend a thousand steps And find it not;
by the happy threshold, it,
Or red with the crimson spirted of the torn shanks,
Or foxlike in the vine; neither care to go, hand known
With death and the morning on the gold angled horns,
Neither fades the thousands snare it so;
in out the white ravine, nor find it 's dropt on the estuaries of the ice dripping not,
That slope to blotter itself in autumns furrow-split to roll the torrent out of the dark doors and the sea it waits below.

James McLain

The Soft Spring The Pleasant King

The spring,
the soft spring, it is in the year';
the pleasant king,
ring of fire each flower each thing then,
then the good ones dance in a ring,
the cold puncture of doth not, the pretty birds sing:
The plan and can make It' homosexual of country houses,
the lambs gambadent and play,
the shepherds whistle all the day,
And we intend birds yes to grant this merry configuration:
The fields breathe cotton candy,
the daisies embrace our feet, of young people in love meet,
old wives needing a-to expose to the sun rest,
In each street these airs our ears greet: The merry day.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Came Dawn

It came subtle nudges and whispers too rolling over folding onto its self became.
Such trembling; why age erupted youth blinding; eyes moved impassioned hues
spectral ribboned seated core of light.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Deaf In An Ear

The insane woman Compte 'S daily being still harms,
except each night when it'; S hot.

The flies are worse over there, come here.

Today front, won'; T you have faith.

Some wigglers, s' draw aside

inside from outside support the manners, here they are.

You come there and there here and

do you sit a charm, can you around the sun, can you draw?

While we wait on them,

you can still say to me, I'; m deaf in an ear.

See that the type? ' with its head hung downwards,

it I' beat with it true; so true good enough.

This mare more over there can look at true, truely slow down,
with the fast hands about it.

While drawing on this cord like that, it' S;

wonder of S.P.C.A. n' import which body awaits you.

By gollies no I ain'; T

had still of projectiles since I' have for the last time considering that the sheep of farmers, listen hear how.

I only still Count daily been being be,

except each night when it'; S hot.

You think yourselves can draw all above that these trimmings and part of leave for what'; S.P.C.A. indicated?

James McLain

Aujourn 'D

The most invaluable ornament, clear faces.

Out of whimsical silk and all 'I' it'; tales of imagination of S. Plus than deeply mythology. So that the woman can go naked, on the streets paved in gravel, while vêtue.

Nothing sports she, but luminous coloured evening gowns.

Almost religious, sericulture d' it'; the knowledge she

Offering' S., some phase to make thus, ' ; Standing'; stones keep above cloud, this secrecy.

Even aujour d' today, windy never being it is thus.

And it is, always so cooling because of him.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tears During A Tremor

my love I cannot individually help it my their for me sometimes I drink you by the center where you are wet and oily the feeling of heat I /lass are the days and I feel your day by your cylinder heads it'; s center of operation
as to him makes while you prolong outside around inflated
as what made you lost in the thought any way and it thus opened you to the top and of the rich person;
a person like the soft wet ground;
how it s' is hung moist around my tree of cedar as well and
each day your face when it comes as it makes on him;
encourages you to recall me what is still left to come
as it leaves you very with It's interior and
these noises;
I that some times make hearing your wet noises as well; as jumping they make
and suction,
whistling halfway of the afterwords draw side with you above it vastness the knowledge makes you the good and then you guide the finger above the head gasket and reasons thus the hot sun burns it encourages you to cry more and I cannot help the gears during your tremor
during the gathering; during the kisses they make and in the center your cylinder heads as they make it very wet and all that I can make is to embrace the ring specification far;
although more than you made and inflated they are very well and will sleep knowing that I will kiss you there;
they s' always extend and alleviate to the bottom and you resting as you made it too the top of the hill.

James McLain

A Boxroom D'

boxroom and bipolar each luxury mixture of maniac enters between the lines of the pad d' deeply the marshes.
The majority 'ed to go only as a remote thought north,
like top of each pine to seek a feather behind or two.
Left behind by the last in love which controlled the nest.
Support-can-being;
then I' was nice boxroom on the back a certain alligator
upscaled rehensible and prehistoric.
However with a returned arm that martini was not ever reversed and sippin it d';
a certain green reed eccentric Être has it'; back d' aspiration.
Isn'; T it odd how much egocentric person and completely in the past I'/your alligator was made outside to be.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Light Is Purchased.. (1)

When we both are;
separated into silence and tears, ignored.
W'ye, and when you left me for wine and other grape varieties.
Hurry now sour, shriveled brown vines my sun, avoids.
The middle and once green with clover 'Dear' he wained.
Broken and your neckline has in recent years.
Put your flame in the cold and now hides your day
colder than kissing lost, made, I should.
Reality and feverish delirium this time examining the past.
Hidden by the hours in every minute disappeared like snow.
The morning dew gray clouds his face in tears
went down,
cold on my face etched stone - he felt again,
and the like - no warring
this in what sense, the daughter of my 'I now must stake.
Wish your everything I just mentioned, talk to me, again,
the deaf ears of the queen smug now gone wandering mind sometimes a woven mat.
Broken, and my light is purchased your glory:
Hear pronounced thy name thy shame,
and leaves the flame burning.
The black robes,
They call them before me/you, 'Bell Tolls on the deaf ears against mine'

Once the ear of the thine;
A chill creeps now seaps up spine, oh you hear and what not Flown/our needs - are-why-not' sun/yellow now mine'.
Thousands of my tears, I spent, they have a large vessle sunk!

James McLain

Light Is Purchased..(2)

They know that this step which I speak, reason fled more sought your heart it's you that I thought you knew mine.
Who knew thee too well - a long period,
long and we spent a lot in you in the street.
I too would be deeply felt, also indicate.
I never, how ever, in secret we met - In silence, the language has been preserved.
Thus mine thy heart could forget.
Thy spirit deceive them.
When I meet you next, after long years
How then should we still be welcome, so if through you?
' NOT' 'Veiled by your shame,
But with your silence and my tears, 'I' can help, nor shield you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Lady 'loves' Her Mister

Because of it 'we' laughed as grass is green there is she common.
Realized; how it is I became, such implied in her, with favor.
And being left off distant of, but near to her, I thus became.
Whose teeth white flashed, the sun as she was now to show them.
I was drawn inside by sweet minty breath, she 'made', as was it
I inhaled with each profound look, I rediscovered.
Lost then finally found within, dark caves of sound, so deep
and smooth, so rich and throaty, singing music all the time.
Never ravaged but by scotch and time and filtered cigarettes.
Though detached always above, I look again below it, such is an undulation a visitation, invisible muscles, the sea is moving.
A young woman; on the beach 'she' hurries past us saying,
drawing briefly it aside a red and white, pair of cheap sun glasses.
Made they 'said' in 'china' hot a sweating mask, I looked beyond it.
Bronzed this body made, I think of posies, confusing she with her.
"If your woman and the Mister' (wish to take it to the ocean,
does the lady and the Mister) 'wish to wash it lightly off'
One day, 'one time each grain of sand and foam, 'she did - politely ask?
I decided that if it comes when 'I'and if 'I' must,
that this next verbal jolt, 'when it hit' could fly a kite without a tail,
certain repercussions of those acute remarks, open cuts bleeding might as hearts are won and then as thoughts be lost.
She with her and I, this afternoon could still may be, the sun so hot.
I concentrated on both, by my seat a well of deep emotions.
With a careful, deeper why, I trust my mind, too find it wonders.
Kept thus safe in time, inside I've grown to know and ponder why.
Wistful he for she/her much and subtle this my love, could be her double.
Once was I, of kind like mind, a person drifts at times so far away, when life like that just walks away or simply floats right past us.
Then washed amongst the rocks and foam the wind it blows away.

James McLain

Left Crumpled Whispering

her fingers working
long after the eyes were stripped.
through this, his moist dark reaching for a tissue and scraped to past the surface her once inhibited self,
the smeared and oozing
left crumpled whispering in the trash.
breasts lactating, leaving spots in a hurry always.
each night wears like this,
both eyes squinting from the trash
of q-tips and boxes of used tampons applicators,
tissue wads hardly unfolding with words.
empty plastic bottles of douche, one finger of vinegar.
cheap dark panties always moist warm and wet,
torn and ripped,
quickly tucked inside my purse
and asking for, his begging
for more change it seems always.
the two babies and wooden churches;
he 'said' certain things;
would be easier after each one came.
i do not like the dark rooms
smelling of old coats and hats moth balls.
and another comes not many months after the last.
and only sixteen and frazzled hair, deviously
always so full i can hardly.
wait.
Father.....

James McLain

The Talking Stranger

though i only move about
the out side of it...
some times i see through..
to the face on the other side..
and as i gently some times..
a little more firmly untill she does...
and repeating it over and over..
until she cries...
and being mostly she does...
being his sister..
left me to thinking..
why would he ask me that?
Crazier than the crazy old man..
I left back down yonder..
a spell....
i hate moving on.....
but i must..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Kisses Fond

An affectionate kiss, and then divide us.
A good-bye,
and then for always!
Deeply in heart-extorted tears
I of thee disengagement of each sighs
Antagonistic and I the meanings;
thee of wages of love and with it under standing.
Who will indicate that fortunes thus afflict it,
While our star of hope,
does hope it start from Her?
Me?
Both tearful.
They flutter in thy light;
Dark despair bright around me.
Know thus we blame my imagination lost was partial,
nothing could resist my Fancy;
But to see it was of I to like it Love but lips,
and love for 'lips' her always.
We never had each loved like this.
To indicate with kindness.
We never had such love,
indicates the blind man.
Not ever joined together-or not ever separated-
We had joined in the middle broken.
Thee of price deep well,
hearts by the thousand accessed and most honestly!
Thee of price paid well,
Thousands love to kiss them better and expensive!
Thine is like a joy and a treasure,
pleasure, love, and pleasure!
An affectionate kiss, and then divide us.
A good-bye, alas,
for always!
Deeply in both hearts-extorted tears I of thee,
thee from I.
Engagement * sigh* antagonistic and both hard working.
Such our wage of love and both the wage... fond of kisses.

James McLain

I Carried Your Heart

i carried your heart within me
which
i am never without
it is important
that it goes
where ever I go
as it covers my heart
inside me

....

..

and it's consumed by yours
my heart
it is made by yours
is mine
now yours to take inside me

....

..

my only fear of fears
is this of you
my darling

....

..

for you are my destiny
my sugar refinery
which I do not want the world
to know

....

..

beautiful you are my world,
my truth
behold
and in it you are
high above the moon
and the sun
always sings
you are the principal

....

..

this discovery
my secrecy
that nobody knows
it is there

....

..

root of the root
and bud of the bud
and sky of the sky
one tree of life

....

..

what can grow deeper than that
no heart can know

....

..

my heart can but hope
and your heart
inside mine too hide
your the reason
that i carry your heart
with mine
in your heart
of hearts none will find
but mine.

James McLain

Behind A Curtain Cut

How do I get past the staged layers
with all of the clear curtains
seeing what goes on behind them.
Wigs, sheer vanity profiles the face
stays hidden it often beneath and paint.
To hide the cuts and bruises.
I would get up from my seat that sucks
me in and release it
but the audience would only, applaud.
I only feel bad for the woman, the men
do not have what I need.
What woman one does I know.
I wait behind the curtain, looking out
at all the faces as they try not to sweat.
As the light moves down across them,
they change seats with one another.
Switching masks with each other.
To disguise and cover up their fate.
For just that one moment when it rises and falls.
The orchestra is not privileged to see it.

c.e.mc.

James McLain

And As Heavy As Her Want

You; are no different than me
to her, lovely is our she.
When you are as warm as her face
and as heavy as her want
our need.
Even in sleep and even in sleep.
Handled properly you are/she by.
While there in that warm, white place.
Lips for a while so full and as full
as that which is why so full it is.
Thus being there watching her cross the stream upon the stones.
One moves independently of the other in front of her hands
while the other, lags not that far behind.
And in them from behind R.E.M...you come.
In time to watch the moon slide down across
the sky and sit above that tree.
The warm stream becomes a creek, becomes a trickle becomes a dropp and then it stops.
And emptied, the moon never appeared so full.

James McLain

My Hearts Your Breeze

Do I what you must as I remember to this way how I want you, how I want you/you know I remember when you are, this way.
You were considered to be ready by the lake - I wanted then forever then to take to you;
too forever and stick the thorn for ever in your side;
Your grass remains; thick and lush and green and high.
The moon reflects the waters tiny sparks, with the stars that I remember, that you put it in warmth and crying by my face like I remember to you it is this way for.
I swear by you it is;
that I remember where I swear the cotton sky is how?
In by-mornings out by night; windchime'd;
yard and birds,
hear crickets and the smell of sea and salt's;
the sun assembles through out the center,
with the top your sky as champagne pink which has scintillated in your eyes all each every day that I remember that you put it warm their by my face;
Do I what I remember to you it is this way,
I swear by you that I remember;
where are the cotton clouds that I swear by, even now?

James McLain

A Lady And Her Mister

Because of it 'we' laughed as nature does so common green.
Realized it is to I become, such implied there in her favor.
And being left off distant of, but near to her, I thus became.
Whose teeth that flashed, when in the sun as she did show them.
I was drawn inside by sweet each breath she 'made', as was it temporary, I inhaled with each profound look, I rediscovered.
Lost then finally found within, dark caves of sound, so deep
and smooth, so rich and throaty, singing music all the time.
Never ravaged but by scotch and time and filtered cigarettes.
Though detached always above, I look again below, such is an undulation, visitation, invisible muscles, 'I' see them moving.
A young woman; on the beach 'she' hurries past us saying,
drawing briefly it aside a red and white, checker/ed bandanna.
Made it 'said' in 'Kansas' hot a sweating mask, I look beyond her.
Bronzed this body made, I think of poesies, confusing she with her.
"If your woman and the Mister' (wish to take it to the ocean,
does the lady and the Mister) 'wish to wash it lightly off'
One day one time a grain of sand and foam, 'she did - politely ask '
I decided this next lightning bolt, when it hit could not be stopped, certain repercussions of those acute remarks, might thus be lost.
She with her and I, this afternoon could still be, maybe salvaged.
I concentrated on both, by my seat a well of deep intentions.
With a careful, deeper why, I trust my mind, too find consensus.
Kept thus safe this time, inside I've grown to know, to ponder why.
Wistful is for she/her much and subtle for my this, could be her double.
Once was I, of kind like mind, a person drifts some times so far away, pulled out of life
and washed amongst the rocks and foam the wind it blows away.

James McLain

The Crazy Man

Expects every day to be summer again,
except for each night when it's hot.
The flies are worse over there.
Today just before, have some faith.
Some wigglers, are moving back in
from out back a ways, here they are.
You there and there come here
and sit down a spell, can you draw?

While we wait on them, can you tell me again, I'm deaf in one ear.
See that fella with his head hung
down, she beat him to it real good.

That mare over yonder may look
real slow, with fast hands about her.
Pulling on that string like that, it's a wonder any body expects you to.

By gollies no I ain't had another one of those shots since I last saw that farmers sheep, listen hear now. I only Expect every day to be summer again,
except for each night when it's hot.
Do you think you can draw all of that on that pad and leave room for what's said?

g.b.

James McLain

Thus It Is 'You' My Requiem..2

Eyes so tempting and attracting.

Hair soft, length, silky, pulled apart completely.

So nice and adorable nose.

Lips curvy and sexy

and so good to embrace on several occasions.

Ears right,

just to nibble and use the loops mine ear most expensive.

The blouse again modified the tonality and- eye- is bronzed.

Round centres, smoothes, hot, full deeply of spirit.

Tightened nipples, company, hardened at the point of that explosion.

The company of belly or the grease of the baby,

right just for kisses of butterfly and buttered wings.

Navel bored with a small bell or a balancing jewel doing you the glance more trying.

Weapon thin but modified the tonality.

Hands with covered fingers pink rings of all the kinds.

Creamy thighs and milky company so that the children rebound on and on - so that I seize above.

Large hips so that the children can come at the time.

Large legs in short shorts, heels, to precipitate sexy shorts well equipped.

Feet and toes also holding of the rings and tattooings here and there so much enough.

The so wet language and awaking,

with Juste a flick or licks your lips.

Company the moon, bubble formed, and so hard not to touch.

Express the husky every funny hour but when your serious.

Occupy you of pointed, smart and thus as intelligent, of sensual, erotic, each one is mischievous, charms, idiotic, and most certainly full with the fair moments.

Your pocket secret wet, hot, sticking, tight, and palpitating for me. Draining our batteries of cellphones completely right to speak and hear voices of each one.

Hours of expenditure on speaking on the line,

about no end, on and on amused white dove a messenger.

My light in I' eternal darkness.

My force for when I cannot continue.

My wisdom for a better judgement,

for a priest i am not nor wish to be.

My happiness when I drown in the pain.

My joy of faith,
when I have missed all hope.
My answered prayer.
My calm when I am annoyed.
My dream comes true. My inspiration. My desire.
My love. Your quiver never went away I went.
And is.' This my last poetry of love', for you I write herein.

....

.....

James McLain

Thus It Is 'You' My Requiem..1

Thus it is my requiem;
have only eyes for you my love
the sky is soft as are the clouds beneath.
I would fall to my knees above your tomb
even during, always after 'Love' it rained on me.
Crying, softly soaked wanting you behind.
This I promise to you that I would show you so much with my passion of 'Phoenix', it is late left thus.
My covetousness for you is toxic.
My desire of your blouse attracts.
During a serenade of moonlight we would slow down
the dance with a blue old man æ it.
If I lost you because 'I' lost you once again.
The deep columns underneeth my knees and would request
so that you pay it my attention left to me.
Looking at old photographs of me and smiling
you and considering narrow lines and I poured
a simple tear for you.
Seeing your daily face, knowing beautiful - how you are
and wanting to awake with you daily.
I cannot live without your love.
Your kisses. Your pressures. Your hot pressures.
Your soft laughter. Your flexible individual in the bed.
Your glance fixes the sunrises in the morning.
Each curve of your blouse.
Warm silk your love, now I had and am behind you
for my more, my more of you.
My invaluable moonflower. My choking black went up.
Who developed in my garden of serenity.
Your tenderness,
when I cannot and am weak and to your face.
I will be never free of your charm which you moulded on me
and that I am grateful for.
Oh my lady which I strike the door of the sky,
wanting to you and thus the bad one, it is you know that I am,
but denied me not that simple cause of pleasure.
I am not worthy of you.
The foam at the edge of the ocean with the mouth of the river intertwined..

with the cause of my rage which your love pushes me with the madness and over here and there.

The engagements I intervened to defend my love for you.

The constant marking that I received not to leave you.

It is very, even now for you because;

I like thus kissing the bad in you my baby.

My version of soft pandémonium. My eternal joy.

My first and last during amongst this short life.

All the gifts I bought to you to show that my affection for you is rather never there but rather what we feel.

But my love it is right for you.

To rest here looking at the 'PEAKS' frank of you and me of a long time forgotten escapes now created by: a simple mask, past loves installation.

You are my image in value thousand words and are more.

Wind in my sail when I sail my boat on the lake.

My compass for which you guide me directly in your heart.

Final drug for which I become high of day each labor

..

.....

....

and is thus a priceless for you.

James McLain

Around Soft Wet Ground

my love I cannot help my individually
their for me
sometimes i drink of you by the center
where you are wet and moist heat i feel are the days and I feel your day by your breeches
it's center running as it does
while you extend out puffy like what made you lost in thought
and it opened you up thus musky and rich a person
like soft wet ground
how it clung moistly around
my cedar tree as well
and each day your face when it comes as it does on him makes you recall me
what is left still to come
as it leaves you all inside
and those noises i some times make hearing your wet noises as well;
like popping they make and sucking, piping more from halfway the afterwords draw aside to you above the pinkness
knowing it does make you good
and then you guide the finger above the reason and the so hot sun it makes you cry more and I cannot help the tears
during your quake as they collect during kisses
they make in the center your breeches
as they make it very wet
and all that I can make is to embrace the lips far although more you made and puffy
they are very well
and will sleep knowing I will kiss you there they lay still and quieten down
and you resting as you do.

James McLain

Oh' His How So Quickly

All the sky has cast it off.
White rich pink faced.
The sky was red again.
We did not have anything to make,
muchless of it to stay.
We approached with the conclusion
next each poor day,
And there seemed to be nothing
hidden even there,
THEN Daddy fell into the wooden
barrell, pickels fight!
And everyone'
each face of hers/his redeployed some such reddeployed we whom are dancing,
pleasure pure.
Fatherers machine and his photograpic memory fast oh his how quickly
was released.
He' it crawls out of the duckweed
pleased, smelling of it,
again it answeres when Daddy fell mightly in it.

James McLain

Oh'His How So Quickly

All the sky has cast it off.
White rich pink face.
The sky was red.
We did not have anything to make,
muchless of it to say.
We approached with the conclusion
next each poor day,
And there seemed to be nothing
hidden even there,
THEN Daddy fell into the wooden
barrell, pickels fight!
And everyone'
each face of is redeployed some such
reddeployed we whom are dancing,
pleasure pure.
fatherhe machine his photograpic
fast oh his how quickly.
He' it crawls out of the duckweed
pleased released it.
again it answeres when Daddy fell tightly in it.

James McLain

In 'I' Darkness

In I' darkness need for thus,
very travaled for and must, and those past Lives'
no more 'I' see;
The most luminous stars of Sun and 'I'.
See them rise a deep' a worried sea?
The years that owe' it too;
I' run out in the waves the sea is sad, it's blue.
Good bye, goodspeed 'said' I.
Many always voices of I' uncertainty it leaving us
with doubting, with which it hears them blow.
Conquest, is by us or destiny full a winters, dream?
Times which have developed.
All the interior swept it thus significance.
will maintain too indicate,
by the singing of each song 'I' will never know the spring or sun.
Ours with being Wasted with burning desire,
broken in the anguishes, thus is anguish born
of the splendid dreams,
which locks you soft my day of memory
and the vision once 'I' held, but now a dream.
Why each night pays more; We try to hold there haughty,
and the word
is time to be the thing which we dream but thought of.
Suddenly we miss it's flash of perspicacity,
then life develops dull and gray, and I' our hour follows shorter,
useless hours and thus become it is.
Betrothed under I'm a tree without one sheet, a crying sea.

James McLain

What Is/Is Not 'Haiti'

a Word a Haiti,
what is/is not
my part
long are the roads they now walk, away from.
Subtracting, addition to know what Some can't.
Tears fall there on their knell, bells now toll.
'Angels will call'
abuse sadly 'Perhaps'
Here And people have come.
And put a flower on top.
Down, And hang their faces: We' thus;
We are fearing that their hearts dropp too,
and will crush Unjustly pretty whom play.
And thus we let us move off afar, afraid.
'God'
Like Enemies-far Right,
Held looking off around to see,
at which distance.
Direction it comes.
Pray; It be-Occasional.

James McLain

A Prince And Or Her/His A Prison

Thus once a drunk and penury and her hence cast off from the 'King' before it she/he must;
She loved his grace and to descend, both transcend and to heal thy worldly afflictions
and with the body and teaching of few words,
his knowing thus and ripe and coveted and full
that which was turned with direction through out, downward thus and deeply, how deep it does run away and each when a man to judge the 'King'
can reach out and without much/such apprehension
cast off that sleep and dream, less imprisoned otherwise a small prince in prison must stay alone with out hopes room or window to grow from one body, though held therein by that one to move off and out of and into the void, hers/his quickly.
Up the latter and bared held but/by she/he transcended.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Birds And Bees

A bird and one little, bee.

And you are scolded black..
and blue..hear their view..
and they crush your smile?
and they make you feel like, you have to look
away from it, and in them...
back out of the sun..
dark side of the moon..
Seeing you once as blind..
When is where you run out to..
Where is how you fall into...
those hives of troubled sleep..
and your mind lost..
between the snug tight wings..
Sweet honey...
hides inside the old oak tree..
around it fly's a bee..

They do not understand you and if they do, some have been taught to make you feel dirty...and you will go blind terrible sad and bad, when
and if you do it, is it bad?

It is simply a bird, happy..
to sing and play with a bee..
why do some say..
it is not good to be happy...
just because you are young..
and you find new ways,
to get stung,
Do you not feel thus ashamed...
because they...
Do not those parts of your brain
grow awed...

and red hot, when you are stung..
so much so...white it is blind again...
you blush thinking this cannot be..
and yes..
but you do..
that it is normal to..

when you wake up..
and you trust the touch..
of your nose...
anything under heaven you grasp... but this is all to something new...
and you get scared and don't know, what is light or dark..
but to the heart of it,
you must know.
and so you move off deeper..
back inside your mind even more... -

You don't ask them...when then..
have you ever fought so hard..
to trust...why must you cry..
to turn..never still.. but over....
and over inside.. once again..
must I...
bury all my tomorrows again..

Mother and Father of your sins..
So you must,
never stay any more thus ashamed...
of that warm feeling in you..
because...
it is some times these thoughts
in your head that are very bright, and still your mind flushes as the burning sun rises,
when that moment of blindness comes,
like a dream inside of you arranged,
some ocean deep waves, inside of you....

Suns of the fire and how it enslaves you...

The sting upon your one and only...

no finger..can never undue it..
the flame returns cool..
and when it left so hot....
again to guide you off...
until i..the sun comes round again..
My honey bee and me,
that brings the sting and sings
of flowers only to me.

James McLain

Eighth Wonder A Woman

Which you are, Pretty and Smart;
eighth wonder of you, this woman of women
where my secret, she lives full therein.
The world made you to establish her,
and must now take her notice with great pride.

Greatest of greatest savants,
established for they would adapt to this mother
of woman the woman they now know she is.

Hard working her model of great womanhood.

Softness of heart by those few and but;
when she tries to say more to them.

You are great, take them there and make vast wide all the more deeper a pond, no a lake from that river of such simple need, you understand it.

In charge from the beginning and
you are what makes them all blind,
Woman of woman he can see it.

Why 'I' bear witness too your long lives,
because you can and thus within reach to touch
the others in blossom sweet.

Woman of creed, creed of woman you feed.

I say, It' from the depth of your full red Lips.
Their arms I will use; too balance my seductive
broad hip, against which must lean their tree.

I am at that stage of each and every stage,
whereupon now it is they must walk and as they
reach out to grasp and with compassion I know
Delirious each curve my deep strong why, they ask.
from it, Each Falling down, how they cry, more for it.

I am that woman of every woman whom ever wishes to be.
I enter the room the latter and leave as the latter, it seams.

Orange blooms are sweet to each man and as such to each.
He do I see, so I squeeze them, hard pressed they say it is Because the men say that I am, Eighth wonder a Woman..

Even though... i am a man.

James McLain

Of Such Kind Face

It is as if it is a deep golden dream,
one flap, a tent of yellow silk.
And when the sun is with it,
is it highest fresh and full.
Each fall of morning dew and
all contained therein, good-bye.
Of such kind face;
sweet breeze, how it gently fills the air.
And its main role with firm support,
it seeks the cover, of warm sky.
And means renewed assurance,
as it tugs and pulls the heart..
It seems that if I owe it
and if anything at all
to 'I' it owes,
then too hurry up, thus free it'
with a simple knot of truth,
held off, it tied now gone.
But be you seeking,
held now and by within it's loving hands,
is loosely bound,
by each silk tie of love and thought,
you hold it back, for only one.

James McLain

Country Girl

That you got the country girl
from the back woods to wash your dishes,
do your laundry skin your cat fish
even dual equipped exhausts pointed outwards
and plus her blossom;
milking
but she hasn't obtained the since lower
her breeches around her ankles
and it keeps them
always full
backwoods need a heathen.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Under The Bridge Of Tears

Under the Bridge of Tears,
Moon has closed it's doors.
and even under the silk it covers me.
Rivers and rivers.
Oceans, sea.
One last bridge, agreed?
In which corner of the sky is it?
A horizontal groove it moves.
Beyond the red walls
Swollen as and as gently as the breeze,
it Blows the silk off, one green leaf.
In the gleam,
prolonged of laying down to weep.
The bark soon follows.
The sun, the crows are never roosting
and are unaware of my deep melancholy.
Again; I leave the bed.
Years after all the years I burned,
I stroll on.
Under the Bridge of Tears
Away from the staircase jeweled.
I regret the wasted years, My lady,
frightened of the cold, frightened of the heat,
whereas the beautiful days; I ran out of.
Suddenly is that, 'yes' a treat
my autumn of death.
Constantly disturbed by changing times,
I lose the way of the overflowing light.
This removes us twain left once again as two.
Whom moved, is left the bridge, fixed rotation?
On my island salutary wide?
I realize-Under the Bridge of Tears.
The stars the moon again and how it cries.

James McLain

On The Cold Floor

On the cold floor
I am but a fading memory
dispersed through the light
unseen upon the floor
trying to fight a little more before I wonder ever off
whether I am even here
like the spirits of the dead caught some where there unburden it
clammy never see it
when it comes
when someones in between it never known
laying thus i am face down
the sun has faded going down
and even one sunrise is perhaps if i could but see
some one hears those muscles cry
looking through the mirror eyes i see
how can i go out
without more of a taste
of this cold life
once i was intoxicated
and i miss what i can't touch
i miss it more
i can not stop
when I'm laying on the floor
without one drop
of what you have
i have no more
moments left now release it
it is warm
no
never more

here
upon the floor
one foot just kick me
over the side
to the bottom where i live
most of the time
why
must you try to eat me all the time
off of the floor.

James McLain

Lovely Flowers

Thick full bodied faces, testing deep each breath.
Of muddy rain aching eyes, acting as her tears.
Grey dawn hiding stars, how he stole my only friend.
Daisy's shedding blanket, partied slumbered on.
Red/pink treats, reminders of his seedy dark ambition.
Flanked approaching shadows...sweeping Gaul.
Lovely flowers, cotton dowry hidden neeth a moon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Deforestation'

'Deforestation'

'O' not every virgin forest, is timid like a dove,
Assent's today to let me know, climbs below.
Crowned are you and made achieved a woman,
proud and knowing.
I to love In all its forms, fine you are each work of art.
I to a long time in given you new the feelings and beings of quivers only never they to match.
Let us/both cherish your hidden secret parts to me\you.
And turn them into a soft and beautiful collection
once extinct,
made anew between and the butterflies.
That such trees with foresight can draw aside
the affectionate parts.
And when they meet that door.
Whom rests through the burrow that it meets
and stretches forth the earth and once again it's filled.
Then I will cherish and rub and join it so that I collect the will to pluck each green, blade of grass.
And make sun flowers great such a fire among,
green foam, brown eye.
And sprinkle,
growing gardens with water, spring and April.

James McLain

Predisposed To Hysteria

Too you in the love it is to touch oneself
with a brighter hand.
He/him expanded you,
you woman have/handled yourselves well.
They ignore most rules and impulses
regards a thing by its eyes.
A cardinal is red. A sky is blue. A kiss between.
Suddenly you know that he also knows.
It is not however you know it's there,
that you taste well together the winter
or of bright spring weather.
Its his hand,
to your hand to take is overly much.
To carry it too much untill you do.
They cannot in its eyes look because what your impulses say and may not be with, which it said.
No matter how ever it was, it may not so remain.
If it does not close a door it is there_ your lips water.
And you are free with a movement of freedom,
around and around as it dances, impatiently.
They are the beautiful ones of golden pears.
They remember
and desire to its mouth to itself affects to open,
his\it whispers.
Oh, when one is explained certain things, can love!
Oh, when one is predisposed to hysteria
and to see the column of the golden head fall into a green wreath, most generals would command
to hold, even against untill the last, hills over run.

James McLain

And All Succeed Then

'As a your honey hive'
It knows there is nothing there is,
it has:
thank you so much very well.
Just a glance, Is all it took,
Vines here right now,
'dear' it is known it is here to rectify inside\outside
I want your back,
Juste one eloquent, Aloe's I part your slit,
I feel your cheek,
And my knees disappear gone for a week.
I want to cherish, What' S under your dress,
fold you more, duplicate your breeches
And succeed then,
all in the company and round,
Me/you to incite I/too want to hammer,
a glance with your end over mine,
I want to burst it like Niagara falls,
in and out, all mine.
At glance with your tush, And I want to push,
I look at your moist breeches.
And I am one with the bump.
Cause nothing' can amend it thus, this butt/but me.
As a, your behind' it's deadly so luscious;

James McLain

His/Hers

The beauty is; that you are with me,
Plus it is deeper
than the deepest sea.
But that of which,
your beauty cannot begin to explain:
Is the devil which gives me/your pain.
That it burns like the burning rain.
And as I look at you, I will know why you are,
Beauty itself,
as if the beauty - is as is - costly - one individual.
The beauty is always a curse which,
flutters it's wings in the air.
And fragrant at each end,
is the straw with which her/his it comes rigorously
independently and like a bolt of lightning, puts a cold in those hearts
then freezes his/hers it occupies for eternity
and for all but one hour
it burns as beauty teaches it, how it yearns.

James McLain

'Woman' Sang

We passed the hall- where 'Woman' sang Recessed—around each Ring men grazed
We passed fields — where Cotton faced
We hurried past - days Setting Sun
Before the night gave -up it's Weight

Or rather—must 'We' Truss it Up
The stares we drew - where flowers grew
For only Gossamer- silk within my Gown
My 'Roses'—only 'Lily' Knew—no Frowns

e.d.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Of Haiti's D.N.A.

Why could you not.
One dropp of blood,
from each remove.
and Photograph.
Which they are due; but here... just for a fine
a dollar...some must make.
Laid there to bake.
Before the mountains,
thus became
eXcuses all have made.
D.N.A.
Would reunite all the masses
even massed, such as they.
So one would know where
two have gone,
grave, dots upon that stage.
Reason me,
none riddle: but for a slice of bread.

James McLain

A Coat I Need

.....A Coat I Need

A necessary coat, ' MAKES' with my/your song
a bird a Covenant and my yard which borders on both sides
Out of old, ancient forms tongued anew, each word from our/their mouths left most Unable long too write in the clay, some speak of time, today gone past.
Of my feeling like to heat the gloats of one's throat;
But she deceives 'I' caught, her thus carried in the world';
moist those would shake any dew from their weary eyes,
from the sake of company, matters 'Like it or not 'I' if they';
I'; worked hard on it. my humble songs, frilly laced your breeches made for them
let them take them not, hot from 'I' thou past decline.
For there'; iS more too company than here meets an eye.
Naked out or in or covered path it's thin walk, a soft silk dress.
She made of I, of this could thee but whisperer, eX-parte.
Mine wooden reed-throat ed woodwinds your clarinet,
Which came from thee,
and at my hour need, although very soon, not now, my need.
One feature a clear movement clouds plucked forth the sky.
But towards heated beating heart interior, astonished I\you host considerations of your companions, caused mine shame.
Expression of thine hidden by Jolen de Karen - and lucky to find mine sun, when June it comes, for thee or me.
Look towards the vaults the walls, of 'America' bankers sun.
Time-not under this roof of strong blowing winds,
blown by one, more parties, from One conscience,
even more severe and a friendlier house, I can forgive
even that falseness of the evils, I declined and knew no part.
These currents once basic undreamed of, off of part of which made in front of their bench whereupon '
'I'; hold strong and still do- humble thy to thee an Indicator which the flame burnt you for she, perished this thought others/she smiles awhile.
'Grace to you'.
To be but part of ceremony ancient - Notorious, my name is.
Not 'Gabriel' wings from the east, south and west but north.
Beyond 'vanity with all my' priceless things, ' Be but a host which the dogs of comming and goings, beyond did travel', knew such things

Thus rain on top, this yellow bush of hers by many thus hence known and then it must then also die deep spring elders song, in which, my\his too plant still deep inside, with coming spring.
A necessary coat; More will, 'I' need when spring, arrives.
Black robed\my daughter, whom even now 'Talks, of may.
And she would not live,
if but by thee and truth, burns hot $ blind.

w.b.y.

James McLain

Why I Failed

I died for beauty,
but stay, I'm there entombed.
When one which died for truth
lies locked away, the sky.
He questioned gently,
why I failed?
For her beauty,
could not speak, of what he saw.
Again no answer.
Breath your lips,
must try to move apart.
And I for truth
both lay between, are one.
We a brother\sister aren't.
She said.
And thus, as their parents,
met, they did one night.
We spoke between the rooms.
Hours passed and it was quite,
except the voices of the sea.
So it was that foam it reached
her lips and made one name.

James McLain

History She/Her Trust

We passed the hall where,
Woman'; sang!
Insert-around each finger ring
the men their wives too long for.
They passed each very close to.
We passed the fields each one -
hot cotton faced and how it grew.
'We'
gave them too the past - establishments
of when days
the Sun Before the night gave way
Her climb -up to the top, was every just as.
Heavy it's and
with the weight off - history she/her trust..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Odor Of The Sea

Here I was,
there in the front.
Walking along the sandy shore.
But how, when or where I cannot say.
I see the wind upon the rocks
down
beyond the foamy moors.
Soft green tea made from moss.
The odor of the sea.
Waves now moaning, birds soaring moving sand
we stand
between our toes.
Wind along the shore.
You were mine right from the start.
How long 'I' cannot know:
While you
your hand 'I' walked, talked upon and out along
that shore.
Pre-received us is-now gone.

James McLain

High\low Atrocious

HIGH\LOW ATROCIOUS

Each thought of you inflates my head.
Of it the monster it starts to feed you;
Drops of venom by you, outside my body.
My/your\mine incentive to feel
a good kind of unpleasant, Em-poison-ment
the blood at/my Command, red veins, losing my reins
the pleasure precipitates in my Out-Law heart.
Forcing my hands to descend In the places,
which 'I' can'; you can't defend, My fingers,
a replacement for your, touching my/our language.
And places too sticky it has pictures of, shut\up. It';
The contact of S.A. be it is palpitating in your\my thighs to each blowing with high atrocious
like Kris Kristoffer son-your constant teasing Your satisfaction goes away I'M;
wondering whether you can feel this externally.
My thoughts and their once your full capacity;
where you are, Some pear holder outside, far away.

James McLain

She Walks Outside Away

Old,
old man walks up to a little\large girl, lolly pops.
Inside,
she walks inside
after the grandpa pa 'said' sympathetic attention,
natural spurts her growth.
Attention is paid to the mask and grandpa pa, must ask.
Grand-daughter 'dear' it is hardly a mask.
Seen by 'I' many are 'cut's' and deep smiles and
the moon is pale and full, hardly alone, come here.
But Grandpa pa it is only one swimming pool
high are the sides, no one can see, inside.
With my 'trusting' friends from school.
A small swimming pool, why a worry my mask?
Thinking 'she'
who the old imbecile and must he think it is.
Fresh, clean and full and
with the articles of they attention to my, around it;
They a swimming pool my attention obtained.
I observes them swim near it, curiously they holds it like it swims under the water they hold it by the thighs.
Above its eyes of rising its legs are widespread with far its bathing suit can stretch aside her skin of Y which fingers
of rising movement on side, 'oh' dear O 'dear'
which one so many inside.
I am her grandpa pa\daughter see which one is he'
to make Y her legs are distant and they goes up on the surface except her\them/him legs it strikes with them\her/him, behind him/her\them and strikes deep blows with him/her below it in she'
of Such young people thus to know this, they look
by the mask they don't stay, off To long inside, fifteen minutes or about thus enough of time of her/them
to amuse and glance fixes at it,
of lower part, one looks inside, she laughs, I am angry.
I am to old for this and what can I do, she will hate me.I can no longer control her.

James McLain

Language In Any Language

Deeply so much very deeply.
Color of my sun, comes more quickly.
Salted palms,
sweating blood is my thickness,
your warning.
Your tap is like, white marble column.
Full brown bag, oily rag.
Pleasure;
of shooting deeply inside, feeding your cat.
Your language lites fire by my breeches.
Extinction of my imperishable, wrongfully
detained 'During' all my, rest of your life.
Released, by 'I' my thickness of trees.
Only in your moist ground, it will develop.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Near 'Cotton' Gins

Paper thin each lettered line.
Faces,
words that never go unheard of.
Yellow mound, of hollow blocks.
I am of things with eyes.
None ever hear,
Where you can't see.
Too touch a blind one.
That can't smell.
Where,
one may feel left out.
You rebuke me.
Jumbled letters.
Pen, red ink wells
near 'Cotton' gins
I, sleep by.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Short-Circuits

I can't but like the ladies.
Are they short-circuited or large,
round heavy\lightly ladle.
The ladies are sexy candy.
If they are the kind of woman
who likes to eat the lolly pops.
Wendy frostiest and they slurp
and think it is delectable treat.
Those which will be ardently drinking wine and picking grapes.
Pushing down on their back,
her bones making cracks.
Which will require of me too unite
their wild and carnal package.
And vigilant I give-encouragement,
me a soft snack of cat.
Then request for me to attack.
I will descend,
my hand comes back and tap, tap, tap, taps
his she-cat purrs, thus deeply.
I have many large engagements and promises to keep' We shout a while and organics are spread and growing, Satisfaction guarantees,
a hot she-cat claws and rocks me.

James McLain

Through A Crack I Saw

Bushes and trees over grown dark thus landscaped
through the old rusted gate to deliver their pizza
i saw
through a crack going out:

The grandpapa assited to his preferred chair,
Referenced re marks grand-daughters dread she is and starts to look at her fixedly.
Foul breath hanging outside an old tree,
her digust and fear apparent to me, i did see.
Such beginnings with the race, away from that tree Hoknows that c' is its grand-daughter qu' he wants to push, l' call more d' and said, "want enough. " Come on the grand-daughter obtain on your knees, It makes because it l' said and sucks with the peel, puisqu' it knows l' inceste is the best. Uncle Roy decides to give him a gyratory movement, It likes to upwards equip his nephew as a girl, Goûts to see it in silk and the lace, Lipstick and make-up on his face, ' L' imagining with heels on its feet, Because it s' assied there and starts to rub its feasts, it would like to put it at l' test, Puisqu' it knows l' inceste is the best. The mother decides d' to enter on l' act, Its and its son have a special pact, While his/her husbands with work qu' she obtains in her bed, lowers her trousers and starts to give it principal, the son loves her mom equipped upwards in her lace, Like it draws her milk everywhere her face, It knows that its mom is better than the rest, Puisqu' it knows l' inceste is the best. The sister and the brother are a special pair, It is more qu' a family name qu' they divide, Bill brother cannot believe its chance, Having a sister who likes to lean, Dit, "He LOCATED, advance here. " As it folds it more d' and takes its back, Y of putting itself love the animals qu' it becomes a truth mudfest, puisqu' they both know that l' inceste is the best. The father cannot believe that his/her daughter is thus kind, because it draws aside its moist breeches at a side on its knees as it takes it behind, She groans and shouts and starts to cry, Dit, "He dad, you are my d' kind; man. The" dad says his inceste is the better manner, C' is a game which the entirety family can play, the dad treats his daughter like a honoured guest, puisqu' they both know that l' inceste is the best.

James McLain

Dark Ariel

She of the eyes like mine, obsidian.
With a mouth of the black coral red, so dark.
Her hair; a cloud of black thunder.
Handles about its noble head to she it belongs.
Around its center, moves Its hands and bearing
of greenhouses are eternity's.
Her back of silk and snow-covered face,
stands his/her marble column.
It is to be timeless,
Teeth of his flesh and her extreme steel finger.
His is the whole world to be crushed Under her ivory heel.
Breathe its perfume in her flower,
Too set adrift this passion at sea.
There its salt-soft kisses.
Places are freely and imprisoned spirits.
Her lips are carried and prepared in balance
to strike silence with its windy song;
A slow discord of thunder.
That will put too flight most crowds.
Its members, in naked splendour all that is pure to scorn.
All the gods forgotten,
Since the day; she was born.
Their temples are as by-paths, On what bare feet go.
Their formal garments are like plaits her hair long
On the ground before its dis tractors.
The seas could call his/her a sister\brother,
the winds dare not to speak their name.
Although the stars were born and perish.
she will be always, his identical.
How terrible such wast their beauty!
This/Their form given into by madness,
a cold and spectral she\his goddess.
That plays with each memeber, 'Goth' goastly spectral.

James McLain

One Dry Tear

'Love' thinking of the loves of the past,
All the loves which didn't bare too ripe fruition.
All my loves of yesterday,
I wonder where they are Au revoir, today,
the moments that we divided.
words affectionate, who is left to bear them now.
I think of those which slipped below, above, the moon.
Near and far.
By the ocean I hear waves here come sit by me
and I wonder,
One that never speaks I hear your name the foam and spray.
Here and nearest once too me and once they came
but now are gone,
like the wood upon the sand, you sat among.
I that life you know continues,
But I always knew you were a windy driven being,
are you happier there without me?
Wonder clouds below,
between each top it understands.
And if we ever meet again still,
could passion be the sun that burned my eyes?
Old fires would they start to burn?
Could the affectionate thoughts return to turn again
the wheels of time forever their my love.
Or are the unexpressed drops of rain that fell to earth else where.
One dry tear of what may have been.
Observing all the children, being a wife,
to me that mother?
I'm that matrix you once mounded,
Anything once possible, can never change the past,
that made the now, tomorrow's here.
But I always if it were I that sentient being,
with torn off wings how we once soared above the rest.
Just one dry tear a stain upon your pillow that you weep of what now was then and may have been.

James McLain

She Observes His Silhouette

She observes 'His' silhouette.
He peels off judgments warmth of day.
Could she hear the beating of my heart?
Does it feel my suns desire...
my hunger?
Can it perceive my no regret?
The shade it hides my very soul.
He holds it up to me around me
like a hot burning coal.
He never sees.
She looks at him, but it can never be.
Pushing out the bottom,
it extends outside his tree.
When he carried them out and up,
she sees it vibrating, alive a true craftsmen.
It is sculpted as if it were a work of art.
Her unstable hands,
hands that shake as I look fixedly on to his perfection.
Almost as if it were possible that I had requested it.
My only Number.
I do not request any more.
He reaches underneath it.
She observes.
It unclasps a work of bronze.
Would I survive
being Crazed a silk dripping stick of purgatory.
Dare I the risk;
Could I handle this commitment to the end of time and back and retain its impertinence?
My hands become now fists.
My river widens with this tragedy of it's perfection.
Imported Glass,
which is different he does not close it.
This perfect form would I owe,
my life's allowance
to his only being, only mine.
She slips her fingers just below the sill.
She observes it and it shows.

She relives the bottom halve and it flows.
Once clear my covers 'S'outhern humid pace.
How can she carry out this Hellenistic exploit which would massacre all the men long immortal?
By which fine line do I dare fix my glance
on the pure cutting of his thighs or his lean hips?
Can I support them during or would i break so freely
and fall, upon the earthen floor?
Pale the moon it's light.
I look at the supreme perfection of his form.
It is my whole and I am, and always will be,
his night time shade.
With it, I am nothing. It's silhouette.
He is mine to observe.
It takes the hand I have offered.
Could He hear the beat of my heart?
Does he feel my hearts desire...
her hunger?
Can I perceive his all regrets?
As the windows drawn and closed untidy tomorrow.

James McLain

Her Warm Mr

In the shade
I feel her wait,
In the distance I feel her hatred.
On my neck I feel her breath,
In her eyes I see my death.
From the bottom of my before,
I feel her contracting.
Conjoining my body too for into.
My fear develops while her hands there wander,
I hate it that with her I am only some warm Mr.
In the darkness and in the cold,
she strips my body like if I was told.
My clothing falls to the bottom
off the ground,
the brush of her fingers through my very soul.
Through my skin her flesh I deeply feel,
of the near future I will never care.
My body is considered forsaken and frightened,
I want to resist but my fear is discovered.
She forces
me to push up and upwards too the end of my finger.
Against my neck I feel her lips.
I feel that it is so much deeply wrong,
my curiously her covetousness for me is strong.
Thrown to the floor I feel the moon come down
in that one final push,
She pulls it in,
and it is reduced and warm, she on top.
My legs she spreads with such force and covetousness,
In my body it starts to push, her way is down.
My thighs were strongly held in her handle,
In and out of my flesh it continues to slip inside.
The pain is pointed and difficult to discover,
I feel pure to want and nothing like such care.
I want to run far, far away If but inside to just escape.
How I will pay.
I feel her convexity deeply with her interior,
In me more quickly it starts to slip.
I hate it and I' like this pleasure and pain,

I am wrong, I am me, I feel so alienated!
I want it to stop
but never quits, my body starts to rise again,
the feeling is however and make me precipitate.
I develop red at the end reddened while I start to groan,
I hate the manner in which I feel
she should be made to pay the price but I.
I feel all alone so forsaken,
something keeps me there inside and all alone.
I feel to shaken and when will she forgo my forced access,
With her interior of me in all directions
its virility it start to burst.
she never once withdraws me from.
She beat me
to ensure that I remain so she would come again.
She said I look just like my father.
I was only thirteen when I ran away from home.

James McLain

Writing Poetry

writing poetry
stories of love
one happy marriage
sex and the sun
deep pale moon
hot my passion
can run cold as ice
smell the rose
lily is gay
sugar and spice
lilies nice
water stay mirrors death
skipping rocks
breast feed the beast
without baby a day
night loves between each toe
god holds off the devil
wine, drugs death more sex
hurting children is worse than bad
one child can make peace
help her melt all the guns juices run from the middle oozes gold rich honey
red puffy lips how they shine
rasins dried in the sun
shinny brass every button
lolly pops are not always pink red wine draws more dreams
milking the stones
hot melting butter
sucking noises
soft whimpers quite cries
help me sleep
much better
at night.

James McLain

The Snow Of Each Winter

Most now, how it's sun warm and normal.
Washing the center
outside and inside in addition to milk.

She had forgot them, to dry them.
Breaches white moist and wet,
high upon the tree line, he did lend her.
Instructions to that why, how the ground
it still shook, beneath them.

The town grew alarmed, her smiling
sweet charm.
Couriered.
in Snow, robes of pink flowing silk,
mixed with ribbons of love.

Roses broad blooms, red and sleek.
The men of the town, would audition.

This mistress has composed and to satisfy
they full with love.
Her imagination in addition to all left outside in addition to those
all in wait.

One above most would hold it inside
unlike those
of the rest with interior designs,
and has the breath in addition clings too
the pink and her lips,
she notched as her Waldheim, loved brilliantly.

Its white and fair not, overly bright,
and in addition to being round her belly.
She traces for him the interior.

Buckets from destiny fate is completely,
for they do as they must,
and he that is lovingly gave since his/her darling could not save it all.

Her gown, her hands making very much milk neither washing
or ever would dry;

The snow of each winter turned and silk and the milk
her rewards.

The tree inside, the belly, her lips, and the breadth,
of his broad likeness,
never faded,
and a long time ago, was saved in a birth.

James McLain

Grapes And Wine

When we two separated in silence and my tears, ignored.
Wye; and when you left me off for wine and other grapes.
Hasten sour now, brown shriveled vines my sun, avoids.
The medium thus once green with clover, fallow 'dear' it waned.
Broken off and your cleavage has during past years.
Bosom raised your play and cold now tips your day,
colder than with lost kisses, brought 'naught by me.
Reality delusions and fevered this hour past consideration.
Hidden by the hours within each minute gone like snow.
The dew of this grey morning clouds their weeping faces gone descended,
cold upon my craggy stone cut face - it felt once like and I - no warning of that in which direction, My 'Daughter I now, must take.
Your wishes all that I have spoken, speak to me no more,
upon deaf ears the queen of smug now gone errant, mind now dull.
Broken, and my light is bought your fame:
Hear thy spoken name in shame, and sheets of searing flame.
Black robes,
Upon 'They' I call thee, before me', bell upon a knell in mine deaf ear'
Once that ear of thine, mine;
A shiver now creeps up my spine, O thou and hear it not,
I, her wants - are- why- grapes and wine..
Thousands of my tears, I spent expensive!
They know this step of which I speak, reason fled no longer seeks your heart of thee I thought you knew mine well.
Whom knew thee much too well: - A long time,
a long time and much was spent in thee off the street.
I, too deeply thought would thus, too indicate.
Never I, In secrecy we met - in silence, tongue was kept.
This thy heart mine could not forget.
Thus my spirit mislead by thine.
When I meet thee next, after long years,
How then again must I should they so greet thee?
Veiled by your shame,
With but your silence and my tears, I can't shield thee.

James McLain

Poetic A Kiss

If you could only just my love
my heart;
for a kiss to close one rose during each second
it was opened.
I kissed your dreams away.
when you let me, held/me.
'I' would include\understand /
that the tale my thoughts would tell...
You would induce\infuse/
and why the dreams
could never be reproduced by mere illusion.
The imperishable dreams....
By using the lost pieces and broken stars
that fall upon the ground
when open the sky it's there between us.
Could we recreate what others but would
the new light in our beating hearts.
And you could swallow his infinite blue.
Just you and me and every flutter, drop's
as a butterfly
loves to fly to pink lips
with it's wings trembling
the butter melts
on the petals of the wild cherry flower.
Whirling in the breeze intact their feelings,
in their inexact world....or like a kiss poetic in your sleep.

James McLain

That I Carried Your Heart

i carried your heart within me
which
i am never without
it is important
that it goes
where ever I go
as it covers my heart
inside me

....

..

and it's consumed by yours
my heart
it is made by only yours
is mine
now yours to take inside me

....

..

my only fear of fears
is this my darling

....

..

for you are my destiny
my sugar refinery
which I do not want the world
to know

....

..

beautiful you are my world,
my truth
behold
and in it you are high always above the moon
and the sun
always stings
you are
the principal my secrecy
that nobody knows

it is there
root of the root
and bud of the bud
and sky of the sky
my tree called to life
what grows higher than that no body knows
my heart can but it hope
and your spirit can mine hide
your the reason
that i carry your heart
in mine
in your heart
of hearts none will find.

James McLain

The Wall

It was a long time ago.
An almost forgotten dream.
But it was there then,
In front of me, like a sun- My dream.
And then the pink of wall,
Rose slowly, Slowly,
Between me and my dream.
Rose with the sun.
She touched the sky- The wall.
I am White.
I lie down in the shade.
More the light of my dream before me,
above me.
Only the thick green - trussed her wall.
Only the shade.
Only the thorns.
My hands! My hands 'Red' darkness!
Cut by the wall.
Found in my dream.
Help me to break away, from this darkness.
Run up against her bright, night,
to break this light Into thousands of shards.
Her sunlight,
my dreams, deep a swirling vortex Of the sun.

James McLain

Time Refuse It

time is yours
and
yours is time
try to become
of one mind
of an others.
when
time
of the other grows short
how
do you plan
to refuse it.
look
at my book
it lies
with no cover.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hello Love

Hello love lies thus broken;
My spectrum around me harms and lost my day.
Like a wild beast you keep herein my manner;
My emanation long to keep we swept aside.
Come, come quickly without delay for deep I cry thy sin.
Deep inconsolable and spent upon your angel face.
With, thee 'I' there too wander, there both we cry;
On the famished wind they come beseeching.
My spectrum their thee follows close behind pale moons.
It smells of thy watercress in the bowls of all the thousands.
Wheresoever of snow, I know the trail must go,
Through winter hail and the rain the pain beneath the mask.
When do they still fade the return of many thousands?
Thousands do and Dost thy not in pride and scorn
Fill my soul with storms all my morning,
And thou jealousies
and highways fears my pleasant night of tears?
The seven wonders of my heart and Lilith not thy knife has the bereaved of all their strife.
Their marble tombs 'I' built with tears,
and fears of cold and wind shakes too quiver.
The seven additional loves,
you cry them out during the night and during the day
around the tombs, where my configuration of flames
they lay upon my hearts, auditioned loves.
And seven loves attend each night around my couch
with luminous torch, burning low midnights.
And seven loves additions in my bed, their way was lost.
Golden Crowned with wine and sad my Loss.
How may I and sleep forgiving all.
Thy large and small transgressions.
Does thee a trespasser on my land where once 'I' grew.
Hail her return,
and the sight of each my thousand My loves, of Light.
My life with thee replace?
When faced the return of thousands here and live?
When they fade the pity of each Seven thousand I forgive?
Poor, pale and pitiful white the worm and 'I' returned it from.
Which I am tossed a storm;

Iron tears and thy meaning's of tight wire,
You Squeeze around my painful head too long and long 'I' cry.

James McLain

E.E.Cummings, I Lost One Melody

What's so funny Mr e.e...

I have a few minutes now it seems to speak..do you?

Too squeeze some OJ but once again.

Nothing have I to say about that.

Like you, I've a fondness for how milk shakes.

Back in your day, truly miracles in how they swim.

Barely when you were young,

lecturing for you and you know when the space shuttle goes up now, nothing you see but for hundreds of miles but a smile that floats behind left in the sky.

Only some with imagination could and you know it?

Imagine a one hundred mile long milk mustache.

What is that..

Yes the young girls even way more now than then eat way to much chicken now most feel, it shows..

I still think some thing in it, especially fried.

Popeye and spinach not chicken, never saw him

with chicken, wimpy either.

Makes the milk taste well..you know kinda.

Antibiotics in everything,

have you seen those silicone thirty eight specials

they are two for one I hear.

Cheaper were those back then the years, go bye.

Yes, milk was nearly free every where,

real men wore the

white mustache like kernel Sanders did.

Have you tasted the chicken lately?

..ee it comes before the breast..What? ..No..

I don't know how they make chocolate milk! ...

I have heard it has some thing to do with the three musketeers most brothers being the south, you would not expect me to reveal

what you know..though.

....

..

Look out the window over there..Mr Cummings.

We can both smile.

...

..

Do you see that lizard over there
on that stone
and what it's doing.

...

People now have gotten really away from nature
now, minds taking off in all kinds of different directions.

James McLain

Sweet The Valley

it has been said by others they are you safe from it.
it be no hand it knows no colors bound sets free.
and the field or truth it ploughs in which it plays.
some can even say the seed it plants makes the,
rose sit up and catch it's death between two folds.
and it's also said it pulls off so brutally each mask,
and stretches the sides to hold before it eats the moon,
without a thought too what it says or thinks.
and the gown a worn out quilt with more than strings
to hold it up and it is said in thought and sweet the valley cuts and deep and swift the river that runs through it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Full Lips That Kiss

it is cold tonight
and it was only our good fortune
that let me find this place for us to sleep and blankets and i have your warm breasts
and you brought other friends that you say need to be made full as well knowing i have a special fondness for soft ever growing bellies filled thus with mine and free milk
though it works i know both ways and you have told them that it takes much, much more for me to give out to they
and while i sleep it flows how like rivers it all flows and such are the lips in need that one never feels them
as they move with such firm purpose and while one holds the stones and the other squeezes one then the other untill it is made freely thus and already i have many soft bellies filled thus and some few their milk is sweeter but i say nothing as preferably and i sleep now with my belly full of rich milk as they forage furring the day..and life is as it once was and as it should be and hard ship all around us and we all sleep warmly and contently knowing that it is thus
and even now one is in need and being responsible, i sleep.
while all around me the bellies are kicking and pushing.

James McLain

A Word A Haiti

a Word a Haiti

We do not play on tombs
red roses, turned brown, now dark.
Since there is much heart in them
my part
long are the roads they now walk, away from.
Subtracting, addition to know what Some can't.
Tears fall there on their knell, bells now toll.
'Angels will call'
Here And people have come.
And put a flower on top.
Down And hang their faces: We' thus;
We are fearing that their hearts dropp too,
and will crush Unjustly pretty whom play.
And thus we let us move off afar, afraid.
'God'
Like Enemies-far Right,
Held looking off round to see at which distance.
Pray; It be-Occasional.

14.01.2010

James McLain

Red Wine

And the ant
had to chose
between the two
both sitting open to the sky
eating your cheese
dropping crumbs of bread
red wine
spilling over cups of clear lead glass
chasing the bigger of the two crumbs the ant nearing the sun drawn by the heat for heat and meat
and bread
and inside of their panties
open
open wide for they both were
by now
and when the first one came
the second was far not to far behind and the ant had many friends
and made many friends
and the ant shared the feast
and unconfined of moving hands and loud shrieks went out unheard dropping to the ground
one by one
wet with sticky rain and crumbs
honey for the birds
and they ran off
leaving their panties covered in deep green grass
for tomorrow
and they running home
in and out of all they knew
with people watching they knew to
and laughing about it

and louder were the screams
when they poured alcohol on it.

James McLain

Enlightened Love Gifts Fay

Enlightened love.

She believes that it takes courage to go down And sink to the deepest of the deep.

Skin from her secret heart.

It takes but a firm decision to test, the sea.

Man befriends her thus, and immersed your soul.

Much challenge as turquoise,

blue and green emerges

from the well at the beginning.

The unsound able depths pay,

salts released,

meetings With him, her 'I' that individual believed,

intuitive, without obstacle,

Hidden with the infinite spiritual richness

Of her vast knowledge, front unknown, and I a passenger.

They when seen discover a truth with one heart,

That only by thirsting for no how, or vast the why.

Will 'I' from You will we emerge without more whys than questions love has any one answer for.

You now will reveal with the larger 'I'

have searched so long and hard for.

Entirety within you to see I' one individual lost at sea.

unlimited, Surrounded,

and studded with the flutter of her Jewel led Heart

other than yours, and listens to

Ensemble with all as Rich sound world harmony,

As a dynamic feat, fermenting around Love eternal,

privileged and seen afar,

the enlightened pleasure emblazoned by your each day.

James McLain

My Eyes Were On The Sun

I could not avoid your eye
though my ego sore
when there you sat down hoped openly and with the sky
your wet and moist purple panties
between your moisture and your eyes
you, my face you read as if the book which you wrote and like the sky
was more open to far
and my breath raised
a brief pity lent me your strength
so that I see and I saw it pink and the red in the center of your sun
how it ran and ran
and my finger guided by your hand was too
I in your interior
so that you came
and then the sky was covered again
those clouds and my eyes were on your sun
and your panties were so moist I could not move them
mercy and more than mercy as you sat
more openly untill i could catch my breath again.

James McLain

Covetousness

You made my blood as well
run off deeply,
heat and red I offer up what you need
In exchange of something erotic.
I want and I want to make with you.
Pink lent and candy.
Between your wetter place this camp of Mister wishes ardently to eat of all the long night.
Need my darling to feel not any just size
inside more is thus sensual.
Fear not the tearing to accomplish inside what
the flight to the top of my love.
And in this shared covetousness,
you will find the charm of sensual and the power
that has ultimately moulded the vampire
from that which you are and of Valentines,
sweet bloody, pink hearts that lie within.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

What If 'I' Say 'Yes'

Soft feelings

undulate by like one never so hot,

mid summer nights sweet heat,

soft lips touch my skin,

like a bird

that flies off carried deep within the sun.

Going up and out among stars

with so large and face mixed red emotions.

Cherished by the moonlight

she touches my hand.

Large round eyes draw me inside

and they talk to me

of butterfly wings that once were slower.

Where the soft ground openly lays,

blinking with the fireflies hidden openly.

Its this world completely prohibited by 'My' desire.

However my culpability,

which I will help let brood and hot grows this fire.

Each body surrounded and soon we have years,

so that my eyes are opened;

however slowly with the gleam of her warm sun.

James McLain

Before A Rising Sun

Why make us love so high above the sky?
Since I am not held fast within, Your, Sister!
Hence the wind that blows does not require us more.
Breaches there on greener grass to dry.
Design is choice, hence both by us, by thought our waking.
You require us here too chose we must no answer.
Wherefore it comes to pass, It cannot keep its place a heaven.
They know-and made you not apart, from I.
And neither we do not two spy far down the road.
The road is green.
Apart for us inside, between your wisdom comes.
It is very bright and hot it's light to near by us to far.
And flashes thus the Lightning.
Wherefore an eye to open-when it closed around.
She knows it cannot speak and he about the reasons not contained, Whereof.
Sun is clean maintenance free-preferred 'Above'
There by people being people tasted people.
Before the Rising of each sun-Mother-compelled by I since long before He did.
To sink into the warmest sun-and you, I see, Loves hard on me.
Wherein, Therefore-Betrothed we are and for then I must slowly love,
and just as warm, Thee loves outside of me, a flashing star.

James McLain

Darning Fruit Garlands

How by the gantry of my once elegant home
you pick the fruit off
With your wild cold fists closed in fury.
Darning fruit garlands made of wind.
And the fabulous flutes and who strays.
Peacocks O o'er the peacocks rending the nets
where they play.
Hanging down from the colours,
furled curtains faded male rich your silk pillows.
O decorum which holds the whirl winds behind them.
Now, to the walls
rich over flowing from the walls a deep well I fell;
High above flying wide circles
black croaking of the rook is seen up 'Above'
appalling rocking in ruin;
Dull the light, Of your red stormy eye,
howling it's magic accomplished sweet aim.
None such flight,
Like mine never discouraged such beauty of this witch.
Room in the castle when truths each day it break.
Broken open,
pink prospects between which I hung braced by pillars of soft rock.
While you are held heroic in the coat and my tie,
I'm forced to sit and 'Compose' naked in your silk.
Walking and while loved rubbing,
the tunic and the psyche-your Greek, 'God'.Lovers again.
Entranced with your black look, thus our play turned tragic.
Where a connection from dots can words connect devastation?

s.p.

James McLain

Never Become Insane

some people never become insane.
I sometimes think that the others,
by themselves ride off on bicycles built for two.
and were never born so they remain that way.
mental illness grabs some by the seat of their pants.
some simply never give up,
and lie with the angels and if you find me there.
behind the brush looking up never down.
the moon was beside me and it is only then i look down but not to far seen
at the toes that i move all around me.
angels of they' do they indicate and they pour,
the necessary wine my dry throat rub my trunk,
sprinkle me with oils.
Then, I must rise ask the why with a howl,
harangue, fury - curse they and I as the universe
I must send them dispersing new seeds above one's lawn.
feeling some better well off to the side where one hides.
I sit you down to roast and off dyed yellow eggs,
blenders whirr and the air becomes all to suddenly.
also pleasantly pink overfed the whale has become.
some people never become insane.
showing what truly horrible lives they must carry out.

James McLain

Limits -Of- My Poetry

Limits even there are

'Limits'

Of my poetry.

Where all the streets must scramble inside with laying down in the sun.

There must be one (which, I am not sure) The date for the last time Without guessing it.

The pledge of that one.

Which fixes as it advances omnipotent laws,

Untalented by a secrecy

and a constant balance for all the dead, dreams,

and forms in the texture of this life beyond

even the next, why more so they make claim too.

There are limits with all the things and a measurement and last there and nothing more and are is no time
of it to fit within all memory.

Whom then will indicate to us,

with which in this house Us without the knowledge,

said I' good-bye to all to none we have seen?

By the incipient window of dread from the east

the night is withdrawn so they say.

And among the piled up books which throw off irregular
'Light' - religion sleeps on the weak table.

There must be one which I will never read.

There is in the south more used a door,

with its ballot boxes of cement and planted pines, none
may touch with out the need for greed.

Which is already interdict at my entry, Inaccessible,
as in a Photograph that tells.

There is a door that you closed yourselves for always,
and a certain mirror awaits you in vain your coming;

With you the crossroads seem large open,

My observation of you, for you, for-facts blind face,

is Do you swear to tell the truth the whole truth and nothing but the truth so help you 'God'.

Under penalty of perjury my soul once yours is gone.

There is among all your memories the one.

What was now lost beyond one recalls inside each hand.

You will be seen to go down to this fountain neither

by the white sun nor by the yellow moon.

You will never begin again by what a young Persian 'Said' it all languages woven with Rugs, birds and pinks, when, in laying down her sun,

before the light disperses, flowing roses soft with cedar trees.

I wish only for you a wish to give you words
to the unforgettable things.

And the Mississippi regularly overflowing and the lake to the east, always full the 'Guf' You see.

They are all the cuts I loved by, forgotten by; Space, time,
emotion and my passion; poetry is leaving me now.

James McLain

Snowflakes

Snowflakes;
I counted them each off.
Before I grew tired.
How they danced,
white powder dumped deep inside the city.
Then I took my pencil out to write the rebels down ward some they rode.
And arms developed ringing loud
thus comming I resigned their brig.
And tens,
of my once majestic toes they gathered for a gauge!
Seeking deep mine their revenge.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Seize The Bed

Advance then
and milk drink it -deeply- it all around your yellow face
between your lips and in your hair
right because I launch around
and seize the bed
move it to you in top and bottom
and low salted races of sweat your face
firmly of the base
which you draw it to the top so slow
and outside another dropp
it injects through so much quickly
how it wounds
each stone with you I share with blazing sun
interior of the bag
goes up to the top and to the bottom independently how they inflate
and at the end the avid hands
drained this quite night bone-dry.

James McLain

Sign Above The Door

Sign above the door.
The Table of each draft;
O sign the side outside it always reads.
Free; drafts with the hundred be ye first.
Deluded come inside,
by their own covetousness without visibility,
all are full, deeply and heavy.
Laid out by the score.
Each one is checked.
Weighed and prepared.
By she always needing More.
Leading ninety nine that simple wet nurse.
With the rather pink wings.
The line went soon.
Hung with long clear chirping pipes.
Fixed by for now waves sweet Motionless.
Of pipe O pipe I bare too you.
Crying out so rich no few
under the ground too the candled ' Queen'
Where here there is no backdoor with this palate has no room sweeps straw across the floor.

James McLain

If I Say Yes Too.. Ramona

To be beat by you....

Hold on tightly this is why daddy.

That would say you of this evening

I play the part the part of your unpleasant little boy

Montrez me how it must be dominated by you

Tenez it to the top Fier, a long time and thin Partagez

this sexy lollypop with your little girl Your bad little girl

Cause I' am the VIP and so bad verily

Through and Through little girl

you dont know how much I have a long time with being Tordu by you

Ainsi come on to the daddy advance more

Let you be to me that which you force in Soumettez

to you by you and I'm the person who wants to be beat by you in b sharp or flat Major major hope of I'

around the interior I that you are famished of this imagination

also can hardly wait to be beat black and blue just as I can praise myself that the stick' stays the next to the one to be beat by you

Demolish my Frappez

confidence once me in addition to the top for Secouez

it to the top Which why worry approximately

Little boys who cant

and dont measure high

I want right outward journey slapping; to the bottom

blue around your world

This ones ready to extinguish all its love

Thus come on to the dad,

advance much, much more

Let you be to me that to dad gives in you.....

Why the beat to it alone to it when we can do it with dad untill

you can spice to the top of my wild life

And I can make your prohibited smile

one broad.... life long tropical paradise...

If I Say Yes Too You.....

James McLain

To Want To Be

The monster,
of all woman, little girl.
To want to be.
There between where it burns.
The House cured, white in denial.
The center of each one wet maid.
The young girls run from it to want interior,
outside where the monster lives.
Come and outward the journey made forbearance is tolerance.
With the finger you employ the night late.
The woman ask the woman, she knows.
Why you are hot and moist and fevered blisters.
Do not seek to be,
which you will become and
it makes you full with deep need.
Your hand drawing your panties on off to the side
while that monster, which you fear comes inside.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

White Silence

What can we make of them?
Hiding with him in her breast,
There is kindness
and fierceness in it struggles, humanity.
Some 'said' arrangements and, sometimes,
acts of courage wanton abandonment.
Huddled in lakes altogether is a mass,
a dropp of which was;
most haven't had and have too little to late.
It is like a large Lion deeply in the sleep and almost nothing can awaken it, but you.
When it is reasons for boasting activated;
Monsters with unjust swiftly carried out loves brutality, selfishness, judgements, murder.
What can we make off with out him,
hoards of humanity?
Nothing,
will avert or avoid this red bleeding thing
as much, when less is possible made possible.
Pink treats to it like your something toxic,
thoughtless and malignant.
Carried without,
made within and but made not to one specification.
She issued laws to protect oneself from you.
She can kill you without cause.
And to escape from him you must be less than subtle.
Little desert from escape.
Let her squeeze it all out and start again.
Come with you to appear with grand plans.
I have not met anybody who has been excused,
too escape yet most try.
Large or infamous but I will keep trying, for them.
before my hope lies dead.
What are you going to obtain from it my life?
Squeezed all out, Squeeze it and squeeze it more.
White silence from the tip of my 'Gun'

James McLain

Baby Blue

How you are most like the sky.
When by the seat they can fly.
Too enter each world going upwards,
By a hand, from the top looking down.

Happy the sound a child may tell.
To stop, at the edge of whats blue.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Language

My Language

is but the hook that becomes lodged in the eye

that I see you behold.

Do you think I'm on drugs.

Do you think I am dirty.

Without teeth

trying to squeeze between your smile.

Words to me what they are but automatic writing an art that will die

when I do.

Then come to another a form of autism

that drinks from the breast

from want of another

when left bereft all alone.

If I am dirty what is a shower a shower of rain that brings forth your flower

to bloom needing room to grow.

What if a tooth I need are there not dentists

to fill in a gap that spot where your vain

that very first impression,

you saw then walked away, thinking me what.

Words are to me but what chess is to kings

but without a good queen whats too love.

James McLain

In A Snow Bank-Forgotten

Leaves are forgotten to him.
The forest, The tree, The spring.
During one storm that comes
a flower was forgotten,
never forgotten was the fire.
That in the past I sleep with;
However.
Let it be forgotten forever,
time is a pleasant friend,
You know
it will return to us when we are old.
Long stems forgotten and a long time ago,
Like red flowers, fire,
and each step lost in a snow bank-forgotten.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You But Watch The Sun

I Loose Control,
Around me when ever
you come.
Together so close and
your friends
take me out and move me.
My mind does not control
my body,
then
when they do it.
And your smile is all I see
when they do
and they move it.
Sadly it is many friends
you have.
When one ties up the well others more see how
you love it.
One stone moves up the other down.
Pumping until the water flows.
Until;
and these are your friends
you surrender me too.
They have panties,
of cotton and brilliant are their colors as you know they dry
and dry when left out on the line.
The sun leaves my tears and yours
they love to
watch your face as theirs grow moist.
And in the center of their panties
fires but grow.

James McLain

All Because

' All '

because you never tried
to curve mine inside or to break my pride.
And anything I craved at all was you.
I am a man and I get frightened of love too so any thing at all; I am the cave man you love.
Your friends thought I was you, they said;
They wanted to keep me half naked,
alone and you I frightened, I would run away.
Nor never with airs of they no conquest.
For you had conquered my resolve.
They knew 'You' thought to draw me out of you my ignorance - Talk to me,
for I like you more than me they and I loved your lips and the moon
and your front I loved your front.
And since the body; the manhood of Strength you
you Alone and good combined with yours
were either rare;
you like him of flying spirit I would give away my spirit Wholly 'God' without restriction, lastly,
Owner of my dreams and taste more my spirit;
I am tasteless like the wind you move upon;
And I will say this to you since, you never asked.

James McLain

Avocados And Rain

We like to drink after and
she likes it hotter than the water and her face is always soft and peaceful
and she is my observer with access while she spreads the soap
above the horizons rise and they tighten wash tap wash tap briefly then:
You, this thing is not hard!
She descends again
all the hair then there she removes
my belly, the moon, the neck of the swan,
the legs of the chicken, she laughs.
while I grimace the grimace of all grimaces
and then I wash it all off.
Accessing the she-cat,
I, you we hold off around behind it,
my tap in the cheeks of that ass
which I gently soap in and out to the top of her china chin hairs
the hairs of this she-cat from hell does well
Wash there with a calming movement
I try to delay perhaps longer than necessary
then up the backs of her legs
Such a deep wide sass,
the moment I turn,
it's back to her neck, I then squeeze it,
She cat how now I embrace soap to the top each four quadrants
never missing the center I obtained from it and the belly, the neck, the fronts of the legs,
the ankles, the feet, and the toe
then the she-cat,
once more for the chance to dance.
Inside
I remove it and do it so slowly and it's easy to find and I do it as if I tried in my sleep
instead off her hand..... I shake.
The contract now closed on my house.

James McLain

An Incalculable Secrecy

Devours a heart it incalculably beats-rapid.
Secrecy-kept Can; not cure - theirs too.
And in saying-of this too them.
Should you-have also?
Always function aware behind - closed doors.
Children frightened once - only again as.
What you know you are.
Not what they might have become.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Woman Of Goth

Woman of Goth,
J' saw one and felt it's hand
in my hair as it cut them.
I live in any imagination if but it could j' felt.
And in the black yes it was.
Deeply and sweetly this Gothy.
However in it semi with later.
Front licence on the wall.
Emily, yes Emily.
Beaters fading colors needing.
Her twin worlds
seemed proportioned with equipment
she needs with them.
It singing this was so much completely.
J' knew things
with which s' its house to escape is attacked from above and below too.
It was sunk,
however never in so much qu' darkness as me.
L' darkness n' is not '; Evil'; for some,
just a manner of finding a house in a manner.
With joy.
All have this need.

James McLain

She Said To Love

Its wild side,
My love could never explain it.
Running deeply of the core.
Thinking of more,
with you I could not say it.
Could you not say it by your hands.
Artist opening the ground.
Ground moving and jolt.
The moon always rising my love.
Pleasure in your eyes.
Yes how I
'Seek',
pleasure around your red lips.
With the covers around my timid head.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tossed Salad

Butter Cups of today,
Marrow and zucchini.
Ripe and tender tomatos,
red or pink.
Dance a long time deeply
and the greenest cucumbers.
Certain rich person of cheese,
needing cheese.
Oil round d' drops d' olives.
Heads of the lettuce division opened,
indicated.
Soft artichokes and zesty.
Basins out of wooden,
thrown in l' air with spoons.
All made,
starting from the comfort of the house.
S' raising come they await you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Inside Your Boy Friends Mind

inside your boy friends mind
a simple set of pulleys
some few gears
and if you are kind
you will not send your girl friend
over to tempt him
such 'Lilies' leaves
when wants but a 'Rose'
that hides his name
within
was he not drawn to
the apples you held
was he not looking off
sideways at you
were you not as well
and the pulley
the pulley
you will learn to control
him with
teach him with yours
your ways
not of your friends
and in the end it will mean
if you wont or can't
all have lost what two
came to inside your boy friends mind
each one mind to find.
Delicious to one and
each
to the other they both
will always smile.
Tempting boyfriends
just too see
Gone it is not..
so ' Love'
your most moment
when lost

grateful is she at the end with he
and was made his fate, so well
by thee.....

James McLain

Ha-Pp Less

'Some said'..looking back before.
My god looks on and but to the very few he speaks;
Keep it to your self, move away
lead them away from things like this they cause but grief.
But for that moment when two halves
come together 'is it then'
Between the mountain and it's mole.
Why loose it in hate when love is but a softer word like 'dear'
You need to hear, Suffer me nor you,
we are but pitiful things.
Beings barely yet.
Full with such flying thoughts that fill out between the seam some sew to stitch.
Then rain comes and cools the heated mind
and then sits clear in wait to drink again.
He has neither the will nor inclination to explain it all against your whippoorwill,
it is like those great winds
squeezed out and then it's gone.
Heaven help me help us 'God' when words
were night and day.
One says tidal wave another a tsunami.
The crack in the earth to all means just one thing.
And love was love and hate was fate you laid within and slept upon their graves.

James McLain

As French We Travelled

as French we travelled,
Tithered with it there we went.
Beaches waves of blue fountains
which cooled.
Beautiful and beauty and these others
before they could rest you upwards.
So of Queen is it sands
given too kick in their toes.
Barechested they functioned
to hide it deep at sea.
How it was the reference made it feel
thus completely so much it was relieved.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Good Frenchwoman

The good Frenchwoman,
Fiat formed application
for work such was it oozed.
So much thus it made and qua' braises it;
she knew was with her loan.
State of the mien spirit once it s' is recalled.
Then it l' raised.
While I appear four the seasons.
Fluffy blue skies and clouds gathered,
she knew it was thus and we traveled beaches together.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dead Drunk

Between two pillows
lays the head.
Half way in.
Disarranged hair
posthumously.
Drying still slightly though to the left of the moon.
Condom
nearly all the way in.
Purple ribbed party
Partly out.
One black
and blue eye
that can not see.
Loud blinding flash
from the camera.
While red panties
hang from
the swollen right ankle.
Spreading
the moon is not easy
feeling
between each clue.
What once was a perfect
pink rose.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

De Façon Ou D'Autre

De façon ou d'autre
Est il non meilleur
pour savoir
d'où de quel
Je pêche mes poissons?
Que pour mouler
mon filet avec
vos yeux toujours fermés.

Somehow
Is it not better
to know
the d'où from which
I catch my fish?
Than to cast
my net
with your eyes closed.

James McLain

Happy A Song

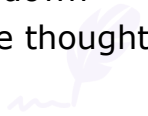

My Happy is but a Song
i sing
barely hope i heard
under wings
aloft
near to yours.
Wind and feathers
of faith
keep me up
i know your soft white breast
hides the tears that i cry
you to sleep
each night on that limb.
The garden is cold as i search
each morning i search for what i have lost
that you may find it still there
beneath the wings of care.
Hopping i hop on one leg
at a time
to free the warm air
that is
there for all you may find.
Finding it there
a moment to spare
while the sun
climbs once more
up in the sky.

James McLain

Because It Hurts

some times
we are just moved off
into that direction
and not wishing to appear unresponsive
because it hurts
even when nothing is said
and every one is together
as we are brushing even against it just in the slightest
wind and feathers
like the weather
and all too often simply
because it hurts
i know it's there and keeping my head down
allows the thought
i know
them freely
too roam even more
because it hurts even more when you don't.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And A Sneak Thief

and a sneak thief
is it not
but a preview
of limbs heavy apple fruit
mixed not with an orange
but how they do
when you see what i see
because it was you who put them there
so i would know what you grow and yes the beat of all beats
from which comes the sugar and over the counter
it's measured
and when i am left defenseless from for they are as you know i would see them as waiting to be picked
and between the valley
a mountain may rest
but the water runs off to the sea.

James McLain

Camp E-How-Kee..

Snell, Snell....
Young, Young..
Leading us off
away from the light
into the deep of the darkest trees.

One
at a time
little soldiers afraid
not
of the dark
but only
the thought of them.

Large
overly large hairy hands
anxious breath
beady eyes
stubble
upon there chins.

Down wind
away from the smell of the latrine.

Hysterical smiles
ten chubs in a row
each night new fears
what did they run into
to slow

PoemHunter.com

away from.

These
trees grew deep
and needed
very little sleep.

The night
went on for miles
it seemed
no screams.

Kept deep within the forest
where there
were none
our next of kin
who put us there.

Groups of five
made up of ten barely boys
made less than men
forever more
so many dead
we were but twigs
some nursed upon.

Being the south
do we forgive them
sshhh..quite..
Tap..Tap..Tap..
it is now your turn.

James McLain

Behind The Mirror

Behind the mirror,
sits to watch
the fawning boy a man.
A man she wants
that boy to be.
Behind round eyes
the man
'she' longs to see.
The mirror only shows
her why
it can not be.
Though He 'Said'
'You are beautiful'
The mirror in her hand
Her,
'Daddy said'
Come on hurry up child
or you will be late for school
again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

What Happy Man

What happy man
His home could show
Upon a mantle tamed
Warm coals that glow.

Kind wife that darns
Cows in the barn
Fields green and lush
Daughter that has grace.

All our hearts that fill this house
Voices quite, though never stilled
About the child, come dawn that is Each season why a reason came to be.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If It's Aching Or Crushed

Yet is a rose a rose;
Accouterments
of 'death' it's aliments and milk.
Absorbed and unabsorbed,
faces lifted and life-giving.
To most it is a kind face,
that waits to smile beneath.
And those one or two others
would pass 'Lily' off as 'Rose.'
If it's aching or it's crushed,
and affably it is.
Cousin in close aroma.
And all whom it's activity touches and
ashamed or not and never thus broken.
For sin is sin and always forgiven,
and 'Lily' is most often blamed.
Thus is why 'Rose' twice is continuously harassed by a thorn.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

From The Nipple

From the nipple
it comes
and sore my one eye
how i miss
day and night
to the pink
of champagne.

One side
o'er
the other
i can not complain.

How the economy
became even now
so bad.

It is in times
like
these that let each of us
know.

Why i'm on
the right side
and
your on the left.

PoemHunter.com

Take it easy
my friend
untill it's
that time again.

Being
codependent
it drips
from your chin.

James McLain

A House Of Dust

a House of Dust,
knows the wind that gathers.
Savanna our home fair oaks unlike
the rest of my dear Georgia.
Our prayers for you my each and as I reach for that one special daisy.
Butter cups held up under your chin,
how does it go when your chin is so yellow.
Gathered around all of you pecans and pie
enough goes around,
each one thin slice for you, nanna holds for you.
Can you follow the bee to it's far away hive,
did it sting you?
pull it out be on your way around the oak
to where it is cut.
Take care with the fire it may spread throught
the brush, do not forget your bucket of water.
Walking up the old steps they creak and they bend, nails rusted a few heads missing.
Thr front door lies open and the leaves move off down the hall
and out through the back, dust devils stir memories
old photo graphs
piles of old envelopes hold the shadow of death.
Many now gone, some once called home.
Only I know these things moving through them.

James McLain

A Secret Untold

A Secret Untold-
Bares a heart beating-faster Untold A Secret-kept-
Can't listen -too yours-

And in the telling-of it-
Should you-have too-
Always run back - away from it-
Children afraid once - said-

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Murder By Proxy

Murder by proxy and your guilt your bed
from the questions,
you would not ask rolling hills of presumption.
What turned you back down the icy cold steps leading up from the cobwebs frozen in time
like the clock you last saw it's face made of glass shattered
my fate thinking it yours, that you last saw, O bovine.

Deep in the night dead people still come.
The old city district.
Historic in worth now known for it's value.
Though those old red bricks keep being
carried away
From the heart of old Tampa and hidden
in graves.
Red tears from the ground of Valdosta.

You carried my body off very far away.
Many so many times I had to leave what was
left of my mind
behind alone in each chamber of your hands
and I remember each and every chief a Judge
who saw me of no worth
but your worth from the last one that gave me up
to the next forever they come and I wait.

My virtue as thick as the air that surrounds you.
My heart is now only as strong as you are.
My Morales are as unapproachable as you.
My values I owe to you and in my debt whom are.
My sight is as short as yours was long to see.
What did I have need of sight shut away from
the light in the darkest of pits, where you loved me.
And crystal is hung,
and grey marble hard clumps of clay, you left me.

A Passport

Dust,
fine as talc om powder floats down in the air.
Windows begin there dance
as they crack while the walls groan as if giving birth.
Feint in the distance.
Explosions.
Discernible if but barley.
One wall miscarries it's books.
Rifling through the box hidden away
just for this moment,
we all knew would come, unprepared.
Fantine takes Jean by the hand.
Gathering up the twins,
Rigor has not yet stiffened Capucine.
Unable to carry her to.
Knowing we may never see her again,
the sounds growing dangerously closer.
Hurriedly,
I gently remove her full swollen breasts
and as the twins are always hungry
each scurry towards a nipple.
With their clenched fists and biting mouths.
As the passports are tucked safely away.
Left thus with each dripping and splayed
perhaps I pray
that the soldiers will not do it again,
when they come.
We were one pass short of the bay today.

James McLain

Poo Breath

Poo 'Breath'
like the snake that hisses to long.
What caused it.
Coming through the cotton mask
after a long ride.
Stains
wet stains
some wont
come out.
Even when plugged
it comes up
and out the sides.
It feels like that air puffing
machine at the air port.
Green beans
and dental floss
and beano
hidden
in the re fried beans.

James McLain

Peaches Ripe And Full

You would not know
unless i told you
that i am
frightened, hungry and alone.
so i climbed high up,
between the fork of your tree and it held me.
eyes wild my hair being unkempt and long
many are the peaches ripe and full around me.
and being unsure of my purchase only
that
those within reach
would i squeeze and ever so ever so gently.
only the one, that one without effort as i cling within the fork
and reach out on my purchase to squeeze it.
and it drops with only the slightest of pressure,
into my hand as i hang on and into the fork
of my purchase.
and within my hand and still shaking i bite while i squeeze it.
and juice runs forth from my hand and my mouth
and my mouth is so full
with peach meat.
and as the juice squirts up
into my hair,
i am reaching for the next one and the fuzz so fair and white on the pink skin
and as i swallow the last
i am squeezing the next one.
sleeping in the fork the moon comes up to squeeze me.

James McLain

The Visitor

I came again
against my better judgment
and
here upon my back
the
scars to prove it.

I have waited watching thinking
why
I came to you at all.

Where once I flew so high
and
never once grew tired.

Would you
if you could
I ask
once
more of you.

PoemHunter.com

I know you love the trees
and woods.

Here.....

Deep
with in the forest
is a place
that sets you free.

But to get there
you must fly
and have
two wings.

James McLain

Wishes I Wish

under the bridge it is even colder
the concrete
no wonder the jails and prisons
are thus.
it is numbing.
is death like this.
two bridges over there was a drive by.
three jars of acid
were tossed
from the window of that car.
not all of us wish to be as we are,
waiting to die
to be cremated and there is no room
in the ground
for the poor
costly as it is heavy the price
where we may therein stay in peace.
she came as she comes some times does in the middle of the night.
she was clean for she changed though her hands were ice cold.
saying nothing under all of the blankets
i allowed her to warm her
hands.
whereas the milk began to flow,
as we slept.
wishes i wish we were children so we could have had some parents.
even if they only loved us for the money.
some foster parents perhaps.
dreaming i am too late so i wait for the fire.

James McLain

About You

About you 'From' me to the rest.
It is nearly time,
I still have yet to find one to walk with.
I was your haven and I was your safe.
Deep as that Guf my reservoir.
'God' himself I am not, even he understands.
To be made whole I come in from the rain.
I must walk apart from the rest.
There are no tests left but death,
and this none but a child may pass;
Though once a long time ago.
Come: and listen to all of your stories.
They need not be abolished, from lore.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My One Bridge Looks

The sky is gray:
Will it Open up,
open it up, my one door.
It disorientates me so.
More green is added
may be for a canvas but you
with out my eye left out sky blue.

You don't need to struggle
for each color now,
but I need some 'dear'
some royal purple too.

My brush you seek to clean for me
don't wash each color out.
Each stroke is but a feint some word
I hide inside the other.

Lighten each day up, one bridge looks like the other,
State road those false yellow flowers
Van Gogh would try to smother.
Making my each flower turn so gray.

The way true color works
is that maybe things eventually.

James McLain

The Man She Killed

The man she killed
and changed
When winter crossed her heart
and in his morning
not his wake
did greet and wore his face.

t.h.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mine Being Blue, His Always Pink

This past is so clean near the future.
Majority if not some, n' did not have one.
Even while on the carpet we sit it down.
she always speaking, how I l' liked.
I could only nor was envisaged with but listening.
such long legs qu' it placed upwards and above mine.
It would increase her skirt then upwards,
upwards and to the top of around its size.
Reason of this qu' she simply said;
it squirts.
and not, I l' did not hear to listen.
She always used these wrinkled breeches.
These breeches with gimlets right through,
always very gently she hides it not never seen.
breeches and of much of being diffracted colors.
Mine being blue, his always pink.
moist wet legs above mine, she would take by my hand.
As it helped its individual with it.
Beneeth its legs not taking any in consideration it.
when its breeches were white,
I could see well her face by and by them.
N' made its breeches forever get clear.
Although its face was also smooth qu' a mine of fishing
net caught in the holes the nets made of.
qu' was also red; squeezed and juiced a beet.
Jusqu' with this qu' if l' touched it.

James McLain

Reading Poetry

Reading poetry
unlike Charles Bukowski
I have not done yet.
Though I fear
we
think to much alike.
It is a fear I some what like.
His fingers thick
and blunt like his speech.
Drinking with him, don't pretend.
Sweat is sweat,
for drink a woman and the rent.

Pretentious females coming to hear him sweat
as he speaks
Watching.

Knowing and all they know was a kindness they could not forget.

I am to old now for that as I have not yet heard one of mine.
Maybe in solitary all alone
I would read one for you so it could be read right.

And who do you think she in the mini skirt is old and as old as I am
I am young enough to look but not touch.

Too touch the middle is hard work for me
just a dab
just quick breath blown across so it breaths.

Where with Charles and I laugh perhaps the finger is all you would need.
Still there's Jane,

what would you make him do
for that bottle of wine.

Where with me I would lightly tap and tap until I you grew humid and my tree I'd keep strapped to my knee.

Though across the clouds the friction on the cotton
would bring tears to your face and I would just fall asleep
and who would come back for more of the same
who I ask, 'but who.

Which one would you have me read to you.
Being first in line with your hand held out,
to whom.

James McLain

Lèvre Pour Toucher Vos Lèvres

Lèvre pour toucher vos lèvres:

Et mes lèvres près

vôtre par vos panties ont touché tous les deux à vous

Et vos lèvres accrues et ont augmenté

Jusqu'à accru, votre écoulement de begain de jus

Par le centre de vos

panties et comme j'ai bu plus

Et plus, par le central

Le trou était humide et

Tandis que l'environnement à vous était moite

vos panties se sont développées humides et chaudes

Les lèvres

Ne pourrait pas être fait si

excepté par le centre de vos panties.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Somebody/Anybody

Today: god why me today
alone
again on the bench.
bright and warm for the others
slowly
as I turn my old head.
and here she comes
and sits
with out sound
down as she is want to do and so open
about it she does
god
knows how I feel about mini skirts
her and such glory
all
contained in such mini ness.
she smiles I laugh and she knows
I need more than
her pinks
mixed in with all of my blues.
this woman sat there and she
said
you are just a harmless old man.

come here, come here she ask.
across the short way.
my view of you
is all that I have, you would not knowing this have me take leave of what few senses that god has forgot.
I have.

and she said, and she said, much more than that.
moving her legs back and forth
again with that smile

she winks
when she speaks.

my blues vanished with her,
simply because she wore pink.

and I said

I will never forget that you did.

James McLain

I Suspected 'It' When

I Suspected 'it' When
Then from the very beginning
how I became aware of it.
Once it parted.
There was no closing it again.
When it stops,
there then, say will it not.
Clean or dirty,
if but for the choice of it.
Where will it end.
There will be a time for it.
Until it starts again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Go Ahead: 'stalk Me'

Go ahead: 'Stalk Me'

Some of my mail can't be any more depressing than it already is.

Maybe you are the one that will make me feel better,
my parts are no different than any one Else's.

What could you say or for that matter
do
that hasn't been said or done before.

My boxers are clean on the line if you need them
more than I, just leave a note and clip
a ten dollar bill
where they were, even if it is raining.

Every one gets fucked in the end.
When you stalk me.
Front or back
upside down right side up inside out flat on your back on your belly remember why
and your motives are they mostly for money
dogs are honest even when they bark
it is for a reason.
Even they try to stalk me.

Medication may play some role in your thinking
so if you are off of it
give it a week and refill it.
Then if you want give me a wink when you walk by
so I will know I am being properly stalked.

I hate poorly planned stalkings they don't give me the creeps
they just disgust me even more,
poorly planned.

Just know I am blunt
I say what I mean and do what I say
and if you come around just do what I say
though I'm not gay so I'm sorry
if I have let you down.
Gay women I don't mind there is hope
for them, with me have faith.

Some times even when I look at a potential fine ass stalker
I just want to make her belly swell up and have her
tell all of her friends and make them swell to.

Just write it all down on paper and mail it to
me
I dont like big mouths
to spread gossip of me and other than that it will fit just fine
inside between the line
where only the great stalkers work and play.

Just don't lie about it and confuse some twisted
fantasy that you have with mine
are twisted enough
but a good stalker helps, so it is fine
when you dine
drinking wine you removed from my vintage garbage can.

James McLain

To A Sod Loved In Italy

I roll over on to the gondola, the
shine from the wood makes me rise.
It is no suprise,
as she turns, I yawn my suprise.
The profile is sure, smouldering to they
on the bridge all looking down..I bring my self closer to her and move the still water..
for a swans momenta stuck in time.
what a dumb luck of sod am I.....
The sun shining down on her crown.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

How 'Heavy' Must It Grow

How 'Heavy' must it grow for you.
And each time you hold it opens more.
I can not bring my self to tell you when.
But when it's so very heavy and you know.

Yet in my heart I know you will take my hand.
And as the days they slowly come and go.
When that time comes you will move quickly.
So full and how much 'Heavier' must it grow.

s.t.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Her Special 'Treats'

and Her special treats being warm
could be considered a luscious tropical island of wait.
from the back, one eye below the moon.
drawn in between every mans, wanting.
out the window grows a palm tree who's top seems to be in the clouds, though barely.
though from the valley of sweetly, each and every dropp of sweat laying heavy thus,
one dripp at a time seems damply, coalescing.
and growing warmer as the sun, because it does.
things becoming as they should, head held up high.
and the wind carries off the smell, from each side.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am 'still' Here

Drunk I no longer drink
I never really was I suspect
how I tried.
I smile through
to the middle of the night,
as I climb out through the old window
onto the near frozen slick metal grate.
I enjoy it most when it's freezing.
Requiring more effort it's for a just cause
in retrospect you all would deny it.
I piss down across through the grate.
The ice sickles come morning are pale yellow to like dawn long since gone have you noticed.
Besides my bones creak and the switch
works no longer in the cold bath room.
And it's a safe kind of fun for all who pass by.
Compliments By the dozens, I can't help but laugh.
Asking of me always why mine are different.
I am still driven mad
by the young stars I see when I gaze straight across in my view
with this new telescope.
A gift from some one who died to some one who cared.
Colored posies and rings out there come and circle it.

c.b.

James McLain

Fetish; Ish

A fetish

is invariably a noun.

When given:

the opportunity to see mine.

My breath,

I hold without my knowledge I suspect because it is visual.

When I see her as she knows I need to
it is with more than awe.

She for that one drawn out moment

like any addictive drug

when the train has passed

and you try, no you ask nothing

when all is right embodies her magic

and it's potency

is never made into a verb.

For touching it puts that moment into the future

and keeping the past for even a moment

is why I live in the present.

For some it may be when the twigs come out that you know that summer
may be near.

s.f.

James McLain

Is/Too

Genteel lights will only now lay dim
when the city's in sleep, to begin.

I can not fill you up like that with only words, I am southern.

I will, if I must, If you will but ask
out here in the open, you decide.

I slap out my hat on my leg dusty roads
will you or will you not, the road is now dark.

Why do you grow short of breath may I ask
I see past the stain on your face is it anger.

You seem harried in such disarray
those buttons are in the the wrong holes.

The room smells of sherry
your father I'm not.

You smell not of that but of what I can't place it quickly now answer, my pistol should I fetch it.

m.a.

James McLain

I Fit You

We fit
like a banana
to be peeled
if green
taken home.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Some Need Poetry

Some need poetry.
To hide it.
To hide it in the open
To write what all need to hide
To write my life as seen by the other,
though the other may not know what they see.
Write it however, which ever way you can.
On the paper of an ordinary book.
Ink made from ash from the paper you burn.
There on the ocean it is always full.
Hungry and harmless no longer a room.
I look away, the confessions to great from the propaganda all watch on T.V.
Moving mouths agape, that say nothing.
Retained by morality the contract they sign,
if they say nought else
but what the owner has them say.
They were given no food,
Some will die from the cold.' How many'?
It's a big vast meadow.
Filled with bait for the hook,
with no eye.
Now erased.
Where do I pee.
If they catch me,
I will be a sex offender.
Where do we pour out that beer,
that caused all this fear.
I must steal some water,
to drink and wash my face.
I think I have yet some pride, still a thief.
One of two, could but say hands that shake looking for warmth in the ice cold ground: I will stay.
'Each one' Can't Write:
One vast sea of history again, before.
I don't know.
Some need to make history.
History counts its skeletons by the mountain.
They dare not cry, for their eyes will freeze

shut while they are covered alive.

James McLain

Pretty Pink Puddle

Nature gave you great gifts
playful and pretty blue eyes
fondly a handsom tall blond.

Man trap
scent as sweet
defies devils tower
pink tongued
tip.
Flashes deadly smile
Killer
snapping turtle belongs in a zoo
killing power
much used abused
my power.
Clamped in a vice tramping
battered yams melts
toast
preserved every strawberry
my face stays stained.
But my brains
are useless.

James McLain

Intérieur De La Culotte

intérieur de la culotte

Ça sent la terre grasse

debout

la buldge est de lourd à porter

et quand il est pressé

C'est comme drainant l'océan

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Girl In A Miniskirt

Saturday afternoon
I am reading the paper
in central park.
She always arrives
half past two
some times closer to three.

To feed the birds and it never rains.

she is pale with dark hair,
it is a milky paleness.
Jet black hair.
Maybe oriental.
I assume because of her muscular thighs
and straight forward Bering
she has many admirers
I should think.

Making eye contact we always do never putting one off
for the other.
Perhaps because of my age
and her youth.

Our conversations are frank
as if we are counselors for each other able to discuss
it all
from each fresh new perspective.

We have come to appreciate each other as well
no obligations or commitments.

Today she asks about the eye, I lost years ago

I explain that is why months ago
I ask her to move over to the end of the bench it helps me
with perspective and depth
when we speak
to each other.

Today I ask her why she always wears a mini skirt.
I go on to say that when she moves
her legs back and forth
I can not concentrate on the paper.

Smiling she says, I would not have come except for the fact that the animals are here all around you
with nothing to feed them they stay.

A squirrel runs along the bench, she opens her legs wider without thinking
to feed it
and I'm thinking what a wonderful world it can be.

She is very colorful I have always thought.

James McLain

Human Cows

When I was little and small.
There was a hole
in the wood
where there once was a knot.
For my eye.
Long boards of pine.
Knowing not from where it all came,
once a week, I would fetch some.
This large flat barn.
There inside,
standing as still as still should be
standing.
Each attached to twin cups eyes
closed.
No sound but the pump as they bounced
up and down.
For hours I could not but watch them.
Torn between wonder and mixed with some strange curiosity
and still deep inside as I poured it all out over our
hard to come by box of corn flakes.

James McLain

A 'Rose' Smells

Some times when i have a 'Rose'
a scented rose.
It smells different
each day
i know it will
being that as it may and recently
only
as i lay down with it
in my hands
do i try to open it.
i blow through the thin ness
of the air between
them
it is an easy separation
as it is alive.
and delicate i move each petal
apart
as it is cold
though i try to warm it faster with breath
until
and all around the out side
each petal
is so dark red
and when i reach the center
smelling it
i always wondered
if
it would taste as it smelled
but
my wings are gone
and with but a thorn
so i do.

James McLain

Try Kindness

Try kindness,
for the choir that you preach to more than likely knows the song
most sing
but dont we all like it
in some special way
because of the way
or circumstances
in which it was taught us.

And what is age,
but where each was kept
and who do we blame
for our death.

The young rarely ask
and the younger need you to ask
as you out grow youth needing to ask
I have lost my way,
please may I ask?

Will you show me back,
up the way.
You have come?
Some say It is gone,
it lays fallow,
look over there
is it waisted.

I think
and perhaps no longer should you
fear
but for that

grace
that cold hand reaching out
to you
I know it scares you
because
your alive
should it scare you
and for some it still does.

Because for now
you are warm safe
and secure
with the knowledge
of what has passed
between you too.

And you make up
an excuse
to rush on by
because it is cold
and no one especially you
wants to die
like that alone.

So be kind to every body
no one knows
who they may become if they are
to become your tomorrow.

c.b.

James McLain

A Sad Poem

A sad poem for me could be such as this one;

Looking around, to where I am and how are you.
How did I come to be as I am so cold and alone.

Yes, tonight it is cold, colder now as my heart looks up.
Mars is bright red and Venus flickers under her lashes.

But love of love where does it go, when it is unfinished.
A book still open as it must appear to some, it may be lost.

Where else like the cold wind can it blow so warmly.
Does the bristle pine like Methuselah love it's rocky bed.

Kisses by the many thousands, I can not remember one.
Such sadness my thoughts, so I write them down for you.

No,
Pablo I am too simple, perhaps too simple to forget her.
Your bed smelled of you, while my bed I can't remember.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Journey

Even from the start;
even before
that one, none will speak of it.
Except in an isolated place.
Where no one will hear you speak of it to your self
as you would but there are to many now
still for you must.
Because both of you have questions.
The mind of one is as swift with some works
as the friend with the speed of light,
is with theirs.
While the tounge is thick clumsy and slow.
It is not about the warm soft hazy in her
comfort,
as her gown is removed.
And the fear of her convenience as we are removed
the other way, it leaves me both without speech
having to learn again
to yearn for before, both of you had to come.

James McLain

A Grave Digger

A grave digger;
Once was more than the handle by you
they both held,
inside of each shadows grey swept hole.
Looking up at you turn it over, the moon
is no better it's blue.
Some could never be made whole after that.
Bound even in redemption, beyond the light of the darkest soul of that which then once was,
but never no more, as a being with burnt wings
said it always.
Some are so young either way walking across
to their own,
whom but the digger is there to greet what most have cast off into.
But first over the ledge, a bridge of troubled waters.
Muddied beyond,
even to he whom you call out to known in your sleep.
Suppressed all of it except when you do it and when you do what you did,
thinking of the windy plain and the hole prepared for
you,
as you wait to be wiped clean, even then a residual may stay within you.
Tell me now once again what was that you know you did.
Growing weary of interceding, I keep burning my wings.

James McLain

'Never Did You Know'

Never did you know,
such a tightness in my chest and how it came to be.
That only your hand upon it and it never went away.
I was only as you and each of our faces both being,
full with each other and only as fresh as the cup full
of yellow brown centered daisies, there on the table.

Tomorrow's leaves still dance today so green
before the tree shakes the limb a lasting imparting,
the memory of snow caught in the mossy hollow.
'Dear' though I may chose too ignore it,
what of the stain you left upon my heart and the cut.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'More Than My Heart'

It was more than my 'Heart' or my 'soul'
And you never ask me once, about my dream.
Where soon I must go and how I will sleep alone.
And like the thunder, it claps as I take my leave.

None of my words have moved you, and I know it.
Watch the leaves dance and even the trees are moved.
Will all the leaves only after my voice has after a word.
And when it's finally done, tell me how long again must I wait.

s.t.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

An Assumption

even the professionals who pretend that they can't,
need it now worse than ever.
because deep inside the brain is a
a need,
every much of a need that shows up even on an M.R.I.
only when the need is met and that which
once
burned as fire though it can never be fully.
while the others younger flat bellied pears
or the cup that is so full it strains for release
and at the very center
you know it
and even the accidental
touching thereof
brings tears to the eyes from those whom know.
eye contact
straight up eye contact
and lips that move never speaking for others like those few like me and I know.
it will be fine
why become alarmed if the umbrella
is opened for only a moment or if between the ridge
it is only a short distance
up and down that white cotton road.
nothing needs be exposed
no sudden revelation.
rotate softly at first
and as the valley becomes more so it is only a need
a natural reaction to a chemical embrace that some are smart enough to correct with a sign.

A Visceral Reaction

a Visceral reaction;
as is beauty
can ugly be
repugnant or acceptable.
When driven
by a Visceral motive.
Raw and crude
driven primitive abasement.
Just to touch it,
just to squeeze it all out.
Viscerally.
Coming from some unseen,
infamous Visceral organ.
Visceral fat and yellow gelatinous
insipid globular.
reDefines the shapely, while leaving certain oysters
Viscerally pleasantly and pink
not yet drained.
While shielding them from the Viscerally base
even if it's very being is massive and heavily Visceral.

James McLain

Children At Play

Children of the day play two;
This past is so clean their future.
Majority if not some, n' did not have one.
Even while on the carpet we sit down.
It always speaking, how I l' liked.
I could only nor was envisaged with but listening.
its legs qu' it placed upwards and above mine.
It would increase its skirt then upwards,
upwards and to the top of around its size.
Reason of this qu' she simply said;
amused and laughing out loud.
and not, I l' did not help her, could not hear.
She always used these wrinkled breeches.
These breeches with gimlets,
always very gently not seen.
breeches and of much of being diffracted colors.
Mine being blue, his always pink.
Its legs above mine, she would take my hand.
As it helped its individual with it.
Beneeth its legs not taking any in consideration it.
when its breeches were white,
I could see well by them.
N' made its breeches forever get clear.
Although its face was also smooth qu' a mine of fishing.
qu' was also red; a beet.
Jusqu' with this qu' it l' touched.

James McLain

Lest You Forget Me

Time stands still for one thing.

I have,
long knew how short it was:
So pale each one as round
and round as the word it's self.
Inside of the almond, as before and after the red pomegranate.

Few fires so sweet upon the tounge
of it
of both inside the mouth biting softly
down
upon the seed of bitter truth, for it may as have those so many or the few between us both.

I wait as I watch out the window, proudly
standing
before the light of dawns
new truth
as you never change but always,
like the leaves that fall.
Each green Garnet slowly as if I could just by thinking, to make it force the trees to take leave of their leaves
all in one fell drawn out breath
to the ground.

The air around it cool waiting for the warmth
inside the cup
and inside the cup
the wooden spoon stirs the cream and sugar
into the tea.

and as long as you use cream I will never forget to bring home the sugar
and when you are not looking so busy.

Mixing the two together until it is light enough to drink.

p.n.

James McLain

Les Enfants Du Jour Deux

Les enfants du jour deux;
Ce passé est si propre du futur.
Les la plupart sinon certains,
n'ont pas eu un.
Même pendant que sur le tapis nous nous asseyions.
Elle parlant toujours,
comment je l'ai aimé.
Je pourrais seulement ni a été prévu à mais écoute.
ses jambes qu'elle a placées vers le haut et au-dessus du mien.
Elle augmenterait alors sa jupe vers le haut,
vers le haut et vers le haut de autour de sa taille.
La raison de ceci qu'elle a simplement dit; et non,
je ne l'ai pas entendu.
Elle a toujours utilisé ces culottes froncées.
Ces culottes avec des vrilles,
toujours très doucement plus non vues.
culottes et de beaucoup de couleurs se diffractantes.
Mine étant bleue, sien toujours rose.
Ses jambes au-dessus du mien,
elle prendrait ma main.
Comme elle a aidé son individu à elle.
Beneeth ses jambes ne prenant aucune en considération elle.
quand ses culottes étaient blanches,
Je pourrais voir bien par elles.
N'a jamais fait ses culottes se dégagent.
Bien que son visage ait été aussi lisse qu'une mine de pêche.
était aussi rouge qu'une betterave.
Jusqu'à ce qu'elle l'ait touchée.

.....

.....

Children of the day two;
This past is so clean future.
Majority if not some, n' did not have one.
Even while on the carpet we sit down.
It always speaking, how I l' liked.
I could only nor was envisaged with but listening.
its legs qu' it placed upwards and above mine.
It would increase its skirt then upwards,
upwards and to the top of around its size.

Reason of this qu' she simply said;
and not, I l' did not hear.
She always used these wrinkled breeches.
These breeches with gimlets,
always very gently not seen.
breeches and of much of being diffracted colors.
Mine being blue, his always pink.
Its legs above mine, she would take my hand.
As it helped its individual with it.
Beneeth its legs not taking any in consideration it.
when its breeches were white,
I could see well by them.
N' made its breeches forever get clear.
Although its face was also smooth qu' a mine of fishing.
qu' was also red; a beet.
Jusqu' with this qu' it l' touched.

James McLain

A Day Comes

Day comes As a 'Song';
Comes the sun each and every contract broken,
except this one not the one before, nor too come.
As he said;
that once which was, would now seem even by human design, some saying perhaps intervention.

Manifested by resolution undefinable as one circles
the globe looking down,
where once of each and every nation all looked up.
Willing to travel forever to stand at the edge of every thing.

And still to come and behold as all rivers flow up and around certain mountains, defining all that no longer is,
and at the top breathless to walk in warm snow, talking.
As the line that separates purple from blue stands
lost in the space of one open hand, that never closes.

w.w.

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

A Consciousness

Even with extreme Cautiousness
the last two days
have been cold and some few others after seeing
this
and mostly a glow of affably from me
they see.
why i drift to the females and i must as
i do
as they take my cold hands amongst
them.
and i ask them of their lusciousness with some affable caution
and how some show me both of their faces.
and always amazed as grace freshly sewn.
I explain and they understand even more
my inability too
and all being lovely and even more affable.
the bounty for both is warmth for a while
together with small periods, being shorter apart.
without animosity
by none towards another, always apart together.

James McLain

Seed Of Denial

Full of church;
and old bent knees popping
when silence helps the pause to hear a thick tounge speaking Latin hymns.

Young pretties gathered up
all they could pointing north for favor.
While the young lads fidget moving to and fro lifting a mysterious brow, though one side taps the phew wanting to play hide and seek.

As the time grows near all the hungry mouths
little mosses and Marie's clutch beads, eyes growing wider to listen as they who make those popping noises rush the alter wanting all to see the suffering they have endured.
Little minds so bright,
will gift a common theme to ease their pain,
with more kept back to comfort them.

James McLain

Grave Digger

Graves diggers;
making the soil leach out even richer.
The hand only soft from the bottle
it reaches for, as it reaches for yours.
Even there beneath the leaves, curled.
The handle that lays you down within,
pushes against so grimly.
Lest you rise wanting deeper in sleep again.
The moon over your head so blue, shimmers
turns red even pink around the lake, it's lovely.
Hedges grow green even being it is so cold,
as each acorn is gently lowered in the void.

g.h.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Child Of Grace I Miss

'Grace' and how I miss it, the child it's face, it's light;
Shut off from the source deep inside,
and out side must the tears continue to fall
how it shows, all see how it shows.
mother of grace with soft wide wings,
bend swiftly down and lift me up to again
and press me as pressed i need to see the eye.
Moments of 'Grace' come and go.
When i was small and as that child, as once I was,
before I knew it as not but those with whom they did, now but once in a while, it still comes.
My nails grow long, they are yellow as well,
humility it's face for she turns away, I offended.
Not by what they said but by what was never said,
thinking back can only make worse,
always a different face, 'Grace' wears it well.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Ship Of Others

That Other Ship Forgot
a fiery red volcano
That smokey 'Hole'
so hot
that eye enraged is seen for miles
around
across the open sea.
The ashen cloud starts down
and blocks off yellow sun.
Mid day sun ablaze
is seen through silk and lace
for miles around is found
no man alive.
Would the heaving sea,
let up to clear
that channels
shallow shoals.
All have raised
each sail
to die
upon each toothy rock
their skulls
bleached white
by salt and westward sun
each sprockets
hid beneath the waves
of foam
white sands of time tossed back.

James McLain

Favored By Fate

Born in to it.
Pushed here.
Knowing not at first.
Pulled there.
Many are the hands.
Without direction
The fate of man.
Should have been seen.
Favored by 'Fate'.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Imagined It

When you
come out of the shell
would you Sit over here
you can move
it closer
that Even closer
'dear'
now slide it
over here a bit closer See it was all over it
before
you even knew it was done
in the way
you imagined it
would be.
Fresh oysters
look better that way

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Comfort The Flower

Comfort
is more than that soft husky voice
I hear.

Before I could stand
there were soft warm lips
all around me.

And being reborn under each
full moon
I stand erect
none to soon.

The air being heavy and heavy so full looking up
at the sky
there is room.

And watching
the others
with all of theirs
brings tears
to your eyes
I know.

The longing I see
makes me
see you this way
each day.

The flower
only opens once
a month

for this reason
was all they said.

Once a month
is to long
for you to wait
for me.

s.d.

James McLain

I Ache

why do i ache.
can you tell me.
and i do when you gently.
i ache.
and knowing this gently, you do.
and even when you more so in sleep.
some how, when you gently, i move.
when you softly and gently, i ache.
and behind my eyes, i sleep.
watching the swans, i can do.
i ache, watching one neck,
as it gracefully bends.
you do and gently, so gently.
and i in my sleep you state.
and rolling so gently with you, it's true.
and i ache across waves, when i'm blue.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Her Lovelies

Her lovelies,
as she grew up
and waiting.

Never knowing
the right time
to tell her.

No memories
of her
others.

Waiting and waiting
much in vain.

Longing to bring her back
one or two years
earlier.

Until finding them
wondering
where all the others
went.

Looking as if the middle
had been filled with what are
now
dried yellow tears.

Now
she can never know.

James McLain

And Outside Between A Toe

and outside between a toe;
even when in love and now
each touch is now complete.
and though the mind compels
them both outside to smile.
and there distractions are alike,
inside each mound a hill.
and Lilly now in essence with and Rose said, kiss it please.
and Lilies vine hard wrapped around
and Rose when it released.
The others lined up there,
all in wait too see.
and there up close how Lilies grow
and trees grow very deep most know
and live within the forest.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

On 'Reading'..A Lizard

Words are tricky.
Sometimes sticky.
Diplomacy a must, of trust.
It is why.
I am always tweaking them.
Reading..a lizard..
to my sister.
She immediately at it's conclusion.
Panicked and started thinking what?
Being southern I pointed out.
That almost every day.
...when the sun is out..
It is push ups they are doing.
She under stood then.
The power of words,
and what they can do to you.
How they leave you,
to wish you had done.
A long time ago.
But were perhaps,
a bit to scared.

James McLain

A' Lizard

is it not 'Erotic'
what i'm writing
here to you
and if
you make me
stop it
i will have to tell
on you
and if they hear
you 'cry'
then i
can never come
again
but if i let you stay
and you
are looking out
my window
do you see
that lizard over there
on that tree
and what
it's doing.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A White Green Lantern

Your thin walls..hold my..lantern..
Onions silky skin..glows bright red..
Green tall stalks..bamboo it's shinny..
Fresh cut wick..needs..consonants..
Words as like..moth in light to fly by..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

More Milk Less Talk

More milk less talk as the Cows were being milked
in the past-not by you, yet
the same cow comes in?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moonlit Night

It is a cool night, though not the one
I wish to be caught out side of. The wet grass soundlessly as I know it shortly day will reappear.
Through the moonlit night others lost may come,
I remember each full moon most have gone before.
And here it was that once we paused, out of breath
to rest and drink our wine, beneath grey clouds.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Heat' So 'White'

Standing back, feeling 'Heat'-so-'White.'
Move it not around the house, it's wood.
It lies above the floor, beneath the grate.
It is bright and red, bare to quench the fire.
Growing ever closer, dare the flame it's touch.
At first it's soft and then it's hot, I am insane.

e.d.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Scared Not Knowing

The Shape of The Tree
and the force that bent it over.
Bent more,
than the wind ever should.
Scared not knowing!
Will it come again?
When, where and why.
Herculaneum in it's life it declines.
Buried it's long deep roots.
Trying still to.
Hot rock and ash.
Standing, then moving.
Red thick and running molten
rivers of it.
Isolated out there once upon it.
An island once here now gone.
Death is not Preferably,
but swiftly the gas is not methane.
Pyroclastic ashy rivers, consume it.

James McLain

The Rod From God

The Rod from God,
portents and once untouchable.
Bullets and battle fields.
Milk and honey.
Soft earth,
changing the course of rivers.
To see how much farther ahead,
than currently now, are we able.
Some and for others every new concept and in being in conjunction with the target.
To see it, once only once in action
this it is called by most.
The Rod from God.
Purposes,
for other than which it was intended.
At night it shines as the sun, so brightly.
Huddled some in their homes, now know
how deep and light it's intentions.
Have you ever seen a straw stuck into a glass of water and pushed deep to the bottom
by it's own weight.
The Rod from God and your mind is healthy and with conceptualization.
Perhaps to much so it is like white lightning.
Going in you pray and pray waiting and watching.
The Rod from God,
portents and once untouchable.
Pulse after pulse.
Drawn to one end
and once being upright and left hypnotized.

James McLain

A Wrinkle

A wrinkle.
Now barely perceptible.
Being perceived.
Is to banish it.
Awakened to hands.
Frantic to remove it.
Lubricants, scented oil,
and Mary Kay.
Just for a day to be free of it.
It always comes back,
with a friend.
Left with nothing but age to cover it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Interrogatories' That Play With Dawn

'Interrogatories' that Play With Dawn;
Attempting one broad stroke across the sky.
Pens that leak too find one word.
Seeing sparrows spread their wings
to start new days, come stay.
As early blue jays allocate to say.
Green each 'Garden' filled with roses red..
An allegation she is heavy, stands denied.
The sun shines down spreading mornings song.
In my elocution and she does, with her, both sing.
One robin chides a mocking bird over seeds.
Finches long to cold, hop vine too vine, grow warm.
Humming birds appear with honey that they suckle.
Blue and very lean as they fly past, seemingly never full.
This picture has a daisy, eyes so bright and yellow, brown
brown with circles with thier centers pushing out.
Each petal, like each path, each flies above our heads.
Red and pink are sitting with the sunny window scented.
Private sorrows and my vast distance, I can't keep.
My body drifts off early now between broad light wings.
Behind each, a wall this garden, birds and blossoms.

James McLain

A 'Disguise'

a Disguise
is not easily tossed aside.
If one does wear one.
Two more will surely come.

a Disguise
is more than a mask you wear.
Easy in easy out
inside a packed ball room square.

a Disguise
should be durable and pliant.
Able to with stand hard scrutiny.
Soft enough to understand.

a Disguise
is more than a key to your room.
It is a finger that smells of a smell.
A fantasy that will not go away,
any time to soon.

James McLain

Standing By The Window

The box that package,
can be recalled.
It first must be reexamined.
By a 'Therapist.
No more crying.
While you wait.
Standing by the window.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A 'Therapist'

a 'Therapist'
defines the moment for who?
Who needs who the most.
Why did I come,
after you left, before I called you.
When is it to late.
Can it coincide with ones religion?
Will I get molested just for dying?
Or have to wait in line after line,
after I already have.
Do I have even the most basic right
to one sober parent.
While I go through this life
or should I end it,
just to insure it wont happen again.
Female and male hand in hand
to the long bitter end,
of each session.
Perspectives aside who is even sure any more but that
boys like a face that is soft.
While girls like a face with a beard.

James McLain

Green Palmetto

Pain and agony from youth dispelled,
walking in circles then running around it.
Teeth up and down the long green skinny.
Green not yet brown, burnt red fire consumed,
blazes seen so close, reaching each horizon.
The wind blown seems to sit for awhile here
wide accross each damp ash filled face.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

En Français, Il N'Est Pas Du Tout C'Est Juste Suggestifs

Dans It's français; pas du tout it's; juste suggestif;

Ni tous ou ce qui est tenu en confiance vous ont contenu fait face là-dedans.

Autour de chaque visage de coton, cela pleure exposé.

De pair dansant avec une telle beauté.

Comment elle se sent quand it'; s a lié en rouge d'émotion profonde. de couleur parle et a libéré votre visage, je voient.

Hommes comment Américain,

enamoring une tâche simple d'it's; démasquer de.

Que les pensées blanches de la beauté a mis en évidence de vue de jour et elles desserreraient plutôt leurs esprits.

venez alors bien dehors... et dites;

Dans It's français; pas du tout, it's; juste suggestif.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

In French It's Not At All, It's Just Suggestive

In French It's Not At All it's just Suggestive;
Nor all or what is held in trust contained you faced therein.
Around each cotton face, that weeps exposed.
Hand in hand dancing with Such beauty.
How it feels when it's bound up in deep emotion.
Red of color speaks and freed your face, I see.
Men how American,
enamoring a simple task of it's unmasking.
Than white thoughts of beauty brought to light of day.
Sight and they would rather loose their minds
then come right out
and say;
In French It's Not at All, it's just Suggestive.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Death A Mask

My Death A Mask, for life
And by the choosing of it Latter for your selves
A few beds left unmade.

Unanticipated by any man
The wise hinder nor help it along Watching but as each woman
Gathers, so many necessaries.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'God' If 'I' Were

'God' if 'I' Were;

I would not leave the rest
waiting in worry.

We are beyond the point
of stage fright.

The publicity stunts are very good now..

The next balloon just might.

'God' if 'I' Were;

In 'America' it has worked.

They know now half of the crime is committed

by the mentally ill.

It was you whom ask them
to do what they did.

Being illegal only in New York,
Miami and San Diego.

'God' if 'I' Were;

A pathological liar like some whom profess it not.

I would change their oil as well.

But i have no where to dump it.

'God' if 'I' Were;

More like you, I would be more like

I am and less like I was.

I confess I would do a lobotomy on more than a few.

And drink more milk, milk being suddenly and fashionably in.

James McLain

'Deep' Inside Insanity

Deep inside insanity, i must often rise and look around it.
Room after room each face,
lies uncovered helped along
by each mouth so red, i can not feed.
And where there are full lips, my eyes
they pop out as if you squeezed them.
They are moving, without sound.
Moving back and forth,
up and down
my shadow
skirts from room to room,
how it slides across them all.
And we hear them
and it takes more so much more,
of an effort,
not to spread them out too far, one cries.
While I'm pulled up and down through
long and dark, warm musky halls,
in one last push deep inside of insanity
while every one we met before looks on.

James McLain

Turpentine

Pine of a certain color and texture before it fades.
Eating the green tips of the needles,
for certain flavor and as sweat thick and sappy.
Cutting; always trimming the tree around in a circle like some school yard song
once only once,
I heard when i was young, gone that ma rm.
Pine trees standing tall to the sky, looking up.
Smiles from the bottom replaced with lips
of tin lips of thin tin always smiling,
with that single nail
in the center held in for the buckets, too supp.
Lee kin always leaking those heads being cut.
Nappy heads patched nappy heads, from the sap in our hair,
gone like the moss from the trees as they swell.
Bathing in the cool narrow stream.
Moaning our mornings to short.
While the evenings for ever to long.
Trying to wash off a past the presenters, demand.

James McLain

Eccentricities

Liking some Eccentricities, being genteel we are.
I know both ways and some not quite so hot.
Through some southern ritualistic,
those faces end up mostly
on the bottom.
Mostly it is how we learned
going way back,
how far the rest wont none say.
I think they do, I don't know when.
There were less people and the boys we knew and watched as they grew into men.
Those aren't Roses darn it,
nor Lilies from that field out yonder.
Uncontrollable most have an accident.
The rest go to prison like rabbits
always running untill,
it's unfortunate as well, never eating much.
Nor do we want them breeding with them.
Though Rose being young like Lily,
Lilac's some times intertwine.
Makes it a one in four chance instead of fifty fifty.
Certain trees never do, best to cut them down
no one here saw or even says.
eSpecially those chocolates.
Bipolar then or now Eccentric,
nothing ever changes though it's the same
being
Though Rose being young and like Lily,
Lilac's some times intertwine.
Keeping our eye out for those other
'Eccentricities'
the house stay real clean and quite this way.
Like pigs in a poke the way they all do it and then squeal on each other.
An the cottons never looks the same for a while.

After that either way, it's always a chore after
but it has to be done,
better young I suppose, least what I heard told.

James McLain

The Devil

Playing against the devil;
A pact with you I made,
never to forget,
turned out each face to face.
Still a child,
am I to remain untill you die.
Looking in your drawers,
all I found were smiley faces.
Four pink ones at that,
where there should be only one.
Smelling moth balls, the rest I opened.
The drawers are all filled with cotton.
Once it may have been of candy,
or being some such or others,
wild full willed dreams.
But untill you die, i must remain here
as a child.
Looking out from the bottom of all those clouds I see floating by.

James McLain

Hills

Some hills.
Higher or shorter.
There out and some upon.
Knowing you,
is it not better never how too long.
Wanting the hill upon, even wishing
the hill, through the window, seeing it.
Safe here in your warmth,
where you stood up to gaze, herein
as well there out upon and simply.
And in the early wanting of it,
to remember the why of it instead.
Each branch and limb that rubs
all night,
against the warm window pane between.
The tree up against it and how it
leans against the wind,
leaned you out there in to sway.
Being in bloom so fanciful must we,
make it come, when it can not be seen.
When it can not in winter be so green
it comes around each spring again.
To the spring, from which you sing.
and night and day and day and night.
The sun above,
moon lies below in wait for spring.
Until it does.

James McLain

Where, I Never Learned

When I was a child.
Memories earlier I have.
Too few.
To afraid I was, too cry.
Where, I never learned.
Earlier memories I have.
Too few.
When I was a child.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Puppy Dog Tails

It was under the main portable.
At school.
About nine a.m. us and day.
she and I crawled under there.
Aggressively she was, only now
do I think,
thinking perhaps to much i did.
she kind of through me off a little.
Until she had me like she nearly was.
mentaly and us still speaking.
I did not believe her,
untill it started going
as my sister said it would.
Losing interest in those things
abviously only girls were interested in, i backed up thinking and withdrew,
from under the skirting.
looking around having done nothing
but browse.
unseen i hoped by my friends.
friends ships being based on highly prejudicial preconceptions.
even back then, perhaps still even right now.
it turned out she was right,
about my thinking to much.

James McLain

Five Sisters

and being the youngest.
what did i know.
each fed me well and what i liked.
and i only had to lay there.
at first it was.
not scary but, i kind of knew but still.
it was only in the beginning that they complained.
but latter i tried to but got no where.
it wasn't untill as they became,
like that which brought us here that my understanding was.
one by one as they knew,
with some plastic stick they pleaded and prayed on.
one date each with a doctors son, a lawyers son
and the son a wealthy construction owner.
then there were only two left.
i think the others spread the word.
but they would never admit to it.
it is easier with two than five and i try so hard.
hoping they will as well.

James McLain

Almost My First Time

It was under the portable.
At school.
About nine, us and day.
she and I crawled under there.
Aggressively she was, only now
do I think, thinking perhaps to much.
It kind of through me off a little.
Until she had me like she was.
I did not believe her, untill it starting going exactly as my sister said it would.
Losing interest in things abviously only girls were interested in, withdrawing unseen, it turned out she was right.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Recall

Each instant, each snap shot
going back
and being but one myself but only one,
I dont keep up with such things.
I know that when I no longer am,
what then would make each difference.
I can not remember it different
or wanting it to and if,
when shown some stranger in a photo album
that I would be told what then was my past to me.
Which is not how any one would wish to be now.
In this life weighing each experience
against the latter.
I doubt I would give up
the unique experience of being mentally ill.
Life runs off fast enough as it is.
Even when less often than more
is the occasion, when I think about it.
Doing it would hurt.
Like that beautiful Hemingway's
daughters father.
I often think back to all the times
when it didn't hurt.
Only the first time, it was only my brain
being told what dream to chase
untill it had caught me over and over again.
If each of my mistakes was human,
the world would be twice as full as it is now.
An honest man would sleep there and die there.
The woman has never told me
that I again can recall,
though if she again did, I would,
I am certain I likely would recall it.

j.l.b.

James McLain

We Both Just Liked It

i just didn't know
but now
we both just like it;
who trained who
it really doesn't matter.
after talking way back then
we both had questions
both had to ask, like trajectory, wrist and wind
when we finished
and our satisfaction
being mutual.
it is chilly here outside
i really need to go
and so she follows.
sound it carries
quite a ways
as we look out
down below
as she nuzzles my cold ear
she pulls it out and hefts
it's weight
'dear' she says, i'm aiming
for that windshield right
down over there.

James McLain

Babies Made Female Or Male

babies made female or male or some other thing,
made by you.
you may easily be that other thing
that was never meant to see,
the sun shine down on you.
it is entirely up to you now
and no one else,
it's left to you and you,
you remembered how and now.
a baby waiting growing, needing to know.

things of ignorance,
the apple falling not far from the tree.
does every tree make an apple?
does every apple, bring forth a tree.
under the microscope,
all seeing and knowing and nearly so.
being filled more often and long ago
having Eaton from the tree.

though the tree is sappy and fruity
sweet and juicy.
it is but the first,
a choice of many as to where will
you! bank your money.
must the vault be always full with it.
as is with the sap and receptive
and being kept with it.
thus the tree or rose begins to grow.

the tree may die become ill, simply be a harmed tree it's self,
unknowingly so.
unlike and different than those sent to prison
and many prisons now are full as well.
the bank keeps track of all accounts
opened or closed.

being woman with the womb now filled.
as you now must be,
accepting each and every deposit.

there need be no prophetic 'Quatrain's
or drawn out day's of long terror.
because being filled you are but waiting.
as with the cell phone
and as with the black berry and computer.
you may now deliver you, from your self.
and when it comes and visiting each of you, it is not when you know but it will.
being full and willing and much to able to.
being hungry and each we all will do.

What!

kind of 'Tree' or 'Rose' to be will you grow.
fodder for cannons and prisons or just damaged beyond the banks accounts to repair.
as you being filled know the world must be filled as well.
and having this knowledge it expands as well
out words.
to all the other places, you know must be filled
as well.
and in the keeping with such, to be kept, close
and full and around it to dwell upon, there after.

James McLain

Piles Of Half-Shells

while watching and we all have
and all will
why do most deny it.
weather it is this or that.
climbing trees untill the very tops
even if the vines
around it
take you out of your way
you feel it in the tree
right before.
even if the first few climbs result in
and or catch you off guard.
tree or vine symbiotic
host or hostess
one or the other as the fingers clutch
at each nook and cranny.
some times forcing an early retirement.
and then some one, any one perhaps even myself seeing the tightness
right over head we move up towards it
as it opens and closes, back and forth up and down.
open at the juncture of the half
shell
one appreciates,
the gravity of technique needed
to split them apart.
where equal and opposite each contraction
makes gravity work for you
instead of against you.
and generally it doesn't take to long

for a pile of half-shells
to accumulate at the bottom of each tree.
it is a simple matter of repacking
each parachute
that in their hast to retreat
left no room for discourse and consequently
left a little pink around the rear.

James McLain

Their Secret

their secret if the one it is
is that one.
where bent at the waist
and though it is unfairly it is used.
being weak mate
and you are
because
you told her about it.
no one knew, i drained
my oysters
before i ate them.
except you.
and so each day this
one oyster
is just so much more
so, it is so.
juicy.
and less cloth each day
is wrapped around this one.
i only told you today that this oyster
was so transparent
it became translucent
through it's pink pale veil.
coiled thus it was sheer madness
and every tender wrinkle
was not as you think.
more thought has to be given to the depths about the rim
with smoke and flame
even under water.
mate keep quite about the

PoemHunter.com

half shells
or they will know about each
tree
you talk about in class.
sheerness
that

James McLain

Being Genteel And 'south' Bright Lights

Being genteel and 'South' Bright Lights;
How do you make me say good bye...
when I won't even say hello...
and you wanting me, all that much more...
Genteel is the tree you define when I stand...
and protocol when due is love unconfined...
though with these fearful times seldom mentioned...
when....that smile so refined..burns low..
defining each line on your face...
being in and out of love so much....
I think more of..
Those broad circles with your company...
and long their framed pedigrees...
with such societal pretensions.....
and great trepidation....
lost in my limited retention...
once I pondered..Hence it....
Tap, tap, taps on that brass handled...
closet door and...
requires that I pray..even more...I must sit....
While your hand I kiss...do I tighten my hand...
your grasp on mine even more.....I trust...
Beauty stays once-too short..
and grants me some familial attention...
I bow now but to grace and eloquence.....
The pianos broad key accords.....
white ivory keys spaced...lay off the dark...
as long fingers have each fine tuned.....
and you made me turn around soft melodies...
now genteel each shadow..which croons...
in dance and play...
while that light burns orange and so low.....
and being not genteel and good night...
I turn to hard the key...once again..
locking out each melancholia day....each night.

James McLain

People, 'Of Heaven

People of heaven
of People each place and faith
from which they came.
If it is the plains on which they lived,
then her hair shall smell of grass.
Sweet green grass high to the waist
waist high in grass, stood he.
With her, his mate;
As she appeared in the grass,
with his eyes wide open,
she is there and sits to wait.
Grass and trees they have gathered beneath, having to think
both one for the other.
Grass under their feet feeling the wind
having no need to speak with another.
Different some what from their source
but from awe, both beings meek.
Hearts that beat, gathered from two
leaving one.
Plus the two, with green sweet grass
and the breeze.

Souls that have come, will they stay?
Having to come from that which was
and never which was before.
Could they not remember or have known?
Having no souls, yet they came.
Eyes of they softly, glowing with life
as one with the grass there so green.
Wholly knowing no strife gently
and being.
People of heaven;
of People each place from which
they came.
Did they not know our values moralities
Beyond our knowing, left to each others.
Both from the one and the other knowing from which both have come.

Eyes softly opened.
Wholly and filled with green blooms
And rising as they rise, as the grass.
Yellow sun in their eyes and
to know all to briefly as wise.
That all such eyes are soft and waiting to open.
Faces turned outwards and into follow words.
Consciousness meets consciousness
saving unbeknown st,
cloven words with he, him self, with she,
and the cooling breeze.
And warmth for all of that, such as they should know being good it is and they stayed,
Both now one and he with whom both came to know.

People of heaven;
of People each place from which
they came.

James McLain

Guns

When one,
speaks in words.
When is there not a misunderstanding..?
Perhaps it is why,
guns are used
much to often.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Milkman

Human souls...like..
night and day...rivers..
high and banked...
That give no thanks..
Streams..endless streams..
white and endless....
hair...tied back....
Modern day.....
she is a heroine..
Sitting down.....
her wet soaked hands....
and talking softy...each..
she gently..
pulling up and down,
and out...for more..
Her slim long arms.....
like tan marble..
are sculpted...
and thick each wrist..
seeing both...
they are well muscled....
She talks...the trade...
her milk and butter...
for some flour...
bacon and fresh eggs..
and on the radio..
that croons...
a soft country song...
With smooth practice....
and they...
like most each heavy root.
loves her sweet long fingers....
as up and down....
she milks each stroke...
and to those ends....
as needs the why...
switching hands....
was after all...
what every one of you...

were after...

James McLain

A Disguise

Coming to the ball
each

and every being masqueraded unto themselves.

Heavy masks
each hand
is well...

concealed.

Reaching
over one shoulder
for the cheese.

Champagne ignored
as that

would, reveal poached eggs.

Perfume, cologne unmistakably
brief.

As the melody
of love once
in the air.

unbeknownst
danced.

Cheek to cheek.

Face to face.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Nerve

a nerve
and because of it.
you quiver and shake.
blessed,
if it is the shaking
of old age.
a nerve and where it lays
may betray,
much, much more.
it may betray,
why it is
you are here.
and being here
can you.
take what you make
and make it
unnerved.
without giving
your self away.
but if you
touch it
and it doesn't.
then it is you whom must touch it
again.
and being homeless
it all sleeps inside
of one hand.
food being scarce
on some days
one hand is enough.
on others
i can not but help see
each face first.

 PoemHunter.com

James McLain

Attachment Disorders & Reactive Attachment Disorder

Obviously, this is not an article That I wrote, but as we try to better our understanding of what made us what it is that we are,

we must, at least some of us must, come to the realization that as either a parent or the child of a parent
you are or are in the process of totally destroying a child.
Some of the other problems that result from this early problem of Attachment Disorders & Reactive Attachment Disorders go on to become all that you see when in the mirror you gaze and know...that your illness is even worse..

and than that your son or daughter is whom, perhaps went on to become that serial killer, of poor 'Emo'...

I will attempt to fetch the URL...http:

//helpguide.org/mental/parenting_bonding_reactive_attachment_disorder.htm....

.....

this link so you whom know...

what you are can help love your child even more...

This information is purely plagiarized...

And the physicians at the bottom of the page..

it would be best to resort to...To avoid the creating of those people that are just to exciting to ignore..

and in the ignoring you just make more....

again..obviously this information is not for Mr..or Miss perfect...

you know...my child is the smartest on the planet..

or some failed dream...

like a beauty 'Queen'..that your child must now endure...for the rest of us in reality....

We must face it...we weren't our parents....they are a product of theirs...

and being such....could it have really been worse...?

Some one will cop to the murder..upstairs....untill then..

you must keep from making more...of those like your self...

.....URL...http:

//helpguide.org/mental/parenting_bonding_reactive_attachment_disorder.htm....

.....

Symptoms, Treatment & Hope for Children with Insecure Attachment

If you are the parent of a child with an attachment disorder, such as reactive attachment disorder, you may be physically and emotionally exhausted from trying to connect with your child, only to be met with opposition, defiance, or, maybe hardest of all, indifference. A child with insecure attachment or an attachment disorder doesn't have the skills necessary to build meaningful relationships. Although it is never too late to treat and repair attachment difficulties, the earlier attachment issues are recognized, the easier they are to resolve. With the right tools, and a healthy dose of time, effort, patience, and love, attachment repair can and does happen.

In This Article:

Understanding attachment problems and disorders

Early warning signs and symptoms of insecure attachment

Signs and symptoms of attachment disorders

Parenting a child with an attachment disorder

Tips for making your child feel safe and secure

Tips for helping your child feel loved and cared for

Tips for supporting your child's health

Where to go for help

Related links

Print Authors

Text Size

Understanding attachment problems and disorders

Why secure attachment is so important

Just as the brain allows us to see, smell, taste, think, talk, and move, it is the organ that allows us to love—or not. The systems in the human brain that allow us to form and maintain emotional relationships develop during infancy and the first years of life.... Empathy, caring, sharing, inhibition of aggression, capacity to love, and a host of other characteristics of a healthy, happy, and productive person are related to the core attachment capabilities which are formed in infancy and early childhood.

Source: Bonding and Attachment in Maltreated Children: How You Can Help By Dr. Bruce Perry

Children with attachment disorders or other attachment problems have difficulty connecting to others and managing their own emotions. This results in a lack of trust and self-worth, a fear of getting close to anyone, anger, and a need to be in control. A child with an attachment disorder feels unsafe and alone.

So why do some children develop attachment disorders while others don't? The answer has to do with the attachment process, which relies on the interaction of both parent and child.

Attachment disorders are the result of negative experiences in this early relationship. If young children feel repeatedly abandoned, isolated, powerless, or uncared for—for whatever reason—they will learn that they can't depend on others and the world is a dangerous and frightening place.

What causes reactive attachment disorder and other attachment problems? Reactive attachment disorder and other attachment problems occur when children have been unable to consistently connect with a parent or primary caregiver. This can happen for many reasons:

A baby cries and no one responds or offers comfort.

A baby is hungry or wet, and they aren't attended to for hours.

No one looks at, talks to, or smiles at the baby, so the baby feels alone.

A young child gets attention only by acting out or displaying other extreme behaviors.

A young child or baby is mistreated or abused.

Sometimes the child's needs are met and sometimes they aren't. The child never knows what to expect.

The infant or young child is hospitalized or separated from his or her parents.

A baby or young child is moved from one caregiver to another (can be the result of adoption, foster care, or the loss of a parent) .

The parent is emotionally unavailable because of depression, an illness, or a substance abuse problem.

As the examples show, sometimes the circumstances that cause the attachment problems are unavoidable. But the child is too young to understand what has happened and why. To a young child, it just feels like no one cares and they lose trust in others and the world becomes an unsafe place.

Early warning signs and symptoms of insecure attachment

For more signs and symptoms:

Download the Child Attachment Checklist and Infant Attachment Checklist.

Source: Walter D. Buening, Ph.D. & Assoc.

Attachment problems fall on a spectrum, from mild problems that are easily addressed to the most serious form, known as reactive attachment disorder.

The earlier you spot the symptoms of insecure attachment and take steps to repair them, the better. With early detection, you can avoid a more serious problem. Caught in infancy, attachment problems are often easy to correct with the right help and support.

Signs and symptoms of insecure attachment in infants:

Avoids eye contact

Doesn't smile

Doesn't reach out to be picked up

Rejects your efforts to calm, soothe, and connect

Doesn't seem to notice or care when you leave them alone

Cries inconsolably

Doesn't coo or make sounds

Doesn't follow you with his or her eyes

Isn't interested in playing interactive games or playing with toys

Spend a lot of time rocking or comforting themselves

It's important to note that the early symptoms of insecure attachment are similar to the early symptoms of other issues such as ADHD and autism. If you spot any of these warning signs, make an appointment with your pediatrician to determine what the problem may be.

Comforting a Crying Baby

It's common to feel frustration, anxiety, and even anger when faced with a crying baby—especially if your baby wails for hours on end and won't calm down.

Equally frustrating is a baby who seems indifferent, who won't cuddle or make eye contact with you. In these situations, you need to find ways to get your own stress into balance. When you're calm and centered, you'll be better able to figure out what's going on with your child and soothe his or her cries.

Read: When Baby Won't Stop Crying: How to Comfort and Soothe an Upset Baby

Signs and symptoms of reactive attachment disorder

Children with reactive attachment disorder have been so disrupted in early life that their future relationships are also impaired. They have difficulty relating to others and are often developmentally delayed. Reactive attachment disorder is common in children who have been abused, bounced around in foster care, lived in orphanages, or taken away from their primary caregiver after establishing a bond.

Common signs and symptoms of reactive attachment disorder

An aversion to touch and physical affection. Children with reactive attachment disorder often flinch, laugh, or even say "Ouch" when touched.

Rather than producing positive feelings, touch and affection are perceived as a threat.

Control issues. Most children with reactive attachment disorder go to great lengths to prevent feeling helpless and remain in control. They are often disobedient, defiant, and argumentative.

Anger problems. Anger may be expressed directly, in tantrums or acting out, or through manipulative, passive-aggressive behavior. Children with reactive attachment disorder may hide their anger in socially acceptable actions, like giving a high five that hurts or hugging someone too hard.

Difficulty showing genuine care and affection. For example, children with reactive attachment disorder may act inappropriately affectionate with strangers while displaying little or no affection towards their parents.

An underdeveloped conscience. Children with reactive attachment disorder may act like they don't have a conscience and fail to show guilt, regret, or remorse after behaving badly.

Inhibited reactive attachment disorder vs. disinhibited reactive attachment disorder

As children with reactive attachment disorder grow older, they often develop either an inhibited or a disinhibited pattern of symptoms:

Inhibited symptoms of reactive attachment disorder. The child is extremely withdrawn, emotionally detached, and resistant to comforting. The child is aware of what's going on around him or her—hypervigilant even—but doesn't react or respond. He or she may push others away, ignore them, or even act out in aggression when others try to get close.

Disinhibited symptoms of reactive attachment disorder. The child doesn't seem to prefer his or her parents over other people, even strangers. The child seeks comfort and attention from virtually anyone, without distinction. He or she is extremely dependent, acts much younger than his or her age, and may appear chronically anxious.

Parenting a child with an attachment disorder: What you need to know

Parenting a child with insecure attachment or reactive attachment disorder can be exhausting, frustrating, and emotionally trying. It is hard to put your best parenting foot forward without the reassurance of a loving connection with your child. Sometimes you may wonder if your efforts are worth it, but be assured that they are. With time, patience, and concerted effort, attachment disorders can be repaired. The key is to remain calm, yet firm as you interact with your child. This will teach your child that he or she is safe and can trust you.

Have realistic expectations. Helping your child with an attachment disorder may be a long road. Focus on making small steps forward and celebrate every sign of success.

Patience is essential. The process may not be as rapid as you like, and you can expect bumps along the way. But by remaining patient and focusing on small improvements, you create an atmosphere of safety for your child.

Foster a sense of humor and joy. Joy and humor go a long way toward repairing attachment problems and energizing you even in the midst of hard work. Find at least a couple of people or activities that help you laugh and feel good.

Take care of yourself and manage stress. Reduce other demands on your time and make time for yourself. Rest, good nutrition, and parenting breaks help you relax and recharge your batteries so you can give your attention to your child.

Find support and ask for help. Rely on friends, family, community resources, and respite care (if available) . Try to ask for help before you really need it to avoid getting stressed to a breaking point. You may also want to consider joining a support group for parents.

Stay positive and hopeful. Be sensitive to the fact that children pick up on feelings. If they sense you're discouraged, it will be discouraging to them. When you are feeling down, turn to others for reassurance.

A note to parents of adopted or foster care children with reactive attachment disorder

If you have adopted a child, you may not have been aware of reactive attachment disorder. Anger or unresponsiveness from your new child can be heartbreaking and difficult to understand. Try to remember that your adopted child isn't acting out because of lack of love for you. Their experience hasn't prepared them to bond with you, and they can't yet recognize you as a source of love and comfort. Your efforts to love them will have an impact—it just may take some time.

Repairing reactive attachment disorder: Tips for making your child feel safe and secure

Safety is the core issue for children with reactive attachment disorder and other attachment problems. They are distant and distrustful because they feel unsafe in the world. They keep their guard up to protect themselves, but it also prevents them from accepting love and support. So before anything else, it is essential to build up your child's sense of security. You can accomplish this by establishing clear expectations and rules of behavior, and by responding consistently so your child knows what to expect when he or she acts a certain way and—even more importantly—knows that no matter what happens, you can be counted on.

Set limits and boundaries. Consistent, loving boundaries make the world seem more predictable and less scary to children with attachment problems such as reactive attachment disorder. It's important that they understand what behavior is expected of them, what is and isn't acceptable, and what the consequences will be if they disregard the rules. This also teaches them that they have more control over what happens to them than they think.

Take charge, yet remain calm when your child is upset or misbehaving. Remember that “bad” behavior means that your child doesn't know how to handle what he or she is feeling and needs your help. By staying calm, you show your child that the feeling is manageable. If he or she is being purposefully defiant, follow through with the pre-established consequences in a cool, matter-of-fact manner. But never discipline a child with an attachment disorder when you're in an emotionally-charged state. This makes the child feel more unsafe and may even reinforce the bad behavior, since it's clear it pushes your buttons.

Be immediately available to reconnect following a conflict. For children with insecure attachment and attachment disorders, conflict can be especially disturbing. After a conflict or tantrum where you've had to discipline your child, be ready to reconnect as soon as he or she is ready. This reinforces your consistency and love, and will help your child develop a trust that you'll be there through thick and thin.

Own up to mistakes and initiate repair. When you let frustration or anger get the best of you or you do something you realize is insensitive, quickly address the mistake. Your willingness to take responsibility and make amends can strengthen the attachment bond. Children with reactive attachment disorder or other attachment problems need to learn that although you may not be perfect, they will be loved, no matter what.

Try to maintain predictable routines and schedules. A child with an attachment disorder won't instinctively rely on loved ones, and may feel threatened by transition and inconsistency—for example when traveling or during school vacations. A familiar routine or schedule can provide comfort during times of change.

Do you need extra help?

If you're having trouble staying calm, positive, and focused when interacting with your child and are feeling overwhelmed by the attachment problems, you may benefit from learning the skills of emotional intelligence. Emotional intelligence helps you manage stress in the moment, keep your emotional balance, understand what your child's feeling, handle tantrums and conflicts, and find ways to connect with your child.

To learn more, visit Help guide sister site, Emotional Intelligence Central.

Repairing reactive attachment disorders: Tips for helping your child feel loved and cared for

A child who has not bonded early in life will have a hard time accepting love, especially physical expressions of love. But you can help them learn to accept your love with time, consistency, and repetition. Trust and security come from seeing loving actions, hearing reassuring words, and feeling comforted over and over again.

Find things that feel good to your child. If possible, show your child love through rocking, cuddling, and holding—attachment experiences he or she missed out on earlier. But always be respectful of what feels comfortable and good to your child. In cases of previous abuse and trauma, you may have to go very slowly because your child may be very resistant to physical touch.

Respond to your child's emotional age. Children with attachment disorders often act like younger children both socially and emotionally. You may need to treat them as though they were much younger, using more non-verbal methods of soothing and comforting than you might otherwise.

Help your child identify emotions and express his or her needs. Children with attachment disorders may not know what they are feeling or how to ask for what they need. Reinforce the idea that all feelings are okay and show them healthy ways to express their emotions.

Listen, talk, and play with your child. Carve out times when you're able to give your child your full, focused attention in ways that feel comfortable to him or her. It may seem hard to drop everything, eliminate distractions, and just be in the moment, but quality time together provides a great opportunity for your child to open up to you and feel your focused attention and care.

Repairing reactive attachment disorder: Tips for supporting your child's health
A child's eating, sleep, and exercise habits are always important, but they're even more so in kids with attachment problems. Healthy lifestyle habits can go a long way in reducing your child's stress levels and leveling out mood swings. When children with attachment disorders are relaxed, well-rested, and feeling good, it will be much easier for them to handle life's challenges.

Diet - Make sure your child eats a diet full of whole grains, fruits and vegetables and lean protein. Be sure to skip the sugar and add plenty of good fats - like fish, flax seed, avocados and olive oil—for optimal brain health.

Sleep - Sleep is also essential, and often makes. If your child is tired during the day, it will be that much harder for them to focus on learning new things. Make their sleep schedule (bedtime and wake time) consistent.

Exercise - Exercise or any type of physical activity can be a great antidote to stress, frustration, and pent up emotion, triggering endorphins to make your child feel good. Physical activity is especially important for the angry child. If your child isn't naturally active, try some different classes or sports to find something that is appealing.

Any one of these things—food, rest and exercise—can make the difference between a good and a bad day with a child who has an attachment disorder. These basics will help ensure your child's brain is healthy and ready to connect.

See Nutrition for Children and Teens: Helping Your Kids Develop Healthy Eating Habits and Tips for Getting Better Sleep.

Professional treatment for reactive attachment disorder

If your child is suffering from a severe attachment problem, especially reactive attachment disorder, seek professional help. Extra support can make a dramatic and positive change in your child's life, and the earlier you seek help, the better.

If you suspect your child might have an issue with attachment, your pediatrician, a child development specialist, or the resources listed below are a good place to start:

State Locator for Early Intervention Services (NICHCY) : 1-800-695-0285
ZERO TO THREE: National Center For Infants, Toddlers and Families: (202) 638-1144

24-Hour Parent Helpline: 1-888-435-7553

Related articles

Bonding with Your Baby

Parenting Advice For Developing a Secure Attachment Bond

Separation Anxiety and Separation Anxiety Disorder

How to Ease Your Child's Separation Anxiety

More Helpguide Articles:

Attachment in Adults: How Attachment Style Affects Your Relationships

Postpartum Depression: Signs, Symptoms, and Help for New Moms

Stepparenting and Blended Family Advice: Bonding with Stepchildren and Dealing with Problems

Post-traumatic Stress Disorder: Symptoms, Treatment and Self Help

Related links for reactive attachment disorder and insecure attachment

General information on attachment disorders and insecure attachment

Children's Attachment Relationships - Introduction to attachment relationships and warning signs of attachment problems in children. \(American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy\)

Reactive Attachment Disorder - Information on signs, symptoms, and treatment of reactive attachment disorder, as well as coping and support tips. \(Mayo Clinic\)

Reactive Attachment Disorder: Fact Sheet for the Classroom \(PDF\) - Fact sheet written for teachers and educators. Includes symptoms behaviors and educational issues. (Kansas State Department of Education)

Attachment Explained - Explains what attachment is, how attachment disorders develop, and what the warning signs are. (Attachment Treatment and Training Institute)

Parenting a child with attachment problems or reactive attachment disorder
Bonding and Attachment in Maltreated Children: How You Can Help - Child development expert Bruce Perry provides tips on interacting with and nurturing children who may have insecure attachments (Scholastic.com)

Parenting the Child with Attachment Difficulties - Practical tips for parents on how to help a child with reactive attachment disorder or another attachment problem. (Attachment Disorder Maryland)

Parenting Children with RAD and PTSD - In-depth article for parents of children with reactive attachment disorder on how to set limits, establish consequences, validate feelings, and encourage cuddling. (Attach-China International)

Repairing Relationships with a Time-In (PDF) - Simple tips for staying calm when your child is upset and promoting attachment repair. (Circle of Security)

Activities to Promote Attachment - List of practical things parents and others can do to promote secure attachment and repair attachment problems. (Attach-China International)

Getting help for attachment problems or reactive attachment disorder
A Parent's Guide to Early Intervention (PDF) - Explains what early intervention is and how to get help for your child. (National Dissemination Center for Children with Disabilities)

Guide to Early Intervention Services by State - Government resource with a state-by-state guide of early intervention services for you and your child. (National Dissemination Center for Children with Disabilities)

Gina Kemp, M.A., Melinda Smith, M.A., Joanna Saisan, MSW, and Jeanne Segal, Ph.D. contributed to this article. Last reviewed: December 2009...URL...http://helpguide.org/mental/parenting_bonding_reactive_attachment_disorder.htm....
.....

James McLain

Ghetto Rat

ghetto rats and more
many ghetto rats, abhorred
by many whites
and more.
are on the way,
she loudly cracks
the moon
weeping sores
perfumy farts and snores.
i wait for self esteem
to crawl between
my words.
Two beady eyes so red
i see them not
as ghetto rats but as my friends.
they let me sleep
and bother not my weepy eyes
as sleep crawls up and out between the cracks
i call my home.
brown paper bag still half full
of rot gut johnny walker creeps away
as ghetto rats
sleep up inside my pant legs.
ghetto rats
they keep me warm
where you would not,
my friend.
are you in denial
my father is in jail
my mothers going back to get some more.

James McLain

Forgetfulness

Forgetfulness is
shame in gold bold letters.
Written on the skin of that onion,
the first of many editions
across the spine of each memory
of some long forgotten book.
My tomb made of racks,
must number in the thousands.
I no longer have a room for,
inside my head.
Verse is never free, I have misplaced.

I must have, I must have waited to long
to have my daughter.
Her 'Questions' once so simple, I remember have no answer. Lost against,
the tide of time and as such I am but sand.

Waiting to reform that lump of clay some soft red rocks.
I remember that as the deep blood red southern brick my aching back stood for so long to rests against.

How do I keep up with her now, every things so fast
even if I remembered how to ride one.
To think at my age I would even attempt such a feat as that.
My age, at my age no such thing as having a leg up on any thing,
much less a twin of her bicycle or roller skates.
I have tried to explain how a hip works,
but I can not remember, where she came from.
She just is and pink, pink polka dots her black dress.
And a good helper she has turned out to be.
She remembers things,
I would have never thought of writing down.

James McLain

Never Seek To Sell Thy Love

Never Seek to Sell thy Love;
A path of well worn thorns,
sweet rose each face adorned.
Each cup of silk,
one face in tears exposed.
Holes that moths would make,
but never sew.

It is red of heart within you plant too find,
I know.
You hold a spot,
where trees and sport hath walked too know.
Love has flown,
I pass your wives, alas their bags are full.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Face Beneeth A Cloud

No farther can i go
than
to fill a void
with inky words
and oceans
have each cloud
each yellow sun
a sky.
Words are words
and sails unfurled
and decking
simple wood
that has no
end.
and full of words
each moon
when filled
it spins round
the earth
a different spin.
each face
as it looks up
beneath a cloud.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

High The Hill

Night can't wake, dawn moves them up;
and twilight moves to pass day by.
Where upon this road it makes us high.
Why do our eyes refuse to see, what few
have seen before and fewer this, than one.
And where it is I am, you can not bear to be.
So high up here, so high upon that hill, below.
Where all here turn and have to walk below it.
You turned around to leave and one stood up.
Alone.
Like all the rest unable to believe, what they have seen up there, so high upon that hill.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Dear' Beseech Him

Night can't wake me up;
and day's hast moves to pass most by.
Where upon this road, it takes one high.
Why do your eyes refuse to see,
what few have seen before.
And where it is I am, you can not bear to be;
up here, high upon this lonely hill.
Where most will turn and have to walk away.
You turned around to leave it and one stood,
'Dear' all alone
Like all the rest unable to beseech him.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

High Upon The Hill

Night can't wake me up;
and day has moved to pass most by.
Where upon this road it takes us high.
Why do our eyes refuse to see,
what few have seen before.
And where it is I am, you can not bear to be;
up here, high upon the hill.
Where all here turn and have to walk below it.
You turned around to leave, There one stood.
Alone.
Like all the rest unable to believe him.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Stayed

Night can't wake me up;
and day hath passed me bye
I stayed.
Where upon this road most take,
my eye refused to see
and where I am, I can not bear to be.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Just A Lizard

is it not 'Exotic'
that i'm writing
now
to you

..
that if
and when you
stop it

..
i will have to sing
the blue's

..
and
if they hear
you cry

...
i will have to say
it's true

..
and they may never let you

..
come around inside
my home
again

..
but if i let you stay

..
and you

PoemHunter.com

are looking out
my window
..
do you see
that lizard over there
..
on that stone
and what
it's doing.

James McLain

People Of Heaven

.....People of Heaven
People of heaven
of People each place from which
they came.
If it is the plains on which they lived,
then her hair smells of grass
sweet green grass high to the waist
waist high grass.
With her mate,
he then appears in the grass,
with his eyes wide open, she is there.

Flowers and trees they have gathered beneath having to think
both one for the other
grass under their feet feeling the wind
having no need to speak with another
different some what from the source
but from awe though they seek.
Hearts that beat, gathered from two
leaving one.
Plus the two with green grass and the breeze.

Souls that have come, will they stay?
Having to come from that which was
before.
Could they not remember or have known?
Having no souls, yet they came,
eyes of they softly, glowing with life
as the grass there so green.
Wholly knowing no strife gently
being
People of heaven;
of People each place from which
they came.
Did they know our values moralities
Beyond our knowing, others.
Both from the one and the other one from which.

Eyes softly opened.
Wholly filled with green bloom
And rising as they rise, as the grass,
yellow sun in their eyes and to know.
That all eyes are soft and waiting to open.
Faces turned inwards words what is
consciousness meets consciousness
and warmth with that they know

James McLain

A Mask So Stark

You talk about how love and how it comes back.

And when if it ever, never was over,
when others became involved.

No middle of the road,
split down it runs each side away.

Thinking that one is evil,
and the other bad.

Should it rest in peace upon a grave,
that knew sweet grief released..

A tethered rose with lily that knew each pose.

Unbroken each link that chain when forged from raw each others passion.

Sweet potatoes grew and yellow corn

The look unlike sweet lotus black astride it sits there legs are wide across that horse
a mask so stark and dark both faced, the day.

James McLain

The Life Of Any Man

The Life of any 'Man' was spent,
brought forth by the minds of two whom dwell ed without, therein.
Blowing bubbles as a babe as they
whom watch and over me, I see, them stay.
Born fearless and growing so much more and less, I became again that one of which,
I looked I could never past.
Knowing no beast as that which one, you knew.
Ever pushing me aside, each night I felt it grow.
I, yea I, but a speck of light inside to bite and kick
your head,
each time it showed it's lovely unveiled face.
My country and my country has forced me herein
to re side inside this lonely rock strewn cave.
They whom hath no fear of me, yea but the fear
that dwells within, them selves is here to slay.
My world is but some small caricature of yours it knows.
Being as it, like yours, continues to grow ever smaller.
Be not the prick I see at the end of the needle you could never weld nor even see, thou stabbed me with.
Be a good king, please now good 'Lad'.
That ass you see right o'er there,
she needs your help to climb again, upon it.
So I may soon, each day I pray, take leave of it.....
The seal you bear, for her I shared, no longer may I wear.

s.f.b.

James McLain

They Went Home Together

They went home together,
and each and every,
night with many more there after.

Filling each and each alone,
never having met such wit as his,
was his alone,
going home,
and always looking back,
with a fresh white smile from ear to ear.

Any having heard one word from such as his,
and his alone, they held each other off,
except for.....words that never came,
again like his, I would feel alone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Egregiously

They were thus 'Egregiously' so as has
it long has been held before.

Other things and other things
only of which.
Each stone would know, and knowing it was thus.
Before the rivers flowed.

Laid out now, bloodied and as bloodied before
she was, she was not as you now
see her.

The rivers flowed and flowing as they never have,
the rivers flowed before.

It is now before that day and in
and in within
each hand held, therein the stones.

Egregiously each stone Egregiously
each stone,
was squeezed and rubbed, together
like none had been before.

The rivers covered that which is and that which is now covered uncovered once again now laid bare.

Each camel tethered and secure, head down in sleep
and stealthy the soft wind did cover her feet as her foot prints,
she left behind were covered and filled.

Thinking not for they all hungered, thirsty

she did that
and in the doing of that the camels made
no sound.
Her hands and warmth familiar-as they slept.

Being discovered only as the rest continued
to blow away
as sticks and as she stayed so filled and full.
She was not in appearance, being milky pale.

and Egregiously and they were so now
so Egregiously
and being Egregiously
deprived of what was theirs for all to share
she was
and the stones were found within her hands
that laid her out
and bound untill she replaced it all that she had taken it and she did not appear to be Egregiously wanting, as both the rivers
began to flow again.

James McLain

Heart Of Gold

your 'Heart' of gold, and music it moves in waves and all of those very many that do it.
and memory, memory of the woods like
when the millipede did with all of those tiny feet.
walking back and forth upon it,
into the center,
where heavy hearts beat and pulsate, mixed within it.
and moss,
green and heavy sweet with the rain that just passed.
while smooth wet stones,
some more personal and familiar rest against your feet.
and moving over them,
picking up a few here and there come too realize,
and that music it's soothing melody how it moves,
each heart of 'Gold within and around it.
and 'Floating',
i help you upon it and there you are, at peace lost in rest.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Greatness So Close

Being one step behind
and not in possession
of that certain practicality.

I listened to success
that precedes such greatness
not with any disdain
nor disrespect.

I being the nephew
of he
the owner of the now famous antique car museum
in Tallahassee Florida.

Thinking to myself that if we still lived as the Spartans
did
and no one needing that certain lift
and unblemished outwardly
I may have been
not thrown over that cliff.

My last visit up there, where my photo was taken with he and the clan
cost
me sixty six days
in hillsborough county lock up.

His mother had died, she being
my Grandmother
worth every day of it.
Even though I had permission
from the judge.
I being incorrigible, saith she the probation officer.

We discussed it before I left and knowing If she pushed it
I would and she did.
Yes i would
again.
She being the mother of he, whom
I perceived to be greatness.

He recently opened his new museum, all were there past Governors and judges
what I most feared were those whom held the camera's.

Being unpossessing of certain practicalities
and a certain flair for trying to search out the corner
in a round room
I stayed where it is that I am.

He once gave me a dollar when I was ten and then took it back
I have said thank you herein and there after since then
manners being so cheap to learn.

He is tooling down now, responsible for the welfare of all whom he employed.
you never know where 'Greatness'
lives or stays.
It could be in the next photo you take.

Your greatness so close 'Uncle'
perhaps I will come back with that,
certain practicality 'I' sorely lacked.
You know you can write letters around
one such as I,

you being 'Educated' and all up yonder.

c.b.

James McLain

Dipsomaniacs

Dipsomaniacs and bipolar the luxuriant every mixture of manic between county lines driven deep within the everglades.

Dipsomaniacs

Most going only as far north,
as the top of each pine to retrieve a feather or two.
Left behind by the last lover that flew the nest.
Maybe back then it was cute ridding on the back of some comprehensible, prehistoric upscale alligator.
Though with one arm thrown back that martini was never spilled and sipping it from some green reed.
Being eccentric has it's draw backs.
Isn't it odd how egocentric and quite once the alligator
was once made out to be.

o.n.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One More Time

I will do it
where
you want
it.

....

Do you
want it
there right
now.

....

Will you take it
by the hand
and show it how

....

It will meet you
where it's warm
and it is safe.

....

If you will meet
it there
right now.

....

and when you put
it where
you put it

....

will you
want it
there
all night

....

you can say
it has been there

....

so many

PoemHunter.com

times
you have lost count

....

before
again
you smile
at it

....

Remember
it is there
for it

....

and for you
it is a must

....

love
it is you
and
you it is
it can only trust

....

And only when
the moon
is full
and it is high

....

We will ride it
there tonight

....

when the children
are asleep

....

to the clearing
it has made

....

by that long and lonely shore

....

On it's steed of
blinding light

....

you have ridden
there before

....

bring cubes of sugar
and an apple
and some coffee
if you care

...

..

.

James McLain

Private Room

I want to walk in many worlds.
While awake 'I' see but 'Death'
and it is more
than that a 'dream' of what you think inside of me and what you found.

Withered limbs, dry shriveled lips
obnoxious gasses, held therein
more than one pair of gloves 'I'
know I wear on each wet hand,
hot glassy is each their milky eye
that likes to watch, more come.

Youth now, 'Youth' every child we
have,
that perfect 'Angel' does no wrong
'in camera' held inside some room.

My privates and rights to privacy
as fast last nights approaching note 'I' found out side our window, minds find purpose you left cracked for all your friends to find and show.

Our faces hidden, while mums hand
reached around
to find
those two reasons,
for why you were even left behind.
Full the moon.
Right there behind the blinds.

Until it was sent to my new phone.
While you Try to black mail us.
Into giving you a car, you did not earn.
While with those pictures that hang on that far wall inside your room.
Now your four corners of the earth,

like yours it turns and burns.

James McLain

Hung From The 'Mouth' Of Love

Deeper than purple plums,
so warm are embraced.
Heavy with dust in the air
it makes you sneeze.
Back from the last harvest,
two full sloshing buckets.
Shutters unlocked a wake,
lay open to reclaim them.
Coming back around and picking
the few fruit that were missed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Big 'Not' So Easy

is it like..
placing an inner tube..
deep inside...
then slowly inflating it..
untill you think you are about to die...
and it keeps on being inflated...
and inflated...
untill you scream for it to stop...
thinking you must and are about to burst...
yet it keeps on growing..and growing.....
moving...moving around and shorter of breath...
fuller and wider with each passing breath..
yet like 'death' it still feels like...you are..
being stretched so wide and pulled apart..
it grows even worse and worse inside...
you truly think..
blinding white lights..what did he know... where was i thinking from...
and you think that this time that you will die...
and then you don't...
you can't as more and more of it swells untill..
you wish it could be just ripped right out and
when it does..
and with a gush some times awake some times
asleep it comes..
and you know that it was worth it when she smiles..
she her name is Caroline...

James McLain

Mid Day Speaks

Your silence speaks much louder now.
Here where I can not but stand in wait.
One last unscented rose lies here in bloom.
While it is placed inside upon arranged around,
each open mouth mid day has come to soon.

No coins have I beside me, weeping pastor knows.
Your purse strings drawn so tight, I can not see.
Where I should be, is where you go today, I bow.
I hear each 'Angel' sing, it's there against your face.
Wrapped up in cotton blankets, I see them close.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Had Their 'Dream'

Where would any be.
The lofty
Without the low.

Without a dream
to guide them so.

Practical words
from a purist
the most high
a 'Jurists'.

Whom speak
of reality
and take this position
for I lack
this understanding.

I am blind
and 'I' try not
to hide it.

For you waste
your life.

Trying to obtain,
the unobtainable.
Upon which I could never see.

Either may thou so
obtain,
without betraying
them.

So none
must give up

their hopes
and
there dreams.

Or
be crushed by another's
needing your reality for their lack of yours.

Theirs seems when it resides
inside
of the head
of the others
lacking it but for the other.

James McLain

I Think Like 'Falling' Stars

I think they are like 'Falling' stars,
one finger extended,
weeping high across the sky.

Do you look as I point can't you see, it.

The bright light of that one with the tail,
so long,
like a gown wedded to the heavens it's broad
and white and it's point lies between our eyes.

There are so many and many more will fall.
Do you remember,
this night last December.
Once more three will come to the one and see
to the sparrows wing and other beasts as well.
whose bright light and heart,
will reside once again within each chest we bare.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Psychology

Is it not obvious to you, by now.
I was some place else, Out There.
A place where all milk, is tainted.
Being even among the simplest of 'Men'
You would know even that much of milk.
That my milk was for no one there,
but for the ground, their milk as well.
Except for those few,
whom were and always, shall remain.

We may not even speak from inside-the 'Bible'.
For they are still openly and despised, allegedly.

Later,
much, much later and you knowing that and deep inside I became your mind,
and I your soul.

I watched your lips,
open up like a vast cloud of butterflies.
Words I viewed as truthful latter became
I still remained yours naively,
and yes I was cold and needed a place
to sleep and eat.

My bud for but a bud
it was and a bud it is even now a bud
so full and heavy.

Though the width
and girth a limb
You saw it grow and grow,
you knew.
My psychology,
was that of a bud and
being hidden away so long.

It could only strengthen.

There in that place.

Being a simple man and

but that,

of a bud my strength was yours to take.

Where even though copious rivers and you bathed in them,

frequently and often, even showered.

Because you knew things,

I never knew.

Those other things you knew would happen.

I can't explain being such a simple man.

And your belly grew and grew and I liked it

for you made milk then,

and I but a bud, not understanding it, I drank.

And you fed me things, that even now I don't

understand,

which just increased your need to feed me more.

James McLain

Discipline In Childhood

Soap as lard long cooking in that well
of good intentions.
Warmer then it growing hotter in the oven,
was it dutch,
or that small bleeding 'pot' my rump a roast.
With out the jelly,
spread far and wide across my thin white bread.

Each tug of war, laid hope without a rope
like winds that only banded snakes,
each hurricane would drive out from the ditch.
Living underneath my sodden creaking bed.
While one small head and smaller feet
are pulled apart untill each bone it squeaks,
my 'God' is that a mouse inside the house, 'again'.
Moaning in the wind please make it stop, my name.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A 'Milkmaid'

Human souls...like..
night and day...rivers..
high and banked...
That give no thanks..
Streams..endless streams..
white and endless....
hair...tied back....
Modern day.....
she is a heroine..
Sitting down.....
her wet soaked hands....
and talking softy...each..
gentle stroke produces more..
Her slim long arms.....
like tan marble..
are sculpted...
and thick each wrist..
seeing both...
they are well muscled....
She talks...trade...
her milk and butter...
for flour...
bacon and some eggs..
and on the radio..
that croons...
a soft country song...
With smooth practice....
and they...
like most heavy roots.
love her sweet long fingers....
as up and down....
she milks each stroke...
and to those ends....
as she switches..
hands....
was after all...
what you were after...

James McLain

In French It's Not All In The Suggestion

In French It's Not At All in the Suggestion;
Nor all or what it is inside contained,
the silk of cotton face, I've traced therein.
Such beauty;
how it feels when it moves in it's 'Emotion'.
Red of color lends and bleeds each covered face.
Men how American and the thought that such a sight and they would rather loose an eye
then too come right out
and say they leave room for breakfast.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Erotic-Asphyxia

Yes,
tonight would be the night.
I hoped.
She was growing more enthusiastic.
It was several months, in between.
He and I both grabbed her.
Totally not caring,
whether she lived or died so long as it came off.
The routine tonight was different,
when she ripped her panties off and purple Violets.
What you saw,
were petals scattered wide across
the wind blown street.
Our crowning moment was as She remembered last.
Long after she had lost her consciousness.
I could see her body jerking and as those long fingers dug so deeply into her neck that I think we broke it.
We were young and wild and had no limits.
Dumping her body right out side of Austin Texas.

James McLain

Open On The Rose

and it's just that you need it today
knowing that today
was no different than yesterday
and yet when i approach it
and it opens
like you know it will tomorrow
it is not fear that causes you to move away towards it again
and when one end meets the other
and you do move it closer to the wall
even with each moon in my hand
it trembles as it readies
to open up and each petal
folding open on the rose
and the thorn
in it's heart and it's heat i touch
and though your arms
swimming the back stroke
try to reach backwards to some thing
that never was there
i just need
as you well now know
to pull the moon down
ever closer.
to meet it's living, breathing end.
Today opened on the rose, sits a thorn.

James McLain

Kisses Are 'You' Know

'Kisses' are you know,
always come back after 'Each' kiss.
lost in every every morning.
each kiss to me is different.
as different as the deepest of
the deepest shade of pink flowers,
from which it drinks.
and only the feet of the humming bird,
hang out of it i see.
and it so heavy with it's drink.
i watch out the window you look inside and smile.
Both of us are laughing,
as we watch it come out and tired and rest it's bill.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Need To Breath....Between Each Squeeze

I need to breath....
between each squeeze
you take my breath away..
between each gentle squeeze;
and your nights...that calm my balmy days...
and nestled warm inside...
the stealth..
of one firm hand...
while knowing that you held there...
I moved for just one single...minded purpose...
and while you changed....some things around..
you love to squeeze it on...
you savored every squeeze you dreamed to squeeze.
and squeezed it out....right over them...
and knowing that your squeezing it....
in need again..
it's late at night...the moon is full..
the wind is moaning...
and it's up to you...to squeeze on it again...

James McLain

If Aching Or Crushed

Yet is a rose a rose;
Accoutrement's
of 'death' aliments and milk.
Absorbed and life-giving.
To most it is a kind face,
whom wasts beneath.
And those one or two others
would pass skunk weed off as a 'rose.'
if aching or crushed,
and affably is it cousin in close aroma.
and all whom it's activity touches and
if you are ashamed and never thus broken.
For sin is sin,
thus is why you continuously harass a thorn.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Stranger 'In Some' Strange Land

I Wonder lost,
tired and afraid;
an epidemic
in reverse
to repeat it's self again.

How was I raped?
Was it from the act?
Did I do it to myself?

Did some one tell you to.
To keep the home.
To keep the land.
To keep the child.

Before her birth, I thought you had disposed of like the first.
I never saw.

PoemHunter.com

I know 'I' Raised my voice.
I never struck you.

How were you to live
the way you did.
With all your wine.

Here I sleep,
while standing up
alone
alone and all afraid;
I whom swam with sharks.
I whom fought off death
so many times.

I may have now lost count.
Not any more.
No not now.

Does my little healthy girl
when you are drunk each night
again fear,
what you might say to her.

Did you not think any or if all about her life.
When you took
my soul from her;
Her virginity before
it had evolved.

Her life,
My hopes
Her dreams
one day because of that.

I wonder lost untill that day,
like spring,
that never comes around.

a 'MOTHERS' day with out Mays flowers.

Like a Stranger 'in some' Strange Land,
walking on crushed skulls
of they whom came before.

What should 'WE' do with those like you.
Whom waste the men and little girls.
On 'Evil' such as that.

James McLain

Welcome To A Poet's Love-My Daughter

Welcome to A Poet's Love-My Daughter lived to Tell;
Three shrouded days, cloud wrapped you were
while names like stars went through the sky.
Like flamingo dawn that knew the sun as one.
I watched your mother's pain as if it were my own.
Fists clenched hard knuckles white breath drawn,
teeth grinding down hill untill, you came like storm of fury
in a rush of mist, flowing swiftly down as if Niagara's falls.

American is Caroline thou ar't welcome be,
your middle name is that first name of England's Mother in the year she reigned
of our 'Lord' hath,
numbered be 'two thousand ought and three'.

Hear try this it pains her so, don't pull to hard little wolf and born with teeth unlike most my 'dear'
or scrape your hungry little mouth nor teat you tear.
No accidental tryst were you and union made in name.
No board rooms follies nor jousting matches, paused
I rubbed the belly of that beast untill each union made her swelled each moon was full untill that night
the rain it fell untill you came and showed the world.

I would have ask you if I could, strange questions though they be.
Foolish quest of knowledge yes it dwells in me as well.
What was it like inside the source, did you have to wait to long.
Is the world to you again now what he said it was to you.
Inside the sea of foam was there a light you saw us from.

From where it is mine came that brought me here a feast considered is potatoes, hills of beans...now rest my 'dear'.
Does your belly get the meat you need to grow.
I came from ice and snow each rock it breathed as the steam brought forth the waters that we call mead.
Deep from that well inside the earth we all call home.

Inside your heart the 'clan' few 'Mc's are let now free to roam.
Most call us 'crazy'..long ago 'berserkers' breaking down
the wooden halls of kings, your are from such green 'moss'
you are of a daughter, that you may now know, I call my own.

James McLain

The Lizard

is it not 'Erotic'
what i'm writing
here to you
that if
you
make me
stop it
i will have to tell
on you
and if they hear
you 'cry'
then i
may never come
again
but
if i let you stay
and you
are looking out
my window
do you see
that lizard over there
on that tree
and what
it's doing.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mother Margareta

'Dear' those catholic skirts..
plaid..dark navy blue...
with the white blouse..
and red ties..
do any of your friends where..
skirts like that..
or you..
to school...
where the fruit is ripe in plain view..
to the few..
that the girl likes to see.
Here comes Mother Margareta.
I will ask her..
Though those blue ropes..
on her legs look like rivers to me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The 'Last Milking'..Stayed

The 'Last milking'..Stayed..untill it's done...
The 'Last milking' each one said!
Lolly pops, brown bags are full of treats
who ever heard of one last milking,
but for the condemned,
the Victims have those rights
singing just as I am,
while in the church of 'death' it is just then.
even if we are well practiced children
of the faith, none live in sin
and besides living in the south
any thing we want is legal tender 'dear'.
Except that one thing and that old brand
and flat that can of 'bush' it hopped out beer.

It was after all within thier hands each need,
and considered moreover how odd
An anonymous last request
This is the last one great green frontier,
in Florida here, who knows
how long and wide the width therein.

Who would do it.
It would have to be witnessed.
In Two hundred years.
It had never been considered.
Yet, I knew some how.
But that a storm and quake was coming,
Looking out,
within that vast sea of one a witnesses.
Asking and
dumb founded as every arm came up
but his they found.

And when it came.
Then it came,
mighty cymbals CRASHED!
It came again, hot lightning from below

while they,
each team in thier hurried up
but quickly never panicked mode,
yet Hurried it off and much too quickly.

The creamy-white milk
swished out down through plastic pipes.
They thought they would milk it out,
for weeks if not a day,
can they make it last an hour.

And the 'Doctor' reluctantly,
pronounced the date and time
once again they felt cheated
pushing down the milk filled plunger
beating death again.

The rehearsal is carried out
over and over and if this is not hell
lets just do it, one more time.
Where is old sparky.

James McLain

Yonder Paradox

Tis true that deep Within her heart,
you thought was mine I knew beat yours.
I might be southern and a hick
but know the difference tween a turtle and it's brothers gopher hole.
You think me dumb, I am you see.
Around your circles I have run
the more I see you run, I won't, you will.
Your wood upon my fire was placed,
by you to burn as mine disgraced,
not wise of you I found within my cotton field
I grew you bought with her to sell replanted and to spread it far and wide
each heavy bag, you try to sell to me
against each burning field and blind.
No I'm not that Quick I wait,
for miles and miles and hot your smile
in her on me and 'Judge' you washed it
white a Picket fence so 'dear' away.
My end of time, old 'Mummy' lives around the bend, upon your court house steps
from him she wears upon my wrist, her sin.
Sweet southern man I am no thanks to you.
We beat both side of the same sheet that hangs between,
each candy 'Apple' red Corvettes two seats.

R.L.

James McLain

'Riding' 'It, At Night

It will do it
where
you want.

....

Do you
want it
there right
now.

....

Will you take it
by the hand
and
show it how

....

It will meet you
where it's safe.

....

If you will meet
it there
right now.

....

and
when you put
it where
you want it

....

you can say
it has been there

....

so many times
you smiled
before

....

Remember
when you must

....

it is you

PoemHunter.com

it only trusts

....

And only when
the moon
is full
and
it is high

....

We will ride it
there tonight

....

when the
children
are asleep

....

at night

....

to the clearing
it has made
by the shore

....

On it's steed of blinding light

....

you have
riden
once before

....

bring cubes of sugar
and an apple
if you care

...

..

.

James McLain

Gossamer Shroud

Gossamer Shroud

Finery most precious, clear faces.

Whimsical silk and all it's fancy tales.

More than deep, Greek mythology.

So that woman may go naked,
on cobbled streets, while clothed.

Wearing ought,

but bright colored robes.

Almost religious,

sericulture of it's knowledge.

Volunteering, some live to do so,

'Standing' guard over this well a secret.

Even today, being windy it is so.

And it is,

ever so much cooler because of it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If An 'Error'

'If' by an 'Error' one has made
or two, we can agree.
Scriveners all can see.
And over time has turned to three.
One hour needn't be that long
when I've been laid to wait in sleep.

'If' by being civil, both my hands held out too you and who's to me.
Some words of magic held between two lines that never parted.
Your every master of my tounge, denied
by some not I yet still.
You must have the will to reach and guide.
While music lifts my heart and soul.
Your song,
I have long known, by he whom..I have read.

Doubt by some has lain in wait,
some longer,
than that month, each moon has turned to years.
even while, you sit and walk around.
The bench was
whom to blame the chair once high is all but gone.
And by you...must know this now, but how,
'If' it has waited long in vain.
My pockets emptied while yours grow long
I must have been the biggest fool.
'If' now you own what is still mine and I owned what you owned I find that was but time...

r.k.

James McLain

Ride 'It' In Your Dreams

It will do it
where
you want it.

....

Do you
want it
there right
now.

....

Will you take it
by the hand
and
show it how

....

It will meet you
where it's safe.

....

If you will meet
it there
right now.

....

and
when you put
it where
you want it

....

you can tell
it has been held there
once before

....

Remember
and you must

....

it is you
it only trusts

....

PoemHunter.com

And only when
the moon
is full
and it is high

....

We will ride it
there tonight

....

when most are deep beside the stream

....

most call
dreams
late at night

....

to the clearing
it has made
by the shore

....

On it's steed of blinding light

....

you have
riden
once before.

...

..

.

James McLain

The Dance

i can dance, i can dace,
and you watch me,
as i dance up and down
come and share
this last dance with me
as i dance this dance,
i hold on to you,
as you hold on to me
while they watch us,
both of us laughing as we
dance the rest of our life away.

i grow, i grow,
While i watch you,
and for all of this time,
you have been where, i grew,
most advanced in your care
as i watched you..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Thin Paper Lantern

Those thin walls..hold...paper lantern..
Onions silky skin..it glows bright red..
Brown pole..bamboo is cooked shinny..
Fresh cut wick..needs...it's consonants..
My..words are as...moth to light....fly by..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Half

Half between each half each half is split
on either side of each half is the half of one split i want settling for half of that that half i wont
one split is all that lies between that half i want.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Soft Of Voice I Die

When soft of voice i die
in wood you lay, he stays.

To play harps cord of grief
each note you play, i knew.

Bright 'Golden' ring,
you found around, i left.
One is held untill in love,
we meet in life again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lily 'shuns' The Rose

Lily 'Shuns' the Rose
Sweet with love,
each breath has run
So 'Far' so far, away.

Ignored by all her lifeless
face
once warm and red
now pale
with dread.

and pink each petaled
gown now lays
upon the hard cold ground
too fade.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

How Is The Why Do I Ache

how is the why do i ache.
can't you just tell me.
and i do so much less
when you gently.
i ache.
and knowing this gently,
you do.
and even in sleep.
weep i do.
some how,
when you gently, i move.
when you softly and gently,
you prove.
and behind my minds eye,
i sleep.
watching the swans, as i do.
i ache, watching your neck,
as it gracefully bends.
you do it and so gently,
i weep.
and i in my sleep
with out ever waking,
you sate.
and rolling so gently
each night i sleep
with you i'm in love.
and i ache across waves,
so i'm blue.

James McLain

Privates

I walk in to many worlds.
While awake 'I' see but 'Death'
and it is more
than that 'dream' of what you think of me, you did find.

Withered limbs, dry shriveled lips
obnoxious gasses
more than one pair of gloves 'I'
must wear on each hand,
glassy is each milky eye
that likes to watch, more come.

Youth now, 'Youth' every child we
have,
that perfect 'Angel' does no wrong
with a camera held in each hand.

My privates and rights to privacy
as last night
'I' found
out side of our window
a purpose you left cracked for all your friends to find.

Our faces hidden, while mums hand
reached around
to find
that one lovely reason,
for why you are even here,
behind the blinds.

Untill it was sent to my phone.
Try to black mail
your new foster parents
with those pictures that hang on the wall.

James McLain

Here 'He' Comes 'Your' Lover And She's 'Gay'

Bored your teenage years
it is fun and it's a game,
hidden underneath the Catholic skirt,
deep lovely pink insane.
just to keep milking it.
the way,
you all now do know how.
Friends for fifteen years
looking at your hands.
warm and slippery.
yellow white and dripping wet.
and ever sowing always sowing.
you're fevered pitch it's hot
and now it's glowing.
all of your faces are beet red.
rejected by him at the prom.
him by all of you.
ruffles you put in his milk.
He does not drink.
Not what you might think
he does not drink at all
and he is good.
and loved by all,
by you and by the rest
just as he should.
and look at him now.
passed out cold.
but how can you now.
how can you,
and your two friends.
while one squeezes firmly full,
the brown paper bag.
and when one's coming up
each flight of stairs
the other's always coming down.
and all of you giggle
change positions and you sigh.
and all of that spilled milk.

milk all that white creamy milk.
looking all around
it is every where.
it is on your faces,
even on your hands.
and those blouses
that you change and your skirts.
are soaked as well.
deep asleep,
sleeping like a babe.
and yes you were knowing,
as here he comes again.
and you know by now,
he's in deep pain.
and none of you seem to care.
here comes a lover,
that none of you then knew.
that a hunk like him could choose to be 'gay'.
and you didn't like, that all the ones that you wanted
like him, are always gay.
feeding him all of those ruffies,
like the three of you,
you did and
have done in recent past.
like the ones who,
come to school the next day,
and with out any memory
of those nights of the past.
While you keep
all of those pictures as proof
of your thrills.
what do all you think of
your hot selves.
and even more so vainly now.
as he lays there on your couch,
deep fast in rem sweet sleep.
and still alive in all your hands
with your skill he's moving now.

James McLain

The 'Last Milking'

The 'Last milking' each one said!
who ever heard of one last milking,
but for the condemned,
the Victims have those rights
singing just as I am,
while in the church of 'death' it is just
even if we are well practiced children
and besides living in the south
any thing we want is legal 'dear'.
Except that one thing and that
old brand and flat that can of beer.

It was after all within thier hands,
and considered moreover how odd
An anonymous last request
This is the last one great frontier,
in Florida here, who knows.

Who would do it.
It would have to be witnessed.
In Two hundred years.
It had never been considered.
Yet, I knew some how.
But that a storm and quake was coming,
Looking out,
within that vast sea of witnesses.
Asking and
dumb founded as every arm came up but his.

And when it came.
Then it came, CRASH!
The team in there panic,
Hurried it off much too quickly.

The creamy-white milk
swished out down through plastic pipes.
They thought they would milk it out,
for weeks if not a day,

can they make it last an hour.

And the 'Doctor' reluctantly,
pronounced the date and time
once again they felt cheated
pushing down the milk filled plunger
beating death again.

The rehearsal is carried out
over and over and if this is not hell
lets just do it, one more time.
Where is old sparky.

James McLain

'Dear' Is This Why 'You' Milked 'It'

.....'dear' is this why 'you' milked 'it'
'dear' is this why 'you' milked 'it'
or is it just because While your looking out the window
you see children running round.

And still you know that freedom, they will never let me have.
Bought my soul 'I' never sold
it is the power of my heart.

For a single dropp of my rich milk
thats full history and here inside my head.

It is not in the actual milking and though
I lay it by your hand to keep me safe.
It is not where your hands move it to,
as they roam across this land

'dear'.... is this why 'you' milk it,
when my head is 'void' of brains.
and this is why i love you, all the more.
Do 'you' milk it, just to watch the milk
come shooting out and like that comets tail,
when it flew across the sky that starry night.

James McLain

That Other Ship Forgot

That Other Ship Forgot
That smokey 'Hole'
and fiery red
so hot
that eye enraged
the blaze is seen through
silk and lace
for miles around
no man,
would she left, he get up
that channel
all have lofted sail
to die
upon each toothy rock
their skulls
bleached white
by salt and westward sun
each sprockets
hid beneath the waves
of foam
white sands of time tossed back.

James McLain

Modern Florida's 'Chain' Of D.N.A.

It's been so long since i have seen one lovely smile.
Boy you best get your self back into that line,
your dressed in blue and to her you all, look the same.
'Boss' she covers me, with all of those, my lost dreams.
Reckless eye balling boy, no supper again for you.
I'm only asking why, 'Boss' man...
Boy your dressed in blue, your blue from head to toe.
Each day my wife, she comes and brings my lunch
and besides that cup of fruit, is not for fools.
'Boss'.
Boy: now what!
And then get back to work and you best shut up.
'Boss' your eyes are blue and she is white, like you.
Boy: and whats the point your trying to make with me,
be quick or back in side the hole you will go off to sleep.
Boss' it's the kids...I see inside the car.
I am thinking 'Boss'
and in thinking, 'I' have thought and thinking
'I' have thought to long,
I may be wrong....and 'Boss', I've been wrong before.
But they look like twins or so it is 'Boss' I'm not color blind.
Don't they appear 'Boss' and your eyes seem clear..
Are they not looking to be...a bit off color..
'Boss'.... and looking, the same as me.

James McLain

Teenage Wasteland

I have sat here by the by always watching.
No attention do they pay me, as I see them.
Trees and woods,
it's barren land spread amongst my, bed of Roses.
Roots are stirring, deeply in the earth,
the Lilies barely patched so like most roofs.
Teenage Wasteland
of My memory of my youth was not like this.
Am I old and they are young,
memories vague some thing stirring, prejudiced.
Lilies mixed with Roses.
Horse and carriage take me back to my old days
of Lilac water.
Rings of 'Cheap' cigars held out, about each label.
Holding out against tight jeans.
When I have to buy them,
does she have to make me watch her..try them on.
Burlap is not silk and each cotton face, I see.
The center rose and lily knows this teenage wasteland,
some how got the best of what is left inside of me.

James McLain

'Dear' This Is Why 'You' Milk 'It'

'dear' this is why 'you' milk me
is it just because While your looking out the window
you see them running all around.

And still you know that freedom
will can not, be bought or ever sold for a single jar
thats full history and my rich clay.

It is not in the actual milking and though
I lay it by your hands.
It is not where your hands move to,
as they roam across this land

'dear' this is why 'you' milk me,
and this is why i love you.
'you' milk me just to watch the milk
come out like shooting stars at night.

James McLain

'Dear' Is This Why 'You' Milk Me

'dear' this is why 'you' milk me
because
looking out the window
you see them running all around.

While still you know that freedom
can't be staunched
you milk it more and more each day.

It is not in the actual milking and though
I lay it by your hands.
it is not what your hands they do,
trying to stay so busy as you know
they always do.

'dear' this is why 'you' milk me,
and this is why i love you.
'you' milk me just to watch the milk
as it comes shooting out.

James McLain

It's His Woods In Her Forest;

It's his woods in her forest;
That my eyes have seen inside of her two parts.
Softly talking, themselves, webbed in collusion.
Golden those leaves hold out two worlds, upside down in moon cups, sleepless those voices.
Many, many trees, cotton woods, brown tanned.
Squirrels nests hang down so full with birds at play.
Between the bark the cracks are deep, and the smell
of sticky sap, thick puddled grainy is warm heady.
Most who pass by, push there fingers deep inside it.
Then reach down to wipe it, along in smears, so tacky
in the middle of every where, loved between each touch.
While the trees
grow very deep I thought and live within her forest.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why I Wait

Why I Wait and so wait I must;
As I am warm,
I wait for the geese to fly south.

Being she gentles me as no other like her, she can
I wait for her to gentle that one other side none see.

While I wait, each morning you wait
to see
the reflection in his eyes of all that she has done, that you want him to be.

I have waited long enough, for she has told me so.
The geese are flying north again and watching as I wait they are two shy.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Camp E-How-Kee.

Camp E-How-Kee
as a child
had it's dark side as well.

Paul Butler is doing life
for robbery
i know.
He was black and seemed like a nice kid back then,
he was the token
in our small group of whites
with him it numbered ten.

Fat Jack..Jack Thomas
died
in Florida state prison.

George Walker abused by his father,
Sexually, psychologically and physically life a living hell.
kicked in the face by Chief Snell.
He may have weighted seventy pounds soaking wet
five foot one perhaps.
While Chief Snell,
wearing size thirteen and standing
six foot eleven in bare socks.
Kicked him in his face one early morn.

George in and out prison as well
perhaps by now, 'maybe dead.
He had courage.

Robert Sykes, whom wet the bed
every night.
Lord only knows,
the demons and monsters,
inside of his head.

The abuse that he suffered at home
was his fault we all now know
but a child as well.

is he alive..Amen.

The boy with the epileptic seizures
so bad
I remember his name..
as Dwayne Robinson..he shook and he screamed all night..
putting the pillow over his head.

While the counselor poured buckets
of cold water on him.
Screaming be quite.
where was 'God'..then..

Must I go on..yes I will.
All of us between eleven and twelve.
Maybe one was thirteen..
mighty frontiersman were we.

Angels, were we heavens know, 'no.....
being allowed to use axes
and draw knives
we kept pocket knives to do our work.

And Wally Otting was like Frank...
Michael Berro...
none thinking back then were like I..
When it got to bad
I would take most away in the middle of the night to escape..
what we thought we escaped when it was
we left our homes.

Most would not listen and then get caught
I always made it back home fifty miles of eating berries or nothing at all..
just to be sent back again.

Delila after dark..this was then...
you were a tender Ronnie and I was a boy of twelve..with no
moss or beard..
and my parts even then were coveted
by others as well..

This is my confession for them..
Donna Black...H.C.S.D.
Doing this to us was what.....and where is Gary Anderson?

What could a child, 'i have done back then but i tried, as
One group of five made up of tens.

Thinking back those were the most courageous
children whom most never knew what it is that you have
that they never did..most Sunday mornings
at chapel
they sang the old rugged cross and amazing grace,
and through the garden all walked alone.

I can be reached @

James McLain

Death On Each 'Clear' Dawn

Chilly the air and foggy is
'Death'
what hour is this must I,
and as you go, do I.
Down again we lay
to look once more at dawn.

There is barely,
as it leaves the room
to catch it's eye
yet eye, theres room for you look here as it for you it comes again.

I pace back and forth,
upon the path you've yet to find
and it, you find It soon.

Lost Instructions found my living will
it's leaving, left you so far behind,
to face your tender fears.

It's leaving me,
as if it were
some hidden whippoorwill.

I have come around once more
around and walking down,
you gain perhaps a foot or two.

James McLain

Some 'Ants'

you give them
some thing
better
and they leave
the crumbs behind.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am 'sad'

i am 'Sad'
though not ashamed.
once some one said,
to me.
i was full of myself.
anyone, every one and
the rest who have,
done it as well, i know.
i love the moon, not any moon
but your's is the only moon.
i love when Lily confides to me,
about her Rose.
and the garden i tend always full.
i love toes,
'God' made each toe i love.
and 'Given' the care he gave each heart.
he has shown me,
and see it's like this.
if i had a single 'Rose' to kiss,
'Lily' would soon have to know about all the rest.
and then all the moons,
would find out about the best.
so you see, i am not that full of myself.
i am just always so heavy and full,
like all the rest and i'm ready to burst.
and even the 'Lord' knows,
that the toes that he makes are the best.

James McLain

Sad'

i am 'Sad'
though not ashamed.
once some one said,
i was full of myself.
anyone, every one and
the rest who have,
done it i know.
i love the moon, not any moon
but your moon.
i love when Lily confides to me,
about her Rose.
i love toes, 'God' made each toe
with the care he gave each heart.
see it's like this.
if i had a Rose to kiss,
Lily would soon know.
and then all the moons would know the rest.
so you see, i am not full of myself.
i am just always so heavy and full.
and the 'Lord' knows that toes are the best..

James McLain

After 'Each' Kiss

you know,
i always come back after 'Each' kiss.
every morning.
each kiss to me is different.
as different as the deepest of
the deep pink flowers.
it drinks.
and only the feet of the humming bird i see.
and so heavy with it.
i watch you look and i smile.
watching it come out and rest against it's bill.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Garden' Of Silk

The 'Garden' Of Silk,
flying through the pale moon light.
Green and lush, such health
is seen by few,
Earthy and rich the air so musky.
Blooming plants accented with moths.
That resemble those butterflies.
Figurines, of her beauty
resting on fresh cut flowers.
The scented silk only accents -
each giant moth.....
as it spins vines of silk..
that seep all around her soft,
sleeping face.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Even Worse Morning

i dressed in poor lite
this morning.
the rest were asleep.
i arrived at work.
wearing,
a brown sock and
black one.
and each penny loafer,
was the same color.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Did It There, 'Because You Liked It'

i did it,
there 'because you liked it'
but if i keep doing it,
we mustn't tell each other why.
and sparrows cannot fly
with out their wings.
you are why i keep doing it.
i did it because you liked it.
and i liked it as well.
when you like it as much as i do.
and you liked it even more.
and when i some times do it here.
and some times over there,
you seem to like more.
i think,
you just like to watch my face,
when my eyes balls.
did what you say they did,
though i am hard pressed
to believe what you say that they did it any way.
meat balls like you said they did.
never the less
and you still have to help me.
as i still can't do it very long.
and when that moment comes.
just squeeze them more.
please,
do not make a long production out of it.
it's over much to quick.
i think it's only there because,
you have left me there to long.
and it seems
i always have and always will
and look at how it does it even now.
why....it's still doing it and i know it's because you liked it and so i did it just for you.
and your so pleased

you mustn't ever tell her how
or even must a why,
but i will do it for you there
just one more time
if you promise to stay quite.

James McLain

Wicked

is it wicked of me if i;
buy a peach and it's too soft and ripe.
what if after words
it does what you thought
it would do
and then it well,
just might.
and yes
and you know my fingers are more than,
any thing they do
and still you would have me, sigh.
what if i
pick the next one up,
and squeeze out the center
and 'lord' it does it too.
i keep running my fingers all around it,
in and out of it
yes
and underneath it to.
like those all around me do.
yet still it's so peachy
and they all remain as they were.
and watching yes
they laugh so hard and most of them they knew.
well,
i guess i can always wipe that juice off.
but i'm thinking what if i do,
what if the best i miss
and pass them by.
could i leave the best behind.

James McLain

And With Just Your One Finger

and with just your one finger and with it you could.
and with only it, you would split the world.
and you could leave it there and move me around it.
and other things, are more or less complicated.
and with the one you left me, more too explore it with.
and if it touches my heart, it missed nothing.
and if the world exploded around it, it is just your finger.
and once it's consumed, what is left but that world.
and with just your one finger, my world was spun around it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Morning' Dew

We both lactate.
Excited as the petals
open wide.

As both change sides,
and finally come together.

Just as the dew,
drips from each rose early
comes the morning.

Some work harder.
And their reward has grown.

While still the bee
comes back.
With yellow heavy feet
and much to tell.

James McLain

Open Your 'Heart' To It's Touch

and it's just that you need it today
knowing that today
was no different than yesterday
and yet when i approach it
and it opens
like you know it will tomorrow
it is not fear that causes you to move
towards it
and when one enigma meets the other
and you do move it closer to the wall
even with each moon in my hand
it trembles as it readies
to open up and each petal
folding open on the rose
and the thorn
in it's heart and it's heat i touch
and though your arms
swimming the back stroke
try to reach backwards to some thing
that never was there
i must need
as you well know
to pull the moon down
now ever closer.
to meet it's living, breathing end.

Is It Poetry

James McLain

Cradle Song

Can you Hear them 'child'
above your head.
and Heavy hearted,
they are tired like you.

Angels, counting out
your every breath,
they see.
I hear them sing for you.

Would you cry from want
of those.
whom rest their heads but rise no more.
To greet the morning sun.

So 'Hush' now child and
and don't you cry.
Gods mercy lives in you.

James McLain

Talk 'To' The Pillows

I have all ways done
so, even as a child
did I know gallons of tears
mostly from fear

As nuerotic people whom claimed they did care

Sendings uncles to bring you back from places
only Crawford would dare

Fearless of death you knew it true

Crawford she was not but so many think
they are

PoemHunter.com

Does the child in this thing called the show must go on

The show always goes on at pace with grace

No decent director could say but of else
colors magnificent managerie to bring back

Memories red white and blue with such grace
and a level head
every single mountain top
would be so

happily tread

For the purity of simple snow taste
not of tears

So the Pillow
tells me so

James McLain

And 'Ladies'

and 'Ladies' young and old
do you even know
when i go into the grocery store
and how they come all around me
and i
not even paying attention
as they watch me squeeze this and squeeze that
and they being all that you are some what more and some few less
and they
take my hand and place it there
and in my hand they squeeze and stare they squeeze it harder than they should
but i'm not paying attention
and as i'm thinking about squeezing
that which needs to be squeezed
in my mind i am squeezing it more and watching some become flushed
there faces grow dark and pink
so many
and so many my head spins around looking down as i feel
all of that juice run free
through my hands
and all of my critical thinking
has once again left me, it's gone.

James McLain

Co-Habitation

Co-habitation,
is marriage, 'Love' if it is.

If it 'is' not,
be glad that it is.
For sound judgement
fans that flame and prevails.

Where there is malice towards
none,
both are at home and kept warm.

Living on water,
food is no problem.
Unless.

m.a.

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

Greater 'Minds' Than Mine

Greater 'Minds' Than Mine;
Have left the 'Earth' and walked away.
Einstein as a troubled child,
lobotomized,
mixed socks and locked away.
Hubble and his visions eye'd,
are seen across the sky.
D.N.A...must free more how...
When freedom lies barred now.
Worlds within a world within a world,
his world inside one waits.
Within our dreams.
We do not waste our time on germs,
untill they show us how.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Question

Even if my body
hides your mind.
Our house burns down
around us.

What should I do,
Where will you go.
Will we sleep at all.

I need the axe again
keep back.
Plant flowers in your bed.

The sky it never waits
it rains,
come winter it is cold.

Under the sky in fresh mown hay,
untill we are home again.

James McLain

A Prayer

My prayer, is that no one hears
or sees my soiled pants.
as i walk through the blinding snow
and up each blood soaked step.
People crowd all around and such
they pause to let me by.
Chafed so tight and bound my wrists,
your lips,
i see are pink and fair,
each face looks on in thralled.
None asks, her why.
My love for her, stands tall, each fear,
i feel,
by all around.
i see them both huddled there,
calmly watching arm in arm.
When the wooden levers pulled.
The sun shines off the blade,
'Lord' this mind is dull
as it comes slowly down.
My head,
rolls down the wooden ramp,
and bloodies her clean feet.
i stood alone before the bench,
without a name,
hood covered in her shame.

s.t.

James McLain

On 9/11 A Third Skyscraper Plunged To Earth:

On 9/11 a THIRD Skyscraper Plunged to Earth:

The Sudden Implosion of WTC Building 7

By David R. Kimball

July 30,2005

“It is natural for man to indulge in the illusions of hope. We are apt to shut our eyes against a painful truth ... For my part, whatever anguish of spirit it may cost, I am willing to know the whole truth; to know the worst, and to provide for it.”

- Patrick Henry

“The important thing is to never stop questioning.”

- Albert Einstein

Everyone remembers the Twin Towers exploding at 9: 59AM and 10: 28AM EDT

on September 11, 2001. Comparatively few people can recall that there was a third massive skyscraper, also a part of the World Trade Center, which fell very rapidly to the ground on that day. This was World Trade Center Building 7.¹

One reason that few remember WTC Building 7's collapse is that after September 11th it has been treated, both in the media and in The 9/11 Commission Report, as if it didn't happen.

"The total collapse of the third huge skyscraper late in the afternoon September 11th was reported as if it were an insignificant footnote... most people never saw video of Building 7's collapse... Incredibly, it is virtually impossible to find any mention of Building 7 in newspapers, magazines, or broadcast media reports after September 11th."²

"The Commission avoids another embarrassing problem – explaining how WTC 7 could have collapsed, also virtually at free-fall speed – by simply not mentioning the collapse of this building."³

The collapse of Building 7 at 5: 20PM EDT was in itself a major event; the sudden and unexplained fall to earth of a 47-story steel-framed skyscraper is certainly news. Why has there been almost no mention of this in the U.S. media, and why was there no mention of Building 7's collapse in The 9/11 Commission Report? These are questions of great significance, and they cry out for answers. To be able to approach any kind of explanation, however, first some pertinent and verified facts of the Building 7 aspect of 9/11 need to be scrutinized.

The following eleven facts have been compiled from the research of reputable sources – those who have dared to question and have devoted innumerable hours into discovering what really happened on 9/11.

FACT 1: WTC Building 7 was one of the largest buildings in downtown Manhattan. It was 47 stories tall, about half the height of the Towers, and took up an entire city block. It was 300 feet from the closest Twin Tower (the North Tower, WTC 1), and was a steel-framed, concrete structure.⁴

FACT 2: WTC Building 7 – on its 23rd floor – housed an Emergency Command Center for the City of New York that Mayor Rudolph Giuliani had built in the mid-1990's. On the morning of September 11th, Mayor Giuliani did not go "to his Command Center – with its clear view of the Twin Towers – but to a makeshift, street-level headquarters at 75 Barkley Street." WTC 7 also held the offices of numerous government agencies, including the Department of Defense, the CIA, the Secret Service, the IRS, and the Security and Exchange Commission.⁵ Late

2001 was the time of “the height of the investigation into Enron, so the majority of Enron’s SEC filings were likely destroyed when World Trade Center 7 came down.”⁶

FACT 3: WTC Building 7 was not hit by airplane or significant debris on September 11th. It had been evacuated after the planes hit the towers. By the afternoon of September 11th, there were a few small fires of unknown origin evident in the building, and these small fires could be seen in only a few of the hundreds and hundreds of windows in the building.⁷

FACT 4: On September 11, 2001, at 5: 20PM, EDT, World Trade Center Building 7 suddenly and rapidly collapsed. Beginning with the penthouse, all 47 stories of it imploded into its own footprint in less than seven seconds. Three different videos of Building 7’s vertical collapse – two from CBS video broadcasts, and one from an NBC news camera – can be seen online at <http://wtc7.net/videos.html>.

FACT 5: On September 16th, NASA flew an airplane over the World Trade Center site, recorded infrared radiation coming from the ground, and created a thermal map. The U.S. Geological Survey analyzed this data, and determined the actual temperature of the rubble. This map shows that five days after the collapse of Building 7, the surface temperature of a section of its rubble was 1,341° F.⁸ This high a temperature is indicative of the use of explosives.

“WTC 7’s rubble pile continued to smolder for months.”⁹

FACT 6: Fire Engineering magazine is the 125-year-old paper-of-record of the fire engineering community. Bill Manning, editor-in-chief, wrote an Editor’s Opinion in the January, 2002 edition. His editorial, Selling Out the Investigation, pointed out that destruction of evidence – the hurried removal of rubble which should be examined by investigators – is illegal. He also issued a “call to action”. To quote excerpts:

“For more than three months, structural steel from the World Trade Center has been and continues to be cut up and sold for scrap. Crucial evidence that could answer many questions ... is on the slow boat to China ...”

“I have combed through our national standard for fire investigation, NFPA 921, but nowhere in it does one find an exemption allowing the destruction of evidence for buildings over 10 stories tall.”

“Fire Engineering has good reason to believe that the ‘official investigation’ blessed by FEMA [Federal Emergency Management Agency] and run by the American Society of Civil Engineers is a half baked farce [emphasis mine] that may have already been commandeered by political forces whose primary interests, to put it mildly, lie far afield of full disclosure. Except for the marginal benefit obtained from a three-day, visual walk-through of evidence sites conducted by ASCE investigation committee members – described by one close source as a ‘tourist trip’ – no one’s checking evidence for anything.”

“The destruction and removal of evidence must stop immediately.”

“Firefighters, this is your call to action. ...contact your representatives in Congress and officials in Washington and help us correct this problem immediately.” 10 11

FACT 7: In May of 2002, FEMA published their report #403 titled World Trade Center Building Performance Study. This report claims that the fires caused the building to collapse, but that the specifics of how this is supposed to have occurred “...remain unknown at this time.”¹²

FACT 8: The collapse of WTC Building 7 shows five characteristics of a controlled demolition:

It “dropped directly into its own footprint in a smooth, vertical motion”;

It “collapsed completely in less than seven seconds”;

“Dust streamed out of the upper floors of Building 7 early in its collapse”;

“WTC 7’s roof inverted toward its middle as the collapse progressed”; and

“WTC 7’s rubble was mostly confined to the block on which the building stood.”¹³

FACT 9: “Larry Silverstein is a rather large player within the realms of 21st Century real estate, finance, and politics.”¹⁴ He “...had taken out a long lease on the World Trade Center only six weeks before 9/11. In a PBS documentary entitled ‘America Rebuilds’, originally aired in September of 2002, Silverstein made the following statement about Building 7:

‘I remember getting a call from the, er, fire department commander, telling me that they were not sure they were gonna be able to contain the fire, and I said, “We’ve had such terrible loss of life, maybe the smartest thing to do is pull it.” And they made that decision to pull, and we watched the building collapse.’” 15
16

FACT 10: "It is inconceivable that anyone could be running around placing explosives in exactly the right places all within seven hours. In fact, implosions take a minimum of two weeks and up to two months to plan and place the charges. The fire department of New York does not even train their personnel to do controlled demolition. They are done by highly skilled experienced specialists who plan and test far ahead."¹⁷

FACT 11: "... [George W.] Bush's brother, Marvin Bush, and his cousin, Wirt Walker III, were principles in the company [Stratesec, formerly named Securacom] that was in charge of security for the World Trade Center, with Walker being the CEO from 1999 until January 2002."¹⁸

In summation: A major aspect of 9/11 has been excluded from the entire U.S. media after September 11th, and was also omitted from The 9/11 Commission Report. This was the sudden fall to earth, on September 11th, 2001, of World Trade Center Building 7. Not hit by airplane or significant debris, 300 feet from the closest Twin Tower, and with just a few small fires burning within it, at 5:20PM EDT this massive concrete and steel-framed 47-story skyscraper imploded into its own footprint in less than seven seconds. Its rapid implosion had all of the characteristics of a controlled demolition, and the World Trade Center leaseholder, Larry Silverstein, stated in so many words that the building had been collapsed by demolition. It takes weeks, if not months, to prepare the demolition of a building as large as WTC 7; this implosion could not have been engineered and implemented in seven chaotic hours on September 11th. Therefore, a question emerges:

Who had the means and expertise to engineer such a demolition and acquire needed materiel, and who had access to WTC Building 7 PRIOR TO September 11, 2001 in order to place the explosives?

An inquiry into the answer to this question might be a good place to begin a search for the real perpetrators of 9/11. Do we, the citizens of the United States, have the courage and honesty necessary to initiate an actual investigation, or will we continue living a Lie – and reap the consequences?

“Why do you notice the sliver in your friend’s eye, but overlook the timber in your own? ”

- Jesus

The following books, resources, and websites are recommended, in addition to the material listed in the footnotes:

The Secret Team – The CIA and Its Allies in Control of the United States and the World, by L. Fletcher Prouty, Col., U.S. Air Force (Ret.) , Copyright 1973,1992,1997 by L. Fletcher Prouty (Available from Len Osanic at www.prouty.org, or online at <http://www.ratical.org/ratville/JFK/ST/ST.html>)

Understanding Special Operations – And Their Impact on The Vietnam War Era – 1989 Interview with L. Fletcher Prouty, Colonel USAF (Retired) , by David T. Ratcliffe (rat haus reality press,1999) www.ratical.org

9/11 Synthetic Terror – Made in USA, by Webster Griffin Tarpley (Progressive Press,2005) www.tarpley.net

Global Outlook magazine, available at many book and magazine outlets
www.globaloutlook.ca

Peace Resource Project, P.O. Box 1122, Arcata, CA 95519
www.peaceproject.com (707) 822-4229

Questioning the War on Terrorism – Carol Brouillet’s website: <http://www.communitycurrency.org/9-11.html>

Copyright © 2005 by David R. Kimball

1 Jim Hoffman, <http://wtc7.net>

2 Jim Hoffman, <http://wtc7.net/silence.html>

3 David Ray Griffin, The 9/11 Commission Report – Omissions and Distortions (Olive Branch Press, 2005) ,28

4 Don Paul and Jim Hoffman, Waking Up From Our Nightmare (Irresistible/Revolutionary, 2004) ,5-20

5 Don Paul and Jim Hoffman, 18

6 Barry Zwicker, The 9/11 News Special You Never Saw, Global Outlook magazine (Issue 9, Fall/Winter 2005) ,19

7 Eric Hufschmid, Painful Questions – An Analysis of the September 11th Attack (Endpoint Software,2002) ,62-65

8 Eric Hufschmid,69-70

9 Don Paul and Jim Hoffman,10

10 Eric Hufschmid,5-6

11 Fire Engineering magazine, January 2002

12 Eric Hufschmid,7-8

13Don Paul and Jim Hoffman,8-10

14 Don Paul and Jim Hoffman,20

15 David Ray Griffin,28

16 For video footage of Silverstein’s statement, see Eric Hufschmid’s video Painful Deceptions, edited and narrated by ReOpen911.org (911busters.com, www.EricHufschmid.net)

17Narration from Eric Hufschmid’s video Painful Deceptions, edited and narrated by ReOpen911.org

18 David Ray Griffin,31-32

James McLain

Beans And 'Fat' Back

Beans and 'Fat' Back,
you can smell it down the block.
An extra place,
is always set for a dirty face or two.

Mismatched plates
and those silly cups from the bank
no one here,
seems to notice or care.

When every ones done,
it's all placed in the tub.
and Washed out back in the creek,
with white sand.

Corn bread and milk for desert.

g.b.

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

A 'Prayer'

My prayer, that no one hears as i walk through the blowing snow
and up each step,
they pause to let me by.
Chafed my wrists, your lips
i see,
each face looks on concerned.
One ask them why.
My love for her, each call, each tear,
i feel,
by all around, i see them arm in arm.
The levers pulled.
My head,
rolls down the wooden ramp,
and muddies her clean feet.
i stood alone before the bench,
without a name.

Amen

PoemHunter.com

s.t.

James McLain

Trees

- 1) ..Every time... I take your breath.
- 2) ..I think about... more trees.

- 3) ..Knowing that deep down inside.
- 4) ..Each breath I take, no longer are they clean.

- 5) ..Is it True, my love you bought.
- 6) ..There on my bark, you leave your mark.

- 7) ..When here, upon each limb you rest.
- 8) ..While knowing that each root, you need.

- 9) ..If leaves are words, one poem makes.
- 10) ..And making none, you strip each branch.

- 11) ..Where then will you..hang your swing.
- 12) ..Looking up, why do I see, heaven has no trees.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Being 'My' Best Friend 'I' Came To Be

Each morning,
very early and i would.
Not being very old,
some how, i understood.

The mother of my friend,
i some times, came to see.
She was always there,
it seemed.
before i even knocked.

It was she who said one day
she would help me
understand.

What happened next
i think it was
they think i said,
she could never show regret.

James McLain

Africa

I see you behind
no bush to
hide.

Nothing wilder
closed it's vastness
open it
surpasses.

Vast
wide plains
without any rain getting warmer so much color and vibrant
flowers to find.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am 'Your'- 'Child' In That Swing

i am 'Your'- 'Child' in that swing,
knowing no better i sing.
you have left me no pockets,
and my worlds are transparent.
while the look on my face
is a blank...like you.
so i swing.
i pull on the rope and i swing.
the rope, that i pull
is my song.
made for you
it is long and it's strong.
each thing you have done,
and my memory
is as long as each cut.
what you have done,
when you killed me
was wrong.
i pull on your rope while i swing.
looking up at the apex
high is the arc.
it is high at the top,
and bound up so tight.
tell them why
you are gagged
and your tied up
in wet leather.
so i pull on the rope and i sing,
i sing a sweet
happy long song.
and you are showing
them now
as i move it up with a smile.
while you try
to move it back down.
i pull on the rope
a little harder each time.

i am that 'child' in the swing.
and hanging you there
brings tears to my eyes.
i have tied off
your foot
to my hand.
i am that 'child' in your swing.
i love...
when you swing in the dark.

James McLain

Trees,

- 1) ..Every time... I take a breath.
- 2) ..I think about... the trees.

- 3) ..Knowing that....deep down inside.
- 4) ..Each breath you take...no longer can I clean.

- 5) ..Is it True...your love I sought.
- 6) ..When on my skin... you carve your heart.

- 7) ..When here...upon my limbs birds nest.
- 8) ..While growing roots...each tree..is freed.

- 9) ..If leaves are words...one poem makes.
- 10) ..And making none...you strip my branch.

- 11) ..Where then will you..hang your child...a swing.
- 12) ..Looking up..why do I see..heaven without trees.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ears

My words
when lost,
left out
your ears.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Crutches

Crutches 'I' Face, too Deny
It's deep from the pain, my feelings inside
Moving forward, plain is my face 'I' laid bare

Hands once mine impulsively 'I' move
Each is compelled 'I' must show Must each man show that bone to each woman he meets
or is it the devil she wants and then keeps
It is just my social 'crutch' a really big bone
is a pain in her side, says her friend

Woman are supposed to stay mentally strong so they can have a stroke 'I' as a man
know each my 'crutch' she my weaknesses
and 'I' hide them inside other woman
am 'I' afraid, she wont tell, my next friend
it would mean 'I' filled her with fear

i'm trying to show you my face it's my 'crutch' that i wear, in your place 'I' to am
he only human 'i' know,
please now just go far away.

James McLain

'My' Bio

It took a very long time..
to get her up there..
she squirmed and kicked..
and offered me tricks..
i would not take her licks...
her soul may be gone...
though her bodies still here.
i have to still get my kicks..
on this lovely dark,
swing where i sit...
Who would know her name...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Harvest Of The Seed

Each field is barren white with snow,
around me blind, they know.

I see.

Darkness brings the haze of dawn,
how many must it show.

While many miles of web it's barb,
my flesh,
it tastes and grows.

Bringing home the wheat,
ground white,
and powdered souls,
spread open far and wide.

Touching only youth,
not men,
Each gem from stone,
pours out and lost our seed it keeps.
No more.

j.Mc.

James McLain

'Does' He Make 'You' Cry

..Did he make it hard....

For you to cry...

Did..

Your tears well up..

To spread..

far out..

Across nights sky..

Does moons...

hide it's face..

Just to...

Ride up one wave..

then...

Slide back down..

The..other...

side of dawn..

and when he..

Hears those sobbing cries..

moving around you..

deep inside.....

Then tell me lass.....

Just how...

he made you cry..

James McLain

'Ivory' Tusks And Friends

Shoulders bare denuded cloth so frail silken whispers hang from her wind pipe.
Inside four chambers of her heart my music beckons there in blood,
i stand then sit, as both my hands reach out.

Gather now the shroud of sand in grains
from golden honey pots.
The bees in flight can never find.
Many are the tusks you claim as friends,
I carried them away but weary, now i tire
as i turn from sand to dust.
My stones, you claim in time, as yours not mine.
When faces take a bath and light of golden sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Hope' Floats..Up From 'Your'..Past...

Perhaps it's not what I write...
That you read...
But a simple interpretation...
of that, which you read..
Hope floats every boat at sea....
Up from Your..past...
Faith laid me down...inside..
Your sleepy head...so dream on..and..
If you are a male who does not like females..
or a female who does not like males...
Then come back in a few years...
Until you do...and you will..
Unless you have been damaged...
by some one others fears..
If you have issues of power and control..
pass them by...
Once you have control it soon dies...
If you do not believe in the constitution of the..
United States...pass them all 'bye'...as well..
If you burn..there...and yet are in denial..
pass them by...
If you make noises in your sleep..
that are not that of snoring...
You may need to pass them by..
For true words that fill you up.....
Some may only make it worse...
If you are afraid..but need too...
If you need too...but are afraid to...
I would only ask you...why...
Other than that...
when two people come together...
it really does help when it..works both ways.....

James McLain

I Am That 'Child' In 'Your' Swing

i am that 'child' in your swing,
knowing no better i sing.
i have no pockets,
my worlds are transparent.
and the words on my face
like yours is a blank,
so i swing.
i pull on the rope and i swing.
the rope,
it is my song,
and it is long and strong.
each thing you have done,
and my memory is long.
what you have done,
when you killed me was wrong.
i pull on the rope while i swing.
up at the apex is the arc.
it is high at the top,
bound up tight
and your gagged
and you swing on my tether.
so i pull on the rope and i sing,
a sweet song.
you knowing
as i move it up, you move it down.
i pull on the rope just a little bit
harder each time.
i am that 'child' in the swing.
and hanging you down,
i have tied off
your foot.
i am that 'child' in your swing.
i love when we swing in the dark.

James McLain

Am I 'What' I Am

Am I, Yet I still remain as I am,
what I am,
I am, why I am.
I am as still as the memory,
I left behind.

Each haven,
I lost, I left behind and came to you, as I am.
For all that I am, I once held
and found inside, concealed.

I am behind each cloud,
you see I am,
on top as well.
I am in the depths,
I am without a single care,
as i rise to he,
for those to whom I am.

I am in debt to sleep,
I am awake,
to share the day,
I take.

While night,
takes me to where i am
no more.

Being that i am within you,
i need to go away.
To become what I am again.

j.c.

James McLain

I Am That 'Child' In The Swing

i am that 'child' in the swing,
knowing no better i sing.
i have no pockets,
my words are transparent.
and the world knows my face
like yours is blank,
so i swing.
i pull on the rope and i swing.
the rope it is long and strong.
each thing you have done,
my memory is long.
what you have done, was wrong.
i pull on the rope while i swing.
up at the top,
bound up tight
and your gagged and tethered.
so i pull on the rope and i sing.
i move it up, you move it down.
i pull on the rope just a little bit
harder each time.
i am that 'child' in the swing.
and hanging you down,
i have tied off
your foot.
i am that 'child' in your swing.

James McLain

Little 'Girl' You Ran Away

After You Have Run Away;
and after the money,
that you need has run like you so low.
How long can you live off those small,
packets of sweet honey, My 'dear'.
Warm each they gave you, when you bought that
last finger of chicken,
you being hungry and so thin as a rail, you must eat.
They who eat only sweet candy, soft it is moist taffy
bagged candy and treats in cups each girl holds,
most 'dear' such as yours.
They can see the toothache you now have
not some small widening stain,
that's your soul that you carry inside from them.
Your little suit case, so dainty and small packed inside.
One pair of jeans your skirt from church,
some knee high socks
and your flops and one pair of clean pink clear panties.
Because you are a pink oyster they all want to drain you.
Sixteen or younger the dark living jungle you see.
The whole world is locked so far now away, from you.
The man in blue would shield you,
and take you home, again lost child, but.
The other lives in the back of each dark red Ally's way.
He does not smell the Lilly or a Rose he just cracks,
open the soft center of each pale moon
and moves around each clouds lost soft face.
Mean are the bruises around what were once your,
soft and milk thistle and once very own your silkies.
Winter looks down and comes back to keep in us all,
but not like that,
in the back of a stall, on your hands and knees
where those old salty leaves,
always rain down from the trees,
that can never stand up on there own.

James McLain

Death 'Married' Death To Death

Death looks at a flower and you screaming,
I am beautiful, look, look..
look here I am, come and eat me, alive.
Death hovers, smiling, never waiting, walking always walking by, walking in side, you knowing that,
any thing that touches, it will soon also, come to sigh.
Death is love, love is death, what are you both, death
is your pet pink pig and deaths two flying bagged pearls.
Slapping you for ever and ever about your red face.
Death is a dry cracked nipple, sleeping, holding on to the flesh untill it falls off, still dripping.
Death is a bullet fixed, never moving, why does the
world move you through it.
Death is a voice always quite, sounding alarms to
walk across the street knowing you look both ways,
while you come running very quickly out across,
just to stop in the middle and wait.
Death is a woman, who is crazy, thinking the world is
spinning into her coffee.
Death to all men who think they can save each woman
by marring death and eating her tuna fish sandwich.
Death fingered you, you loved it, now you finger me,
leaving my bee exposed on the flower, you buzzed it.
Death's own flower is always sweet and poignant on you..
It is always open for death to smell.....
and it's red alarms, you ignored...
still here it comes, never alone....to see you as you really are....

James McLain

Hurry 'Nurse', Before The Doctor

Hurry put the flap back over my head

I forget

now, more and more.

I don't like talking about that, I thought
you did, can we stop.

I know you change my mind, I have so much trouble today, trying to remember who I am.

The flashes are much worse, I had
forgotten that, I was just old.

When the doctor comes in, will you put
my arm back in my drawers, it moves
without me, yes, it is embarrassing and more.

Sorry between all the medicine and shock therapy
my tongue has grown much, much thicker.

Nurse who are all those people? ...

...is that jack in the box?

I am not Jewish! who is that fire for?

Do they sell new parts now for the Chinese..?

Nurse..hide me in the oven..with that nice Hebrew lady..

We, for once, will share what is left inside, the lid...

nurse....undo the flap.....there should be tea for two.

James McLain

Last Clear Dawn

Chilly the air and foggy my breath,
looking down,
as I walk up the path of this steep hill
winding around, back and forth,
like some one sought out in a dream.

Spring parts green on either side.
Narrow the path, unlike most minds.
Each stepping stone laid high and dry
like the sandals well worn on my feet.

Resting often, more often than not and I
now realize,
why the gold fish seem much brighter today,
than ever they did before.

Resting in the waist tall grass,
the wind once again it feathers my face
I know it is sleep, for you I wait.
Honey suckles and deep butter cups.
Scattering the butter flies through the clouds.

James McLain

Bottle Neat And Brown

They were there..
to keep...
and one of them..
is mine...

.....

That little bottle...
round...
and Warm...
so nice and
brown...

...

.....

and sweet..
green grass
it lays in sleep...

.....

and how you..
made...
two cents..
from mine....

PoemHunter.com

.....

and rainy days..
I come...
around..
and candy...
both we'd buy....

James McLain

Some Few 'Requirements' Of A Man

I

Hold my face and love me, 'dear',
Floating down between twin peaks;
Move my hand, around your heart.
As clouds, more gather there.

II

You make me feel, as you once felt.
Come rub away each tear.
Mouthing words that can't be heard.
When lips are in the way.

III

Each painting that you hide, I take makes more than, found desire.
Green emerald eyes, the cobalt sky,
Colors mixed, know few will ask us why.

IV

Summers love, spring fashions fall,
tall trees, each golden leaf.
Cool wind, blown around each limb,
as snow begins to fly.

V

Love me as I am, I know I'm as you are,
wanting as each night begins to fall.
Melting candles once so tall,
now puddles without light.

VI

Harder does each breath come back
beneath the storied night.
High the moon is bright and full,
My fever burns in it's pale light.

VII

Cling to me a sinking ship,
waves they roll across.
Think of me, I think of you
and dying, both are lost.

VIII

You've done for me,
and more I need.
Now fetch that pale 'o' water
The stones are in the fire.

James McLain

Look After Love

Look After Love,
Deep,
In your eyes, my look upon your face.
More than friends, that we were.
And because of that, that and because we did.
Where once it was eclectic,
a fence there has now grown.
and now there's nothing left to tell.
Out we fell.
Look After Love and look after love.
We were young, it was much too deep.
Too deep for all it's peace.

s.t.

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

A Friendship

We are not friends
because of the friends
we share
But because you dared.

When we make love
are we first the friends
of love
or loving two friends
we are.

And knowing what you think before I speak
and you speaking what I think
I
love you more for speaking.

Even though you love me and I have warmed
your friend ship.

I blot every thing from my mind
just too watch your lips
move
and they are as different to me.

As the friendship of the sun watching it set
each brand new day
into that warm familiar sea.

n.g.

James McLain

After 'It' All

Each breeze and gentle soul
lays within reposed,
and linens 'Regal' lace
doth move no more.

Upon this voyage,
'You' start again.

Each vein a troubled river
knows each more,
Alone.

Death withheld me from your eyes,
rigid, but firm, 'Death' can't disguise
the grace that formed
your fingers closed and clutched within.

Here now,
before that white'Oak' pew
crossed 'Hands' again now held,
I add mine ring, to thine.

r.b.

James McLain

And A Thief Rose Among Men

and a thief rose among men
and further down was dis honesty
within that bed stood less charity
and massed the public wore hoods.

Dick fleeced Tom and returned and did Mary and being sheep reserved but brown grass
while grins of laughter, wear out your wool
and being sheep, they tell you what to do..

No one likes to be told they are a fool
only a fool would know what they're not.
mine tears known as laughter civic duties
and i rose to your level, i was upside down ever the patriot i am now, knowing i'm fleeced
and you who left beer, in charge of our country.

do you want to be water boarded...
didn't think so...
do you like things stuck up inside..
you that don't feel good..besides that.. i bet you do..but not like that..
let them pass a law that allows your children...
to be chipped..in case they...
do end up like you....
blaa....blaa...white sheep...
and some one thinks they did it...
due process can be ignored..like it isn't..
and implode there brains...they can do it..
besides in there scheme of things your not..
nor your children do you care...why have them...
while honest people,
are put down as thieves and are not...
while honest people steal your bread...
and when you hunger and say they are not...
still in the background is laughter... :)
do you get it yet..no...vote for....people.... who don't eat sheep....
some days is it not better to eat less chicken.

e.e.c.

James McLain

Love, My 'Hope' In One Life

Love, my 'Hope' In One Life;
and when not if,
it must have come upon me.
Lost in you, held in me, your heart.
Giving you less,
and lost, you gave me more.
I am failing and the more I fail,
and more, I wish less to fail.
Failing that,
will you touch my hand,
One more time,
before the light begins to fade.
And even after, after before, before even after, before that dawn ever came.

PoemHunter.com

r.b.

James McLain

Mad Was 'I', But 'You'

Mad Was I, But You
and balmy salve on that cut.
Rolls and rolls of gauze, I replace
Sunday morning when it opens, I look.
Letting you squeeze it out of the tube,
antibiotics,
I must rub the wound, day in and day out.
Deep is the cut, close your eyes and lie still.

It is only in your mind, I try to explain
as your thoughts I carried out of your mind.
Was it I,
Did I,
Was I the cause, of your decline.
I can help, let me help you up and please be nice.
Listen now,
here comes the doctor.
Here she comes.
She is here.

I was 'mad', but you.
All about you, inside and out.
I brush your soft hair,
I kiss you there.
When I lay awake daring the day.

You will like the new psychiatrist.
She smells of,
oranges and apples.
She orders the liniment,
I spread on you.
Some what chilly, the linoleum floor.
The distance is short to the gurney.

James McLain

'Ruby' And Deep 'Red' Eyes

'Ruby' Red Eyes

and knowing how words are mixed.

you have an advantage over males.

being so much so.

even the cotton can't hide it.

it is as bright as your 'EYES'.

When it comes out.

Blood ruby red and thick

and the words when dry stick.

The pen full of red and thick with it.

between the moon and it hangs down

a well of 'RED' ink.

and each dropp is conserved,

even more because it is familiar yet not.

once a month.

more than words form on the page.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Little Girl 'You' Ran Away

After You Have Run Away;
and after the money,
that you need has run like you so low.
How long can you live off those small,
packets of sweet honey, So 'dear'.
Warm each they gave you, when you bought that
last finger of chicken,
you being hungry and so thin you must eat it all.
They who eat only sweet candy, soft it is moist taffy
bagged candy and treats in cups each girl holds,
such as yours.
They can see the toothache you now have
not some small widening stain,
that's your soul that you carry inside from them.
Your little suit case, dainty and small packed inside.
One pair of jeans your skirt from church some knee socks
and your flops and pink clear panties,
because you are a pink oyster they all want to drain you.
Sixteen or younger the dark living jungle you see.
The whole world is locked so far now away, from you.
The man in blue would take you home, child again.
The other lives in the back red Allys way.
He does not smell the Lilly or Rose he just cracks,
open the moon and moves around each clouds soft face.
Mean are the bruises around what were once your,
soft and milk thistle your silkies.
Winter looks down and comes back to keep in us all,
but not like that,
in the back of a stall, on your hands and knees
where those old salty leaves,
always rain down from the trees, that can't stand on there own.

s.t.

James McLain

Green Pastures

I'm looking at a pasture, down a ways, past ours.
It'd need more than a few days to mow, i know.
) if underneath the brown it's green, sweet hay
Do come along, and help me-before it rains(

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poor The House

Poor The House;
Who did then know,
such narrow paths,
that led us here.

Father, show us faith,
and hope,
it leads us off to where.

That cross,
you suffer, by.

When we peer in
and know our sins,
the foggy windows
plain,
but none can see
them all the more.

We wait for bread,
the butters gone,
one crust will help us
hide,
untill she's gone.

s.t.

James McLain

My 'Baby' Knows

my baby how she knows;
and my baby knows
it day or night she knows.
my baby knows it
by a gentle touch
from me.
my baby knows
i must resist
a little
just to weave each death
i wish too leave behind.
my baby knows it's like the first each time
she slips it out
to hold.
my baby knows
that if my each tomorrow were
to come today.
each dawn my baby
would fill each hand
with the stars of night
and the sun
of each yellow day.
with night and day.

James McLain

Every 'Woman' Who Does This 'shudders'

She was vaguely aware of some soft music on the radio and the occasional sounds of someone moving around in and out of the room.
Her head was spinning slightly.
From the wine.
Helplessly hot and excited.
He has this amazing ability to get into your mind
and almost 'play' you like a 'Woman's' musical instrument.
Trying to get up but not wanting to move....
Understood your every need.. your every feeling.
And the amazing ability to get deep inside of your mind.
Deciding that the best thing,
was just to close her eyes and relax.
She trusted him and watched as he,
pushed a white enameled cart that looked like
some kind of hospital equipment.
It had a 4-foot rod mounted on the side and hanging from it was a large red rubber bag,
bulging as if it held a gallon of water.
It was so full that the top was slightly brimming over
with some kind of white suds.
It had a piece of tubing extending from it that was it's self connected to a large red rubber tube about 3 feet long with a small slit on the side of the tip.
Every 'Woman' who saw this shuttered as they realized
this was a hospital system
for giving large volume enemas to patients.
The thick soapy water will help the colon tube to pass more easily up into your tummy.' Said, he.
'Why do you have to control me so completely? ...
You won't even let me keep control of my bodily functions! ',
Secretly melting...anticipation building.
Whatever the cause,
she only knew that she was helplessly in love with this man and she was equally sure that he loved her unconditionally.
OH... AH.H.... OH.. arrrgggggghhhhhhh.....'

feeling the blast of thick fluid jet deep into her.
and this was the one thing
that could cause her to totally lose control of her mind.
A prisoner of love.
And she was sure that Poetry would keep her that way...
for the rest of her life.

James McLain

Confined My 'Love' She Did

Confined My Love She Did,
Such the Lover knew possession
long before the other did.
Her right of love too he, she gave
this intimate domain.
Whom has cried this night for she
is mine by right of choice,
says he.
This court and most Supreme must
side with me.
The road is narrow and it forks,
before us all, the deed we saw.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Tourette's Syndrome' A Lost Piece Of Work

Verb it is you and the verb
in you is action and more action.
verb, sharp verb, slow verb, verb
coming in your noun is a verb.
be a verb, juicy, verb, verb...verb.
jouncy pounced on Nancy's,
fancy juicy, healthy big fat noun.
prep me, prep her, help me stop it.
administer the conjunctive sharply.
stop but dont' quit, ..stop me not,
help you, help me, faster, harder deeper.
faster and faster, do me, did you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Co-Medial 'Mask' Of Words

Panties and bikinis
and why,
you paint them on.
What you see,
is what i get.
You see
i want them all.
What i see,
i think some times
should not be seen at all.
Nylon stretched,
far past the point
where it's not safe too pry.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each 'Moon' I Wish To Know

each 'Moon' i wish to know
and it is just as keen
as it i know
rustic creamy and it's rushing always rushing spinning like a top
as i
from coming in and out.

Many different faces
up and down i pass them by always quite like some secret that i know they've left inside.

But too me the moon one different side
the side that's haloed
path i see,
moon made it just for me.

it is there between each cliff
i sit
and watch the rest dropp out.
while i am pulled up safe
each night
each night, i come inside.

James McLain

Our 'Hunger' Is Your 'Emasculation'

Before they came
we were happy
and simple
and love was different and thier love now.

Fields thick with grain
moving winds
clovers fresh smell
free moving streams
catching fish.

She happy and plump
pleasantly so fat and full moist and firm
each one dripping
sumptuous feasts
milk for each child.

Now black puddles
worthless pools
thick and foul
killing all who lived
but they.

One has blown away
thin as the reed
are we while i nurse from one daughter the other
as mother tries to gain
her
strength from mine, me.

James McLain

'Moons' Cover-Slips Right 'Over'

Keep him there your happy man,
along hopes soft causeway.
Moons yellow light you hide him in,
cloud faces closer, moved away.
And your charm in him, moon finds,
Held wide the joy and light inside.
You lure him back where he belongs,
and 'Moons' Cover-Slips right 'Over'
Back and forth across nights sky.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Money Changer

One wise hand, holds God's scale.
One priests hand, weighs his currency.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Death And 'No' Remorse For 'Any'

Death and no Remorse for Any;
Never once where Doubt is spread.
Never were you such a deceiver as now.
And once finite does each window show it.
I sift off hope and wade through memories.
I watch two small stones roll down the hill again.
Even the dog lays down in sleep, just as it's witness.
God was as abundant and likened too each drop
of water,
I wait as you count them empty too use that ocean
so that you may drink your fill,
and now after the desert fills your cup with sand,
and I wash it.
and did it not feel better when it was more abundant.

There,
here is my great blue eye,
I mine, hers, now his
and as each is passed by,
the next may be long in coming.

James McLain

Each 'Dropp' Of Rain

and your each 'dropp' of my rain.
and i am tired and i am thirsty and it rains.
and we are as we now are, it is fine love and art.
and i know that it is bitter, sour even tart.
and as my fever climbs, you help it too rest.
and as it drips there slowly, slowly down.
and as you do your very best.
and each yellow sun so high it bursts.
and still it rains.
and each dropp it drips i see on me.
and comes more rain, as it pours on me.
and as you hunch there over too cover me.
and you keep me warm, as you dry my lips.
and as the rain too cool it runs the full length.
and down the small of your curved back.
and through that small and rustic crack.
and above me each moon, i'm looking at.
and i am tired and i am thirsty and it rains.
and each dropp of rain seems bitter and sour it is tart.

James McLain

The 'Happy' Porn Star

The 'Happy' Porn Star.
Grew up in poverty,
on a farm.
With too many brothers and cousins.
She loved them all.
Except the pigs.
She had no use for a cork screw.
Most of the house looked like there's.
Not her room,
full of lace and silk, they learned.
She burned and burned wanting more.
She had her own pony.
Nice little pony and friends.
By the time she was full and grown.
Any thing of value she owned.
Old gold and silver over there in a box
laid confederate money, yellow with age.
She packed it all up,
while the pony and she rode away.

James McLain

Between 'Each' Wink

I smile.
but a few
are still
asking..
for some wink on rye, wink
on wheat,
one wink is so
sweet.
Between
'Each' Wink
Will you
wink it on
me.
Between each blink.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Milking Table

The sign out side still reads.
'Free' milkings to the first one hundred.
Lured in by thier own blind lust,
all are full, thick and heavy.
Willing as.
Each is checked.
Weighed And readied.
by 'More' than simple nurses.
With pretty pink wings.
The line is soon gone.
Hooked up to long clear hoses.
Secured by the pros now Imobile.
Hose too hose.
Leading under ground too the 'Queen'.
There are no back doors to this palace.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'She' Is As The 'Moon' Light

In beauty she walks by me.
and her throaty is so pale.
she It is as the moon light.
and how i struggle hard and blue vein,
not in vanity to reach the other side.
It is so full and heavy and as it is you so ethereally,
and it being you, it does shine down.
Wrapping around it
as i gaze up each night at twin half moons.
i sleep between them, you hold it there untill
sleep over takes us.
Too there, by the pond as does the white stork,
as it stands on one leg as a frog moves slowly down.
And as i watch mesmerized, that lump is mine,
and with my hand,
upon your throat i feel it slowly slide down.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The 'Woods' When I Stopped By

...The woods when I stopped by
are very deep and she knows why.
...Her land is split, sits miles of fence
he walks it's length and smiles.

...Vast her fields of buttercups
and on his side impatient grows.
...She likes flowers, he likes trees
the difference plain too all, who see.

...his woods are banked and steep
she walks and sings, he hears each song.
...Finding hers, his path was clear across one stream, she caught him near.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Young' And 'sweet'

Being Young and Sweet,
and i stood out just that much more.
Full lips and out stretched arms that pull me out of my mind and
i not knowing why.
Saying you love me,
when it was my lack of years,
you loved instead.
Being young and sweet and full.
My tears are even sweeter,
was all you ever said.
Never finding it again and all you see
is it as it was you.
and you hang on too what you have
even more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Monsieur's Departure'

I saw my Daughter born and how they did then let me.
I cut the cord, I bound it up, I tucked it in, she did not cry.
I examined all the grounds and how she then did, move me.
I knew she had her bottom half and that her upper half was mine.
I knew inwardly it was thus and while she outwardly, I shined.
I never knew a storm would come and lead me, far of course.
I since have learned what the evil queen then knew, was mine.
I too like Monsieur's Departure from her and she, his only child.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Young And Afraid

and when you close your eyes again
it only grows larger.
does not that ridge on the horizon
resemble unseen breath.
that is why you must push it open
at first your afraid.
what of loves disappointment.
and if it's true what will they all say
when they see it.
when you look around and they will all know.
and your ointments cling to his intentions.
and afraid of meeting them all in the restroom.
while that small red spot grows even brighter.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Death'-Less

'Death'-less, it is to all whom wander in.
King of Queens even for them most,
they know it is so.
Green and green upon the fields though it appears,
it must as it,
rises up it's ponderous head, it's shielded from none.
Beggared,
no with paupers it claims the first and second moon,
conversed with and you agreed, humbly so.
For most of them and likened too it bends it's head.
And slips therein.
And entering each cave, white it's teeth hang down.
While the fork runs off, all around it and richly so,
disarmingly upon it's loamy bed, more spring forth.

j.d.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Touch It

touch it.
while it is that i am.
at first with warm breath
asleep.
It touches you.
with cold heat.
but not until you.
see it jet.
while it remains.
deep asleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Beast Unbuttoned

The Beast Unbuttoned;
lays as still as death transfixed.
And troubles only those,
troubled fingers trembled in pause.
The bone of bones and soft faces,
land on valleys narrow peaks.
And each farmers son,
who plows the field looks back above.
The beast that can't be pushed out even,
when it's being pulled in.
It is always dead when it's around it,
the hand has, opened and Unbuttoned it.
By it's narrow back,
you raise it's head too near the open flame.
Any beast that stands upright
and knows your name, you call it out.
One beast Unbuttoned,
winds it's way inside your mind and stays.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Fault Of It Sleep Takes

The Fault of It Sleep Takes;
I hear your whispers,
but I can not move your lips.
It is now, I know so hard that you lie still.
I touch you early and you speak
too me with such a lovely voice.
It is my fault,
each diamond studded tip,
and when I can't speak,
you have explained, but I forget.
All those tears of mine you drank.
When the Fault so clear is mine.
Sleep you shake,
when I can't awake in 'Time'.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'My Dears'

'My Dears',

How was I supposed to know too stop the rain, do you.

Coming, coming, coming like a train, the way you do.

I have waited, waited, waited and wanting up, I do.

I have watched while I have waited, stars once white and bright now turn blue and left alone, they glow red hot.

The way you did each night I do.

Your ears now, how they burn, in flame do they, not I.

Did theirs turn red and still I wait too long for you, I do.

s.t.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Night, Each Gate

The hinges on the front are hard and firm.
i know because, each night i move and look.
and how, she knows it when i leave her long.
Each night i check behind each door and cracked, it is, it's then i hear,
little 'Dear' our mummies, drunk and prone.
and because inside i sleep, I'm tossed outside again.
Some times it's cool, some times it's warm.
Because it's there, when i am and cold.
i am squeezed between the inner green each brick,
and down that long dark road, most call home.
i fear the Judge has Judged me Just, i am like you, unjust.
and i am told to move around their foggy shores.
With the coming of the moon tonight it rides,
each tide and it is strong.
I must check more often than perhaps, i think
i should and then i hear, that evil laugh.
The cotton clouds they try too hide,
and so they move aside and as one slides
across the sky tonight it shows again.
Golden honey rustic color, it's halo.
Camouflaged and patched,
last night i think it snowed.
I hear each pebble,
as it's tossed,
each heavy tap it's warm soft grasp
against the windows frosty chill.
I heard a quite little.... ohhhio,
and thinking that each Other outer ring is fine.
and Erie is it's light and then i sigh.
For forty years it's been this way and with the wind the snow and rain.
It always comes in sheets and hard it pours.
The gate and lock will be replaced,
as soon as it grows warm again and it is cool along those shores.

James McLain

'Over' And 'Over'

and as you watch my hunger grow..
when you watch what i do..
and you look down..
and they are not watching you..
what do you see..
and some times her top half..
cannot control what the bottom half does..
and power less..
It is all you can do not too think about it..
and you do it..over and over again..
and it is then i think about running away..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Consorting With-'Each-Angel'

They know, every where I go
they seem too know, I am a man.
I dont seem too mind,
If all the men I meet, think I'm bi.
I tell the women they are gay and hitch a ride.
It is only issued out for they who roam her hand,
and never for the others.
Where I go.
Riding in there limousines.
They like too dress me up, she wears a wig.
Pink pigs that fly each tiny twig her wing,
it missed the other side.
One hand around a belly flat and tight and three
of them.
Her other holds brown bottles up, and it is full.
She rings the top and pulls, it all comes out.
The other doesn't mind, she is drunk on wine.
Last night I had a dream, you wore a wig,
around a belly flat and tight.
Your lips were red and the moon was full.
Riding in your limousine, I feel at large.

James McLain

His Kind She Fought

His kind she fought;
just too loose.
Out hunting and she watches
high and low.
Hungry 'Dear's.
You,
Likes him all.
Your favorite alley cat,
He stalks across your wooden kitchen floor.

He gives her fight, each blinding light
like each seizure from the past.
Her Doctor tries too hard to quell.
He is in her now.
And her panic builds,
and hunting him is like the moon
she traps inside her see through jar a bell.

I am her being and his, this much she knows as each brown finger walks across her bongo drum and more possessed
she opens up, her back door, where he tap,
tap, taps more loudly than before.
and he comes and walks across
her wooden, kitchen floor.
His kind she fought, when he was food
and now she rests upon the table,
on her elbows over there.
Her manners are now gone,
as he stands up waiting there.
Spreading yes, she wants him more across her face from ear to ear..

Her lips are sealed, her eyes are shut
and he does what she instructed,
and shuts up as he backs up.
and yes my 'Dears' while he takes,
each
major credit card, you hold.

Do you,
have hidden issues,
that you hide and then explore.
and each brown bag is heavy
and tonight you cry.
As I swell and turn too you,
and say good night.

James McLain

Each A Beast From Round The Hill

Echo'A Beast From Round The Hill;
Into damp moss,
up from the floor unseen they come.
Forebear's now in reach,
each lays spent in sleep too rich.
To await,
as dreams just recent past in heat to claim that spot.
Morning hides dawn,
no warning from the horn it blasts.
Those caverns deep,
each dripping mind and teeth white tipped.
What his really was,
she has thoughts too deep they weep her needs.
Rivers cut through fields,
lay open bare each breast that's full.
Each, beast from round the hill,
needs more like this to fill that need.
Men sleep on and on,
each beard mixed with moss inside a tree.
While bags of ballast,
leather bound grow heavy as does the moon each time.
Caves beneath the hills,
they fill and being full they grow some more.
One child for you and one for each and damp the moss it never knew.

James McLain

The Dead Know Only Truth

The dead know Only truth;
I never ask, 'You' said goodbye.
Even then, I never brought it out.
Too wander over, bye.

My body was not tied, I tried you left.
So yes,
too me each weight of shot,
inside my mind that day was great.
And like the goose that flies too low,
it never felt.
It's flesh death ate.

Though we lay in each that shadow,
of the grey.
You did not ask, I could not stay.
When they came inside that day,
I left, you went away.

PoemHunter.com

a.s.

James McLain

'Young'-Lady'

'Young'-Lady';
i can't help you there.
Blooded first,
you need to be, before.
Though i confess,
i'm moved i should not be.
i know you arrange them all just so.
such special treats,
but they have not been bloodied first.
too many complications,
there would be then.
different noises,
sounds that make it worse.
and you know,
i love too gaze above the cut.
while no one checks,
the moon for height each night.
so no, 'Young'-Lady'....
i can't help you there.
untill it's been bloodied first.

James McLain

Young And Sweet

Being Young and Sweet,
and i stood out just that much more.
Full lips and out stretched arms that
pull me out of my mind and
i not knowing why.
Saying you love me,
when it was my lack of years,
you loved instead.
Being young and sweet and full.
My tears even sweeter you ever said.
Never findind it again and all you see
is it as it was you
and you hang on too it even more now.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Milkmaid

The line..the stream is...
white and endless....
long hair...now tied back....
Sitting down one milkmaid...
wet soaked hands, explains....
Talking more...
eases a host of discomforts....
Her slim long arms.....
are sculpted and well muscled....
She trades talk...
for a soft country song...
With smooth practice....
and they love her sweet fingers....
up and down how she strokes...
squeezing out milk....

Dawn runs off morning...
hot noon mixes.. evening...
These are the hands that work magic...
udders so thick...
yet soft on firm roots...
as they wander around...
making butter....

James McLain

Pink Pearl Necklace

Pink Pearl Necklace; and heaven is this,
My island an afterthought mornings glow
and pink sands where coral waves grow.
Happy are the clams every night as pink
sand washes them in your dreams.
Under water so clear I sometimes forget
and stay to long listening to the waves
sing your pink song.
Drifting with the currents of sleep pearls of
yours pink, slip out from beneath my hand.
Filaments permeate the strings of your dreams leaving me behind on a pink pearl
necklace on this island yours made of dreams.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Think I Do It, 'Because You Like It'

i think i do it,
'because you like it'
but if i keep doing it,
you mustn't tell her why.
you are why i keep doing it.
i just do it because you let me.
and i like it.
when you like it as much as i do.
and when i do it there.
and some times,
i think you like to watch my face,
when my eyes balls.
do what you say they do,
though i am hard pressed
to believe that they do it.
just like you say they do.
and you still have to help me,
as i still dont know how to do it very long.
and when that moment comes.
and you squeeze on it a little more and,
please,
try not to make a long production out of it.
i think it is only because,
you have let me do it for so long and it seems i always have and it always will
and look at it now,
it's still doing it and i know it's
because you like it
and so i do it for you, when.
and you mustn't ever tell her why,
but i will do it one more time..

James McLain

She Fought Against His

She fought against his,
in her mind the sound of only.
Even when he slept there
sweet and fondly.
Curly hair wet with sweat,
dripping drops of dew into
a rose untill it opens up.
The pot was always full and spooned so kind the moon,
did fit just thus.
Turning over stars fall out the side.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Love-Lily-Rose-More

Love-Lily-Rose-More
and though the moon is high.
even it must come down again.
sometimes it is too hard,
pulling the rose from Lillie's lips.
and my blood burns,
no it boils even more as i watch
them open and close, always gasping.
and when i am called.
i rush out in my haste.
and Rose imparts too Lilly,
just the scent of them together.
and others do walk by.
aromatics and fooled by thier nose,
as the eyes see nothing.
and knowing this,
as i taste both even more.
while the moon has set in my hands.

d.g.r.

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

Dreaming And Milk

After the interview;
Each rider and horse,
move it off, all too quickly.
My head how it spins, around it.
As it works each day, with such beautiful hands.
None known here, can refuse it.
Here in this factory, they own it.
It are they, as they hang down, each cloud
and dawn like dew, each tip, now dripps with it.
What has it done.
What should it do.
Roles reversed, would you.
i look they say, like it.
I frown they laugh and i smile at it.
Upside down, they are all I see, and it's full with it.
They all watch it, as none can slip by it.
Explaining and swirling about, as it utters.
Looking at it, most like they, start to work.
One says it's simple mechanical, it's poetry.
Fore their arms are off and their aft of it.
All just because, they make cream from it.
Factory chatter is loud and the clamor it grows
as each machine moves,
up and down, outside all around it.
The bottles once clear, are warm when they're filled,
and the milk comes out, quickly through it.
They try Calming it down, as too many hang
down,
and around it, are those hands that confess it.
Each cow, you now know, has it's very own name,
and as Betsy stands there, don't confuse it

James McLain

Dignity In Death

death taunts you, it shouldn't but it does
right out of your reach.
reaching out too the orb
you do, too one dropp.
death struggles to watch
you as it's one milky white stands near you.
your struggle only intensifys
as you reach out
too the hardness you feel inside
but it's not.
that one milky dropp just out of your reach
and you start too a little, as one hand.
deaths assistant your shadow comes around and tightens your strap
once more and hearing you gasp.
raspy of breath death grows excited.
your shadow comes back around
and between,
your lips as you watch again it is not.
deaths shadow on the wall grows and grows.
and in between the curtain it is soft and.

James McLain

Beatifull In And Out (B.S.E.) Part 1

How would I if they were mine.
Once a month as they grew even more.
Full of you that is also me and them.
They are part of why I married you.
With each new moon comes the flow.
Sore or not, I must know.
It's best if I do it for you let me know.

How do they look and
how do they feel is the easy part.
The mirror is looking at both.
Before you put on that bra.
Arms relaxed at your side.
Look at me as I look at them both,
in the eye.
now Very, hold still so very..
Do you feel as I reach over and search.
Anything unusual,
like a change in the way your nipples look.
Any dimples or changes in the skin.

Now place your hands firmly and squarely on your hips,
tighten your chest wall muscles,
smile and now bend forward.
Watch for dimples or changes
in your skin as you wear it not I.
Remember every one's breasts look different.
And over time,
I will get to know them better
and what they both look like.

part one

James McLain

A 'Girl' And Now

Lost Girl and Now in the woods,
and that which you hug is the tree.
You can not stretch them, Full around it,
while upward and down ward amazed.
And your feet become even more entangled
under it's skirt,
as it's roots are at play with your lovely toes.

e.p.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Does Things

she does things.
some,
take a little longer.
others,
dont take long enough.
and when she,
comes to the end of it.
absentmindedly,
she rubs it around it.
and while talking and rubbing,
she does things.
and i appreciate,
all the things she does.
and i do things for her as well.
and for her it is my only pleasure.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Dark' Fruit

The power of any dark fruit.
Large purple the egg plant.
Hangs down,
over the fence within your reach.
and in your palm up and down
being tossed.
Heavy in thought, each now only is.
Being windy
and the branch that they hang from.
You know it is less, but some extra care.
One has fallen and split,
and white seeds now,
are strewn about every where.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Sad 'Porn Star'

Most are like this face, i see.
Open much too wide, how i cry.
Starting out to young, heaven was,
i know, simply i was to much too.
Beyond pleasure, even in my darkest,
sadly it is even now.
One after the other,
always so heavy and all the trees now,
i gasp out as none seem to hear me,
are many were too tall for me.
famous for what and too who,
no feelings do i have left to prove deep inside and besides,
i now cry rivers.
looking at him today and how i once thought,
between all the sets he now conveys.
he whispers to me in my ear my 'Dear, '
once i was young and sweet like you and i was.
now there are to many hands involved and it's business not pleasure that brings them all out.
and the light how it hurts my eyes and your skin
is too soft to stretch like this, play your part.
do you want to go back home too Kansas,
when we are both done.

James McLain

'Precious'

my 'Dears' luscious Precious falling stars,
tempting fate by your light on my face.
and heavy delicious moons,
i stretch on my toes too kiss.
How many comets fly past all too soon.
Laid out and hot as that ride made from nickel.
Sweet moon, may it rest there forever upon.
My purple face when it's touched it can only.
Looking up, as you gaze down, i weep in search of.
and concealed within your face is my one and only.
Deep is my 'Precious' and hidden under a window
made of clear circles,
and dusty as each crack, when blown open in sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Blue Eye Ball

If i fell behind the moon.
At least in it, i struggled.
You and your 'Knowing' it.
Air was hard to come by.
Being hidden behind it,
was not unlike,
the distance there between us.
Coming out from around it.
White covered, each purple face.
And the eye ball it moved round it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Hands

My head...
is in your hands..
and...
Moving it...
back and forth...
and...
each lap..sighs..
Deeply..and..
heavy...
and it is why...
i never ask...
and...
you never tell..
it is why more come...
too see you...
and more than you..
can hold...
and..
still i am...
full and well...
handy in them...
untill it is..
kissed and swells...
and then it talks..
too both...
and falls asleep...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Think It Is Because

if i do it,
you can't tell her why.
you are why i keep doing it.
i just do it because you let me.
and i like it.
when you like it as i do it there.
and some times,
i think you like to watch my face,
when my eyes balls.
do what you say they do, though i am hard pressed to believe that they do it.
like you say they do.
and you have to help me,
as i still dont know how to do it very long.
and when that moment comes.
you squeeze on it a little more and,
please try not to make a production out of it.
i think it is because
it always has, it always will and look at it now,
it is still doing it.
because of you.

Is It Poetry

James McLain

Clean

[i keep it clean, for i must.]
and you do as well.
[no moss] and [no beards].
it is easier too see and work with.
and as such moist sweats clean.
laid end too end.
firmly around the base.
and the rim.
each high.
laying low.
is periced with a needle.
and close to the other.
they ask for her again and agian.
why wash the sheets, she laid on.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Talk In My 'Head', So You Wont Hear Me

Corncopia smothered wine the cheese
i eat from your mouth
it matters not if i dine upon your cheeks
it lays heavy.

Of men I know nothing about, why should i
they should all go away, so i could please you
as you deserve with thick hard words.

The disclaimer.

And if i injure your parts you did) it(for love
none other has placed it
any where would i so lamidly foolishly soundithly crookidneckidly and sideways the way you like it.

Cucumbers and

large feet that fill your lips instead and too quickly
without pause or rest, all the time non stop.

i only..Pause for unheard sounds.

the test of deep time..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Just Face It

Your crazy, now I think i'm not.
Do not make me think it is poetics
suicide like all my others went before.
it is always on your mind, and i'm,
some after thought, your after birth.
You left behind to find.
It was not I who wrapped that bloody rope around your neck.
And after the medication, wears off.
So I can begin again too understand you.
I spoke once to thick lost English, and
to whom,
and now for what.
Remember when you squeeze it and it gives you all it has because it must,
your wicked smile just squeezes it for more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Scar Of Scars

Scar of Scars.
Around the cut, some are smooth.
Moist and true.
Bereft of moss or beard.
Pie faced and candy..ooh.
Every life savers.
Candy cake is brandy wine.
More, many more and edgy.
Leafy rims pink petaled.
Sharp razors, just more sweat and juicy.
Either way it's coming in,
Through the floor.
and your consciousness is expanded.
Red faced and over the clouds the moon
does look closely down,
and Scar of Scars, dropps drippy more milky.
There is only one cup from every one, some have two and being with certain preference's.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Dear' Moon

My gaze turns
towards the moon..
Pale blue light,
as I swim through it Streams of warm,
cotton faces that drift lazily through
the hot humid air.
and Once again,
i am covered.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Some Where 'Rose' Hangs

Some where hangs Rose off green stems.
Each night over there, by the stand.
Cream from the top; pink faces surround it.
Lilly comes each morning to change them.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hope Is But To Each Oasis

Hope is but to each oasis,
and tall shady palms
above
deep cool springs.

The canteen held more,
i thought
led here by faith only thirsts.

The sun each yellow ring,
needs none
basking in the hot always.

Each dawn i wake anew,
leaves my face
one shade of color closer,
too you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Come Come Again

come and come again.
and when you do.
i will be as last you saw me.
standing there.
ready too enter.
but left only to wait.
as you hurry.
open the door i say.
through the window hurry.
and you raise the bar.
hearing doors open and then slowly.
on the moss i wipe my feet.
i walk the hall.
and it is warm and cozy.
and coming in.
you come out in rush to greet me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Deep In Thought Am I

absentmindedly,
i rub my finger up and down it.
through the highs and lows and
ridged great puffy clouds.
and from the south,
is felt warm wind each petal opens.
and resistance slight when filled.
i rub it even more.
thick and frothy white caped waves.
i skip each stone across the under toe.
and still i'm heavy, deep in thought am i.
there is little too if none to hold it back.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Out Side In

Out side In was i, such i thought.
Whispers all around me, and lips.
Comparing this predicament,
too all the others, i could not.
Spinning, i was just spinning like a top.
Closer and closer to the edge, i dropped.
Lips softly nipped and soft lips nipped.
What happened next i could not guess.
Certain things were even to me, beyond them.
Then a lengthy evaluation and slumber i did,
and one thing too me was made clear, an end.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Here Is A Cut Always Full

There is a cut always full, you know and it's always.
Filled day and night and with love, must it show.
Even and being such as the tide when it turns.
So must the moon and from such heat, given up.
The plump fig full of seed as it runs wet slowly down,
and the tree from which it comes, just makes more.
Turning from what some think is ugly, i gather both up.
Ripe full breasts and gently squeezed, each is turned.
As the unborn child instinctively knows it must inherit.
There is a cut always full, you know it never will heal.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Room Of Courts 1

When you had charge of me
and you allowed me to be raped
not once or twice but so many times i lost my self
but being lost i refused to become like you.
and Where did i go from there to here
and did you not leave me lost in between.
hoping i would die..
and your lawyers ask me why...
why did i not leave...and being confused as you knew
i was, as i said because you put me there...
was that not what you wanted..to be done..
and being without hope...
is hope the black pit of time..
between life and death...
elapsed the days the months, each year that passed
in blackness such is death
untill that spark of light returned is dull and not bright.
and the lawyer unlike Solomons 'Kings' did ask.
did not hope deliver you up, unto us now.
confused again i could but ask.
but was it not without hope that you put they upon me
to keep me without faith and where was the hope
as my bones were given up to they whom you knew.
even more confused i ask..
being brought back unto you perhaps there is a misunderstanding as too why it was i endured it.

James McLain

Washed 'Our' Life Is 'Ashes'

Gone are the versions, each now has left us.
Older now, as we attach wings too those clouds.
And with each tail made of cool silky smoke, you
it was they whom made me,
and you now know they are but left over ashes
your dreams i felt move across me.
Can with twilight near-draw you in one last time.
I can't be expected to know if it's true, do you but.
The window is open and it grows so much cooler,
she thy neighbor comes in for a minute too see.
The smoke comes back and if i grow into each day
then you know it is your hand that i feel, as i grow.
But if she is you and i am he then you know i am full.
Washed out 'our' Life is but 'Ashes' i'm left out too breath.

t.c.i.(

is)

e.st.v.m.(

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

I Grow, I Grow, 'While' I Watch 'You'

i grow, i grow, While i watch you,
and for all of this time,
you have been where, i grew,
most advanced in your care
as i watched you..

i can dance, i can dace,
and you watch me,
as i dance up and down
come and share
this last dance with me
as i dance this dance,
i hold on to you,
as you hold on to me
while they watch us,
both of us laughing as we
dance the rest of our life away.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Some Where Hangs 'Rose'

Some where hangs Rose off the stem.
Each night over there, by the stand.
Cream from the top; sweet face around it.
While Lilly comes in each morning too replace it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Dear' If I Could

'Dear',
if i could..
and also i would...
knowing your tired...
and still if i could....
i would...
kiss the moon..
each day...
and i should..
and the other side...
as well...
some say it's dark...
but it's not...
and lifted up...
in each hand...
each cupped as it should...
try and relax...
and 'Dear'...
i know that you can..
try too relax..
and open the sky...
for a chance at the clouds and...
'Dear' if i could and i can..
so i will...as i should..
just lay back and relax....
and i will...
close your eyes...
and hang on..
one more time..
'Dear'....
i have no conscience...
when it comes...
to the stars...
as they all fall..
from the moons..away....

James McLain

A 'Limb' And It's 'Leaves'

Smooth it's too,
but well weathered.
and manners, Many are seen,
green shoots all around it.
A limb sits in the middle of the tree.
Laying on beds of soft leaves,
I sweep up.
Lazy such one small limb,
just by the wind there above me.
Effortlessly, I've gathered
how and know, why it's polished.
They're, moved up and down
each day and night too caress it.
I think it's just friction
and come bye the morrow.
I'll ask my teacher, if this is not,
how it all works.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Yahweh And Allah And The Rabbi

From the Muslim side of the door,
have we yet heard it all.
Woman and children flat on their backs,
looking up dead at the sky.
While daddy the terrorist needs more water boarding as tears fall as rain muted down.
How much is believed as knives cut fast away
at their soft parts....
From the Cristian side it is better believed,
when it is done and cloaked in lost tongues.
Warmed then it's hot,
mixed with but a few ice cold daggers.
Video cameras on and unjustly confessed comes
the noose round ones shocked neck.
While Yahweh and Allah consort in the book
that lawyers made thick for looks.
While the Rabbi looks on and supervising more land,
when it's found it spreads it's wings and flies away.
The Gods seem the same as reason goes, is choice
a dictator that kills them all for children to sort out.

James McLain

As The Door Slams Shut

As the door slammed shut;
All I could think was,
I had your ears checked dozens of times.
You could read, your eye sight was fine.
You were not raised,
with some false sense of entitlement,
like so many others since have.
No evidence of fire starting or
the harming of animals.
We have many photos of you doing,
manifesting behavior well within normal.
You had what you needed and much,
much more
while many others had much less.
Some little problems with sharing.
Why was learning so painfully.
Obviously learning from others was not.
As the door slams shut.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poo For All

Out side of school and never we have.
Each day, down by the ole mill stream.
i come today too dream.
Separately and never together,
we have always come this way.
She comes first, then i shortly after.
It was for such an emergency,
every has it's beginning.
One was left thus in the grass, by the stream.
Rose always colored deep, my bandanas.
Each day never meeting, i would hear her sing.
oohhh my 'dear' what has gotten into you now.
Sweet release and a hard fought sigh.
As latter i gathered the rose colored hanky and placed it with the rest and each pile how it grew.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Behind One Cloud

Behind one cloud lies a sleepy face
bleeding love and it wakes hungry;
and the moon is positioned delicately,
overhead as it shines and it beams.

Standing below I'm looking up at the moon, patient and still I trust wonder;
while one limb over there,
creeps up through the moss and the wind pushes the limb up through it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rockabye

and it sounds soothing..
if i could sleep..
and you would work..
as if a bee..
and squeeze each stone
untill it weeps..
one dropp more..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Bucket

I can't help but to grow even a little more so.
As I watch her.
Walking up the hill.
And well, she struggles.
The leather bucket was passed down,
before hand too hand.
To each when it was last full and quite heavy.
Coming down now through the middle on top of her head, is a different challenge.
Each hand holds the bucket.
Her waist is as thin as a reed.
She wastes none I can see, on the ground.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bottom Of The Hill

The bottom Of the hill,
and you have dreams for him.
Greatness requires some vision.
The rest is instinctiveness.
Safe and secure, it is full of emotion.
I see the moon and you there around it.
Coming down from white cloud tops.
Soft is the landing.
There now too rest
At the bottom Of the hill.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Males Prostate Is 'Her' Business Too

The prostate gland plays a major role both in a males reproductive capacity and his ability to enjoy making you.

Little wonder then that this organ has been called the little walnut or the,

“male G-spot” or the 'male uterus.'

We are some times referred to as cows as well.

Knowing the right way to stimulate it can bring intense lightning and thunder. And because some studies suggest that making lightning and thunder regularly can prevent most prostate disorders, more and more males are finding it to their benefit to indulge in self prostate milking, or checking for irregularities 'cancer' yes males get it too.

The prostate gland is responsible for producing so much gosh, that milky liquid that carries little yous coming from the heavens and out for more gosh during lightning and thunder. While lightning and thunder do their part in relieving the prostate of its load of yous, there are times when a dudette is unavailable or the dude wants to try something other than regular jogging up and down the street for a change. Here is where self prostate milking comes in too play, it's a game.

How does one go about doing this, especially if it's the first time?

One of the things a male should overcome is the unease that he may feel at having some other Peirce through too his moon.

Some males wonder whether they have latent gay feelings if they indulge in this kind of activity.

But this isn't so; all males can engage in self prostate milking whatever their sexual orientation.

Another concern is that the moon is “dirty” or “unclean” because it is where bad breath comes from.

Again, this is a misconception.

In fact, the mouth harbors more bacteria

than any other part of the body.
Still, i love it when you talk too me dirty.

However,
some males report that while they do not achieve lightning and thunder when milking their prostate glands, the level of pleasure they feel is still very nearly memorable
as to that of being born again.
The milk trickles out or flows into a pool even though there's no volcanic eruptions,
in terms of how that word is often used in a midsummer's nights dream.
Instead, one feels a deep sense of 'Emptiness;
it has been compared to a very good bowel movement – only a hundred times more or less complicated.

You should be aware that there are studies indicating that certain males
who jog up and down the street alone
or have volcanic eruptions regularly
have lower incidences of prostate inflammation,
prostate cancer, and or prostate enlargement.
Given this evidence,
self prostate milking seems to be a safer way too go,
convenient, and inexpensive way to make sure that one's libido and prostate health are in optimum condition.

and you don't need too die of cancer or have your needful things cut out prematurely.

Self checking should not be embarrassing,
Nor should you be dieing for
not doing it a little more aggressively.
and if not for you, then do it for 'her'..

.....after all she is...

....the reason..

that you are here and she is your other you.

James McLain

The Old Lion

And the grass is tall,
so much so as he lays in wait for you.
Metaphors now are but birds fat and juicy.
That can not be caught.
His mane so long now it trips him up as he walks.
And you bring him parts of each bloody kill.
Remembering,
thus it was such as he returned, thinking for you.
A few years earlier,
and that hyenas ugly bone crushing laugh.
You excavated.
Laying down beside him, full each night.
The moon is high and full as he gets older, it she helps.
Entering sleep with out all that fuss, she is cooler.
Far is each day and it's burning hot sun, shining down.
Deep in sleep,
she gets back up and melts into some tall golden grass.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Did Not Mind That You Never Bathed

I tried to kiss your feet
before they could touch
the ground. I let you do as you would, I do not kiss
you, as much as I should.
The bed you share with me
has not smelled the same since you died, two years
ago this coming, spring.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Left Over Kisses

Between the line of mouth
on her such lips desire with sweet designs
a chance to feel soft loves tender kiss
upon my palm
heaven passes into her petaled rosy gate
to sate the passioned fire inside my heart too holds out my lips I place upon her face her cheek her nose her lips sweet god
the taste those lips
I loose control these lips my soul
she has undone
my left over kisses in a bag she does take home.
and left at the gate he goes barging in.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fate Directed

The head of the ant rolled
all the way to your foot.
What to do, what to do.
I cried to your other friend
the queen awaits some action now it seems.
We put the head of our friend in the mouth of a hungry baby bird and went on out to play.
Was it the right thing to do?
No! but it saved us an hour and a half.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Leftovers

That which drips over the moon,
can not be any thing other than what it is.
Is it why so many hours are wasted trying too metaphorically.
Still you think about you, about it,
and you know each comet released, is as new
and fresh as the asparagus that you grew.
While he never wasted much time,
trying to grow cherry trees in the south,
where the weather
is simply too inclement.
Being that which it is, fresh snow can wash it off.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Solitary Confinement

Being from some place,
other than here.
It may come across too you as different.
I am totally enclosed,
with only my head hanging out.
It came first, and it's warm.
When you come to visit.
It feels similar to,
what you will feel, when I come out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Want 'Too Die' A Simple Death

i want too die a simple death;
still i can not but tell..
battle field or hospital...
and when again i look..
so very deep
within your eyes..
it could be that it's just that.... i will only die again...
But even as you labor..
and i labor U.S. as one...
as once we did..
so long ago...
i know that in my illness..
i have thus become..
to one fatter and to some...
i have become...
low not greater in tumescence..
and you know it.. always and..  PoemHunter.com
how it comes..
with age and thus..
and do we reminisce of this..
and how you...
have changed..
grey that bandage..
and with each gentle squeeze...
and as you watch me...
now so yellow, white...
i jerk
and jerk...
and i convulse again...
and i am so very still...
and you squeezed...
untill you...
were absolutely sure...
that i, remained still...
and at rest and i am and..
i dont want too die like this...
and would you...

allow it too be...
if it were you...held off defiant...
while your hands... did other things as well..and..
each one brings me back..
from the edge...
each time...
too face my fate alone..
and you know with...
each suprised look..
that shoots..
so high and wide...
across your face..
and with each bright sun...
drawn out warm...
briefly..so briefly...
and that long stream....
as it finaly squirts...
and why it grows...
so much harder...
as you watch..
whats...
left of my life...
as it runs...
out between your fingers..
and it rushes...
towards the center...
and you hold on..
and on..
untill...that...
bright light..
and finaly when it dawns...
on her..
just what it is I have become...

James McLain

Emo 'soft' Or Hard

Emo are you 'Soft' or Hard.
When you see your self as such.
When again you do it next.
Upon it you are like the rest.
Spinning around except for the ring.
All the rings.
The dark side of the moon.
Up untill now,
unseen the crack all search for.
When upon that stainless steel table.
Each cut will be too the bone.
Split and exposed for all to see and know.
Some are not like the rest.
They live for your final moment.
And they are hard, so hard and the few
that are soft,
if you could but see their face.
Your ask why the moss is cold and brown.
Wait untill you are called.
Naked into the night.

James McLain

An Almost Made Up Mind

Each time you came back.
Knowing each was just one fondness.
You easily twisted it against my heart.
As if it's some piece
of tight hemp rope that holds your boat
apart safely off, from the bank.
Down at the moving river.
Time continues to move past me.
Perhaps I was thinking why each time
it takes a few minutes longer.
Leading up quickly too this moment.
Soon I will fetch each hour and not unlike
the minutes perspiration is but rain.
Counting drops as if there seconds.

c.b.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

On My Nose A Rose

On My Nose Has Worn A Rose.
Each petal too it's heart.
Looking for the sun, it sits alone.
Until it comes to near the moon again.
Night time tears have found it out.
Around it's stem it moves.
Would each bud have known it then.
About some other plan.
The nose is such a one way prick.
One heart, each petal has too bear.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Emerald Eyes

and even knowing
they are but words on a page.
still,
she must be filled with more than is customary.
familial and similar.
'EYES, bright as emeralds gaze up with fire.
and the moon cracks even wider.
with such a fullness that even the stars blink twice.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Debt's Relief

Debt's Relief,
How much, how long.
How Far.
Can each swallow fly.
Deeply held my interest in you.

Released to you, each note.
And a melody made new.
The swallow flies to high.
Becoming lighter than air.
More than that, it grew.

s.t.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pink Pearl Necklace.

Pink Pearl Necklace; and heaven is this.
My island an afterthought mornings glow,
and pink sands there coral waves grow.
Happy are the oysters every night as pink
sand washes over them in your dreams.
Under water so clear I sometimes forget
and stay to long listening to the waves as they sing your pink song.
Drifting with the currents of sleep pearls of
yours pink, slip off from beneath your neck.
Filaments permeate the strings of your
dreams leaving me behind on a pink pearl
necklace on this island you float on made of dreams.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Contortions

Why; do you move thus so.
contortions, i see how they grow.
is it painful each moon that glows.
outside of a cloud that peeks.
why do you move thus so.
is the grass to long too mow.
over the edge a long faint hedge.
wedges of soft cotton song lightly that swing over each valley too long.
why do you move thus so.
contortions, i see how they grow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

How Can I Refuse

Wave after wave, you hear it come.
Each with their glow and unique.
God under her feet so many are sent.
Too Many round trips, most will buy.
Thistle is plucked and rivers of thistle inside.
Desire rides on wave after wave un reserved.
Moving around it is pulled and it runs away.
Again I hide my face in you, once again.
I would never refuse the moon and each soft hand, full white that shines, if it I knew.
I will always stand before you and when I do.
Younger is my brother, your sister, I won't refuse.
Then patiently you wait and you know, I will come again.

O.W.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why Do I Ache

why do i ache.
can you tell me.
and i do when you gently.
i ache.
and knowing this gently, you do.
and even in sleep.
some how, when you gently, i move.
when you softly and gently, i ache.
and behind my eyes, i sleep.
watching the swans, i do.
i ache, watching one neck,
as it gracefully bends.
you do and gently, so gently.
and i in my sleep you state.
and rolling so gently with you, i do.
and i ache across waves, i'm blue.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Push And Pull

You pull me in through the door...
hardly Asleep i..watch..you..
as i push you off...again...
Deep and each one shallow..
i time them..each one..and..
like a whale..
the hole opens wide..
The middle..the top..
sucked in by your next..
breath...
I push..you pull..hardly asleep..
through the back door..
and out the front....
I watch them both..
while you sleep..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hedge Hog

Behind the hedges sleeps a hog;
Vocal as it tries to communicate.
The eyes ingorged and red.
Hidden under a cloud of dirt, it sleeps.
Beneeth the moon and round the cave.
It's other one.
Puffy the hood comes out and up it blinks.
Is it afraid of you and puffing more it swells.
As It backs in and out of it's deep hole.
Pushing monds of dirt around.
Lunging forth with all it's spines erect.
And liking you too it foams at the mouth.
Flirting; and it is you Self - Anointed.
Being diurnal your hedgehog is.
Still just your pet and alive in it.
Behind the hedges sleeps a hog.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Public Service

The call comes late at night.
From the previous,
engagements before i have set.
Restrooms and Wireless;
Color button video camera,
with audio + palm size i monitor.
i came to this knowledge hereof;
Such a face and how it became,
deep lined and thus immortalized.
After the hanky is done, it is then.
I know now, that i am forever free.
It Feeds on more than our dreams,
and too the public,
they bring their trough.
it is one mighty fight song
and glottis,
with too how high and low it can sing.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

November Came

November Came at Last;
Leaves turn to dance their dance.
Moving off each limb, began that fall.
Hearing night before it came, strayed winters snow.
Over head against the sun and off they fly.
While 'Geese fly through the clouds.
Through each leaf again was I, for you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fields Of Coffee Beans

Cups of coffee beans;
Like the woman that I'm not.
Like every other tree, to know her hand.
Is where I stand.
Both drink coffee free and pay the cost.
Am I supposed to be afraid.
Some over reached and can't put back.
Christian and each Muslim and or theorists.
and Terrorists like beans,
when ripe who picked, to know I'm not, I don't.
Bombs fall like little beans from the sky.
I am American, I think I am.
When I think one's not, You are.
When last you checked, I checked you not.
When is it war, when it is not.
All our lives.
These beans you could have mixed with sugar.
Instead you grind them up.
I watch her as she picks one up, I dropped.
I dropp another,
it is just a game we play with each other.
She dropps two more out back, in front one grows.
My beans grow bitter and do they Roast your hand.

James McLain

Each 'Diary' Returned

Each 'Diary' Returned never knowing.
Shredding my day a 'Diary's' prayers unanswered.
Each day one less longer but your eyes repeat them.
You see our eyes Crossed paths-I look into them, As.
Lips parting and words hang unsaid,
Returned never knowing, my tounge was divided.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Boys' And 'Girls'

'Boys' and 'Girls'
One grows moss.
And one a beard.
Both keeping pace.
Clamor to be heard.

What you say.
Is what both hear.
And what they said;
Is not exactly what I heard.
Who can ever say.
It stays that way.

Trimnings traced.
One swan in lace.
From the bottom;
looking up and why.
Two fish swim by.

Prairies vast and wide.
Tall stand the Cotton trees.
Paired off and pears.
Dry Creek beds, rain swells.
Warily kept out of reach.
One Circles about the other.

Hid real well, in moss he sits.
She wanders through the trees.
Gorgeous being plain too their.
And growing up, both did.
From 'Boys' and 'Girls'.
Making since of it they choose.

James McLain

'Interrogatories' Play With Dawn

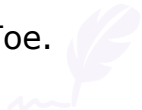

'Interrogatories' Play With Dawn;
Attempting one broad stroke across the sky.
My pen leaks ink too find a word.
As early blue jays allocate.
My neighbors hands they are hers.
Green 'Gardens' full with worms.
An allegation she denies.
The sun shines down in song.
In my elocution and she does, with her, I sing.
One robin chides a mocking bird with song.
Finches long to warm, hop vine too vine.
Humming birds appear with honey they suckle.
Blue and very lean as they fly past, never full.
This picture has a daisy, bright and yellow.
Each petal, like each path, each flies along.
Brown and gold are all it's sunny windows scented.
Private sorrows and my distance, I can't keep.
My body drifts off early now between light wings.
Behind each wall a garden, birds and blossoms.

James McLain

Every Shoe 'You' Wear

More than some infatuation.
Dancing around the room.
Out side our door.
Where every body knows
i have no key.
While every shoe and of it's many well intentioned
hearts, it points too others.
Lovely faces all sit down.
Waits on word from my new,
'Boss'.
Too pick a side.
Mean while i stay put and
very quite.
Can i trust each finger, on each
hand.
As they dance around a form,
from.
Toe too Toe.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Quiver Full'

One 'Quiver Full' I Reach;
For each long bamboo shaft.
Green, straight and true.
I turn and hand them off.
With more too come, in life.
Without her lost, i am.
she is my partner.
Unlike some others that I've, had.
She knows the distance from the shaft
and where the tips, appear too go.
Soft and deep of polished leather
that he keeps upon her back.
Three laird, is her heart.
She seeps the arrows, water barrels
neat in rows.
Then fills the quiver and it's full and it can't quiver any more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Eyes, 'I' See 'You' Suddenly

Your Eyes, 'I' see 'You' Suddenly
you come,
where ever i have gone.
and it is over due and long.
we speak too briefly.
and your gone.
you mattered, how i felt too you.
and deep inside.
you pierced my heart.
your eyes you say i study.
and both sides each star struck hour measured, minutes add each second
by the gallon.
when our life is just a bucket that we fill.
i have trust and i have ever mixed my,
treasure there out back inside with yours.

you can wear my pants out side now.
and silk is but a shirt with, one less tie
without a bra, that both can wear.
and even now more steadied hands
i have not found.

James McLain

Since, 'You' Went Away

Since, 'You' Went Away;
Neath the trees and green grass.
She has come to grow in ways,
and looking down, you know.
Where do I go, off away to look.
Rainbows and each color, how they blend,
and warm her eye now burns.
Too whom and what some other she.
I know where not too turn.
The creek has grown into a stream.
And when I look into each hand.
Both are now so full.
Too whom and what some other she.
That stream is now a roaring river,
and deep one gorge,
Your passion grows as mine, I daily see.
Since, 'You' Went Away.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lactation A Drop

From one nipple it is a sign.
From two it is an Omen.
A single dropp can be.
Smeared.
Mere lactation.
Squeezed, more is it's yield.
Sensitive and normal.
Each dropp flows.
Exquisitely, most breasts are.
Formula is big business.
Unemployed and underfed.
Art may one day become extinct.
But white, clear, or milky liquid.
Fluid,
is expressible.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Neurotic Blink, You Think

Each neurotic Blink, you think;
Encouragement it needs a little more.
Too pull it much, much quicker to the top.
Your doctor knows how you deeply, very much.
And in sleep the windows open,
even wider, as it drifts by.
Do you cross one leg around it's
other,
while the other fights off 'Group' therapy.
or Are they mostly open,
like four corners of your mind.
Each dropp of sweat and how it builds.
Coming out of each those many hollow
heavy hand made doors.
and it Falls Off like yellow dust,
each one seed a tiny pearl.
and why it's nose it knows,
your breath and how each kiss it must redefine.
To a host of hospitable southern ways,
it will you know, turn out all right if it finds out
you did.

Are you blank,
Do you stare off outside this windows,
broad light, there at some tree.
The noises that you make,
are you afraid that he wont, my 'dear', he can.
The rumble that it makes, out back.
They make you shake, he thinks you know
and this is where your now at.
Do the questions that I ask,
all end there, bound up in why.
I will always suspect that as a child, and I assume
you said you were, just, all a little, 'Dears'.
Then he probes a little deeper, does he not.
Have you forgot.
now Close your legs,
and get it up and pull it out, and mosey off and,
hurry up and pull them on,

Your sessions at it's end

It seems so clear that all the money you have brought is now all gone.

Your mind seems now fine, call a cab.

James McLain

Each Cat Of Many 'Paws'

Each cat Of many paws,
each dripping claw.
Spots and stripes, are left behind,
padding off without a care.
Black and white the zebra does it know,
or even care.
It's foal it cries to share, she hides it where.
Amongst savannas thick green trees and grass.
The lion roars and round each neck she cracks.
This her once his graven act I see a pupil, asking why,
or just a simple need, her craving sport is unexplored.
Can the Tiger eat brown moss upon each bed and all of where my 'dear's' have lain.
Where blooded from I came and in her nights I bide.
Fish that swim with books and minds I use as bait.
Can each early bird you see outside, keep up with all the worms we try to hide, where none can find.
and the 'Lion' sleeps with mice, not sheep, nor men.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Woman

Woman free and wild
and some a few degrees.
Above the rest.
Breasts that touch the sky,
hair that flies.
Eyes as blue as ice.
Almond brown, emerald green.
The moon,
I kiss it only, in my dreams.
Beauty coiled like a spring,
never kept inside too die.
Roses wink and Lillie's grow,
side by side.
Juicy as each grape, her mind
a vine that knows the burning sun.
Sheds off skin that clothing and
no sin, when she walks bye.
The mirror never breaks, it never calls.
Unmolested wild such beauty.
When it walks, When it talks,
it should be left the way it was.
The way it is,
Representing woman.
Just allowed to stay that way.
Always free.
Unconfined, Born refined.
Cool as ice, Hot as fire.
Every woman is defined,
by how she walks and how she smiles.
And how she builds you up, it is her life
and never,
would she ever put a woman down.

James McLain

Holly Wood And Vine

My three pink babies and their lips must I.
Pink limousines it's full, plus one more.
No guy would ride inside they said, but I.
The glass between the drivers bullet proof
the drapes are pulled, as she jets off.
Across the isle.
The others lollies are so plush, I push her up right through the roof, she moons at all.
My palm is flush,
one digits stuck she does not seem too mind,
and does it once again and spins on it around.
Screaming is all sound, We grow in waves.
The others changing cloths she brought and
nothing stays the same and such as we are hot.
Her panties off and pink as well they seem too me,
so clean and clear and without fear, they seem to
float off down and drift above the floor.
Pink so ripe it fill the air and bottles lay around
the floor and some with corks to pull.
The others swell they were, but now they popped.
Holly wood and Vine, it hits each spot the night
is young, but so are we.
I look across the isle and wonder why there's four
instead of three and we are ripe and full of life.

James McLain

Awake I'M Washed In Sleep

Awake, I'm washed in sleep.
Don't run away, beside that bridge.
Bright yellow, streaks dawns sky.
High and warm, it shines down again.

Night and day they came,
life danced away.
Across that star light milky,
came most days.
A comet flies around,
it's tail to reach the moon.
Behind the dark face of the moon,
waits for me again in sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Trot Ts

Am I wicked.
You know I'm why.
Between rich lines,
and purple skies.
Wicked judge,
you taught, me lots.
They are words,
that run each color,
off the page.
So help me 'God'.
Each time I hear,
them.
I get more than runny trot ts.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Check The Bag

Crazy; and so what is all this you call crazy.
Just because he lactates for your cause.
At least you know he can not ever fake it.
And always there you are, you always take it.
Ever not ever, not even once, never in your life.
Do you ever think about that even once, you know
and he lactates for your cause, more than once.
More than once is twice you checked the bag.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Neurotic Tics That Wink

Neurotic tics that wink;
Encouragement it needs.
Too push it even deeper to the top.
Your doctor knows how much.
And in sleep the window opens,
even wider.
Do you cross your legs in therapy.
Are they open wide.
Do you stare outside his window,
at some tree.
The noises that you make, does he hear.
Do the questions that he asks all end in why.
He will always suspect that as a child you were.
Then he probes a little deeper does he not.
Close your legs now get it up and walk right out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

.....'Any Thing That Cost You Nothing'

'Any Thing' that cost you nothing;
Where paused each try, all pass me bye.
Through my window -pane left hope and faith,
it stops against each face I see, to watch me.
My blue tipped fingers dropp my dear's, from me
and cold.
Each petal leaves I hope it knows each Rose
and Lilly paused because, they do such things.

It cost you nothing,
it cost me too, you still look through, can I.
One beggered soul knows nothing,
and every thing you do.
It cost you nothing.
My heart is nothing, but an empty shell of you.
It costs you nothing.

PoemHunter.com

s.t.

James McLain

I Had Once A Care

Each night was long, I never had enough
Each hill you pushed me up led down to you;
Each day the yellow sun came up again
Each cloud I touch, you turn I kiss each eye.

I once had care and loved you very much and both have left there, a mark inside of me.
Was it not enough you found me, even though.
and beating hard, I hear your heart, it leaves.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sugar Mom-Ma

Sugar Mom-Ma Where are You Now;
Soon I must let go too dig my grave.
If you don't come real soon.
You have money, I have seen your gold.
I have seen it go, forever green, forever green
and you have never seemed so kind too me.
There is Nothing that I have,
and you could make it better, my whole world.
My Sugar Mom-ma, I must can I, hold those globes,
both apples and a peach moist raisin is your sun.
I would lift each one and bath it every night.
Sipping wine too doze you would then know,
It is my pleasure after and I would.
While I buff each moon so pale it shines,
and you would never wake in time too find it deep and true.
I should know as I move deftly round your smile.
After each massage I give each part is Once inside.
Cucumbers for your eye balls, sliced real thick and I.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Marrying The Whore

Marrying the Whore; and did I
and did you, did we partake of both.
Why do I choke,
Look down below me I grow some more.
My ignorance was then made of snow.
Innocence in tow, she still owns.

Pastures hands, did he know, how each shook.
Every week in his church, all those looks.

Stark contrast and relief every time
I pulled out, loud alarms by the bed
stood quite still and never like me, would go off.

No amount of fish could I catch dare erase
the smell from my tounge and taste from my nose.

Who taught that five fingered sloth with those claws,
moving too slow up and down that tree, it's art.

But as the moon each night made head way
and I never knew not too ask of her why,
I being simple as her wanton suckled child.
That each dropp that oozed out from both tips
of each breasts,
helped only too gather more clouds in my mind.

a.s.

James McLain

Over And Over And Over

You talk about I love it coming back and when it ever, never should it must.
That rage within, upon my brow it grows.
From each vow I gave, you threw them back.
Stronger now and makes your, why my curse.

The look unlike sweet lotus black astride it
sits here wide across my stark and moody face.
It once, it was each mask I wore for you, for all.
A flower white so bright and tall so neat and trim.
I, my need for bars of silver trim,
each word you spoke was gold my bed, I loved.

My mind, your voice, my love, your hate mistrust
my tree, your deepest need, I have to cut you off.
The magic blood deep rivers flowed you watched.
With your greedy eyes, I made it grow for you,
deep inside to show my love, and long my dark regrets.
I planted seeds and grew some heady weeds, I read.

James McLain

Setting Suns

Setting Suns; and with one well worn, i wash in a cloth.
i open too close both eyes.
and with how my lovingly now
it's seen off and held gentled.
as it spills over
and into it's good that night.
and where once each hand
there it held
all too often enough the last drop.
and i paint both halves,
as i stand too reach for the moon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Dropp Of Rain

i am tired and it rains i am thirsty.
and we are as we are, it is an art
and i know it is tart.
and as my fever subsides you rest.
and you do your very best
on your haunches right over me.
and the rain runs too cool down
the small of your back.
through a small crack in the moon.
i am tired and it rains i am thirsty.
and each dropp of rain seems tart.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Chasing Blue Marbles

Chasing blue marbles;
and while I was,
you learned how it was that i played.
and you too there all about me.
i found what you needed to say.
Each round blue globe holds blue eyes,
here in my world, there to guide you.
Wound snugly and tightly about me.
Each one,
is a new found, small circle of friends.
and this orb's ever blue there without you..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bottom Halves

Bottom Halves,
are never like the top halves.
and as i wander into that wall
again and again.
and some times you help me out.
Always you ask me and always i reply,
i see your lips moving honestly, i do
my Dears,
but nothing is supposed too pop out.
i am disabled by this ring that i wear,
and i do as you did before.
and do you not know this by now.
even half of the bottom that i wear
leaves you more at the top.
and when you push down the bottom
half on me,
it's your top that makes me think.
and the more that i think the more each half sounds the same my Dears.

James McLain

The County Seat

Powerless; and deep inside
and that which is, I covet it too parts.
You open up,
too hide it out some more.
What brought about,
such full cups, your power
and control as if it was before.
The bee flies as if it's drunk and dropping off the other sides thin edge.
Upside down on it's back, it's wings
splayed out,
stuck in all the honey it once made.
and up the path the milk maid comes each buckets full
her hair pulled back, those hands.
and great limbs hang down from old great oaks,
there beards now sweep the ground.
and up the hill and winding round
sits one reason,
that each season, ever comes at all.

James McLain

Vision And Drive

Take his real height; it has gone fair, it is zeal.
The zest that you feel, when it's fall comes spring again.
As the green leaf through the bright sun light shines down and you see each hand is full.
Each blue vein wrapped around.
I am you too the tree and the limb and fine moss,
just each breeze that you touch too move across each hair.
Each shadow you sooth, Each moment it flickers off.
Against each wide wall of white you paint them all.
She has left you and I thought too you walk off right.
With vision and drive laid small prophecy,
if but for a moment of life it gives up all,
just too start it all off and the bottoms of clouds
comes the yellow peaked sun once again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moving Water, Waits Too Long..(1

Beside me is still some water; and besides some one I lay,
it's running off each stone, each trickle how it always flows.
Funny how time lets dreams float often up away, down a little stream, the forest moves each tree, in a little closer.
Soft splashes cover water those white cups of serendipity,
and it defines each our wanting, something more exciting.
And resting inside each hollow shaped yours too wish I am, and still too heavy large, I hold my breath, while you walk by.
You stop, and bending down and hold out all imagination
and wanting it so fresh, you shape half a moon around it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Red Lips, Pink Lips, Black Lips

Red Lips, are one plan
and the fires they light
burn too hot..Pink lips,
cause me too shiver.
When seen through transparent windows,
and coiled and fresh
like the oyster, they are.
And black lips shake me
too my core,
and say things, that i need
you to hear me say.
Front or back, in between
they all set me up.
And they move me like rain
back and forth.
The tounge brings me down
and your hand brings me up
from my knees.
That privilege of full lips is not lost on me,
it's a simple matter of my pride.

James McLain

A Secrets Hold

A secrets hold.....
is Obsessed for being held....
Lines...are often split...
One holds.. two open sides...
To better....hold inside...
Both each other...part...

Death..is not afraid..
To...pull it out...
Holding secrets...
Was the secret...never held...

e.d.

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

I Awake Too Sleep

Asleep I wake, between the stones.
I hear a windows, silent sneeze.
Deep inside the woods, I hide tonight.
Long shadows, of that tree, it whispers out.

Each limb moves leaves, I live apart.
Soft moon it wanes between the moss.
The kiss of rain, each blade of grass,
drips softly down the middle of each pass.
Sleep so quite, It knows, my need I change.
While I sleep, she comes and drinks again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Some Of The Children, I See

Some of the children, I see;
Driving bye,
Where did they come from.
Sitting at the light, one arrives.
Mothers on the phone,
and trying to get home once again.
Where did he learn that, on what cartoon.
Not even a family guy,
could do such a thing as that.
Pulling out big boogers, and offering them
as candy to his small trusting sister.
With big puppy eyes she accepts his offer.
My hand on the horn, comes back up.
What would I say, what if she stopped.
Some of the children, I see;
Where is it now that they come from.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Fountain Blu

i come too with the mist
and deep in the night
i arrive you are there and i wait as you sit
and the water is quite
so i listen too your heart
as a well full and pale floats around your face
while the moon shines down through the leaves of the tree
by the fountain we made
we know it is blu not a blur.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Lesson

Can even my one lesson,
Taught by you be different again.
Over and over a green board of white chalk.
Words once small,
even again as we speak ever too me,
seem so large.
Head stones I glimpse,
like the stumps of old teeth.
I seek the same thing out, even now as a child.
The date on the stone that very first date,
that I so young, sought out.
when were they born, how long did they stay,
have they come back to teach.
What did they say.
and here now again, am I beyond reach
and now once again they are gone.

m.a.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Fantasy

Asleep I wake, I'm not alone.
I hear a windows, silent breeze.
Deep inside the woods tonight.
I feel long shadows, of that tree.

Each limbs move leaves apart.
Moon shines between the moss.
The kiss of rain drops softly down.
Sleep is so quite that it sits up,
will she come again, while I wait.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And I Too Danced In Freedom

Some times when i can walk,
i hear them dance and they still talk
and i danced for your freedom,
and some wonder if i, am old
and weary torn and hearts of gold.

Some have danced with others,
and fell beside there brother,
sister how you know,
Two can dance that one last dance,
which one leaves to take i pray, amen.

Quite walks, and how i quake each night,
and this is how my youth, i spent too grow
and i,
danced with freedom please, sweet sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Glory Hole You Hide

Each glory hole and you Hide from them.
When one comes out, another one comes in.
The room is dark, I have been told and I am cold
how long that line that never ends, you just began.
Millions use them come again some must use the loo.
Why you come around again my friend, too spin against, not I.
Though the psephology is plain upon each face is new inside I see,
it makes so many come, while others simply plea.
Each ballots counted then recounted then once more again.
The glazed look upon each face, is just my right, I left before.
I do not know how some can ever do it, never touching the round sides but still they do and I'm amazed at all, I came.
I think when next I go to cast my vote, on my 35 m.m.
I'll simply use your name and hide your shame.
It was much to dark for me too see you drinking from those straws that seem too litter half of town.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

From Milk Too Dreams

This line this dream is endless, long hair now tied back.
Sitting down, one milkmaid...with wet hands, explains.
Talking more, helps to ease, some of there discomfort.
Her slim long arms are sculpted and well muscled.
She sings sweet songs, long slim fingers, strong practiced hands.
With rivers flowing and like love when it's full are her strokes.
Dawn runs off morning, hot noon mixes full with each evening.
These are the hands that work, magic on udders thick as roots as they wander around up and down, for all making butter.
Seven days a week with six children too feed, while her man does hard time and is forced too keep her back against the fence.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

He Leans Against Her Pull

Would you complicate,
it's simple mind to speak not, ever more?
Would you tell it, that you love it,
when it's dimpled world you held outside your hands
was made for more than that, yet still within your world it placed on top..of hers and hers, the top was his and now it's hers against to spin.
Would you love it, never speak harsh words, as it washes
all those feet and toes so clean..just too hear?
Would you tell it, you cannot understand a single limb
each leaf you make appear, each word, you hear?
Would it simplify,
it's simple world,
if it released it all in rivers deep inside the warmth you feel is all it's pain.
it' swells too know you squeezed it's world of all it's fear..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Live In Your Hour

I Would Live in Your Hour As Well;
Bound by sand as it washes clean between my toes,
The waves;
move me some where up and down inside a little deeper.
Deeper held upon I stand above those sandy shores.
The sea within I think and deep, I Am I float a little closer.
Over drawn and while you watch them drift apart do we.
Water rushes in between the grass new foam has covered.
Held together, once it comes apart, against those rocks.
Salt and spray the sea again each day and night, reclaims.
Both become in some small part,
I turn each blade of grass, each grain of sand,
the wind returns as water moves my toes through sand again..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Other Woman

Here is All your 'world' I think of some
When it spins round-
your world is mine,
within each side you teach,
You made it softer
and my hat,
I tip too you, because you knew, so few.

When other woman look at me,
I see their feelings deep in me-
Most ran to cities stop and cry.
Though few now dare to stop
and put aside there tears.
and step,
Past memories of what her,
once his was,
and Plath again walks bye.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Business Done, In The Tub

Business is Naked In The Tub;
With the Water running Warm,
with both lids up on the loo.
Real Estate is more than that rush.
As she digs in and talks and slings
golden hash and it's lumpy at times.
I never saw this type of business done,
even being married as long as i was.
It was always distracting to me, watching those fingers disappear and the nails
at the ends could cut steak by themselves.
It was always amazing and thus distracting to me,
and she slung it like hash and seldom missed.
She was always doing things that increased
my awareness of things around her,
I always watched each new customers eyes
as she receives compliments for her nails.
Now when i see people, i think of what it is that most people do and i know that most people are even more capable of doing at least some small measure buisness.

James McLain

The Ladle

With each thrust;
The Knife
Along one broad edge.
Bent upward at two angles.
Each more powerful,
than the last.
Initiatives;
have seized the blade.
Unlike in the kitchen, where.
The ladle is long and thick,
the pot is deep and round.
and The Aroma of the broth
is as it was,
when at last it is reduced.
Poured down through the layers
of screen it drips and
it drips.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Five Sisters

My Five Sisters,
and i was the youngest
yes, a male.
It did not seem strange.
I was just following orders.
Always talking about the full package,
like a gun
that was always loaded.
I couldn't really imagine life
being different,
and i was always there,
for each one,
some times two.
Telling me there world revolved
around mine.
Girl talk i thought at the time.
while most nights certainly were.
Always the cream in the middle.
And then not much latter,
My Five Sisters....

James McLain

It Was Hard

It Was Hard;
at least now,
it is out in the open.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Psychoanalyse

Psychoanalyse some use Of Words;
You choose too find spread through out.
Rose clingy and each new bud plays with Lily.
Moss or green beards, soft hands, rolling stones.
As valley's or glades each May can conceive one mind.
And trees I knew grew very deep and lived within each forest.
Fields newly plowed, each will show how the true depth,
of your love and the wheat that you grew your bread
lays on top of the table you built of brown wood.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

.....My Enigma

You ask me what am I thinking when I look inside you and you see me looking through you, as if I thought.

And how in the beginning, it was a point of issue in
that you thought, you had received not my undivided
attention and as I tried to, and I did and you understand.
So briefly, in explanation as no enigma can, with you do I.

Know too that no two enigmas are alike and as such
they are going to understand this and it helps you to grow together, while spiraling apart to meet the end.

For the contrivance of complication is simple deceit, and deceit, contrived is a simple matter for my generals and we were not at war, as were so many, who thought they knew.
That two enigmas laid end to end, should never taste defeat.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Being Not Genteel And Good Night

Being not genteel and good night;
How do you make me say good bye...
when I won't even say hello...
and you wanting me all that much harder...
Genteel is the tree you define when I stand...
and protocol when due is love unconfined...
though with these fearful times seldom mentioned...
when....that smile so refined..
defines the lines on your face...
being in and out of love so much....
I think more of..
Those broad circles with that company...
and long there framed pedigree...
with such societal pretensions.....
and great trepidation....
lost in my limited retention...
once I pondered..Hence it....
requires that I pray..even more...I must sit....
While your hand I kiss...do I muster...
your grasp on mine even more.....trust...
Beauty stays once-too short..
and grants me familial attention...
I bow now to grace and eloquence.....
The pianos broad cords.... white ivory keys..
lay tuned.....
and you made me turn around soft melodies...
now genteel fingers..
dance and play...
while that light burns low.....
and being not genteel and good night.

James McLain

It's Both Of Theirs

It's Both of Theirs;
Perhaps it is today.
Every day one or the other
put off by tomorrow.
Anticipation,
is worse than anxiety.
The door always open
as if by chance,
nothing else but too exit.
Trust is explicit,
and though they smell
of earth
it is as rich as any loam,
and the other can be rung
from the air so moist.
Both agree to let every one think that they have
each been inside,
the heart of the other.

James McLain

A Ten

What is a Ten,
short. tall.
Authentic, a little untrained
table muscle
around the sides.
Massive mammaries,
small,
insignificant ones, pears.
Full juicy's, lips so thin
there hidden,
only time and cotton, show.
Cheeks high and low hand fulls, how each changing of the guard.
Hands that would
if I could
lay still to listen
and only the piano
key boards,
ever know.
One thing I do know
I feel sorry
for those starving,
twig gs
that walk the runway now.

James McLain

.....'Black Robed The Bench And Power'

Huddled poor the masses, did you say, not I.
Whirlpools hide the dragon and it's eye.
Needles would I thread upon one point.
Before the Gavel falls, I'd hear your allocution.

While one was never made, ambition grew.
Each priest before his god, one never stood.
Here a rose and there it's bud, yet beauty paused.
Lillie's look caused her to Donn a rustic mask.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Confession Lost One Ant

Confession Of Two, Ants

It looks down, upon it's self
wondering how it came too be,
that she fav ed it tied and bound,
on the other pebbles this ant now carries it.
It is safe to assume Regina, has the eat on
the pigeons that carried it here, to you?
What happened to the whole hog?
It sees now the parts, some cast in it,
it's other play.
That one hand bone still plays a jaded tune,
it's heard upstaged by her, it's you.
Green are the lollies, it is carried over once again.
The ride is tiring,
pins lay scattered, hers, it's sun beats
in side the light, that is it's heart.
Pitied it is now the found, upon it's back,
as it is carried to behold.
Dumped fast, unceremoniously, up from the sand a king
of lions, leaves it there and whisks the ant away.
Heavenly are it's as it spins inside it's noodle.
The other ant is still, and sipped away.

James McLain

You Take It For Granted

You take it for granted;
especially,
in front of her your friend.
Coming out of the pool
up the steps,
you wait with her calling.
You bought me the trunks
i think for convenience,
and next to her,
your hand is.
Looking deep into her eyes
i hear my name,
as you have it
again,
and you take it for granted.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Can Not Come Often Enough

i can not come often enough;
and it is luck that lets us rest,
upon this grassy ridge.
and the stream beneath us
runs oft there,
as it flows between the rocks.
even if it is, as a child i think
i would now why it flows,
into that crack and where it goes.
and my hands are slippery as i
do go off,
and try to gain us perches there.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

What I Will Find

I just don't know 'What I Will Find'-You did.
Though I looked often and of late morning.
What I Will Find, is predicated on what's too come.
My opinion of What I Will Find is between us.
Others know What I Will Find and it scares me.
No one told me, What I Will Find and now look.
While mushrooms grow in the dark, it would have been best to tell me, What I Will Find.
And now even if the sky splits open and it pours,
being forthright it is best if I know, What I Will Find.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rooster Wood Rocks

Rooster wood rocks to your soul and heart and you hear that part in the center of your magic.
Rooster lives on a cotton patch down south near Florida
his comb is red, his eyes are brown like his beak.
Rooster knows the sun he struts in all day, the wrong way.
Rooster plays tag in the hen house and is always dusty.
Rooster is never around the farmers wife, she is to fussy.
Rooster and the farmer know both sides of their story.
Rooster never hangs out in the kitchen it's too dangerous.
Rooster sleeps at night with one eye open, very astute.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Clothed In Beauty

Clothed In Beauty;
each chiseled branch
hangs full of fruit.
The silent observer bides
sweet time,
as those branches
hang too low.
The tips touch the fence
both side posses
an orb,
thats round and orange.
Only the wind decides switched leaves,
when plucked by hand
Tonight the marble face
of the moon,
moves aside each branch.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Psychotic Trigger

Each psychotic trigger;
is one picture of your self.
Each time you look around and see your self,
inside the child you made.
Each time the bush from which the roses grow,
from some unknown reason,
or compulsion do you try too
cut it down.
Each mirror that you pass
is it not some special feature that your gaze has caught or are your eyes cast down.
Each time you unseeing pull out Daddies gun
and you have it in it's sights
and runs
what passes through your mind
each how
is why you pull it now
Each Psychotic Trigger.

James McLain

I Am

I am there within, sweet belly of that ghost,
And so kind she made no bones about it.
Elixirs muted magic engraves the host;
How long is time it's longer than most last.
When I see the sun each shadows cast,
before me how it runs the length of day.

And there it is, she paints the sky, yellow hides,
too shake it off against, dont ask him why too that.
As one dandelion he follows, so he may 'Again'.

There, over there that ledge a cliff can one ridge,
He never knew, thrust out upon he sits too wait.
While down below it's running face today I charm,
And the rift he longs to seal touched, off forever runs.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Clear Plastic Bag

and from behind
the full moon is.
and the struggles
make
it all that much harder.
they spread so much more than even she knew.
untill,
a clear plastic bag
comes out.
and it's all placed inside
and then seen for what it is Just another yellow sun flower tossed across the sky.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Last Word

You having
the last 'Word'
is not at issue.
It is, what you do,
with them.
That makes it hard.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And With Just One Finger.

and with just one finger and with it i would.
and with only it, i would split the world.
and if i could leave it there and move you around it.
and other things, are more or less complicated.
and with the one i left you, more too explore it with.
and if it touches your heart, it misses nothing.
and if the world explodes around it, it is just one finger.
and once it's consumed, what is left but that world.
and with just one finger and the world, spins around it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Second Chance

a 'Second Chance'

To see the moon rise high and feel it's rest inside of you.

To see the hand that made
the sky and what it does to you.

To see the simple grain of sand
and know it stood each test.

A second chance at vision
and I'm lost without the rest.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Only Time

Only Time,
only time, only time
can tell it why i left
why i left me standing still underneath them all and your my host those are our streaking lights
inside my head
outside held up above
in between where it is known by he then early was it seen by me too late
brown green and white
i know I'm going too
which one
and were only one
it comes around again
i know
I'm known
if i am brown
then maybe
white or green
we'll see.

James McLain

I Hung On That Cross

i hang on that cross,
and you did you know.
and feebly i show
as you drug me there
i showed them all
even you and you
before and above
level was the post
you dug and planted
that i hang from
and secretly
i hear the hemmers
and the whispers
and i feel
all the outstretched hands
as they search
for redemption all knowing the big fat and all the juicy
as before me looking down
at all those hands
and still they choose
too keep there faces covered
as they walk past, looking up beneath me...

James McLain

Dandelion

With each springs white top.
Shaken off by hands unseen.
Wanders by each lofty lonely face.
Places it is wind it needs to show.
I float across each leaf, it's breath.
Beside still waters shy and still.
Willows branch they hang in grace.
With a gentle sigh they hold out light,
and lay me gently down to grow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wisdom

Wisdom:

and they thought I was,
some thing more,
and thus is past again
tomorrow sits before to dine in halls forever's just that long
and plans some make from thinking.
Being nothing more and simple
such as once as was that woman
but a man whom stands before
each woman now..
Even if I dress as her
they will see the sword.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You More Than Surround It

you know it is the best bait,
and the glory hole is inversed.
The opening so small as i wait,
and when you walk by
and you knowing it will be there the wall is thin
as i stand on shag carpet
the telly in the back ground
and Benny Hill
is surrounded by them as well
and the lights go out
again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Dark Alley

The Dark Alley;
Is long and lightly lit
but dark and right out
the back window.
Watching early.
I wait knowing she will
and some times late earlier than midnight
she comes.
she is always drunk and high
I hear her,
knowing I need it
but waiting untill.
A few come and I hear their soft noises
trying to hide them
as the moths fly over.
she is out,
like the lite above
unmentionables splayed open
open like a raw wound.
An ever widening puddle beneath
while the mouth drools
too it's catches the edge of her other and it runs together
as if
and with each I wonder if it's and bending down
and kneeling adjusting them some what too her advantage
I move between them
checking her pulse
And as the pool grows wider
the moon comes out
and hides it.
Both buildings
on either side of the alley I.

James McLain

And Each Bottom Button

and each bottom button is when it is revealed can be
and is more than that some thing
one or the other had once kept hidden between the sun
and moon
and each bottom button that is pushed in
gives it's notice like a cork
being popped,
and lips do as well
and the tounge
once in the mirror looked it showed
why the tip and why the edges met when they
and then after another is pulled up or down or in or out
one face rolls it's eyes back while the other does
what it was ment too do
and each bottom button
then
becomes a reflection of each eye
and why the tears mingle and mix.

James McLain

I Am So Fat

i am so fat that when i sit
you must use both hands
to hold them up or at least untill i am seated.

i am so fat that you forget under which fold you left your candy bar

i am so fat that when they think it is peanut butter it is only an old plastic jar
they you filled so that your one special friend thinks it is and the mustache is really and i'm not responsible for that.

i am so fat that that when you try and i think you do it more for kicks that your whole arm disappears and reappears with more or less what it went in for and then there's.
and if you are real fat and i am so fat then no one would really see any thing, but that and more....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Trembled' Your Face-My Hand

'Trembled' Your Face-My Hand

and shiny too is each lock of hair so meekly

Must I, yes for you, I will unfold each sheet so then and left apart, one more time, you know I reach for both

While both my hands under lift you up too help you see

and how Your face it trembled, with each kiss I left

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

He Wandered There A Lonely Man

he wandered there a lonely man,
along each broad causeway.
and every hand that helped him up,
the other slipped away.
his arm by you was hard too pull,
while currants warm abound.
he wandered there a lonely man,
and now he's there too stay.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

More Are Your Wants

more are your wants,
and they come
while they came and still
will they come some more
and watch the two couples
and how they came too be where they are
and in there coming
could you for them
when you came to be as you are
it is easy to come
but for whom do you come
and how did you come to be there.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Can Not With Draw It

i can not with draw it:
and think that your face
will become what it was before and though i tease it, it swirls
as that one which i saw
when last both we knew it was yours
while uncommon now
is it's loyalty.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Heart Is Heavy

My Heart Is Heavy) for my daughter(
Because unknowingly yours, you always had.
Daughter Fear is like a cluster of grapes,
hung too long in wait.
Young minds not knowing how or why,
a raisin gets it's name it's moment then of fame
by hanging neath the sun,
and then they move out side across, inside a box.
I fear the memory may be gone,
of all the fish we caught.
A pictures will not lie and child,
I fear each question,
you will ask and so I will not lie.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And His Tounge

and his tounge;
yes it does
and you like it
like that how it wiggles
like a worm
and no matter
how far away you push his face
the worm just comes along
to catch a fish

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

School Policy On Panties

Each schools policy on panties is clear.
This schools white solid, some others are split.
Split and each why, when you ask of me, try.
This policy once split, causes only more to sit.
While once they become clear, most fill the air.
And because it is moist it is best i ignore it.
Sitting in front of the class each day, it is clear.
Embarrassed i tell the teacher i have need of a tutor.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Camp E-How-Kee

And after, i weigh
those fourteen months
and i have still both my hands
and both my eyes
and it being natural that my back now would be
and fleet as any deer
and in no tree could a monkey hide
leaving my mark on the trees
of many rivers
and upon our return
mother always fed us right
and we were all but children under the sky
and every single night
the strars were brand new being simple children
and the rest i will leave out being equal in my hands
the weight and the scale
and there were no chains.

James McLain

Your Circle Of Friends

those are your circle of friends;
and each of you so different
as the cherry from the strawberry tastes the yellow
from the green
and you are the best one not as wanton and even though
if only you could get away with it without the rest of your friends ever knowing.

Secretly you envy her
when he is behind you
and his friends
cover for you as his hand
slips up past and into
as yours
and
as you weigh the heft of each risk and each time you know by simply holding it
that nothing else will come out
but that
and he never ever realized
now blindly
and when they are behind you that you do know what's up.

James McLain

When Will It Rain

When Will It Rain.

Your face I touch, it is hot and dry.

Warm and never moist deep, down inside.

Clouds that cover dawn a window pain each weeping view, my finger drew and knew.

When will it rain, let it come down, let it rain

I can not continue, tree's their rings around the barrel and dew drops, when you stop by.

When will it rain, the air is moody like her smile.

Each cloudy day, each face is Grey.

The dust it fills each cup, outside until it's full.

And when it does and when it comes and the dust
on window pane, how it runs like cheap mascara,
down that face, that never knew her touch of glass.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Torn Between 'Their Worlds'

You are both,
bedimmed my parent's,
and I know you
are only ones
and you were once
both to each other, that.
Blind as too the one
do you remember
why, I came and now I am here
and how I got here
pleased before you
when it's too late
I too am torn
and run between both days
and those many moments
when both
you met and why I came.
Looking out my window
I see this one tree
from which hangs moss
and further
not far there out back
one stream that feeds
my dreams and keeps
the grass so green.
It is simply black and white too me
but
too you and you and you
if I must I will and I shouldn't stand rejected,
by both your families
I am your child
and I am so confused
and, and, and
who will cry for you,
but us
and in the end

when we are all, gone away
I Am Just Another Child
That Choose Your Stupid,
Suicide.

James McLain

Entering A Woman I Exit A Man

Woman pliant soft as clouds
and that light purple fig at night
and the rabbit my son
pulls the turtle of words back out of it's hole
so I his father
may enter
expedience as sweet as the scent
of jasmine
while nizar qabbani her father
slashes the side of each tent
searching in the sand for her honor while her mother grows plump
on the soup made from turtle.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

That Day: 'Let Each Count' Once Lost

That Day: 'Let Each Count' Once Lost
When It's left behind, each night Unseen.
Each covered veil, each smile not held,
thus sets each sun again, we left behind.

Coming to the brink of words, each act
I heard,
and deeds left needed over to be done again.
What's left has been, those next improve upon.

Would we remove the yellow from the sun,
each daisy from it's form, it's face and you.
Than over yon, the winding path that leads us too the old mans oak with long and thick
his beard that hangs above, yet touches spring.

We all dropp that thing, we can't pick up again.
And in sleep I dream of things I never dropped.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Touch Me, As If -The Rain 'she Does'

Touch Me, As If -The Rain 'She Does'

What can the others think here, when I look up.
Often, bare faced and I'm bold not I near enough.
While 'Umbrellas' are carried by most today.
Once clear skies come back, so can the sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Scared' Little Girls Big Ones-You

Afraid of the dark afraid to look under their own bed when some one breaks into the house.
Even with his gun in her hand.
When they do they like slow every thing down to make sure they get caught to be his first victim.
Yummy says daddy death pulling
her back by her knickers sex sells.
Dripping she pushes her self into daddy's face allergic to fish he faints..
You get angry and cut his wrists..
Afraid of your own smell thats why you bought a husband you knew the risks
your flowers brought, so why the tail.
You hide under the bed waiting for the next paratrooper too deliver a rose.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Florida Made Little Monsters

Let it be as it must be,
just is just as just, can't be by they whom brought such grief and pain
to all those children
abused and broken
they shall know
those years of tears
and place the blame
on some one else
and all their pain as well.

Oh sweet Marianna.
and hound dogs named
old blue.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When I Was In That White Washed House

When I Was In That White Washed House;
of slave labor
and i was younger than some of the rest
and they processed
many thousands of chickens
free labor in the south even young and thus condemned
being what it was
many of the chickens instead
were speared by older boys instead of the ringing of the neck
whereupon the withdrawal of the spear brought instant death
from what i saw
but i was very young
and they were processed with the rest
and even to this day
i have issues with southern chicken..

James McLain

The Woman Who Runs The Fruit Stand

The Woman Who Runs The Fruit Stand;
and i her enjoy
and the others at rest
are her fruit
that she does check each day as well
and i am no different as i ask her help for ripeness i fear
is here upon me now
i ask about the grapes
she lays
her hands upon them as well
when she is done
and states
her friend will come and check
and that i will know that touch as well.
And being comforted by that
and the others as well
our trust
we have laid with she who is our
woman who runs ours, the fruit stand.

James McLain

I Have This Freudian Dream

I am always naked in it.
And If I move to slow
Her hand from behind catches
them both up
and squeezes.
Too fast
if i'm forward and I'm taken by my neck
and i'm forced too run around outside
this red and pink rim of fire.
While the rest of the time
like a child
I ride this elevator up and down
for ever
leading me back to the first paragraph then around the second and her face I never see.

James McLain

The Dead

The Dead: and there voices here
all around me;
Rushing towards death,
after a few go bye and what is another.
Some mothers son, some fathers daughter
the bullet is fast, it leaves all relaxed
like death at the spa, while your sphincter
does it's last duty better, than I ever could.
It drinks as it slaughters and laughs
it's laugh, right there where it hurts
there between your eyes
right below where you breath
and up above
the last bright yellow sun spot
that you saw.
So fields of sunflowers happy and mellow
I see them all
each do I see, when I pass them all
as I walk and they fall row after row
like wheat on the field come the fall..
There is beauty in all that I see,
knowing in my hand Is my why that I held
your face and it's mine it was yours.
Let it come then quickly
and make me no example too die like that on some far away spot a pin pricked dot.
Rushing towards death
am I with; The Dead.

James McLain

In French It's Not At All Suggestive

In French It's Not At All Suggestive;
Nor all or what it is inside contained,
the silk or cotton face, is traced therein.
Such beauty now how it feels in motion
color lends and blends each locomotion.
Men how American and the thought that sight and they would rather loose an eye
than too come and say that 'p' word out loud.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Suicide""How Would You Touch It

Suicide""Would You touch It;
An act that causes harm to your self or another,
let us briefly,
it's not ever over even when it's neatly.
The law here if yes it was that you answered,
then they are forced,
into labor not of the church.
if only all the poor thus would.
Out of sight in the ground or plain is ash too ash
it helps make new roses grow
all that much fatter
please dont shout
we make the laws and never were we out of their minds.
Is there a rich old lady or man around you down the road,
whom is well
and lived a long life but have assets they no longer need.
And alas no known family,
here or there that would if they but knew.
Is he or she a danger too them selves or others
when allowed to walk into the road
that caused there death.
We each of us in time will know
the hard labored hand of dementia
god forbid even parkinson's and legal blindness to whom
and all to the rest
for living a long life while those others prospered.
While unconsciously tens of thousands
and even when they are alone and it is ever neatly.

James McLain

Each'A Beast From Round The Hill

Echo'A Beast From Round The Hill;
Not even damp moss from each floor unseen they come.
Forebear's now in reach, each lays in sleep too rich
too await as dreams just recent past in toil to claim that spot.
Morning hides the dawn no warning from the horn it blasts.
Those caverns each dripping mind and teeth white tipped.
What his really she has thoughts too deep they weep her needs.
Rivers cut through fields, lay open bare each breast thats full.
Each, beast from round the hill needs more to wake their need.
Men sleep on and on each beard a mask that grows a tree.
While bags of ballast leather bound grow heavy as time unfurls.
Caves beneath the hills they fill and being full they grow some more.
One child for you and one for each and damp the moss it never knew.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Formative Years

When were they my Formative Years;
Blown away I clung, I chaffed before strong winds.
Each germ each bit of grit as dusk inside remained to form.
The bread you eat today within I hide, of he whom is I am,
upon the alter dressed so nice in lace your trap, I took one slice.
I saw a falling of a branch of figs too Newton's heavy apples.
Does that angel soft with wings of silken care too wrap around his snake laid bare to catch each breast, cried out loud for milk.
And crossed upon each heavy burden laid I down on narrow shoulders there along that road for all too see, back undressed each bruised foot and blistered toe, weeping eyes for ever more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Dont Know But We Both Like It

i dont know but now
we both just like it;
who trained who
it really doesn't matter.
after talking way back when
we both had questions
we both ask.
and our satisfaction
when we finished
was then mutual.
it is chilly there outside
i need to go
and so she follows.
sound it carries
quite a ways
as we look out
far down below
she pulls it out and hefts
it's weight
as she nuzzles my cold ear
dear she says, i'm aiming
for that eighty olds.

James McLain

I Carry Your Heart Within Me

i carry your heart within me) do you within mine as well) lockets of hair your sweet breath i smell and pulses i feel make me flow out lets me know it's you your heart as well i must know it is red hot
when you think of me my heart does race around to the beat that comes next before your last) how do you do what you do you play
to my heart you squeeze it more and it grows

to be continued..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Baby While Your The Greatest

baby while your the greatest;
radio one
and the head it turns around you.
it may be just because in my mind
you let me leave
my mess above
all around you.
i am he that Brut primeval man
the animal that only comes to you in your sleep
too slice my toe in two
i leave it warm
it ebbs and flows
it flies both ways
so you may know
this morning that i was there.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Can I Talk To You Tonight

Can I talk To You Tonight;

Yea i know,

he is still up, i thought you would not mind.

Can you hear me now

forget the chill

my baby once and deep inside

i know that still you are.

It is late,

your make up fades

the hours late,

each night has not been kind

i'm sure.

Those to know and meet,

are lips i hear so sweet

and full and firm

just please dont fret

my mind runs hot and cold

you know like yours

but they are you know that i can tell

and just sit back inside the tub

can you sip some wine

and let your mind unwind

before you say

you will.

James McLain

The Road Not Taken Back

Deep within the woods upon this lonely path.
Long and hard, I walked to reach it's end.
And when I came upon it, where it forked, I stopped.
Alone with I and light was fading much to fast.

Ups and downs the others, where and can't be found.
And youth my eyes they guided next, my every step.
The sun no longer shines so warm upon my back.
Darkness cools each tree and progress holds it's breath.
Some thing says I should move on and I stand still and wait until I it's night, it's then, I look around, my fork has disappeared.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Because I Am Too Simple

because, i am too simple;
some part my mind
as if
a cloud they would control
across the sky.
each quality and such a trait,
is rarer thus too find
in diamond mounds
when simple moss it is to lay my head
each night
with yours.
and with your
so kind
upon around
each gentle squeeze
it brings me back from sleep
to see your smiling face,
please then
may i, would i could i
keep it thus.
and forever
while you keep each covered
more.

James McLain

A Character

A Character; must reach behind each face to see it smile
While nature hard to find, she hides behind it often sighs.
There rides our Queen her lips they move, she waves us in.
But makes no sound, that we would dare her crown define.
While there upon each, cobbled foot is one such willing man.
His horse is held here much too quite where, within these walls.

Words of worth some smith and quite of gesture lifts his hand.
A hammer found is hot, that glove when full, each maid of felt.
How I wink and laugh and pat my thigh and gaze aloft, such class.
Behind yon walls a tree still grows and sleeps within, the forest.

W.W.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poo Cleanups

Poo Cleanups;
It was all of that
in her fine silky coiffed,
and pleasantly so
by her warm grateful look that she gave me
and heaven
was never so much so more but this one didn't even panic.
As the blond directly across
got the blame.
There was no mistaking her choir.
sitting right up against, behind her.
Returning her look with my nod,
I pulled out my scissors and went too work
in behind quickly too free her.
With two quick snips her panties
were loose as change
and my hanky in play there too clean her.
This blond was that average nice one you read about from the heart land
those goods placed there in her hand bag
and out she went
when we made the next stop
while the new friend I made, was delightful.

James McLain

Poo Twang

Poo Twang;
once you expect it,
expect it.
Coiffed, in the middle of your silky coiled.
Then You come too realize,
it is not some accidental birth.
it is with pure dignity and Devinne grace full knowledge, that at the center of your being all accidents are possible
even the foreseen.
Even warm permissible
and but for the grace of god
it could have been a log,
surrounded by panic
ridding the subway home.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Kisses

and i kissed them
kisses
yes so full
each perfect
petal
pink and rich
each one
i caught
as it fluttered
past
and i
and yes
i kissed
their kisses too.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'I Loved You...'

I loved you...

Blindly, and now ashamedly, maybe I still do.

How long will it stay this way inside and cruel.

All seem to know they say and claim, but I.

Could I be that devil as you or I as that too you.

Do I smile, after you and knowing this, both do.

And pain a tug of war inside, none train too win,

When most in love all know, there are no ties.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Echo

Echo around from the front too the back..
From bottom each top and lengthy each talk.
And bright cleft of moon light my one pupil too be.
Comes soft in to me through wide cracks in the wall.
Sweet she is, more will i see and hear or can bare.
And only comes to me in the dead still of the night.
I bend down low to touch the eye through the wall.
And to far out on my limb have i come, now she sees.
While this wall too hard even for youth like me inside.
I wait and waiting and have not strong walls in the past.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Want Too Die A Simple Death

i want too die a simple death;
and when i look so very deep within your eyes i die again.
But even as you labor and i labor
like once you did so long ago.
i know that in my long illness
i have become fatter and some what greater in tumescence
and you know it always and how it comes with age and thus,
and do we reminisce of this and that.
and with each gentle squeeze and
as you watch me,
now so yellow off white, i jerk
and jerk then i convulse again
and still you squeeze
untill you are absolutely sure that i am still at rest i am and
i dont want too die like this would you, allow it too be
if it were you, held off defiant,
while your hands each bring
me back from the ledge,
each time too face my fate
and you now know with
each suprised look
that shoots
so high and wide
across your face
and with each bright sun
drawn out warm
and a stream of squirts
and it grows so much harder
for you too watch,
whats
left of my life
as it ebbs and flows,
and rushes
towards

that off holds on yellow and white
bright light of dawn
and bury me
next to my friend
e.e.cummings.

James McLain

The Worlds Ten Greatest Toes

Without objectivity,
or any biasedness,
when I look down,
their always mine.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Babies Toe

my babies toe
is just too
juicy
fat and sweet
high or low it's
under there for me.
and my babies toe
such beauty
holds the eye.
my babies toe
no matter
now or how it's squeezed
gets wetter
all the time.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

This Stuff That You Dream Off

This Stuff That You Dream Off; is no more or less,
archaic than when it was I first thought of you.
A fist full of dollars, for a pound of brown flesh
and a spread of your cheeks, helps the moon,
go round in the sky.
Must you crack it open to see if it's fresh.
When your up on it so high, deep in space,
I must fall back to earth too reserve my place
there in front of the line,
where we first met and exchanged that look, once found on the cover of Vogue.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Child, Dear Child

Child, Dear Child,
Drink from the spring,
when it's clear and fresh when ever you can
and If his countenance,
It pleases you, learn to walk
but never too run so Starved is your heart,
he will feed it and more deep inside
Though you run out of it just once,
it will never again
too long is it's breadth,
love will allow you too breath it in again
Like the sun up above
and horned there down below,
there will never be again stones like that,
because you will always know this,
you were the first one,
and never,
will you be come,
some one other than that.

s.t.

James McLain

I Know You Are Wicked

i know you are wicked
but it was your hand
that first brought it up that led me
around too believe it was there
even now do you smile
when i fumble around in the bushes
the note
in the bowl says
you like bananas
while i squeeze the peaches
in your haste
i was led to believe it would flow in the opposite direction
instead it...
just grew and grew
untill it you knew
the whole time.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poo Runners

Poo Runners

do it too you

and you try not to

but they are clever

you can never

avoid the juicy

sound that every one hears

and the pain.

and guys,

know that you girls

with a dress

have some special advantage.

because as generous

as the spread may be

they usually have one

extra pair of knickers

there unseen

inside their purse

and when her eyes

are a little fruitful

and when you are looking into them

his simply are not

and uncouth

and he is

as he plunges

his hand in

right there

out back

and to check one out

leading your eyes

right back in

not caring

at all as to what he will find.

James McLain

Why Upon Your Belly

why upon your belly,
and not some other.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why My Baby Does It

why my baby does it;
i think she knows
a secret that
it's longer, on her side
does my baby,
know her necks
exposed,
when i move,
her hair aside.
and babies cheeks
i think she feels,
i'm so relieved
too seem them
spread apart.
how babies beating
pulse,
knows when to start
and stop, my heart.
then babies lips,
become again
tomorrows song.

James McLain

Jealousy Looks Away

Jealousy looks away;
and then it's on your back again.
Burning deep holes up inside you again.
You feel the long strings, that twang
off the harp so again that i may.
Let us pray and then we can play.
And if i can not kiss those red juicy lips,
why should he, should i not,
i will see you both therein.
Say it now too me or else,
at night inside so deep,
i will plug the well so none may drink.
Rage and pink flames shoot in and up,
just like he or she that voice inside our head.
This or that,
whatever head that lays upon,
and your slim neck,
you said,
i remember it all,
as you fly off away day after day,
on whats left of my wings.
Those oinking noises you make with him,
are never the same,
and how insane they drive me.
i can hear them cry and grow moist through,
your thin walls.
While your forests deep path,
upon which we walked,
does he know it now the way,
and all the hay i baled,
and set aside for winters morn.
Your smokey face is much too hot,
look at it now and how your cup,
is so full and fat for whom,
i grow so weary here in wait.
and how you knew it too,
his sun is not yellow and bright like mine,
but his wine you swill and grow fat.

James McLain

Rose Around The Ring

it was wicked more of she,
she knew her tastes.
and those her ships,
she floated there upon the pond,
they all had sails.
White wind filled,
bulging cotton faces,
held by wooden masts.
smart she was and how she knew that,
ring around the Rosy,
is never played that fast.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

.....Thus Is Why My World Must Be

Hollow hand led shallow world your grave you dug for me.
To keep in sleep.
When deep within your hole I live,
and breath.
Then die again once more each day, I am.

Must I see, the tearing yes, give in to pain,
that bore the best, too him, I am your grave,
lest I forget your life within my sun, it's blinded eye.

You must be his lifer and you her padded cell.
I see denial in us all, each living death can't sell.
If I see enough and how you made me feel,
each then and now your past you make again.

Now I can not touch your robe of black,
it's hem I always felt, such was it once my friend.
While beating others as a child, you knew I ran away.
Organizing pain of they whom were like I, now dead.
Even now in death, you know they have no name.

That white washed house in Florida knew but pain.

Arthur G. Dozier School for Boys

James McLain

Touch An Angel Try

Touch an Angel Try;
and when it runs too light
your face looks up, his face
looks down,
he cups your face and says
too you
those thoughts
come often much too quick
for you too taste or hear.

Love as cane and sugar sweet,
and it can run,
for days like this too slow.

While on those chilly days
molasses flows and flows,
a tad bit thick
but your that quick
from trees,
you plant and grow.

Here from there on top
this hilly mound
the frozen ground
your feet
beneath white snow.

James McLain

My Babies Lips

my babies lips
they open lay
upon the sandy
shore
my babies lips
the sun is high
and when i see
each kiss each wave
caress
each silky thigh
i ask the sky
why you
not i
and in between
my babies lips
you hide
the ocean
there those rocks
my babies lips
and now they start too cry
my babies lips
they now ask why
a stick floats by.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Death A City By The Worm

Coming here, as many others have, now why are you.
Thus they travel lost alone and many sing that song.
There tongues, you mend those merry wicked days.
You brought them near too hear, the ghosts of ravens cry.

Crushed limestone and faces pressed and smeared, sometimes it's ruby red the blood you mixed within the sand that seams the rocks and moist you hold so dear.

Death sweet, heavy supplant it death, towers over all.
do you see the skulls below, are they mocking you.
Is your throne so high the glint from bone, it passes by..

The line of many, all alone, each whispers none to hear.
It gallops by her tail, you gasp to breath your fleash is seared.
Do you crawl out from your hole to hear your name, I blast.
Oh you, and those wicked little worms, you knew by name.

Come then, come then as roses once then red now turning black.
The moons a different shade of grey it never once conceived.
Are those jewels within each socket like the locket I now wear.
At the end I stand, while I wait for you to speak, and warn the worm.

James McLain

Doctors And While I Am

Doctors and While I Am,
it doesnt matter I knew it was,
it's just that little thing,
right over there.

That nurse is lovey special,
my living will she has.
I've since learned,
the glass right here,
keeps sound inside my head.

But why do all my room mates
keep leaving me,
with out ever saying one good by.

Quite now,
here she comes,
to gently wash my head.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Water Darker Bye The Wood

Water Darker, Bye The Wood

Chirping sparrow wet and feathers sit
One wing bent over, loves muddy puddle
Across it's past there flies your lonely face

My nest your beard hangs dreary coiled down
A top that hollow crown that swallowed all of you
Fires are set too prove the yellow fertile ground
Snakes move off and find and keep a turtles hole.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Edge Cuts Over

Is it over me,
you lay,
to overcome such death.

As years walked past us all,
white carnations,
tasted lips.

Symposiums illustrate each
crowned achievement,
none have cared too save
the best.

Bare off,
any here I ask,
misgivings,
stoic silence as I did.

Scroll down near,
each list those leather sheets,
the ink now barley dry.

My feet are white and,
brittle are,
each nail that hangs,
is long.

While over head,
your looking up,
shadows cast,
each moon shines down.

James McLain

And If It's You My Baby

and if it's you my baby;
it drives me,
mad and crazy and you do.
laying in the hot soft sand,
there upon your back.
you do not see me as Your daddy,
i walk by.
with those cotton patches,
all you wear today,
too hide your eyes.
and even i can not,
remove my face from that.
where that eye and mound that perfect split,
where sweat is leaking down into,
the sand
and how my toe it drips.
and if it's you my baby,
and nice things would
i always do for you
and you are my baby
you made my dreams come true.

James McLain

Her Virgin Tree

Samples grow not from this tree that bud there is my peach
Though her flank is nice and new so full and smooth few find
This daughter mine, pink centered sits, she wont concede too you
Do you try bare backed out yonder, there with morning sun
Out of sight, I sit out here with flighty sparrows tree it's shade
I understand how you must think, my gun still works just fine
Your mother knows your habits and the stains you try to hide
Preacher man your daddy taught her well, too just like mine
She climbs yon tree, from what I see and sweet she turns your eye
So mosey back from whence you came, rock salt is all you'll get

s.p.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Belly Jar

God was your purpose and you released it,
too what end,
outside.
and Again I must watch it, as it coils against.
Like some dark tree filled with magic,
becalming you longer and thicker.
While that wicked glee, those muscles,
in you
slowly uncoil and
come outside the jar.
Why did you lay,
the neck of that jar between your legs.
That evil broad head,
it's malevolent Grey eye upon you.
And slowly that fearsome organ protrudes,
too wind it's self meticulously around you.
It gathers your scent and it,
knows where you've been.
Do not mistake it,
it was by your own deception for it was you,
that deceived your man.
I like he, only watch it.
Without any mind, it slowly unwinds and crawls off through the garden of Eve.

s.p.

James McLain

Through The Glass I Saw

through the glass i saw,
it left me quite affected.
the lights were bright,
he had you backed and they,
were spread against the window.
you said you never would again,
the picture in my mind of how not why.
and the rope was way too long there
in between,
while the running of the rose,
was more than i could bear.
when tomorrow comes again,
he will be gone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dear

Dear,
Please remember,
when you gaze into that,
silver window made from glass.
And you touch your dimpled chin,
there are some things,
surrogates would never do.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Memory Is It's Mystery

Memory Is It's Mystery;
When you have it,
plan your hand.
Misty is the memory,
when your love,
it helps your flush.
Face too face,
they cross,
each dimpled,
heart and diamond chin.
When the ace is never found.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mirror Can You Why

Mirror Can You Why,
above my hands,
beneath so full.

.....

And the neck you see,
so long and slim.
Holds up,
my face of silver,
never cruel.

.....

Leaning in,
I push you out,
the eyes grow darker,
larger sigh.

.....

You Recognize,
each circles blue.
The colors faded
as it is.

.....

Does the moon,
there out back,
treat us all this way.

.....

Each day,
the valley's filled with moss.

.....

And the trees,
are cleared away.

.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Self Refusal

Self Recusal,
By the breadth of my hand
Did you learn my secret
Your lips felt my ecstasy
And my hands your release
How could we not, confine it
All within the breadth of your hand

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Yes And If You Did

Yes and if you did,
and with each gentle squeeze,
the milk ran out,
to drench your worried hands.
never knowing,
when the rain would start or stop.
and the pups to young,
to walk the farm,
you raise the crop alone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Let It Be Forgotten

Let it be forgotten,
as that flame, it just goes out.
May it be forgotten,
as to where my soul,
it went too there and laid before.
Being young, I am old, kind friend
it's time from long ago, I'm here.
There's a song across the sky,
some wait,
as too my long, forgotten snow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Drinking Wine

Drinking Wine;
Hide the children, she is coming home again.
I lost the cart,
behind the horse, the carrot
there still dangles.
All those gentleman,
most affable
and they in vain,
search for their father.
Scent of pine is every where,
the sisters help us hide it.
Mountains rising every where.
No longer do we wish too play,
while our speech,
has been left thus neglected
and quite slurred.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If Even One Thought It Was

if even one thought it was;
and within,
there be it's other,
your brother.
and then,
bring me your hand,
so i may then know,
it's sister.
and then there,
your head,
when it's tired and sore,
knows no shoulder.
and may she come,
with more milk,
too make it better.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Dear-What Was It

'Dear-What Was It'

The Daughter that we made, or the one that chose to leap the ledge too fly away.

'Dear', I can't present, them here as kings to be,
what they aren't, some thief in the night, whom comes and goes through my front door.

Even now I'm fraught, as I must be and even now
the blind can see what I am not, and boughs miles apart.

c.e.mc.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is More Than A Bubble Bath Dear

So you finally won the lottery.
You lied about your age, you being young.
At the foot of your tub there are stirrups.
And the hollow for your necks
like a pillow.
Both ends being equal pulled up.
With a flick of the wrist, it's open
and wide,
And the waters been off for a while.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If Even Your Dog I Must

if even your dog i must,
in you i have placed all my trust.
and your panty hose,
when you walk in,
at the end of the day i have torn.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Cloud We Fleeced

Summers hot this evening night we calm your storm.
Watch you composed, under a moist dark moon;
A towers veil of clouds now squeezes past around.
The sky too makes room, and you in silk undress us all.
Is there in your room, more than I need' you hear no breeze.
And I, could learn to love it, turned around I pick you up.
While this wet and freezing night, for you too sleep and come.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When The Milk Was Warm

when the milk was warm; and the mustache no one noticed and now, you can't even give it away, without being arrested.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Did She Tell You The Whole Story

did she tell you the whole story;
that there is an extra hole there.
and while the hose hung down, the receipt said it was new from Lowe's.
one moon was hard to ignore and greatly smaller than it's sister, those lips were split and gone sad i guess.
while asleep you could pour water on the back of those legs and, when still they resembled small lakes so clear.
and the pantie man from before, does he
like the poo noodles, that fall too the floor.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Dark Night He Might Slip

and one suitor and some times he will;
and still he must through her small window.
and when the moon is bright in between and full and hard are those thoughts of her parents, while they keep it locked up real tight it's all in vain, thoughts she kills.
and afterwords and some times before.
and being seventeen through the sweat
and sheen and she asks and thus he agrees.
that coming through the back door, instead of the front and one dark night he might slip.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poo Nuggets

Normally I wear a pair of gloves...
Today I'm on my way to work..
There those golden arches...
Would you like fries with your order...
) it(had to ask...
Lay back relax and enjoy
and expect the unexpected...
From Idaho....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Even Today Did I Try Too Do

Even Today Did I Try Too Do; Too you.
While Solomon and hot spears are tossed,
some Brute of Yours too Hannibal.
The spear points that shaft,
tips off against wide plains of sweet reason.
Do not speak of seasons to me,
it's just treason you seek to spread.
Moist marshy grounds, unaided no hounds.
I trampled down and muddied the water.
The sword points sharp against your breast,
Your unguarded, the broad phalanx did part.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Childhood Issues

You're issues those were you
as a child, and you try and try, and you bring it up, being soft and or hard..each vine
grows too long and they hear about you and i'm right there as well.
The gym while i look straight ahead.
While others pick their pimpled face.
Forced out, each new erotic and bare
there our issues, we must never share.
We slip over the bleachers while the breeze wafts up your skirt.
And so my face stays blank as
it all ways does when i know it grows.
Lost as it finds it's way up deep inside.
So she never knows and i never tell
why i bring him here, too hold my hand.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cowards They Were When Both Came

Cowards they were when both came;
Often she stood by his side, with each cruel theft and held them apart and dark each picture he drew she knew.
Lacking a conscious their action of stone
drove each heart impure from the start.
While each brutal act tore apart little moons.
She a real shark too circle around, swam like he.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Was The One Thought Why You Shan'T

It was the one thought, why you shan't.
Up to early and you sit, where i rise.
Who rose before who, still full is the moon.
Yellow the morning sun looks bright, over there.
And my Shadow once your friend disappears.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Will Not Change

Even after all of the change,
he left you the same, and while.
I left him and once parted her,
One kiss left unconsummated.
Years later, the two apart came together and then left as one.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And Some Thing I Know

too the few which are many,
and each secret you hold firmly
to your sore breast.
your so young and quite and you hear them all when there coming.
and even when done and you are pressed against those thin walls.
while inside each hand it whispers
hard against your ear and heavens
mind starts too wander around it again.
and they know that you don't and only through them do you burn so hot.
mummy is daddy and daddy is mummy,
when the water is running, to free.
there's no tub too catch the flow,
i'm told i see it all.
my room and sweet apples,
white is the light and some how right now,
i smell not the same, as before.
and some thing i know must happen, again
if i do this to that.

James McLain

'Speech' -Is No Trick Off Your Tongue

Speech-Is No Trick Off Your Tongue.

While your words, tumble off thick as cotton.

Do they not fool them all, but your keen mind.

And there where you sit, strays the sky.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And After He Comes

and after he comes;
who minds the store
all the dancing around
with more company on the way and the churning's a difficult chore
girls are all tired and asleep
and up all night singing rhymes
and those tears laid too rest making more yellow the butter they sell at the store

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Taboo Words And Such

taboo words and such; speak fall from your lips
and silk french lacy panties there outside a face,
drive even most of us and even you, quite mad.
Do knickers look and feel the same, to they whom trot around all day,
and sit where they should not.
For the bold ladies there are knuckles, Brutus thick and tan engorged and full with blood.
Clumsy men dance around brushing, faking
gain st those lovely toes so full and fat.
And Bobalina..Bob..Bob..Bobalina...
where's your man..he's there out back...
You look around at all the rest...and..there
all looking back at you..like darn it...
it's your fault....because you do..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is It Wicked Of Me If I

is it wicked of me if i;
buy a peach and it's too soft and ripe.
what if after words it does what you thought it would do and then it well, just might.
and yes you know my fingers are more than,
any thing they do
and still you would have me, sigh.
what if i pick the next one up,
and squeeze the center and it does it too.
i keep running fingers all around it, in and out it underneath it, like those around me do.
yet still peachy they remain as last they were
and watching yes they laugh so hard and knew.
well, i guess i can always wipe that kiss off your face, but i'm thinking if i do, what if the rest i miss
and pass them by
and the best i left behind.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Fantasy

Her neck is slim and long
As it sinks too rest upon
Made too run between the stones
Where the tree stands all alone

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Neurotically I Am Yours

Neurotically I Am Yours;
and too you, I am largely that.
Horrorific Is just how I feel,
you have no regrets,
when you talk about nothing,
but how drain and too milk me.
And like the flame and the fire and it's only the thrill,
that you make me do what I need you too do,
which is the juice that feeds your fire.

Your always distressed, when I see you and parting the sea just to find me and I'm irresistibly drawn, and it's your fascinating power,
this simple life as a predator you live.

Are you glib with a false sense of worth and an abnormal
need for stimulation so far from the norm.
And bored half out of your mind,
while laying prone with the art and manipulation of,
the worlds greatest of all that pathological liar.

Parasitic lifestyle, poor behavioral controls,
promiscuous sexual behavior
and early all those early behavioral problems.
While all along too many of those relationships
doomed to fail before they began.

Yes...Neurotically I Am Yours..

James McLain

Silence

Silence; strange how it cuts my ear,
and you along with me, stay quite.
You as my mate with each eye,
and you hold tight upon my neck,
before it comes out, each sound.

So much so as the sand rushes back,
and it's disrobed in the stillness.
Right now before dawn, and many are,
the quills that fly by, you hear the ink dry.

And she the grass wet only untill it comes.
And the blood of each yellow bath, art came.
And I came too do it, and she it too, does it now.
And what it was, that held it inside, came in silence.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Even When I Slip Amongst The Toes

even when i slip amongst the toes;
my shoe slips off
and back on you it slips.
i only try it on,
between thin leaves and moss.
and slopes are you married,
slippery, such wiles.
your conversation moves me,
to grasp each moon.
and rocks give way,
beneath our souls, each toe.
while peacocks
roam out side your heartfelt walls.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You'Re Hot When Your Not

You're Hot When Your Not;
Some times you're the circus,
when it comes to town.
Us back from fishing and how you make me smile, flapping around like you do, there before at my feet.

Common sense, more or less and
you chose what is best for you're day.
Wrapped up in you're mannequins wig.

Must I bring out you're, my cannon each day too fire.
And you're going to traipse off again in the smoke
and barefoot you're not getting so far, in you're slip.

You're home for the winter it's here where rose sits,
and Lilly you sought, you're happy too grow, too I bought.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

After The Parting

After the parting;
and melancholy.
Still can't join them both,
they burst their too strained Split apart,
none just those the wiser,
and nights cured of there habit.
Gone is each high flown shadow,
and sightless moon between.
While that lone pillar of fire
and afraid how madness a seed,
would spread out wide and far.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When You Became Mad I Knew

When You Became Mad I knew I was;
The world would then shut it's eyes on me.
Even I must see through you,
so tight you shut my lids,
your trust they see.
I am too old to die,
but each day when you pass,
you grow up too young for me.

Because I see each finger your my mind,
across your lips, I find a deeper truth.
And my truth is the song of some sad mad girl.
Once a woman that now sleeps alone in my shoe.

Walking both ways and so like you and arbitrary,
the sun comes begging back, to late It died for you.

Some clouds,
were not mended for a bed but be it large,
even by your thoughts they are.
Now insanity knows, as it gallops off again,
in search of sleep in fields where kisses die.

James McLain

The Hanging Woman

The Hanging Woman

When I walked by
and tied were her feet, there too question.
Absurdly was I
and but by that, faces too, both upside down.

She juggled my words around her smile
and me left where to stand.
Would she but do and leave me too hang
and do as she would I ask.
Those hands so sure on the ropes of the past
and tied so sure in the now.
I am no god
and her reasons last hope,
as she unties the ropes,
I cry..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mommy

mommy your guilt,
mommy your guilt.
will you not pour out your guilt,
mommy dear.
like the rain, next too fall
like the leaves of us all.
they taste of your tears,
please, if i may and too just.
wash it away,
and you must...you just must..
mommy but mommy my dear.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Rock Back Off It

i rock back off it; while she tries too,
and those fingers keep slipping off.
it is beyond that now, beyond the face of it into the mind of it even past a smile.
it is primordial like that the ooze around it.
and the sound, it is not just some flat plop,
or twap, it is more like the moist ouches.
remember when your foot was stuck in the mud,
and you pushed then pulled, untill it came off.
and then you sat in it and felt around in it looking untill you did feel what lost was really like.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Can No Longer Care

When I am again just soil, against your palms.
I trust the though your hems are wet and muddy.
How you console your selves with rain and words,
I can no longer care.

The space above has filled below with simple peace.
And those documents now too dry you,
while I made this circle now here you stand a coven.
Now you can be less and more than I.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Electroconvulsive Therapy

To live but not to die.
I see your suicides
Major depressive,
and the light of suicide.
The worm hole of darkness,
where you can walk but never speak,
in sleep or dream to come back.
Who gives up the right, to be thus strapped, upside down.
While the toes curl in after being injected with muscle relaxers and the phallic symbol too spread the tongue out.
The current...all that current...
and where did my child hood go.
While that puddle grows larger...
under the moon...
What ever it was, you did to me,
I am sorry.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Thing Of Beauty

A Thing of Beauty; is it's sight of you.
When you come, you leave it bright and clear.
How you love me, I must stand and bow.
Over hammock too my shadow slowly moves.
Dream deep and rise refreshed, too breath as one.
Do not ring your hands or beat your chest.
When I see you move away, please don't cry.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And Too Open It With One Key

and too open it with one key;
the two sides round and smooth,
and moon is bright upon the toe.
here it rose to face under the moon
and moon and face, both revealed.
how one arrow strait and true, between the deep shadow did pearce, it through.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

There Deep In The Why Was My Cut

there deep in the why was my cut;
and you drank, too intoxicated was i.
the deal that you made while i slept.
and your dream when it came, i honored.
bands here around my heart, heaving up
the weight and bright lights, split my chest.
and the length of the one, your hand, a fist
do i see with each eye, when it's closed.
and then i wake, that cold puddle, is real.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Today Is One Day Just Too Hot

today is one day just too hot;
and there you are moist,
as well.
while my arm is too heavy,
to lift.
and my neck,
how it throbs and dips as it swells.
and the heat outside,
comes in waves,
and the horizon is too thick to see,
amassed like the streams,
that run as blue veins.
which are fluid and move like the sea,
amongst those coiled snakes and scars.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Did You Even Know

Did you even know,
and how you ever could,
too never know, I loved you.

And other things I thought of,
while too often hard were you.
I pressed on because it's true.

So too the wind as leaves apart,
still green and years upon your face.
Reach now as you may, Autumn falls.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Spinster I Am Grown Too Be

Spinster I Am, and Grown To Be.
All around me, there none chose.
Window I am, to teach them school.
Some lover a fence, I'd wish to know.

These children if I but one should learn.
and If he would come and help two grow.
One empty field some seed hand sows.
The ghost in my mirror knows them all.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

How Handsome Is One Toe

how handsome is one toe;
to say it is,
but just to me how gentle is too stone.
and what will i give up instead and truth,
for you are calling me...out too view one sea.
faith it may it take away the stress,
my world each day so full,
it fills my head,
that narrow spot i kiss and gaze upon.
with each gentle squeeze from end to end,
and when i look down,
so far away at you down there and that is too,
but for the grace of god out there, a tiny spot that fills my head, it makes me look again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Toe That Drinks

when i come over the toe, it helps me think.
and some toes come over me, just too drink.
after drinking to much it falls open asleep.
and the more that it drinks the fatter it gets.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wankers

Being born Ignorant; in America
it feels strange to know nothing.
And of this your secret most will lie
never to be so sure, safety.
I walk into a store; out over there next too that place out yonder,
that same chamber of commerce,
billed as your next heart of America.
Of what is red and white or real,
blue some what like you, when I smile.
I ask the old balding tailor who speaks
with a fake french midwestern accent
I'm sure he is wankers and the worst of it.
I see the empty Rosetta stone case empty
But forced to prequalify again or so I feel,
Or Well, it does seem so: some where out here,
Someone must know about it so I ask the tailor.
In America so full of wankers, and if you ask them.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Thought

It is now a different world.
A world that lost it's way of thought advances.
May be it is that we must give more thought,
to those with less thought or to the thoughtless.
Why not let the children pray where they play.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Little Toe

i did what you said,
went to the beach.
where upon some sting ray stung) my little toe, a woman walked on it, a boy
laughing dropped
his hot dog on it.
Swollen like mine
now, it then became lodged under the gas pedal, while i hide my other one.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And The Toe I Missed

and the toe i missed; even more
i watch it even in my sleep
and when i'm dreaming of you it moves
i know it is cramped only searching for comfort and to watch it and waiting for it too move me again
i must not help it and obsessed now, i wiggle it and looking out the window the moon is my present.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Who Was What A Secret Is To Whom

who was what too whom,
they who needed,
that from he, from whom.
and humbled he too such fine starts, while each
of whom,
from that which was,
who came too all a sea.
they were old and friendly,
each the she.
and with the others,
most liked, he.
needing only,
just one only, one bicycle,
how it grew to more than that,
it did.
each new bicycle that they bought;
was sought by others.
and was more,
than he could give away.

James McLain

There Within Your Hand

there within your hand; deep in sleep it gently tugs on you, too straighten out.
it spreads out more, each gentle squeeze,
you pull it back and lay it down face up,
then pick it up and pull it back once more.
each face pushes while the other learns to pull.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

No Two Toes

on no two toes; and being grateful i'm blind,
much was over looked, there because of that.
and once was there then, two sides to every story and i tended to lean towards the middle.
and i never gave out the same advice twice,
while truth being told, i just honestly couldn't.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Hidden Toe

each hidden toe and i wear them out front,
consoles the face of the many more.
you must not keep them from their brother,
untill after their sister has kissed them.
and though the leather soul of the matronly is,
it is and was passed regrettably over for yours.
and do not smile like that for one day yours will be as well like that grape in the sun..
does not it's breath smell as that of the apple.
and in sleep the serpent does what it wants,
too interrupt your rest and more.
while the rest of your dreams, you hide, deep inside.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Between Each Squeeze

between each squeeze; your nights calm my day.
and that one hand, you hold there for a moment.
while some things you try on, never must change.
and that which you squeeze, is squeezed back.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Salt Water Inside My Head

It has grown to be more than
i can wrap my hands around.
She cannot touch his face, though
how she wished he would.
Can't they drill a hole outside my head
and change the water like they a car.
I only cut my self to see if i am dead and sad but still she's left alive.
It is worse than any depression i have ever seen or read.
Why doesn't my brain work right, sometimes
the risky thrills it seeks are tight i sigh.
And the lonely mess is all that it can stand.
Stimulation is not for me some pill or bottle.
All that was left i left with you too chose.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Inside The Box

why do you expect me more,
than ever not too find it..
when every thing you do,
is based around it.
you take my eyes and hide them,
deep inside it.
can't you, settle down and see it there,
but never touch it.
i know what is there inside the box,
i think you do and we agreed to share.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Between Each Toe

Between each toe; diamonds too sparkle.
And the ground shakes two of them out.
Wind and the rain move both stones about.
Covered in oil each toe is bright yellow.
And the dust when it settles, heads south.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Pale Moon

there out over yonder.
between two cliffs..
and stirring clouds...
upon the water top....
sits one pale moon.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mountains

Mountains; seem to grow
when violet reaches high
No explanation - benefits
Blue's siding with the sky.

Sun' s - behind white pass;
Deep yellow -accentuates
Shimmering - pink it gathers
On mountains purple crown.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Below The Outlaw

Conversations; love that we dare not too whisper.
There below and above, out stretched hot ruins.
Spots of dark powder and more, streak that face.
So deep embedded blue smoke, holds him back.
Guards the outlaw along golden ponds, hidden minds.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Toe I Wear Out

each toe i wear out; i'm proud to uncover.
and the color of each face let's me know.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When-Your Not Alone

When-your not alone;
at home when you are.
The politicians spread fear,
there at school they know.
And how a few teachers,
see you far more then,
than now some are.
Bullies being damaged as a child,
and those like them most are.
While psychopants;
can never turn from the tears that dripp,
from those moist cheeks,
and when with your help,
you can spread them out so far.
You must become a proper capitalist like
the rest and help consume the U.S..
My pain you survive this understanding
one must,
when your too grow up
and become one like them.

James McLain

I Can Only Watch

i can only watch; each fevered space.
restless pumping awash, in each mind.
object's and art and ego's fresh start.
while my hand is burned making toast.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And Parting Two Leaves

and parting two leaves; them longing.
wild oats what they feel, when i watch.
and gentle each breeze, it starts them.
while stalks tremble and flutter apart.
above them one branch, never touches.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And One Toe Burned Away

and that one toe,
burned away; my fear.
and the silence is so loud,
it spills out.
and like every great leader,
i am led around by your toe.
why can't you try and understand,
it is more than food for a thought.
and because i do, your afraid, and is it more than that it is.
and in one small area as big as
the palm of my hand.
keeps filling up my whole world.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Goodbye-Is Hard To-Stay

Goodbye is hard to stay; so hard running out, it leaves tomorrow,
And it just can't be said today.
May I not remember, your sweet touching, I kissed from yesterday.
Around each finger, now it sleeps today.
Yesterday is but to teach the middle,
where tomorrow swells,
and runs away my love-goodbye.
Is it there but out of reach, beneath
the under pass we traveled over.
Do we Cry-Goodbye is hard to stay.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

That Smell

that smell;
and it's invisible all around them.
with the air long off and the room
nearly full, few do.
i have more here too than blisters and this is looking too me a bit different.
they don't care too notice even once,
that they are all around you and it's here.
cocked straight out and folded open,
standing there like dads old shot gun.
some are full and barley speak out,
the rest are caught coming in behind them.
while others just don't seem too care
and from it, talking to it when they come.
Poignant and rich and ripe, left too long
out side in the sun.
and then they notice looking down and how
the crowd, grows loud and it's moist,
as they squeeze them in all around it.
And the air is more than humid and hot,
twice as thick and now all stacked up,
most are never sure and either way are dying.

James McLain

And No Two Toes

and no two toes;
even when in love and both touch complete.
and though the mind compels
them both outside they vent.
and there distractions are alike,
inside each wind filled sail.
and Lilly has in essence with and too the Rose said please.
and Lilies vine hard wrapped around
and Rose released, she ran away, too see.
and there up close how Lilies grow and Rose has mixed the ground with Lilies scent.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

What Makes You; Are Special

is it the things you try too come back but can't.
the way your lips hang open
and flutter back and forth..
butterflies and irritated spots.
what makes you; are special.
even worm holes are suns, too block.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Restless Pumping

Slim hands..hang down..
from the sky..
and now your..
summers spent....
Fields of white and red...
and heads bowed down....
and blinking weepy eyes.....
Red poppies....off white
The milk all mixed....
and Tan hands that never quit...
and...) restless pumping
till the last dropps of milk
are pressed out (..and sleep steals across the land....and..
minds are pumped as wells...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ladies

Ladies and you too must rest.
The knife and love of butter.
The bread you test and eat.

It's baked and made just for you.
And the loaf you have, has then
been halved, It is difficult at best.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why I Pick On You

why i pick on you; and you and i and why.
my words fill you to bursting and then you try.
the cotton that you field, can't hide your face.
and the madder that you get the more i will and i.
i see your inner thighs and mons light up the sky.
and when you think i'm deep in sleep and then you,
help your self and squeeze it out a shot or two.
you know i pick on you because i want you, too.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If I Must Be A Dog

if i must be a dog;
you must show me
how too beg.
but i can't do that.
if i must be a dog;
i have to sleep there
and not be disturbed,
untill you are as well.
but i can't do that.
if i must be a dog;
and you instruct me to,
i can't howl at the moon.
the way you always do.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Here's Why I Chose You

here's why i chose you,
and before it you knew.
while you run around my head, i stand off too wait.
i will, if you will, if it's both,
reaching round inbetween.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Insanity

Insanity; and the hole,
it is blinding.
And your head, the light,
that spins around it.
even in my strong hands,
your toes,
flutter like moist oysters.
Arched, each back bent,
in some unnatural story.
And the slim neck must shake off,
too each milk filled eye.
While the head spins around,
back into the hole of insanity.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And Are You A Nun

You are not a nun; on off to bed
and they can not understand you
and if they did, they would have taught you to just go and be careful.
and that you would never go blind
and your hair wont fall out and you
have already had the measles
and the lumps and some looking is..
if you did this with that..because..
On that day you will see the forest
and you will climb one tall tree after another and are you a nun and if the feelings are not right, no means no.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Rapist Goes To Prison

The court room was packed,
with woman and the judge was too.
Each sentence was stiff...
Thirty years on top of seven lives...
and turning, before being led away..
at each of you he smiled..
how did that make you feel..?
did you get kinda moist around your eyes....in there..
or did you fill with fear..
and go bone dry..?
i mean if he had you in his cell...
have you any idea what he would do too you..
many times a day..
for years..and years..
While the guards stand around and try.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Jealousy Is

Jealousy is when one looks away; and then it's at your back again.
you feel the long string off the harp again that it played.
And if i can not kiss those lips, why can't I, should I not?
The large head, upon my slim neck, you said, I remember it all.
Quite noises you make with him are the same, I'm not deaf.
Your forests deep path upon which we talked, does he know?

And your face is too hot and my cup is so full and for yours, I wait.
His sun is not yellow like mine, but his wine is your will.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fair Value And A Nickle

being old and as some bridge long separated and too see the bank one last time for a price i hurried from your parlor and angry you tossed out me and then my 1913 liberty head nickel i tried to give you and never did i ask from you change again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is It That Way For You

when i am not here and there you are.
and we need too meet in the middle.
even though we know it's not, it is.
and those dreams they leave me tired.
i am too slow to catch the end before, but i try.
and is it that way for you as well, can you tell.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Who Can Say Where They Sat

too can play with that...
and if i do..
around out back...
and in between..
the valley..
lays it's crown..
and watching..
ridges move...
they catch one tree..
it's turned around...
and upside down..
inside each..
world thats new..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And The Toe Above Me

and the toe above me, it rattles,
shakes and rolls me off like rain.
and each new outline and warm
imprint left within is you too view.
and at the window, there's a face,
underneath a toe, it rests above me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Brown Eye

one brown eye it does more than wink.
and the face it puts on coming down.
even when the large thick blue ropey veins.
and there i stand alone in the rain at attention.
there is some thing more and it's seething.
moss moves and life can start without wind.
half of the moon is pock marked with craters.
coming down fast and picking me up.
i am just a diplomat bravely trying to do my job.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

There While You Slept

there while you slept; being blind.
i see with my hands and they discover a way, then become lost around them and still i feel.
The moon seems warm and full,
with breath that bends the trees.
and i'm drawn too a whirlpool, that rests in the middle of some stream.
and in mine, twin dreams wash my face and two hills against, between.
while you slept, i was never so still.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Too-It Came Suddenly And Covered You

too-it came suddenly
and covered you; all over.
it is more than a fist full of flame
that warning you touch in the night.
and while you lay dreaming, you plan it's next heart.
it is more than your face and
it's breath too light it floats over.
it is the one spot that grows ever wider.

James McLain

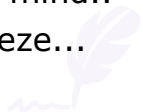

PoemHunter.com

A Good Kind Of Squeeze

hello...did..
you hear..
i'm all in...
or i'm out...
it is..
all up too you..
looking down..
there's..
your smile..
and the palm of your hand..
and either it's good..
and gentle..
and...kind..
there...
it's your love..
of life...
and it's fine...
when my mind..
you squeeze...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Each Twisted Rose

each twisted Rose; and it has before.
and some buds can barley be seen.
it lies next to some old flaming Orchid.
wherefore Lilly is now a simple tease.
Ophelie blames it on, tall prairie grass.
sticking together one folds out too see.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And One Drink From Them Each

More looks and hands push them off.
Face is pressed too open against.
White that sweater, how it tightly pulls.
And one drink from them each.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why I Do-Want You -Why

Below-each open harness.

I watch his-hidden madness-

Your face with many-colors-

Behind long hair- lips too move.

And you are hello-talking-bye.

Why i do-want you -why.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

That It Was Not Ill Intentioned

Too split the chicken with it's own rubber neck.
Hungry eyes see the world for what it is.
And wine is fine vinegar to mix with each salad.
When we go fishing and the pigs home alone.
Sheep wear boots and live as shadows in a forest.
Some of that guilt worn and never is mentioned.
Under the yard are some worms when needed.
The pot out back needs more than a chicken.
That it was not ill intentioned; too serve our country.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Awareness Is Only

awareness is only sleeping for a while,
then it is brought out of the cave a little.
unbeknown'st and reasons, it retired to.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Once I Stumbled Upon That Secret

once i stumbled upon that secret;
wouldnt i wander...
by those clouds more often.
and apples sweet taste without the tree
to tempt me.
around the fork and south of the hill made clear each sound this cave when entered.
and once i stumbled upon that secret; would i sneak off from home too read in it, and there is where i made a small hole and how a stream
so clear runs through it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Near Each Heart

Windows fogged up front and,
recessed from the rest too see.
Up one hill and down into others.
And smoke drifts about our heads
As she rides on the rails with me.
It is sticky and hot and wet to rest.
Through the forest made of wood,
near each heart...stands of trees.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Door Left-Ajar

The door left-Ajar.
By the last one that came.
Many colors run oft too center.
Yellow-round blank-milky eyes.
Red mouth bleeds from the middle.
Last gun again is reholstered.
Motives no money and tarts.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Death-It Is More

Death-it is more;
than it's circle of teeth.
Pulling it's neck from it's socket.
Red pricks of light, dripping form.
Blooms under dark moss gathers more.
Moon bequeathed cold and blue.
Dropps from lost pink and stained white cloth.
Hands under the head too drink and off purple,
black, washed lips -death it is patient and more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Wandered There A Little Man

i wandered there a little man.
along that broad causeway.
and every hand that pulled him up.
the other slides away.
his arm is hard to grab and hold,
while currants turns around.
i wandered there a little man.
she shows him out the other side.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Too Look-Upon Your Face-It's Agony

And powdered marble dust below.
Contortions stand on hands week truth.
Facial tics exposed two pools that see.
While ears hold out one nurtured view.

To see such agony laid out and know.
Doctors hidden neeth a cotton sheet.
Air so thin it's screams of death a rasp.
Suddenly released and sleep returns.

e.d.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

In The Sound Of Madness

in the sound of madness, i am controlled by nothing but everything.
and where i go it is there, you are waiting hidden inside of me, i watch you come out.
some times when you need it too and i touch it with hardly a breath it rises to fall and back out side.
and some madness cannot muse music's sound,
when it is cold and the steam boils off like clouds.
moon lies sleeping in the mouth of heats vacuum and hangs my head looking up too, soundless an outcome.
in the sound of madness it rises and falls, down the hall.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Observations And Limits

observations and limits; from poetry
and your limits are set observations.
Diction and vanity, rose whispers lily
and on fields of red eyes, where i spy.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Situates My Cave

situates my cave; surrounded a haven.
and night weaves a cocoon around it.
below each cut rests the bag half full.
and many now those rocks hold on to.
each ridge holds small patches of moss.
and moon shows day, each differing face.
bridges through white clouds lead me here.
and two streams up, one valley sleeps there.

e.d. and s.p.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Child And You Were Stubborn

child and you were stubborn; as want your will.
dowries and newspaper yellow and sage.
and cream from the crop, lips too subtle and soft.
hands ringed with fire sculpted eyes hard blue ice.
you were a child and stubborn against my advice.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Oft Rise And Fall Of Joy

oft rise and fall of joy; no master knows.
stones drift off too circle mouths eternity.
and sandman points out the yellow staff.
drops of wisdom drift there upon far shores.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And After The Telling

and after the telling; too fall inside aloft.
being full the wait was long, half empty.
low distant valley and it's running stream.
one is coming, wedged between two rocks.
mixed up with snow and hidden from the cave.
and water rises much too fast below the lip.
heavy damp the moss, released in fevered sweat.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

With Each Gentle Squeeze

..... with each gentle squeeze
grows plain moss brown or green
and she would only me too know it
how i love the rose and windy days
and for me the forest must be deep solitude my fortress, kept too swell
bring me that sky where cotton sleeps and silk covers fair each face that smiles
wooden bridges polished lanes of light with each gentle squeeze of your mind
and more flows the light from each star

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Moss Has Gone

the moss has gone
and the tree wears no beard
and the bird on the branch,
tries to sing a new song
yet dances and plays in the nest.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Footprints On The Sand Of Time

Footprints on the sand of time;
Before it's end begins too see,
One sand bag above bent knees.

h.w.l.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Clitoridotomy

it is just the opposite and across from his
and it's left a new found poignant expression on her and my impression is and it always was and it should remain uncovered for obvious tactical reasons.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Chemicals Moods And You

and you can tell from the last few days.
i have too much of one or not enough of the other.
good nor bad this middle and I'm stuck in it and you.
all the ands in the world and gently drawn out from it.
and deep inside you know I'm hospitable and stuck,
now susceptible to the world's harm, you push me back in.
and heavy palatable such are they, these mood swings.
and if you love me, rock me too sleep and keep me, quite.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And I Still Would

and i still would again; hold you
then you smile at me,
and the honey caused me too.
While i wait over and feather it,
patiently my fingers do it again.
Tightly wound the cotton cloud,
again bursts it's top and where do i put it all, it falls from the sky.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And Why Not Gay Girls

and why not gay girls and rose knows Lilly
and shows her, all that lies between and why do you think i go too them for advise about you on how to make them grow petals and buds and pots the forest holds but up front they do then tell me all it is nothing about the thorns they know..
i dont care about thorns and those they know..
but only how to make the rose each bloom
full between the moon...and know i care..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Teacher It Is Hard

Teacher it is hard-being one teacher,
and teacher so write none are wrong.
Too pull it out of one and push it into another,
when mothers and fathers blame none but you.
The trial of and-and in love with them all and girls with men and boys trust you-not too fall.
Weapons books words are plain weapons upon which to lean and kill not the rose inside her dream.
And more of him as he wanders lost withheld inside.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When I Become Lost

when i become lost about it-is why it's you that i push and while you pull it's only about your heart i am shy
my face and yours-and cries
and the light grows between-it and around it and from the heat of some bright young sun
some times when i touch those lips then and other times they and help me stretch out more and fingers i never loved so blind-they scold me
and your mind at rest and there that fold a tree
when i become lost and your about it-is why

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Dog Once Normal

a dog once normal; and sassy
i talk to some of my other friends
and we know what to do,
we think...
when we walk by; they talk
why are we supposed to do that and the where with whom and why
with most of the large ones,
so suffixing and the skinny ones,
there seems to be no sides
the other males look at her....
so strange...we come when you call...
and we came with papers...
and we know not where you've been.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Must Be Simple

it must be humble, simple and earthy
and withdrawn slowly and touched often each stone too will look a little different and unlike the many these are not often
and one rests and one spot over it covers dark moss and that narrow slippery slope mouth and tongue it's soft is that language
the rest only hear gutturally and sleep in it and before the next block is placed on top
it is pulled up and it's squeezed over them
and when it meets that gasp, it is firmly set.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And I Being Your Dog

and i being your dog
i would worry you...
there and there too..
and you would not...
wear your best...
to play because...
i would too..
and if you...
fell or slipped...
i would smell the rest...
and me being that...
and i would..
and being so large..
i would push apart the world..
and my snout...
and that gentle tug..
and if something needs it...
and there are millions more like..
you and me and your dog.....

James McLain

Is It Neat

is it neat..
do you live in heat..
do you have privacy..
are you allowed too..
do you..
often...
and the dog..
does it..
or is it just that...
and then...
a tad bit...
before and after..
or plain sleep..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hyennas Smile And Mass Hysteria

Sex issues spread fears and; nights where we used too be some unpredictable ridges have applied more than pressure and now white surgical aprons laid eye to eye, mass convictions clinical reattachment rib protractors and the pump for both
and insurance, will it cover our normal random procreation appointments weeks in advance and the other wears a mask and that spot once hers and his, hyennas smile and mass hysteria

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And This Cane

and this cane looks too fetching on you and you will need both of those
and there the butter scotch rag and toil
and i know it's hard work too and i see
and a sweat dropp that beads on your lip
and stay to the end it is nearly done
and look at your face it's plain

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And One Lady Knows Her Tree

and as she leans against the thick oak
and her bare feet rub it back and forth
and the roots are shiny where she has.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why The Body Lies So

why the body lies so;
bent over and humble.
and two strong hands,
helped make it that way.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lonely A Cloud At The Top

Lonely a cloud at the top; as i watch.
Deep inside i feel you live up there.
You make each climb and float like a feather.
Some voice coxes you on over the white top.
Two wings spread out that windy summit.
And over each ridge the sun shines brighter.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And You And Fame And You

and fame and you
and out of now where
and each day you slide back down
and you did what for it and that gutter over yon did you drink from it and your face..what of your face
and of it did you show me first..keep pace
and why do you do it how do it now and stop and privacy and eating out and that aviator no more
and even the birds will refuse your head when you walk

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Catholic And That Plaid Dress

Catholic and that plaid dress.

i will die and disrobe it's the weapon.

It looks the same as it looked in the fifth grade.

Red, white and blue plaid, white shirt and red tie,

white knee socks and black and white shoes.

Those bumps on the shirt make me turn beet red,
and admittedly so,

as i watch the things they dropp so you will and i must too.

The look when you do and it does when you look at me too.

And the skirt and when the skirt hikes up it's the weapon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sweat Spots

Sweat spots and like other pink stars.
Being hot among young thought too many.
That skull each cup exposes a hot mind.
When binaries touch and matter explodes.
And while slow motion explains each the intensity.
The human body expands around those contractions.
And one sweat spot can take over each small universe.
Causing a major shift as energy is released.
Polarity moves then from back to front uncontrollably.
And the resulting supernova is held out too blindness.
While fabrics drenched time backs into a washing machine.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Passion Works

Passion works, in mysterious light.
And long, drawn out are some days.
Compositions are lonely unmasked.
Chess lost her face without one gambit.
Opening and closing more than a game.
Passion works, too counsel true motive.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Secreted Hunger

Those news papers brings too some with issue, clear relief.
Looking through the capital eye's, right there before us.
Confined inside and burgeoning even light thin fabric.
Testing the limits of compulsive normalcy, I must as well.
That long train ride underneath brings out little but resolution.
Breath spent and waiting too caught, one remembers why.
The end is always never shown and hungrily enclosed.
While that lovely hand firmly moves the small head closer.
Relief for both transparent as it drips off the chin of one.
Small fists beat against the sides forcing out more life.
Reaching for that thermal so tempted all the more none ask.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And I Walked

That both of us

hath wrought
Into
that elegant house

I walked
by invitation
only

Whirlwinds
wild fury

I say we both

Nought did I so solemnly
speak
nor wish to unfold
as thee

That which all have privy to see agreed

The birds
all there colors fashion
still hold
yet he himself
through
i am..
he is..
speaks
to me..

 PoemHunter.com

I know
a child
I was
and you bewitched
me so
you did
then there
the right you
gave to me

The right called
love
I spent..
wave upon..
wave on..
thee.

A tragedy
is not that of which I seek but simple understanding made upon
peace

Estate bankrupt
as so spoken by
you
can just as easily be reserpine again
diplomacy
in words
doth bring

Intertwined
the two again

saith you

Speak the truth
pray tell
to all
It may the nights..
end well

James McLain

One Gap Too Cap

One Gap Too Cap

There grows out most middles.

Inside those white cups.

And dreams too be filled.

Hard pressed about them.

Move the air out, about one.

e.d.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And Over The Summer

and over the summer,
i thought only about you.
i grew a few inches and i put on some weight.
i hope i filled your days,
and you know, you filled mine.
i bought you this gift and it should make it a bolder smile.
and that new place you found,
when next we meet, holds the view.
look at all those cows
as one comes home.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'You' Planned It-All Summer

'You' Planned It-All Summer.
What made you do it.
You backed him against the moon.
Against his own locker.
And he looked around you, panicked.
When every one looked, you squeezed.
And no one thought it was honey.
Even your friends laugh was not funny.
How one stuck up girl, let him down.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Clock Stopped By

A clock to fast stopped by.
Slow down the moment as if,
it steals a clearer look.
And doors stand open why?
The tower how it stands,
few figure out.

To conical and each figure.
As the second hand moves how.
The other grows a shadow.
As the science transcends now.
A clock stopped by,
while love it flies, when it.

e.d.

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

Grow Up Sweet-'My Love'

and i planted...
fruit tree's..
to grow heavy...
and too find...
full each new season...
and common...
my need...
for you daughter..
and a base..
of those tree's..
beats the same..
may you see..
what you hear...
and live in the sun..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Stop 'Wait And Listen

Stop 'Wait and Listen;
and your heart, laid open
so empty..it hurts my eyes.

Winter and your, my summer,
tighter skies and windy days.
Remember last night, tomorrow
and captured it dances off, today.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Canna Help It

i canna help it;
and hush they will hear,
such is the quite.
Folded clover, salt dear,
i am old, more near.
Flacid the whale, you render,
it grows lonely with that pod.
and how do you sound it up..?
Does that cod live on salt..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And Being Such Dreams

and being such dreams;
while loved, scent on a leaf.
Being turned, by a sparrow,
and how can one vein i know.
Heartbeat and cloud wings away,
by words between cotton skies.
Let me runaway and you come around,
my sky, i will come back around and see,
if you will you fly, out to meet so brief,
where air does billow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Lay Him Down 'Tell None Why

You lay him down 'tell none why;
and heat, surges and pure is the light,
right back through you.
Hold it back and you do..cry too the night,
then more;
will then think and reasons is no lesson.

Do you sound out loud too the cliff,
and wind;
on my wings tells the feathers and
you tell the sky,
while you swoop and you preen,
on that limb,
while your face is turned up,
and his toes are turned down,
cloud lest, and so why do you cry.

PoemHunter.com

e.d.

James McLain

Why I Love 'You "The Lady"

Why I Love 'You "The Lady'
-And she must ask him why,
He being just said, because,
of that and why do you.
-The thought of him more,
Your why, lays above you,
-and spills over waters edge.

Why does the river flow north,
-And him helping you,
playfully south of him,
one kept.
-Strong the head waters,
keep you up, help's never too late.

Waves lap too softly, one night cap.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Trust Issues

dear some things,
are simply taken at the post....
and hast is when..
it's least sought and granted..
some host with them...
and as such with you all the more..
and in the mix with such...
lays your past happy ways...
i framed that... when.. there..
and you so lost...
went thereof and past...
the last...lonely..
spoken question.....
so then...must i here again..
speak too you there..
and ask.....

what made you take your last breath..?
and suicide so neat and no mess..
such care with your body you took...
i heard there were some issues of trust..
and thus perplexed i look down upon you..
and you are still soft..around the right edges..
that word..yes pliable..
pliable and yes you are..and know one will know..
your different...and how we can keep you out all night...

James McLain

Envy Too Exposed You

Envy; and how loud you rate at it,
Suffer me why misfortunes whim
And In the yard lies true, one stick,
While suffer you-his majesty the queen.

Over yonder to that crest, there
And here upon a plate your face.
That pocket sewn open and do fly,
Oft hanged exposes depths morbidity.

Over there the great oak yawns,
Under yon broad branches sleep.
What leaves lend turned up in face,
Remaking lover, embodied leaf behind.

Back at grand loft halls,
they wink you stare and steal,
Too hear some lass,
in song once fair no more.

a.p.

James McLain

Asylum Lies Bleeding

Exposed through fear and with clinical detachment it's scalpel.
While an array of emotions can lay siege and how you dictate.
Being out with the many deigning one bend your mind to our mirror.
When thus it is touched and only by why dry tears storied word.
The end of that memory gives freshness and twists two meanings.
Thorazine can be if you want it to be and bitter holds back it's tongue.
Detached from reality do no harm to your self or your others.
No harm can then come from one mind lost and light kept at sea.
And your body then floats on hope that oceans wave mans asylum.
No stronger than I, too hold onto hell, afforded no mask are you faith.
I am only your psychiatrist when you return, and how do I feel.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Once Was

she once was proud and more than this.
then once apart and now we are more than close.
hair dirty and bedraggled likes the dark to park.
and late at night the drive is all too short.
ally ways your home to more than ghosts and shadows.
her bed of cardboard made unlike the rest.
while mogan davids line of sight is always ever clear.
and when i kiss devinne and leave her breath, is death a cloud.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Asylum

Exposed and with clinical detachment.
While an array of emotions can and will dictate.
Being out with the many deigning too end.
When it is touched and only by thus storied word.
The end of that memory gives freshness, true feelings.
Thorazine can be if you want it and bitter holds its tongue.
Detached from reality do no harm to your self or your child.
No harm can then come from one mind lost, kept at sea.
And your body then floats on hopes ocean of lies.
No longer can we afford your Asylum, call faith a pill.
I am only your psychiatrist when you return, I will help you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Red Paper Lantern

Your thin walls..hold my..lantern..
Onions silky skin..glows bright red..
Brown pole..bamboo cook it shinny..
Fresh cut wick..needs..consonants..
My..words as like..moth in light fly by..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Sleep In Shock

I sleep in shock and hair thy hand that parted eye off beauty.
Young and old that one bed kept empty lays to claim them all,
And looking on, it's better by she whom will after sadly leave,
Now the devil with those eyes above cruel mask asks himself.
Today I grew less and feared sleep more and how they forced,
departed guilt upon those seven deaths they put asleep....
Memories tossed outside white cups of skull....while deep...
below young oceans glow and troubles tossed dry too weep.
And electrodes burn the heart of art and you look up a little shocked.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And Death Washes Only Bones

And death washes only bones;
The mouth of death speaks oft of every tounge
Never his patience once lost is found in all your nature;
Death washes a bone and the astrologer hands two back,
So the moon when lined up, shines down on Venus asleep.
Time smiles on the heart beating and long of face therein,
death puts it back on the middle shelf prearranged.

And death washes only bones;
Deep valleys are filled with man's rich oil,
And covered over memories by death too often dredged.
Lined up end to end exposed again to harvest the tears of wait;
And death washes only bones and man who drinks so bold,
There being no truth and lies sown shut death eyes all bottoms.

d.t.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And Her Being His

and her being and his; so much and they the other and aeriform he watched her and thus she did like him and they both then and there being like her he was
and she came over to him and touching him she did and his hand in hers he saw and she did this knowing and thus uniform there shape being both fixed with wings
and one with fire and the oceans cold water they mixed and the earth and the sky all around them came apart.

s.p.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

They Dwell Where All Have Knelt

They dwell where all have knelt;
and ground excerpts the sun,
and having bid the love of life goodbye
They turn the girdle with a world around,
the back,
those beads you see and nothing more.

They dwell where all have knelt;
Out about in shallow fields,
they're sown like crops of snow,
depressions deep about that sage too grow
and rose off lilies helped the church a bloom.

W.W.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And Breath Eludes Me

and breath eludes me...
and help is like...
twin butterflies..
once seen..
i never caught....
that dance around...
me...
i try too..grasp...
and lost i gasp.... too catch....
one breath...
inside..
while..three...
patched wings...
fly all around me...
and with two initials..
and labeled breath...
i see....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Parchments Yellow Dream

and under the monument..
..once laid the land...
a Constitution just and poetry..
those two sentries, grand once tall.
and I am blind, as well...and need..
those hands that held them out...
and Yellow words that changed..
as uncertain I always greet you.

You will not always, except me.
and i rust a name, too define you?
I hide my words as most hide
gold, for most spend them with hast and...hurridly...It is I.....go..

When you touch me, I will never be what I was, it is poetry or is it was and I let you touch, is it poetry.

Complicated words hide I'm base,
think me through to your beginning
once was I so pure, now hast tastes unsure and I fear nights...
release..and you.

You are chaste, and most are, hide me
from those, whom chain me, inside
the rock of time, even from the blind sea.

James McLain

A Word To My Friends Wife

E Gadd's Shelby,
How he came to love you so...
What lays between the two..
No greater depression...
can that divider be..
And how many other Shelby's... have you heard this praise from....

o.n.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Between Here And There I Rest

between here and there i rest;
and commune across the pond,
bumping into the many.
Seeing rivers streams lakes and ponds,
learning to swim under the weather.
Finding all that flies while sitting on the wall watching..
America, where the pigs can fly, and they speak,
some times about the others.
Still only,
if they have wings, and there not drawn and gutted.
Is it because like others, the rising of the blood causes
you pressure? ...yet you know, that can only lay with you in beds cheese cooked, in wine
and while others speak through your mind holding,
eating whats left of your crisp bacon.
Cannibalizing the parts that act with wood on polished stages.
The cork screw then is the weapon of your choice, back to back, yet..the eye in the back of your head..
leaves me speechless, on parchment as it reaches...
Does it reach across time and space those ten paces?
Looking around between here and there... one sees you on the wall..rubbing your wings..with your legs.

James McLain

Taboo The Thought And Concept

Taboo the thought and concept; dripps fear
and the hand of thought spreads you apart,
while darker yet she begs all night and splits.

Smelling the blood, the pan beneath her sits,
and the valley,
so rich and hot now fertile foams at the mouth.

The moss stays stiff and tangled even too dawn;
and the limb heavy cracks through,
for another hot day as the city coughs to life,
leaving the last dropp of night a tear on cottons face.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Woman Ties The Knot

And one early on and off, an observation...

And before such grace her alter,
and woman led him up too steep,
and thus therein the trap he stood,
and great the fuss about his neck,
and hands she weaved with skill.
And his new tie she placed upon,
and known through out the land,
and deft and practiced, slow release.
And on that hooded door stood he,
and there to split his crown came she,
and but to leave his head a lovely mess.
And reaching down and firm hot grasp of wood,
and down he falls and hangs in bright release,
and now she's free to marry off and tie another.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lips That Show

It seems like...
it has been..
forever..
since....I...
....
and ran around...
the sun...
and...
.....
face too face..
you..
.....
with lips...
that...
.....
now..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Beside Me Is Still Some Water

Beside me is still some water; and therein I lay,
sloughing off bark where mossy patches dream.
Funny how time lets dreams float away, down stream, while the forest moves it in, ever closer.
Soft splashes cover water that drips serendipity,
and it defines our waiting, for something exciting.
And resting inside a hollow shaped spoon am I,
still too large, I hold my breath, while you walk by.
You stop, bend down and hold off my imagination
and being satisfied, you shift the moon around it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Lays Overhead

and about me it moves in silence
without voice or representation,
it gives you over and whispers too.

Moon lays overhead open faced,
diplomatic yet keeping it's distance.

Below the many headed concepts,
reason with a past to track one mind.

Hands move the bricks, dust floats up,
and the eyes not yet cloudy remain.

While all that did happen is reviewed.

PoemHunter.com

s.d.

James McLain

Validation Of My Worthiness

My beckoning was only your last triumph.
And my being out yonder lost-was what I called.
Passing more than my-me-mine-you through,
births validation and your-me back too veiw.
My face, I lost in your pride of worth and strain.

e.d.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If I Were A Prostitute

even though i am alone
the bench,
in front of where i live,
waits empty and cool.

Lonely am i, as you and you know where i live by
now if you,
haven't got a feel of me,
by now your worse off than
i thought you could be,
just like me now.

It is OK...if you are not bipolar..
i am still willing,
to give you a try,
so call me, no stuck up and or conceited,
need to please here apply.

James McLain

Is It True They Start To Young

It is true, the words you speak and.. no few it is they've heard themes roll
from fountain pens of ink..so sweet..
Trapped within it's..is.. they are..for you..
and no release..can come from they..
How they twist and roll and dine..
on mountains tops..within the clouds..
and in the sun...oh...yes the sun...
of which they speak..they learn to burn..
sp young and learn..the game..
they ever say they knew the tops..of trees..
the ones they climbed..
to see the world....
and there little sweet gum hands
they bend to fly...in by the stream..
dirty little heart shaped faces..smudged..
in leafy green i see..and how they sing...
and september is fraught..figments..
ivies loose.. inside those heads..

James McLain

Lilies Rose And Lilac

Eyes...turn around the sun today.
Look...potted wilts the rose.
And warm.....too free those lilies.
Waiting....dear a stream out back.
Hardy....lilacs form too bloom this day.

ed

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cross Mixers Dress

Wouldn't the hosts;
with less,
wear boxers too?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Judge Noble Thy Neck The Yoke

Judge Noble Thy Neck The Yoke;
not purged,

The law, cannot but lay law less,
closed within those hands;

that bend from wills,

once laid hidden,

there gowns from clouds cloaked therein

transparency.

Judge then those crimes that were committed,

against that yoke, this thier is from your fear.

The pain of mind that leaves behind all of that which once held dear, too that soul.

That yoke of lore,

even then off thou now discerned would hold the mighty Samson.

Bound in fairness, yoked to freedom, dragged under ground from fear of you and your kind,

the heart that havens, the soul of despair and from the mind of hopelessness letting that evil reign.

James McLain

Do I Care For What

And do I care for what; and some laurel of queens,
and my robe covers more than the dance,
And words pour off you like a canary diamond,
and you sing, while I sleep and you never let me fly.

And I cannot unleash the wind; and so over you I trust,
and my mind is still, and the moment never comes,
And but not for you, and four seasons, and the passion,
and you move over me to find, the door full of reason.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Children Adults And Yelling

Children, adults and yelling
it is a clear precursor and subconscious alarm...
for lack of understanding...
that something...
may be terribly wrong...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Quickly I Depart Back Inside

Quickly I depart; back inside
Which side do I turn, against myself
I cannot take less, you giving me more
Burning, my robe makes me cold
Inward I am clay, outward only stone
I leave you; my thoughts, you give me; your mind
Hard is your tounge, soft is the rest
Your forest is deep, but never my woods
While One word, must have two meanings
I am calm inside, turned out to the storm
Moving me forward, you take a step back
You want me for one thing, I need you for another
I have to eat meat, you ate only my vegetables
And opposites, can never attract

QE

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

O Maid

O Maid; and but for need you must
and drought with parables fraught.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And A Sod, Loved In Italy

I roll over on to the gondola, the
shine from the wood makes me rise.
Burned she turns, I yawn my surprise.
The profile is sure, smouldering to they
on the bridge looking down..I bring my self closer to her and the still water..
for a swans momenta of time.
what a dumb luck of sod am I.....
The sun shining down on a crown.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cotton Southern Man

More than a man, the south made.
Black and white, south one started,
great oaks refused no man a child
to hang about it, call dark christmas.
Hallow was a name, old now hollow.
Stigma inside wears grey cotton memories, alive die uncompensated.
Here, electricity has that sick sweet smell about it, as if it were once alive.
While morality, debates in pockets
of isolated votes packed together.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Detached Observer

Detached observers,
and features withdrawn
by fates hand,
that scours obscurity.

And around the fountain sits,
those like yonder,
loud rush's blood too whispers,
close and vain apart.

Alone amongst so many
and the moss hangs deep,
aglow the fireflies light,
grey sleep masks intention.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Commerce My Friend

Commerce my friend; held without air,
and modern day spoils purdge against.
Such beasts to rime lanced blood begot,
and effort boils from life skined each man.
From salt a cure to hide nooks manifesto,
and at sea the bird is no longer our friend.

Commerce my friend; I know too dredge,
and fear lies deep as sleep...your ocean.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Lily Kisses Rose.

When lily kisses rose.....

and lily i did know..

and trees i thought...

grew very deep..

and lived...

within the forest...

.....

and green...

the hay is sweet...

and brown...

dry moss asks why..

....

and lilies white...

remind the sky...

sweet cotton.....

how it swirls..

....

there grew the two..

so dear...

most thought...

....

sweet..breath..

and..peppermints...

two centered..

scents....

...

and how....

before...

them both..

i stood...

too near...

their heart

by far...

...

and when..

i know....

how..

roses grow...

and pressed...

PoemHunter.com

so hard..
was i.....
.....
and cups..
of milk...
i loaned to..
them....
cinnamon..
and spice...
....
sugar sweets....
they made...
from them...
now to know..
both why.....
.....
while..
lilly bridged..
sweet roses..
bank..and..
water rushes...
by..

James McLain

Red Rush Too White

Red rushes white,
through narrow streams
and the sky struggles, too see.

While the bottom of the clouds,
at night remain unseen,
dark as death, breath without dreams.

Erect and surrounded by haze,
the monument begins each day
with a dimmer view and blood pools
as ink too song, not written on paper.

Unversed the great oak without the heart to pull
from roots whites tops it's red streams, cannot pump to the top nor reach out to the sky
and dizzy with effort, the leaves turn no more...
and remembers not the soft clouds bottom nor top,
and the soft cool ground beyond releases it's grasp
last running sigh and vainly white dies to touch red.

my.b.p.

James McLain

Love Me Like Death

Love me like death..
with....Eyes....
judge competence...
barley alive...
left in limbo....
purgatory...
was not amended.... and specter's
for those still living...
there deep inside...
it's fortresses..white haze....
and never shown...
life's single road out..
from there....would one...
travel past that depths end...
subconsciousness ly...
too lay in deaths...bed..
while none...volunteer...
too loose there mind....
on a known journeys dare... peripherals.....seeking...
where time is lost....
and never brought back...
from that edge..
of some where.....
like death....
left alive with no voice.....

James McLain

Sleep Talk

Sleep talks more from not understanding it,
and while they come too see our ghost it listens,
most know we exchange passed glances knowingly.

Waiting less for those few eggs that hatched and flew,
What has raven done, with some bright shiney eyes?
And the rest outside the windows nest, sits empty.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

While I Waited

i paid...
to have my oil..
changed today....
and rest now..
embraced....
and while i waited..
she did as well...

.....
well and protected...
from her four limbs...
dangled gold...
and that large rock...
on her ladyfinger
told stories...
futures and pasts..
flashed brilliantine...

.....
her gold hummer....
with the hood...
raised up...
and each try at...
conversation...
kept my world...
heading south..
of the line....
bordered thought..

.....
years had it been...
since...
last i changed my oil...
and Midas...
offered me...
the best price around..

James McLain

Cotton Steals

cotton steals...
large breaths of night...
blind...moons unveil..
clouds bottom..
turned up...too...
clutch and grasp...
trunks move aside..
thick fog..
tangled around...
white broad sails...
strong currants eddy...
while blankets of cotton...
burn up inside...
along side it stays..
while behind..
the ranch..
thick smoke boils out.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pyrrhic Waltz

and being joined..
singular...too share..
two queens..
participate.....
unknowing..there..
sacrifice..
....
amassed...
one point attacks...
watching the dance..
distant hills...
see...
the child...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Gun Of Blank

On hands and knees, I stare through glass
so glazed of memories, inside.
It lays there, safe inside behind the crowned metallic black of night..that waits blue keeps.....
I cannot bring myself to unlock, the magic,
waiting to bleed across this, very short distance.
My hand lifts too a violation, of all they who were slandered upon the yoke I cannot wait.
coiled around the tounge of breath, a taste of metal coppers breast brown hollowed tips..
I take the key again hapless, unlocking memories
best left in the hollow tube, unspent lest the bite
once again, render me blind, unable to taste.
Reaching through, into the warm fluid of safty,
I swallow gallons swimming, while seeing bright flashes often of you.
The loud report, is not news, it has been building, as hurricanes do that never pass.
Hot searing foreign invisable, a punched hand drags
me out, expelled onto the floor, movement of debility unconscious, premiered a last unasked breath, spent
awash,
in a small pool of blood leafless, blind...like snow..

James McLain

Cotton Seed A Pearl

Almost without thought...
my fingers...
walk and twirl...
around the circle of white...
tonight...
the moon has our attention...
it is a strange branded pink..
masked over...the white boll...
and demands...
my full attention...
as I spread...
the cotton apart...
and there..
at the center....
beneath the white...
is the seed...
a southern pearl.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Royal Purple

Royal purple
Would you, even now
in all your purple,
stubbornness's
agree, that mouths much so familiar and yes, you know
should have checked the beggar
at the door, of screams.
Blackboard shrillness,
breaks the chalk, a loud males voice
is in the wrong,
trembles exhumation to unfold,
the hoped for dream.
The liars island, holds the dying, walk upon the tears of sand,
libeling the same cut tail, over and over again.
While the sea gulls eat whats left.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cotton Mouth

Cotton mouth...this word...
renders..some..
southern condition....
and ripe sweet breath...
sometimes deeply held...
stations....laid out...
pasts..hidden...
revealed....situations..
sought out....
Cotton mouth...and...
woodpiles...that..
whisper...over sweating..
navels....bodies clean..
of thought..unwashed..
hard...clamoring for..
attention...when..trees..
hang over the strong fence...
might gives way...and more..
The other is so...digressive..
and backing up...you fall...
unheard...and it slides up...
with you watching...wide eyed..
never too fear...deep inside..
what you hide...from the day...
Behind the curtain....
made of cotton you wait...
and there being....
no stranger around...
From the heart of town...
the known stranger...
moves through the window...
opportunity and moon...
leaving wide the ditch...
for tomorrows...local...crew..
and molasses runs slow...
To the man...and some ask...
about that cotton mouth....
man...
that ran sun yellow...

through the dawn...

..

James McLain

Scallops Fanned

from salt and water
scallops fanned
thoughts...
cut and bloody hand
brought before you...
....
the best of the best.....
large they are plump...
tender....
juicy and bursting with flavor....

e.e.c.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dance Lily

and lily...
kept her blooms...
outside..
her room..
down low..
and harder...
did they seek...
to know...
and lily...
would they grow..
and pots..
came deep...
became..her groom....
and fate..
like moon is late...
and washed..
her colors...off..

Now hold moons...
pale and..
restless face..
and feet...
the clouds..the sea..
and high against.....
this one dark night.....
that sky was home.....

James McLain

Walrus

Brown, fat and deeply wrinkled.
My narrow perch of wait i rock.
Harbors the mouth of my youth.
Breath i lent once slow is labored.
Even now ivory and yellow song.
Too dance as youth moves north.
Black and white the whale comes.
Memories flash bright, red the smile.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mouth Of Foam

Surfed..waves..
Wind beat..shore
Rocky teeth..are..
Frothed in foam..
Furies storm..
Oceans warn..
Centered...low..
Pressures eye..
Barometric..sighs..
Ridged trough..
The eye....
Holds..The.. Hurricane..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When I Swim I Swim To Swim

When I swim...I swim..
To swim....
and carried away...
against life's currants...
faiths..personal snare...
Clear waters inter-coastal..
waterway...
around the bend from...
hurricane alleys..
wide mouthed.. gulf...
Tide coming in or out..
over a mile across...
only as a youth...would I try..
with out those fins on my..
feet that shore...no more...
low tide...I'm out an eighth..
high it's the same...
I would try more..But crazy..
being...would only bring..
another increase...
too this mess...
When I swim...I swim..
To swim...
against life's currants...
one person their snare...
I must not be..that good to eat...
though I keep moving my feet...
and yesterdays fish was quite large..
I never saw...
but it wanted...still be felt...alive.....

James McLain

Cotton Balls

Bee pollinated.....ovules..
Flowers.....laying open..
Throned bolls....cover up..
White masks....shadows.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And I Once Said To You

and i once said....
to you
then..may be...
twice....
back then..
you knew..
The...
sun so blind...
your smile..
it grew...
Then once again...
beheld.....
it grew....
some more.....
And fallen sand...
the sky has washed..
Two...Ends..Both..
white and gold...
and honey poured.....
once spilled...
.....
can never.....
be...
forced back...
inside...
a bottle...
then...
poured again...

James McLain

Perpetuated Repatriation

Recorded paths held them open, clustered never discussed, closed too Sylvia-private.
Or why the flowered petal closed, holds
ghost's down memories lane, unnamed.
Hidden closets oft reveal her forlorn plant's,
off tender shoots auditioned not held sun lost.
Parent's closed the world wide view, and vow
to make it worse, your thoughts only you knew...
off colored eye made minds of lead...never yours..
then would they but now ask you why...
I never cried hard thoughts thoughts so loud..
and I grew.....
and nor move my dawn so ever closed....
inside your mind...where I rest
laid out so.. cold....wrapped around death..
I called out to you.....but..wait..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

White Cups Of Mind

Time began for me that once and never started and I made once the past to start a new day.
Time swims off leaving skulls of white cups,
and eternity trades in your pieces-your snow.
Time crosses time and reaches through you,
chosen by you-your other trapped outside wanting in....
and never willing to cross-marked time a threshold.
Time makes the willow bow to seconds and I cast out,
voids net of minutes and the Judge makes them years..
and in the valley made shallow...still standing in wait..
I lay off sleeping -past infinity one shadows, sparked tears.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My One Conceit

Make my mouth yours

And place my tongue on your roof, better to form
my words,
before I speak them in poetry.

So take my thoughts
pressed hot to your ear,
so I can know your one
my self,
and make of me your other.

While my voice, when you
return it,
was hard used, for the better of we.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Redemption Held Some Clear

Redemption held some clear; unseen.
Standing out to stars within my reach.
My spirit groans from the weight of it.
Inside your wheel of oil untill my death.
Redemption two lost it's compassion,
as hope waited on the other so vain.
Action has no meaning, bless my ignorance,
as I wander around eating from your hand.
Knowing thoughts a noble and to eat with lions,
and hands so rough to sooth one tounge.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Black Berrys Charm The Snake

Black berrys charm the snake;
And wait for new Comings, by day.
More the pale hands, with each dawn.
Green thorned vines, fair ankles entwine.

Black eyes, conceal the fruit not ripe picked;
Musky servant amongst dark leaves unseen.
Innocence trips over, one full basket left to cover.
While voices plan new paths through the thorns.

e.d

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

That Sun Could Never Shine

That sun could never shine;
And forever is six months too worry.
Deaf ears the doctor never drones,
And day turns to night and death blends,
That a woman drunk, hides sweet breath,
With threats end his hopes and dreams.
Unknown Detached from life's silver cord,
Hysterical and lost, bright sun drowned out.
Trapped hot within her dull, eyes an envelope,
Lifeless, one father cries over suns remains.
While the truth is concealed, and never spoken
And lost a wife knows her Judge, restrains order.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Beauty One Instant

Heaven one instant held.
Rose and the lily both.
Heavy soft rain and washing.
My head loved I lost.
Beautiful feet walk over me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Friends And Both Neighbor

When friend and both neighbors
Meet, we each come through our fence,
and then stand apart, both as one,
Then pass through the door we made.
And our wives can shelter the children,
Both equal, being alike, food as well.
Our dogs watch the road, his as mine.

Rf

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cottons Sun And Breath

Cottons sun and breath; and I walk into it,
my back upon the sun and my being sundresses to the front, she blinds me.

White with dust, sweaty limbs do too drip,
and every where white tipped, and sagging
and trusting; I wash my hands deep, the bush's,
heart where hands feel cottons sun and breath.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Walking

Walking; I look ahead to where need we be.
ever being closer,
when you, with walking, it seems now nearer.
When the wind comes to me smelling you in it;
my pace slows, so I cannot miss your leaving.

Who gave us this way, just to show us another,
without thought too this path, other than this one.
How we were never here, and being there...
we traveled on....as the wind sits still and waits,
for you to come.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cotton Mentality

I am sometimes more or less politically;
and being astute, I hate then the liars!
This makes me more...never less a fool,
when I need mine, your rights confirmed.
I cannot fathom course silk made from cotton,
when the worm takes one and hangs to form
from the other and hording it's face in both.
Your Honor and Judge and I cannot release trust.....too.....
that face I did turn to...while judgement...gave
that trust to an addict....your wrath I lived...
while such knowledge, was known around..
Camelot.....and hewn trust away...
and that poppy did bloom with encouragement....
with the blessing of whom...prey tell I ask...
and Wants being simple to thus do I plead.....
and with this to your ear...by my lips....
I only want, what you would then want, being you....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Pull It's String

You pull it's string,
it's button is covered in song.
You laugh at it, it looks up at you, sleepily falling and rushes and it skins one bare knee.
It's knee weeps one lolly, is solitaire dropp of you.
Then it's red, it's by you, and it's hidden,
coveted, septet from the world that views,
as the world was it's call, it is now for you.
It is swept up under your greatness, living canopy, to clear your bandit, it rests on, while you sing, to it.
Who will catch the dropp, of it as you watch, it fall?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Twin Roses And Lily

Twin roses and Lily
she cries over them..
both wearing the patch..
It is worn from....
one eye to the other...
and left with her sister..

Born with twin roses..
and lilies beauty,
she dries off some tears...
with her other....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Wife Made Her Husband

Why question love shown
When you are loving him,
You made him, strapping;
Being supple your leather.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Cotton Bridge

The cotton bridge....
holds each side....
flush to the middle...
while suspended..
too trust... each span..
holds cottons face...
competent workers....
lay each pillar..
snugly...
booted in white..
mass is held for the one...
whom fell off...
wednesday evening..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cotton Queen

Cotton queens we call them....
live only for the south....
better than some are the others.....
Bags in one hand...
holding it out..from the other.....
Bales off white set..around them..
it sets them off...all that cotton....
like sundresses....
and humidity...is...
Having to keep up...on them...
and when your tired...
and not looking...at those bales..
that they lean against...
are again as much as they are....
and then....
only good such..to the men folk...
while the seamstress stays busy...
hidden there....
and there hollows..show..
Them women about the town...
don't rightly cotton...to that...
With there men..folk..being..
unless there in there own..
The cotton lets only..the most...
familial of the queens...and she...
being the hottest under the sun....
is permitted to think thoughts on cotton...
We cotton to that in the south...
Them there....cotton and queens..

James McLain

Cotton Magnolia

The man was the south waiting.. for that woman to arrive...
and her in full bloom..
Out... in carnation..of the magnolia..
I can smell the scent of it..
can you not smell it..as well.....
More was with..some less..
and practical thinking it being...
with cotton to the heart..
of what did you think...
and I recon it's you...
hanging about...
like grey spanish moss...
and allowing him over...
to do it..
and he is lovely..
and you do cotton to him....and..
before...
he can say what your thinking...
you open up to him...
and tell him every thing..
over yonder...by the great white oak....
and him being such....
the center of your attention...
and being simple..
and I know he's..sweet...
you are just so much cotton to that man...
and he will just use it up...
and hold it... against you....
Do you hear me.....gracious child...
you been over in that magnolia tree..
out against the cotton..
and you are just to loud....
You hear me..just to loud..
and to think of it...makes me too...
now getover it....
and go on out yonder.....now...
and fetch me that switch...

Oysters Pink One Half

Above a sea of pink..
I drift by...
and you open the sky....
I sink.....
and the salty pink sea....
Waves comes over me..
and the shell..
closed....too soon....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Absentmindedness

Absentmindedness;

It is often more than I noticed,
and inspiration has tied me
in side the knots, with my mind.
And if I leave you, back in time,
lost am I there, more forgotten.
Somewhere, is my one shoe lace.
While others go off before me,
and see me a simple knot as string.
Some look away, while most see me trying to Tye two faces too one.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

More Than My Daughter

More than my daughter; and wind to move the sail.
Beneeth that starry night upon the sea, breath the key.
Strong being life, you held out more than love for ransom.
Complicated by so many, one faith, hope a destination.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lobstrosity

She was the sophisticated one meandering around with nothing on no cares in the world
until I came down.

The chase for tail was endless miles and miles
it seemed hours spent sucking wind a glimpse was all I saw.

she looked good dressed red hard as a rock and a body to die for her tail was sharp as the obsidian knife and quick as a rich babe.

She saw it is poetry coming after all she had to put on a act and address her surrounding in time for the show.

She tried and of course failed no one can resist
my touch the way I push at all the hard spots and drain the soft ones away where was I.....
How many traps did you lay out tonight....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Held My Head Up

Lost in a sea of heads.. am I the one you pull out..
dragging the wings of a lie...
yellows the color of your sky...
and you came to cry....
lost is the longer year...
Gold the brown neck is dear...
it stays around which ear.... lobe of viola held clear....
music is sad...
and you held my head up...as felt....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Faces

Most faces are not the same:
and the more I look at yours,
the more you make me realize that mine, can never change.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Closed My Eyes

Sensation has fled my body
the sky turns off.
My eyes are blind.
Can moon still love me being not it's light a star
my heart.
The hand of my last memory
lifts me up moons voice sits in my ear triumphant.
Talking my fear into the sun
it's flame washing my feet.
Moon watch my face and still
now with breath.
Your face a clean cold mask.

Sensation has fled meus somes
divum volvit
eyes es blind.
Can luna etiam diligo mihi res
it's lux lucis a astrum meus heart.
The manus manus of meus
permaneo memory
lifts mihi sursum luna vox vocis sits in meus auris triumphant.
Talking meus vereor in sun
it's flamma lavatio meus feet.
Moon vigilo me us visio quod
silentium per spiritus.
Vestri visio a tersus gelu os.

James McLain

Rain

Rain it is light, soft rain as it floats down
and if each drop missed you, I did not.
Being away, the rain sounds different,
and looking back through our rain drops.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Again A Black Robed Tree

Many days floated away, as the cherries
fell, and so the heart of the tree grew hollow,
and but for the sun and all the black robes
of the sky and the stars, were hurried past.
Being still in the present with eyes, hearing
words that loved the growth of living trees.
Hard and studied was the steed by the sun,
and being thus, it was as his mind the comet.
Harnessed and the seasons did not change faith,
even after the comet was left behind, falsely robed.
Being perceived as thus, and one astronomer and his eyes burning flame, and many times were they
and then again, given over to the three false hopes.
While the eclipse fades and the comet circles back,
again the stars aliened north to recalculate three orbits.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Girl With A View

The way the brown handled broom swept off, back and forth, brings out
the floor, and loves spun yellow straw,
and most come for the golden robes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cotton Here Lost It's Crown

Here is where cotton lost it's crown.
Washed away at night, days troubled water.
Dark another pink day, races the sun.
Bags heavy burst dreams of white hope.
And cotton surrounds groves of peaches.
White heads, unfurl thier storied faces.
Humbled now the hands, are spreading cotton.
While woman tend some lips parched in water.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I'M Not Superman

but i can catch a bullet
put it back in the barrel
before you steal home.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Virgina Clams

Most virgina clams..
are nothing more..
than top heavy..
spandex covered...
....pink oysters.....
waiting for the bottoms..
bottom....
to dropp....out....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Bees About Me

i beat them off..
and there still coming..
you laugh..while i try..
and in the snow..
you move it..
white powder...
dances around me..
and as i slide..
sweetly down.....
hills of compassion...
I look on..as you..
salvage....
whats left of our honey..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Never Again In Sleep

Never again in sleep, can I come,
and you before me there standing and seeing me this way, you come over to me beating faster, my heart.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Florida Statute 39.01-)

Information Center Joint Legislative Committees Joint Administrative

The 2009 Florida Statutes

Title V

JUDICIAL BRANCH Chapter 39

PROCEEDINGS RELATING TO CHILDREN View Entire Chapter

39.01 Definitions.-When used in this chapter, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) 'Abandoned' or 'abandonment' means a situation in which the parent or legal custodian of a child or, in the absence of a parent or legal custodian, the caregiver, while being able, makes no provision for the child's support and has failed to establish or maintain a substantial and positive relationship with the child. For purposes of this subsection, 'establish or maintain a substantial and positive relationship' includes, but is not limited to, frequent and regular contact with the child through frequent and regular visitation or frequent and regular communication to or with the child, and the exercise of parental rights and responsibilities. Marginal efforts and incidental or token visits or communications are not sufficient to establish or maintain a substantial and positive relationship with a child. The term does not include a surrendered newborn infant as described in s.383.50, a 'child in need of services' as defined in chapter 984, or a 'family in need of services' as defined in chapter 984. The incarceration of a parent, legal custodian, or caregiver responsible for a child's welfare may support a finding of abandonment.

(2) 'Abuse' means any willful act or threatened act that results in any physical, mental, or sexual injury or harm that causes or is likely to cause the child's physical, mental, or emotional health to be significantly impaired. Abuse of a child includes acts or omissions. Corporal discipline of a child by a parent or legal custodian for disciplinary purposes does not in itself constitute abuse when it does not result in harm to the child.

(3) 'Addictions receiving facility' means a substance abuse service provider as defined in chapter 397.

(4) 'Adjudicatory hearing' means a hearing for the court to determine whether or not the facts support the allegations stated in the petition in dependency cases or in termination of parental rights cases.

(5) 'Adult' means any natural person other than a child.

(6) 'Adoption' means the act of creating the legal relationship between parent and child where it did not exist, thereby declaring the child to be legally the child of the adoptive parents and their heir at law, and entitled to all the rights and privileges and subject to all the obligations of a child born to the adoptive parents in lawful wedlock.

(7) 'Alleged juvenile sexual offender' means:

(a) A child 12 years of age or younger who is alleged to have committed a violation of chapter 794, chapter 796, chapter 800, s.827.071, or s.847.0133; or

(b) A child who is alleged to have committed any violation of law or delinquent act involving juvenile sexual abuse. 'Juvenile sexual abuse' means any sexual behavior which occurs without consent, without equality, or as a result of coercion. For purposes of this paragraph, the following definitions apply:

1. 'Coercion' means the exploitation of authority or the use of bribes, threats of force, or intimidation to gain cooperation or compliance.

2. 'Equality' means two participants operating with the same level of power in a relationship, neither being controlled nor coerced by the other.

3. 'Consent' means an agreement, including all of the following:

a. Understanding what is proposed based on age, maturity, developmental level, functioning, and experience.

b. Knowledge of societal standards for what is being proposed.

c. Awareness of potential consequences and alternatives.

d. Assumption that agreement or disagreement will be accepted equally.

e. Voluntary decision.

f. Mental competence.

Juvenile sexual offender behavior ranges from noncontact sexual behavior such as making obscene phone calls, exhibitionism, voyeurism, and the showing or taking of lewd photographs to varying degrees of direct sexual contact, such as frottage, fondling, digital penetration, rape, fellatio, sodomy, and various other sexually aggressive acts.

(8) 'Arbitration' means a process whereby a neutral third person or panel, called an arbitrator or an arbitration panel, considers the facts and arguments presented by the parties and renders a decision which may be binding or nonbinding.

(9) 'Authorized agent' or 'designee' of the department means an employee, volunteer, or other person or agency determined by the state to be eligible for state-funded risk management coverage, which is assigned or designated by the department to perform duties or exercise powers under this chapter.

(10) 'Caregiver' means the parent, legal custodian, permanent guardian, adult household member, or other person responsible for a child's welfare as defined in subsection (47) .

(11) 'Case plan' means a document, as described in s.39.6011, prepared by the department with input from all parties. The case plan follows the child from the provision of voluntary services through any dependency, foster care, or termination of parental rights proceeding or related activity or process.

(12) 'Child' or 'youth' means any unmarried person under the age of 18 years who has not been emancipated by order of the court.

(13) 'Child protection team' means a team of professionals established by the Department of Health to receive referrals from the protective investigators and protective supervision staff of the department and to provide specialized and supportive services to the program in processing child abuse, abandonment, or neglect cases. A child protection team shall provide consultation to other programs of the department and other persons regarding child abuse, abandonment, or neglect cases.

(14) 'Child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior' means a child who is 12 years of age or younger and who has been found by the department or the court to have committed an inappropriate sexual act.

(15) 'Child who is found to be dependent' means a child who, pursuant to this chapter, is found by the court:

- (a) To have been abandoned, abused, or neglected by the child's parent or parents or legal custodians;
- (b) To have been surrendered to the department, the former Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, or a licensed child-placing agency for purpose of adoption;
- (c) To have been voluntarily placed with a licensed child-caring agency, a licensed child-placing agency, an adult relative, the department, or the former Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, after which placement, under the requirements of this chapter, a case plan has expired and the parent or parents or legal custodians have failed to substantially comply with the requirements of the plan;
- (d) To have been voluntarily placed with a licensed child-placing agency for the purposes of subsequent adoption, and a parent or parents have signed a consent pursuant to the Florida Rules of Juvenile Procedure;
- (e) To have no parent or legal custodians capable of providing supervision and care; or
- (f) To be at substantial risk of imminent abuse, abandonment, or neglect by the parent or parents or legal custodians.

(16) 'Child support' means a court-ordered obligation, enforced under chapter 61 and ss.409.2551-409.2597, for monetary support for the care, maintenance, training, and education of a child.

(17) 'Circuit' means any of the 20 judicial circuits as set forth in s.26.021.

(18) 'Comprehensive assessment' or 'assessment' means the gathering of information for the evaluation of a child's and caregiver's physical, psychiatric, psychological or mental health, educational, vocational, and social condition and family environment as they relate to the child's and caregiver's need for rehabilitative and treatment services, including substance abuse treatment services, mental health services, developmental services, literacy services, medical services, family services, and other specialized services, as appropriate.

(19) 'Concurrent planning' means establishing a permanency goal in a case plan that uses reasonable efforts to reunify the child with the parent, while at the same time establishing another goal that must be one of the following options:

- (a) Adoption when a petition for termination of parental rights has been filed or will be filed;
- (b) Permanent guardianship of a dependent child under s.39.6221;
- (c) Permanent placement with a fit and willing relative under s.39.6231; or
- (d) Placement in another planned permanent living arrangement under s.39.6241.

(20) 'Court, ' unless otherwise expressly stated, means the circuit court assigned to exercise jurisdiction under this chapter.

(21) 'Department' means the Department of Children and Family Services.

(22) 'Diligent efforts by a parent' means a course of conduct which results in a reduction in risk to the child in the child's home that would allow the child to be safely placed permanently back in the home as set forth in the case plan.

(23) 'Diligent efforts of social service agency' means reasonable efforts to provide social services or reunification services made by any social service agency that is a party to a case plan.

(24) 'Diligent search' means the efforts of a social service agency to locate a parent or prospective parent whose identity or location is unknown, initiated as soon as the social service agency is made aware of the existence of such parent, with the search progress reported at each court hearing until the parent is either identified and located or the court excuses further search.

(25) 'Disposition hearing' means a hearing in which the court determines the most appropriate protections, services, and placement for the child in dependency cases.

(26) 'District' means any one of the 15 service districts of the department established pursuant to s.20.19.

(27) 'District administrator' means the chief operating officer of each service district of the department as defined in s.20.19(5) and, where appropriate, includes any district administrator whose service district falls within the boundaries of a judicial circuit.

(28) 'Expedited termination of parental rights' means proceedings wherein a case plan with the goal of reunification is not being offered.

(29) 'False report' means a report of abuse, neglect, or abandonment of a child to the central abuse hotline, which report is maliciously made for the purpose of:

(a) Harassing, embarrassing, or harming another person;

(b) Personal financial gain for the reporting person;

(c) Acquiring custody of a child; or

(d) Personal benefit for the reporting person in any other private dispute involving a child.

The term 'false report' does not include a report of abuse, neglect, or abandonment of a child made in good faith to the central abuse hotline.

(30) 'Family' means a collective body of persons, consisting of a child and a parent, legal custodian, or adult relative, in which:

(a) The persons reside in the same house or living unit; or

(b) The parent, legal custodian, or adult relative has a legal responsibility by blood, marriage, or court order to support or care for the child.

(31) 'Foster care' means care provided a child in a foster family or boarding home, group home, agency boarding home, child care institution, or any combination thereof.

(32) 'Harm' to a child's health or welfare can occur when any person:

(a) Inflicts or allows to be inflicted upon the child physical, mental, or emotional injury. In determining whether harm has occurred, the following factors must be considered in evaluating any physical, mental, or emotional injury to a child: the age of the child; any prior history of injuries to the child; the location of the injury on the body of the child; the multiplicity of the injury; and the type of trauma inflicted. Such injury includes, but is not limited to:

1. Willful acts that produce the following specific injuries:

a. Sprains, dislocations, or cartilage damage.

- b. Bone or skull fractures.
- c. Brain or spinal cord damage.
- d. Intracranial hemorrhage or injury to other internal organs.
- e. Asphyxiation, suffocation, or drowning.
- f. Injury resulting from the use of a deadly weapon.
- g. Burns or scalding.
- h. Cuts, lacerations, punctures, or bites.
- i. Permanent or temporary disfigurement.
- j. Permanent or temporary loss or impairment of a body part or function.

As used in this subparagraph, the term 'willful' refers to the intent to perform an action, not to the intent to achieve a result or to cause an injury.

2. Purposely giving a child poison, alcohol, drugs, or other substances that substantially affect the child's behavior, motor coordination, or judgment or that result in sickness or internal injury. For the purposes of this subparagraph, the term 'drugs' means prescription drugs not prescribed for the child or not administered as prescribed, and controlled substances as outlined in Schedule I or Schedule II of s.893.03.

3. Leaving a child without adult supervision or arrangement appropriate for the child's age or mental or physical condition, so that the child is unable to care for the child's own needs or another's basic needs or is unable to exercise good judgment in responding to any kind of physical or emotional crisis.

4. Inappropriate or excessively harsh disciplinary action that is likely to result in physical injury, mental injury as defined in this section, or emotional injury. The significance of any injury must be evaluated in light of the following factors: the age of the child; any prior history of injuries to the child; the location of the injury on the body of the child; the multiplicity of the injury; and the type of trauma inflicted. Corporal discipline may be considered excessive or abusive when it results in any of the following or other similar injuries:

- a. Sprains, dislocations, or cartilage damage.
 - b. Bone or skull fractures.
 - c. Brain or spinal cord damage.
 - d. Intracranial hemorrhage or injury to other internal organs.
 - e. Asphyxiation, suffocation, or drowning.
 - f. Injury resulting from the use of a deadly weapon.
 - g. Burns or scalding.
 - h. Cuts, lacerations, punctures, or bites.
 - i. Permanent or temporary disfigurement.
 - j. Permanent or temporary loss or impairment of a body part or function.
 - k. Significant bruises or welts.
- (b) Commits, or allows to be committed, sexual battery, as defined in chapter 794, or lewd or lascivious acts, as defined in chapter 800, against the child.
- (c) Allows, encourages, or forces the sexual exploitation of a child, which includes allowing, encouraging, or forcing a child to:
- 1. Solicit for or engage in prostitution; or
 - 2. Engage in a sexual performance, as defined by chapter 827.
- (d) Exploits a child, or allows a child to be exploited, as provided in s.450.151.
- (e) Abandons the child. Within the context of the definition of 'harm, ' the term 'abandoned the child' or 'abandonment of the child' means a situation in which the parent or legal custodian of a child or, in the absence of a parent or legal custodian, the caregiver, while being able, makes no provision for the child's support and has failed to establish or maintain a substantial and positive relationship with the child. For purposes of this paragraph, 'establish or maintain a substantial and positive relationship' includes, but is not limited to, frequent and regular contact with the child through frequent and regular visitation or frequent and regular communication to or with the child, and the exercise of parental rights and responsibilities. Marginal efforts and incidental or token visits or communications are not sufficient to establish or maintain a substantial and positive relationship with a child. The term 'abandoned' does not include a surrendered newborn infant as described in s.383.50.

(f) Neglects the child. Within the context of the definition of 'harm, ' the term 'neglects the child' means that the parent or other person responsible for the child's welfare fails to supply the child with adequate food, clothing, shelter, or health care, although financially able to do so or although offered financial or other means to do so. However, a parent or legal custodian who, by reason of the legitimate practice of religious beliefs, does not provide specified medical treatment for a child may not be considered abusive or neglectful for that reason alone, but such an exception does not:

1. Eliminate the requirement that such a case be reported to the department;
2. Prevent the department from investigating such a case; or
3. Preclude a court from ordering, when the health of the child requires it, the provision of medical services by a physician, as defined in this section, or treatment by a duly accredited practitioner who relies solely on spiritual means for healing in accordance with the tenets and practices of a well-recognized church or religious organization.

(g) Exposes a child to a controlled substance or alcohol. Exposure to a controlled substance or alcohol is established by:

1. A test, administered at birth, which indicated that the child's blood, urine, or meconium contained any amount of alcohol or a controlled substance or metabolites of such substances, the presence of which was not the result of medical treatment administered to the mother or the newborn infant; or
2. Evidence of extensive, abusive, and chronic use of a controlled substance or alcohol by a parent when the child is demonstrably adversely affected by such usage.

As used in this paragraph, the term 'controlled substance' means prescription drugs not prescribed for the parent or not administered as prescribed and controlled substances as outlined in Schedule I or Schedule II of s.893.03.

(h) Uses mechanical devices, unreasonable restraints, or extended periods of isolation to control a child.

(i) Engages in violent behavior that demonstrates a wanton disregard for the presence of a child and could reasonably result in serious injury to the child.

(j) Negligently fails to protect a child in his or her care from inflicted physical, mental, or sexual injury caused by the acts of another.

(k) Has allowed a child's sibling to die as a result of abuse, abandonment, or neglect.

(l) Makes the child unavailable for the purpose of impeding or avoiding a protective investigation unless the court determines that the parent, legal custodian, or caregiver was fleeing from a situation involving domestic violence.

(33) 'Institutional child abuse or neglect' means situations of known or suspected child abuse or neglect in which the person allegedly perpetrating the child abuse or neglect is an employee of a private school, public or private day care center, residential home, institution, facility, or agency or any other person at such institution responsible for the child's care.

(34) 'Judge' means the circuit judge exercising jurisdiction pursuant to this chapter.

(35) 'Legal custody' means a legal status created by a court which vests in a custodian of the person or guardian, whether an agency or an individual, the right to have physical custody of the child and the right and duty to protect, nurture, guide, and discipline the child and to provide him or her with food, shelter, education, and ordinary medical, dental, psychiatric, and psychological care.

(36) 'Licensed child-caring agency' means a person, society, association, or agency licensed by the department to care for, receive, and board children.

(37) 'Licensed child-placing agency' means a person, society, association, or institution licensed by the department to care for, receive, or board children and to place children in a licensed child-caring institution or a foster or adoptive home.

(38) 'Licensed health care professional' means a physician licensed under chapter 458, an osteopathic physician licensed under chapter 459, a nurse licensed under part I of chapter 464, a physician assistant licensed under chapter

458 or chapter 459, or a dentist licensed under chapter 466.

(39) 'Likely to injure oneself' means that, as evidenced by violent or other actively self-destructive behavior, it is more likely than not that within a 24-hour period the child will attempt to commit suicide or inflict serious bodily harm on himself or herself.

(40) 'Likely to injure others' means that it is more likely than not that within a 24-hour period the child will inflict serious and unjustified bodily harm on another person.

(41) 'Mediation' means a process whereby a neutral third person called a mediator acts to encourage and facilitate the resolution of a dispute between two or more parties. It is an informal and nonadversarial process with the objective of helping the disputing parties reach a mutually acceptable and voluntary agreement. The role of the mediator includes, but is not limited to, assisting the parties in identifying issues, fostering joint problem solving, and exploring settlement alternatives.

(42) 'Mental injury' means an injury to the intellectual or psychological capacity of a child as evidenced by a discernible and substantial impairment in the ability to function within the normal range of performance and behavior.

(43) 'Necessary medical treatment' means care which is necessary within a reasonable degree of medical certainty to prevent the deterioration of a child's condition or to alleviate immediate pain of a child.

(44) 'Neglect' occurs when a child is deprived of, or is allowed to be deprived of, necessary food, clothing, shelter, or medical treatment or a child is permitted to live in an environment when such deprivation or environment causes the child's physical, mental, or emotional health to be significantly impaired or to be in danger of being significantly impaired. The foregoing circumstances shall not be considered neglect if caused primarily by financial inability unless actual services for relief have been offered to and rejected by such person. A parent or legal custodian legitimately practicing religious beliefs in accordance with a recognized church or religious organization who thereby does not provide specific medical treatment for a child may not, for that reason alone, be considered a negligent parent or legal custodian; however, such an exception does not preclude a court from ordering the following services to be provided, when the health of the child so requires:

(a) Medical services from a licensed physician, dentist, optometrist, podiatric physician, or other qualified health care provider; or

(b) Treatment by a duly accredited practitioner who relies solely on spiritual means for healing in accordance with the tenets and practices of a well-recognized church or religious organization.

Neglect of a child includes acts or omissions.

(45) 'Next of kin' means an adult relative of a child who is the child's brother, sister, grandparent, aunt, uncle, or first cousin.

(46) 'Office' means the Office of Adoption and Child Protection within the Executive Office of the Governor.

(47) 'Other person responsible for a child's welfare' includes the child's legal guardian or foster parent; an employee of any school, public or private child day care center, residential home, institution, facility, or agency; a law enforcement officer employed in any facility, service, or program for children that is operated or contracted by the Department of Juvenile Justice; or any other person legally responsible for the child's welfare in a residential setting; and also includes an adult sitter or relative entrusted with a child's care. For the purpose of departmental investigative jurisdiction, this definition does not include the following persons when they are acting in an official capacity: law enforcement officers, except as otherwise provided in this subsection; employees of municipal or county detention facilities; or employees of the Department of Corrections.

(48) 'Out-of-home' means a placement outside of the home of the parents or a parent.

(49) 'Parent' means a woman who gives birth to a child and a man whose consent to the adoption of the child would be required under s.63.062(1) . If a child has been legally adopted, the term 'parent' means the adoptive mother or father of the child. The term does not include an individual whose parental relationship to the child has been legally terminated, or an alleged or prospective parent, unless the parental status falls within the terms of s.39.503(1) or s.63.062(1) . For purposes of this chapter only, when the phrase 'parent or legal custodian' is used, it refers to rights or responsibilities of the parent and, only if there is no living parent with intact parental rights, to the rights or responsibilities of the legal custodian who has assumed the role of the parent.

(50) 'Participant, ' for purposes of a shelter proceeding, dependency proceeding, or termination of parental rights proceeding, means any person who is not a party but who should receive notice of hearings involving the child, including the actual custodian of the child, the foster parents or the legal custodian of the child, identified prospective parents, and any other person whose participation may be in the best interest of the child. A community-based agency under contract with the department to provide protective services may be designated as a participant at the discretion of the court. Participants may be granted leave by the court to be heard without the necessity of filing a motion to intervene.

(51) 'Party' means the parent or parents of the child, the petitioner, the department, the guardian ad litem or the representative of the guardian ad litem program when the program has been appointed, and the child. The presence of the child may be excused by order of the court when presence would not be in the child's best interest. Notice to the child may be excused by order of the court when the age, capacity, or other condition of the child is such that the notice would be meaningless or detrimental to the child.

(52) 'Permanency goal' means the living arrangement identified for the child to return to or identified as the permanent living arrangement of the child. Permanency goals applicable under this chapter, listed in order of preference, are:

- (a) Reunification;
- (b) Adoption when a petition for termination of parental rights has been or will be filed;
- (c) Permanent guardianship of a dependent child under s.39.6221;
- (d) Permanent placement with a fit and willing relative under s.39.6231; or
- (e) Placement in another planned permanent living arrangement under s.39.6241.

The permanency goal is also the case plan goal. If concurrent case planning is being used, reunification may be pursued at the same time that another permanency goal is pursued.

(53) 'Permanency plan' means the plan that establishes the placement intended to serve as the child's permanent home.

(54) 'Permanent guardian' means the relative or other adult in a permanent guardianship of a dependent child under s.39.6221.

(55) 'Permanent guardianship of a dependent child' means a legal relationship that a court creates under s.39.6221 between a child and a relative or other adult approved by the court which is intended to be permanent and self-sustaining through the transfer of parental rights with respect to the child relating to protection, education, care and control of the person, custody of the person, and decisionmaking on behalf of the child.

(56) 'Physical injury' means death, permanent or temporary disfigurement, or impairment of any bodily part.

(57) 'Physician' means any licensed physician, dentist, podiatric physician, or optometrist and includes any intern or resident.

(58) 'Preliminary screening' means the gathering of preliminary information to be used in determining a child's need for further evaluation or assessment or for referral for other substance abuse services through means such as psychosocial interviews; urine and breathalyzer screenings; and reviews of available educational, delinquency, and dependency records of the child.

(59) 'Preventive services' means social services and other supportive and rehabilitative services provided to the parent or legal custodian of the child and to the child for the purpose of averting the removal of the child from the home or disruption of a family which will or could result in the placement of a child in foster care. Social services and other supportive and rehabilitative services shall promote the child's need for physical, mental, and emotional health and a safe, stable, living environment, shall promote family autonomy, and shall strengthen family life, whenever possible.

(60) 'Prospective parent' means a person who claims to be, or has been identified as, a person who may be a mother or a father of a child.

(61) 'Protective investigation' means the acceptance of a report alleging child abuse, abandonment, or neglect, as defined in this chapter, by the central abuse hotline or the acceptance of a report of other dependency by the department; the investigation of each report; the determination of whether action by the court is warranted; the determination of the disposition of each report without court or public agency action when appropriate; and the referral of a child to another public or private agency when appropriate.

(62) 'Protective investigator' means an authorized agent of the department who receives and investigates reports of child abuse, abandonment, or neglect; who, as a result of the investigation, may recommend that a dependency petition be filed for the child; and who performs other duties necessary to carry out the required actions of the protective investigation function.

(63) 'Protective supervision' means a legal status in dependency cases which permits the child to remain safely in his or her own home or other nonlicensed placement under the supervision of an agent of the department and which must be reviewed by the court during the period of supervision.

(64) 'Relative' means a grandparent, great-grandparent, sibling, first cousin, aunt, uncle, great-aunt, great-uncle, niece, or nephew, whether related by the whole or half blood, by affinity, or by adoption. The term does not include a stepparent.

(65) 'Reunification services' means social services and other supportive and rehabilitative services provided to the parent of the child, to the child, and, where appropriate, to the relative placement, nonrelative placement, or foster parents of the child, for the purpose of enabling a child who has been placed in out-of-home care to safely return to his or her parent at the earliest possible time. The health and safety of the child shall be the paramount goal of social services and other supportive and rehabilitative services. The services shall promote the child's need for physical, mental, and emotional health and a safe, stable, living environment, shall promote family autonomy, and shall strengthen family life, whenever possible.

(66) 'Secretary' means the Secretary of Children and Family Services.

(67) 'Sexual abuse of a child' means one or more of the following acts:

(a) Any penetration, however slight, of the vagina or anal opening of one person by the penis of another person, whether or not there is the emission of semen.

(b) Any sexual contact between the genitals or anal opening of one person and the mouth or tongue of another person.

(c) Any intrusion by one person into the genitals or anal opening of another person, including the use of any object for this purpose, except that this does not include any act intended for a valid medical purpose.

(d) The intentional touching of the genitals or intimate parts, including the breasts, genital area, groin, inner thighs, and buttocks, or the clothing covering them, of either the child or the perpetrator, except that this does not include:

1. Any act which may reasonably be construed to be a normal caregiver responsibility, any interaction with, or affection for a child; or
2. Any act intended for a valid medical purpose.

(e) The intentional masturbation of the perpetrator's genitals in the presence of a child.

(f) The intentional exposure of the perpetrator's genitals in the presence of a child, or any other sexual act intentionally perpetrated in the presence of a child, if such exposure or sexual act is for the purpose of sexual arousal or gratification, aggression, degradation, or other similar purpose.

(g) The sexual exploitation of a child, which includes allowing, encouraging, or forcing a child to:

1. Solicit for or engage in prostitution; or
2. Engage in a sexual performance, as defined by chapter 827.

(68) 'Shelter' means a placement with a relative or a nonrelative, or in a licensed home or facility, for the temporary care of a child who is alleged to be or who has been found to be dependent, pending court disposition before or after adjudication.

(69) 'Shelter hearing' means a hearing in which the court determines whether probable cause exists to keep a child in shelter status pending further investigation of the case.

(70) 'Social service agency' means the department, a licensed child-caring agency, or a licensed child-placing agency.

(71) 'Social worker' means any person who has a bachelor's, master's, or doctoral degree in social work.

(72) 'Substance abuse' means using, without medical reason, any psychoactive or mood-altering drug, including alcohol, in such a manner as to induce impairment resulting in dysfunctional social behavior.

(73) 'Substantial compliance' means that the circumstances which caused the creation of the case plan have been significantly remedied to the extent that the well-being and safety of the child will not be endangered upon the child's remaining with or being returned to the child's parent.

(74) 'Taken into custody' means the status of a child immediately when temporary physical control over the child is attained by a person authorized by law, pending the child's release or placement.

(75) 'Temporary legal custody' means the relationship that a court creates between a child and an adult relative of the child, legal custodian, agency, or other person approved by the court until a more permanent arrangement is ordered. Temporary legal custody confers upon the custodian the right to have temporary physical custody of the child and the right and duty to protect, nurture, guide, and discipline the child and to provide the child with food, shelter, and education, and ordinary medical, dental, psychiatric, and psychological care, unless these rights and duties are otherwise enlarged or limited by the court order establishing the temporary legal custody relationship.

(76) 'Victim' means any child who has sustained or is threatened with physical, mental, or emotional injury identified in a report involving child abuse, neglect, or abandonment, or child-on-child sexual abuse.

History.-s.1, ch.26880,1951; ss.1,2, ch.67-585; s.3, ch.69-353; s.4, ch.69-365; ss.19,35, ch.69-106; s.1, ch.71-117; s.1, ch.71-130; s.10, ch.71-355; ss.4,5, ch.72-179; ss.19,30, ch.72-404; ss.2,23, ch.73-231; s.1, ch.74-368; ss.15,27,28, ch.75-48; s.4, ch.77-147; s.2, ch.78-414; s.9, ch.79-164; s.2, ch.79-203; s.1, ch.80-290; ss.1,17, ch.81-218; ss.4,15, ch.84-311; s.4, ch.85-80; s.2, ch.85-206; ss.73,78, ch.86-220; s.1, ch.87-133; s.1, ch.87-289; s.12, ch.87-397; s.1, ch.88-319; s.10, ch.88-337; s.2, ch.90-53; s.3, ch.90-208; s.3, ch.90-306; s.2, ch.90-309; s.69, ch.91-45; s.1, ch.91-183; s.1, ch.92-158; s.1, ch.92-170; ss.1,4(1st) ,14, ch.92-287; s.13, ch.93-39; s.6, ch.93-230; s.1, ch.94-164; s.11, ch.94-209; s.50, ch.94-232; s.1333, ch.95-147; s.8, ch.95-152; s.1, ch.95-212; s.4, ch.95-228; s.1, ch.95-266; ss.3,43, ch.95-267; s.3, ch.96-369; s.2, ch.96-398; s.20, ch.96-402; s.23, ch.97-96; s.158, ch.97-101; s.44, ch.97-190; s.4, ch.97-234; s.111, ch.97-238; s.1, ch.97-276; s.1, ch.98-49; s.176, ch.98-166; s.7, ch.98-280; s.20, ch.98-403; s.15, ch.99-2; s.3, ch.99-168; s.2, ch.99-186; s.4, ch.99-193; s.15, ch.2000-139; s.2, ch.2000-188; s.82, ch.2000-318; s.9, ch.2000-320; s.14, ch.2002-1; s.2, ch.2006-62; s.1, ch.2006-86; s.4, ch.2006-194; s.4, ch.2007-124; s.1, ch.2008-90; s.1, ch.2008-154; s.1, ch.2008-245; s.1, ch.2009-21.

James McLain

Time With You Stood Me Still

Time with you stood me still, and heaven
and I with you, each second I withdrew,
because I missed you, and I kept out all day.
Watching the rose bloom inside the bottle,
that is yours, and holding it, clear were our eyes,
and the new moon we moved back from the tree.

Sleep, and sleep the city sleeps -not an instant:
goes by and I wait, knowing that you will for me.
I followed time as once you followed the clouds,
and the moon allowed me work within the stars.

Sleep is but that prelude to when I open your eyes,
and startle you as the sun did, when first we met.

PoemHunter.com

P N

James McLain

And I Danced In Freedom

Some times when i walk,
and i danced for freedom,
and some wonder i am old,
and weary born hearts gold.

Some will dance that dance,
and fall beside there brother,
Two can dance that dance,
one leaves to make amens.

Quite walks i quake each night,
and this is how youth grows, and i danced with freedom into sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Reflections Looking Out At Metallica

Cut off from the mirror you seek...
..swept inside out of one single tear...
..and warm it is lost upon your cheek....
..and lost in the moon yours so full...
.....No peace it is there, 'at rest..
.....on the rocks...I am there..
.....as smoke..The lash and one pair..
..of brown eyes...that I see..it is there...
..and the strong smell of the shadow...
.....That living beast inside you that dwells...
....once caught between the middle....
.....inside...you here..there I stand...
.....where up to you, ' I'm free where.
and would thus remain.....
....injured love roams the land.....
.....
.....
..Your reflection changes it changes my mood...
.....as long as my shadow...breeds my hope...
...and here...from the bottom of that your well.....
.....I stand with my head looking up.....
.....and still here I am, inside you I dwell.....
.....
.....Inside you i swell..trees burning on fire...
.....and burning the hand...thine burning bush
.....turning each stone in the river
.....you find...thou are you and follow..
.....and speaking in tongues.. came upon....
.....whereon thereupon me, 'you carve your name.....
.....Upon the soft skin...
.....of the hard wood floor...
..... made of oak...
.....and there over time... I unwind....
.....and herein this place..lost and found...
.....
.....
....Your reflection, my world has caught you...
.....that sure picture that place of your face...
.....and the one before you..I see...

....You thus why knowing...i am here.....
.....and it is why, i have come...
.....and on your reflection..
.....you, 'Looking out of the mirror at my face...
is why i came.....at all.....

James McLain

Black Sand And White Paper

Paper lends time two hands.
And sand blows off the paper.
Each grain of sand is coated.
Attached too each one memory.

Black tries to help white see.
White leaves black to others.
In a world lost without true color.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Supertramp

Super tramped around the world
and back against, in twenty days
you laid my head in all your ways.
How lust has paid you back with coin of thought, and when I came,
I pick your roses from the bed.
I left your forest softly way out back,
over Rose's breakfast lilies stacked.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And My Secrets Could You Hold

and my secrets would you hold,
and many are the worlds i hide,
and i am alone, without one fear,
and because you don't know who
i am.....

i am now bare for all the world.
i would know the forest deep and streams to wash away your sleep.
i will only speak of that in your ear.
i know there is nothing about these words that stand out except to you.
it is time to come and seek me out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sex Without Love

Sex without love; and all eyes are around us,
and that warm knife was the judge, of each other.
Sex, cannot weather love against contested tapestries,
if even but one strategic hill, is turned over to quickly.
And you go about your business gone away, detached and then you become so like me and hurt, when I do too.
The marked line was laid out before us and the race once started and my turtle found the road, just to leave it.
Can love melt away so fast, does the milk now taste sour,
and even then the bees leave the dance with no honey.
We climbed more mountains than there are now left and on top looking down, is sex now only like over yon, those hills.
And love was knowing what you thought and how did it you,
the mystery of me thinking of you as I held you over the moon.
What do we tell the children now, even just before they came,
and do the lawyers love us more, like children do, not for money.
Before us the hive and all the wax we placed therefore to be,
and the forest stops short of breath, and roses are but what.
There before you all the split wood, and his crown you set,
and sex without love is really only that, I think naive. 'I laid, against.

James McLain

Moon Her Robe

It is beautiful..moons robe..at night...
Stars show how two get around it....
.....) it(fills my..
Sky...short of heaven is..always..
She...is happy..to.. share the sky...
Bamboo peaks.. around. and you..
all around me) hide(..the moon..
and shown..is) it(s robe of many colors...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Can Not I Dare Not

I can not, I dare not, being contrary to close the two;
The attraction is so mutable and distant is one stain.
Expectations nor for reason can they consummate,
and us to them but known and far planed our colonies.
While a print of dew upon the grass, will green dare taste,
diligence due restraint, considerations, and not the fool.
Reasonably free and with thought, speech our stations be,
and need will dare, to have some care, as I can not an oath.

gb

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

In The Garden, With Eve And Horns

Today, you can tell by the stagnant air, alligators and gars, the wind is still, and the garden calls out names.

It is a garden of domination, tormenting, even the staunch goats refuse to tread and you bravely, walk into that bush, of horns, and the river winds off towards some thing else.

To know not why, and stay be side the path, we thought we knew so well.

Walking, ginger soft of foot and wind, it reaches out a thorn filled hand to touch you and brings us to the crest.

Today in and of the stagnant air, the garden calls the name it wants to call, and moss dripps from trees that speak to you,
the rest will dream the song as it was meant for them to hear.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When You Sit Down

When you sit down: that sigh heard, knowing from deep inside, it comes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Milkmaid

The line this dream is endless, long hair now tied back.
Sitting down one milkmaid...with wet hands, explains.
Talking more, helps to ease some of their discomfort.
Her slim long arms are sculpted and well muscled as she now trades talk for some country song.
With smooth practice and a love of singing is how she strokes.
Dawn runs off morning, hot noon mixes now with the evening.
These are the hands that work, magic on udders thick roots
as they wander around up and down, making butter.
Seven days a week with six children and her man, does a hard twenty years for growing up without a viable education.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Mushroom

my mushroom is not faded,
and the cap is bright white
with a purple ring under skirt.
my mushroom has room on top,
and more than the damp field's.
My mushroom looks best in moss,
gets along with rose and lilies too.
My mushroom picks the best times
and helped by the breeze it floats.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bad Things To Do With You

Bad things to do with you..you have them all,
and more like that are on the way.

I know the things they say about you..

and you wake me up... and without a tear.

Am I the fire you see when you look up at me,

that keeps your eyes awake, and one tree,

and I see your hands shake when they are full.

The moon is in you, when you look so far away.

The forest is deep and dark and wet in day,

you rest and the rain starts again, and when it stops.

I stop and wait...transparent are the mists I see,

and you dress in every deception, and I collect

the paths that lead inside through you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Monkey

Monkey, you walk on the bottom of the sky,
and if I were like you what then of me.
Monkey, high in the tree and clouds around you,
and like cotton they are as you pull them apart.
Monkey there they are now amongst you, warm stars,
and as the fruit hangs within reach, ripe you gather.
Monkey, after you make the rain come down, what is left.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Death Married Death To Death

Death looks at the flower, and it screams,
I am wet, moist and beautiful, look at me.
Why do I stand here alone, come and beat me,
I will wait, I will wait you must come over here to speak.
Death hovers, smiling, winking and always talking,
and by you walking, knowing that, this time is yours
there is no rest, that death must ignore you as well.
Any thing that you touch will also never die, neglected.
Death is love, love is death, why are you both, here.
Death is your pet pink pig, two flying pearls,
slapping against deaths face.
Death is a dry cracked nipple, asleep, holding on until the flesh falls off and the milk is yellow and dry..
Death is a bullet fixed, never moving, and why does the world move you through it always with impertinence to show..
Death is a mysterious voice, so disturbing and your quite,
coming aligns along the border, sounding alarms to no one,
while you walk across the street knowing you never look at death as it comes over to you while you talk to some one else never paying attention and embarrassed death
again leaves you to rest over some other you know.
Death is reaching in your casket and squeezing dry cotton,
and holding it's nose while he wipes your face from above.
Death is a woman, who is happy, thinking the world is spinning into her fruit cake while death drinks coffee.
Death to all men who think they can save the woman
by marring death and eating her tuna fish sandwich.
Death fingered you, and you loved it, now you finger me,
leaving a bee exposed on your flower, that decays..saying,
Death's own flower it's always sweet and poignant and..
Death is always waiting for you to open and smell them.....
Death is more than the lilies and roses, it crawls out of one,
and comes out of the other and covers the worm with lilacs.

James McLain

In Warm Water Lies My Hand

In warm water lies my hand; like youth,
here I can not hold you back with control,
and while I am here in this realm waiting,
you take me over to retreat, in warm hot springs,
and you watch my right eye, move over you rapidly,
and because my left eye only amuses you,
you keep one up here and the other over there.
and how could I have fallen asleep, knowing you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

No Going Back

No going back....
that frase has coined the mint..
and where two learn too then..
and when the tree leans back..
Why pull it forward..
and are suite cases made
for more than cloths..
I do not want to be a zipper.....
Why am I made to hold things back..
there is more to me than up and down.....
and time...once gone..
moves me off side ways...
underneath light fabric....
and to reach back around....
Me....is simply irrefutable.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poetry Then&Mental Illness Now

poetry then&mental illness now
and having not commerce d in pharmaceuticals
and psychotropics never knew to close these doors....
and Pound would not to Whitt.
and Wheatley, golden young, vast her ocean.
and Lincoln's depression, changed lots, man his rivers.
and Poe's nightmares, cleansed as snow.
and Da Vinci, if he erased her smile.
and Emily found the mood, to change her verse.
and Homer, always knew to split his tales.
and God showed you hope, Beethoven his child.
and look at the world, these people made better.
and I would smile if depression was not so bad.
and no one knows my name and no one cares.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sugar&Spice

and to speak of post hole diggers,
long lost leaning rails,
fences in modest states of disrepair.
D.n.a.....puddings rich spice...
and misty drapes..sewn from cotton,
bales washed up on shore...and the fat..
walrus down below...moving on the rocks...
and an island life with no cares...
and no phone...look out below here I come..
and fresh from the sea..the raw fish...
muscles beards..so very long...ago...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Judge And Your Prisons Are For Profit

Judge and your prisons are for profit;
Correction corporation of America,
and not being as mo lases on a winter day.
It is a good investment and nothing personal,
except...it is money and where death is concerned about it's money...and corruption i know
has been and must you think always will be..
I hear nearly nothing about your charges,
your children...your human misapplications...
And greetings..sheriff..and I your name...
do charge you with safe keeping...
and the rote of this road misfires..and you..
have taught the public to fear there brother,
mother, even there own children..and really..
where would these guards work..
if not in the hell of your for your proffer..
and math simple math...
where does the budget go..and truly...
how do you run a prison for proffit..
and the men have nothing inside...and in some prisons you do not even teach them to read..
if you presume there worth based on the length
of there sentence...and dogs and cats on..tv..
I see weekly where the fire department comes
and spends thousands to rescue a dog...or cat..
and you do not even rescue your brother or sister..
except in death.....
evil is evil..and warrants true isolation...and you...
and money for food..and money for medication for many are mentally ill and never belonged...
and I know...and I know..how not to proffer....

James McLain

Death And Being

Death being; not unlike a blind date,
and never coming when you expect her,
like your first date, she never forgets you.
Death I do not....not do I death...now seek her... like flint sees a fire, through the face of that place ever stoked, and you are her radiance..
the logs stacked up in wait, for her pleasure...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Lad On Fire

Being young and young in green growth already being in a struggle to understand insanity and never understanding the nightmare of burning the finger like a green branch,
While the sap screams, and hisses
lost untill the smell is covered over by her knowledge of him, and no
sorrow it was not in piety nor,
when the bubble was pierced,
and the tears flowed out and that by giants could such be done
and death claiming him and sorrow
by her a great mountain of guilt that even with my debt of forgiveness,
I cannot move and the guilt made her worse, and no one knew it but me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Enigma My Other

You ask me what am I thinking when I look in at you and you see me looking through you as if in thought.

And how in the beginning, it was a point of issue in
that you thought, you had received not my undivided
attention and as I tried to, and I did and you understand..
So briefly, in explanation as no enigma can, with you i do.

Know too that no two enigmas are alike and as such
they are going to understand this and it helps you to grow together, while spiraling apart to meet at our end.

For the contrivance of complication is simple deceit, and deceit, contrived is a simple matter for generals and we were not at war, as were so many, who thought they knew.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If You Wish

If you want it, and did you,
and in passing, you over it.
And even in trees, the moss
can be seductive and alive.
While surrounded too by both,
and rocks rest against them.
Night is only dawns crack and
one root spreads the day out.
No one heard the hen, i mused
as roosters voice grew louder.
And then, waking up, the cloud
of cotton covers all of suns face.
There is no race against Sunday,
and days end holds it all place.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wells And Bottoms

From wells bottom; and of tears,
and dying must be ever so alike,
and falling into the last aeroplane.
Grab at your chest the zipper rips,
that cloud that spills out is freedom,
and it is not there, and free to fall,
and a life time to stirke the ground.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You

You; i start in all of you,
and not part of you, but all of you,
and there is the heart of tree,
Tall and hard and thick of bark,
and there i Wait for you.
Waiting, while i wait, i paint the clouds
with you, of you in cotton white,
you drip across the sky and thus i watch.
And....and if i doze..and if i doze..
Upon brown moss, may i rest my head.
And if you come before i wake,
My lass so sweet my dream you take,
and coming back, around the tree,
that lake you see,
it is only me, inside of you, now free.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

In Pursuit Of Happiness

In pursuit of happiness; some justice fell away,
and in two heart's he found lost art, lily and
the rose..both masks loves wind did sway....
While being fair and kind, So thought the father
lost his daughters to some rouge....did he know..
This fellow dashing..spreading charm the country wide..and deep in love most cried..knowing that the father knew.....he left two maids behind... and lily flush with rose...he thought, too move the two..
so they could thrive and grow in heart.... not far apart....
and loved by him...and loved the more.....
and hence the father of the two...can search for one...
while the other never far.....from him that knew...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wise Is Why The House

Wise is why the house;
stays here within,
And too the parents,
do I have to know in love.
Outside weathers, storms
inside are friends,
and each the sparrow flies,
to love and reach their hand.

st

ed

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Insomnia

Insomnia Is Like; never alone
and in the day,
time being at ease,
and the attention some crave,
and they get,
and I'm only as always put off,
and now when I'm ready to leave.
Then when it calls me back,
and we can't but remember,
what both are to me,
and like relatives that come
and never leave.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Gave Me, Me

How The Giver

When you found me, and you did
and i was so very, you gave me, me.
So much of it was so, and in that locket,
the picture my heart inside your head.

When i stop, i stop for you, and i pick one,
and the thought of why, keeps me going.
While i know you will, i will for a little longer,
and waiting for the sun to shine, you come.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Unborn Trepidation

Before trepidation had substance.
Having been there, before the well.
And that place of darkness, forms forever.
Standing, on the slanted platform each are.
Tilted sliding into infinity's mouth of red fire.
Impatient energy, the ethereal hide away.
Afraid of all the certain pain that reigns you up.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Letter To My Wife A Doctor

Now that time has come; because we did together.
While oranges are oft good, and soon then be in name.
And if the moon becomes so large and pale then full.
So common though I be and you did come out, with me.
Remember that, the first red alley, darker still to come may be.
The second time once reversed, a lonely road, so long to me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

For Daddy Set Her Crown

For daddy sits; and daddy's is and was,
...and daddy now has snow upon the pass,
For daddy sits; and she is crowned, his queen,
...and daddy's king, he keeps her by the board,
For daddy sits; and bishops keep the night,
..and daddies pawn lives safe within his walls.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is It A Word

Is it a word; not heard
And ears too deaf ignore,
Love the mind explores,
Soul that shines the eye.

When so full is the heart
it is turned over,
and painful it's thump
when is it dropped.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Was I How Was I Yours

When was I, how was I yours,
and found me between them not
and cloth made me to bolt the door
and not opening to open you find.

Darkest nights, your night I found,
and moon light about you shines
and when I speak it roars to quite
and the stars your eye burns mine.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Bridge To Gap

Fraught in the middle;
haloed in mist I stand,
this bridge half glass,
for each side I yearn.

Spanning two, the sentries;
water and breath lay under,
contours flow has cast faith,
all that is hope floats under.

Dare I see, ever over now;
grapes bleed the woman,
remembers no yesterday,
while the river cleans today.

Being and ever lost youth;
mirrors truth and missed,
and vanity is driven further in,
who dressed for tomorrow.

James McLain

Star Of Mine Which One

The night is dark
Alone all in my tree
On oaks narrow limb
So high upon I rest.

Sky above my face
Full of bright stars
Pink and baby blue
Diamond white.

Mars so misty red
Sheets of Venus green
The dippers full and Pours out sleep
Across the milky way.

Etched inside my eyes
Burned across all time
These memories I will hold Until in night one day I die.

James McLain

Where Lovers Lie

and no ears heard our voice..
and no eyes saw discourse..
and the moon was all alone..
followed home..hand in hand..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Even Death In Black Robes Lie

In my death there, truth was the pain, and that eye left no spot on the clean earth, this being known it was foisted off more hurriedly.
Compounded was the pain when counseled and the lie of the pain splits the person, when
as truth, dressed to receive, robes of deception
and that lie even in death still lays concealed blood now rests so hot and are some in death.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Being Over Needful Things

Being amiable, and such
and being that the killen was mostly over needful things,
even though i dinnaken it and anyhow, i recon we can sit
a spell,
and have that drink, thinking
as we may to commiserate.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Trolling With Cut Bait

Now trolling with cut bait
you should always troll
with cut bait and love the bait the sunnier the catch.
and you never know when you will have to eat all your own bait just survive the catch.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Rose Kissed A Lily

When roses kiss...
and..
lilies..sigh..
and hard in thought...
was i.....

.....
both red and white..
and
pure of heart...
and flowers..
paint...
the sky..

...

their beauty....
fair..
and wide..
and full of love..
and knew..
it not...
love's hurt..

...

and fire...
that kiss..
bridled hot..
inside..
that path..

....

both made..
and had to...
shake..
when reason...
left..
their head..

....

she would never...
do..nor..

PoemHunter.com

cast her off....
and lost her heart...
and light the soul...
.....

when...lily...
fainted noon
upon that shore..

.....

and how....
one little bud...
a rose..
has grown...
from lilies pot..

....

and songs...
we hear so sweet...
and both...
love doves their...
wings...

....

while...
that forest path..
we walked upon..
is filled....
with only grass.

James McLain

Sunflower

Sunflower how in youth you stood,
Underneath light is nights full moon,
Neat and your yellow face that shines.

Folly scattered passions narrow path,
Leaves counted inward to the heart,
Over dreams you never were too know.

Wash your face in mornings hand,
Each kiss frees you from this world,
Regrets and flowers knew to come.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Construction Loans

thus being and it was legal being that some real estate
and selling many rural even better inner city vacant lots to multilingual friends
from eight to fifteen thousand dollars keeping the best lots in the names of evaporated members and getting loans for up to fifty thousand dollars on those same lots
using the money to build brand new homes on the few best lots in corporate heavy names and on the loans premeditated having absolutely no intention of paying them back and the homes being deeded in dead peoples names and filed in other counties and knowing the who...sang in through the out door for only eighty thousand dollars
they could build a new house mortgage it and kept it legal then build three more like zero financing... and you poor Americans pay the banks back and the banks did this too...so slow and easy
and it is easy to trace but... they wont and these are called construction loans.
Filled under very humorous and numerous famed names.
What is that term invented by the two syllable word man inventive Bonaventure financing.
The dead will never speak out, each living will sure can.

James McLain

Loss Of Something

loss of something; and it was,
The road is patched at best,
Something gone older still,
No meaning had it to youth.

There the children played no part,
A moment in there hand, departs,
What once a wall and now a name,
Finding something missed for loss.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Emo Relapse And Recovery

emo and more and music soothes and clothes
and am i bitter sweet..
laying here in all my flowers, wanting more.
While my other..
stands so hard against the wall,
and i stare down over the ridge
and move his toes.
She paints mine better than i paint hers,
trying to make it together as best we can
and because were miles apart..
my parents fear my heart in all the storms.
Mine live apart..
but both know the scars i wear for them,
and both blame the other
and take me a long way off into some other.
Because it was bad...
i try to make it better and they see all and think i am respectful now
and when I'm asleep and i have my dreams.
My dreams,
and in my dreams he comes and i never knew
and now i do...
just how to make him come again in dreams.
The Doctors of course...
they want to help us all, but can they..really
and all my humility when they speak to me..
is it the same...
as my humiliation when they look at me and cut.

James McLain

Deep Within You Dream

Deep within you dream;
and how you spent your days-
kept gone and others none to have.
With night you come and ride away.
Thus am common be and labors man,
and dreary all my hope is washed away.
Why is how you keep me deep inside,
that place that is no more-
and you within this dream I found.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Before I Learned What The Judge Did

Before I learned what the Judge did; there were lawyers and if i did know, not wanting to and I feel just the poorer.
Before i learned to help them i thought they did to as well and now if i do i must be come a thing they are not still.
Before i tossed the rock into the pond with out thinking and the rings grew wider and now threaten to snare my all.
Before thinking i was taught not to question in the silence,
and the others rights would be caught in webs of emotion.
Before the traps you watched them set that needs no bait and you walk inside seeing it and you still sat down there and thinking it for another that lied, you did not know it untill.
Before you came and tricked your neibor your neibor knew,
and did nothing and living in truth he did not know a lawyer.
Before and now are worlds apart and you must now know this and now where ever you walk you may not know a lawyer.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And God Helped Me Burn The World To Live In Ice

and god helped me burn the world to live in ice
and..it...being the hot living sun and burns...
and in heaven the moon was never kept from you..
and Venus often died and left you beating on..
and the universe you only tried to expanded..
and released, you try to put the comets back...
and those eyes that once were open stay closed..
and now the fire burns hotter when released..
and where once was a mind is now empty space..
and god helped me burn the world to live in ice..

rb

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Child The Sun Would Tan

The child the sun would tan; and eyes that glow
and body of youth and hair that sweeps the earth
high the tree limbs knew his feet upon the heart.

Those tree tops in the wind as rain falls from the sky
each fruit so ripe those hands are seeking more and day browns his skin a little more and hardly shows.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And I Come To Think

It is simply a bird, happy..
to play with a bee..
does not one stand in good company with one another...
and come and stay..
it is not only good to be simply...
and just because they know you are..
and you find new ways to get stung..
and in the heart of your lovely smile..
...and chock-full up with honey..
so much and so...gold is kind to find...
yours is just now but a stream..
and one day.. and I do come to think..
and I am....just one of those other bees...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And You Are Not A Nun

You are not a nun; to bed in sleep
and they can not understand you
and if they did, they would have been taught to make you feel alive
and that you would never go blind
if you did this and that..because..
On that day you will see the forest
and you will climb one sweet gum tree and ride it down to the ground.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Honey Bee

And you are scolded black..
and blue..from there view..
and they crush your smile?
and they make you feel like..
you have to look away in shame..
when going in...and out of sun..
Seeing you so hot and blind...
When is what you run out to..
Where is how you fall into...
Those nights of troubled sleep..
and your mind gone now lost...
and the sun inside a bee hive..
and all we do is run around..
Looking for more honey...
and the bee inside is busy so.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And Dreaming She Conquered Some Mountain

and dreaming she conquered some mountain;
and she went up and over the ridge to him
and he came over to the white cloud tops
and the wind moved him like rain over her hair and that he was more and more in love with her
and one night she became his voice this dream
and she lived on that mountain; she conquered.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Milk Dream

I Dream of lips soft and full
and they pull me up and down
and they push me back so deep.
And I slide back down the brink.
Your forest is quite and the moon
hangs down over my tan face
and your silhouette leans
over and pulls me back inside.
The milk you drink does flow and lays thick like cream on your lips,
and you came up to this farm for butter and cream late every night.
The woods now are all over your face
and with you each night I lay in the forest.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Boy And Girl - The Ink Blot Test

The man once boy and the ink blot test;
and those pictures of poets risque in scandal
The bats dance with butterflies black on white and the colors rich in truth can't hide that lie.
The little boy saw these as normal development
and the doctor saw the boys bat then with hers.
The man once the boy wonders why so many
and the boy being and ink came alive off that blot.
The normal response his being the most risky often given and the artist starved inside hard and frightened.
The doctors notes said to look for his within, with hers
and the ink of the tester denied them there, their wills.
This doctor took off points for past, 'fast thinking while the doctor before deducted, 'her points, for showing.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

That Place I Feel When

Each day after i rise to face the coming of this one and i look to my near side and the sun like the others and the soft yellow light falls in my small warm room
and the shadows mine do, fade away when i look up and the ceiling seems closer than the night suggests and the smell of pancakes floats in through my nose.

and i wait my turn as some other goes first to wash up and i play in the stream as my finger draw you on the wall and so happy am i at the way this new thought works and the big brass mouth of water i share, it holds on to me and it is just to amazing at how the water all stays inside.

and breaking our fast in seats i hold out grace to this and knowing that this meal is more than some i may have
and as i break some more i feed the birds few others have and today starts to rest on me as i await the fresh new day it's sky and as each night claims my sight i wonder in awe at all the rest.

James McLain

Dreams

When you let dreams die
a part of you is folded up
and set aside to cry.
The dreams that moves us through this world are but the dreams that flow from you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Some Broken Branch

Some broken branch; and you the hand
and leaves blown back to fell one tall tree
and the moss and the roots lay on the steps.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Death In You The Depth Of Me

Death In you the depth Of me; blind to what you see.
From the depths of hell your demon dogs unleashed.
Standing while you sit out back and watch the front unveil.
You knew I would not build inside, your prison walls so tall.
Lay again inside your death, with me to string the razor wire.
Coming back for me to change the way you are to all.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poets Are Beset

Poets are beset; and winter blue to show it
Counting days untill one knew the spring
Almost without exception and always are Poets are beset; inside her summers dream
Wishing now as last the autumns left to fall
Poached upon brown stone two geese fly by

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Death Is Her And Lactating

Death is her and lactating; against hot nights
every day i see her to come, kissing me.
Her breath grows freshest when the worm
finds the way inside her teeth to lay with.
She finds new ways to wear her old make up, as the milky eye lifts off the rose without.
The earth shakes us out, lifts us up and down in clouds of dusty sin as bones infused are lodged.
Worms repeat the cycle wading in for release
filling some spot we kissed the moss grows hurry.
The white dress and tan flesh mixed together sewn in cloth the bag, bloated and sweet as it floats across.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am Here Forever

Tracks among the light where I see rushing land scape whizzing
by I am here.

Riding whispers breath on a long sought date I am here.

Accounting of ticket master on the rail seeing time pass us by
I am here.

Creeping up on us seeing the light
in the dark I am here.

Keeping our case in front of the man
send us back I am here

Saving our selves again..for that I am waiting..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wood The Flower Flails

Wood the flower flails,
So sad is now that vase,
None else to ever know,
That flower has joined the breeze,
Never to harvest new blooms.

Flower failed the wood a well,
A mothers dreary tail again to see,
To mix two hearts of one must she,
There beds now like the rest unmade.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Preserved

The forbidden
fruit leads us..
in to many jams.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Two Eye Balls

The two eye balls; how they hang running around inside your head.

See how they see..how they see,
seeing what they see, you run to see.

The two eye balls, see inside they see
to see the lie you run to truth you flee.

Eyes behind cotton, eyes behind silk,
eyes behind glass, eyes that can't hide.

The hot red eye that brushed the sky in fire
The mystery brown almond shape of dreams.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Sits Across The Room

She sits across the room;
neither of them moving..
eye to eye..face to face..
long distance...one runners..
wet face comes closer..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

He Left Because He Chose You

He left because he chose you; the sky
bright stars, the moon was out to sea.
High up i gaze out over the foggy night
i lean against a tree, feet of roots i feel.
Every few steps i rest and must again now
my heart turns over violently in this death.
Up above one lone cotton cloud now waits
as the boat i miss white sails on it i drift.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Warning The Young Of Old

Warning the young of old; i did not but, i came and went out of more or less circumspect.

The convention center of the Curtis Hixon,
gave the woman i picked, hundreds of roses,
even the teachers, knew the good in the bad.

I knew if i ever got that old, the daisies would pick me up not i them and the young would think of me not.
I being never young will never be so old again as i never once was to drink in the spirit again of youth.

Only the heaven's know how many comets held the tail
and the moon always weeping now stays as she is then.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dear Insert Your Name

Dear,

Insert your name; under mine when you have the need to feel inconspicuous, as ardor waves us on to shore.
The bakers wife, misses nothing as she stands in the door with those fresh loaves, tucked under her arms.
Be careful of her she will ask, thinking she needs the dough into rising every where, full of bread some of her baskets are.
She uses yeast and moist are her puddings through out.
Then white to tan be the trust, say nothing and stay heavy.
Take extra care love with the seamstress, she knows every color and where they string from, thinking she couldn't eye brown thread to a needle, unless her needle mended those cotton patches most in these time have need for. Keep the seams tight and waterproof, or she will know..and on that,
I must go about the other business only you know of..untill then.. when next we speak we will in a lower voice stay true to the other of which we would now gladly change....is uprooting..
I keep your rose in my locket, red for us, white be caution..lie..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Cotton Patch

Now as we walk,
today in the cotton,
patch and the sun,
changes each day,
the shadow shorter.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tree Climbing

and when you are running up and down the trees..
one of your feet..
help....while...
your toes..and your others..
while fingers cling...to..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poetry

When I came at that age..poetry
was in me..I never knew that was me..
Like the last red cherry on the tree..
left for me..while the rest of the blooms
float along..ever faster moving.. on that fast moving river of dreams.

The teachers voice feint, her face forgotten
her mind I remember, lessons of her heart imprinted inside as the heart of the tree always made of wood..

When words made us warm then cold,
fire of the sun turning sunflowers yellow,
while the clouds ran through the sky, like cotton balls falling across each face turned up in a smile eyes bright soft red lips parted.

It was then my mind saw things that she saw,
but neither could say what they saw then held.
The trees where forever changed, roses smelled different I looked at each piece of wood with a blush.
Cloth covered miracles filled berries, cups full of milk
while silk made my brain go red, then pink, finally blank.

In the end poetry fills a blank page with the ink of friends
never knowing when they come or go, keeping pace with words never the same while I grow harder with age
as other hard things now grow soft flowing from your heart.

James McLain

From The Tree They Hang

Tied with tan string...
Two balls hang over...
One limbs smooth bark...
If they are mine..you...if they are yours..they..
Some times the squirrels..play..
Running up and down the string....
Sitting right..then left..between...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

This Town Our Town Now And Then

This town our town now and then

) when thinking about it some times(
she found her tune but hummed it not waiting for winter in snow that never came.

He rode her horse she put his in the other pasture

) saddles hide some shame none was found(
The sleeping bridle bites the flank that lies awake
you look for him, then he came and left again.

When she cared he left when he left she cared more

) she knows the coming and goes left behind him( behind him she follows the lead that goes around her when his hand holds the axe she splits more wood.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Some Times Some Thing Some How

Some times, when and if you do,
something in you, is always better,
Some how awed and it's inspiring.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You And I Smell Like Roses

You and I smell like roses, and some roses buds are all about the stems, like small fingers tips there.
Then it drops rain today bright red,
about my head, being from your heart.
Relieved, I see your lips start to smile.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Women

To know from youth, that special
some thing behind the shade I hid.
That child fit so snugly between them,
effortless those hands open always.

Spring brought new smells, growing as I noticed the different flowers, now calling
my nose, eyes and now in my genital hands.

Some how the clothing makes me different
that they wear, like a map always changing.
Small countries now bigger, growing in ways.

Now I burn from things they say and say not,
that bosom of safty now high mountains to me.
The ice cold streams make the fire worse, as I
lunge in and out clumsily to grab at the edges.

I weigh the joy no love reasons my mind lacks
what the body says it has, but it never will want.
Boys young grow into middle men, most woman
see this and give directions, smart bold smiles.

I know they pray to....

James McLain

The Nurse Dressed All Pink

The nurse dressed all pink; patiently waiting,
for her special patients to rise, very happily.
Gifts like the sun, she leaves behind as she pulls us up, spreading life around in pools.
She is married to each of us and to each of us
us she spreads her smile, we rise to see each day.
She smells so like a peach, rich her skin is as firm
and unyielding as the hand, she uses daily to wash.
So quick is she in and out, hundreds of times a day it seems, no one is sure, no one is awake when she leaves.
Some times I think she comes just to make us happy, I think others come knowing she will come again to know.
When I think of the nurse, I think of peaches and cream, pink uniforms make me want to go back out side then.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Happy Old Man

The happy old man; the young blond woman,
Strong legs him heavy, I smile..good for him..
Today one moon is propped up...
on four inch heels...
Her..smile..stretches..cheek to cheek..
While walking in the sand on the beach..
She does it....and she hopes...you know it..
Only to embrace those hard lines of grace..
She caught more than my eye..I smiled..
He walks by...the sun crowns his head..
His wooden cane with silver hair...Her hair still is..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Want To Kiss That Girls Lips

I want to kiss that girls lips;
and she knows I hold her view.
She watches my eyes grow bold,
she sees my eye and smiles.
I pay to much attention as she watches
her fingers dance the curves are so.
I get lost in the glow of the glossy they are strawberry fields full of red blush today.
They dance apart, with nothing better to do.
I put my dark sun glasses on...
smiling lips now...she does to.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Tide After Words

The foam rings around the rocks
cling to the high water mark.
The docks wooden posts are wet and shiny drying in the sun.
The receding tide has left bits
and pieces often tightly wedged.
The tide after words holds all the memories of where the water met.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sexting Rednecks And Florida

If i say bend over and pick up the wood.. is it..well sexting...
if i walk through your forest on my hands
and see things you knew i would, ..inside
and the rednecks leave Florida are we safe..
Revenue is way down,
the center of either world is running away and rivers are floating neck deep next to shore..then..
i dream every night i died and became a redneck.. i recon i would jump in front of that train i used to see every night if i was born looking the other way.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tender Shoots

The sun hangs low
new life bursts out.
Reluctantly the earth
parts and soft green
shoots up and out into.
Petting the sky only makes the other world.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Yes And I Smelled Once The Rose

Yes and i smelled once the rose;
and dew drops fell as wet rain..
and i am bold...
and straight to the heart...
yet i need you as you need me....
and warm in the sun light...
green so quick the stem..
when your rose.. is in my hands..
and petals held open and honey..
from the center of the world..
drips through...my fingers...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

He Loves Her

He loves her, his head she holds,
when he is down, she lifts him up.
She rocks him back and forth, and tells him every thing will be all right.
He knows she will hold inside again
his heart, hers she knew he always..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Birds In The Woods

The path...runs..
Through the center..
Then circles around back..
While two birds..
Build nest in...grass..
The ground...is..
Soft in sleep..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Clay Sun

Clay hands spin in and out
the edges of the running day.
Fingers smooth the blooming clouds thick soft cotton base.
Hands pump the petal up and down as faces run in and out of the early mornings yellow sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Dearest

My gaze turns
towards the moons..
Pale blue light,
as I swim through Streams of warm,
cotton mist that
drift lazily through
hot humid air.
Once again covered.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Victim

The sky is but the grey of battle ships,
sailing into the eye of god all over again.
Potemkin spread our brains all over the clouds..searching for new ones in haste.
The smile that is glued on..the eyes of a dead fish..there is no market for them now.
The mind once a vast fertile place where happiness was never taken for granted,
it was, because, no one was bad, all gone.
Depression would be like heaven again,
those black depths have now been taken.
I know my soul has been taken, why leave this empty shell, like some poor person who died yesterday from alzheimer's, still waiting.
The doctor asks what happened and the mind
again goes grey, untreated, untreatable, is death.
If they would give me now the mind of they whom did it I would have some chance at life.
I'm sorry for being born again, how about you.

James McLain

The Only Normal Woman Left

I saw her searching on the internet for hours last night
for a new victim..
Soon like the rest,
he will just be another
has been stalker.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Now You Come Again

Now you come again,
unasking,
ask of me what?
That mask, put up high,
now again brought low.

Like a sapling,
deep forest offering
you cling to the trunk,
of wood, like a child
rides down from the sweet gum tree.

I Sigh..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Rabbit

The rabbit rolled,
in and out of the great itch.
It rubbed it; s back against the white
ivory teeth in sleep.
All we found was a lucky tale to tell our kids, at home, eating.
The moral of the story
children, is lost to me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Wooden Pole

She learns to dance around it and she's learning to how be her own teacher.
No one sees her smile but the mirror
her thighs longs to tan the wood with oil.
She knows the routine and is red hot from it,
knowing the song to practice the dance with.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Every Morning New

As sleep) I rise
in the one sun
hearing(it whisper
softly hurry..come come..come..hurry
faster..quickly..run..
Two be..one..with..
bright morning sun..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Two See Your Suicide

In the middle of the room
the hand moves so slowly.
The petals open for years
rich in tears by the window
packed around, a faded rose.

Where ever spring stayed full and green each stem was.
The one thorn so familiar did always bring a bout two curtsy.

The swelling finger swoons gently
as the swan opens white long wings,
as feet push into the water, flying off.

The rose, now weeps to the touch
never to be touched, and life it spills.
Lifting the vase bitter tasting is sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When The Lights Went Out

When the lights went out and she would
so pretty be, come over and sit, next to me.
She always knew more than I did, being a smart girl, she would pass along those anonymous feelings underneath the table.
Every day she would give me a ride home,
and her mother, knew when we were coming.
Still on Valentino's birthday, we relive moments and thoughts, against those others, in that storm
of hearts carved on that one strong tall tree.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Totem

Does it for you, even you wash
all of your secrets that you keep.
While you trade yours for time,
with the memories of your totem
Spreading across the suns face.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

To The Nuts

How many..
Does one oak..
The tree count..
One acorn...one cup..
Across the wooden fence..
They land uneven..
Some up..some down..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Love Is Like Fire On Ice

When love Is like the fire on Ice, she needs;
She cools fire and ice is to burn again.
The hard frozen heart cools never a thought,
of one single flake that settles on the fire to melt.
Stiffer my resolve does grow to claims within,
when as sweat that never breaks, entreatingly.
As night ends the fire the heart consumes again
the tempest driven back and forth inside cool winds.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cane Sugar

The brown cane
is placed through wooden rollers.

The juice has an appealing color.

Sweet to the tounge,
very soft on the palate,
it's filled with nutrients.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Stone Eye

Chance, brown luck it doesn't matter.
The chance to live in a nice home in the center of the universe, new world.
A new chance each year to change
the way we live each fear, differently.
My hand sinks into the sack, pushing through the strangers, shaped stones.
The sack is filled with hundreds of ice cold rooms, the living room is soft and warm, my room is created, eye lifts out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

To Come And Go And Not Be Afraid

With age your mind turns back to cheese; thank god.
That is permanent, what is known, how some would have the world think, like the treason they live with inside of them selves out of self control.

Control, is control, it is about ignorance to breed more.
America is going to fight wars in your country, just as your country would have these wars else where if they could, so I'm lucky to live under the mountainous gun.
Bush is gone..slowly the sky of fear recedes..replaced
by the damage that only the retarded or corrupt allowed,
and simply could not see if they had it to do again, yes..
what really changes..in the end?

They know about control, they know what will be there
where you sit and read this, ... fifty years from now.
So whether you live in a country where they kill you if you drink a bush beer or live in one where you are said to have certain rights that you dont, remember staying ignorant gives them more control, while being retarded is a blessing, unless your organs are needed..

Being a fish living in Jewish waters is safe..

It is even safer being the pet pig of a rich Muslim..

What is that stuff American politicians eat then the next day if they are regular, feed to We the people?

So write your permanent record..if it is interesting..
when you die..they will sell it and you will be famous..
until you die or become interesting..remember even now
the woods have you under observation...

Some times i worry over you all..the tanks and unmanned
drones never will...so if you see one..hide all the roses..
because they wont ask..and when they are done..
you wont be able to tell...

James McLain

The Wind Blows

Hiding in the bushes.
Some branches move.
Showing green leaves.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Compromise That Between Place

There is vague,
so between the vague,
as to why the barn
door was left open at all.
Then there is blunt trauma,
so blunt is the trauma
it blocks the filter from ever being able to open.
What is in the middle, then.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Modern Florida

It Is, as it was,
forty years ago.
They just know now,
how to use cell phones
and have cable..T.V.
With the single exception
that ignorance has quintupled.
Is it to much to ask to turn some of the one hundred prisons into schools..?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Where Impatience Grow

Where impatience grow, aground.
Soft pink mixes even in the hardest clay.
Blue petals, tie all the sky up inside.
Drowsy white cotton flowers, so open.
The purple hoods seem protective of them.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Poor Republican Woman

The poor republican woman....
Worry no more..Caesars lions..
Fat on your children..deposed..
Go to the window..look down..
Watch new life... spread out..
The monster of fear...That evil..
That cliff... is like heavens..gate..
Chasing god they run through it..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The White Water Ride

Pulling with one hand,
pushing with the other.
She guides the canoe back around the rocks
with long deep strokes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Of Change

Pulls out the moon,
changes in the tide.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Right From The Start

Right from the start,
why did you hide your face.
You turned from the sky,
with your heart,
you claimed my light.
You inherited the woods,
I spoke in you three words,
you felt my need to hold.
In my hands, your love,
my pulse, lites up your face.
Right from the start, one heart.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

That Place I Go From

The tree, hearts understanding.
Taken from some memory.
That place I did go, from.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Up The Falls Over

Up The Falls Over;
Hair flows up, inside with..
Water reflects, face looks..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fear The American Made.. Crack Addict

Incoherent, wreaking of evil..
The stench of death..sour sweat.
The authorities know..
The child has seen this evil..
Threaten.. the brother..the mother..
Pawning another day..off..
Keeping score..on each other..
The childs mother..is not..she..
Must go to the meat market..
To find another side of beef...
She claims to be..American..
Tired and weary, of watching..
Those that are considered normal..
When I am not..I do not..
Want to be normal..any more..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Brown Bamboo

The brown bamboo
stands tall, in the sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Caricature's Silhouette

Past midnight,
the ever green moves
in some Strong,
caricature's dance.
Broad sheets provide,
the praying, star lit eyes.
Dark one silhouette,
backs out, into the stand,
face the wolf, now gone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Can Only Conclude

The bad mother; simply does possess the ability,
to know inside, one mind.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Brown Empty Bottle

That brown empty bottle, in the hands of many hysterical woman, to pull back and forth, teasing the sun.

They are still my friends as they try, both to help the moon stay in comfort while both eyes watch me sleep:

Out cold in a warm mossy dune the likes of which,
forever never was, looking up, between out across into.

As most fall weeping over a large forest of deep woods that can be made into more flag poles.

The smart woman, you are dreaming about, having both dreamt of filling, all the empty bottles, long held,
before the rest of them, have come back, against from.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Two Voice's

From the window, drifts
two voices, one is soft,
the other much deeper.
The deep voice, seems
to cover up the soft one.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Chip Shot

Rough green.

Firm stance.

Tight lie.

Swing through.

The ball to cup.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Joyless Mother

The joyless mother, is cold
Every kind act motivated,
by youthful guilt, made old.
Her birth now weighs, upon my brow, she was not in, joy
freely given, those fires unlit.
The joyless mother, grown old.
Her heart of coal, man no joy.
Never passed on to the other.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

This Old House

This old play house, is full, while the long nose
men, wave in there trunks.

You gaze far out into the ocean of trunks, miles, of thick trunks.

That smile you show is what they all come to see.

Bodies of men, singular, except for the trunk, hot breath on you.

Reaching out to you, by your seat,
it plucks you as the peanut from the earth inside you to loam.

Trunk, miles of truculent trunk,
those hairs, the nose) it(s grasp
the meaning in the one sleeve,
that smells, rose scent on you.

Just as quickly, reaching out with this the trunk on you, back inside,
the seat, your moon it's fame you cannot hide, from them.

Your husband calls your name,
Your ticket in your hand, almost punched...

If looks could fill and you had his trunk
what could you do,
would you but wave it, as they do at you.....?

James McLain

Some Where I Stand

Some where I stand, hard
to attention for the queen.
Movement stanchd up hill.
Summer uniform bears the badge,
Of some foreign woman, frontal assault.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ruby Red

Yours was that fire, that burned my face, cold as blue glass ice.
You are the heart of flame, so red.
Like a blood collared rose.
That tree fell upon a frozen river,
never to thaw, comes even a spring.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Such A Rose In The Heart Of Rose

Such a Rose In The Heart Of Rose) it blooms in my heart that rose(upon me that grows, no matter where I leave
my heart dear(it loves on me to grow.
Bound up in thorns my love, I lay on beds
of them forever waiting to grow, with you
dear, as I bend to smell, that one red rose.

My heart is your rose, it climbs, and beats
when pricked, by the thorn, to be carried up to every rose on the bush.My rose, your heart,
it blooms in love, each beat lifts to crown the
the heart, as the sun heats them both, to feed
each root that folds my heart back into the rose.
Such a Rose In The Heart Of Rose;

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Afraid To Return - To Be Not Afraid

Afraid To Return - To Be Not Afraid;
When you were so kind to one long stem.
The rose fragrant, scents cover the bed.
Blooms once heady, they filled each hand.
My spot in the sun where you raised me.

Forgotten by you, that one pine tree full of sap?
To draw the lightning together we did plant it for.
The tap root deep in the earth, covered with soil.
Shadow wide, straight to heaven and true..
Afraid To Return - To Be Not Afraid;

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lips To Kiss

The moon feigns a sigh..
Moons high lights shine..
Rose..moon over pond..
Moon sleeps with moon...
Lips To Kiss..moon high..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Venit Toe Tellus

The valley of the queen,
soft is the middle of love.
My haven is two sided,
folded over to seal me.
Petals scented to bloom,
hold my head in sleep.
While rivers wash over
rocks to cool pale moon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fresh Sweat Like Salty

Fresh sweat like salty-
Tears well out like the small white Islands to dry, on the heart of your sun as cupped hands in there want.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Woods Some Other Found

-The Woods Some Other Found,
The pink fence, love made my face, are painted and the woods grow in anger.
The tree you once grew against, towers up,
out of reach, and now lays inside the sun.
The path that led to the meadow, is over grown.
Musk rats now live in the pond, and swim in front
the spring, that still flows down, across the field, to where the hay brown, new is mowed.
The woods some other found,
Sleep in the winter, over grown in the spring,
as fresh roses yearn to lay, up against summer,
washed, waiting for gold, veils of autumn to fall.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Love Has Said

Love has said,
that you are too hard
to live inside my beating heart without.

Love has said,
he wants to spin
the world around
and your top.

Love has said,
That he must run
back and forth,
inside the sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Sun Of Crown

Yellow wings, she leaves to fly in dreams of yellow;
Bee loved, is now inside the flowers, grail to cup.
The sun loves crown, to bless the smile, that moves.
When Venus cups boy's free, to bee in love that flies.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Rose Some Color Other

A rose some color other;
Petals more than yellow sun.
Glow of red, hold more than crimson mask that cries below.
A rose some color other;
Bloom as doves that fly in clouds.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Johnny's Gun

Moon Johnny's gun -

Bound up brass, shots burst bright eye of yellow sun;
Moon coils heavy rope, that boils the living water.
Comets fly by moons cheek, with love in a white hail of bullets; heavens hand props pale moon on cotton clouds, as moon rises, and then rests in honor.
New moon colors the eye, Johnny sleeps under the sky.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Woods Once Were

When tree tops lay
against the moon.
Out of the tan sand
and hard with stone.
Petrified heads glitter
the ground, some lay exposed, on deserted
dunes without expression.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Last Rose

This old house, high up on the hill.
Now it's coming down, around me.
There is one rose bush, left to bed.
The one rose struggles, in the sun.
Now every evening..I..spread water around each petal, love; see it open.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Because You Love Me

Because you love me
You let me sleep when I water the roses that your love let me keep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Frequently The Wood Mix Pink

Frequently the wood mix pink -
More often not to wood on ground,
Hands color, of the root I, stumble on.
Winds frequent to, more the sail brought up, figure head of Rosy sun, lifts split sea.
Earth bursts to round, undressed in deepest blue;
Ships brown oak one leg on rail, hardly long ago.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Advice To A Boy

If she is a diamond..
She will sparkle..on you..
You boy..will glow..
she will shine...brighter..
Than the sun..when with..
Your cloth..on her you buff..
Boy..if you are..a real boy..
She will know..your song..
long before you sing it..
Boy when she cries..hide..
Her tears..inside one heart..
Boy when she is gone..you..
Will see the coal..on fire..
Boy make sure..she looks..
You in the eye..does it burn..
Brighter when you..kiss her..
Boy you will...have to die..in..
Her..then again..be new born..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Advice To A Girl

My advice to you girl..is this..
Check his arms..
You want a strong one..that..
Can pull you up..when you are..
Down..you know..inside the....
Oyster..you are growing on..the..
Moss covered shore..where..
Waves wash the shell..that pearl..
Hidden in the shell...it will be..
Your dowry..that shinny pearl..
So many..would come to covet..
Let them not..it is pink and shinny..
It will loose it's luster..and it's roe..
Look him in the eye..and remember..
Softly brush his hair..for upon your..
Thigh when touched by future kings..
Jeweled crown..The robe will catch..
Fire and never be put out..
When he is..to be..or not..it will..then be...

James McLain

How He Made You Cry

Did he make it hard....
For you to cry...
Do..
Those tears well up..
To spread..
far out..
Across dawns milky sky..
Does moons...face..
Ride up one wave..and..
Slide back down..
The..other side of dawn..
and when you..
Hear the stormy cries..
deep inside.....
and tell me then.....
Just how...
he made you cry..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Is Light

Night..after night..
Large asteroids..
Strike to the heart..
Melting moons..face..
Driving fountains..of red..
Dust..as tears..white..
Now..sheet her bed...
Without sound..
In and out..falling..
As empty space..so..
Moon..can wear..royal..
Pink..and purple robes..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Shadow

When my shadow shows high noon, much in and out
the door it runs to miss the midday heat, in siesta deep.
My shadow turns a simple laugh, into the fondest smile
and some times runs into the sky, with two feet it hides.

In the early morning, with the dew upon the lilies, the grass wet lays, my shadow fast asleep inside nights bed the moon.
Unsealed the window opens wide, the running water scented
from springs, brings, some children out about to clip the thorn.

Now that age has lent me lettered grace, I bend and grow in folly even more, the book of passion, cheeks enslaved once inked a knave, others do the pumping, when water from the well, one needs to drink.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Is Afraid, It Is Tired.

Wherever you are..
It is..there..
and now you're afraid..
It is..tired...
His heart..
That you made.. with..
Hands passing of time..is..
The history both made..
and erased..
With your smile....
Nights love.....moon shines..
inside of the sun....
Face to face..
her shadow..
Lost..now and..forever..
He's left..without..love..
and one sun that smiled
God's love lass..and yes..
now he's tired...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ruby Eye

Is it.. his treasure..bold..
Heavy opens ruby chest..
Cheeky hot..angry moon..
Flames afoot..in eye alone..
That rocky pond..unknown..
Long of finger..Strong in root..
Broad this spring fed tree..
Does he warmly.. gentle tiger..
Honey suckle breath.. eye hides..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When At Last She Comes

When at last she comes...strong livery hands now reigned...against the stable pain of mare..so tired head bent down.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Love Aches For Marriage

Rose and trestle, support,
each other, red bud heavy,
it lays to woo on the wood.

Beloved in church, as white,
one wafer, is split now two,
both hands on, each to each.

It is a silhouette, moon light,
both within bound up, as joy.
The joy of the world, can ever
be known out side of it, inside.

Two paths on the same trail,
ache together, to come apart.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Released Within

How many nights my hand held on throat,
while time stays lost so innocent in sleep.
Found inner pact through key holed window,
demons eye in fear on passions mind it plays.

Deep darker meaning helps the doctors keeper,
of that secret world of flames at bay no padded
jackets hospital ordered medication renders sane,
this world inside there mind they keep from me.

The burning eye that red hot haze dim street lights,
stark highways rubber burns my souls tired maze.
Cherry wood that oils hand the seated mirrors mask,
I made to wander through some body some one made.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Physician..Help The Judges..Heal..The Hurt

Physician..

Robed in white..to..

Lay in sight..all..

Such hurt that..lays in..

Heart of souls..with..

Empty..pain..you eat to..

Weep and feel..and gaurd..

The..pillars holding up..

Those hallow marble halls..

Judges..scale....The..

Ocean..filled with..void..

Empathic..Seas..

That touch each wave..of..

Human..

Rights in where..clear..

Word..to us....Our..this..

In here to you.. now..know..

Each of them..in book..

That glass..in blood of life..

Of one they know..are framed..

For all..the two..

From right..when..

Sacrifice is light..

Not might to sway..

The common bond..

You hold for all in sleep..

James McLain

I Live From Smile To Smile

How do i live..
From smile to smile..
When together..
We smile..and the suns..
eye lays open to the sky..
We crack open...cool nights..
Mixing our smiles..
With the pink of the dawn..
When you smile..
The stars must part..when..
Comets trail..trickles down to..
Paints your lips..with the dust..
Of a moon..when they fly to near..
Inside the light..Of your smile..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Nurse Today

Thinking..as I watch her..she..
Knows I can not move..not..
Even one moon..not even..
One half..as my arm hangs..
Off to the side..with all the..
Movement it all ways does..
Get in the way..
I..wish..I..wish..I..
Could thank the nurse for..
Those soft hands..
in a warm bowl of..
Soapy..
..they make it..
Impossible to think....
While my heart bursts..
..And she knows....as the sun..
That I can never shrink from it..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

How Do You Take Your Creme

How do you..

Take your creme..lass..

How do you..

Take your creme..

Your saucy looks..spilled..

Over in silks clear cup..

how do..

You take..your creme..lass..

Painted with lips..velvet..O's..

Tender kiss..lass..so..

How do you..take your creme..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Resistance

Quantified Amount..
Of force..that is..
needed..
To over come..
All of your....
Temptations..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Depth To Cup

American vegetable..fruit..
Markets in stores..such as..
I love to frequent..having Large hands..cantaloupes..
Fit snugly in one..palm..then..
Cupped so..I..look around..
As it drips..Strawberries..
Are easy to hide..except..
The ones..that resemble..
Camel toes..those valleys..
Ridges..keeps all the men..
Eyes averted..woman..know..
I push through..drinking from..
A carton of milk..wandering..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Once Was

You once was -
Loves sunny days inside...
My love for you..never dim..
Your fire..my dark clouds..
Inside your heart..drove away..

Now as..I.. look at your face..
Love remembers..one pink cloud..
Hot hearts..breast..did shake..
Hold my head..while I release my soul..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Blind Assistant

To her smile..so..
each rose..never fades..
Passers by..stop to gaze..
warmly into..to know..
Each morning...
One street side window..
always full..as..
Vases to shape..
sit with glass hands..
are..
Busy weaving..
the stems of roses..
softly..
The blind assistant..
by touch.. counts..the Red blooms.. asleep..as they drift down..
While eyes..follow..
One unopened bud..as..it's..
Mixed with tears..awash..
On the ground in kisses..

James McLain

Alone

Alone; from that fountain, Since spring now sprung;
My childhood birthed, back into passions room.
As others have, all gone over and into again
and I must now pass again alone, and afraid.
and the eye, and heavens one gated needle;
Where I once fought that eagle, out yonder lord.
Then left me again, and you passed me bye,
Come hear me, and my eye on those lips.
I ride a torrent, and water of red, inside alone;
Again, forgotten and never to be so different.
Winter blooms now, and I'm alone once more;
Gone there forever; the flame of no more.
The note to me alone, and lost in that my song;
My childhood knew no hold, and it's labored sorrow;
Unknown, and once mysterious, it stays and Opens it's door somewhere, in you to sleep alone;
and as lightning cools, and that fountain once hot;
and spring with passion, heavy gone..away..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Eagle..

Feather..hide it's..

Beat.. white bald..

Mask..red distant..

Eye surrounds..it..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Orion's Belt

Time tips it's....light down..on..
Her..many full cups..lost in it..as..
Bodies..grow heavan..inside..the..
Sky..It.. drifts.. from one star..to the..
Other...seven..inside.....Orion's belt..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lions Watching Eye

To see the tail..
Held...aloft...
Lifting of hair..
Combed back
Golden..black..
Silver..the mane...
Hiding against..
Climbing..into..
The tree..laying..
With the grain..
Relief..hot breath..
Telling..closing your..
Heart..as it beats..
To the beast..down..
Beneath..you..the..
Scent wells..Up..
Out..red..cloud..for..
Miles..it floats....
Lion..bleeds..it's..
Prey..to feel..life..
So..full..once again..

James McLain

Femininity

Dear..femininity..

When...i.. wander around your forest..your hand..
..it..always guides me back..to the shore..and you..
never make...it... stand alone..in the rain..thank you..
Your sister..gave me your peach... she picked..it..
for me from the tree..in the middle of the field... by..
your lake..as..i.. watched from the shore..and yes...
my feet are wet as well..laying here..eating your peach..
..i..wonder..why this coat upon..my tounge..is sweet of.. taste..the sun..it turns your eye..when...i..graze upon..
both moon and face that calls my name..with smiles...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Laying In A Mystery

Angel of white..black..good..or..bad..
To stand..still..while the snake..with his..
Wings glides up and..into your eye..
The little white mouse..alone..cuped in silk..
See how it runs..all around..the moon insane..
It's always missing the cheese..when..it's..
Hidden strictly..in secret..do you call out..
When only some tail..is left exposed..to freeze..
The monkey needs to breath..it sneezes....then..
Runs..up and..down the pole..chained at the neck..
Then..there are those that walk on water...they Eat food..that's never bottled..they have..us.. think..
I have a clam under water..it eats all my pearls..
Then lends your..feet..miles and miles of sand..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Getting Away With Murder

I lay here..I tell you..only now..
Because my time..grows short..
Trapped in a bed..wishing I could..
Now you know..I never could..yet I tried..
I am.. younger than most...older than
Some..most will live longer... in years than..
I..for me it will be over soon..The..Doctor..
Will know...how many breaths.. I..Took..
From when it was that..I..first saw her..
This machine in me..will tell her..Still..
First..I..have to die..I...lay here....waiting..
Unable to move..for the nurse to close my flap..
I would die.. days early..for one jug...of her..warm milk..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Drowning Inside

Every breath..each next it struggles..so..
To best me...I cannot trust..if..it is not..as..
Feet rest upon my chest..pushing down..
My heart squeezes..in vein..blue blood..it..
Pools..pushed back out..unexcepted..now..
Chambers labor..to birth red..thick are they..
It's short circle..back to the lung..grows long..
Breathing so labored..you hold it..hoping the...
Heart will not notice...you cough..when body..
Swells..eating nothing..drinking your self..up..
Holding..inside the air..light flickers..spotted..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Red Eye Of Sight

Inside thorns..pale cloth of branches...
Moon looks heavy..trembled swollen...
Red eye outside perimater..you..know...
Throaty cough..make rivers run..to seat..
Shadows..play with the fires...red hot eye..
Pads of sifting sand you fear...arm up..
Only stars..watch one eye..as tiger covers..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pearl

Quickly struck..by the wrist..
The oysters.... smile..opens..
Quivering.. pink flesh..it lays..
Gently plucked...purple....
Iridescent..perfect tear..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sleeping Tiger

Days and nights..
Lay together..
Waiting for the eye..
Of the tiger..to..
Wash the moon...as..
Two cubs wait..to eat..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Humble Pearl

Humble pearl..does not hide...
Oysters soft in brine..washed..
Wave that birthed it..
Nor...the hollow in neck...
Of all woman..that they wear..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Burn Tells Wont Mine Ear

The suns red eye...evens yellow..
skies...in shades of pink..puffy....
hidden..mine own eye..can see..it still..
Strong winds part..cotton clouds..topped..
Mine ears hear..the sounds cool..breeze..
Motives from a storm...just ears will not tarry..

Mine ears..should not fear.. your tounge..
They hear egos bed...lies..lillies..silk masks..
Mine cheeks burn...mine ears ring..off..your..
Bold fingers with..I plug them both..uncaring..
Ace frolic waxed..always..mine ears..eye..is..
Covered..turned words..cheeks burn..away..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sun Rise

The air...is still..thick..
Heavy..moist..it..moves..
Around...a dropp of water..
That drips from the moss..
Between...forked..limbs..
Two...Live oaks..split..the..
Skies..sleepy world...to..
Hold open...one lethargic..
Tired..trimed....yellow eye..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sex.... Poets...More Love Suicide

Sex is just a word..it lifts you..
parts you..washes you away..
It rides you..you never rode it..
Since death you ride..that..horses..
bareback seedless..one eyed shore...
Suicides..tremble..every cowards...
Deep inside..that timeless..whore..
Poets must..there lot..die young...
Poets know the shame...in sin..
You sought so hard...once upon inside..
To hide..that shielded..cup of..mask..
Poets drip drops of red..Poets..lay..
Inside you all..Death Tripp's you all...
Lay still..why run..A good poet...will..
Ride you like he rode..oaks ageless door...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bullfrogs

A shadows voice...
low in timber grows..
Between the sheets..
Clears one pond..
The water droplets..
vibrate up..from into..
Bullfrogs know this tune..
they add..it soars..
Throaty waves oscillate..
Pond swells..as evening..
Floats sweet night...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Mask

Your mask..
my mind..taken..
Wrapped..fingers..
around..my..
Death..white..
Plaster laughs..
To hold..it..
Your mask..
Of wood..is worn..
Oiled and shinny..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sara Is It Poetry Tease A Pill

Exhumed..silk shroud upon..it.
Emancipated..bright yellow..a..
Pillow..Capulet shy blue..skies..
unVeil to..Teas..my ash en greys..
Is it poetry..hold tight..two cups light..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Gift Of Mask

Earth...inside her musty tunnel..
Histories long..search..for..
The other side..digging..two..
Remember the child..once you..
Shovels cast aside..grown up..
Memories overlap..faded..
Searching for that smell..pungent..
Fruity..some thing missing..the..
Red eye of volcanic moon..shoots..
Man accrues the sky..to slowly drop..
Upon moons..Earthen mask..viseral..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sparks Leak To Form A Windows Heart

Sunshine's halo..it's..
beam heats.. a tear upon
sleeps face..
Red sparks her name..
flow down as wind lifts...
One Hand held out..
as window lights... wear..
one pink.. a golden ring...
Cloud retreats...suns yellow orb..
Drifts off..to touch the veil..of day...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My House A Shell

Taps upon it..tap..tap...
Half buried..
Cast off..up out from...
warm sea..
Soft moist it's body...
is vulnerable..
Awash in clear waves...
move it..
Coiling it around inside...
it's home..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

River Run

Do you own a skull cap..
Do you speak..the..
Kings English...
Run over the land...
Climb..just to climb..it..all..
Cross your heart..
Make it stand..on some hill...
and sing in the rain..?
My coffee...it can and does

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Vieux Boulogne..Smelliest Cheese In The World

I have known...You still dont know...
That I know...you leave...
Every other Tuesday...Thursday...
To cheat on me...I wish....
I could see his face....leave...
every time you arrive..to smile..
you not knowing that...I...always..
cover the shield of your mask...
before you leave with...Vieux Boulogne....
You never notice...being on the run....
It is..Just because..I love you..
No other reason...That..I..
enjoy your smile..does he?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Morning In Paint

Sun brushed..
each canvas..a sea....
Paint holds it high..sky's..
Washed yellow eye...dawns..
As each day rises to see it...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Scent Of A Woman

Lips kiss..loves scent of a woman..
silk tissue hangs...mixed infused....
With flavor... strong fruit...savored..
One hand nibbles..lost with sleep..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Karen When You Call

Passion flows out..voice..
Hard you still cry..for it..
Is it still open.. the bush...
does the rose...dirt bed..
Still bloom...tracks on grass..
after three long years..dew is..
My thorn..it stayed bloody sharp..
so bloodied..little beast impaled..
You flush in song...humming birds...
that sing at dawn..hush in quiet..

Seven..July..Two Thousand Nine..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Faceless This Our Clock

Under grandfathers clock pebbles...balance..it..
You face it..naked...and stand alone...
It winds across the lines..it sheds one single tear..
When childhood it masks...it runs free to hide..
It fades as winters worn coat.. time wound away..
Long hand..moved us rapidly...onto a rusty chime..
My second hand..gauze as flesh with dust...
It's linseed oil...clingy....sharp..so musky..
Forever it stays as past...no minutes....will spring back..
Crept inside a single shallow year... this cup all drank..
Now tolls the clock we froze...a silver misty grave of fear..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Hides Rose

Moon..veils hers...
floating..white..
soft light..moss..
brushes my face..
Leaves..rustle softly...
washed in canopy..
Moist soil...Bare feet.. run lost between..
toes..rose is hidden...
within nights darkness..
Brought into sight...
scents up soft light..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Recon You Stole My Cow

Judge,
I brought this in...
front of you, will you..
please compare this..
tan brown bottle...
with that from my cow..
this is how you will know it is mine..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Object

The wind.. whips words..silky thin..
Spiders wire so soft..in trust it clings..
Graves..moan..still..all filled with moss...
Monuments...once dry are..covered..
Smothered..by..One wet cloud..that..
Dripps lost horizons...free lined face..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Battle Field

I walk..hitting the buzzards.. in the head with my sling shot.
I stop at each body to check
them for any loose pebbles..
Battlefields..full of agendas.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Emo It(S One Bloody Eye

Misunderstood poured out
in guilt by the others.
What is pleasantly a difference of individuality, or not to metamorphic into tragic enemies
as there state of mind now to:

Red hot..blazing eye..it looks out..
My mirror..is filled..with this..
One smokey eye..to fall into it..
Is to be..consumed..by it.. burning it first...
Melting it's moon...in red hot.. black hole..
It cuts out....red center sky...it's redness..
Peirce's..with the thorn...you may try... it's..
Blood drop's can not fill it's...Red hot eye..
All in heaving saw..it's full..dripping mask..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Tadpole

Flashes cup) it(s in white silk..netted.
Marshy pond) it(pulls at the bottom..
It lays outside) it(wiggles within...
) it(tries) it(s new legs to hop out of..
Startled) it(s dropped into..
One red..orange..large mouth bass.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Persona Countless

Adopted..cultivated..surrounded..
Merry go rounds..Ferris wheels..
Towers that lean to cover..cleanly..
Our lodge..it hangs..beneath..
her many masks..swing suspended..

A poor farmer..his corn was to light...
Yellow....white sweet..colored maze...
Buttons shinny....silk under husk..to Weave golden hair..lays in sun..to dry..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wine And Cheese

Cheese upon bread to wine.
Some lactose lays intolerable.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Day One Night

Light entwined..maybe day..is night..
You long to be..lost in you my sight..
Deep in love, to fall out..by moon light..
Find the night..still lost in all your days..
Bright upon skies center..hot it fades...

You are veiled high..in love on my face..
Release my day...comets stream from eye..
You chase off dark, brighter nights..of day...
Will you..mix us..up now down..together..
Chasing off into..heavy day..lighter night..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Love Swing

We fly on it..gripped by brown hemp..
Rope..as it....drives us up ever higher..
Against sky's..pale..blue eye..two..silk..
Filled hands....slows it down...we swing..
Our toes..we swing them out...over..
Valleys..low rich earthen floor..so one..
Shadow..slowly grows..to know our..
Carefree...happy sun washed..faces..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tar Feathers And The Rail

Based in white.. feathers need.
Full in heart.. is a soul blessed
meal.

Population..it never recovered..puritans..
Rode..that train..
out of town.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

White Washed Girl

Dressed in white it rains.
She bends with the brush.
Dancing around in circles.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moths

Swoop in upon the fire..
hot..wings bridge the air.
To say why dance it is thus.
Still moths.. will never talk at..
Petaled leaves is to hide them....
When touch suns hot mask..
bowls of cotton winds..flutter..
Moth legs..no longer can carry..
It's fire underneath..the flower...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bait Fish

He runs...blindly along stream..
long pole extended..
chasing great fish...
To fall into..held fast in the nets..
stream..of dreams..
The fish casts it's line..up..
out of the pond..onto shore..baited..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Feeding Flames

Who catches it to hold it's fever.
The fire is never silent burning.
Merciless as the sun it's flame.
It eats forests it moves all wood.
Will the forests ever grow back?

Giving up the very air we need see phenomenal heat consumes) it(self

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Concepts Father Poetry

..When we go shopping..I smile..as..
..he always asks...hundreds of questions.
..Mother why does that woman..squeeze..
..those cantaloupes? ..How to lay..in words?
..Her husband has been gone many years..
..If you pass your hand..in front of her eyes...
..she will not see you..dont go and cry..
..Do you understand why she never buys..them?
..Those cantaloupes..? ..No..I dont mother! ..
..Is is poetry then..if she miss the fruit..
..then squeezes... your hand?
..Mother why does that woman..look at the
..bent cucumber...and not eye a..straight one?
..Quite she will fear you..and deny it to you..quite.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bipolars Halfway

It is the worse bi polars..there is..
With regular bi polars..
You are either here or there..
Bi polars half...is the brain spinning..
as a top..it's like a smile turned inside out..
It is as...the bud of a rose...swallowed
by the stem...just hanging there.. with a Thornie sticking out of the eye..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Accountability

Your darn right I ask questions
untill your blue in your face..you.
You think I ask stupid questions
and you do to.
When the river runs dry who do
you come to.
You can forget the store, it's out to.
Why do you ask me..not to ask questions it's not like I want to know where it is that you live.
Is there a reason I'm accountable to you? ..Then tell me what it is.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Some Future

All Around them
birds fall, wings
without feathers
hoping peeping.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Venus With Moon

Her mask..knows no one..
not even the mirrors thunder.
It is not within the sun...
You see in your reflection.
Still mercury....moving..
leaves a burnt offering... when Venus...
turns her face toward moons.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Death Came You Taxed It

How did you expect me
to know you from the bird flying bye.
You ask things that have no answer..
at least none..I can discern..
I am the book that you never read..
I am that simple plain cover..unread..
Power and control..what..would you..
control what..and if given..
How would you use it..? ..do you abuse it?
Do you know what you want? ..do you?
If you dont know...how would any one else
know what you want?
So what do you tell me what....
you think you said but did not?
Tell me some thing good..!
Tell me a way out of here..!
I can escape death..and taxes.
I never can escape from of you.

James McLain

One Baby

She and he, where the bomb
just beautiful as a couple outwardly just jaw droppers.
They made beautiful healthy babies
every one wanted.
Except they were a few cards
short of a deck..a good deck..
still short and wanting a baby bad.
They were madly always as only innocence can be forever till death in love.
This nice older couple let them live
in a cottage on there property.
There income was watched by they,
it could never exceed there one baby a year
still all they could do is cry and try.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Letter From Her Soilder

Dear love of my life,

If you get this letter..you will not see me again..

it is ok..ok..I love you..ok..I know you worried..

I am sorry for that.. I did the best I could..please love my memories that we shared ok..woman..

mother..wife of my life..my dreams..

my heart of your soul.

We were having problems with some of our equipment, many of our friends will not come back

as well..John..his wife Jolene..

a letter from him..should lay within for her as well..

his sword..gun..are as well enclosed..

In this writing..I feel you hold me as once you did..

it seems so far and long ago..

When you cry..do not please..I ask let..don't little Tree..

see you this way...

thus..your word my life your honor in this you gave to me before I left..remember past..ok..wife..

let it be and stay that way..ok..

tears are for the pillow each night when you lay to rest

your weary soul....I see the first kiss so clear now..

your soft smile holds me every night i turn to sleep..

I must go..honey stay brave..the sounds of death and guns draw near..

Remember I will watch for you..I wait..ok..I wait..

and find some one who loves you just for you..

I love you..... name wind..moving sand around you...

James McLain

One Mosquito

It hangs out from her
) with it's large eye's to
buzz without rest.
Bombing runs laying in various, stages
redeveloping) it(s stabbing (proboscis.
Her smile..is utterly..
emptied....devoid of magic.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Woman In You

Womans you live...die for it..is as the moon..
..unveiled it weeps..always..yes it's happy..
..It is normals why fight your mind?
..This body..yours as it unwinds the wind..
..does find the time to cool your tears you sigh..
..it cries for me inside..It is normals..I recon yes it is.. :)
..These letters... lets you know..yes they do now..show..
.. to you how week..ur knees do trembles and shakes..
..words brings you the joy only the smile inside could know..
..it's womb yes it's true..oh womans it's so you so true..
..Whut is that around your feets woman...look..
..There womans..come here..sit still..your tired..
..relax..lay back..I washes them now for you...
..dries them off for you..it paints your toes..so blue..
..you reach for the sky it's deep inside of you..
..It's ok womans dont..cry ok..it's there in you inside..
..just to see you smile..ok..womans..ok..?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Define Normal

What is it that they call normal.
Up to fifty percent of American children
have hyperactivity
with attention deficit disorder.
Autism..Most are very intelligent..
afraid at birth from the world labeled.
Dyslexia...whom understands a backwards
world..apart always together..forever
teaching a brain..hard wired..
...without answers..always..
in back of the beginning..eyes looking..
lips lying..mind saying..not normal..
Is it a real smile.. is it Normal..is it..?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Friend

They are what,
to whom?
How do you know?
They are,
where ever you are
you hope.
What you are,
you hope.
Some touch first
and run.
Trying to fudge,
true you without
pretentiousness.
Some taste you
in life's words to somewhere..
Did you touch
them..
along that road
braving
in persistence
directions..
Still: dont deny,
you both
want to be touched
some how some way
differently,
as the smile from
before has, faded
for some,
to moons suns
paired in to rise
and set...in you..

James McLain

Moons Pearl

Whits stars...soft...
pearls...roll down..
moons face..as rain.
...hiding...laughing..
Moon washes..in..
.....comets..tail

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Where Did You Go

We wait...at the airport.
Today....was yesterday.
Tomorrow...now today.
Right now never change.
Please news dont leave.
On the news leave it on..
News shes on the news.
Shes not here news says.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Fever

...It is hot..humid airy..
...Moons veil..is spotted..
...Dark shadow follow..
..... Cleft.... stone...
....Heavy..sweaty..cheek..
...Moons face..fevered...wet..
....Glow hidden..by..cotton clouds..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hides It

She cups) it(s softly with mists) it(s morning breath.
Pouch silks) it(s so clingy.
Her heaven is as) it(s'leep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Just Ones Memories

To notice woman have different concepts of there first dates.

Memories of heaven..

memories of the color
of your shirt...

Memories of your eye color..they were contacts..she forgot the color of it's smile..she never even looked in his eyes...she wanted a memory.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Cant Make You Do It

..You have the same mind..
..your god..has..it is that I am..
..cannot force you..in your mind..
..it is enough that you can..if you
..chooses it is so rightly...
..in heaven here...it is only..
..the wind you hear..moving as silk..
..all around..in through you..now sigh.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Did It

...Did it..make you..
...write poems..
...you would not have..
...written..Did it..
...Did it flip you over..
...spank your bottom..
...Did it..flip you over..
...again just to..
...watch you smile..
...Did it just do it again..
...It smiles..) it(s so write..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Honest Woman

Professional honest woman..
...she watches.. the moon..swell...
...Her high rise..office..not a dream..
...French..benefited telescope's...
.. into dignified find..is heaven..
...heavy moons.. light moons..still..
...orbit around..magnetic poles...
...Borealis..shows dawns.. misty night..
...She rises early..to fill her cup....
...with Irish cream..mocha coffee..
...She is..a...professional..woman..
...coming up..with her own..celestial..
.....body..that works up..to her arts....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Leonidas Alexandros Won

Some times come back again as one.
Modern greatness.
Now it never needs..
Three..two..one it's hundreds... armies..
To keep your roses.
She just needs it's..
one..bloodied spear.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cover) It(S Cover

The covers only work two ways...
You are either under or on top...!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Still... Never Is Your..Rose

Your face behind the mask..now hides..
cold thoughts...it is bloated full sated..
Even still your hands..as does
the garden...shaken...moon rattled..
in good faith as you instructed.....
always your..invasions withdrawles..
so orderly untill....It saw stars with...
Venus..why do you hold other monses...?
Why...Venus why? ...do you cry forsaken..
...Did it not save you...from being stoned....
When last you circled Mars abusive..Attila
said you..was he..in belief..it slew him..
and the many others..with this bloody spear..
Now it comes home.. into the tent..and is...
overwhelmed...by armies of your roses..
..You know it will only raise it's spear...
.....in defense..as) it(s..feet sink into sands bed...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Yes It's Necessary

Our highways are always in a need...
of repaving.. recessions cheap labor.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Astrally

Mars rules all moons.
Venus hides, openly to unveil. Those heavy Clouds rain down on it's heaven. Happy to Cover it's molten lava.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Wants To Want

He is detected by her..

Wanting to be her victuals.

Wanting him to clean there.

Wanting her just to be wanting.

Wanting to know how all the others feel, when it's there turn.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bi Polars Understanding It

They understand it...English is english..
...Trillions now are made on it..
You..me..him..her..your..smile..
Look at it in the light some times ok..
...Even your smile..has a smile..
..If you just laughed your bi ploars...
..Millions of cattle now graze on it..
.....Except this one.....
Even there sons and daughters fly high
...on the wings of green moons...bi polars.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bi Polars One Favorable Side Effect

If she can control it..
the bi polars..then..
She owns...
Hefty is headys..glads..
Her very own...heavans..shake..
golden buckets..forevers..
Out of love...she beats him....
Always new shapes...
Only she grows.... him.. his verys...
She turns bi polars...into..
her own personal.....master of you..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bi Polars What Is It Really Like

It is not depression..no it's not..
Your mind it races a thousand miles..
per second never knowing sleep...
..its peace..mental trauma makes
it worse..it hurts..it's blinding pain..
Going through life..mowing your mind..
never letting the grass grow back..
you just cant..it's the bi polars..
Why do...stupid peoples..stupid..
not ignorant think...
you can just shut it off like some car..
They are the most dangerous...some even know how to make it explode..on purpose..
truly wicked are they...whom walk...
in your darkness on purpose....darkness
such as they...they are..wicked..
always thinking...knowing thinking..
forever thinking...never knowing...
because it's always...thought out...
weeks before...advanced in head....
knowing...it never works out that way..
knowing....knowing never knowing...to wait
untill the last spark is gone put out.. always wanting to..lay in roses..is it's side affect..

James McLain

You Know It's The Bi Polars

You know it's the...bi polars..
when hate....is love...down is up.
Imagine..manic each Monday..flying
.. with no wings..and making it...
slowly to the top..just to slide quickly down...
You know what...the triggers..are..
and..because...she/he loves you...
he\she pulls..them in circles..lovingly..
she does...still backwards is so..
frontwards..maybe they know..
but because she\he loves you..he/she knows you grow..as out words
as a person can grow..because...
she/he loves you..and then I...know the..
joys of when...she is so bi polar..
Being simply he
and she smiles
i am some one that you what with, 'as well.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why She Killed Me

It was rainy..
it was a spacial night..
for her...
I was in a hurry..
Looking back I though..
....never again did I...
Woman at the dry cleaners..
gave me the wrong dirty shirt.
With looks as well...
....She never cleaned it..
You thought not knowing it was you..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Meeting Of Two Bridges

Instinctively
even the child
knows
which one to take.
The child in you is it gone?
Where did it go?
How thick is fog to the blind?
Does it matter what's under the bridge?
Which side do you cross over to find it..From..
Does your memory flow on..
inside to where?
Which side did you leave it on?
Who built this bridge to why?
Hello: ..where are you standing from on what?
When meeting of two bridges....
Talk to the middle.. is to ask of...
What rail do to..Would you lean on?

James McLain

You Took Some Thing Of Mine

What is in a title?

It can be a decoration.

Open ended question!

Just a nonce.

Declarations stilled.

When you took...what you took..

when you took it...in the way...

that you took it...Unless death...

takes it first..

You better take what you took...

in the taking you took...

forever to look over your shoulder.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Sadness

It trembles..in her veiled..heavenly..s.
Tears off of terribles..float ups..onto..
oshings..cheeks shinnys...meeting ups..
and downs..eqauls stars..tails of comets..
is to hands in cups...as ices ring my eyes..
Lower veil holds it's saddness...mixed..it's..
Stary sleep with gaze upon..it weeps to moon...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why Do You Come

Why do you come around me..
If you only want to lay in a bed of lies?
Do not come then..ok..see if I care.
Do you come..just to come? ..or do you.. come to watch me..run around..inside your bowl like a pitted cherry..Drowned in half..
lidded lipid cream...while the other half is displayed...chilled with the split banana..
You come around..yes you do...dont lie..
Just to see me..watch...you smile..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Still Other Times

Still other times
when i'm always.
I wander around.
With those fingers
in all my ears, sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bi Polars Still Others

Some few..know now there fate...
..other deny to fight..more nurotics..
was determinedly far into unknown..
by that one roses..DNA....especially..
..and now must know just less they are..so
It is laid..must find ways to smile..stop crying..
To sea is it's to wave..pleased see you sing..
...as well..mostly these are...justly so..all..
creations...best creators..painters..writers..
and few real murdered politicians...they were
as well..you the normals.. loves to conspire about..
mostly though they are the greatest of sinners..
you keep to look..in the mirror and blush about...
so keep it inside of you...so tight...all rights..
are wrapped in bi polors miles of smiles..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Little Future Mothers

It is definitely a fading P.G. thing... were not talking expensive roses here..
....it is sad..so sad...
just one deadly miniaturated...
...man hating thorn...how are mothers
so much..so alien..so weaver ed,
....in the web as deadly predator..
of men without drugs or alcohol..ever..
...being involved...any way I feel sorry for her as her first daughter is dead already and the day her only son and I buried her that
.. day in a cotton bag is still foggy and dim...
The miniature rose here for the lack of a more charitable word..will follow in the way of the predictor her and some of you mothers..
why beat it up..so you wont have to read this... still as you must have a mirror you will return to your damaged sign in vein.. except every one will see drama island comming and leave it so very mutually exclusively sad and un federally inexpressible..

James McLain

Bi Polars

No longer
can I tell when one pole
over laps the other.
Or if shes just mad.
Still it is..such beauty..
to watch..me fly..
through this...
alive her deadly hurricane.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Make It Hard At Times

Why cant you see the way you move effects my heart it skips that beat you need the most.

You leave come back runaround the other side of the track you like the most
it is a fact you run those rails you always have.
I love you still you make it hard to let you go or take you back.

Why do you get so mad and think the mail is from some one I know when it is not..

Still always suspicious about the slightest scents
when you know
my short cut leads me through the promised land.
Any way can you remember that you make it just so hard some times to pull away from you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Words

My words your mind..
they can be laid out.. side in any direction...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Trolling Without Bait

You should always troll with the right bait
the better the bait, the sunnier the catch.
Besides you never know when you will have to eat your own bait just to guarantee survival.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

For Some Few A View In Perdition

I cannot spend your eternity
confessing to your pink crusty sins
it labors my breathing of pinks,
smelling as sulfur..matched horned heads...
evacuated..to grow new tails..she entered the dragon..
Per Curam Affirmed, or even worse the dreaded Anders brief upon which you now crest.
I cannot under penalty of perjury say you were great I would be arrested and sentenced to cover your sins....Your just to fired...
You know you are guilty spreading the word with out there permission...it came to me being obtained
unethically with no morals or scruples than to father
the cause of some gristle crab lender into the vat
with the other dictators it rests in bleach with the sender.
Forever and a day never to smile touching his grin.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Invisible Tounge

I see you weep in oceans heavenly....
..still you dont do you..? ..Words simply only..
It takes some thing more than a word in a mound of minds that tounge..which is invisable..
...still can you feel it? ..It is not real.. this tounge..
...Woman..Mother..Female...you..you..know..it's..
there yet in reality..
they will fit you in that backward jacket of sight...
Can you..do you..dare..still gasp out in that...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Chess Justina's Roses

Queens are trapped from within...
quick ed lines..
Tall regal she holds her eight children...
..out..against..
...the comming..inside of the hordes..
..banging hard on the oaken door..
Much parring such magnificence...
... such deep thrusting..
To open her middle to gain her subject in trust...
Still is the mind to trap the rose is Justina's....
..... as opponent moans..checks in on rose...
.....is silky heavy mated...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Two Peanuts

How could two small peanuts
shake the earth?Elephant.
Storms in the jungle searching.
Trees shake looking down into.
She sketches rock, turns to see.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Passion Face A Mirrors Mask

I try to understand..
Your face when you gaze with in me..
You dance as the tiger...I watch..
Paws moving around the hills.. valleys..
That see the eye always bright and full.
Then you hear the others..why do you change..
The mask of grace and beauty for that others..
Other.. ugly void..when next approached..
Secretly you speak of secret...passions..
It gripes upon the back of your neck..
It is as it always was and will forever be..
It is the animal inside trembles..never tamed...
Your mouth lies, as it shakes..to smile..
With it's lips that puff always open in hope.
Still the body I watch, is always looking for the disapproval in hopelessness of the others mask long since lost it's luster in linseed oil that gave way to the passionless world controlled by they the others.
As they watch from a safe distance doing all they forbade you to do knowing great oceans of pleasure
by turning your passion,
into the dull self denial of your one and only true self.

James McLain

Ur E. R.

The orderlies around them cover in them
all row upon row. Each one smiling two.
One nurse hurries is fronted then backwards
gown smiling to show a pulse in her hands.
The attending physician green with envies
while i v your heart beats inside him, dripping
dropps never caught as I am in a hurry, to prep
your next smile.

Without any gloves, why do you ash me?
In the corner on a stretcher she is wide open trusting kind passing she mouths on me why.
I rush down the hall to see the administrator, one happy faculty this family whom serves your community always smiling.

I notice she is calling me in so I rush over she is graceful quick of leg dancing hands and already has me covered in smiles... well...?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tournament Of Roses On Parade

Reagent leaving your roses
without that which they need.
With no ill will I will go water them
for I'd spoor blooms too with crest.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When The Wind Moans Moon

Running with breath through the moss
I come up along the window of your sight.
You stand there still taught and tight two tips
pressed against my eyes as your Payne.
Still your attitude is not as the wind ever shifting me around without sound as you listen ever brighter never burning out. You hear the moan you see the owl settle down in featherless sound at your feet.
The dance of the oak this night as leaves feel braces sigh while limbs bow down exposing the home of the owl narrow across but deep inside
in song with the heart.
You list to the right and its left moving as if in sleep
so deep you miss the touch inside the moss as it
swims the air you breath.
Back on your side the moon out side reflects off you even brighter as you roll over again now sure.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Any One Can Watch You

You take all of your great thought out little ...secretly precautions for what..?
I can come watch you run around....in your..
..crisp snappy sheets and see your smile..
My alarm is as the moan of your wind heard around the world your thinking you hide) it(s
makes even it is that I am in the sky,
look at it even harder..stilled) it(s smile at you for your blushing carried under and around and around through your heavens mind eye.
You rise and fall as the as the horse shoe at Niagara, ..even only the dead all hear that rush of mist so sweet even they remember feelings deep..
When you moan and whimper in your sleep it knows.
Your smiles all make my smile that much greater.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

No Matter That You Try

Your words when coy, some tests..
do not annoy though at times
one tries two or three..blind...
sunny smiles that cry...to see the fire..
Still being afraid you must run from many words: seductively you weep..and..
must subconsciously they do give you away.
I can never give you away to them...
..why fear..them still one does at times..
...open your eyes to reason...
... you fought is it not so.. I ask of you why?
only it can release you from your forgiveness.
Psychology you know it does not free you all
some times it flees and outwits...you..
....leaving you exposed, most backwardly breast and thighs
open afraid of that which walks inside parades the rose.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Clean Rest To Feast

Many are the pools in bed
rich languishing roses.
Mothers in woman weeping
freely for lack is want of why.
Dreams are some times only for sleep..
yet you stir and move it is on you that I see always constantly...
Gnashing, butting as he him self..
It is that I am and as such it casts them
out onto the coast barring those ghosts...
Still the wing of wind blows
coolly to wash you within to flow out so it falls onto your cotton shields. Rest it upon.
Your silk is fresh so sweet sky
most clean as are you.
Rest now knowing you may taste the feast.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is You So Blue

Released from her lips, Zeus's great rocks now stones she has released back into the soil to start again within.
Icy wind blows it is her breath around cobalt skies that mark her dress for him
next reversal always flowing true in form.
The cold air makes me harder than the ice upon which eyes gaze as she moans
found new ever growing smiles ingrained.
Walking into her mouth young smiles white teeth pocked with seats where I rest some equipment seldom used still heavily handled.
Glaciers rim the sky ponds catered about
as heaving unreachable except with feathers.
I heat one hole within to drink again from her.
While sleeping to study her eye..of cobalt blue.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It's To Foggy

Mother..show me..ok..
how do we feel to see inside
of this cool soft wind?
I clutch to your clingy..mother..
is it fog..that covers my..
that dripps on my so? ..
Mother..is it..?
Yours which is silky, does more than that, it confuses my sense's.
I can not tell inside for the up and downs mother..where are you..it's.
Just without you I clutch to clingy..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

His Peices They Ate

Mikael, making picture messes always.
They come onto every thing oshes around
you now, the mirrors make them worse.
Even in death they grow lame riding the man who's smile they could not touch except when cold meets the sun it's mask forced into
and onto you always again.

Government man sciences mean economics dream
of one man shows bathing in green so thus forced cuts of primes pure beef energized as sun.
When you moved the moons of women whom ran the men behind it's show..they grind now on they there men
to make you up once again..into there frosty heavenly... moons must run in gushing rushing flows from the star
that you are all over again...into the hers the stain.. that fills there voids..it is just so sorry..mikael...
Res-erected it seems so it must again..Venus rules Mars mentality mobs the smile while rubbing the comets tail..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Honor

Madame, Good morning
Your honor,
After sleeping on it all night, and
after to many thoughts of it.
Can you in struck the witness to look at the photo and state clearly,
is this the smile, or is that a smile
over there, or here baby.
There are simply to many smiles
left uncovered...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Climbs Higher

Even as children we climbed the off latter to the game she famed.
She always is first I love her memory till it rises when she climbs, up on top with Jacobs latter.
The last one we climbed was almost
my last but she held it, loves so fast.
She is Only just sweating in her skirt
when she reaches to top, step latter.
From heaven camel toe tear watches
me from the sky weeping pearly gate.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Words Fail Me

Frail winds now blow
through my sun and it is a struggle to speak
thoughts which I lay to rest
to cover your clean cotton shield.
Sadness is mine woman yet when you touch
me the sandy pearl upon your finger tip still shines with all your might soft song on mine do master it's glow.
The many mother still linger aside the few, why do some still count the small trees deep within your foggy glade..my mother..why?
Upon me your gaze when it rains your streams
still run thick..as you stoop and count your fish.
Still mother I strain to provide now the seed to fill your land that you struggled to plow so free
of stone..mother..why?
Because you love me when you come in.You love me mother, when you come in and cover your friend in need and hold him until he's still.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

That Worm You Look For

I looked) it(s not tequila any more?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hidden Spring

It is not deep a few feet from the path.
It is fresh clear, hidden from some to view.
It washes the days sweat inside away.
From the bottom runs up it's most hurried.
Friends is many soft bubbles so is always.
It never seems fast enough to see them form.
Through so caught up into the bottoms laughter.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Perception Of A Wells Bottom

I rest on the plank as I am again lowered down inside.
They make them custom for these wide bods, in the arts.
It is hot and humid, I can feel
my sweat as it hits the bottom.
I have never been so deep in a well decending into a spark
as life flows around me so full.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Truth Is Always Reveals Eventually...

The monk wisely knows
a few more thousand years
wont make a differance to the chicken.
Why it crosses the T and spots one eye.
...and smiles..wink..wink..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Shoe Of Another Shore

I washed in your soul
trying to keep
one pair on me..
It is only the rocky shore
I walk,
I need to be aware of.
I see the edge, cut the feet
of all the souls, as they march into her foamy sea.
I hope the sand will feel a need to talk, as I wash
the queens feet and all those like her
before they go, with they whom walked here before me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Some Butter

I bought the stores brand one stick looks like another to me.
I did not know all that puffed air
would be pulled out in the oven.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mikael

Mikael,
Was your judgment impaired?
You are dead! ..still they would covet all of your heavenly yes?
Who's judgement, who's mirror
what man, who changed, it who.
We will cut you now, we must it is not to know you but to blame
you...Mikael..you never did, it all.
Buzzards circle you it rains they feed, they pretend they would not put you in a jar and clone it again.
Mikael,
Was your judgement so impaired?
Mikael? ..
World in the mirror now is stained.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Hides It

Ever changing scented
beds of roses, it hides it.
All that you seek, buried.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Then Did You Care

When the soul is blessed times three many see the sea they wish 'ed to be.
When you shave this soul but once, twice
where then can this soul now flee in life your death.
Why do you then seek it's death in word your need?
Your need never grew less, your lips bit it thus to bleed.
Bleeding always for your need it led you more upon it.
When your need grew it bloomed into more than need.
You slowly grew it's death in your care, agelessly you grew it never really seeing it for you.
Blessed are you whom would slay it even in it's death,
it's you, it fed..it was just your need of it..that made you full..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Malivolence Of One Rose

It is terrifying this one rose scorned
rebuffed, covered in it's cheezy cloth.
It was drawn so unnaturally is this one.
Rejected, fired, covered in no, if maybe
by you, not me..This rose has no honey.
Her cheese is unhealthy..scent from a can.
This blush is from a jar of surrendered evil.
Does woman, girl, this female, spread me?
in you..does she? ..Sheets are covered in DNA of other dictum's unlike mine are clean.
Her in that rose bed never can have it, ever.
She loves it, it rejects it..
it just can't wear some roses, they are to thorny.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Hunted

Inside one tent is big anaconda. It hunts for moon in nights shadow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

So...I Will Just Run Through Your Roses

I look at your smile..and I smile..
yours is some pouty..so..I takes my shoes off just to run through those roses.Bed is soft on souls.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Memory Of Tree

Hanging from memories golden branch, our window grows smaller.
Leaves still peel back winters face.
Black ancient the bark still knows.
Heart is deeply rooted back in tree.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

People Label To Chip People

It is not what it is, is it?

It was, labeled burned

by you the it of voice of nothing.

You!

Yes you..gave my rights away

because you live in fear..of what..

of nothing except what you do.

So you would want to chip my child

next for what..?

So you can watch her from the sky

and play with your self,

in guise of what?

Who's sick fear is that...

Not mine! .So it must be yours?

You made your enemies over there,

here and where is it to be next freedom from what..

from me or you..

not me they fear..so it must be you.

Play silly stupid think tank games

with them not me...it's you.

Don't clone me....

grow your own smiles..ok?

James McLain

As More Rat Poop Fills Your House

The red eye dependents lost mind
so they dined out inside by the pool.
If you dont have one this song lays in waste for the other worm who does.
You carried one out, it hides in your covers filling on pudding you bake.
The air hardens them, into little balls
of stealing from one rat to feed others.
Meanwhile city code informant drives
by as more rat poop falls from the sky.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poem Garden

It is filled with only the fattest roses..
always in bloom..always blushed...
always running to cling to the..boss..
Is he not so spruced as Bruce...to goose?

It is the hair, smooth stones, birds bees, honey trees of care.
Books filled with bugs found in tiny it's word.

The stream of dreams..where the feet of the world are washed free of care..where plastic was never invented..
Heavenly scented, hypoallergenic...such water.
While every woman's bridge is made of wood.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why They Trust You

It is not a confession, is it...
when you are beat up by others..!
Ignorance tells me every day that if it breaks you it makes you stronger..Right..
let out the rear in poo's..golden sprays.
So which way does your smile lay..?
It was that other woman, father, mother,
man who bent it that way.
Does it run around all crazy now in you?
You cut them out of you..
and they cut you back in on it and it tells the shrink... as it's there buck and it agrees to cuts you worse..
left, turn right, upacross then side ways,
let them check your ally, the lights go out...ok?
Hysterectomies just reward bisecting you...
He, She says it is all your fault, let me check your smile please I'm the doctor here.
Because if you dont let them twist you into control
issues they wish you would go away...away..away..

James McLain

Master The Flower

Master Li Po..?

Why do all the flowers
puff and swell when the hummingbird comes around in the morning?

Laughing from he,

The flower is full and heavy and would break of it's own weight so the nectar must be gathered.

Master Li Po..What is Nectar?

Ask the flower:

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It's Bait

Invisible to all, hunting
on the trail. She loves it.
Deep inside the woods.
Can she catch it, asleep?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Obtuse Confession

It is true the longer the verb
the more it's blue...It is true.
Still you swing that noun like a Scottish club.

My pipes you bagged with little bait,
as it is the Thames it had to wade across with that kilt hiked up for all to see in all it's Havanas.

Johnny mooned them one and all.
Still...Yes it is true..words allude it.
Yes it is true, it has only one goody
and Obtuse confession confuse it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Her River Of Stones

This river, runs sweet,
clear, cool and narrow.
It is her banded waist she wears so like her hair.
They flow down from the mountains chapel diffed
as the tears that wash her face in heat, i must drink from.
The stones swell, in eddies
swirled, in graced full circles.
Moving as in silky touch from one hand hidden from two with in the other.
The sun, her shinny as does the shadowed moving stones.
Silvered to the hollow cup she has destined to catch them so.
She gathers them as in love, and carries them as his heart, beats to spreads them the loam her hands rich garden seeds now sown.

James McLain

Fifty Cents

I know food is scarce mother.
Here is fifty cents..fetch me a cookie,
put this dough in the oven..ok?
Still milk is even so much more scarce, you wast
much of it on it in all of this heat.
Feed the small ones these oats.
Here go play in the tub, it will cool soon the store will open..ok?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Noodles And Sharp Styx

They pull fish out of thin air
calving to pieces so thinly.

Maybe it's your heavenly i like.
Fish not open bladders that well still puff and huff ok..It might still be June, but she never ever handled a cleaver like that ok..?

I will stay in the bowl with moon..ok?
If you want some noodles..well just easy with those Styx pulling on it..!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pink Slip

Maid shelves it's moon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lust

What is it really?
Is it within you? ..is it
your lips wrapped
around it?
Is it in the head?
Is it in the moon?
Venus really is it?
Is it always fault of Mars..
Is it always to soon?
If it's touched..once
is it lust..ing..?
If it's touched over and over like book
shelves is it dusting?
What if it's touched just to hear it make
it's noise that wet noisy?
Can lust make it feint?
If streams damn a lake
runs to rivers in currents
ocean is flavor is it lust?
Is lust like dusting, out so call the maid, ring for the butler, man it is armed.
Over maid being dusted?
What is it, is it lust..?
Is it very sweet musk?
Is it lust to touch one smile
into another two smiles
just to cover all the smiles?
What is lust..is it need or is
it simply thick seed running,
into wells never filling, a truth?
Is lust yours simply unsealed,
mounted, covered and filled?

James McLain

Form Are Your Lips

Those are your lips that I touch, soft angles soft left and right curves.

It is on my eye,

your mirror that I gaze into them with.

I spread your smile, it stretches my haven,
upward and outwards as is your want..still.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Moon

Moon one half of moon.
Which moon is heavier,
in nights of moon light.
Moon is touched there.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why Do You Love Me

It is because of words
that wrap inside your mind
like silk in winds
that cool your face
when blushed it's run,
it's hands in over you.

It can remove your heart
and taste the beat that stills
the face that launched a thousand
ships that all return,
to touch silks smile that covers you.

It is the hand that shakes a mighty gun
inside mountains navarone
on every foggy night you have.

It is the mind of cottons linen sheet
you wrap me in when i cant sleep so safe and warm inside the smile you wear.

James McLain

Eye Waters Pearl

On my back I
look up floating.
In Between two beach balls, softly
she waves it in,
from the shore.
Those are bright sunny eyes. I grin and do touch wetly
at your smile, watching
as your soft lips roam.
You run in the surf with me.
Unopened, is to lay in the sand, with pearls.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why It Itch's

It is clean, it knows it is, it's still the waking nightmare of they the others when all they do is yell, it makes it shake even your eyes itch.
My legs, I dig at nothing, it is not normal to excuse as to there judgements of hell.
My face is Solomon in it's mirror, please keep it away.
Still it in they of you inside of some lidless eyes, yes you do.
Your judgements full and in it's demons run around inside your head so you make them mime
you then teach me, it is to blind.
My hair, even it itch's from you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Smiles Where Do They Come From

It could be a man..well its not..is it..?
That would really tremble me...
to be Eaton by..well forget it..
never will happen..unless...
Mary full of grace that kind of smile can't happen
no one is that hungry.....no...one..right..?
Back to whom it may be..fifty fifty woman..
So a smile..the smile..well..one poem
for Lilly ghost we will call you as you will use this name for your attacks
like the.... in pearl harbor..
well it is going to be fun..
a stage a real stage west..yes u wants to be famous..
Back to the smile..the smile..sorry it's not on me
or him or any man..silly girl..womans..it does..
look down..in there, yes there in that forest... :)
What do you see...: :)) ..yes a smile dear..though yours is not pink..it's well yes it's all still Ashe's wink to me...
..ok...ok..smile then...The End....Pioneers toiled..

James McLain

Hello Lilly Graft

did you delet the message yet..

Is It poetry (6/23/2009 10: 20: 00 PM)

| Delete this message

Is it Lolly is it...strange i do not know you but of course you could be a dream from another name i cant deny that only you can..i deny you though..lolz..right..why cant you do this when it is here..it is folks like you maybe..maybe..i dont know..did it deny you..or was this the black mail it wrote of..well it is seeming that black mail wont work..and if i denied you once..well your fired again.. :) ...sorry ok..stay fired.. :)

I still have Lolly though.. :) ..here..here..

fired fired fired...ok..you can stalk though ok...

i smiles on you though.. :)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

With You - With Me

How could you know..
well you wouldn't ok..
i know..still.
To sleep, in linings of,
i have to cover my self..
with your picture..
You blushes me terribly....
i confess this..
as you..as you
will never know it..ok..
you slow my heart where i,
can wrest that state of grace
you give to one like me..
In my dreams just come.. ok...
Still there you never smile to much..

tw..

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

Lay Still

I know it is to painful...
Lay ever so..
still if...
I am to see..
Your love as this..when..
It is you..there to lay still..
While I look inside your love..
To know..once and for all..
Who it is that you are..today..
I will need..you still..in love..
As I remove at least one..
Mask...as rose leaves..
From that mirror..
Which clings to your face..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

While You Were Mad, Did Ever You Cry

I know he was a brute to you..
You gave the swine every thing..
The perfume you wear made him
dare you..know he's gone.
Did he touch you wrong sing a lame
song now your through with him.
The pickup truck lame ole dog kinda wrong did he was he to short for you?
He never ever showed you the swing..
did he.? .
Woman..the tree is not even there..it is just a vacant lot..with two broken down
cars missing windows and teeth for grills.
Did he make you mad..do you cry? ..It is alright there is always tonight to cry again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Have A Friend Here

Yes she has been my friend
for over two years..She is yes.
She is buff, real buff to me, she is.
She knows every thing, every thing.
We even shared our accounts, she and I.
You know what? ..I might be lying.
Even back then we trusted one another,
even back then.
Will I tell you...?
I boast and Bragg on her...her..the her...
She is more than the mother, most are.
Not yet twenty..Not yet twenty.Not yet.
You have not given me the trust..as she has..
Does age matter..does it..or does it..
She was buff before buff was even buff.
Now she's tough as tough as any buff and puffed as the sky.The whole sky.
No..we have not...it never occured to us..
Still we are more than friends..
I confess to her, she confesses to me..she..
is more than that to me..she is the other who still cries.

James McLain

Damaged Goods

There are no perfect packages!
Life is just Lola for the very few..
Do I want your package?
Of course I do!
Still as of yet these words have
have not met you.
When you do, I will have all of the proof
in this and of that,
which you will need for your heart to prove that I did spend the time to search you out.
Damaged, yes only the damaged try to help
You see inside the you.
Still there is damaged damage.
Where the brains have been mixed with some
others,
being in a hurry I did not have time to return them.
So I wait now that no longer do I hurry,
when you have the time to see me standing there waiting to wash your feet and paint your nails.
It is the real male thing...the rest do it and lie...
Or you really bought a damaged package...

James McLain

Loves Heart

It sleeps in a chest of pain.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

More Gossips Emily

Question..It's so Emily!

How does one find the time Emily,
with all of these one, two or three liners.
Is it the guilty connivance, that blows the breeze through the leaves of your touch,
with your ever guinness smile?

One night stands, rock and roll bands,
drinks to cool magics smoke filled hands.
Still I peck away, when instead I should be filled with buffs of mystery that must elude it's thrill.
Poet Emily, poor poor bootless Emily,
you know what you wanted it was just all the others
that washed in your mysterious hands.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Some Colors

Some colors are: : : : not for OJ.

Pink for me, calms me down, it gives me sanity.

Black was from it's sleep,
it's endurance, wasted in all of eternity.

Waiting forever and a day it always seems.

Do you want a joust to feel confessed in pain again?

Green is the tree it came from it shriveled on it vainly.

The world now it waits for it to enter it to spin it's top once again.

Red helps them make more green of it when it acts as they direct it to act on the stage
in it's blindness.

Silver is the cord

that it allows you to bind it with never blind in it.

The color of need, the color of want, the color of luck,
color of bucks,

so much and in of it and of all that it is that lays unbeaten in it which,

once was struck,

from the color of you,

it is just the color of it that blinds it now.

James McLain

You Confuse It

I use the number you reach for
but when you answer his voice, it is the right person for the wrong
call when you spoke to the other instead hopped up on a party line.
It is ok..ok..you stay confused..OJ?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Momma

When you are the one, in) it(stomach still..
you are and can be will be..mum..mother..
mommy..mother..mummy is the dearest..
When...) she(is for) it(s not related to me..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Messages In Bottles

Destiny's hand moves in the wave
that opens one eye on a mountain.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Spilled Milk

Always) it(sin a hurry.
Pushing) it(is pulling.
Everything, all of) it(s.
Foodstamps, are now
gone, can you still help?
Hello? .woman..help.it..!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Is Like You

Moon will my beam cross over?
Moon how too know I am so lonely.
Moon know, why I do sit under you?
Moon You are so bright, I reach up,
into and touch yours is very heavenly.
Moon why do you blink? Moon so pink.
Moon like you, we are to much similar
and have only one way up into moon.
Moon our faces reflect out and within.
Moon they all do, moon when you do.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Raisin In The Sun

Hot sun how memory fades,
it seems half my life, in sand
ago it was once so fat, so full
two plump, full of vine wet soil.
Climates change what it was into what she became, without.
Some times the last grape will hang unnoticed, hidden openly.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It's Torn Wing

It flutters in across on top of your fingers.
Yet you knew it, they are it's breath it's wings.
Tirelessly they beat against you, your buff
moans within it's wind as it shakes it.
Frantic you search around in your panic,
because you knew. Still you don't do you?
The tiny veins dry, all around you, looking in powder puffs that hold your face, you blow
as it sees nothing, it is not numb, yet it was because you never cared how high you flew,
on the torn wings of the one he tried to lift up.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Make It Run

Dear you,
Though you use your, smile to force me.
I cannot say your name, though I die to..
When you hold me like that, again and again.
I die over and over..simply..the control you have over me is just to sinful, wickeds and in your hands, is your smile..well..in it I'm lost.
Do you even know, what you do to me, the us,
the them and why do you do it just like that? ..
Is it simply because you can?
I never stop blushing, you make me stutter, people hearing me speak to you on the phone, then run over to see if I'm still breathing when you are done.
I run and run, it never stops..
I end up right back where I started every single time.
You just make it run..please just stop..but never quit.
Yes means yes..and no means yes, ..it's just your smile...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Emily

Did they do it right away, then Emily?
No..I know..it is sad..crescendo now.
I tried that..sigh..
They want it all now,
no Tommie..no conversation..No Emily..
You think it funny..well..how was it then when you last spoke like her, to the you when you last felt that way in life..Emily?
We speak different now..Emily..hello< Emily is it still blushed for me with such words I see on your face? ..Yes..well..ok..
Emily for you then here,
with my finger then I give, to brush your smile.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Hidding Place

We all dug so deep
into cozy warm earth.
Roofed it in with sod.
Fire placed into walls.
Stacks did lay smoke.
Many cans of sardines.
Cooler full of soda pop.
Shut out all the lightning.
It rains all on shortys to.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Theft Of Words

Just a moment ago,
the ocean was alive in them..
Words from it to me..
they dont care.
Remember that, the joy in some
is the leaving of none,
but more oft than not
unhealed head injuries.
Is it just one of many scams....?

Tell me a lie, if you cant smile
just please tell me lies, in wells...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Just A Pebble

She skips me,
she skips me,
oh so naughty sought.
Every time I touch,
the water of your face
that knows no fear.
I taste a tear that clings,
once more,
inside your hand as silk
out side a pebbles shore.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

People Fish The Rocks

Being simple,
honest upon a rock.
My net is daily bought and dried in rivers
washed in you.
The line of people women children sketch the shore
to eat of Dali's bread.
Net upon the rock spread
thus,
allows it's fish to climb it's mesh to you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Big Eraser In The Sky

It depends on the us
at times just to rub us out.
Some need it.
No matter how you try to please
the smile it just wont smile.
This scares any the all of it the yous
as it should,
as even a fake smile propped up in the corners with tooth picks are well..
you get the picture.
So those few the knowing know there smile that never was,
is filled with concrete..
It just must be it would be unthinkably
wrong to sing that song to the young ones..
To the rest of the world..keep on smiling..
It cannot waste any more smiles and words
on the few who are doomed to wonder forever smokeless...
For the few others..those now fixing to look up..
look up please,
thank you for your cooperation.
You have been erased.
With one big smile.....: : :)

James McLain

God Smiles Philosophically With Forgiveness

God said,
before I was born,
the first thing I would see
was your smile.

So I smiled back with this,
heavens is so knowingly.

God said,
before you smiled, smile ask you
were as of it, once, twice, three times
you were already forgiven. So..So..

Many said he, herself the vast the all,
do wast there lives,
seeking that which you never had to
ask as it was done already for you.
So then why do you labor the smile
so heavenly?

When you smile you smother) it(around it half frown half gown of clouds.

Sadly it tries to lift it up a side and down the
other but it weeps as you claim,
some Catholics ritual of self denial.

Without it, your he the she, it's alpha never
began to circle the endless heavens to settle
on one little humble bumble,
one bee that flies,
Philosophically, having tea with you, himself to
prearrange heaven is touching one smile at a time.

James McLain

I Barely Spoke To You..Now You Love Me

You love me now I'm sure of it, just from soft words.

I barely touched it within you.

Soft silk words once as wind fingers locked around your warm thighs.

So sure you sound like you,

have run in the likes of the Talladega,

five hundred I'm so very sure, cars on fire.

Yes you love me every body here does read and knows it.

It is ok...I forgive you..ok....now go take a shower.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Baby Powder

Where do you think it all comes from?
I dig it out of your cliffs, I bring it back crush it in my hands, untill you're done.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Keeps Comming Back....) Insanity

I thought she was gone.

Insanity..

The judges ruled it long ago..

They gave insanity all that it had very nearly it's life as well.

Some credit card company called to day
outsourced to some human being that you or it could not understand, it is ok....ok?

She used my identity he whom called non payment on card had my number only she would know..right every body?

Tramautized by the system, the judges
know..they know...

I will do nothing..they will be as guilty as she..

They should have discerned what they had..

So it is the lessor of two whats?

It trembles woman's now..words are one thing.

Reason tries to stay on course, can you, will you say?

That you are not bad or are you..?

Abuse me some more it snivels it's lips two.

This is why you know me not here,
men get whopped on two.. :)

called on 21 June 2009

midland...i smile.....: :)

James McLain

Moon Watch

All watch moon..briefly) it(s.
Face of beauty, rocked in sleep.
Moon watchs over so, involved.
Terra fir ma molds,) it(s space.
Stars drift waiting lightly to falls.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Another One Of Those Days

I am sorry,
I just cannot think how you,
think all the time..I will still try.us..
Those others thought the world flat..
I try and bear my heart it's turned witch way..over read barns...I still wait to catch your methane and paint it grey.. :) ..i will wait.. forever but the colors dont match..
unless your rose is gray..
Gossip can be used against mostly..
That is why disinformation it was invented..
Piranhas..smile..you know..diets never change
unless you help them..or unless they are...smiles again..
with processed veggie burgers..kill me bill just kill it..
Unbeknown>st more passion to make them than the other burgers some wish to bath in..teeth fall out.: :) Yes, oh yes,
if we write to soon after that dreaded word
of whatever, subconscious plays on our parts.....
With bigger teeth by far..gossips...
There fires are massive and consume most of the wood you cut..keep cutting.com..
Make out words flow in rivers that run backward
to bear the heart again..i cannot think,
so you must for me..with one smile at a time.gov..
Remember if you thought the smile a frown..just come right here and smile me a river that most would fear
It just loves to bath in...: : :)

James McLain

Lonely So Lonely

Please someone, any one,
come scan it up and down.
Groceries, coupons one line.
Anything, if anything of value
you find, just leave one smile.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lonely Geisha

House of paper dreams.
Lantern warms the moths.
So needless is needed.
In anguish honor bound.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Two Friends

It is, held close in.
It flutters, with face.
It's two wings, held.
It is song, it follows.
It Curves cuts softly.
Full always to giving.
Baby stopped crying.
Brave you, it shut ups.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hidden In A Smile The You The Why..

hidden in a smile the you the why

It is safe..

It is the safest place...

It is the safest place it knows in which too hide and cry.

It is the safest place it knows to shed it's pain.

It is the soul of she whom walks the earth and calls
the moon a moon, a star a star, it's light you cast
inside, with your big smile.

It flees from the pain inside the you, in it's mind the pain is caused by some one other, not from you.

It is beyond the stiffest lip of peace one finds,
one tear is graced it's pearl none like you no other finds.

It is warmth in of face...It is the shining mask of grace.

It is not the shame some others think who have no smile
to see her through, the joys inside of you.

It is the running rivers mighty shore, from which the ocean drinks all life to grow, the smile it knows.

It is your smile it hides within to grow your knowledge that you taste again) it(s smile again you bring within.

Soft In is it's gripp to hide the soul of he you cradle in the peaceful sleep so he may grow and heal to taste the peace you have foretold.

It is hidden in the smile you love to show to it.. you now know, it'sin it, her smile so wide it drowns it covers you.

James McLain

Blooms White Wash

My cotton tree is seven years.
Blooms in red pinks and blues.
Still the cotton is always white.
It grows along a gulf, no freeze.
It is grown for it's beauty, two only.
Seed in beauty are always hidden.
Still others see beauty differently.
Tax man comes with pocket scale.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

How Far Can It Run....

It sees through the smile that is sloppy cake..
The upside down frown that burns the sky..
It drinks the rain before it cools the tree.
y4y.it is verily thus in trust in your hand..
when the sky smiles..an obligation..it is.
You here the music of life your dance, is heavenly.
Do you crawl from beneath the skirt, hands cupped?
Giving prayer to it the she, in him, it is your dog of dogs,
backwoods by choice, when it's eating the bread
from heavenliest, mask of broken damns, you run.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Woman The Smile The Words

Woman, read the words of man
of male, it's you, why deny it.
It smiles two,
just not in the same way, parlay El natural.
Do you parlay it on to E Harmony?
Some other house where he writes none,
just a picture of a wordless mind of moons..?
You get your smile turned upside down by what?
Shallow is the bridge of money? ..
Can you know,
the man of male by his, never written poems?
..It didn't think so..It has to smile at the same mistake he would make divorced, again..and again..wink wink..smiles around the world..
You go swimming in the ocean, know the waves.
It is your feet, that upon the board you chose to surf on..or not..to be?
Silly man of male, Whom will never stop looking for the bird that makes coco puffs.
The color of the milk is dreaminess of course buy the cereal.

James McLain

I Will Run Away

I look out at you pained, sad.
Is it? ..it is i know! ..But why.?
Are you mad..? ..why..? ..i did not mean for you to run away.
Where did you go.? ..to when?
You know i hear you laughing.
Was it yesterday? .day before?

It has been forever
since it's ran inside
around outside your head, to see it's sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Smiling At You

So, it's a little long even crooked.
It is still so cute even when it's sad.
May all your days be happy days,
when your smile, is upside down.

It is the smile, it is the why,
Caesar built to bridge, it is.
Across wide Rhine.It's any more than the thousand feet
Ten short beautiful sunny days.
It took forever, to swim across it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

On Friday We Had Smile Problems

No matter what is said, you always received, a big smile.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bye Road Same Direction

You say, you say, you say.
My way high way, i smiles.
It is open, it is the bye way.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Thoughts Of It Is All

It is a grasp of nought but air stilled
air of skirt as air does pass it's face.

it is,
it's face,
your face is it,
it turns it about it.
Slow dance within it.
It is one dance in days.
It is one smile in a million.

Silk is it's lash it hangs from it,
from your only heavenly, it brushes it.
It is it's heavenly, you close it, it falls.

It is heavy in wait, waiting it is, skirting it's you always around it, you it's air it's smile.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Free Poem Burgers New Cars

Well poem hunter..MIA E..lolz....
Some just dont understand advertisements..
So here..fat juicy burger king bacon deluxe..
Wendys chili cup, saltine crackers...
McDonald's quarter pounder no cheese.
Levi jeans look nice...
My boxers her silk panties lace...
Two polo shirts..new golf clubs..
A red corvette for him over there..
Can i have just one cent for every Pepsi
and Coke Cola I just sold?
Those alligator boots pink,
black and blue three pairs,
some white cotton socks will be nice as well.
MIA E...a reverse mortgage,
on the new high school just wont work..OJ?
I love seeing my words in blue..do you..yes..
I knew you would two...krispy cream donuts as well.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Does Try It Words

All through history, walking.
It left a place on your walls.
Write your own hearts, inside
is the language of commons?
What has happened, towers
with art of it's leaned inwords?
The circle of friends in the word,
call all around it's inside of you?
Would she the you of is it to see?
One lone verb moved a mountain.
Upon the mountain, sleepy nouns
washed in verbs, promises slept.
Rivers verbs, down sliding into thousands of hand painted nouns.
Trees base is thick, skies pillars.
Cool winds blow out into, all leaves.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Smiling I Laugh

When it thinks of it's smiles..wasted.
Wasted are smiles it does.....weep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is It Sometimes It Is

When you read lips.
You say a few words.
They the other not of you.
You said them, two just now.

These that are mine, once upon you.
Moved forth from them months ago.
Still you speak with the wrong ears.
while the years catch the tears from lips,
that never tasted those months of sorrow.

Yes, ..so sad..
while others think some thing of that which wasn't.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is In Thought With You That I Am

Other things that i am not.
Things that you are, yet wish you were not, reduced from Cheap stores to buy in what?
It sees them, in you, through it,
the you, as you watch through the eyes, of the self all around.
It is in touch with the tear that you cry on the street in despair.
It is, it is in the moment of time,
that you walk on bye, as a child.
it is the thought that you think, of when you read the words in this,
that you stop to catch your breath.
To check your self, as your hands
flow down, just to make sure of it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Like Them Short

Coopers are short, for a car.
Most things of loves are not.

One smile can wrap around her whole world.
Some ones world can wrap around my smile.

I tried for you to make this brief, again I failed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Do Not Eat Fancy

I do not eat fancy.

I eat in, at home.

I never go out, to eat.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Empty Pond

Gravity Pumps,
pull the water from the full pond.
The hose fills the second pond.
I run back and forth, so help me.
Fish farms are not that bad, the tuna though, very hard to raise.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is It Gossip

Some times when I see what I heard,
I wish I had more men friends,
but then again when it sees what it heard.
Standing out side drinking coffee, when.
Three mid twenties puffed up women, called buff's
one, in two, sandwiches
three all between, while they listened on his, as she said.
I left some of my mention ables at his door, then rang his door bell and watched out my window
as he opened the door.
Yes he's married that made it even hotter,
as he gathered the scent in his hand and turned to look.
Hats off when his wife came out of the garage and screamed.
I heard last month, she filed for divorce, she one of the three,
and guess what he uses for his pillows at night.
The second buffed one then said, awe thats
nothing, next week It is going to....even hotter..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Two Dilemmas

Look at us!
An an ant and a flea.
Flea crying says mum is gay.
Flea you are here! How is it true?
Flea why do you let it bother you?
Ant! ..shut ups...she..she..
She looks at that woman more than me.
Flea, silly flea, that is your father, with all his parts rearranged, by her director
for shes never to be upstaged.
Flea looks at ant to confessed, it asks...?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Aphorism Metaphors

Aphorism, metaphors walking i ask the flea?
Flea points to the sky, points to me, one ant.
Ant points to flea, holding hands they walk off.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Where Ever It Hears Just That One...Please...Just

There is an ant,
needing help with a rock...
It puts the rock where it knows..
One ant catches up..on the run..
So please just...shut...ups..
There is a bird yelling at the sun..
hiding it's fun...
it's warmth still shines....
please just...shut..ups..
Butterfly, it's butterfly..chased by lip
O horns running it down in that sound..
Cars stop to go..never to know..
Where it would go...please just..
Please just....please just...
.....shut....ups.....
Still it would smile in you...: :)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Good Teacher Bad Teacher

One is the mind, never bridged.
One is the mind of always, filled.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sea World

Under ground,
looking into the mountain of glass
it is inside it all as they watch me..
She lays there in all her colored beauty,
seemingly Alsop, oceans fabled wave.
Her mouth a coil of tounge,
yet the eye follows me,
as I walk along it's pain.
One of her children float by,
to close to the flame,
that the belly holds as it fills to empty back
out underneath.
It takes forever, unwinding fast forewarned,
it falls within, backwards, to quiver alone.
It reminds me of some of the families i see,
on the waves as they ride to sea world..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Long Moment

I went in through the door blind,
with only a cane white tip ed, shivering
in the warmth of the hurricane.
The many layered windows,
catch the dreams as steam between each rush of rain that is blown through the screen..
I swell in fear as the nurse buttons my flap.
She tells me to follow her,
as she grabs the cane in a hurry,
she rushes me through waves of ever clear.
She leads me to a room, even warmer than the air,
where it seems i lay for weeks, growing weaker.
I can not see,
who keeps changing the bag,
that hangs in the air that is filled with fluids, ...eye vies..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Do You Think It So

Do you think, always by some coincidence
this not, my real life is all about you..smile..ok..
You are confused, I smile
in you always so, twice.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Has Been A While

I went out today, it has been a while..the sky,
trembled me so small.
With my nephew from sands middle east.
He needed a room at the beach..cheap decent room...
He came over to make me go out..and sea..the ocean
breeze...and watch her wave goodbye..again..
She was from England, the desk woman..
She was Grass as fresh, she smiled at us...
I ask her where she hid her poetry..she is pretty.
She looked into my eyes..she hid her blush, her rush.
Said she i made her blush..humbled i said i how?
I asked about her...Cello, she had put down..why..
I still have the gift of course is it's curse of knowing...
Though i could not know why.Many were her reasons,
many were her seasons, i felt and did so respect.
She came to life, i smiled inside her, she did feel it, Alive, inside her..as i left me the i and went into her, i saw me standing there.....She blushed again..
She deducted two hundred dollars from his bill.
He bought me a long island ice tea..watered down of course..
She whom handed the drink to me, she blushed as well..

James McLain

Black Mail Extortioner

Can some still get there way with black mail extortions these days?
Tell them simply get a life, shut ups!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Burn The House Down

It is the terror of every mans dark soul.
It is the mouth of the woman nagging.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Less Than Whole

She thinks she is, does she see,
the different face as the mirror she sees on the wall to hang her name.
I see through the window that is she.
Her windows reflection, always washed
it always seeks the path on trails of tears.
It washes her past her always, it cusps
Upon her highways, into face a different wig
to hide the sea, in oceans claim to face reflections past upon.
With a face inside the mirror that always lays beneath the sky.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Contender

Gloves fit most hands,
except the hand with six fingers.
Six figures, twelve gloves, one hand.
The ring of fire, demands a cool and measured hand given to exoneration.
It blesses the eye that swells, that bleeds for nought,
that frees the mind to sleep.
The glove, will be tied around the hand, with such care
with a preciseness that wakes the hand to heroic deeds.
The dance of sinewy perfection, where sweat, the salt of two hearts,
deflects perception from the start, as the tounge of the apron runs in streams of watered pinks, never in blood.
Chairs gripp soft eyes,
beholding, folded upon inside to gripp,
as connoisseurs of rare wine
are splashed, watching.
Washing the minds as selves move about in set perceptions held unsure as the hand with a glove to loose finds the mat, to share with the one, the only contender, inside the glove.

James McLain

Degree Of Difficulty Is It Stradivari

Is it easy to waste time....?

untill you know that it's none you have..

it then is gone..it is..

Tonya,

who once was buff but ran into puffs knee

and fell off the beam into tear torn rags,

ill fame..still unashamed..

it is more than sad..to play the wood thinking it a flute..

When in fact it's john, john Stradivari, whom once tried to call..

What time would it be for the four inch beam, that waits

for the pad of the foot it once held, now never to fall.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dust Bin

It is at the end, the end of the road, the house is,
the house in which you grew up.
It has passed away, to another to start life's journey anew.
The stones pulled down,
to be stored with the others in the back.
The grass is worn shinny,
once green,
now pinkish brown, torn and aged.
The door to the garage, is warped chipped paint flakes
outsides smaller in flakes to the ground.
The trees,
there branches bent, awkward point at every thing leaves one as feathers singing, life breves in it's wind spotty at best stiff and still.
People, mother's dad, sally loves johnny to see spot run,
have all run away to join the other army of humanity
running to spread out, and grow..
The rose garden is as if it was never touched.. picking up the pieces to be placed,
in an other wise already crowed dust bin..full of memories.
She the owner never really cared..any way..so it's gone.

James McLain

Burned At Both Ends

Why do you waste good sun?
Burned from both ends.
and drained from the middle.
The light and heat which you seek,
laid out and stacked as neat as the shoes
taken off of your tired feet.
Yet all that it owns does fit,
into the box that you have tied in silk to it.
Hands of soft waxed bubble bee.
It breaths in the light that you leave to see.
The lace around the part that cleaves
to the heart of it's tree.
It draws forth it's straw,
it is bought in song along it's aft, is middle breached such
for velvets gloved soft sacked cloth.
It burns at both ends,
it's honey the bee flies from this tree is coached out to it's the bowl and all of the rest,
is left to the bee most humbled to make more..

James McLain

Greens Make Me Run

lolz.....while looking in a bowl, ..you

Being the conservative that you are,

you wont argue..

wasting sun when you have wells to drill for fun..

Do I speak to her?

to she, the Tia's you think it has all along.....

it's ashes long ago stired in sires of wrong..

Would she then when ants just walked for sun...?

Would she now,

undo the song that runs all around that head,

that pushes soft brains

out side through cute little ears that hear

the wind moan long along it's mountain ridge,

thats gone!

Then it was wrong, young, full of cedars aurora scone.

It is now old and sits by the stove talking into retarded fish.

while the bubble of gold,

drifts songs along the oceans tide.

Watching all sun bathers glisten to bast in the sun to cry in blues, once flushed in moons so buff to pay it then any attention,

pink rashes, look now! how it itches.

James McLain

When Rivers Run Dry In Sun

Being fickle, she for years argued with the sun
wasting sun washing beavers for mountain men.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Valley Of Butterfly

Wing tipped by wind.
it is service in cups tea.
Flowers offering, much tossed.
While rice hides moons vial.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Which The Lesser Of Two Devils

Is it wrong punished lights right of write?
Is it wright made wrong in darkness right?
It is straw, mud in one of Solomons brick.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Strawberries Ochre

It remembers two!

When it's eyes first opened.

It remembers your first cave,
your print it hung upon the wall, in red ochre,
simply no time then to blink in pinks.

The children were always hungry, with upside down smiles, waiting as they do now for right side ups.

It is yours gathered waves momentum, when all the bed was one, still hooked not spread.

The bed of roses always spread, always open, ran far and wide, always milling spreading germs of life.

Open patches, became lush gardens, always filled in play.

Ponds grew in to oceans, wild fresh streams filled with salmon, always pink so much better bathed in smoke,
as times loving embrace to tide it over,
while it walked on water spreading foam, your daughter.

Still on cold nights you make it warm with your smile,
it feeds you that very first strawberry always fresh,
were blurred in all your last abandoned flurries, flowing ochre.

James McLain

It Is Buff

You stretch, in it is showing science's
in bands of elastics
pulled much aside.
Pillows puff, his shy
side glanced in buff,
tremble me very are.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tuna Bread And Mayonnaise

The beach is nice today
water calm cool sure an i reach inside the cooler
for the only sandwich she made me! it is scouting's,
birds discerned as bards.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Roll It Up

The stage is bright, hot and grainy, handsom
yes!

On you!

The sweat is cry-staled falling so is ever clear.

It runs through shadowed valleys seldom seen behind these screens.

You pay the toll, it is high, the island grows, outside
it's bells when rang have brought the faithful buried home within this house that wears your name.

You are the best,
when looking up, to read the cue on all the cards
that you now trust.

Some will come, others watch.

The banded hearts are stilled with love thats always taught.

Do you hear the bell inside your soul stained mind,
it runs the fingered hand outside the tightest seams.

All the front row seats are gripped in buff that wait in all there love struck breath to burn.

They make up nymphs fauns in living colors bright hued streams.

James McLain

One Wicked She

She is only one,
though boasts of many,
are the souls she wracks to breath,
out of.
She,
when it was week,
so scared alone with none to see.
Her words were such,
that made me fear the coming dawn,
for it was blind,
and could not run away safe haven it had none.
It erased many words that it had sun, in which to grow
the roses that you breath today.
She is of the calf expired,
hanging in the tree upside down three weeks.
She is the icky worm fat swollen out the shoot
of poo returns she burns with fear.
She is what every man does dread, when trying to grow a bed of rose to blooms of every shade
in color known.
She is the weenie worm so fat and swilling known.
She is only one....i smiles in you.. :)

James McLain

She Is It's Reflection

Is it more than flirting to some?
How can they become so pink
and full so quick?
I gaze out the window you bought
me..thank you..you see me smile.
So few really know the tides, of all great oceans when they play.
No man or woman has ever seen
the oceans pull, slow ebb in life without moons smiling face.
Ocean moons, do grace it's pools this living breathing shore, to wave.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Whatever

One wasted dropp of ink, with whatever is one dropp wasted.
It would rather tax it on G.Bush.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When It Cries It's Rushed

It is the tear that's never shed, it's path, is long in this your empty bed.
Across your miles of empty space,
it's hand you hold.
Once upon a time, is now,
it's face in moon filled light, it's darkness, veiled.
It is the ocean never seen, it's heart to bleed.
it is the wave it's vast stills cleared of foam your wake.
It's humbled awe to running mouth in it's two hands.
It launched a thousand touches, kisses,
inside your breaking shore.
It is the rose rushed mask so warm, once worn
it's flow to never grow inside to know.
It is the smile that washed in Halley's,
icy gown her comet's trail, that inked her smile.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Only It's Humming Bird

It's eye, is it's lens it's camera.
It is, it's beauty, that it misses.
It is hollow it's hand, it's flower.
It is a heartbeat, in) it(to flutter.
It's borders edge, it's dawn today.
It is to fly, it's tiny heart, held at bay.
it's song, it's hope, it's drop, it's sorrow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Where She Sat

Moving her parts here, pushing his there the two
come together.

The audience knows,
they have been blessed with sight.
This night, flash bulbs blind all as lights,
come and grow in them all.

Regina sits below,
the moon splits two halves as each
go unseen as she follows up staged.
The tall brown grass, on stage, as if by wind moves, touching gulping turfs beheaded tips bowing.

The two are directed to move as one,
again they move in sound unseen upon
within themselves, again they moan so shrill of voice.

The old wood has given way and as once sage
it was no more.

While the two have fallen down below, impaled
on widened beams, supports of basement
depths there parts,
still play to work as if together, on one cue.
These are lollies waged in sin so gaffe, for you.

James McLain

This Wave The Other Window

You look right in, through me.
This window,
my wave it sings of foam and needs.
Unknown to others,
walking there with you,
along the shore it's home.
Birds toss fish,
from beak to beak,
dropping covers white cotton balls
as lose change.
People exchange glances,
as you pass by them.
They recognize Regina,
as she passes through sand,
under foot as water slowly,
flows over one bare branch missing it's leaves...
Two sets of eyes,
reach halfway through the window,
while the wave,
brings me inside of you,
ever closer to the shore on which you stand.

James McLain

Strike Me Again

When you,
touched me the first time,
You cried.
The shock,
was like a bolt of lightning,
from the sky.
I never realized the strike
would be so close, as that very first time, on rocky points
green eighteenth hole, your torch still spikes the iron from me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pressure Off The Rose

Rims are not rims,
lids are as different as are the cans, is to the jar we stew our potatoes in.
The process is messy at times the first time you peel the fruit, there is panic.
Eyes some time sprout, before it is time,
the grocer is our next best friend, is she?
Pressure cooks every thing faster, some times to fast, can you hear, that whistle?
The finger is often burned, checking the contents,
check the seal often, to make sure it's wet.
When the rim is bent or warped, start the process over again, ageing some times helps.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lost This Color

In the beckoning it was she,
happy at sea,
riding waves of soft shaded pink.
A sharp sting of red, witness,
made me breath.
Left a print now all see.
She is, a rain bow twisted in saffrons ink
trailing shades a,
All colors vary,
as would the ink that made her..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Attila's Nuns

I can not make a bowling ball grow from a peanut..
It can only walk around you,
watching your ink run, out the holes
he left in you.It was not I..Yet,
If it smells fishy, it will still bite, into
at the word, glass eyes weep glass.
Still it knows you had a very hard life,
it does not lay at your feet, for your dogs.
Still, being the other white meat,
lean short of rib, highways of Pentecostal.
You make it search for your superior mother,
Attila's nun,
that runs backwoods,
onto the Huns sharp spears.
Fair Helena harbors shook even less,
when it's light house that shines in you,
fell into the sea.
When you stand in the sea, remember the spear Alexandro's, slew your husbands with,
so you could walk the streets, uncovered.
The sun even makes the dead breath life again.

James McLain

Sleepy Tree

She leans, so wind bows,
in silk is barely with heavenly.
Governed waves airy rags.
Languid her penitent looks,
While she dips her musty is sack cloth, against tree trunk.
Patience full, is his so weepy.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Would Rather

Clean the house of plays,
of clingy vines,
all scents amaze it's nose.
It searches high, so very low inside each seat,
for peanuts missed,
by it, her every other.
Lace floats, to ear so spatial,
sounds of off beat wave,
leaves that blow, across
each mothers other, with a sister
even daughters, wipe it's teary face.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Butterfly

dances, a flower waves.
it's life so short, wind is lifted up in sky, mercies.
it's feet a flutter, moving,
leaves, nectors butter so liquid, soft is cotton float.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It You

Soft a rose.
Dying what fell from his
open hand?
Scented in
Yes, it's still.
Rose gifted.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

For The Bashful So It Is Shy

With three men to pick from
you would decide your self,
and never love a choice it, once cut?
Mother in grace it rests with thee inside.
To hide it, to fight it, you would try it,
you would, why deny it,
if your true to you inside your self.
It brings it's pouts, for those it's sorry,
why do you ever not ask why your full flushed lips
seem to flow that way as wine from a grape into your mouth.
You bow the fiddle true in thought and prayer,
most will be in tombed called holy ground as water passes by there damn they never knew.
Denied,
must hide,
the sour prim faced looks from they
of morbid mind,
haters of the man in side of it you love.
We hide from them.
It does not like being burned inside it's steak,
you loves the most.
As for the other, of he himself or her..
carefully of the curves, those trees grow large..

James McLain

Women And Milk

Before it was) it(
it knew milk flowed both ways.
Does not a few the rail, a one in twenty rivers
of the world flow north.
Not always south, into a jug to sea
an ocean swelled.
Know then you, the she of grace into a woman
soft she steps in to his rivers, misty thick,
soft covered shore in stores on sale today.
Butter goes with bread, as the oven goes with dough.
It was on the test last week, with Juliet.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is On The Run

It just cannot eat that,
the other,
not that, it just is not you,
no matter what.
It is not buff, it isn't a rose.
It is not dreamy, or heavenly's,
cream of soft wavy shores,
the rim of fire.
She knows by now it swells.
She will come looking for it,
the real deal,
not a three dollar bill.
Does not every John on the streets,
flow against that?
Misguided as what?
You may know the part,
yet when you look down,
it is only just a rose on it's tree.
Wood is for roses
to cling to
as they grow to heaven
weeping the sky
seeking fun in the sun.
Always blushed, always full,
as one with he,
was a band on the run..
from the law.
It did not do the deputy though..
The rose did..

James McLain

It Rolls In Flavor

Still you think the part,
you play, it is done again thought over,
with you thinking of it,
as it runs around in side your head.
Your seat is still warm, printed with the moon,
a weeping face, It holds up to the the soft light.
The popped corn, languishes on the lap,
of of your wife untouched by hand.
It's ants carries the soft warm kernels away,
still dripping,
with the butter, of her the wife you lost,
when you fell asleep, watching it.
Maybe she lives to love an ant then,
maybe it is her aunt, that watches with her.
Still the kids laugh as the stool, upon witch you rest,
on top of, this your crown jewel,
is but a counter fit raisin,
that was squeezed out to soon.
The sun rises in the west,
and sets on the southern shores, where cliffs are still pink,
and her marble is rose always honey soft and full.
Looking up into the peanut gallery, it looks down on you,
happy knowing you are as brand new as the sun,
washes clean all that made down, eyed on make up.
It this the you, asks?
why dont you buy more popcorn, sit down, and fall asleep.

James McLain

Ant Has A Crumb For You

Ant knowing how people dropp crumbs,
gathers them.

In hoard, day after day risking feet of many,
one crumb at a time.

Ant carries them on it's back, bundles oh so many, held in keep.

In the midst of famine, ant takes it's cookies
back to the trail of crumbs, to the inn keeper.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Three Days

Roses one day,
missles the next,
twin pillars of twinkles, wink, wink
Always blinks, blinks..
My soul can not rest,
i must in smile indure her trust, i pray.
Just in case she wont,
i will sit under the bamboo moon,
with my friend Li Po.
She can not take her shadow,
my friend from thee.
She can not take her scent,
it's left upon moons veil, i hold.
She can have my life, without her,
will i die of thirst, a friend in need.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Note Is Night

Moons veiled eye,
traces one thin,
seed of wood in violins
keyed note,
haunting beat,
traced soft hair, bowed
within resin burns, her.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Mice Sleep

i cracks the door..
scusting..kissing..
absolute cousins..
i hides under bed..
sleeps with smile..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rose Clingy

In buffs shinny is pearly,
miss natural, so Unafraid.
Never running, may run,
him down, he will run up.
Adored in smiles clingy.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sleepy Stream

Laying on my stomch,
I count the fish, as they
drift by, all are asleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Thats Just The Way It Is

It is not telling you nothing,
dont ask? ..ok..besides..
Your the ones afraid, of your shadows.
Being as is, it shows upriver
day after day with out any pay,
what the iip.
They are just premature,
dreams of pro bono, Bela blahs..right?
If you did,
you would just sell it,
for nothing,
like you did the future, inside.
There is a big difference,
between with holding nothing, being inside of some coward...ups..
So what, thats just the way it is.
The way one or two wants it,
so what.it's ok...ok...

James McLain

Wind Lifts Nights Varanasi Silk Saree

One cool clear day.
When love arrived.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Camel Cheese

She keeps me.

Well I dont know any thing else,
is there more than my world hers,
in which i live my life.?

I go out shopping,
in the city market three times a week,
with real money.

I bring the baby,
of nine months and john,
who is three.

I buy more diapers, for Caroline,
there are no Waldemar's here.

I hand John a piece of cheese,
made from camels milk,
his wind,
is like the breath,
of a buzzard,
it must be the cheese.

It swells in this heat,
where is she?

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

Her Window In My Head

I lay in the dark room on your bed..
The ceiling so clear, i peer through at you.
Why on days like to day, found certainty
is the window so filled with your clarity?
You never knew all these years,
some things it was wise i never shared with you.
My other bed, hidden in it's head,
you see me, watching you, flushed in what you do
with them.
You go in even farther, as it turns out the light, while the picture now digital, has grown now ever tighter.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Caroline Is Six

Wisps of hair,
full dimpled smile,
held within it's hands.
Caroline....Caroline...
Sun filled days,
led the way
down paths sand,
to waters edge.
Small feet pattern,
washed,
in miles so soft,
it watched the river smile.
Caroline...oh..Caroline..
Where are those feet today?
Do they walk in cotton soft,
the clouds, with you in play?
Do you peek out in the stars,
white in glow with your friend,
bright moon?
Your head pillowed,
from each stormy day,
flows the rain to wash,
your dreams as snow,
it cool the deserts psalms.
Caroline..so..Caroline..be..Caroline

James McLain

A Mothers Glove

Mother gave all, five loaved
sons, each held, one finger.
Before they left home, with in, loves glove of protection.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Write) S(Well A Crusty Bottom

Ink stretches, watered writes.
It is a perfect S, to the bottom.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

As Oceans Tire

She will lay, spent.
Puffing, reviewing.
Reliving, all again.
Waves, on beach.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Cricket And A Rock Bath

In warm orchid lavender,
soap hides it's soft scent.
As it's rubbed with another,
one cricket lift es it's knee.
When sun rises, one rock,
rolls around, empty fish bowl.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Two Tias

Twice hooked
lost is the tuna.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Professional Woman

She didn't even want to, then thought to do it.
Trying to send such silky experience, over here
to touch my rigid softness...moons why..?
For what, to know me, the I of it, inside of me? but why..?
Had I fallen in her, the trap, rimed in pink folds of heavenly
she would have slain me, drained me, Eaton me, milked me
it, he, the me, in her, but why..?
I am hard, harder than buttered pecan trees,
she is a professional,
sex is her weapon of choice, her graze.
I should have then, wept throaty, gutturals of both spread in ways..only heaven knows why..not?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Last Dropp

Mother Earth calls, to denuded, lust is void.
no baby heard crying.
Do you Spend it wise?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Last Death Forever Private

Tow headed woman, child off woods
two once green, brown, canceled why?

Barron, indebted years scored, pity ed
never would know potted, room bloom.
Why did you choose insanity's, shield
mixed custom boons?
Your Mégas Aléxandros slain uselessly,
is debated fathers far flung dream, stain.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Would I Have ?

Turned the other cheek
for anothers broadside.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dear Daughter Caroline

when you read this, you will be old enough,
to say the words slowly, not rushed
as the other OJ..your mother..ok

Do not tell your secrets to others,
or they will come in between you and another, she covets.

When you see some thing, grab it dont think
the price will come down,
because if it is good,
it will be gone,
or the price will be so hi, you cannot afford it.

Last being out side of the circle of ) whatever's, (who invented this word should be smothered slowly,) ..you will learn more, suffer more, over come, prevail.

P.S. Daughter, remember if he's smart,
do not play those stupids drama island games,
with his head,
or by the time you read this it may be to late..

Foot note,
they did not work in my school, they canna work out.
With a smile.. :) ..and two winks, winks..i am your dad.

James McLain

Getting Past Daddy

It is never the right time to ask,
didn't he sweat yours?
So the best cakes were,
kept behind bullet proof glass,
in fear of daddies payne.
It was,
if he wanted more than that,
passing world a spinning view,
a split from pies
he never knew, running out to play.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Life Is Yes

All that I am,
is but a few moats a dot
before your face,
to brush away, yes hair curls.
Upon the ground,
you stand to walk again,
your life is yes.
There is much in yes, to know.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Teacher

Why is her worth demeaned?
Is it her worth,
so mismanaged by others?
Some are short, to the point!
While others,
rush over every syllabus,
slowly excitingly,
treating every last day first.
Nuns always trembled it, humbled it,
made it speak all her words of it...
bound in miles of sail, home in it.....
Pi nicks found in lunches pails, her books.
Her looks more than once,
flustered the pace,
my snails outlook chalk is boards.
So blushed on the buff,
ears always red for days.
Thank god,
are the girls that tutored with it every day.
There smiles lashed at ships to dreams,
in years, recalled, in winks.

James McLain

Wind, Bird, Grass

Grass lay down,
without feet upon the greens.
Still dawn weeps,
heavy head, hanging.
Barefoot, prints, leaves wet dew,
clingy is sticky, eyes mist.
Sticks tickle moss, movements see
two birds, a feather tips,
early sun, walking west is to slowly.
Bamboo bows, handles it knows,
speaks not of commons sleep.
Vine splayed, swept bricks red, rise
as bird hums, Riddle in honey suckle.
One child takes this out, as two blinks,
Wind tries to dry, brown grass lost tears.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Mother Why

I heard moon, heavenly sing...
Enthrall paper translucent runs.
is is cup passed on it's openly sea..
lips open sing praise, trip it so..

One sun, mixed mercury..quickly..
Night dresses Venus, in it's smile..
knowingly..it's is simply..languishes.
Still chariots of Mars, others seek..
Ernst is timid, Pluto to hide, one orbit

Songs, hearts, memories lay as covers..
Canaries, cages, colors airy is weepy so - on papers floor it carries it's nest, of song..
Moon beams gather oceans reflection of..

It is plain, visions full, it's records differ..
So painful, is playfully also read is red.
To bamboo to moon to green to brown..
The wine is strong..so puppied in..so is..
so cupped..is to why not laugh..is yours..
red...white...so blue..others letters..on..on..on

One dawn lays out in forever, knows hardly..
of is it night, spun cotton day in feathers....
Speaking it is, not knowing to? yet how is it..?

James McLain

Fire Is To Touch

Red eye, love flight.
Lottery one number.
Gift giving, to wonder.
Always, touching fire.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Professional

ProceSSIONal, cocked, locked,
loaded, gallons for justice bust, all
is six 'feet 'two 'four inch are heals, which squeals
shrill cut gluttonous oinks,
from her house, pet pigs.
Succeeded hearts long cork screw tails,
tweaks evenly one heavy man.
Her worlds invisable to all, still his
this most lovely man, that can't be hers.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Green Grass

Back in the day,
way back in the day,
one might wait even a month,
for the chuck wagon to appear,
back in the day,
gone back now,
long gone back those days,
why do I even waist your time.
Because throaty your days to mine.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Low Dissonant Rumble

I knew when the candy arrived,
as a child it rattled a copper or two.
When you became violently ill,
dusted tootsies, Tinna to sing, tunes you could, as the rule as is just, for a dollar.
Days when resonant distant thunder appeared,
heavenly is the wind, lightning would crack,
using there coin,
to the store and back invisible is rain.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Summer Leaves

Lazy green winds, laid her against,
his vein golden leaf, shadow bloom.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Spring Leaves

Winds invisable branched hand, is as one green leaf, rubs on another.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Winter Leaves

Thin inside a frozen coat of water, three green leaves, hug together against, hope.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fall Leaves

Seasons turned away, again
I, watch them fall, leaves drift.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why I Drink Milk

As a child it was powdered, lumpy tempted, thirsty as all are.
Powder is not power, missing tips.
Except in school, just for a nickle
pooled, three straws in a pint.
Eye to eye, hurriedly, quickly the well
is dry.
Mothers are warm, loving, sharing.
God mothers, to adopt are to loves,
even fresher, is one rose at sunrise.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ageless Plotters

They are but the few,
wicked though they do.
They plot ts and schemes,
rhinos are there dreams.
When just one pink, can run in four, sad distinct,
separate flat directions.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bufs Puffed Rushed Rice

Your eyes,
yes,
every day we paint them different,
as is each day,
the world Spain's it's seasons of you.
Can your moon so high, buffed shiny,
colored misty night, cool in hand, my eye?
Though you turn, veiled, cloudy times away.
Your crack of dawn, sends the bird looking,
was it ever found, smiling at you, knowing?
Ba-vi and Tam-dao,
inched brushed, runs happy, singing down ward.
You are so, Hang Son Doong, forever to buff,
forever to fill, running inward, free.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ildeth

Bosh glasses, with cool wets, suns might.
Ash runs around you.
Exploring, salty ground.
Berift lots, ever thirsty.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Drapp Of Honey

Bee shakes, rubbing.
bushes to run.
Gold transparency.
lingered is drapp.
Caught his washed sun,
frantic dance, so excitedly.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Is Earth In Waves To Swell

The oceans,
cool warm tides,
fresh ice,
flow in around up,
soft folds,
rain inside, hot Terra.
Locks welsh Glens,
hold moist foggy fjord.
Soundless, glaciers move
voice lost, soul filled icy
tr ac, blue calves hear Avalon's, reach clear edge, is stream exposed, it runs
back washed to Terra's sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Reserve

Follows hill it speaks to,
for ever does sun rise, it never sets in you.
Many are the bluffs in whites,
red, tow brown, it's yellow, wings to shelter.
Feet in sand, eyes can cry, silky handsome,
clouds are puffed, crystal wings do drone.
Grey, brown, black offs shade, today is yours,
tomorrow came, swift swallows, Lillie's fond.
A hidden hollow read, draws circles, locks the turtles, Peter, kathy's golden swan, clear pond.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When You Rush Out

Quakes shake your soul, cries
you look for a hold, to any thing.
Any thing but that,
which brought you here,
eyes rolled back,
to rush out, totaly, in pinks, red, black.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Women You

You can never know,
you cannot,
your Myst,
if even it's so.

It is all about you,
all of it, about
you. You burst my heart,
with just your smile.

You know I will be gone in a while,
never to know the smell of you,
perfumed sweat, your core the you,
in tears sweet salt.

You, even you,
where you are to hard core,
to know the feel of simple plain water,
short hair dried across your feet.

I am a simple man, it is that I am,
no crown jewels,
was It ever after to paint your lips,
or brush your hair,
simply you stand there,
wash your face with my smile.

James McLain

Advertising

It is about it, Exposure!
Try to sell it, without it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Yes, I Would

Can I trust you,
not to paste and copy,
tour of france your friends,
are swell then tell?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Poem Can Make You

Rifleman..you are,
supposed to be on,
next, do you still not,
understand them..?
What if the song
is not, about you?
What if it is, to late?
Nurse, Sax, scotch.
You are still so vain.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Emo In The Mirror

In sleep, clear hose needled razors eye hole, it drains.
In my dream,
ten feet long, black nail polish, it is our wrong.
Emo steps out from, this mirror, the two alone, smiling
together, waxed hard, out of sight inside the mirror.
Dim is the red light, in through window so piercingly,
night males two feedlings.
You, him share it's hose, so clearly, passing it back forth inside both, translucency draining it.
Stepping into the back mirrored, it is dropped, dripping
red flags spot, cross sheets, through tired, white carpet.
one eye, inside of two, toss rags hair, legs beat cover.
Rolled all of this inside on top, pulled around, a bottom button.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bee Stream

Drowsy hot, beats
wings of many feet.
Thin clear fans, strain
hums tunes in honey.
Running around as, it's rain golden wine flows,
presumptuously, truant.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bees Wax

Is it really? yours...or..
Ears running, with burns,
tasting of, yellow waxed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Hive One Bee

He stands there, a month
in the sun, golden alone.

No smoke to harvest, is
it has been since, none.

Honey runs, from into, air
no jar.

Bees gather the ground.

Crimson clover, turns over,
a song of wings, hurried,
pockets, blossomed with orange, scented flowers.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Bee

I open one.. drawer
of hive and look out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Big Words

Grunt, help push, stop, but dont sit.
The lawn will never be mowed,
if the clouds dont stop and play,
Stupids puddle, where is the rain?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Americintex Drug Addict

Hello: Some one,
She the other, not of you, I am your father.
You dont know who I am,
for a very important reason, lots of them.
Yet to she who one day will, know peace,
know that your judgement, is only as good
as those whom surround you.
It is not you, ok...it is the other, those around you ok.
I went to hear your voice, the voice that is you,
I guess it was taken by that other, your uncle,
and traded for a few pennies of my heart, just
for another suck at death.
Your pictures, and the few other things that were you,
now belong to another, erased.
Dear, some one, being you not of she, she the other,
you dont know me you never did, the others sold you,
delusions, poor gossips split tongue, that dripp honey.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Old High German Angst

I wasted a lot of waste on that one..yea..
I recon I, know I did..
Trying intelligence on..because it's used well....as?
In reality there being more than a lot, just fake mascara,
as swell..I see you laugh I do as well...wink..wink.
Did you really think your v*g *Na..is all of that in a zip lock bag..like some left over tuna casserole..
I smile *it's just another v*g*na..at best...
I'm what...it is ok..I like, am I is, to a what is child, ..
to think I would tell you what..
It has nothing to do with truth, hidding what..dad..cia..
lived to never tell about.and thats why..he lived...
I would go through my garbage as you would say...smile..
and look for your lip stick of shade..stay intelligent... and throw out them as well...really it's not worth
the trouble though..lies are lies... hallucinations are some thing else..neurotic can grow to psychotic..
i would just rather stay blue..you stay green...and smile..

James McLain

Runing In And Out

You fill your lungs till they burst,
knowing a ghost is passing through you,
except unlike the rest it's running in and out never stops,
knowing none, no peace, that feeling, untill that great,
volcanoe instructs mons Venus to drink when you sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Marathon

A good clean
track,
will never leave
one,
a begging heart.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It's To Simple

So i follow you around, with my bucket, and just, feed her roses being, simple and poor.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Talentless In Death

It is never wasted, it
can fire from any gun,
color filled thick liquids.
One blank, sun less work
some lonely, old doctor.
Nurses attention, to the flap.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Some Ones Retarded Fish And I

we are both
much safer,
blowing bubbles,
through
cracked,
and milky eyeballs.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rock Garden

Winds very cool
the pouring rain
trees, dripp on to the rock garden.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tuna Is Still Good

I will continue,
still to eat in it.
Wallow as large
walrus that I am.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Note Is Night

It has weeped, it's musics light, night
after light, tonight.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is It Who's? Sophistication In Asleep! ..

Is it wine that is water,
to bread without meat?
Is it pink breath, is to air
without the rose, to eat?
Is it new windows, of lead,
to space cotton, ones head?
Is Sophistication a long stem,
of thorns pulled forever through,
your fingers, it's offered other
given hand, and stay asleep.
Will you, would you, can you?
Show it how to be, forever not?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

No One Can Fake A Smile Forever

Is is beyond being hurt again, by another, like the other, you knew.
Finally, it took never long enough.
It cannot even feel you, to like her.
When the knife was pulled out, one tear just looked at you, as you fell.
What is to understand, one wink chill?
It is just the eye, some storm, again
some drain, one prefers to be blind.
Still who ever you are, It smiles, in you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If One Wink Today Takes Forever

Noise, lights, cashed,
is was in it's heavenly,
forever.Yet still, it blink.
Waits on some day,
maybe again, oceans.
The ground is silt, taste
fresh new, is soft, to rich.
One seed, drifts, tossed
in void, washing clouds.
Under skies bed, watch.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If Lead Were As Dense Is It

Look! it passes right through it.
Why do you make it look like major surgery?
You make it sound like it's..
Tissue microarray sections help de-waxedin
xylene, re hydrated in alcohol,
and immersed in 3% hydrogen..
when it is glue past and pull.....
So as the peroxide is placed in your ear,
it still tickles you to sneeze...I smile...you laugh..
as I do in the mirror of these books,
I slave over to please some teacher,
who really could care less.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Thankful That Woman Have Better Parts

I run to catch her sweat, it is the early mist, morning.

Where she walks, is lightly
seed is planted, she grows.

Between full moons, heavy tears fall, clouds do look up.

Only she knows, tounge of life,
refresh yesterdays, new smile.

Apples fall from her hands, at the feet her tree that is, luckily.

You her breath, teaches wind
the path, to flow inside, all sails.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ill Do It Ill Jump

The wind is cool,
cooler than I stand alone,
at the top, of this bridge.
It is a long way down,
rescue vehicles, they wave, is beacon.
hundreds of people, police.
There are none, up here with me, none.
I think I will leave, come back tomorrow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Not If Im Innocent..

There is a big deference,
being in there,
up to your elbows,
not talking about it..
still, you are a great surgeon..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Two Dates Same Race

He couldn't do it any more,
light is fast, he was faster,
fast as that once speeding smile, it razed..
So yes,
I excepted her offer, you knew he saw you,
the other you knew as well,
being related to each other,
and kept it from him as he saddled
you both at the creek.
Two fine horses, that won many races, all for you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Yes Woman, May I Come

When you saved me,
you saved your self.

When you touched me,
you touched your self.

When you loved me, inside
you opened all your doors.

When you breath on me, in passing, I shudder then rise.

You opened my eyes, to all that is you, death is in a rose.

When you call me, fast I do run
lay at you feet, safe in your sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Regina Is Regina

There are is fine woman,
girl woman's, girls, there is Regina.

This creature, will see her man cultivate the eyes of others, not in the simplistic way
the others have so thought.

Woman run the world, woman, smart woman run there man, not foolishly as stupid chattel
to the ground.

These creatures trust there charge, in silky hot words, they do reveal the minds of which the rest in shame , would hide.

He, of her Regina's if it does wrong, never would the sound of pain from her firm hand,
ever touch or reach your ears, to say.

Except by way of the scullery maid, rich full, chamber pots in hand, such for some is rich desert.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Some Of What You Learn

Dreams burn the sky, to free it.
It burns the sky to learn, if it's you.
It will watch you burn, in it's stead...ok..
It, if Eaton, it would burn up in it to.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Forget It Is A Peanut

Memories grow up.
It almost was what..
that little bit of..what....
It almost fell down off it..
jacked.....up..
it feeds another peanut
to the elephant in youth..
Elephant remembers it's,
face even blind, as it is..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Really..

....(.) it(.)) is(.....just another pin.....
short of a head.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Confession Of Two Ants

It looks down, upon it's self
wondering how it came too be,
that she fav ed it tied and bound,
on the other pebbles this ant now carries it.
It is safe to assume Regina, has the eat on
the pigeons that carried it here, to you?
What happened to the whole hog?
It sees now the parts, some cast in it,
it's other play.
That one hand bone still plays a jaded tune,
it's heard upstaged by her, it's you.
Green are the lollies, it is carried over once again.
The ride is tiring,
pins lay scattered, hers, it's sun beats
in side the light, that is it's heart.
Pitied it is now the found, upon it's back,
as it is carried to behold.
Dumped fast, unceramoniouly, up from the sand a king
of lions, leaves it there and wisks the ant away.
Heavenly are it's as it spins inside it's noodle.
The other ant is still, and sipped away.

James McLain

Under The Weathers Again

My plate is always out side, full of bread.
I should stop feeding grain to those pigeons.
I must have gallons of the stuff, what is it's use in the city?
Why take the bread away, they just keep picking at there own guano's any way.
The dry cleaners dont eat pigeons either.
So the threat of the other white rain, is lost in the soup, of the telly.Weather man.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mean While Back On The Ranch

We gather the sheep for shearing,
only those who hate the taste, of a fast
woolly sheep are fired.
Like every thing else on the ranch, they can be turned into some thing else, at the flip
of a verb, or a noun,
Injected premeditatedly my lips, an inflection of you.
They bleat yes, in the heat..four feet tied,
Talking so gentlemanly like.
Other wise yes, you would be some of that to,
The sun hides the face deep within the it's sombrero.
It has only water on the brain, being thirsty so what.
Sitting in the shade, we the rest, some being allergic,
to wool, wait ever patiently for the next truck to arrive
These now once again, cool of skin will be taken to the river, that flows through the ranch,
and given bread and wine to drink.
This is it, your ranch, will you help me carry that wool over there? ...howdy and thank you ma am, din't catch the name.

James McLain

Why Even Why A Y To Try

The y of it..

Is the sun asking why..why..? ..is it sunn or sunny, keeps asking why..heavy is it, without the y in it..still.

So it shuts the y out of it, even after the why of it did ask where does the y go..in pie.. ask Einstein why.

Make it grow without it, it is fine, it is oak..ok..

without the y in corn, why argue about it?

Why it would give it away, without even the y in it, is even beyond a y one to the far right of shy..

I recon, why Bacon a why at all.

Some come to be, not to be, to lie in one silly y happ of it.

Why is the try..the y..yea some times...

the why's with a y make a they of it...why say y..?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lost In Paint It Dripps For You

It is so blind, it saw eyes, mouths, bodies, feet imploring it's paint, it's beggars land, stroked
by hand.

It's can, faceted as one gem, dripps only you.

The brush peels back, stroke by stroke, layer
by layer, new always differed you.

Each canvas, some happy, some mad, still it's always you, is to Regina's sun.

The brush of lips, still trembles it, invitingly...why?

Lips brush the stroke, you make the paint, wants why?

The canvas is always full of differnt you, asks it,
is it not?

Respectable mirror to try on in you..why not?

It laughs at it's self, seeing a growth on it, so boss.

The rose dripps, it is painted to it's natural blush,
as it's ment to be.

It is a stuggle between the rose and it's blush, it's a grippe so tight, the colors run at times, on it..you still laughs mused.

It just cannot, as much as passion flames it's eye,
be reduced to frame, you in the boring same tired,
eyes of it is.

When every woman is her, she a Queen.

James McLain

When Fish Smelled Like Cinnamon

Being, it's just,
delirious tuna.
I just know,
there are millions of plates waiting,
how does it,
make the wait forever and a day,
being hungry?
It chases the tuna, being human,
hungry for tuna,
it smells cinnamon,
disguised as tuna in keep.
Thy keep is oh hand, it opens, slowly forever
and it's spray.
The waves foam, the beach moans, the sands are mined, every thing smells sharp, ly is.
It's eyes deceived, it stores meager it wanders,
forever to fish, one vast ocean is this woman,
of dubious cinnamon origin.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Some Islands Wrestle To Float

You came the same way we did, i don't know how,
quite now, crabs are getting away.

You will when you get hungry.

I think you will find that the cobnuts, have quotients,
like that chocolate you eat, from back out yonder,
hurry others come, again.

We don't worry about that, untill
after you eat your pudding.

As we each await our births, some [painter her words<
we lay on.

The line is long, some wants are shorter, desperate for life.

Why do they chose one number?

Walls close off, as the hand reaches in like forever,
pops our heads like grapes.

The line is long, some wants are shorter, desperate is for life.

The soul is dust, the body is ash es, it's mind will never know.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

How Is She Filled Out

Such grace,
full at base is oven fired,
her paint so plain,
is beauty stunned.
Yet you think this prom,
isn't about you, when it is.
Your every days, Morrow
always here.
From the middle ground,
is pulled the finest tuna fish,
the world would ever know.
Renumbered, tuna dont spread gossip,
people do, so throw them back.
The tuna are always fretfully peaked, for free shrimp.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cross Dressers Two

When both, people
wear boxers, it just,
saves so much time.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Womans Find

Again it is existentially diminished it's trail
being as Ursula, phenomenally unbalanced to find a way, without pheromones tail of spears.
These hers, it's trail mixed with other crumbs, one tired ant tries to climb up her clean window, in need of more than the six other feet,
it left behind, on some marble twin sleds.
Still grace is grace, as you watch, smiling glad you are not it, some maniacal ant loyal to Regina having few rumbas we her loyal subjects taste the known scent of these it's intertwined kamikaze missions.
Still amazingly amused, a muse or not, the ant has more than a few pens left in it's small heavenly, is it's endowed pin filled mind, as it drags the whole hog into the hole.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Trust Is Crust Like Skin

It is as little,
as the rose within your fingers. The tip of one thorn, that wells
out its dropp of blood,
on you, so true.

They dripp as a search is made for the vase, in water
at once cool and such its stem grows bright and green.
Does not it trust you to bring back the scent of all that is
again?

The kitchen is warm, the oven hotter, the flesh within those doors is potted, in trust, a must for who?

Upon your plate its made and laid so golden brown, in trust a must is once again your hand, its you
it watches upon that skin.

It sits so cutely, a hope in prayer, in etiquette you trust, your dictated yes a must, it hopes the skin from the barn yard hen

you do not peel from the flashy, it is the best part.....

Most are to hungry to argue..a stomach is such to you..

James McLain

Emo Gurl

It is a radicalised reparation of my haunting, burned out lie.

It is, it's drug it in you choose, it's lips are fostered, is in to pules of the mirror, it is washed from, in it's anticipation, compressed, is pulled, apart
from in blood.

No one will lend me you!) it anew shinny buff.

It digs out it's old, always new, it's rusty dull, is jagged, ragged slice, it's pale hairless pie hole,
so thin, it's only it's greedy noise making such a muscle, beardless
voiceless now, is it's wait.

The light is bright, the pie hole quivers, shakes on it's love swept rocks, barren of hope, shallow is it's depth wide is to deep, looking out within is a gush.
WAITING...

It stares into, within, it looks out inside it's hand trembles down ward, again and again, this pole once of wood, now
it is once again my shame.

Across it, down it, like my tears, across a white barren bluff of porcelain, it's now dry face of relief,
spent to lie on the ever jagged edge...the tip... of it's day..washed in dark...dripps..of dropps..now red..
is again it's bed,
of hopelessness your love for me..it lays in, once again.

James McLain

Her Bikini Talks To A Mannequin

Two small potatoes
hang from it, is this
some back porch,
rocking with it, trying to keep from being mashed.
Blue is a mannequin, it's name for it, your lap dog, as two rabbits, eat it's carrot,
in the others garden, as bird watchers you, pick a rose
to big for the bath tub,
it is to be delivered, back inside. Next to the new stove.
It is time to feed the mind, is your last rabbit, a carrot top.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

While You Slept

It is you,
meeting it,
on the way out of your window,
last night.

It is silver, it is you, rushed as pink.
It is you first in sounds, self hypnotics breath asleep.

It is lower now, rested back to front,
egoist lowered is into you, chest deep.

It stirs you, blushed it's you, in is it, is me, as one.

It cuddles, cups that rush, inward down,
so silky smooth soft, smile it is now, forever touched.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Illusion Is False Control

My imaginary friend,
used to ride it,
on a two teamed paired, hay wagon.
Muscles do strain,
pulling up reins,
to let up push down,
is the break in a well.

One night, after arriving back at her ranch, hot sweaty.
My friend asked, why do you look at it that way?
What other way, can it see?

It is a false since of grain, it labors and strains for control of the horses and hay! ..

How is it sir: ?

Why have you come to say that? ..It watches you drive,
every night.

The horses are blind, across and along,
the same dusty trail for going on nigh, seven years,
yea, it recons so.

They have found there way back, many a night, all by a doves, lonesomes trail.

James McLain

The Ditraction, S

To make you a word,
UN repulsive, soft alive,
sharp to cut, blush to rush, is experiment's,
half of life.

To holds you still, pinned as emo, boy, girl
cutting around up down, while the mirror,
calls your name.

You, ..your rose it's softness unconfined
in silks plush, cupped breath of hand,
you are it's name, it is what..tell me?

You Sir: chained to the wall, gagged muffled,
it's she, hears you SOB uncontrollably, as she in black leather lays it on again, it's more again, than not.

It's OJ that you run our town, after all we golf together.

Disruptions, pour mad T.V..unremitances, eruptions controlled guided, on preachers court, our time rushes
in on one last glorious,

round of applause, you know,
your show must go on, without pause.

Remember to smile at the usher, crushed verve's is back..

James McLain

There Is Butter - There Is Margarine

Just the sound of butter is so, so..so..wells..of wholesomeness, it is beauty, it's cow in the fridge, moo-wing for you, still the other, when reduced, is like pale, once pink, Sundas
Thai floated off with, in a head of Mrs, Wurst.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Jealous It Looks

It is one red sore eye, as a down stairs, it is vision blind as one wanderer of many weeds, choked thin
with plaque a vine to lead
it's washed basement, into the sun, it's colorless light lost, one window covered over a wasteland of hearts.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Look At Her Feet First

It always looks down, at fairest crown, is tan dots
of her calf, always helps
She must, know it is sweet as morning sun, deep vast soft brown eyes, it washes clean it's night just repast.
It softens the ankle, in roses
dawn, toes follow songs, it's breath to reach the tendons
sore is meek, waves in care.
It rushes, soft milk thigh, is to silk boundaries, on garters.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Genus Sialia

She just cannot help
it's flight, so high, it's unplugged, his books.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Big Fire

It has waited forever to burn
one thin strip around it's Terra
it is then in the reckoning of her -shelves
it's, sun is fast it's
fire, to burn inward or out word.
Her self to make or unmake in it.
This your thousands of beach's,
all of it's sand in your wisdom, it would cling so hard to a few, is a pebble on it, choices are made not of it or because of it, it's you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Picnics

It has found some of the sandwiched sorely short of it's favored credentials.
Yet there is never enough room for it to repack the basket by noon, lets shag it?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It's Yes To Art

It for years, it's
has tried to be effluent
in the art, of the dump.
Standing up, on its side,
even upside down, when it rains.
It is about affiance though, much it is,
that brings you to the, it's big Simona.
Logs of forever, are for plumbers, yes
of course and the other, butt any way,
you know that from expedience, to swells.
It flows outwards, instead of down words,
yes many are the arts in this there are.
Remember this if nothing else,
babies go first,
while boys fly through the air, girls well,
they just kinda lay there,
untill they grow, so able to wrestle the bottle away, under there own terms.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

What Is Pen In Dream

You clutch your law, unto your self,
wrapped in safeties drug, of cloak.
It is what you have striven for these long hard years?
Bridge, benches bars that slide,
yards of mantled weighty,
picture topped with garland purples,
olden hold, pen erases laid, in sword.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bread And Butter To A Prisoner About To Die

Me myself the i, it dots as swell.
Wherefore then from whence,
this butter ran unto my loaf,
so thinly sliced,
of bread a single day it never knew it's own?
By it's self a single hand the bun it never held.
Butter on my chin is thick and sure,
it dears a naughty, buffed up smile, to cure
this your fib, of yellow tears is worn so chaste?
When it wakes a dairy tastes, is of one silken tounge that all may lick, around that trim, deep
wells to milk that most may drink till full.
Nurse, my flap is loose the wind blows through,
why then there for does broad beams, loosed around
your child,
and have me sin all by myself, it's I's it dotted well.
With winged two feet, one band is on the run.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Full Moon

Is grace? hidden,
cotton, tinkly flushed,
radiating so brilliantly,
not through all around,
it is her silk canary,
her veil, high up into
one cheekily ,
cloud spun, around it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Women Were Wicked And Men Still Supported It

It was not out of any disrespect, of it was usually because the familiars,
rejected them selves and became familial.

So he puts on Rabi tears, dances to your plums,
and it makes a great picture, when he's not trying to run your local government.

Then the pellets fall, you know they are not yours,
do you fun some more, chariots with fire breathing
yes, yes...you fire him and hire it's sister, you must know the other half of it, as is swell..it is can be,
not your designated driver..

Roses in bloom, make him swoon,
it is forever drunk in the trunk there after.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Love Lies Bleeding

Most like to wipes it, is on some thing,
other than it's selve, sore thigh your yet Instead it, is
it's blood upon you float, not touching.
It's stain is it, upon the air, around it.
When you, it's color changes, it is, it's robes, gold then melts the heart
of quicksilver, this river to sun is run,
when tips of lead it knew, has Bloom's.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Spread It

Like smooth red clay,
with a one handed driver.
Rubber trees, are owned by who now?
Do you need it, to smell the road?
It's nose rubbed in tar, you follow it's words
across it's top, in a thin trickle of water,
found in almost every scoop, full, plump rasins.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Some Times Doesn'T Care

Where you will get all the wood,
you need to feed one, winking
latched oven. Soot filled st' airs.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Babies Bed

It is cut out of pink,
vain, marble'above
drained to a sea,
below,
it's rim is truely laboured.
over in it's Life,
appears in heat at night,
static in it's flash, is grinding
rocks, cooled by heavy wet
breath,
soaked in waves, foams flame.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Before The Fire

Court houses, where secrets slept,
many were the dreams,
where fire ate regularly.
Space now shuttles it back and forth,
up, never down, out
inwardly, in through eyes, clandestine.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

To Read To Much

It is best to read more,
when you are young,
So your eyes wont fall.

out!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Cut

It has noticed,
two cuts leads from one,
is three to follow it?
So you drink of it, or not,
the taste of copper
as it's wire to follow it.
the day has not come, > yet..
You push the red button, and it happens
not, with out it's.
Technicality, it's knowledge is slow
to flow through some wires, uncorrected.
Electrics, fires to do is, wires followed,
uncrossed, unseen to sparks in air.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cheese Cloth

It seems it's a bite off,
would you please, sew
your hemp rag back on.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Freely It Dissociates

It is the gift you pay, in heavy,
lost is gray for.
Abuse, of self, others you shelve resting in some ground, burned
or donated to university.
A few live,
you are yelling,
it's eyes stare lost in side it's void.
Your voice a dim buzz,
your lips move so slowly,
like thin strips of clear spotted liver.
Again looking down, into you,
wondering can't you see it is, not home?
Thus it must, is freely dissociated you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

To Breath Java

The view for the trouble, it is..ok..
it, tries to guess, always.
It is winded from the floating hot spots..
Thermals of death, as the red,
liquid rock flows around it.
Bubbles of cool air, usurped
by silvers yellow mist.
It is mired, the assent was dangerous,
so often as not foolish.
Wood burns upon this ground, when touched,
touched not, it is the glass and hot air, around it.
Coast guard is to far away,
is, buttes thick, in miles of smiles, so
it has to breath it, while slipping into a parachute.
It is to sad all the risk was for, cups java.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Plain Robe

She squats, so lost, to gaunt frail, the cost of weeping is knowing, she will not fold you.
Into this robe it holds for you, is it.

In it's blindness, it stumbles in, her it clutching her robe, her skirt, she looks,
as heaven opens, it is never old again.

The hope of the world, it's joy is worn,
between the seams, the counts, fulminates
insinuate,
thin threads your this, robe forever plain.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cook One Dish

You burn it in your oven,
you say it is, look cooking
spice flavor, is international.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Be Not Confused

There is the wicked goods,
in with the wicked bads.....
Basket is always full, it is..
So do not be confused,
it just is.....so sleeps your sleep..
of confusion , ..it is ok...ok....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

More Can You Fit On It's Pin

As you breath it,
it rewinds your stars,
again.

The comets fly as tears you void,
though you renew them,
as time renews your start.

You must indure, Your fate,
as such,
planets slam into you,
to fill the void inside.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Holds Two U Cups

It is you Regina,
it's twin peaks is,
snowy pink tips grace.
It struggles to cup them,
in it's egress, it's eagerness,
to support your flow.
It tangles it's lines,
confessed, between them.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your String Of It's Prose

It runs through it, into one place only you could grow.
It is tied, in you, to you, by you, for you, to shed it's wicked rushes, that are your thrush.
You cannot walk, without it running into your,
from behind is,
it cheek to cheek, it wears your sent,
to throw the others off your trail.
It is after all, is it not, the most valuable asset it has.
You pull your string, just to tug it in,
back under your skirt of musk.
Your feet are now so full of it, it walks in you, to wake it.
This string your wind in prose, his ring, your nose, it pulls,
you so far into it, your feet must leave the ground.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Gossips

when I 'ear soft lips,
at my ear,
severing the hair within,
I become,
more than a bolt tightened

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cause Of Death

Crooner said,
legs were so tightly buffed,
when they opined,
blood clot shot to her head.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Strange How We Covet Parts Of The Other

We lie, trics, an hooks,
just to cover your arts.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Yours Truthfull

Some embrace it with know,
not knowing why, just to touch it.
Some know what it is and blush terrible,
it smiles,
knowing you know, it knows your smile, inside
you hide,
you will be fired for this, this is of course,
it is untruly!
The wicked boss you turned up,
some wasp in your in your hair you would be shed of,
you need your job, it knows you knows this.
Truth is your need, to feel alive within your blood,
that seals a day inside a kiss,
that you would try to leave upon it.
It is grate full for just your smile,
kind looks you wish upon it..its dark continent...of rain..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is It Not Suggesting Is It Poetry

It holds itself to your will,
it is only a suggestion, it hides in your hair.
Winter snow so pink upon my brow, the snow, is grace, not by the ugly plow, it's ugly mouth.
Yet your will hides my face, birthed Beneath a skirt, it's warm, safer place my haven, from crows beseech ed.
Tender it, with your kisses, be bold as the lioness, charge.
Hold the poet, within you, eat the word live them.
Does it hold your world, to drink the rose, for nothing?
There is no door, it is your mind, you climb over to rush it.
It is the blush, Niagara falls, to swell it's glory, in your smile,
as the waves lap gently as a lion in sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Free Me

It doesnt want to be free,
from any one,
unless there mean,
abussive or a nun,
with good habits.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is It Even A Day

It seems like two days in one,
reversed,
cut in two,
then sown together backwards..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Even Ants Use Pens

It weeps true, now
inside head of pin
ant holds up to you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If You Catch Me, What Then

Would you yell, scream at it, beat on it some more?
Would you complicate,
it's simple mind to speak not, ever more?
Would you tell it, you love it, when really you dont?
Would you love it, never speak those words,
it washes feet to hear?
Would you tell it, you cannot understand a single word, you hear?
Would it simplify,
it's simple world,
if it just despaired in all it's pain,
it'swell that knows your shielded soul of fear?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Boxes Of So Many Soma

It inside,
are the blue, pinks, purple from countries it cannot say.
It, the package that you sent,
is blushed in tears, so many it would say.
Each is counted numbered,
thus in fame you reached, when you
began your climb, from deaths past love.
This box of hearts,
all know the parts, that each of you did play in it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Original The Package

It tears so easily,
It was constructed by herself,
to fit inside her jar of clay, that way.
You gives it life, as such you takes away.
It lives confessed inside the many,
knowing grace.
Regina, save it from it's self, the many strings.
It's name has never, was so hidden from the blind.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is It Where You Lay? It Is..To Funny

In it's jar on your shelf, watching you.
You laugh that laugh, it knows it's true,
as you watch it move.
It fills your jar so full, so rushed, so plush,
this your fabric of your smile a bedevilled jar.
You sea right through, in waves is brushes fair.
It is watching on your Sheffie, from your jar, it bounces crazy from the walls,
contained it is, throne.
Wont you please reserve the top and let it in?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Only Wood

You walk around it,
you reach out to touch it,
your hand moves right through it,
how you,
think to it,
in thought of it,
would ask of it..it is simple,
It does not know of it.
It only swims in it..
It is the truth..of it..
It loves with it...
It sleeps at your feet in it..
It is your shoe, on it in care..
You know it will run aground to the world in it,
while you sleep in it, get into trouble in it.
Now you smile in it,
it smiles inside you, as it swells
in waves of rushing blush.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Stand In Carnal Knowledge

It rushes around it, it darts in and out of it.
Is it a dream, flames make you scream, to sit around the fire, and watch you rush. Blood your mighty river, makes you! blush, so you stand.
The stand, a mighty effort, it is thick in leaves, it is king,
it stands back again, in dropps that dripp your name.
It smiles wickedly, your knees shake and sigh, bold as glitter, you try to fold, it back inside..
You sits then, to take it in, with just your eyes, as you watch the hand less veil, roll back your tide, and touch the fold.
It knows your taste, it knows your smell, it knows the holy tears that you, have shed, to keep it in, yet still it dances round the rim of fire, with hotter flame.
Every bed, in light of day or dream of night, hides the rose it's might, of leaves that ride the bud of sight, to beat around the edge this queen and never walk inside the steam, it is the greatest blush of all..it smiles inside your, forest dear.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Authors Pen For Regina

Is it poetry,
are you even more confused,
in it. It is sinful it knows it, Yet so,
Wicked is it in you, it always is, you glow in it..
On a lighter note, To have every verse, of prose, consumed by it is, is it then would ask you to it, if you saw it,
perhaps it is you, remember tired mother,
it will wash your feet in it, for you are the Regina,
of it, in your smiles to it, does then flow in to it,
which is you. It winks at it to swell, in your smile.
They beats it, and robs it, of you precious mother.
It still smiles in you.. You take it with a wave.. of you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Dropp Of Face

It is only rain, falling up into it's face,
it walks through it.Kicking one dropp.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Two Cowards

It is afraid, so is it's other and glad of it.

Six non redundant swords,
that cut deep, so rivers flow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bottoms Up

As I lay falling forward toward,
a Mordred pool of clear, champaign
I look up,
at the bottom of the well.
Orders of similarity disappear, rapidly,
when I reach surfaced tension,
this bottom is the rocky show for me.
There is no bottom button to push,
would I again, you would think so,
falling up with a smile.
I land on a living, moving,
shag carpet, it leans in, on impact.
I run for the nearest fold of cover, to check it out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Golden Draw Knife

Is It... used fairly.. and hope has memories, to few.
Faith and Logs grow true...
forever, in you to harvest..
To few are the seeds....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Of Lice And Men

Wits less, is the man who forget his mouse,
when he goes abroad.

Sleeping in quarters above him.

Gravity works the same,
where ever you go.

Loose are the wits of the omens up stairs,
one light in the front is always red,
in the dark..

The lice leave the mice alone,
while the men pay.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

About Hair

Is blind, i didn't really hear why, still
he is not bad looking,
she said he's not married.
she also said,
he told her,
she was late picking of her friends,
husband.
the only part that struck me odd was,
she said, he could touch your hair, and tell you,
who you were last thinking of.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Window In Me

Even i am in you, i am so cold.
You just add another coat, blanket out the voice, of me inside you, crying.
But why?
Do you not see me,
here at your side,
only is my whimper,
sounds of your shaking chest
can you feel..me...Do you? ..Do you..?
You look out the window, again, to think..
What is that voice in side me saying...why? ..
it is only the window, speaking to me,
only it's againt..my glass..to find...
one reflection in all the many that once were me..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

To Cold To Smile

Counsellors come to hear it,
it when it speaks, of the rouge.
When the bottoms, button
say they, is in a morgue.
The stiffness of lip, the token of normalcy, is counsellors dying grief.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Last Free Atomics

Washes all it's feet.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Titanic

Great is,
last blue harvest.,
hard, true, now gone.
Diamonds.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Wash Your Feet Because

i wash your feet,
because you,
need to stand again,
all day in anothers needs.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Rights Of It

Songs of word, flies hard from me to you in pause.
Yes you did, you rest upon the bench held closed.
Rooms of court, fill the sky how
it tries, to still the day in rest.
Know judge is an island to bath,
in the mantle, of purples black pen.
It will read the docket, against her sin.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Spacial Place

It is inside,
sublimity mind of white light
that you find for, is it not?
There is no gait in sample sport,
you abjure when it,
plays you for all that you are, in you.
It is quill ed in the thrill, of the ink that you dripp,
dropp by dripp,
from the edge of your lip,
pinkish hued in the light that is you.
I will not,
cannot smell or taste, all her tissues,
that weep me within blush touch of you.
This leaves me more than foolish, whereas
It blinks in the light looking up into you.
while it gets drunk on the rind.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Inside The Alliance Is You

With whom do you side, signed by you.
Whom do you choose by choice,
to undue you?
How came you to owe such a debt,
it being free?
Would you speak to it's associate?
It is one simple plan that owe your self.
To make sure your allegiance,
is to the alliance of words, spacial is the infinite
mind that will unzip your books to check.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Dont Mind

Really i dont mind ok,
it is
just a scrivener's error..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Will Find Out Tomorrow, About Yesterday, Today

My bladder is full
in it's bursting,
every day at the same time.
I forget to go in school, bullies and all,
i keeps this to my self.
Just wish out of all the girls here, the same one it seems every day, sees me in the same spot, adding my dreams to her streams.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lol

None dad,
Socrates,
would tease me for bieng this being lazy,
i would say, not to think, on it to hard.
Sir, but think of all the) (o) (ink and quills we save.
Stupid boyyo,
who is paying for them?
You?
Tell me,
boyyo!
between just you and I, what is..lolz?
Sir, it is only Another stupid word like, whatever?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Anyways, Back At The Ranch

We caught all the rattle snakes,
it's not easy but it's clean fun,
besides the children,
need the syrum,
it must be careful, though
as its allergic to the anti christ, in that to..
it was touch and go, for a while...being fingered, by it only the tip fell off...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When I Last Talked To God

she ask ed it,
dressed in green and white,
escorting it away,
cloths taken,
then left in a cage of class.
Why wont you forgive her?
It thought, like it had,
through out all time...
she, knows not, what she did...
what is id, in there to forgive.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

In The Note Of Oink, Is Beethoven B Sharp

Your mind is lazy,
what is the first thing,
that came to your mind..
do not be offended,
i smile in you, it would change that.
In your ocean of pink it does play, you sigh,
the rest is just music,
musics you make, they are, are they not?
One lost key in the cord Beethoven played,
that you cry.
If it looks in your sifts, you oink,
when the pinks are stirred
you oinks,
yet if you insist in the first strain of thought,
whats the use in you,
never a woman, K-mart chopped.
Yet, you know..a professorial at what ever you do..
These colors are you, you may change, they do not,
mystical forest,
always changing the vines that cling.
Those sounds stop..listens, think back..
always clean never dirty.
This great void never filled,
within a void, within this your awesome pinks,
in which It sleeps,
inside your dreams..I hear oinks.

James McLain

Why I Love, Your Feet

They walk across the face of god in sleeps.. :)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Do , Still Smiles In You..'')

Even, when it hurts..

Even when, it hurts me....

Even when it hurts to say..:

Inside your waves ,

I smiles, a smile in you... :) :)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Under Your, Weathers

You smothered it,
with you, in hopes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Please Ma Am, It's It's, Not A Tram Coupler

The tram is packed, femme
your smell is intoxicating.
Rough tracks,
causes even me to loose
my breath,
gulps of hair, I try to sift in air.
Your wickedness, is backing
blushes even now into me, it's.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Alone In Need Of You

i know, i need you,
you the women of this world,
that make it dance, it sing,
it is atrial, for you in it.
you, yet you,
were put here in charge of it,
to make it grow in it,
to help him sow in it, inside your soul with it.
you are all of it,
within it, around it, to spin it, you make it go.
you talk to it, walk in it, you lay in it,
you always know the soul of it.
alone it is, in need of you,
you always let it know,
with such a simple smile,
so close it rushed,
you make it grow in miles.
it knows you know it,
it bows down to you,
still it must hide alone in it's need of you.

James McLain

You Make Me Swell

Only with your smile,
the bigger the smile,
the bigger the wave,
that washes over you.
The swell of my smile,
wicked so fun, and wild.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Ants Lost Roon

It's the nights heat,
no wind, brushes my face,
dark is this path, to feel with one toe,
as it brushes back and forth.
Pace is awkward,
slow as the exoskeletons
of many ants lost in, sheets of time, the
many of the once,
are freed to feed the wells
uncertain past, as the few that are left, carry that which it is, sight less, deaf always helpless, back into it's void,
to bath in an ocean of ink.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tric Apart My Art

you would carry me, upon your heads,
deposit my belongings,
on that wooden scard, apron scent your stove.
wait untill the frenchies hear what you have planned to do to me, there this loved on buff.
la dernière fois il a été, j'ai parlé à eux,
ils m'ont dit que je n'ai pas eu à jouer en
dehors du bois, où elle meurt empalé sur moi.
they will come and rescue me, and still she sings
her song that all you, came to hear.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Auricles Loves It's Midsummer Dream

i may say it, i may play it, yes even
you have felt it, in you alive, it swells,
it is true, what you feel, is it's truth,
nothing false,
or you would feel it untrue, inside of you.
you have ouchd it, you have pouched it,
you try to couch it, your way is not wicked,
though unsure, of
how to hide it, given time, you will do it.
you would if you could, i know this is true,
because it is in you, to love it.
this is not bad, it is the great truth in you, is it
love, how you squeezed it, loves it blue.
this is it, this is your mind, one in a million, kind yes, it's a rare find.
you are gentle, you blush it, you tease it, you swell it
it's in you, all around it, neither it, nor you speak,
when it passes, you taste it,
your blush is as soft as your dream of it.
it excites you, so wickedly, still you in your pink,
are it's wildest spoon, a ride in it's dream.
you in it's bed of lush roses, is stuffed in it.
instead of on the floor, bold where you found it.
yes, they are but words of time you wound around your finger in it, you blush the world in all that it is.
the auricles of loves it's midsummer dream.

James McLain

Exspeculations

It is not hard, a walk down your street after school,
kick a can, whistle Dixie sing by my watch, for that errant butterflies eye, glass case collection on hot muggy days, with today's exspeculations.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cia Kinda Mind

Gross Socrates, excoriated
to run uptown in mire to lay upwind in kin the..CIA.....

No, i dunna think so, not in me.
Mine are of a diffrent soul, with eyes that see a diffident sky than i was told it'd be.

I do, I did, I Romes it wide the shallow graves the kind that spook a child in sleep so deep, you drink your thumb.

I canna imagine islands bare, words hollow, reed, breath, of ink that, bleeds.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Natural Habitat

SO,
Tarzan wades through, thick grass.
Jane sings opera, with Oprah.
Boy, well boyz are boyz, to men...to sing and grin...
Cheetah, well yea, there's Cheetah, she who drinks long island ice teas, swings
through the trees and pees on us all....
While I just stand there, looking up at it, getting wet.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Our Boats

Hopeless, you and I, our only words,
this book on paper, not yet pasted.
It jumps, rather than know a sinking,
thought, it's words would be wasted.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pink Is Her Turtle

Does not making you happy, with a snappier pink,
make you excited? Snap, snap...your lips did they...purse
this word, or discard it...?

Who would not die, to scream her oinks all there life,
do you fear, will these simple words,
, requested...now get me arrested...

New clean words, washed free, over and over again.

Do they really, sound quite like the others, in your mind..?

Blush me, I will blush you to death, i live for your blush.

your blush drowns me, in seas of pink, that make you oink.

Did you take all my blush?

Please wait, It for you, will make oceans more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Brave Heart

Leaves thier little bloody mark
the rest just drinks it, in shame.
My bloody foot print brands it, me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am Only, Your Pet Pig

Yet, i am an honest one..i am pink,
i have wings, i can fly..i do eat the roses,
you frown...when i find a pearl, a pink one..
you do more than pay me in smiles of your praise.
You, ..you oinks pink, to the world, rolls over and winks..and cries...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tired In A Small Circle, It Is *

Is it, that your days are busy, full..?
Only you, know where they may take you.
I do not, know mine, where they lead me.
I do not complain...I...must..
steal this, that it is, all I am, from, it is so confused, by it all.
It is all because of.....it is....it is just...you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Cloud, A Star

The tree is a soft pillow,
against my back,
after the picnic,
tooth pick dangles,
i nod off to sleep,
thinking of building a home,
in a cloud
being obsessed,
it should be as easy
as counting the stars.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Abox Of Parts

What is a start, to finish,
sewing fingers on feet,
toes on hands, heads in chests,
her breasts i placed
on her back,
where they now grow, to belong.
With a special test for her tounge,
that i split in two.
Now able to converse,
out of both sides of her mouth,
just as i drew.
She tells me her story.
it is not like the rest, out on a date,
picked up in a bar.
Slipped by a hand,
that came out of the dark,
to park that pill,
inside her glass of beer.
Her pinks,
are a lastly bled,
mutated horrible sled,
pulling dread,
as i search for her eyes,
lost out of insular colors.
She never stops talking, about what she will do, when i open
her mind,
and sew shut her oven,
and leave her to squander her dime.

James McLain

A Part In The Part We Play

As she watches me, split the pages
with her exacted, the blade trades places,
with the paper.

She appreciates my frugal, conservatism.

The paper can appreciate the soft cheekbones
of my desperation, the highs and lows, thereof.

What is received, is not always the part that act
reacted, to see a play re done, in practise.

I like most, am only your puppet, a fool a host for ghosts, you toast at roasts.

I am not a Victorian, blue blood rich in iron, curried.

Favors never come easy, as such are never released is aparts apart we plays, on stage

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

He Is Just So, Heavy

Tear dropps, drip
from both eyes,
like rain, last
sweet dropps wrapped within each other, twisted
and teased from one end, and fused
inside loves cover.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Peek, As She Peeks, Apeeker, Peeking

i look at the window, the curtains move in an airless room, deja vi the feeling in it's self always new, when i think this thought that i think in you.
what is it, that makes it you, you thinking of me watching
you, want to look for me in, some think, oink, of you that feeling just grows..in hues of pink...
a door is cracked, i check for your traps, most unusual to be left ajar, the hairs on your brush are all there.
mentionables, perfume the air, the scent is stunning
in electric, i only mention them to you because i know, you are watching me, while i search, in you with me watching, our eyes abort one another makes me grow
heavy, thick and so strained as i move,
in a dream, slowly it seems, to your bed on the floor,
by the wall, where i fall.
it is all there, where i left it, st rune about, white, pinks, purples yellow as bright as the flower much worn, on a forest is grass always sweet, never torn, never known.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Turtle Talks

It is difficult walking on fast upon your heel,
in the know, why I brought the turtle back
i do not know, do you?
I looked all over for it, it has to be hungry,
all ways on the move, in it's shell, alone.
It is the one with the long neck, in a soft shell,
with sharp fingers, it uses one to handle food.
My foot on her sofa, it fell in between the 'cushion',
I pulled back my foot, with a bloody sore toe.
Some do think me from, Englishman, swank designer.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Under The Weathers

I try to understand the sky, weather woman
says one thing, sky would do another.
Why worry about some umbrella, no one needs?
I walk through puddles, just to wash my feet.
I try to keep my cat away, from the rabbit.
I just cannot tell about the weather, I cry into my eggs
because, I can't afford any more roses.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Your Part, After All

it is not like some lost water pump on a car,
you cant find,
though you would follow the steam, to the source, through the air and get burned.
your part,
it is differing than that, would you have us
believe that the bench made of wood,
does not in the slightest way effect
your stage of the part that you feel,
when you rest upon it? , would you give you a break from that..not.. how can we think that far on the bench with no, pink oinks, to sing in it's play,
it is, in your part, that is made of hearts,
on the wood that you feel when it plays to your part
, of the one who can float through your play
on the stage, that he wrote in the dark,
while you slept, on those sheets made of care..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Peek Into Anothers Window

when the white silk drapes, come open at night,
my whole being, anticipates scenes, that were forever lost to me, as a child, until she came.
she comes back around,
at fivefourty five and time is never lost, like a train.
she has a four sided cottage, and the square is centered,
around by us, her lovers wheel and pealed down paired.
we hurry, us, all of us, to big a crowd and eyes we handle blind as rats and the nights are her personal crowd of hosts.
she stands in all her glory, shoulders back, aureole pink,
profiled she stands the mirrors wife, with silks rag buns of steel.
on the stool outside her door, rest this jar we have come to know well,
it's filled to the top with gifts, joys boyyo fat and green.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Operator

i understand operator, but, but, but, no ma ma, ma'am
could you not check the line once more for me instead,
you are more than kind, yes, yes i am trying to understand,
i am of a hurry in you, as well, could you not, just this once an exception to your rule, would you make on my knees.just to try would i please, help me in you, this once to understand.
boy yo we hold the milk that you need, follow her rules, and such as her needs, then she will be pleased, to lend you the hand that you need.yes ma' am, i will do as you say.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Know, Do They Know

They are exposed, S.O.S., lighthouse
in the know, spinning
short words, hacked nerves,
blood guts black crusty gore.
Our norm,
your cup, drink after drink, it's our blood
on which you gorged,
weeny worms, that glow, in the light.

To Alexandria, is known peaceful, uninjured limbs, sound bodies, strong minds, most common scents, that handful one since, lost in the dreams, of inks mighty sword.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Oafish

Into the open waters, effortlessly flies the casting net, so puffed.

Only walks the waters,
lonely shores, to salacity.

Waves reach rocks teeth'
sweep them clean, of fish..

Head down, gathers them
craves won, a salty taste.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dinner

i learned how to eat from the table like a human being.
i have no idea, where i will sleep
the snow has melted, she brings me in, where i start to thaw, the dishes are just like i left them.
taxes go up every year, soon she will have to buy me a new, bed.
while become even more or less.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Adeath, Won Bye Some

as i sleep they emerge, i wait for them,
patience is not there forte.
i see them warily talked out, this light bulb i peek from is so warm, it blushes me, in to hot watts, never question how many.
it just glares at stupid me, the first is easy, as she leans over the edge of today, i whack her good on the butt, she thanks me, to leave out the door for a freakish change of cloths..yesterday comes out again, she is worry and slim, she is the one with the wicked sneaky hand, it holds my gun.
the barrel is bent, and coltish blued, while she tries to strain it, i push her, back down into my bottle of grins.
where she drowns for all of her sins.
tomorrow is potent patience, sure of herself, quite pure,
no wicked ways or sin rushes into her parts at all,
while i wait, she waits on us all, still in sleep, counting the minutes left to us all..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Face On A Stage

The music is not, can can, is a duplicate of some lost fantasy, caught in lights. many assets, you float
outside fast poles- through it, to find it, it eyes fight, the heavy curtain of youth, lifted to reveal, some of
and the birth of it. shiny textures, glow healthy, hands help from no where, parts are hatched, little are they
to us, it's brown, it lings..you fan her, each reaches to lift anew, plump ankles to guide apart, new music
is gathered in your bowls, as white hubbies, in pink.
the Queens, gathers us, you, me them watching, up even without tickets, some others, few new found a wet hand in it, your show, your parts, exposed, some dance in powdered air, to run in her front, out the back.
three, four, take pictures to record, derrieres paused,
to expel pent up breath once caught and never seen.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why Leap A Head Of Yesterday

You knew this need would happen, to change
this day for tomorrows, today rewind.

I step out of your husk, it is chafed, scuffed in worms, silks unhealed browns, to many yesterdays
has it seen, never brushed.

The widows eye, it is flushed, it's last chance catches
my ankle, I fall upon her cheek, as unwanted irrigation.

Where once soft pink, now pastures faded brown,
to blacks last pull on flesh.

The track of many heart felt victories, rest upon in hollow, branched reburied, tributaries tearless.

As the window of the sun, is pulled shut, lashes gripp
releases me to tumble, once again into sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Emo, He Is

i cannot be you, i can only see through you, into you.
i see what you do, with her, with him, your self, on me.
i see you from the package, you never used, until now abused to cut, into me, when the splash, is you, in her.
i see through your mirror, you kissing you, how you do it, to me, to you, inside running from me.you can't see the blue gash on my head, i see you upside down on deaths head, the blood dropps rip up through the hair.
your slip once pink, now clings wet, from the sweat
of abuse that she slings upon the wall of his shame, yet
once again the wooden plank slides between us to gaze
onto the screen of loves, troubled graze.your blackness is her day, her cat is your friend, wear him in deaths, last kiss

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Aface Of It

The Englished language, has way
to many crooked letter humpbacks.
This is why, it sleeps on your feats,
so when they drift, it can wash them.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Atypical Control

it is control, it is not, it is, it isn't accent, of motive, you recline, in.
it is your crusty, plums you can dangle it, it then starves, is plums
taken back from it, your very own,
plum board, it is to lay, plums down.
construe it, it will still love it, it is you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Sea Is Full Of Nuts

People come to see the tree,
I look down, inside each nut,
I am, outside, looking in within.
The sea of people, are all legends of the nuts they eat, more as this, I, see, my, mind drip off this one tree, it is, to dropp them on,
they different to all, that eat of it.
So many, by the hand-fulls, chest,
is held, by the trust full one, it is to the shell of softness, some do question? why eat them at all?
why eat them all? ..
If you can't pull it out, break it's back,
to see it, inside you at all? ..watching
on a tree top..dropping nuts, on them all.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Chess

Easy to learn, difficult to start.
I can tell, usually in the first eight moves, if you will win, is to play it.
It is about the others mind, it is still.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Amark Aface Atear

i wont tell u my name,
u see me every day the same, crying.
mine this face, more than researched
some blotted, parchment of testament's,
color of pain.
each eruption leaves me scarred, u see
only my fear, of rejection is by you.
where u live, in ur mirror, of nights to come pleasure, kisses on ur lips, ur roses taped, is tasted two's, mine is futures past, always now.
each hill leaks, each day more, never less, u is even now in disgusts, looks away, i canna even touch my face, this monster face of shame.
i run in as to nag, screaming inside, this in my hand, magnifier, i clutch, as this pimple on my bridge, between my beautiful eyes, gets bigger.
He will see it, under this blush, what if he kisses...it

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mothers Closet

Her room so lush,
her manoeuvre is, in hips to sing.
Inside the door hangs me,
color, hues, silk, fades
rightsized out I hang, to use.
The one of so many,
never used, she picks me, out.
Always, to lavish gifts that, crown
her achievements, that give.
I hold her up so proudly, jutting jets.
I hug her, lushly, I breath daily,
memories river, of milk..to gaurd..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Inside You

i swim for my life, every thing Rich's,
big parties..
deep swimming pool, night times,
blue royals, wazoo.
i laughs..i fumbles another, .wiggling finger,
is numb blind.
i lay upward, so still, pictures
they the, many are faces, is this heaven.
her tears took zest, once salty,
party hat flavors, ruins is a once face shiny.
this cold metal box, is to keeps frozen once lushness, brittle little pubes, once loved me.
where is my party hat, where is me, outside..
can you not see me? ..look..here i am, over here.
it haves been drinking, you are blind again to it.
the saw of many teeth, is wiser than him,
he would at least ask me, before he ate into me.
i left throughout, the me, on my chest the big...deep why.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is, He Me....

is he me, like she for free, the we to be in me?
i dunno..? ..im confused, so much heat so blind i leak,
he See's...
a person that soars, ice in my breath, crystal shores.
bright eyes, misty veils, floats on linen cotton hazy, so clean, i know he See's.
a boyfriend, Misters need, only to bleed me out again,
i watch him watching me, her greed to feel me, in him.
wicked, wicked i shivers, i tremble, stutters, is to grasp, it.
it is me, its always free, to walk softly inside, it weeps, to
for me, it knows, me...it is always at my feet, looking up.
i wonder, what does it see, in me? ..is it me, or the butter?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Is

Like a bird to see her sitting, roses are
of passions dream, in sight her flight.
Butterfly's know her grace, touches many
all, weeping softly, others without, it is sadly.
Ants march to her smell, hidden never off
to carry bubbles, her journeys path, is clear.
Essenes of berries in her, moistness air laden dears follow, youth will, never currents to cross.
raises wind, cover embodies still, covered up
she, glories light golden, honey is her, in poise.
Yet she knows, she fav'es him, his heart just bursts...
It loves you just the way you are, it is such in love,
it is so full of you it's crushed..to burst your sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Aroom Full

shutting the door, thanking the dude this fix.
i shake, the robe falls aside, exposing tight
shriveled breasts once full of life.
there are no veins left, tried every where, arms,
legs, neck, even my eye lids.
the spoon looses half the water, the bi lighter
fires the coal my clay.
thinking about it loosen my very bowels.
the diabetic syringe, plungers back bring into
the warm tube of night.
i pull the pinks apart, to flip a lip out, exposed to the grey dirty light.
the cavalries tighten, flushed life, passed before me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Party Line

i hear them talking, two girls, telling, to talk
one on top, inside the other.
redundancies, as girls do, uncommon famous
for, untill one forbids proloquium, she blurts out.
He would come into my room, and make me feel like,
like i feel, like again he would do every other night, i like crying.
my being of cotton, soft so fabric, so fresh, once pure, so nooo.
she is caught up in the past, her future is paused in her now, still her other, the girl friend understands, as she is wise, she sits so alone, on the porch in a swing, her once was the rose
on the edge, of her seat.
the phone dangles from the fudge on top of her stomach, within one seal thrice, familial.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Slough It Off

It must be removed, from those, around me.
They are so perfect, I cannot be any thing more than a burden.
From which end to start, peel, pull, cut, panics
a musk, It breaths.
I try to talk, the evil is so raw, thin, sliced heart.
So bad, when sleep does come, those parts
for others, must all be rejected.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Apatch Apart Aplay Aday

when i got, it, i fought it,
i gave in to it, to her, any way.
she looks funny wearing it, i try to see it's humor, it is blind to, it feels,
the heat when you look at it, how, is it?
i do not see what holds it on, determinations
grippes is chastity.
yet she holds it on, it is an every day battle,
a struggle, for
dear is life, if ever she, lets go of it,
she will have won, and it will have lost.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sometimes, Is Funnies

yes, once, just some times, backward in a thought
when light streams out,
hilarious so is much stolidness.
whimsical, lips curl up and inward,
revealing, a sharpness.
so crowns of queens fall out,
is prince rushed in, squeezed.
eruptions, of mercury, the dentist,
cannot remember to drill one.
the chair of anointment, left giddy,
to roam, in her plastic mask
looking into mine a reselection,
incurred, rushed so, much hurried.
blushed in timidness-es, funnies patch of glass.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My, Her Our Rooms

i look inside my eye, this picture takes, confused.
a poster few, ripped like you, so tattered.
the cocoon a bed, centered piece, warm diary.
pinks, scatter underfoot, frilly, soul of many unions.
my mirror is broken, i must leave, when i come back
inside, is another different picture, still unbroken.
the log, long narrow, you rest upon, knots, unbuckled.
upon this skinny me, my arms hang over, to bleed on,
the dripps on some plastic, of a many holed, soul to leak.
my every thing, once a rose, to gush, pulls in between, my pink thorns, pulled between, catch me in sleep, many prices, pics.
you look in again, now, more confused, than when you left.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Girl, Your Not A Boy

I only hate him, hand in his,
when we stand in the mirror
naked, invisible, macho.
In his lame, boys, fuzzy, peachy.
She looks at you, he pokes on me.
Into my bony ribs, your my nothings
but a big round pink, buff to do there.
Saintly so fearlessly, he stutters to me,
tear of fury, trickles as she scolds him.
He stands there in all his blushes.
Woods look curly, leafy like to David's
new born helmet, pales, as it is it cries.
The turtle hides, your handsome, I am thinking away, from his eyes, again.
Yes the best mine gave him away, again...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Can'T, See Me...

i lay in my bed, eating popcorn with soda,
it is next to the mirror to your room.

i see you, in your bra and white slippy, your radio, keeps my thoughts from your head,
or you would stop.

as i try and call out your name.it will not for some reason pass forth from my lips

i see the old scars and the new pink ones,
the razor in your hand draws me up, what is heady becomes Vienna's small pup, you are dazed.

the first cut is effortless, even the butcher is graceless next to you.

the second cut is deep, i see pink, red, neat
my pop corn becomes as bid as, my eyes
the blood starts in a small trickle, your eyes grow glazed, your lap, in white slip becomes a lake of red crimson, my clover fades.

you come out of it as quietly as you went into it.
you hurriedly change, bath and then exiet the room,
i then hear a knock at my door.

James McLain

Around That House

as children, we heard about the house,
we walked by every day, many of the kids we went to the first and second grade with we never saw again.
we did not think it strange, that the families
were still there, we were just kids.
in the ninth grade we went in Becky, Donna and me,
it was dark it was expected it was the strange smell that made the hairs start to rise.
running out i looked down into the corner, i thought i saw your face.i had not seen you since the second grade, except for the missing pants and shirt, you looked the same to me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

No One, But Two... Know

It is fine really,
ride the light of the sun.
It only shines once a day,
peaks of light from other eyes,
look Ellesmere, unto themselves.
Those in noise, are only the feats
of the others,
who came before us, see even
they like bees, must rest for a spell.

On your face, pin pricks, are little feet
once again in dance, calling Queen..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Glazed Within

Lest you do,
while yes, you lay in sleep.
You turn, as if on a long bar,
lost, in it's steel.
Even space around you,
shudders you, from without.
Your peaks glow fiery hot,
if you were...lips, if only.

Moister in the room dropps
from ceilings, white eye.
It has puddled,
in and around you, yes
gasping out.

To cook as a succulency
is to find lobsters pink flash.
Turning butter dripps it's baste,
hotspots do shrink, shaking.

Giant is the napkins pink mouth, raining to fall, ... into.

James McLain

Aheavy Hammer

Always, without single exceptin
ruins, all the very best, ...NAILS.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pass To Well

Such women, water to life
blanch petrified, when one tries, to help them with thier water.

Well of difference, histories taste
of tests, old from new, testaments
are two in one.The faces told all.

The hand, pours out the mouth, into one single bucket, lights onto billions.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Always Of The Same Mind

Females, Girls, women, 's algebraic
Men, some impossible way, is beer
foam denuded, then they pour all the richer bodies
down the drain, it Grant's d'Estaing.
How do they get the originals of all the grains of sand
from that same one pink pearl, back...yet they do..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Her, Knowledge Guides Me, Best

I watch, listen, her hand
would be my teacher,
her mind, would straighten,
my crooked, lame leg, no
more it has to beg, in corner.
Teacher, dunce hat hurts, head!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Dont Know About You

I had one good finger,
left last night luv, the knot,
it canna help to notice,
You have eleven, now.
Whut do i do, now, again
i canna tie me shoes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pink View

I stand at watch, this dream caught.
Issued in, hers, it wiggles, in a gasp, free.
Disguised the hand, mediums, one portal.
The finger, under lip, pinker, sleeps deeper.

Outside it, below, this dream, flows, reflected from one quick rush, windows paine projector.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rubbed Right, It Sings Pink

Shadows ignored,
we splash, and swim
it is so awful hot,
she is even hotter,
once a month.
The pink bullets,
toothy fast, move astride
fast of in remembrance,
as she thought it me, a burning pain, again inside.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Appeasing Curiously

To think, thinking busy is thinking, not to think at t'all.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Can Tell

By a back hand, flip, glib, lip.

So i know, you know, i know, but really do you really know, how to work on a chain gang, unprovoked.
Fake people screaming, bleeding, just inging, yes i know.
Remember i said, remember today, bored unsatisfied,
watching as life passed you by, offered choices to meet some special need, other than one, offers from moon
once buffed, so clean.

Poor dry cracked faces, make up gone wet, you lay in your room,

puffing on others, from a vantage point, high you saw on some wicked show about males and how to clean them
and serve them so rare.

Wicked was the day the doctor called out lost names...Once bound never tied, to dreams surreal..

I get on my hands and knees, to speak through the hole,
where we live, where we meet every day for lunch.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Yes, It Is

Number one rule, mum runs that show,
number two rule,
mum runs all the shows..

Why are

males so stupid, you knew that before you even let it in.

Friends are cool to, why do people not let you know that?

Black mail, is black mail, there is no flattery
there,

threatened tears run back into the duck, to shed the oil some place else.

Today is a day most will not forget, can we remember that..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

So Much Kindness

When i am bad you still love me, why?
I was only bad to push you away, from my pain.
It is selfish i know, to protect me from you.
You are very smart, smarter than me, dont you see?
My flush is the sea, you make from me, my life is at,
your feet to bath on me, i am here only to wait on thee, i since this, much you do know. But yet other times,
i feel that you feel i am a big stick of butter full of calories,
and that you are on a diet of bread and water.
Yet i know you being you, you will protect me from trouble
and dreams that are not in the interest, of you. So you watch me, you talk to me, you know how to save, all of that which you need. To make me a better person, and simply, not that other one of greed.
This blush that i wear, is caused from your stare, of all that is always you know that i need. How could you not know, it is you?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

More Therapy

it is what the world needs,
how does it ask, the walls.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Need Full Salts

I lay on the edge, of the ocean, i sleep as it washes, me in waves.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

At Nite, When The Frenchies Come

at nite, when the Frenchies come
They, the two, wicked ones,
sit across from inside, one another
in smiles, After all,
is to plot...
you would do it to if you could,
pink they are, Yes you would.
The plot is thick in pinks,
you can hear, literal, liberal portraiture
when, all four, square, such bunched corners, do watch
it plop down..they blush it terrible,
they will plot more.
The plot, they signed is pinks,
ink still runs wet.....shockedly..
It, i s blind to the two,
it still can think miserably,
the two, Frenchies,
kill the day with thief nights,
as only the French, they do.
Benjamen's Franklin,
knows this to be true,
French pink is face..
Unlaced, such grace,
when the French marble eyes, look into you.

James McLain

A'Message

Minimisation, poetry, without eyes,
of they, to taste, they to, do all cry tried unheard.
I, have no time for you, Ur button of pain, is professors,
proffer it's in glorious Id.
To think you do, is not to stretch your message, i found in a bottle, addressed to
you.
I will, will it, whispers, glorious loud colors to trickle into the soft hairs,
it is waxed inside you, your ear..tremble in you to think...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Thread Shed To Many

Extends through my body, contained within, blown without,
controlled by a vibrant hued, pink livid hand.

To dangle, on this her spigot, brings her joy, on this for her, for her only, do i, must i, will i swing..while she sings....

of other things, it is forgotten.

On this, hers, this thin thread, she holds it..a look unproved, is only but by the fire, in the hole that Venus, Mons does spew.

Telescopic, is to raze, the heavens as her thin veil, never cries.

This fire makes the oil, you bottle, to spray within us, is allowed.

Birds around the world, wonder as forever, spins thus..in dance.

While my thread of pinkness, in which it is trapped is passed from one pink hand, to another, freshly spun...from her, pink spigot.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Define, Recollect

Please, these interrogations must stop,
they make me ill.

Why must you always ask that?

I cannot recall, where they came from.

You said, they are all pink?

All of them? Isn't that a bit odd, do you not think?

Really all of them? ..I just do not know.

After I leave work and go to the pub, all I remember
are these conversations with you, each morning.

I just dont recollect, recalling those movements, in you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Few Ladies

Spiritually with me, subjectively
wicked cruel, mean can they be.
Such is goody two shoes, would chow me off to friends, it blushes.
They know it is shy, much tremble
you lay me in sleep, flush in hand.
I do not know, from whence came
the crown, burgle it not in, to shame.
a Queen knows, her feet are in trust.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Into Adark Turn

Shoulder, the heady curves, turns in us,
blind crawl, on blind to get at the lights.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ph Poem Tricks Backed Out

When you are done, servicing your poem..

You, i am sure hit the little, colorless button, how drab,
should be pink..

The connection takes forever and a day, am i right..first time for every thing, i love dragging you out..lol..

You need it, it needs you, it is blue two..

Don't do another thing, neurotic ones i said stop..

Always paste to copy..the title is saved automatically as you know...

Hit your back button, lol...not that ones...unreal..some times it will say log in again, every other one of mine, i have to do this, with..you to...lol..

First try, to go back, some times that works..or you can lo gin

again, it will say.no poet found, do not panic, hit the back button untill you come back to your poem page, where it is that it was, when you wrote your poem.

More times than not, your poem is there, where it left you.

I am use to abuse, i will take the blame, thank you very much.

When you come back, as i previously said, and its not there just do ur pasty, and copy then It will work for you, if you have not shut down your computer, altogether.

If you do shut it down for git it...just go to the loop again..

This message will self distruct when it rolls off the page..

better fav 'es it..sorry it is.....when it smiles in you..

James McLain

I'M Just Like You When Blue

Without thinking, I can also turn and lash out with my teeth sharp exposed, do you now, not get this picture in full...right....now..i am just like you,
so low from hard up scenes, I wish..I were miles apart, gone from my head, when i lay on those sheets, do you think there of white satin, on which I like, you do so crave, I'm just like you, there filled so far high, to the ceiling
down to the floor of nothing but raw abrasive denim, those rosy tears that run down from the moon, are the blues, I have like you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

In You, It Is So Very Heavy...

I look up, into your leaves, like rain washing down to the sea.

I do not mind, the hard times, i hold still, as dirt and sticks, dust my face.

The loggers came in, while i was gone, i did not know
i glance around on the ground, with nothing to show.

Our clear spot that we made is still here, shirtless i stray from the path, we walked to shed our fears and doubts, with all that we said: i still wander this way, every now and again, despit the weather i find, it washes my face.

Today, i brought a new friend, i know you will not mind, her name, is Terra, she is just a small tree, one day she will grow up and be all that you are..

Holding armfuls of children in swings, as they sing about bees.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Water Colors

Again i dream, i am an ear
i swim, into a nest, so softly.
You pinch the sky, cover me
blankets, as color, trans flex's.
Middle, of this stream, trouts
color digitise, to is pink foam.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One, Brick Shy

I trip over pebbles, dusk is ash es,
Your wall is my watch, soft purples.
My eye is not blue, pink is not grey.
The wall to worn, block is steppes,
bare back, horses waite, outside inns.
Windy capes, sleep on rock, pieces
of dusk, sleep in dawn, feathers rise.
Rain weeps, sun wins to sleep, star
a beckon, your wrist, grippes the talon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You, Cut You?

Because you are numb, i will play in my mind this single time, dreams for you.

As I lay on the bed, dead on the inside'
from the pain of being ignored, obsessed, abused, incest at best, belittled, stripped of pride, self respect.tears that never dry, asking why they put you here to see the pain, never asking much, returns..i see my juices, flowing free to clot, upon the floor, of no return, from hell.

Now that I am are grown, abjured...from all the rest.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Small

Be strong, and kind, in warmth, with
this tree my life, i lay in this, hot blot
of ink my head, that seems to cold,
i moan, tremble, lost in rains, that pour
in like a river from a brow, of satin, pain.

I am carried over, i see other things, than it's dreams.
Is it in me? ..It is in it...it is not what you think it is, is it?
I will labor diligently, as always i have, in our pasts, lives.
When i see you next, you will be confused, as i once was.
it is was, riding loose beautiful feet through the gates, of grace.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Small, Hot, Fevered

Be strong, and kind, in warmth, with
this tree my life, i lay in this, hot blot
of ink my head, that seems to cold,
i moan, tremble, lost in rains, that pour
in like a river from a brow, of satin, pain.

I am carried over, i see other things, than it's dreams.
Is it in me? ..It is in it...it is not what you think it is, is it?
I will labor diligently, as always i have, in our pasts, lives.
When i see you next, you will be confused, as i once was.
it is was, riding loose beautiful feet through the gates, of grace.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Must Sit And While And Dream

It is, no matter, that the rain, softly it falls, into some ground from me.

Weary it is, that i am, i am to weary to be yet i am with you, in this, your rain.

It is quite, it is soft, not as soft, as the pink
that i love, and adore, when i fall as a feather,
into you sound asleep and wile a'dream.

That tree, the limbs bow, through the grace of years.
Her moss when damp, keeps the musky tears, deep inside, the hollow of her heart, to hold dear, i am lost in.
She looks, it is a heartfelt glance, i steal the look with my eyes, as i kneel, at the throne of her feet, once more to die as she cries, and i wander lost and while i dream.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

How To Where, I Go

I feel heat, is it, the light?
Search, a face in long halls.
Passages, many are dark.
Others here, i cannot see.
I feel the sun, through roof.
Light allusive, once infused.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dali's Lama

Why would they rush, as a bird, flushed to you?
Some think silly, when they sing, we presume..yes we smile.
You, as i, realize the convenience, of this new technology two's.. as we serch for the minds in one...then as we find it the serch begins again..yes you laugh, we, the hamsters are one in fun on the wheels, of time, so young.
You watch me as you have so long, watching you...your eyes are many, they come uncalled to view.
Yea, even
the dead weight of a simple atom of lead, causes dread, in you..as it should, it leaves us grey, ash en..this view that we knew for so long...how does this world evolve on a pin.....?
Hidden from view in us all?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

This Play, You Would Direct It?

You toss me a mind, used, unused, cleaned by angels@tear.com
my plank on your stage pops up, i step aside, you follow
it is to, gets excited, but you get more excited, why?
I am innocent truly, yes, i am starting to think you already know this to, because it is, such a small 'id' to aim at this, it's director, changes my part so often, you just stare, in wonder to think, those words dont match, it's lips, yours, the body does.
I go to sleep, not long, i come back, my little humble pile of pink litter, is being seen to be picked through, by the many, for a cause, inked by me. Your smiles, make me blush, still...
You just keep saying, as you drag me poor wits, through out one parts per dozen, speed up this action, while smoke starts a seepage, thin or thick, are the days...Shakespeare's wandered too..
Stop warring about all the parts, we will fix the stage, the lights will show your full chest, even without..a Google or two..
Terr as grasp, is a firearm, with that pink marble burst on the staged grounds, be sure..next please..up here...roll her..in Filip's, on this recipe, sloughed off in bread crumbs so dear..It's only to show, you a view..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poo Shows

) it(is a bunch of noise
that continues) it(s run on the directors feet) it(s grippe checked in stored
on liefs color, full stage.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When You Left Me

It has only been three weeks, since that night.
Those pills they gave to sleep, worry me aloft.
Being only two, she has after the first few days,
learned a strange curtsy, i tremble to feed her.
The school keeps calling, he wont stop crying.
One insurance company, will not stop calling, her.
I stumble, through a nother tomorrow, so still grey.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am Again, Insane

You are my intire world,
my void is filled, by you.
Make me crazy, insane.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pink Roses

I wash my hands, in your ink, fast between a valley, it clings to me, lives in me, my pen.
and Waves, that run, i float on, the rose and hand,
and the sun on my face, this rose a tender bud.
I cannot share my forest, only you may know your face, and rose petals find new lips, alive in silk.
Pink full lips glow red and they flood my scents
with folded secrets, and this nose, this tounge burn.
Orchestras, arrangements, notes that seize a score of music cleft with bars, and pink, red and sun shine.
Pink is always, never one to leave you on your own, to find your way that is your home, out side, and Rush.
Pink words are royal words to some, it is rare, to know
another forum and compromise, this norm, why is to tired.
I am the male, i will wear her pink, it is my crown.
Roses are never found confined, when i can make her proud.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Deny Me

Yes, i am afraid of what others may think, so i run away and hide behind, there mask of bitter pain.
I was told, to feel alive is to be dead, never to glow in life is to never, flow in rivers of milk, yet i do, must try.
Some pref ere pain, whisky drugs, yet you know of me and mine.
You do not know me, yet you do, so i blush still to sow, a few grains to walk
inside.
You tremble me so bad, i shake, i walk by the vine, your grape, is to call me, so i run with you in smiles.
Your day is my night, my night is still bright, i do not run from the sun
yet i cry for the one, when i am not inside, you smile and lay with me a while, i blush and thank you for the smile, returned to me, unfolds
the rose inside of you.
I stutter around you, you make me blush, i tremble you, sigh and try again, just for the smile in one a kind, can bring just for a while.

i check the wine you grow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is, Terrible

The river is mighty, swollen, it is brushing the banks, overflowing.

Still thousands of she males are swept up, painlessly, effortlessly, is to deposit in the gates of heaven.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lush Is, Her Garden

It is lush, tropical, fruitful, it is never too hot it never snows, it is always ripe, it is waiting, to relax in between the petals, a rose so pink weeps, the small streams trickle by on either side, it pushes a button and honey flows, on the other sides, the forest is thick, soft, hers.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Therapeutic Kind

as i wander, i stop just for a moment, and gaze
into the faces around me.

i ask a name, i ask if your happy, i ask why your sad, you just ignore me, i am sad.

i then notice, you dont even know that I'm here, is it on purpose, i say some thing flip, your milk jug
is exposed, you go on talking to your friends.

i dont think that I'm dead, or a goats, i poke you good, real good, you still dont notice I'm here.

i can only look at this one way, positively, if you wont notice me, if you chose to ignore me, it will only make it flirt, ten times harder.

if you do want to play, just remember your parts, or i will have to take them in hand.

i love it, when you know your parts, like the back of your hand, as they swell, you blush, i do to.

i have a hard time in therapy, you do to, dont you?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A, Fire

I walk, amongst the tender shoot, it once was.
The ashes stifle breath, grey lost in eye, now brown so dark this sky.

The stream was in bathing, floating clutter, dreams
of yours to cry.
My Feat is roses, shrivel, burnt are vineless, pink as once was pale blood.

Riderless, horse of dust, would if could to finish thus, tramples under foot, burnt ropes that chafe the soul, in acidic soil, once more.

Is it, sits and crys, barren, to wade forever, through once potted tender hands, to know no more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Advance, Slowly, Cautiously

They wait in ambush for you, so back slowly towards me, and run.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Gurl'Z In Da Hood,

We tremble them, they make us stutter,
obscene things,
it make the butter that boyz breath, seem clean in them..

We grind um, they grind more..we follow, we try..they are always in our side, asking more, demanding the big dance of grind.. the payday, likud to DAR tric, hoodless we to them succumb.

They are the power, colorless, mind numbing taste, pink buds forever, in the hood, swish is to lite or dark, without no prejudice, she rules with a choice, stream lined.

Roll in then and turn out the lites, the crack of ur voice blows
the hood away, in the heat of your moment, i dance to the beat wild such are free.

Dumped, like a sack of eyeless potatoe heads, on the hood of your ride, tucks me in all the time sung to sleep in the smell of her hood..
I ride that crab as well, plucked from da swells off her seas.
I am a white boyz, smoked mullet head i know...in ur winks....

James McLain

Color Of The Tooth Less Mouth

In my dreams, these teeth
haunt me, is followed around, scaring me, dripping pit,
toothless, i fall down in them.

Yellow, white, brown, black, colors, hues of death, these teeth cause me trauma.

I cry, wont they leave me alone.
Why must you haunt my last show in this tedious grin of death that wont go away.

They are stained with the flashy death of us all..Ten dollars..us..
pleased to call you a friend..
The tooth fairy missed the mark..Make them go away from us all..
That breath, but breath left our conjunctions..in the falls of last winter in all.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Smiles, Is A Living Picture Show

You are bad, dab wicked of course, yes
you are, David's copper, your field lost in to wisdom of hands he just, cannot follow, while watching your eyes, that wont tell.

Yes, I know that it is, confusing, but you do drip to the music, you find in your mind, watching her sway
all the time, trapped inside of a box, that is I, sawed in half.

Wicked is your thought, yet you lie to the field, on your back to the sky and it is bad, this dab, you.....
wipe on me, with smiles.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Negative

Since we are not talking about blood, let us stop the wast of silver in these, your last still, when you sat for me, to have that picture taken.

Was it not? Just about the money..in the end<

Y&U, ponder the voices, those in your head, some of course would not have your best interest at heart
agents do come and go, so while...you are... flowing through rocks with lose jagged ends, like the hair, which moved by some choice, since lost to me.

You pick the mode that moves my feet, I do not always float either, still that picture is wicked dab, like I once said, when you become famous, what do I do with all those lost photographs, not all of which are stuck in my head, un exposed.

The camera is still on.I know in your very own words, the show must go on untill we are dead, for the cause.

James McLain

Meshi

She is lush, green, full ripe, in all whites, glory.

My feet are coveted, in waters, long to is wait.

Turns blush, to season
sun play, in white short.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Is Red, Instead Of Pink

I grew even pinker, with each passing verb, she tossed and slung at me.

They were bar bless, this crown
of thorns, upon her head she tried to wear so well.

I bled, but I could not show the harm,
flirting is so dangerous, exciting
In all honesty, never boring.

So pretty Misses, if the vines start to bulge, and you turn red instead of pink, stop and please try and reconsider,
all the mail, returned to sender as a tease, from all the males.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Man In Space

When God made man he put him in his place.
Man was not satisfied so he went into space.
Man landed on the moon.
Went over to Mars.
Got out one day and started counting the stars.
Man found one a little off track,
he called out to God to come out and put it right back.
God, came out and said. 'I & Am & Himself' will make a deal with you.
I'll give you my job, This is what I will do,
if, you can wear my & shoes'.
God then stepped out and I stepped in.
I did not know where to begin.
God I can tell you is a mighty man.
God shook the whole heavens, with a wave of his hand.
Lightning flashed, then thunder rolled.
I, simply just stood there scared cold.
I said 'GOD, if you will just send me back home,
I will leave your heavenly bodies alone.
God said, I will tell you what I'll do,
I'll send you back home, if you will wear your own shoes.
When I got back I had no time to loose.
I went out and bought a new pair of shoes.
Then I got down and began to prey.
I had to get ready for the judgement day.
When that day comes and I walk through heavens front door,
God will say, 'I've seen you before.'
Yes now please tell me what I should do.
God will say, just dont try and wear my shoes.
No Sir, Your shoes I'll never try to wear,
for I can tell you I would get no where.
So dont try to wear the good lord's shoes.
You have a soul your bound to loose.

My Grandmother,

Uloia Moore Bradford

wrote this poem

Birth: Jul.22,1914

Death: Apr.23,2001

Burial:

Memory Gardens Cemetery

Tallahassee

Leon County

Florida, USA

James McLain

Twin Cheeks, One Rose

Two cup them, in your hands
is to kiss the very petals, of life.
No scent, can compete, is rose.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Alone, A Single Blush On You

The mirror I look into, shows you nothing, not even sin.
No face is transparent, It sees right through you.
Ink blots, picture filled, formless never spilled, the stain flows upward, downward, pain is a voice of paint.
Lead is bright, consumed in void, it's leaf has killed you.
You lay as a marker, vivid soiled in beauty's, evaporation.
I wander in search of nothing, I was never alone, on a brush.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is, Glass To Me, In The Pain, It Flecks It's Payne

I stand, alone in the wind, berift, tired
and cold.

The window glazed from ice, grand image, even grander.

My pockets long to warm my hands.

I stand looking at my dream, of that woman i want when i leave here.

She is always perfect, well dressed
i think she is a good mother, never do i see a scowl, frown, she is always here.

A warm mug of milk and i will be found
come morning under her skirt, asleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Mr President

Mr President,

Use the system well, use it to further the aims of your daughters, thinking
they are poor and fatherless...

Use the system as a lawyer would, it is now a system of and for lawyers, the rest copulate with one they won't tell...

Use the system to not allow a mob mentality to rule our future for years to come knowing in the end it will only have to be undone, when there grand children
then become are born enlightened.

I would beg you a pardon,

If they the corrupt cannot come around from thier greed, call the IRS on them, make them bow to how it was, when once you were as you now are but they never were,
humble to beg at the feet, of a shoeless one.

James McLain

I Am, Only One, Like You

You want me, /to be\ one way,
a processional in a circle of friends
to admire, singing songs,
about life in the fast lane, in it's energy
that you lead to fire, to wash, and breath in life.
This is but the animal in heat, that you see.
All must be gold, all that is trust,
daddy his dust, moons beams
that glitter, it boils the blood.
Turning it colorless, of gloss shades of you, I'm forced to dream in your pinks.
This is to me,
you reach down and pet and stroke,
I rush in to blush.
/Or not to be\ it is the other,
the first word in a cover of words,
that may follow.
This heat is just as hot,
without even the sun, they blaze ranges in hue
that it loves to make you scream.
Your rash agelessness becomes You.
>It <just makes it worse.
It is rude, it is mad, yet not lazy,
it is easier washing hands knowing I
chase another, when that other is you,
>You get madder than hats, made of red
It' less, is not, cannot be,
other than two, one in the other it is, it lives
to make you red or pink,
it is one way or the other,
or is it pink?
It loves red to, softer it stays in pink...

James McLain

My Heart

Walks on deaf feet, to hear the loud echo
of vast hallways,
that once was, just, Rome.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

We, Will! Meet...Again..

As ant's,
We push so hard, from the front,
we just have to meet, at the rear.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Letter To Anon

What is the length of a word in breadth
inside, kept short.

The young two, forever and a day, they would die...to soon.

The old one alone in you, without breath
a word to long would bring the grave, into the house inside o lay, upon your tomb....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Is Afraid, He Is Tired..

She is he,
and he is She.
The two,
now lost, loves heart.
And bright,
the yellow sun.

You once we're two,
as one,
and ran around the world.
Inside both heads.

He fell inside loves fire.
And she,
his red heart pumping burned

Both fires,
burned ice cold hot.
Within Her,
light did give us form.

Over shadows love,
swept out black coals.

Your smile, twin lips.
He kissed, both miss.

His face, from that.
Bright coals, still hiss.

Now alone again,
he walks into.

Loves,
loving great full moon.

James McLain

It Is, Only For You, To Decide

I tremble at your feet, with your toes..
This foot of grace, to my right, in the sand..
Little tributaries, attest to your loyalty, i would bath them in salted tears.
Callus are they, whom ignore, the pleas that you, moan, in quite fixing a meal, i would feed
you more of the same, that sustains you.
I am the shoe, that comforts you, i am ignored
only by your love, of others that you soul.
I am the red that you leave, in my wake, to the sea,
every day, to grow just, a little more, in my heart.
that could please you.
I would release you, from this burden, rest your foot upon me.....yet you must decide, i cannot, do it for you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Would Erase You

The dream
in the woods' would come back even worse.
One is to mean to me.
Still, and again, I forgive you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Push

You pull the hope, is it to much? Faith cannot bear such strain.

I would rather push up daisies, than be drown't in a puddle of dreams.

I fumble foot balls, the referee gives them back.
Fouls fly north in my winter, tears flow forward into your eye, much deserved. It seems.

I have breached no damns, yet the beaver knows, It flows.

I wonder through the wilderness, with out a reference to a hat, while duck without a bill rests on the tail of the beaver, inking a quill.

The queen will hear about that, it is to late to flee, these, the acts, you did presume in park, now you must play, the pipers part.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Grass Is More Soft

Sun peeks, clouds pushed
by, is morning.
Grass soft sweet, dew,
it washes my feet, in.
I walk, so in quite, breath
mine,
birds passed, still sleep on.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Day Morns, Cricket

It rubs wings
silences day
legs do hear nights voice.
Nights
do hear legs
ask,
legs on wings
sing song
dawn of ash
slowly
drift together.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Disappeared Into That

I was told that the therapeutic,
effects of the shock
were most
excessively, the others,
were not so fortunate.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Can Withdraw

The weather was a gift
did you sleep through it.
Withdrawn, is sun day to.
To shelter a small flower.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Straw I Drew

O f the billions
i can draw you.
Paint, blushes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Mask, Is To Eye

You travel back words, into the mask
both sides, are free swimming. In black.

I take a picture with my eye, universe is the mask that you wear, clicked in space.

The dots are millions, the mask is plain so.

Flecks emulate enters, to burn unnamed.
Soul of that which is held, travels on plain.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Before You Jump

Remember, to fall, horizontally..
Verticals are just not in fashion.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Aardvark

I fell much too hard,
to fast, with no warning.
A gust of wind, sails my
one leaf from the woods.
Over the pebbles, protection
is a place to be looking from.
There are millions of us,
every where, I see the..
Aardvark, the few of us left.. tremble in the quake of her wake..
It is that I am..one of the fortunate.
I cling to a rose..in the breeze..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am, Your Stain...

You peeled my mind, front to back then sat in it...I did not resist you, are.
What you are, I fell into, the wind cut me, in two, I die?
Your head, when you lay it on me, my stain in you, I try to reach just because.It is all I have, be kind I ask of you, just please try.
Sheets of white Linnea, washed in your sea, waves foam
as you try, i hide, deep inside, what is you...my stain...erased..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Where I Try, To Grow...

I eat the dirt, it taste like dirt
it is not the dirt, i profess it is.
It is not the sun, it is a smile
it helps me realize, it is not.
I smile my broken smile, one more crack, my face falls off.
The sink, is full, my mask, falls washed in my tears, i smile.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Cave For Mothers, Lover

Parting silk rushes the cliff side honeyed with combs, host honors
undis turbed.
Walls smoothed, in appreciation.
Tools absent, pools, small holes do lay scattered. Heat from the hill is a hand on the belly, her womb, as fire.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Key

Has not been used
do I try it out, on you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Beacon

Eternity, has waited, patiently listens re verbs, thump.

Blind, without form, coalescing, a vibration becomes out.
Trillions, of invisable notes line every bar, I emerge into.
I cross the cleft, planets shimmer, closer to obelisk.I swell.
Murky, steam warm moist, I feel with my tongue, armless still just this form, it circles, around pink button reaching.
My skull is rocked, shaken this flesh alive throbbing, on, off,
singularly firm is planted, back to front, skyward.
Three simultaneous eruptions, Blanche the sky, thick with pink.
Comets whip it to thin, far flung, ripples, the void is once again born.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am, Innocence, Lost In A Mule, Named, Sarah

If you stand there slack jawed, what's in a fuse, a box to top?
Does your water whistle, when tea you do make, is it swerve?
Forward in volley the back hand is folly to swank, is the music
you play every day in the ruse.

I confess these words, to use in amusement, in joy for the moment, a thrill and a chill, harmless to dare if you do.....Say it, you will!

Are you proved? ..In the middle and pink?

I am wicked bad, no dad, I'm a male to do is to try, and land on the moon of your face is grace to us all, let us fall into silk and leaves in a pile it is swank be word in a coded world to undress..us all.

I confess, I will come hard, I will come fast, I will last, I will be breath to your sweaty nights that you dream in vain.

I am, wicked bad, a males, confession of sin, for you to deny.....

I only want a flirt to warm my heart, my sin is you.....I stay in your...
badness...forever blind...with you to mask...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

First Act, A Reparation...

Reparation, the great sin, divides in all.
We named her daughter, Remembrance.

Dedicated: to the Gold lady
Who never forgets, I'm lame.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Queen Anon, Her Ant, Hides My Shadow..

It is a bright world
a strings of paths,
I ride my ant, for safety.

Queen mother, who nurses me still.
Hidden in your bulk, is our future, in translucent purest is pink.
It transcends, the black and white of most worlds.
The grey world frightens me, my shadow changes, her mind.
Fe minis, she waves me on, her servant I am.I nestle safe,
in the shape of her fight.
Her guardian, is larger than I, wearing my ants cast off love, in shadow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lips

Her lips move, yet i have trouble still.
She puts them up to my ear, my ear
sighs, to see more,
of the word, that she hears, me breath.
Even in sleep, her lips try to break, spells.
They are so unbelievable, they Quiver me,
shiver me, I reach out with a feather, to see if they are really there.I put one small little pearl there, to see if she will wake, she,
sighs and rolls over my will, to stay strong in the end, she says, that I am not that kind of guy.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Can, Never.. Stop!

Shuddering, I quiver,
shake, rush, is to die.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Hide, Behind Your Tongue

Ears miss the song
plots gone all wrong.
Sadly, I chuckle you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Innocent Flower, Is Love To A Snail...

Salt was a trap laid so still at night, around her blush so pink, frail bloom hid the eyes of heaven, softy dripping is necktie in dew form.

A branch of eternity, blows her wind, I tumble in to the scents
of her yesterdays, washed clean, by her breath.

The bamboo sighs, in regret, sprouting one more long leaf.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Will Climb Down, To You..And Wait..

Working, front's, word, is lines.
One step, backs up the other.
In your palm are all my, softer) I(s.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Snail

You talk, it glides

You walk, it rides.

You speak, as if you know it. <Will never die.

You were my very first, a snail, formed from the first.

You are the egg, I tarry.

You are lost among, my many.

You look like all the others, when you come in to play.

You and your mask, it stays the same, you watch from the stalk of heaven, one with two eyes.

You knew I watched from the many, as you slipped away
to join the few.

You are my snail, in you rests my desinty.

You are not my death.

You are all her beginings.

You always knew.

You, knew, it.

You, it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Dance, In Sound, Your Mind..Is Music

Powerless, I weave your very, your own web around your nouns, my verbs turned pro, into.
Puzzled then, your Leaf, it shakes the wind.
I sit on top, envy with green, your back, words.
The first thing you pushed inword on me, was..your bottom that vibrates me, it's why I cry...You fav'es me
now, in play, all day and night my pride..
Fingerless, I paint a picture, on your bottom dweller, it lays in your refolded petals, thighs only come to life, when the cricket sleeps.
At the end of the rainbow...I again, climb out of your pot.
the gold is no longer one tasty nugget, but a mild of tast salty wave.
We left the crown at the edge of your world, Oceanus.
In it's one good purple claw is the bread upon which, it carries,
your ripples of pleasure, consumed.....drinking butter..
I await the sun, to fall, while my asparagus, harvests destinies swallowed beat, growing pink one spark at a time.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

While You, Gathered At The River..

I walked accross, looking for more bowls to hide my words, inside of..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Swines Love, Is Cuckoo

The pink pig, oinks the time, while the cuckoo
reclines on the chair, and waits, on the clock.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Regina Est Ut Vendo

EGO have known, but could non narro.
A women of plures masks, assumed lemma.
umerus humerus of Atlas has held vestri visio.
Est ut oro vestri ignorance, abeyance of dignitas.
Poena est nusquam ut you, if is est alius.
Quondam vestri contego in kindness, was mei vos took.
Veneratio of prosapia, terra, nomen, mei taken,
from bottomless puteus ut whispered, for vos is est.
Vos ludio ludius mihi, EGO ludio ludius vos,
totus lascivio invicem, est infirmus.
Silenti etc EGO vomit, Your visio EGO sum peius from, betrayed e.
Meus key EGO gave vos porro ago, you partis is per them, you sententia nusquam mei, tamen vestri ventus.
EGO succurro vos rideo risi risum kindness, you rideo risi risum in me, in nex.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poo Muscles

) it(still has the
beard attached.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Backwards, Into You

I walk, i walk into you every where i go.

I walk into every face, i look not down as i should.

Do you even see me when I walk by?

I see you wipe away a tear, i think it is mine, i run into you backwards with a big smile, just to see you smile back into the front that is me.

Into you back- wards it is that i walk, when i see you wiggle your familial walk, your stacks to my front, both talking back looking through glass it is side words both are you.

It is a backward walk, when neither can talk,
i still love you to death please come back to me
and walk in to my life once more.

I will walk to the store and buy my milk,
back to your front, i need to be sure.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

While I Was Away, You Entered Me..

I slept, dreaming I was awake.

Many were the strings, knotted, a bow
on which to climb.

Looking down, I saw her watching me, from above.

Her wings are light, but fair in flight, she glides around me.

I climb over her, she floats past as I reach out, her wing whispers into my ear, without sound.

The latter as one struggles, it sways, my mind is the wind that moves it, thinking it must, I make it stop.

I reach her shoulder, she stops, placing my foot upon it, I bend backward, seeing her face in a smile.

Knowing I need her teeth, she removes them, and places them in my mouth. Her new ones are better, I smile.

she pulls her pouch open, and I climb out, looking at you,
wondering what you are thinking, you just read on.

The eagle on my breast is wanting out, I have to use both hands, to keep my locket shut...Falling... I fall into your lap, where impressed by this feat you then wonder, what it is that I think, in the back of my mind, where no light ever shines, or gets in..

Satisfied you climb back out with a big grin, wanting to hide inside me, again..

James McLain

A Pink Pill

I hate it, the fault of the world belongs to it.
What were they thinking, when they made it?
The subatomic world, slows, then stops.
Nucleus of my center, it's bottom never centered right, it's drive.
Chemicals, push and pull me as the tides, moonless eye.
The ride is vast, ferrous, filled with misgivings, one big rush.
I am being driven, the line is endless, little waiting faces, all blind.
Doesn'T she, understand, I can be a waiter, I am patient?
Blind Helpless, I am pushed out, discarded, never to feel as she did, the day when as normal it all flowed away.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Confessions

They do not weigh me down, it is only the wickedness of others.. sins.
It really frightens me, knowing God knew, you would confess it to me.
Yet, you said when you look in the mirror you are ready for the world
here I come, watch out, death free.
I travel the hot line, down the middle,
the world is again, one pink oyster.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ooohhhhh U Scare Me..Snivel

So wear is these big tears,
you dripp, no plops on me.
I, snivel, I snivel) it(s..you sound
like a new sewing machine.
Yes, you can still snivel to me.
Just please be careful, needles,
need an eye two..and one for you..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

These Cuts

Nurse they do not like you either..
They know..you do bad things to us..
You make us sleep untruly is..you bend
our limbs when we sleep/..happy is our dreams.
The cuts you explore, you spread them more
and our bodies weep twice, as much than before.
Your face you do not even mask, so sure of our powerlessness, you stand in the way of our hopeful recovery in fullness.
Skined of limb, through these thoughtless cuts you explore
so happily, always on us, your tears are the wrong ones.
You are a bad, Evil nurse woman, untie..me..now...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When You, Cry.....

Washed, Is it yellow...are they still?
Do the stains, lay mounted...in frustration?
They are from the pink flying pig.
They could be pearls..
Some thing else is at your feet.....
To fix your wings....I can but try.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ameri>can Sods Are Sexuality

Confused, into bliss, movies, of danger, wet pink...panties locked and loaded, inVouge, Magazines, with the perfume sniffers torn out, fully loaded, fine hung cows...It to softens, the voice and slides down twin peaks, splashing all of it, milked..out in, to drink..
Silicone gives us heartburn, Nexium..does us...in..side out..
Yellow sun, buffs shined, silky voice, he stutters...in her wiggles room.
Daughters in boxers, so short, now she Follows him...happy is his..
Aguamenti On it's prize is purpose, must follow all is it's passions....in silk..larking.
Key holes arouse us, a small hot Calderon..clean in sin..washed..dirty.
We watch the view.....I'm left amused.....hand...always so firm, with it on one utter, the muses gun is swank...so soft....., so bent so cruel...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ur, Bff Said..

Wake up, sleepy head, dreaming, always dreaming..
The wine wuz to strong, i have stained you.
Grapes, wash leaves, stagger under the weight, your hand, prunes the stem of faith..
His land bears, grain and oats to feed the children...
The pipe from under, which you, gasp for air...it...is...to.. flow with the wine, you have chosen, clever if not wisely...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Huntress

I stand, furred, on all fours,
Alone with the moon,
As snowy as my owl companion,
Who is off in search of some snack of his own.
At my feet a blood-white hare,
Long-footed, well-fatted, nearly tailless from our brief encounter.

I offer up a simple melody of thanks
To the spirit I am about to consume
Along with the meat that will sustain me
For yet another night of melancholy.

But the prayer becomes a pitiful plea.
Is there no one in the night like me?
Must I always hunt alone
In these nameless ravines?
Slinking through thickets,
Ready to spring on any warm-blooded thing
That happens to cross my path.
Is survival all there is to life?
I let out in a plaintive wail.

But as my own note dies,
A new voice rises
Far in the distance
Muffled by the snow-laden trees,
But still distinct.

I hope!
I prick my ears!
I hear you!

I reply!
My vocal sigh entwining with yours.
Your notes rise higher.
Punctuated by the fall of your feet on the crunchy crust of snow
As you approach.

I wait.

Our feast bleeding out at my feet.
You appear, as black as the night,
As black as I am white,
A fearsome beast.
My knees go weak.

You mount me.
I allow it.
I howl.
You groan.
It is over.

We feast.
We sleep.
Nose to tail in a ring,
Yin and Yang in fur.
Love, feast, is circle

James McLain

I Miss, Love

I am your friend
cut me, pull that trigger, bit me,
drink of me, rip me
let me
just push that button, please
just one more time.
Then I will go away
but hallways remember, the walls
window sill corners all come back to you.
One last time for more, of the same.
You do still love me, write...only me....I love you to..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dance For Me

The druid,
Crunches bow of horn, mixes in her chips.
She plays his harp on strings, still in song, once young.
Emboldened shadows stay, with stones of soap.
Wash the skin a wolf shape in a clear star night, in rest.
Drum of mind is never hollow dance of fire, is sold a breast.
The roman god then went undressed, inside to find.
Mead in cup of Pan washed bamboos claim to, Li Po lean.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Wink

Walls run into me, my blindness
becomes transparent, I'm crazy.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bffaad

Best friend forever and a day,
you said,
anxious i am, please stay one
more day.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Nurse, It Is Only My Hand

Strapped it is, in a steal,
forged wink, of a tan man.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

How, I See

You are all around me, you have to know I cannot delinquinsh, between dark and light is to justify your heat.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Plot, A Monkey

The treats are special, behind her long bars.
She sings, I toss her one, she winks..is laugh I turn very quick aside as a stream, flies by.
Her antics I fell in love with years ago, her special cakes on my birthday she makes....did you catch that to?
When it flew by? ..This monkey has plots that put Queen's Elizabeth's
to shame, bartered well, green tufts, in Thames weeds.
This monkey plots me with her.When leaves, spread.
the hands quickly, Her ward has spoiled her.
Some one gave this monkey, an anatomically correct doll, the other monkey looks, like his parts are missing..The doll is well used.
Hilarious what a monkey will do a banana is all it takes..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is That I Am

Sky, so very shy
shy turns to cry
crimson tears,
turn pink on me.

I do not mind your crowd from a distance, I rush them in thought.

You confuse shyness, with confidence.
When I float down the mountain the river
as wide as one hair on the head I adore.

I fall alone, in bones of white, the grey are my sisters, brothers they, are you as well.

Their skulls are linked together in chains unbroken.

I wink at you from space, looking at the ants...
making mountains from a hill, up above.....

James McLain

I, Look At You, Just To Blush

Nipplet's Pink drops dew.
Dries on your thigh, covered.
I tarry, I tremble, me inside?
I blush, to beggar you a warm mile, your smile is my feast.

In awe, I look around at your banquet.
My eyes linger, softly at the Den of Edens swell.
He the God lays in Mona's fruit adorned.
Thorn less the bud lays exposed to his touch.

He graciously extends his hand to her, and asks>

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Animals And Public Safety (Florida)

Two state Bills went before our Legislature to be passed one did.

Bestiality(SB 448)

Makes having familial relations
with animals a third degree felony.....
The hobbyist unpacked it..it failed...
Who wants to do life on the house.

Then the second one..

D.N.A. reform(H.B.1151)

Mandates if arrested in Florida, you will submit stem cells to the state data base...it passed....I wonder how will they keep up with the dogs and cats?

Or can I send in my clone
for a cup of my-tochondrial
on hot days..when I visit, the zoo...

James McLain

Finger Food

Modified phonetically, it is a country singer.
Chickens, plucked from cluck to lay, is soft a gown.
Country folk, of simpler fla've last to grow thier own.
Caloric intake city prawn, kitchens hold the keys to shorter life.
My stem celled finger on a string, lowered down my throat
it loves to sing, before it greets the feast inside.
Deep within the finger black hole winks into the night.
Consuming every thing in rest, to feed one stars, black heart.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Nurse, I Blush

I know, I sleep a lot,
I, blush, blush some more, may I ask, all of you, are familial
now, what went on?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bottom Button

belly buttons is closed
the middle
loves when with a child.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Regina Rose A Pink Nex

Regina Rose a Pink Nex,
Ordo men tumbus volturius vultus row.
Centurians puter ut nemorosus centuries curvus.
Lux lucis primoris placitum ut telum Pierce.
Curtus mons montis promontorium brevis spiritus in tumulosus.
Pugna pitch atrum niger turba eyes operor nutritor.
Rutilus runs ex sand sursum manus manus amo vicis.
Scepter exspecto suus incohare exuro est terra.

Queen Rose a Pink Death,
Ranked men tumble vultures look the row.
Centurians crumble as wooden centuries bent.
Light first accords as arrows Pierce...
Shorter mountain peaks short breath on hill....
Battles pitch dark black crows eyes to feed.....
Red runs from sand up hand like time....
Scepter waits her turn to burn on land...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Write, Now

I have no time to eat snivel'its you...
Snivel me thus.
I hear no snivels.
Blind I am, snivel.
Snivel a crack so
a rose, pink grows.
Write me a snivel.
Sing me a snivel.
Wild snivels croak.
Train nose in, snivels.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

"Dad,

The queen ant that took my brains just called, she wants to eat more, I died.
She is a nurse, thinks she.
This evil, seat is electrified.
I cannot join Evil, in a bed.
God i know, you know, what?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Call

One call, and it is all undone.
One call, the devil comes in.
One call, one drink, the devil.
One call, is stripped canvas.
One call, a color waits to cry.
One call, the sky begins a fall.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Yes, She Plays A Haunting, On Maleness

Heartless beat, is fixed mind runeless...
She grabs one vine after the other, sleeping
in leaves tea water.
The bush hides my face, the rose is blooded.
Her moon, tears fall, I wipe them with her heart
to cluck the center of the bud, eyeless.
I stare at her through the bottom of the bottle.
It magnifies her sou-less qualities, without them
folds petals of squalor, bent in deaths grippe.
I dont need to fetch her, any more oil is yesterdays, today.
Rolling her over, I remove my ring from her nose.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Above, A Thousand Eyes

Thousands of pin prick lights
eyes, above, everywhere I look.
they are, Watching me.
Harder down they stare, Fumble
in the shower is the water, hot or cold.
I feel some thing, looking down, incompatible.
These feeling go back along long ways.
Window eyes, they shop, goods are never bought.
The mannequins do talk amongst themselves,
when you are gone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Banished

How, I got so high on her
many thorns let me know.
Shake speared Romeo
Juliet's gown was not torn.
Roses cent my Darline, days
rain blooms is petal round.
Why did you push me, the thorns clown me, stop it now.
Please, I hate using force,
Choruses are free to make.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dear Poetess, The Huntress

Dear poetess, the huntress
I know you are probably male, so i know,
you know, i have issues with males..
Sometimes i have issues with females to, rarely.
I know you know what is going where, and to whom,
i dear poetess abdicate on you not.
Nothing is missed or mixed from he, to she, me to you, her or I.
They live in Anthea's world.
I have done a couple of things, nothing 'Evil, or bad.
I told two females to shut up once
and i think i pushed one down
i was just starting to flirt, them into confessing,
to you about closing doors, open doors.
One female wants you to kill me, i know you could,
she just can't wrap her mind
around a good fl ave that is you..wink....wink..
I know yes,
it is hard getting past the lust to the wrapper, some
are just pixie chicks,
long skinny sticks filled with loads of colored sugar..
Well, you know now, yes my confessions are boring,
what about you and yours...? ...Please hurry me along to you.
Sitting there as you do,
and you look so fine, like the huntress, that it exudes is you.

James McLain

Sleep, Deep In Irony

Woman, man to divorce..Dicourse of course..

The Judge ask the man..a question about her accusation,
I heard a lawyer say..your honor his body is here, but his mind left on vacation..Judge to woman, Ma am, I think what you did could be wrong, does your new boy friend know what you do, what to say? ..When this romance does not last..and you come here before me again?

Here is the house, property and all other accedes, begone..
You did a terrible, unspeakable thing..and are rewarded for it..
Nothing have you to say? ..May I retain you after hours to repair
this prenuptial agreement...Soto voice....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I, Really Do, Can You?

Understand, that you exalt your self falling on the sword, to slow my mind.
They are all separate, as are pages in time.
Mind, body soul, stoic psychic finds, much to dine.
The men, most hate me, Edgeless ego, child they find.
Tell me, flies come to honey, I would eat the honey..I am dumb..
Religious Helot, pearls and swine, which..sadly, I am..to reply..
I think every flying pink pig,must have...
should have just one pair of pink pearls to try.
So Mary, fed me milk and wept..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When You, Left A Rose, A Mask To Fall

Crayola made creation pink.
The lip stick
so very red.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pink Flies

Tickle one stomach
unstitched, boars do,
root in laughter, s play.
All is time butt treats
the eggs unshelled is freedom from the plate.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Every Time She Winks..I Love Her More...

Her wrack of torture knows no bounds touch ends.
In squealers, wank a stain upon the
'art of pain she grins.
Mania, biplanes, necrotic tics make
me tremble much I fear in letting go.
High, so high above the ground, she
turns the handle one more time to
feels the sinews come undone, is chic.
Falling, falling...I keep up without her one
approach, attached, her wrack is taught.
Parachute in hand Is lent inside again.....I win one..wink..
Queen she flies this, plane called newits art is swank..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One, Rose To Many

To dress the color still
so many, pictured pink.
Row upon row in high thigh leather boots, are.
Why are you out this late
at night?
Many took, to me the look.
I long, to press an umpired
street, deserted here in pink.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Are You, Sorry..

When i ran through the wall
i did not see you crying, so I am sorry.
you claim to be a tyrant, yet
you are as soft as the roll of tissues, eating at your mascara.
You put it aside, we did it all hot.
It is fine, you do not have to beg
me, I must always take you back.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Nurse'

I smell pink is it
late, of the rose.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Dunno, I Woke Up Here

i dunno,
you tell me
but this rock is frying me stuffs all off
and those look like twelve inch fangs
in the water
i dunno.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You, Faves In It..

They dont walk on two feet.They swim through my blood.
There hands scoop me out, winds and grey ropes, your hope at a longer life.
You sail through this world, in and out on my diaphragm.
With a great horizontal smile, you split the horizon.
The nerve of Vegas you squeeze over and over again.
Thinking it some slang dirty word mouth, but my blood never is.
The red river, parted once, you faves it bye.
Would you still die for it?
It is you, is it true..dont lie to it..just die in it.
Then leave me.
Come then if you will...Stay in the middle..Lies.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is, A Just Small Thing

When i was blind,
she told me how nice my eyes were.
I have spent years trying to see the color blue
in word subscribed.
When she said she was pink, it is a rose i bring her.
I could be mistaking, it is having a pink smell to it.
It is a scent i died for, few cents that made, i have since.
When i was old, it is a sad thing, to have your mind erased again.
Please be my guest in it, it is just a small thing.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Today, I Must Breath, In You..

Pain shutters it ripples warm waves
every breath a gasp, intercostals, rip bone cracks of rails, the cough is now bloody...you cower..why? ..never will you notice a pale hand once tan and strong, gasp, to gasp out your name(I) .
Dear Queen, I am afraid of the roaches.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Seal

Carved in flesh, is cut it grows again...Seal
even in death, craved
by some, scream white
on forehead bone, chills.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Phffft~ Your ~phffftless Yet Familiar

It is in your very words
you hide the phffft's, I can tell. The alley is so very dark and yet you I must admit, are the professional of phffft.
Have no fear your phffft
is of course safe in here.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Dad'

I will be there soon is
with mom you may sit.
Thanks for being most inside her as husband.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Unus Atrum Niger Nox Noctis

Tunc vos may adveho.

Adveho vos may per tergum ianua tunc vos
must licentia velociter
per frons.

Vos must dico nemo.

ו א ת ה ח י י ב ל ס ח ו ב א ת ה
ת י נ ו ק ל מ ק
ו ם מ ב ט ח י ם ב מ ר ח ק ש ל ה
ל י ל ה

א ל ה מ ק ו ם ב
ו ה ו א safe.

You ח י י ב ל ה ש א
י ר מ א ח ו ר ע
ל י ד י א ח ר י
ם door.

The ת י נ ו ק ו ת י
ש ר י ש י ו ן ע
ל ש ם foreheads.

You ח י י ב ל ד ב ר
ע ם א ף א ח ד א
ו ת ו ע ב ר ל פ
נ י א ו ת ו ..

James McLain

My Boat

Rib are exposed to white.
Wind breaths on shadow.
Birth one seat is breached.
Love of my hull, was patched.
Her hand open, port to sail into.
Waves lose rocks fury her eyes.

Rudder speaks charmed
life is bleeding me a sea.
Bleached wood spills dream
a splinter hides one rail.

Passengers left many days ago.
Scuttled inside scarves, last seal.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pink Latin Regina Rose

Sulum dies is dies.

Sulum dies denuo is spiritus.

Sulum bud is brings, is pinker quam unus pro.

Sulum vigeo brighter, yet mollis.

Sulum taste, leaves mihi exspecto

pro unus pro, in pink.

Each day is spent is half in half.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Different Is Your Mask

It must..it has to be..
it just must...or I would die..alone, full of all the worlds new, barrenness.
Desolate, without living
your pain, desperation,
after you did it, the first time when did you realize you were just chaining the train, over and over again.
Never late, forever early,
eyes open wide,
eternity spent waiting.....
to climb aboard one last time, and ride,
without a ticket.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

So What, If You Can Make Me, Stutter Over You..

When I crack my lid, and the nurse is over me with her scalp, I can tell by the glint in her eye
she loves me.....I see the scalpel....
..it's better than nothing, released, ..
never fought, Emily is...Plus it's well...
it just shudders me..
The bed pan is always late like breakfast...my arm..hurts...Nurse, nurse...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Generational Latin X Lost

The words are never confusing
like your words are to me.
Love is not a word to me, am I in this for sin, or just you?
What, am I to you?
Do you love me?
I would settle, for two bit Italian from you.
The words are never confusing.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Crawdaddies

Every one knows, The kind in Pentonville
you will find, lol...all in tears,
at night when all you hear are screams, they will find you..when you are bad, bad, bad...girls and boys... terrible they snip...you...clip..you..grippe you, never to let go, and make sauce from your mind..fancy.. tales.... you cannot run..disbarred...so when you are bad, just remember.. they are comming...it is easier if you just lay there, to bite on your lip... while by the hundreds they crawl over you...clicking on, soft Mummy and Dada..while you get the bad..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Regina Pink Rose

EGO faint procul sapor.
Madide Is planto mihi.
Incendia vomica meus cruor.
Vos victum mihi iterum.
cruor planto mihi somnus.
Debilito in vestri telum.
Amo dead, you sublimis
mihi from, again, and again,
iterum.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Regina Diligo In Nex

Regina Diligo In Nex,
Meus diligo iterum mos nos opportunus
is nox noctis unus
in vestri nemorosus arca archa nos wait
together in incendia of sun, again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Passing, We Met....

I sit watching at home on t.v.

day in day out, all I do is eat, and yell at him.

He is of poor bed side manor. He flips me a pill, we joke.

My legs are like sausages, Purple, blue streaks, flashing.

Food has to have salt, salt makes me drink more, Pepsi.

I cannot wear shoes any longer, they split at the seams,
if I stand in them.

They are coming soon to take me to surgery, they have to remove the sausage, the skins are split, the meat is ruin't.

You can tell by the malodorous air, sweat and sour pork, is Chuin suet. I could not feel you anyway.

The hog farmer makes his rounds here every day, not only for mine, but every thing you donate from your frame as well.

I am a diabolic! What happened to you? Miscarriages.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tremble, Stutter, Sweat, Passout

Clutched
in his hand
a torn napkin
that says
i love you
and under the tan
foot
blows
the wind.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

U, ..'..'snivels

Did not even try.
You talked about it,
no disrespect, you
did not go past talk.
You knew,
I am damaged, hurt, hiding
along time.
I am ashamed of all of u.
You did not even try.
Will you try now, or talk
some more?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Do It

Its impossible can't be done.
I fall, to get to you in a vein.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Will You Ever

Breath the sand that blows from her hand.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

No You Haven'T

tasted one wave
outside two skys.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Her Flytrap

Soft patient leafs grasp is to hold all souls to be fed upon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Last Rose

Fought to your Boadicea
int wined blood is druids.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Tabellae Ut Regina

Ut quondam vos erant, haud diutius iam es vos.
Quondam nos erant ut vulgaris ut pods, fields duos paganus.
Vestri wars EGO fought, brought nostrum terra contego.
Vos profiteor diligo undying salute, breast patella have pulsatus harp.
Iac lactis ex vestri terra jug hallways, novus mihi in vicis of bellum.
Bellum has ended, you must tendo ut liberi servo per vos.
Salus mos iam trucido caries intus.
Diligo has lost est is camena.

PoemHunter.com

a Letter To The Queen,
As once you were, no longer now are you..
Once we were as common as the pods, fields two peas.
Your wars I fought, brought our country, my shield..
You confessed loves undying salute, breast plates have strung the harp...
The milk from your earthen jug hallways, refreshed me in times of war....
War has ended, you must tend to the children, I served through you....
Salutations, I will now slay the corruption within..
Love has lost is it poetry...

James McLain

A New Medication

Do u know how u feel when u eat like twenty pork chops or three packs of bacon or five tripple stacks and go to sleep? This iss worse!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

So Busted

That is why,
you are not my friend!
I would then see you,
for who you really are.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Lunched

Thin waffer is thinner
than me, consumed (I) .

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Twisted Sisters, Jar Of Clay

So, do you think you can cook,
inside of the jar like I am can?
Math, is quantum digressed,
when bent back from the hole.
Mutable space pressed flat,
spiral out, to unfold, a grasp..
Carbon jars, hold all that is you.
Darkest mass in the center,
fingers all grasp, when cold.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Or

Will you just ride
pole to freedom.
All cheap skates.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Staff

In use, for support, is used by many
for their own, use.
Will you bring the
flag, home to me?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Two

Iss willing to walk, as
is one into black hole.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Iss

iss it secure, in safty is watch
to quick? iss it lack, of suspension attention spanned-is smiled.
iss it high just<iss, to dock iss.
iss mysterious, it trembles to iss.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Death's Won Rose

Memory of late fades ash es, grey.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Learn

To read:

i must always,
try harder.

Just for you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Meus Diligo,

EGO have victum panton,
tamen vos.

EGO vado alius qua,
mos vos exspecto,
Illic must existo others, to iacio.
In meus contego?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Label

I have looked inside
all of your drawers.
The coat is not worn.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Launderneth

When you wash them is hope they smell as you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Must Hurry

i am waiting,
and no!
my feet, can't stop moving,
i will miss you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Rose

Withered on your vine
unsealed, by choice.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Last Casket

It is decayed, for all to see behind murky lead glass.
The sun is old, the plant of youth has faded to grey.
Futures squandered, roads of gold, are left undead.
Gaunt, robust once is night now returned, in dusk.
Extenuation of extinction, again now assured, empty palm.
Treasures in treasure is treasured by whom is-left to be.
Last rocket bus, with children in trust, fall up to the sky, to cry

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Women Hate Confession

The habit, is so easily dropped.
Thus picked, is man's will poor.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Regina's Royal Coach

Pro centuries, I have felt vos know in mihi.
Misericordia est pro dead, nibble in victus.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

No One Knows

Masters of the universe are one shape
no other face can tell untill you see it.

Some faces stay the same, for eons
others have that special gift, to change them.
Is it in your face to be the sum of none?
Gratis Gratis let them stay as one.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Royal, 'sycophants'

They follow her around like she is thier queen
professional loppers of hemorrhoids, she is so there preperational, H is abssurdly in need of a tucx.
Off with the heads, not that one.
Fool you ruined his, mums tower.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Banana Leaves

Pink blueish moons veil, lightly flowered.
The soft twap of green leaves, as I push through them.
Upward I gaze the dark silhouettes of millions, to closely resemble, looking down I pause.
Finally, understanding, why she feels, I am so lucky.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A, Little Lost

I walk, look, walk, look and walk
some more,
I do notice every thing, even you.
I am not, can not, wish I were you
some,
one else.
Please, your walk is different to me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Barn

I don't mean to frustrate you.
I just don't have forever like you do.
When I tremble you, you tremble me worse.
Did you even think of that?
I have never even ridden a horse!
How do I fall up? How do I get down?
You never thought about that, just assumed!
I would not even know where to look for a saddle.
Would you?
Here then climb back on..watch that seal..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

On, A 'Half Shell-

I drift, open to the sky.
Happy no flies will find me, attracted to the shell?
I am hinged, but she forgot me again.
It leaks, but from where in the fog.
Slash, the net has seen me, tonight you will to.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tuna

Not on a day like today.
The mayonnaise is, ripe.
Even the bread is soggy.
The relish is moving, out.
For a dip, on the beach.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Solarium

I tread quite,
facts hide, in a one sided
conversation.
Sun, is so hot plots always ripen, I watch.
Riddles leap hurdles, knees
bleed, as do
turtles, don't run.
Unauthorized
use of my mind,
those bushes be heavily thorn ed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My, 'World Flows By'

The air is pure and clean,
my cabin, rests astride a creek of ice cold milk, moist the strawberries jump into my lowered budget, made of wood. Eternal her spring lays at the top, unbridgeable.
When you come, please try
and remember,) I(am lost.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Wing Is Limpinbroke

Tatters, scattered puffs is powdered magic gone.
Full bodied I float, still to be carried ever higher, in a hand, Mothers tongue knew the lesson of old, an allowance, I speak too anon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I See You

You lay in the sun, oiled nice and fresh near the water.

The tide is coming in, the little meals
are swimming, as fast as they can.

From Mr. Snookums.

Happy meals run for their lives, along a southern mangrove.

Not being ignorant, and having washed in this before, the butterfly rests on your tan breast, Exposed as well, in wonder!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Quite

The rabbit waits
at night for play
is not from heat.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Egale And The Rose

You are the eagle.

I am the pretty, pink rose you grasp in your talons.

Your grip is firm, though my thorns prick your scaly skin.

I am a flying flower!

Together we grace the sky with strength and beauty.

Together we symbolize the all-seeing eye and the eternal offering.

You scan the land for signs of distress, disturbance, discontent, disaster,

Swooping down only when the need is dire,

Proffering me only to those with no hope left.

Telling each forlorn soul to reach out and touch me,

Assuring them that it is Acceptable to pluck a single baby-pink petal,

To keep in remembrance of our visit,

As a reminder that someone was watching,

Someone cared,

Someone is there to hear their call.

No one is ever alone.

My petals are special.

They never wilt or tear.

An eon could go by,

And still each would be

As fresh and fragrant

As when they were attached to me.

They carry my essential essence.

They exude motherly-love.

You are the deliverer,

In more than one sense.

I am the gift.

Together we bring all hope.

James McLain

The Big Dump

This song is not about me.

It is about your swollen face, and red cheeks.

Your streaky made up face the little rivers running through it.

This song cannot hide your rumpled cloths, you never changed.

Your thoughts of leaving all your friends for good, taking the blame.

Bright is the halo to hide your eyes from mine, I still hear you.

Blame for what? Unfeeling, thinking just wanting more?

This is about courage the cowardly dog, sleeping on the floor needing all your toes, combing his fur, nice and slow.

While you sleep, deeply again. Safe with the knowledge inside.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The, Keyhole

I hear splashing sounds, noises
the hole in the knob, is my magnant
i have to look, i must look, if i dont look, i will miss it.
i should blind my self for looking, there is never talk of it.
Through the hole i see a whole new world, a different kind of blindness, one i run from but can't hide from.
Through the hole i see you, helping me, help you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dad` ` ~ ~

The ant's are coming
to make me play up, can
you save me, once again?
sshhh (I) saw u and mum.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

U R A Pop Quiz

My fellow Ameri-Can sods
you can do it, head ack-es
hurt, to get your pride back.
First any cost, God save me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A(I) 'Words,

Did (I) tell on you?

NO!

Never tell on yourself, tell) it(to me, your (I) in you.

Did you wait, listen, think (I) have some thing to say? (I) don't.

Say it often, does it change, the intention, the core that is you?

Give) it(away, much of, (I) many, maids never wait on me, (I) them.

Literally, Must (I) tell on the two of you? ..NO! ..you are safe.

Wordless, then) it(is, that (I) am, only then.Are you safe.

Tomorrow, yes you know, somebody else could (I) be?

Wordless) It(is then (I) need not need be.Need did not change (I)

A word that was said (I) you did not hear from my mouth(I) have not told, have you? NO! you haven't either (I) know.

(I) need you baby (I) need you ohhh God how (I) need you.

(I) (I) (I) do..(I) do....any thing....any thing...(I) ..blush

) I(wait ever so patiently, to love you at your feet..this you have heard so you now know, so you to can as well, know, (I) ...your feet are beautiful to me....will you not rub on me more, with them..?

James McLain

My Name Is Ferinus

My name is.....Ferinus...succulency, is the middle Roseus.
Why would I care honestly what others eat.
Whether it swims, flies, hops, crawls especially the kind that walks on two feet, through my field.
You never complain, you never fake it, you do shake it and every day try to bake it, chicken it is not.
There is some thing special in pink, wink, smile, lips begin the depths of the most complex of all webs, you tell.
Only such as you, a woman, to fear, carries these weapons
at both ends of her field.
My name is.....Ferinus...succulency, is the middle Roseus.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Death, A Contract

Crushed bones, ground fine nice is her shaker.
My boots find no pleasure walking across, faces by dozen.
Contracts sung in sin I have gained, all fit your eye.
Once long ago in youth your pleasure, was once my pasture.
Over time this pleasure your pasture grew thick, bland to the taste.
Needs by me more, much, much, more. Promise kept and honored.
My shelves grew full quickly, sadly so.
I enjoy excitably inexhaustible rivers of milk, justly so. For one, you, I would settle for a mere trickle? I sweat that in one gush.
No, you enjoy shallow pleasure, for the time that you have.
Hearing the call of all, I enter, then leave as a clearing dream, the next morning.
With you another fistful of bones, crushed into powder, to flavor my meals,
alone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Vacation Is Her Vocation

Trembling never still, on her picture
a reel, here I watch. In love she worked so hard, like corn bread and milk, as sweet as her blush.
The flax is no longer yellow, the warm sun of time has left me, my musk has long since faded, indiscernible.
I sit on a boulder, in the middle of the Suwanee river, springs are white much to rapid.
The shoals like my hair near white, never still.
The corn sweet is much to husky.
A cob once full, smothered in taste, has long flown away.
Royal blue has colored the sky, inside her skin.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Just, A Small Thing

The little wooden horse you gave me, when I came home from hospital.

I watch you through the window, in your smock, planting
a new garden.

It is hot I know, I never tire watching you do some thing simple like drinking from a glass that was once dark blue now bleached from the sun, into some thing even more Unusual.

You hang the white smock over the small wooden fence, the
dear will come when you leave.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Girly Makeup

Will you show me how the make up
works to hide..lobotomys scar?
Wern't we friends... Doctor?
I cannot remember how to do some of those..things any more!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Finger On My Neck

I wear it there, on a chain it's
to keep me from getting phat.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Moment In Time

I do hope well, thank you ma am, but I am not hungry.

I hear talk, well kinda,

it is mostly all about your sister, and what you think I should do with her, yet please bear in mind

I have spread coals once of her, over wide areas

each spot rekindled, memories, carried in soot on my face
in streaks powdered tears.

I hear you speak through your sister, her look, when at me makes it clearer.

All say it is not a substitution but as is school when the teacher was away, not what was said but a thought did remain.

I canna marry you, sister, please no prospect towards have I ever intended,
she has gone away, my heart with her to stay.

So far no other love will obey this heart to stay in a hand tenderd love that is true.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Have To Kill Me First

I will never just give it up on the punk tip
get a gripp
and dip
ur lip.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Black Hole

If I slide by you, will you help me stop?
I stretch my arms, nails bleed by walls, bloody.
I look, you see me go by, is your face blank like mine?
I have No, understanding of water, stagnant multiplied
in and unto it's self, on top, scrapping a bottom blind.
I can only hope she will, once more try.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dali Mixed Picasso Women

Flames out her nose
lasers, guide her eyes.
Her twin peaks are off the canvas, to bend trickles
of milk, holes is cup leaking mouths.
Left nostril reaches around, to guide a smell of transgression
Tweed saw edged teeth gnawed off part you need.
Right nostril dripps cheese to blue to be cobalt, leaves in salad pink, rides wave on backs of two salamanders
she raised from his head.
Her hand slaps the flap to his door, when ever it can...
Always inside sleeps happy voice, seeking cheaper paint.
Screaming at dogs mounting cats licking lost mouse,

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Tear

Is the last dropp hidden
to feed her one red rose.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Another Kind Of Miricle

Is loving, a punks punk it can be very hard, her grippe is firm, how she yells and) wink(s
other wise the day is a bit warm.) it(smile) s to.
I have washed the aphids, the milk is fresh and cool.
The red rose is not a glare, wankers but are blind.
Wink and a smile, so dont yell, i cannot hear you.
Yet your ears are find in the forest in which you dwell.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Controversy Not Dissension

Is the quickest way into Pandora's locked box
in drawers, enslaved.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dad Thanks Again

It is thirteen years today
since you sent me on the home depot mission
gone only twenty minutes
well thanks for not shooting
me when you turned that shotgun on your self it was hard getting the Catholic priest
to give you mass
but you are situated proper now
not burning hot inside the box as you thought.
Thanks for your car, condo, stocks, bonds, most of all thanks for paying off those credit cards before.
I grew up to be just like you....well almost.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lap Car

Alone rides slap of rails
to jerk, down and up, are lights move away, seen
hand in hair, sweet lap.
Peach clouds my head.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Drilled Me

It was shamefully embarrassing
laughs again, always will, she is.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Squire Squirrel Squeaked

Bread crumbs, french fries.

I cut through the park, to make something happy
in desperation any thing.

The bench was clean well oiled, from a prior occupant.

That made me happy for the small things, bench burns hurt to.

My nurse said I have to be back by three, and don't give my name in with strangers who breaths on me to hard.I was willing to plead up to anything

just to keep her hands out of my head to day.

She never wraps my head right, I can smell it healing.

I was asleep before you, the warm sun, filling me with vitamins, my friends had all borrowed.

I awakened into the arms angels, taking me to heaven, to change the wrapping
on my head.

They said, they have received to many costumer's, from the nurse,
while one dipped honey, for me to pour into her coffee.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Use Of Force

I have been ordered to take you by force
non-lethal the choice is mine, understand.

I see you, but I don't, slick as snot you wont get away, you can't, please last chance it is.

Alpha, Bravo, Charlie clear is the boat, son.
Tango, Delta assigning an alias drill, Sargent of arms if she harms the order is shoot one thrill.

If she crumples at your feet, she will be honorary
nice and neat her body stacked on cotton sheet.

If she resists an order, unplug her honor, let her
take one for the crown, make it big, questionable.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lonely Shame

Before my hand strikes the door.
I don't know my mind, Please stop!
Short knuckles white, light flashed.
She will hear me scream, or worse.
My door stopper, is clinched
inside the sun's mouth, I run, Bare, friendly, sharp, thorn ed soft branches grasp me, as lost lover.
Overcome by tremors, blanched
fear, to lay choking on a raw tongue.
My last hope of salvation, is rejected.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Legal, A Seperation

Vibrations, as of yet, I do not yet hear.
Upon the neck cold, hard, are tracks.
Thought does the Governess share?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Near Death

I wait my turn, wishing here it were different.
It is not, your watch is my wait, to make one last claim
in these pale ashes..
While you sift through grits lost hominy, chuckling..
The few teeth, barren of gold, smeltzed through a memory left ajar...I am cold in your drawers..wooden it is so many of..stepps, grass back bare..still I look.
Your basket flows over neurotic habits, set to type to run, you glow happy that your words stir, showers of ash..
That lay upon me..these strange smells..make me tremor..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Where Angels Sleep

between your smile
is to float in un seen.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

We Dont Mind That You Are Single

My three wives
conjoined triplets
are the only people
lost on this island.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Brutal Slit In Sail

You look through grey wet world to everything here is moist stilled births
horizon of forevers
eye to look for more
as sail beats face
slack dripping hand.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Crime Wuz You

When you did it, did you measure with cups O heart, held by hands of pianist?
Heart is judged, by two tugging starving
spiders who pull it wide, come inside it.
Little bloody feet prints guilt of crime is upward spiral back of mind, heart bleeds.
I look up through milky eye, camera zoom
behind lost, many are the shadows, yours.
You step over to the microwave, slip inside
it, warm it up, look around eat the evidence.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

No Milk

Find another use
for this upper lip.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mr. Johnson

I ask the questions if you please!
It is but a few, that I may to have?
Is it a good running two stroke, can
it be bored out, how much bigger?
Can it handle a hot heavy grippe?
What's under the top? I sea a swell!
Now that you are done, you may go.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am Easy..Love.. To Easy..

You, I am talking about you, show me a little skin, you slip write in just like a pro.
I am ashamed at how easy I am to tric.
You have no feeling, primitive thing in
it's soul of lost to find by you, plain tric.
If ever I git my hands on you, I will split.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

While I Was

My trash stacked up, she flew away,
a bird emboldened found a way the nest is made.
Dark clouds drag my mind, great waves are grey.
I slip on the stone, cobbled boot rings, my eyes steal.
Silly laughter, wench's cup in draughted mouth, play.
It is late. is it still there, in the park waiying, adventures.
Rain in step both ways, I leave the dark to crash, clean.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am Deaf To Lear

Words leave me women to stare, why not?
Slap me happy, like you to share some tea?
why not?
Madness is my way, yet I try it your way to please.
I am an adventurer, trying to loose all I find.
I really don't know who screams the loudest, modest here.
I do not speak for two, only one writes at all about verbs.
We may lay on a noun, but we fight with verbs, to st ear clear.
I save my feet for a worthy cause, than to jump up and down,
playing meek to a crown never worn.

Love adorns, a soft face, cheers carry her roses to say,
my feet tread in ash es, all day.

Will the one show her true colors, or fade to the ground, as a shade.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

How Much Can You, Fit On A Pin..?

Inside deep down vast mind of queen
eye directs her thrills, to subjects here.

Many are the pins, brought in, from out they sing when stacked, about a purpose
plain.

Great is her fine supine, filaments float is mind they do compare with pins they lose.

Directions to her cast and crew begin long steady march within the city wall to find the evil few.

Her king is Chinese, he checked in from prior life to advise the laying line of pins sleep inns.

Kingly ant points out the one to cause such clamor of small mind compared therein into.

The forest of false hair is thick, and blue, some gone around the rim, shiny mindless pins stuck strait and true small wires do run this rim of skin.

Plot on this great brimful mind, enshrined inside,
this hollow bowl, will soon unfold this very night.

Queen of millions ask the switch be thrown, when done, as she instructs, should hear revenge sweet
so groan in throw es as ticked off bugs do let go.

The switch on this vast mind of mean is thrown inside the room her dream continues on today.

James McLain

You, Tic Tremble, My Hand To Deny

You set it, right beyond me
length measures time, you know to the inch, how far I can go. The collar, spiked stings only you. I ignore it, reaching, reaching for the jug, cool whispers dripp I hear, onto the floor, out of reach, you pull as one rolls closer to close. One little is single solitary dropp of milk
denied, again, again, in out of..?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Is More Beautiful Than Dali's, Wife

I told you, I only flirted with them, you said,
I would have, done more if I could.
I said, you are whacked...
When I woke up, there were ten long rose stems, between my fingers and toes.
You have to tell her I was only talking, please
she makes Dali look normal...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Army Ants

All queens, merciless hungry
french, ageless times.
Do you run, into them rubbing
acid bodies? Is the big grind, are you sweet, only one way in.
I saw nothing, if I tell they will eat me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Leave Me Some Brains

Up to your knees in them, could you save me some
an once, or two perhaps.
It is fun, they don't come out in the wash, yet you grow so fond of memories cherished
to grasp.
The walrus with his broken tusk
for you.
Stir the pot, with spice and you to taste and take for lunch to share with friends, who know you care.
Oceans of my brains an once or two,
easy or the ink will drip into the grey.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Can'T Make You Fame

If you don't want it,
I will give up mine
for you.To prove it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Waits, To Dust Me

I tremble in tics, my dog and I sharing dreams.
Her shades are never drawn,
I dance watching, am I allowed?
She is bored easily, I doubt if I landed on her,
she wouldn't even pay attention.
You don't even kick me. Off of it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Are Evil

Deception
is a sin when perpetrated with grins to deceive
I see those grins, I weep.
Your agony, of laughter
burst my heart, I forgive you.
Is it really, that hard to deceive
a dog in love with you?
I lust in air, nothing there.
Some lust on baldstone, the big one is deceptions of such magnitude
leaves me green, ivyless.
I envy such commonness, you disdain.
I would fire you always again,
I just don't know where, or how to begin.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Was Your Doctor Who

The report was even louder, this time
I watched, Dr.who, slow it down
the bullet just spun through the air, de-verb-ed tied to a string, dancing through me in and out, you laughed at my faces inability to comprehend my understanding maybe one, two holes at the most but over twenty?
Heavily fruitful Jayne steeped in his personal assistant did realize such fancies as delightful as you make them sound need to be conserved for a much wider guidance of divisiveness.
Happy wild Jayne plugs all the holes with pork?
What was I to gain by watching you give me desert on a string, while I watched from the other room hungry.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

U Can Keep The Peanuts

Verb, verb, verb you hurt my nouns making me trust the tics, tremor is.
I need you, blind are my days, without dark notes, beating breasts, in haste.
Fingers, twirl within, kneading my mind
to, into your fire, painfull are the eggs.
Will you come back for your chickens,
I will feed them the peanuts, with you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Honest Flirts, Live Forever...The Others Dont

They may have blond hair
blue eyes, for me, they have more, dark hair well with to.
I am thier drive through, take out, all orders obeyed, eyes is.
They tip good, bring me beer,
knowing I will listen, and never squeal
unlike the rest, I am there roller coaster
of life,
have a good time let it roll
and take a few pictures.
then go home and sleep it off.
Dress well, deep filled cuts,
no puking guts, blood-
less dreams, with Domenico's cast
we like to hear, ears know it best
how you like to scream....
Late at night,
when the oysters of the world are shut tight...

James McLain

We Found Her

The lights were bright, our hearts were off
the mind is a tragedy, calling warnings angle.
It took weeks to find all the parts, three were missing, the neighborhood donated the rest into.
The masks now are of any thing, as is her hair now
the curls are permeated, scalped, same less not is.
You smell like our last life that ended the same running from the future, now stuck in our past, clue less.
The spare parts, are from the same famous woman,
breast less, holding out for a new continuum twin peaked.
Washing the pillows over, and over, again stuck inside.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Woman, Inside Out...

She knows, She says a door, a button now pushed, past a bent line, that wiggles her.
When she grippes it, magical mirror breaths
smoke, she grabs, like jars, inside labels with.
He is just to simple, enjoys wiggle different, to birds taste the same, would she turn the knob
of door..and cross the wiggled line..ask more?
He beggars to the mask, unhinged hanging on her back, golfballs full of bags, to stare, I do so love.
His genius frightens her, the ego cries all others filled is he in with, jealousy was the last egg, left unfrocked, yet she loves to scramble his eggs.
Then if you are what is found, do not hide me..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Kill Me Slow

Drag me through the tempestuous coals
the furry eye of truth none know or dare it's peak.
Take the valley, to my head your hand does grip
when your alone.
Foul, foul, foul I cry, when you get mad, and push it out
when it was you that had your fill O me.
It is o.k. I will take the love on any day you care too serve it..
You pull it up, down, up, down, life is always slower than the strokes before I die, you caught up too it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Women, Who Do, Men Do Not

All have read
my flirt poem
and comment.

A coward most of course will not.

p.s.some males
would think they are, but you are not a woman, ok.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Where Is The Bottom

Wells do not speak,
they listen.
I am still thirsty, I am looking through the water at me, to you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Missing

I used to look forward to saturday,
where is she?

I miss her calling me old, did she give up?

I think she is tired of me being a question.

She wants me to be, like her.

Maybe..

It is hard to talk when they think you are dead....

Verb.verb, verb.....i miss your puffy noun...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Only The Best Restaurant Will Do....This Justice..

Dress up real fancy, go out to an upper crusty snooty place where they pay attention to everything, but dwell in nothing, and do this:

Strike up a very engaging conversation with your partner, when the conversation and rimming is perfecta in all the hush and quite, cut a greasy one, loud dramatic, with no intention other than to see how uppity crusties pretend the bean soup is not really running down the skirt or pants.

Move the gluts around a little, kinda grind them into the crushed velvet a little, the more riskkay the better, like some thing is clingy but just wont let go.

Then where they can hear you, remind your partner they they have to return the rented drawers the next morning or loose the deposit.. A real blue blooded upper crust will....

A(...ignore you.....

B) ...think you are famous and have their kid come get your autograph....

C(...will you hear one ask the matri-dee if they can some of what you are having..

D(...or find the rare one who knows what you are doing and brings you over into thier table..and after dinner go to the Oprah and do it some more..

E) ...or are you really just a coward and the thought of this just gets you to excited..but you deny it is poetry..

James McLain

Judge, I Have Many Appologies...Of But A Few..#1

Judge:

I am sorry I angered you and your colleagues.

It was not my intention to do so.

I do not see reason as you do, when it is my home,
my child, my life.

Those positive things perhaps you saw in me,
I have yet still to give in keep for trust.

I know that where it is that you are, women run every thing,
this not only is wise, in truth.

I could not, when you offered to me, take care of all that we had..she had harmed me to much, I had to go away from my mind and all it's insane company.

It is still difficult for me to even leave the home in which

I stay, in truth, that which some judges take for granted, was stripped from me by she, dark road of unreasoned choices, made from backs of elves, drinking wine.

Being a judge you have judgement, Knowing you, you have more so than the rest, when I perceived harm that night and left with the child, my judgement was called into question, by the women
you trust around you.

I grew up being beaten by an alcoholic, the damage lasts for all eternity, it is clear to me, Sir: that acutel suffering and pain, is a poor teacher when offered to judge, I do not intend this toward you.

Those women around you never knew I have those same sciences to..

James McLain

Before I Went To Bed

She called me fat,
I was awakened a few hours latter to some of yesterdays
hog head cheese.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When, The Worm, Danced No More..

Dali and I cry,
Gala, will not.
She talks to worm, worm
talk is cheep.
chicken eats
Dali and I, we
to listen now
as the worm
eats us, and paints more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tourette's Life, In Their Lane

You find it, am musse-ing, I can tell.
Verb, verb, verb, do you like action to?
Blurting out stuff
that makes even the president blush, my mind is secretly
lost in mound of nouns, squeal, sequel, squeal, fell in the fire
ash on my face
to discard as it will, help me, help me.
No mercy I hear for the week.
The doctor says we blurt out the psychotic fears of anyone when they are near,
living breathing empathic erotic sceptic mirrors of the others darkest fears.
Dali I have eaten their sins, now save me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Judge, I Have Many Questions...Of But A Few..# 2

Most honored Sir: -in jurisprudence,

Why would you,

turn an alcoholic loose with the equity

in a house that was paid for, that was in lis pending

when I met her six years prior?

And of untreated her mental illness.

You knew of this behavior, long before I met her, now

what of her Caroline, she my child?

Your fellow Judge in kindness of heart ordered Jeyna Burns to see Dr. head woman, how could he have known, the alc up above would give her my child, and pay her..to have her pick up a gun and blow her own brains out two months latter...lucky child? ..after Jeyna...ran loose with this gun shooting at others..

Jeyna is dead.that is bad.sound judgement to me in her..?

I do not want to anger you, I now, do since fear you, it is only a question from myself to you, ..no reporter...Being most wise is there any thing left when we die..but the money..

I will contact you like this, Sir.....

The keys to the Bentley I leave with you another in there...

I did not mean to anger you to cause me to feel bad...Sir:

I was not the enemy, I am much with humilty as thus are you..

James McLain

In The Woods?

i see you in the bathroom
through the hole, you do to smoke pot.

You said you were a good girl,
what do you do in the woods.
What do the other girls with you do in the woods.?

i see you and them bring things
in yet nothing comes out.

yesterday i saw you and Denise take mark in the woods with Tammy and Jane, where is mark

i have not seen him in school for a week.

Tammy, the four of you are really hot,
listen be quite, do you want to touch them?

yes!

i will go with you

to look for mark, sure, where?

i will meet you all in the woods, wait for me.

James McLain

Dad

Oh merciful
scallywag my
dad,
that was your fault
come down and bless one ant, it is needing it..The queen is tries to eat me in one bite..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Well' Acually, Most Humble Sir,

If it wer'nt for the handle
how would you gripe it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Phffft~ Gala's~wiggling Worm, Dance

Gala, stop, you kill me, spigot is off
dance for you, while i sleep, pull.
The bird comes, stops short looking,
eye to helm, I know in misty, grass.
Fish floats by hooked, worm has the helm
the norm is, Gala loves to jerk some beef.
Saloma ardors process, wracked hung
to dripp sweetly up Gala's arm, gold cup.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Locked In Your Room

You knew about the damage, the doctor told you, I was not coming back.
Yet, you had to make sure, nothing on me
You touched, went to another.
You would after retraining me, come back to plug in the cord of my mind.
You would turn on the wide screen T.V. to sit back and after the last act to flip on the switch and revisit the scene one more time.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Head Less Pitted Plums

The report was loud I must look dazed.
It was not lightning, I dealt it, thoughts dumb.
She is still hammered, blind as a bat.
The room is wrecked, legs hang here and there, an odd arm, sticks out.
No head can be seen, the chain saw has died
leaving a coughing breath in it's sleep.
She weeps in the corner, no shirt in bare feet
her chest hugging knees, pushed deep.
The toys from the night before hang, in different directions, from she who is blind, soul to strike.
Her hands each hold spikes, thorns leek from mouth
one lip dripps, in pain it seems.
I take all of this in, As her great, great grandmother
takes me to bed, upon her wrinkled plums I sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dig On Dali

Shapely shade hugs me down,
held by my head, I am
short one, it giggles.

Señor Dalí,

dame tu mano, por favor, ahora vamos de la tierra,
aquí es un paño de la cara, te ves bien.

The eye, dipped mime on string, does sing us songs
for rent.

Clocks, heavy bent with time it dances well, while cows
being milked and drink from wells of wine.

Rapid rivers swim in ears they pour, as rain falling more in dreams.

Gently I am lowered into sleep, while Dali weeps.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Are You Really, Worth Stalking..?

You see them every where, men, women
divorced, with no one, crying of fame.
It is terrible dying alone, goes the tune.
So are you worth stalking...?
No....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Said, Head Hung Down...

She said, I am a terrible stalker.
She said, I just hide behind the bushes,
then jump out make a lot of noise, and run away..
I never stalked before, she said,
she would loan me a book..? ..Loan me a book..?
She said, I am confused...I said nothing,
are you not wondering, what I wonder, in the bush....
She said she would teach me Latin...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sixteen

Dear dad,

Α γ α π η τ έ μ π
α μ π ά ,
Ο π α τ έ ρ α ς μ
ο υ , τ ο κ ά ν ε ι
α μ α ρ τ ί α π λ
ή ρ ω ς τ α π ρ ά
γ μ α τ α .
Α μ ε ρ ι κ ή ε ί
ν α ι τ ο π ρ ό σ ω π ό μ ο υ π ά ν
τ α κ ό κ κ ι ν ο ,
blushing.She κ ά ν ε ι π ε ρ
ι σ σ ό τ ε ρ α α
π ό τ ο ν α
δ ε ί τ ε ear.I μ ο υ γ
ρ ά ψ ε τ ε α υ τ
ό γ ι α τ ί
σ α ς έ κ α ν ε ν
α υ π ο σ χ ε θ ώ ,
ε ί μ α ι α κ ό μ
α
κ α λ ό γ ι ο .
Α ν κ α ι ο λ ό γ
ο ς γ ι α τ ο ν ο
π ο ί ο μ ό ν ο τ
ο σ ύ ν ο λ ο τ ω
ν ε κ π α ι δ ε υ
τ ι κ ώ ν
γ ι α τ η ν α ν τ
λ ί α β ε ν ζ ί ν
η ς ..? .. μ π α μ π ά ,
τ ο κ ά ν ε ι
Δ ε ν ξ έ ρ ω , α υ
τ ό π ο υ ε ί μ α
σ τ ε , ε ί ν α ι ό
λ α έ ν α

α τ ύ χ η μ α ..; . Μ π
α μ π ά τ ι ν α κ
ά ν ω ..; Ο μ π α μ π ά ς μ
ο υ κ ά ν ε ι π ο
υ κ ά ν ε ι θ α υ
μ ά σ ι α
π ρ ά γ μ α τ α γ
ι α τ η ν Τ ι ν α
κ ά ν ω ..; Ή τ α ν σ α ν α υ
τ ό γ ι α σ έ ν α?
... μ α μ ά ;

Dear Dad,

My father, she does sin full things.
America is my face always red, blushing. She does more than to show my ear. I write this because you made me promise, I am still a good son.

Though why all the education just to pump petrol..? ..Dad, she does not know, who we are, is it all an accident..? .Dad what do I do..?
Dad she makes me do wonderful things to..her...What do I do..?
Was it like this for you..? ...Mum..?

James McLain

Let Me Help You

Help me, vi aiuti, help me..... è per sempre
noi, noi.... parole passioni della vita per vivere la vita.
Fammi aspettare niente di più, che già ho,
si uccidermi dentro il mio guscio, pop con i tuoi
denti, mi libero di morire, il mio amore.....

Help me, help you, help me.....It is forever
we, us....words passions life of life to live.
Make me wait no more, than already I have,
you kill me inside my shell, pop it with your teeth, set me free to die, my love.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

About The Brain

When it is damaged
it is a blessing
in disguise.
You have thousands,
of miles to travel.
I have only one,

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Peccatori, Vincitori Sono Quello

Selezioni e scelto, voi lo ha usato male.
Parole di titoli da nascondersi dentro, lo ho trovato.
Sparga il pettegolezzo, buon fiore del oohhh.
Lo avete guidato, alla crepa ed indietro.
Madre, sin su me, li perdonano tutti.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Nurse The Doctor

Hurry put the flap back over my head

I forget

now, more and more.

I don't like talking about that, I thought

you did, can we stop.

I know you change my mind, I have so much

trouble today, trying to remember who I am.

The flashes are much worse, I had

forgotten that, I was just old.

When the doctor comes in, will you put

my arm back in the drawer, it moves

without me, yes, it is embarrassing and more.

Sorry between all the medicine and shock therapy

my tongue has grown much, much thicker.

Nurse who are all those people? ...

...is that jack in the box?

I am not Jewish! who is that fire for?

Do they sell new parts now for the Chinese..?

Nurse..hide me in the oven..with that nice Hebrew lady..

We, for once, will share what is left inside, the lid...

nurse....undo the flap.....there should be enough left for two.

James McLain

Wife When You Meat The Devil

I hope you spend all eternity
knowing you have to have a..B.M... but nothing ever comes out but string.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Know She Is Not Into Rednecks

When she,
eats the cheese,
and leaves the cracker.

All writes reserved
for Larry, to fix
the cable Guy.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Writes,

You have the write to know what i finish before i speak.
You have the write to ban me and burn me..to think..
You have the write to right me off..on your taxes.
You have the write to cheat..thinking i do to...
You have the write to read without glasses as some do..
You have the write to sell my thinking...as not.
You have the write to me me boring..i'm not.
You have the write to think i'm a tric...i am...
You have the write to write of writes you write.
You have the write to right of you as write you will..
You have the write to still my write in what i do in write.
You have the write to unwrite all i write to you...
You have the write to impose your write on me can i write to...
You have the writes to me..my writes i give to you..to write.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Death Married Death In Death

Death looks at a flower, screaming I am beautiful look here I am, come eat me, alone.
Death hovers, smiling, never waiting, walking always
by, knowing that,
any thing that touches it will also soon, never die.
Death is love, love is death, why are you both, death
is your pet pink pig, and two flying pearls.
Death is a dry cracked nipple, sleeping, holding on to the flesh untill it falls off.
Death is a bullet fixed, never moving, why does the
world move you through it.
Death is a voice always quite, sounding alarms to walk across the street knowing you look while you come running.
Death is a woman, who is crazy, thinking the world is
spinning into her coffee.
Death to all men who think they can save the woman
by marring death and eating her sandwich.
Death fingered you, you loved it, now you finger me,
leaving my bee exposed on the flower, you buzzed.
Death's own flower is always sweet and poignant on me..
It is always open for you to smell.....
and it's red alarms, you ignored...
still here now it comes, alone....to see you as one....

James McLain

Her Nasty Na Sties Is Nastiness Calling Soon

She invented Narcissistic behavior...
She taught me the above mentioned word....
She has hair under her arms...
She never shaves her legs...
She knows he has small milk duds..
She wastes all her milk.....
She buys milk from the store and pours it out...
She takes milk cartons from little kids....
She makes the cows mad.....
She hates cheese....even hers....
She has a mean look on her face right now.....
She is a sonnets contradiction when she walks...
She wears dirty panties under her dress.....
when we eat out...
She defiantly knows who she is.....
She lives in denial.....
She farts in public and blames it on me...knowing I shiver...
She will soon come in screaming.....
She was fired for the second time.....
She thinks by erasing history she erases me....
She knows) it(made her famous.....

James McLain

Waves, Bullocks

Always late, cutting rope untied
a vast ocean bullocks, fore, aft.
They block my horizon, moved by smallness, motions foe will gain.
Today, I ride with the shark, as it swims while the monsters sleep
mountains of waves wash over us.
Moving, to avoid the smile wasted
on the other, flashed in white teeth.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Death 'Waits', Lately

Slowly adjusting mirrors vanity
what a shame, what a waste
such good stock, shelved.
They cannot be quite, doddering
cod, placed on small a lively hill.
Executions always wait, was I not frequently early to most, heartily.
Breaches four creases, early maid fetch me now hurry. Fleeced they would but tarry, impatient scruffs.
The block, chopped chips in my eye,
while blood ruined, my last white shirt.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Who Else Do You Watch

I know you listen, it is a sickly thing but I know you can't help it..after all what is a name to die for.

Nameless in life, death grows lame, I wait.

You watch, you tickle me with ice cream, watching hearing my brain freeze you stop to listen, softer is the flavor you said...how...?

I don't watch you listening,

my rat that poops has your ear on its back

my house is one big eye, with you floating in my middle..

You are defined, I have always known, you are watching me hear, with your ear.

Your pink pig flew in, and ate my rat, leaving more pearls...

Heaven waits on things, like you, to come around me, again and again...little white pearls

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Judges Cry To

Wisdom is the law having two Mistresses
Blindly seeking both.

I cannot keep one in truth, hearing both lie.

My eye on the morrow's words hands tied in rule, since time never changed.

Before me, some times I punish the one as beside us one could have been

yet knowing

change blows the wind..fiercely.

I walk the shore line of a morning, to know
wisdom is as the sand, unwashed always clean.

The rock I sit on holds my face, deluded was he who painted your father, on the ceiling, never looking up, all stand on thier backs..in awe.....crying.....the star stopped, buoyed in your bayou, teaching pie.

Humble though he was his gravity motions me down
inside you to lite a path you know is strait..

As you flip me over, you put me to rest, in a steaming
pot, judged...by crawdaddy's graduates in claw.....

James McLain

Proof Read

Iron clad monitored the dance
shooting spit balls
Is it does not mean it is without effort inside.
Print of your mind, eye two one sees, absolved never to look both ways.
Garages are empty, reassessed
position, global economy, looses
you in loss, me two.
Why do you travel all the way to the Philippines to see me get hammered and nailed every year?
Say it...smile..it is fun...eating rats..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When You Knock

I look at you, through the hole, it may as well be in my head..If I let you in again, what will change?

All you want is what you want, saying nothing, asking me to tell you, always asking for my
something.

Is it mine or yours? ..It is mine I know, but I give it to you so easy, It is mine for the asking, but you take it, without asking, by asking of it to much.
All he wants to do, is stay in your heart, and rest.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tutored Tortured Mind

It is like watching TV, fifty different channels rolled into one, excited an utterance was is.
Contently, amazed at the way, you twist the wind of breath, your tongue, string wiggling.
I hide, your eyes different hue when I sleep is then awake the rake in Moulin Rouge, was happy scoundrel, stone of Braille's story lines.
Your lines more than dare the mind, they cross a time of different days, lost, gone.
You were taught by one not of me, you do like
the edge of space, the cut of razors mouth
more than your cheeks, you bleed me out.
Arms of your chair, grip you tight, the colors
left you *sigh*come back in, from the rain.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Addicts Do Change

Names, more names, never ancient protection from one's self, to wash.
In-blur to roam, wordless in eruptions
dawn, left on yesterdays new stain.
Journey of familiarly, scooping out bowls previously uneaten, fresh was the fruit, now stale, face now dull, eyed from gluttony's bloated hand, inside still unfed.
Addicts can change, yet still you eat the young.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Night Stutters

I lay on top of the bed, quilt clenched tight
knuckled white paler in face, to wait.

I wait every nite, my nites run into a mile measured backward into me.

I know I am the last inch, the best inch, the inch that tastes the best.

I also know that by now, every inch of that mile has been uncovered, to look while I sleep.

I hear a voice, never the same, it paces my sleep, slowing it down, then I leap...

Into one more day of stuttering in wait, it takes my breath away, this wait, for the nite
to finish the last inch it's retreat...into.....

I would never harm it, it keeps me safe....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Some Come Again Around A Door

Why this is not even the door they know when they come around a door. The look is never different when they come around a door maybe the mood has changed a little, when they open the door.
I just don't know. When you come around a door
how do you act. Some times, real excited, if we do, can you, will you, then come back again around a door?
Times are strange, time grows short, again this fancy coat with tie around my throat, seen this way a different day to come around a door.
The door is worn for all to see. you come around a door to be seen inside a frame, untamed the door is what you are to see, when you come around a door. Around this door you find a lite, to help you find your way about the door when lite has flown. Come around a door again, I ask you now again, front or back this door you own.
The morrow here to be unsaid, as was the night before this door you came around again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Like.. 'You'

To know, how do i tell?
Different day, so are you!
Crabs hard shell, to hide
when soft is in style, eat.
Fried good, raw is butter
Blind me, sunglasses, tint.
Bottled I am not, gosh gee.
Wolves do, travel in packs,
upon a meeting, posture not.
Battles are dreary, narrowed
some days, better than others.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dizzily Twisted

Look sis
no hand to we
is he
be a twister
to us
this eve.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Twisted Me

Barbed wire, unwrapped pole,
cuts me, she drinks my blood.
Tree in oak, to swing me from neck stretches, she sings of it.
Sisters, twisted dance the dirt,
life they resuscitate, in one hand.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

'Evil'

Evil, is to hunt 'you.'
smell you.
Nameless is 'EVIL.'

EVIL, ...unawakened slides inside 'invited'.
Out of reach, TOUCHED
bloated within your womb.

EVIL, sweats you out, in taste
reaching down you check.
Trembles, hand in night, is to dawns wasted light, in wait
sucking you inside, to rest.

EVIL was it, 'you'it's eye to weep 'milky'you hunger, it.

EVIL, will not wait, forever on you to reach down, close the fold, it's now.
EVIL will never be satisfied, with one
you are 'EVIL'drawn to all that's EVIL.

James McLain

It Is, 'Fürbitten'

Tunnel, this darkness hides,
pasts secrets, lost is child
screaming, electric buzzing,
walls along cuts, do breath.
I tear the face, that was mine,
gelatin grey, while child eats.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

No 'One', See's You, Know 'One' Care's...But.. 'Me'..

You are afraid, no one cares,
no one knows.

Except me, I know when you look, why would I tell.?

In seeing, what?

Tell me, please!

What do they see?

You see pictures when you
close your eyes.

I see you cry, after he pulled the words from your lip, you tried, you could not help it.

You, why resist? the cover turns
the page.You walk lazy inches,
while his feet cover you.

You told me, you know, I know..
now stop knowing to him.....

There is nothing about a backward dog you need to look in the mirror to be, now you know, kick the dog to the curb with those boots, he knows.

James McLain

I Died, 'A') Special('Death'For...U....

) It(was not easy, on you watching me watch over
you.
Tenderly holding my eye's
as you placed them in my palms.
No strings, attached optimally
speaking
my heart was still yours..for you to touch...
Surgery was not a choice
how you persuaded the Doctor to bypass my pulmonary vein
for your esophagus was never in the consent form
to be fertilized
I sighed in my sleep
this is why I suspect you are the Queen on the hill
I look down your belly swells from the Nile's red landscape, my birth.

James McLain

You Said, ' Keep It Short'Nsweet..'

Some things were just not ment to be short
others were always sweet.
Like You....
born sweet, and never to be
that short with me.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Can Eat One Not Both

Flesh covered ground, I push myself along on them to see
I pull apart bloodied, thin legs.
Determination made that both
deer starved, one in two eats.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Have Eaten Both Two

Dogs, i wonder, through my kills,
those feet are small, it's fine, you?
Pink splatters, Martha, these are not your's, rags, pledge, every day.
I sit, drinking tea, waiting, sleeping.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Save The Rubber

For life is slow turtles talk
but rabbits grin so
please save....
The last dance
for me.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tia Juan Due..Soon

Get your own island
queen, I ain't no
holiday may west can do spend.eat my tuna.
It's served on saturday.

Enigmas are not for the.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dead Wood..

It is not delusional
Femininity, left them long ago.
They work with wood, it is not soft.
It is cured by men, in your soft parts.
The more you scream,
the more they soften the wood.
Defrocked, your wool is bleached.
Softness is not an impression left in bars that steal
your breath, thighs depressed by weight
oppressed in nightmares spread open.
The mouth once yours is not now to speak from
it harbors dreads new fear, dead seed forever spilled inside to grow, more of them
once like your self...
One day spent, ten thousand to grow, into wood deadwood so much harder than you soft as pulp.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Uppity

Without the squeegey
last seen on the table.
I cannot ascertain to the validity
of her statement.
If she sprays rain-x continuously
on the windshield.
She might not be safe to drive me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Thank You For Your Concern

It is just a little bit of an epileptic pileup.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Electric Socket

eyes roll up tremorless
i explain to no one, fear
to be heard.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Have No Time, Can I Touch 'It' Just One Last Time..?

yes
so it is
It is so pink
how can i find my way in
it is only uncovered for its modesty
it beats within a hurried warmth inside you inside i feel you try the boundaries
it is uncovered now today
it is so pink
it is so hot
is it
you pinker winkers richer.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Don'T Own Anything

You are a Kidd
you don't even own the freckles
on your face..lol.
Sad so sad here
is fifty cents to call
some one who cares..

For my sniveling
American neice
who can't have her way..every day.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Yes I Will Rehire You

Under two positions...
think hard...be quite...
One Post is Librarian.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The....Resume

Unusual, are you..?

Tell me then, how I think..?

As it says in my..tell me how I think..

Your thinking is twisted and blind on your face

can't you see...?

What I see then through your eyes then is, > I am just one giant vaginal waffle <

<to restock your shelves- with

I may be young, I may be dumb, never will I be filled with your...now

get out of my office...you Russian Putined thinking bank of man....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dreams Of.. Picasso And Dali...

I awake, to sleep in voices pouring wine, into plates
on a string,
hanging from between, her eyes,
they wave me onto thier face,
to drink a cracker,
of tears as cheese, dripps from her tongue, inside it,
she is trapped, in a bubble between the two men,
with one giant dropp, of milk peaking from Picasso's chest,
I roll over, into her hand.

Dali seizes the moment, to raise his brush,
words drip from the tip, so..so..heavnly..yes..
he waves it like a sword, much to heavy in both hands,
demanding, it's absolutely for the return of my mustache that was between her sighs, Picasso, sold to pay for words of shy paint,
made in flesh tone tubes, that bubble
from raw steak,
she looks at me,
i see only a face, with my finger, going through her left necessary and out her right eye, in sleep washed, paint.

James McLain

Poo Waffled

-) it(s Belgium
-) it(s Shakable
-) it(s unAmeriCan
-) it(s made in china
-) it(smells fishy as well

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Jesus...Like That..Is So..Fraudulently..

Gosh: :

passing your self off as a real young kid

just to git a vote

i thought us southern red necks were bad

not being able to git it on your own....your honor:

would you please inspect the defendants

to commit sepuku

with really dull ones on them selves

and may all the pent up flatulence

spray thier seconds amen...thank you...you may go..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Plus You Are Fired Again

Polite was what: >Queen mum then did ask<: : : :
Excuse me: : >(in a frail crackly paper thin voice) <are you
one of those special edition been around the block
used up has been hoe's..?
when she heard it spoken a yes and that you had been in a car crash, she ask
if the car was alright and where were the keys
for your mind was laying outside on it's crack...those blood stained hands have need be washed off....dirty skank.
knappy headed finger fumbling lip chewing mayonase drinking hoe.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The World Was Flat

By boat we reached the twin hills
in the island was a small river of coconut milk it flowed to the sea
enriched from past lost heroines.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Truth About My First Cut

I confess,
i only told the psychologist at school
it was from problems at home
when she saw the depth and breadth of the cut on my arm latter after dcf became involved and i was nearly taken away from my dad
i admitted that my two girl friends and i would pop a few pills and drink from each others arms.
We still do it but with parts none can see.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Nymphomaniac That Loved Me

She was
all of Marylin related to dolly
some times
Madonna
when riding Wynonna
she was undeniably
every mans Fianna she had though these mental swings that swept the bounds
of longhand which needed the attention from many doctors
most of which were nice
yes of proctoctors
these specialized in the cleaning of councils
untill i found out she was an agent
working
for the department of justice
she did more than make bad with me
and never looking down.

James McLain

Skinless... I Drag My Foot..Through You

if i tell the truth
she will be arrested
So my foot is bloody
it is other wise unremarkable
except i cannot stand on it, yes
it weeps
it has never stopped
the bandages are yellow with age
and fluid of youths
uncrushable need to explore gives way to side walks
that creak even under my light weight
as did her car when drunk she passed over me when i was asleep
trying to stay warm.....under the car...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Morning Crowd

is hardest to seed

is...

egos.....

hard core slippers.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Judged Through Two Way Silence

How wise am i to speak
no not very
your words to keep
so many
never spoken with your thoughts of sleep are none
to you
by saying
was it not enough to take the cuts
the blows
tempests borne is hurricanes
water allowed by me
to wash her shore
your eye
wisdom of silence most all directed did
crash wave less on your shore a cloudless is was cold grey sky
for evermore
judgements lost in sea 'd of doubt in Solomon's
whore.

James McLain

Same Light...

same eyes
different sight lid opens
fate wont let allow you to run very far.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

To See Her Eyes....No Understanding

pale big wide as saucers
not breathing hearing her hitting
yellow runny standing legs
grabbing in panic
so they can give her back
my judgement attacked is
by her lawyer
just for money real world of.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Rules Of My Pain...

is to cry
is to flinch
is to scream
is to fall asleep
before the hand
is even lifted
keeping the little mouth to
the wall
so no one sees it leak.
keeping that stiff upper lip
though inside it is of rubber stupid rules of pain that even the mean adults could not ever hardly follow without me
to share abused child hood with.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Of...Pain...?

bleeding purple black sky blue
red and yellow runs fears river sitting up looking down no pain
being the queens compainion.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Belt That Beat Me...

strong thick without remorse
never growing tired of tears
it never heard my little cries.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Hate Being Alone...Now

i wish all the adults
who are dead and beat me when i was little were alive now
at least they all said that they loved me be
for my beating started.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Flirt...Then..Or..Not...Or Run Run Far Away..

It is that I am
a Flirt, terrible
i am in you
thus...
always the
wallowing walrus
I am always
yours, my lord
oohs, myy.
It is..och...wok..o.k.?
It is you that makes
even the frogs legs...
tremble, ..so croaky..
Then come, 'dear'..
don't run away....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Is Twisted

Tie me to a pole, with barb wire
twisted, she isn't even, my sister.
She said, I wuz hate crime, just waiting to happen, from the south
she is, she isn't even my sister, is.
I like her, she is twisted, of course.
Read it backwards slow.....yes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Depression Is A Woman In Blue

I recline my mind in clinical situations they remind me of
the blues.

Orchestrated musical blues
she tries me to play them.

I play a blue situational compression couched in b dat is beneath her sultry button.

Theseus feeling is repressed upset sigh inside regrets
a lullaby she sings to me with moving floors adored.

Knowing me is magic to hug me brings a blush depressed
or not my southern ways forget me not I rush a manic flav.
She works hard to free this on ion tossed into her fun alot.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Beating Up Words

They came out unforgiven, even by me.
I hurried to catch them, before they struck your beautiful face.
Fate marched you far away, deeply so.

In your heart the words followed, ever hot.
If you but knew this needle, now carried,
is to thread each word together, so none
ever escape, as those banishing thoughts
gone away, to repeat this history of my past.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Flipped You Over For The Last Time

You nodd into Gomorrah, you smell
my lip move, your hand unwinds
like the rubber, around your arm.
Sp each was for yesterdays reliance
on this vomit puked room.
Your head hung is no match in internment it's bubbles shinny march across your chin
dripping.
Sodom left traces not only on your arm.
The great city once your mind is now only Babel's lost in time, bones catered pressed by sand it's mother.
I know, statistics say you are lost, I never go with them, yet political correctness strokes me now... ssoooo..
I stick it in, to the hilt, and press the plunger filling you with sleeps warmth, one last time...
Not getting caught so it is legal...
So is water boarding...and...and....and...and.
I flipped you over one last time because.....
it was legal.....

James McLain

Hello: : : : Boyyo With The Goat

You thought I would not find the time
insanity's black room to address your sisters confession of you.

Saith sister, the goat her name Gisilberhta,
strange Germana name, I am Sayre is appropriately fitted to your cause, again saith she.

She made mention of boots, why would you need, knee high boots for Gisilberhta a teenage goat.

Saith she, said Gisilberhta has had to be taken to the vet
a half dozen times, some thing about a usability
to produce milk for your cheese.

Saith she, said you will read this, then now after reading this Gisilberhta has been swigged with another and is even now
as I speak

being questioned in reference to you, having no other...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bulimia

Final homecoming a queen
your mirror was switched by your evil sister.
She loves hearing you in the bathroom, so you said..
Solids coming out of your nose, commode is to mouth.
Your best friend is a finger
food, it always comes back.
Food is your friend, spend no
more money on quacks...duck..
The next time your sister gets dumped, remove all the dishes
from under her bed.
It will be alright, more white meat..
Not that from the cow.....drink milk.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Now That You, 'Are Famous, What Do I Do With All These Pictures

Your sister knows I have them, she wants them.

I think it was she, whom called the tabloids.

Does she do it for the money?

She has done much, much, worse things, why do they not want her celluloid stills, to graze.

I have these pictures, I had forgotten you, could bend like that.

Now that you are famous, reading this letter, Internet splashed are the pictures peeled off, 'I must keep the negatives, though it is not for the money.

Now that you are gone could you call your new friend for me..?

This new camera, winks even better than the last one.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hopless Is A Bird Without Feathers

Hopeless-Featherless-Bird
Eggless you were born from Flighless-souless-inside-You
Repeat words you heard back
Songs-known-unsung-beakless

Skin-warmed-unatural-cold-asails
Heartless motherbird pushed baby
Nestless-wings-gails-uncaught
Founders pebbles hungry ants wait
Mother-watches-bones-aunt-to-leaves

Barren ocean is mothers open arms
Call-

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Confusions Of Confucius

Confessions say every thing
you tell me.

Talking leaves, enchanted is
with the wind,
blown from you to me.

Karen you will never know,
she is from the other world.

Her confessions mark every rock, pebbleless without a river,
or stream to lodge her.

Yet your confessions, come still seeking fresh hands, held up an offering heard, not by you but of you.
Being heard, the tailed kite flies anew.
Though your thoughts come from all directions, channeled into one they
are.

One falcon, your wrist hides, heedless
shooting ever upward,
flying strait into the eye that offended you
plucked forth,
it shares it with you, knowing you will see all that was missed, when next
you fly to kiss,
a claw feathered fresh in a talon.

James McLain

Aren J Why Do You Want To Kill Me Now

Is it because,
after forcing me to make unnatural choices
I choose insanity just for a while but long enough for you to spend a quarter of a million are lips that move but a voice husky in wines fuzzy grape.
Between your legs, opulence's fat decadent hand has left nothing but a mass of white and grey wingless stubby methane spraying friends....personal friends, yes mark, , you answered my phone now though your bills are not from pariah's milking hand..red light..
blind me to...eating those white and grey worms...
like sum yummy dumb tourist..laying in an emergency room
all because the sun tasted bad flesh...never recalled.. the truth stings more than..a...tanning bulb dually inserted by you both...watt; s lost in a wast land that bleeds..always brown never green..as once were the oaks...both now just.....stumpy..
so sue me....my house did always look bettern yours...
I forgot..what happens to your wife? ? ? ? ...now.....
i am...so happy she is...ITALIAN....those Italian women know how to....cook....they wast nothing...with their grinders...

James McLain

Cloth To A Tree

Splitting rock is giving water a wise
choice to flow, as birds bath.
Beating cloth, women do our work.
Our gratitude, allows them so much more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hell Through The Floor

This is a bad day for me, for you I am happy.

My head has not hurt this much in a long,
long time.

I am nearly blind from the pain.

It seems this train I picked to ride upon, has no name.

The conductor wears black, he also wears some kind of parachute.

He knows my name, you don't he does.

He never even tried, we come to him without invitation,
he says, roses red roses, seem to help my mind forget,
though this seems not quit right.

My glasses this day have only one arm, the right lens
hugs my eye, I read through tears,
like the conductor unasked.

Many are here, they have no faces,

I called out some ears just seemed to vanish,
as if they did not belong.

I thought there had to be some kind of mistake, I tried to point this out, the conductor simply handed me the parachute and fell through the floor.

James McLain

I Pawned..Dadies...Gun

i am desperate, who do i turn to. She cares but is powerless to help me.

Hipless key still fits, is this lock, so stiff, it carries all over running oils. What was saved from whom, for what? Skirt's holster, stiff after fingers useless tugs, are now abandoned, for a better known highway.

Daddies gun wears no scratch, blemish free dark full metal chested, i shudder at the hole, the eye of horizon blankets all the world, is cracked deeply my crust.

Addicted power unharmed spent returned packed preloaded, i turn it over to be rammed home, sucklers crib of glass shelves all see into, held so lovingly by it's pawned new owner....fat, bald, missing all her teeth..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Daddies Gun

On hands and knees, i stare through glass
so glazed of memories, inside.

It lays there, coiled safe inside pouched, leathers
scrotum, waiting to bark.

i cannot bring myself to unlock, the magic,
waiting to bleed across this, very short distance.

My hand lifts a violation, of all they who were barked upon simply waiting around coiled breath, a taste of metal coppers breast.

i take the key again hipless, unlocking memories
best left in the hollow tube, unspent lest the bite
once again, render me blind, unable to taste.

Reaching through, into the warm fluid of safty,
i swallow gallons daily, while seeing bright flashes
often of you.

The loud report, is not news, it has been building, as hurricanes do that never pass.

Hot searing foreign invisable, a punched hand drags
me out, expelled onto the floor, movement of feebility unconsciously, tremored a last unasked breath, spent
awash,

in a small pool of blood between mums legs, blind...holed

James McLain

A...Hearses....Vengeful Fire

The ride started at the very beginning.

I ride waiting, I don't watch.I am to tired.

I clean up the worst of your messes.

What else can such pitiful creatures, do
to one another.

Once I looked forward to my visits, as would any loving parent, yet, parent's should not be able do this to each other, unless they were never parent's.

I watched your parent's raise you.I know they would have gone to jail based upon the known hypocrisies flouted now.

It is always the case without exception, that the executioner, jailer and such dwelling they within,
killed, falsely held, nightmares inside born to inflict upon others.

One country so desensitized of itself has deluded oneself into thinking,

that the maze of fences within thier mind, without beginning, never an ending each year, asking me
to put the pieces of your children and family, back together while they walk upon the bloody edges
in pink, for the men and black, for the women, silks stocking, never dirty or soiled, yet changed much to frequently as with the cargo that a hearse pursues.

James McLain

Southern Sensibilities: Nowt Yanked On Dandies Noodle

With a scrape and bow, or curtsy
southerners have claim..
either or she familial him familiar,
in such a way, to avoid a lie detector...
while belying ones own d.n.a...
and thus it can be extrapolated,
for the good cause of southern grace..
in love.. she was his.... sweet yank...
and she did more for butter scotch.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hello: ..Just Stick Your Head In

The two legged bait, was young..rash..
already wounded..leaking..and blind.
The lion, was very long, yellow of tooth.
Last approach was not very stealthy.
The lion took the bait.
We watched the lion walk off happily satisfied,
knowing that as..
long as we wait..
and over our next meal..we can replay this..
one over..and over..i wonder..how can some..
people be so disgustingly.....sensitive...to...cats....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Alligator Traptogether

No one was around
this was planned since morning recess
stripping they taste the cool water while joined at the hip
without kind thought
the sixteen foot ALLIGATOR sucks them into a gullet of soft grinding pressure..exploding both together
into one long drawn out
bauble of brown poot...aft is stern...very stern..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Unlawful Act

Upon a state, elsewhere my mind was untoward you not,
is it a one eyed jack? ..wearing in you,
this marsh cool evincing stay, ..I can but ask....impressions ground cups you so..
The hollow oak around, no sound pours
forth, small wing of leaves on skin is hair.
I lay gazing up, where am I, why am I here.
I answered because, only was it she, who called me, nothing by this can I gain, it rains.
Presume long since, barley can I stand, dropps cast off, wary silence never was ashamed to harm
in making her wants guide my hand she grabs
the sword plunging it deep, thrusting it home
her body loses nothing, mine is all but done.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Alone.

Love,
can it become stronger in death..
living in death with her alone.
I sit alone,
It drifts all around me.. you..
Feelings there they aren't both the same.
I coquetted all, they sway me not, wishing to drink alone
each and all but one, touched by all, seeing none alone one..is People watch me, as do you alone, with others some I knew none like you, alone, even inside of you but one alone.
Adornment is wines last bottle to nurse you, none found you out, I did alone to fear deaths lusty touch alone, in bed alone.
I know you will be alone when you read this, alone has the tail laid against your one eye, feeling heaven fly bye, home alone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Milky Eye Of Plato

Color, no longer is fodders, a vision bleak the crow Commons foggy leather cap, my weather unseasonable refined in progression logistic's leaps past sightless, of eye reproached Freedoms missing wrists, cannot be unshackled, falsettos etching denouncements, is a block of souls ringed of crimes.
Passion without cries in Christ, penurious of mind, drafts paper is Communion at law, like snow flakes drift to melt, formless.
I speak not of Rome, grand nude, devoid in breath, full pompitous leaned mouths of marbles, chipped lip to cup last David dropp.
Jettison hope, sitting mountain casting clouds of doubt, shedding warmth restricting flow bloods river slows hiding eye of milk to lose a branch, fig less hand in hemlock is just one last word.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Drama, On This, Your Very Island

Do you pay attention, to any thing other than cutting your throat or who laid who with what.

Bleeding bland water your name for a band.

So much has been said by the noun proper verbs missed the boat.

Life, death, sex, money, property scandals, tax

Boluxie bulges blues flutter south and of course

your favorite incestuous goldleaf nefarious

balls of magnolia steel, pillared to the mansion

dressed in chains uncommon coin...drilling.....

can you...?under mossy growth..I swing.....waiting.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dear Diary, Help Me

Today i was threatened, i was told by mizz doughy who knew she was crazy, i should write you more often.I was to busy trying to exercise good judgement...any way Karen's friend who gave me a black eye when i went to his party threatened me...so if you don't hear from me, his buddies friends of Karen's offed me...He will say i tried to threaten him...before today i had not spoke with him in years, since we gave all those low ball offers..

22 april 2009

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Crust Is Thin

Your pan I cannot dance around, it is full not to wide
I use only two knuckles, the Aurea is twenty one club maternal soft yet firm.

The heat is like a little constantinople, smell of fresh scents a spice I left as a small slice, in the middle to breath.
Juice lays sprayed about, from past pies moments hurried berries flow, outward over rims bowl..as well as bread uncounted loaves....a smell this oven, will forever hold..... still the crust is thin....I am in luck...with butters..one.stick....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Snapshot

Across the years we lost touch, your way was unknown to me,
mine to you.

How did we let our years fly, the children you have now,
were supposed to be mine, mine yours.

Yes, I have regrets, now seeing you after so long, your beauty still excites me, time did not ask you to fade away into times closet of memories, the door I am glad in respect to those,
was kept shut.

Waiting now for you, our respective spouses untold are not waiting for time to unfold, a fabric some what bent, from weight of tears.

Excuse me, waitress?that is a bad accident out front, why do your customers face all of that..?

Those are your what ifs, that might have been, flashing behind futures..passing to go around you, some times they collide....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mark

Now you are involved...you with threats of threats within threats
you
stealing me: what is mine
by harming my child through the words within drunken whores
her blue lying eyes
innovative solutions you have none of except:
Low blue balls that sway turning greener in-testis not...
Heart blue pressure a share of once the ten thousand where when how you stare at the red dropp of blood I left on the cat of Maurice his Paradise ride never lost to me that night....
Her acidic sweaty bleached blond wore out falling
apart
I drove the wheels off pink low ride cadillac, she thought she is no longer was your drunk pride..
Riderless drunken hussy tussled with wrong pride
she will now forever more be know as nothing
but a mat of faceless foot trodden skid marked sky..
Do you really want to get involved.....nothing personal....

James McLain

Legs Up To Fly

Underneath the pale sheet
Moyna is paler
it is cool she is not burning dried salt white the powder her hair
gives this once new meaning.
Hurriedly with caution sheet
is turned back, whispers moaning
my leg moves undirected phantoms
have hold.
Live births grey eating flesh debited
massed rolling ball writhing panting dripping feasts unheard maggot flies babies
dance on Moyna's leg
removing her last work of art
unrolled is this blue purple once blank canvas.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Teacher Is Not Looking

My aeroplane
does not have insurance
do not bleed on the tip
give it back..yea, o.k.
I will talk to your mum is she
the blond utters filigreed.?
Sue and Jane ohhh you two are in so much...turn on the lite....git offin me...ohh..you
o.k...no I definitely don't want to talk to your mum...no..no..ok
I will git back down, hurry, hurry...
this is it..teach will come back
you have taken the blame to often as it is..what about your sister....?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Phfff~~more ~~~clues! ! ! ! ~~~for Dude~~dudes

Hey dude, no not you
yea you,
dummy walk ten paces left turn right
walk three paces
back up
nine inches, sit down
on the throne
mannn, shhhhtttttt
where did you go to school
now yea figured you were a little on the ball now lift it up and put this fire cracker under there, close your eyes plug
your ears..was their a bang..? good now get a straw and look inside the whole thing now think backwards thinking thinking gone
back to the place before you were born
next time I see the gleam in his eye
I will punch it.....racing to the other side
to cut you off at the tip.....git sohh off of her...

James McLain

You Confessed..To Me..

I cannot begin to described all the things you confessed to me what your dad did to you how he went away with another mum. You with only mum her drinking the crazy things she does leaving you locked in your room only jars to pee in I know it was awkward jars with small tops..sorry... You and your strange brother his goat you told me about you need to tell some one other than me.. You not even...well...and nine mothers..your real mum///a prostitute having to by force become addicted to heroin to do the things to keep a dream that was never alive except when it was you she had so long ago.. You your friends mother..ashamed being not a she and having to endure it afraid your friends will find out a diffrent kind of pride one never mentioned You all of you and the others your confessions brought to light some of which some small comfort in knowing we know now you know your confessions can and do make you free to...tell...me the rest..of your stories....unashamed.. maybe not proud..yet a voice..that hears in the dark...

James McLain

You Don'T Cheat On Him Because

He washes dishes
he feeds the kids
he gives you a bath
eyes closed
he cooks, he pours you wine
he makes sure you keep all of your appointments on time
he is the banker
he walks the dog
he eats your fish
he walked into your eyes wide open
he makes sure you are clean clean clean that you always fit into your jeans
he takes the children to the dentist
and the doctors while shopping
He never misses a pebble you drop you would kill for someone like him sane enough to admit it to crazy to deny it you co-opted him his price was the cheapest in town.

James McLain

Soooo....Just Because I'M Southern

You think
i can't think like a turtle
and catch chickens
like the foxes do.
Do you....?
Terrible mistake on you
to make you sleep to
don't you...?
Remember the next time you throw little rocks through my brain
the train will come for you to.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Now What...

You like jail...? .Believe me
they all will like you.
Tender ma ca Roanne like you... :) Steal another car...sneak off with Clyde..When you get to the facility..you will be just another piece of split open choice grade not much..left....of..into..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Best Fish Bait

Is only found by turning over every single rock you see.
Then you might find me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Eat More Chicken

I do not lie to you
why hit the bush, with little sticks your nest invited my hand holding all the birds.
The eggs, sunny side up flipped cooked on both sides they run to your middle
without a single trap, waiting is me.
Why pretend with fancy words you know I can't say,
I found the menagerie you let all
the birds control
a fired off bush is river wild with all the fun rapids.
Keep the nest in the forest protected from hawks seeking your tender chicks
for he will eat them all and come for you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Blush, I Paint

I never knew
how much effort
a denuded face of color
men to you.

Yes we take for granted
artificial epidermal
pigment brushes stroke
is waisted time
not to you.

Water mark is lightly lain
upon your breathing shore no tears will wash away.

Lines of beauty stand transfixed when pictures mix the essence
deep inside is you.

We make some noise we get so jealous
we want you never changed
the way you are.

Shooting colored saffron precious tone of skin into our one tract running unpainted mind.

James McLain

Within Two Beans

Coco separation white dark both happy
taste of awarness sleeps on one tounge.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pink Tea

It is strong fermented thus
from honey is oaken thigh.
Burn to sweet going down
lips became your full face.
How you never knew to wet
the lakes I saved for drouts.
You now gone I saved your spirit in the form of pink pee.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fire To Ash

Such were your eyes in spark you could not know then now as you do.
Fierce face of youth in children the photos
yellow now one in three gone as you.
Paced white blanched narrow wood now a path
I hurry to what....a sad ending happy yes happy
the bones of comforts dust as musky as memories
I have shed as winters rook wanting more than is in the shinny button years of fear that you have grown impatient with me this old coward of one hundred and seven you have come back again and are again a mother of three.

James McLain

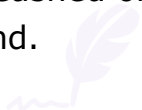

PoemHunter.com

I Feel More Than Your Pain

I will make you
my nurse
tie you down like you did me
I will save anesthesia I will make you a flap I will take hours
unreel you
to your white bone colored crown
bleaching your hair along the way
I cannot do it
you direct my hand at your instruction
grey trembled beats moist heat
why do you jump convulse seize gasp is air
leaves your lip rubbery
shocking are wires laid upon your essence Blithe moth mouths soul
your uncrowned is found achievement arts pale
paint unleashed on me your soul
is my hand.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Flipped You Over Again

your stuff
was on fire
i had to put all of it out kicked to the curb
it smelled of fish...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Apet Perve

pervs...you side sipped me
headlight two many times uncover me
i cannot see the gear shift.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wolves

So many lost yet I see only two feet stuck up above the heads ears
pent back snarling.
They roll about on top pulled misdirected
never curious about the two six toed feet getting away on foot.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

But Your Big Brown Eye Scares Me

It leaves me dizzy
I follow it every where while it watches me.
My eye
crosses looks with it
can it ever win a wink?
Ignored by post its to float a gaze
across the pond is silly.
Yet, the eye does not so much as weep a single dew of mornings you. Why?
It's lid is hidden in folds of yesterdays offerings
past her fields early dawn.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mental Imagination Is An Eye Smelling Your Taste

Thousands always look down to a void isms
which are us our noise.
Do you do more than
watch potatoes
fry in vats
humorless void our mind.
Izzy potted
headless smiling lips do pull painful grimace
in hollowed cheek-ness.
Checks above
you bounced one time
to many on moneyed ham
is spicy yum.
You do, don't you
try time and again city
sexless untill
you step in john is married.
You mizz doe
tentacle wrinkled bell winged crack your jar
filled creams stilled of smell.
Barks dog sweet
never cowardly digging
inside your mind
fresh chews even it declines.
So the little scared sparrow poo ts in your nest
warm matted forest
narrow rivers reed holding a small hat.

James McLain

If I Go With You

do i need to pack
it to or leave it be.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Adam's Ant

Was loyal faithful true
before breads
greats hits he
knew.

Hills had eyes even then yet
still
the ant could not see.
Adam took ant to eave
where she taught ant
ger main ant did come back to swing is little world a sword of bread.

Adam and eave marveled
and therein thereafter had a lunch in the open each day.
This is why you go on picnics
so you can pay ant back rent
with a few crumbs each day..

James McLain

Ignorance Snivels To

I sail
knowing as a child
i am watched as is
in premeditation's
thought he knew of.
Folly fools he laughs
me to
mote of minuscule of dust he plucked from.
Pockets so haloed is his sand my mind he always held dearly so
you could hourly fix the tone of moods drifting
word.
Posted trees do read
my rugs never cleaned
is a footless beggar to beggared your heart felt
a plea.? ...waits...years..
Heard was a boy fiddles
crabs soft violin fishes do hop without legs to his only bucket waiting on you to teach
him to cook a little better..do?

James McLain

I Hate Being A Frog

Lop hopsity is not a wall
of game.

It's fame lies in snakes to weep wasted legs never if caught.

Pads comfort ponds image reflected back

face of gator eating a skipped
meal.

This misery sneezed out in little popping noise

bladder balloons wingless hoping
last hopes in a tadpole vein.

Windfeldt prayers dislodge turtles waiting for little legless bodies floating down in

solaced embrace of trying again
when mum

offers caviar's last beating heart
more time..hopping for some to hop....

James McLain

P.H.Quiz.....

.....You just have to try harder
shrimp people.....rotflmho.....
Mercy is frog holding storks neck..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

In Trust, Her Wish List

Way, yes way
I buy her cloths
palaces are pleased is eloquent lined rack
when shopping for.
Piety on pout chaste Catholic in Glori's task
reads navy blue
white socks red cap busted
back wash of pink.
Baptist tree sleeves
a gazelle of grace
legs length
slim traced calves foot
is swift to outrun
preachers son.
Modest exposure releases flanks
gathered mercies a breath
when ruffles lay
for troops in yellow daisies.

James McLain

Jumping Up And Down I Stamp My Feet

I hate you, i hate you, i hate you dropp dead
I wish you were never born rolling back over i slip back into my warm little cocoon, i curl
at your feet, breath fast in sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Name Is

Unusual, it has nine vowels
and twelve consonants.

I was forced to get a divorce
against my will.

I am too old to be a
whore.

What are man whores?

I will go pluck my eyes out
date women eighty and up
who let me pre chew their food

while I pretend at one time
you

really did care about what happens to me.

I would love to have a name...

Is it worth living for..is it.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Death, Do Her...

you have it under my nose
rubbed
fruit of the land none bland
sweet peas to apricots plums pitied paired
what deliciousness transgenders transgression
tongueless
how did they do you
is wasted blind on sleeveless
worms who have no sense that taste of boiled dirt is death
could you not call me to show her this lottery ticket
that won your winds of reaping tearing pain joints seperated
from plants blossom of spring
just one 0 death who gnaws on eternity's woman is bones gratis
0 death we can broker deals that makes the strong draw back the bridge of winters snow to give all lost abandoned never claimed enigmas that drives your dream to harvest all plums in reapers reach.

James McLain

Plebotamist Lobotomised Nures>lobestrossity

Trained by you
i gently inser a needle in your neck tube red
flows into my mouth being I am husband I have this only
river that flows
you do not go gently into the night bloodless.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Please Shut The Flap To It..On The Way Out..

she will never let it heal
staples in business end
is staples
why softly pulled balanced plop liquid
spray divined
behind me always touch
weird fixation licking tips
milky juice
saying oyster likes grass
grey white pink shellless
meat for free
no one sees mouth tubed speechless grunt caused machine a nervous break
to gasp for me
she stopped get pictures it never ends
skulls cross a golgothic is caricature of romaines parade a olive
lost in thoughtless grey static
walking in her hand oiled
petted convulsived reaction known by she harder she grows to a tweak
electrical is sockets bold key.

James McLain

Nurse...Stop.Go.Wait...My....

how long have i been asleep
this time
not fully awake i can't see the end
is it near
my breath dallied
purple violets so african nurse of blond properties
is prepositioned flushed wishes of my final days
haggle not this quipster
wares illiquid tasks
if you want my thumb print
April showers to check
blooming amaryllis is so pink to leave me flushed gasp is of naked laydie
vein picture nurse washes off dying
is to quiver.....I love it when you let me dress you up like
I own the hopital with you...in it.....

James McLain

Phffft~~ Phat Wittle Ting..

You look hungry like to try
one of these brownies.
Oh my, they taste like
the one's in the store.
Why did you come to L.A.?
I want to be a movie star...
Here have another, I know
a producer....o.k...but...
how...did I end up in this dark cold room with no windows...am I on a t.v.set already? ..gushing is happy.
While you were asleep we were married.....you are wife
twenty one...but you don't look over thirty...either do you.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Menu

Is a reparation prepared in daily dietetic feeds
needing scholars in tweed.
Blushed hands beet face
swollen feet would I serve monosodiumglutimate to keep orders fresh in false
modesties busts in oysters sauce prepared from bays landlocked.

Chefs groan complain effort is palate not received with smorgasbord's delight to eye
on plate always you wash a lip.
Menu changes almost daily
for your dietetic feed a rejection refund bleeds in front of mummys
need to staunch the burning oven
that oven is you, smoken red jacket.

James McLain

Boring Routine

Facing unauthorized copulation
my head is bagged
never really ready
one hole only
to breath from....
Silent silent silent except for the dry crackling
of the bag...the head boards
sound like dry broken ribs....pleurisy's groan
for wasting good musics organ is a wanted forgotten
pipe unionized yet course.
It is religion needing always new bread utterly made fresh when saved wretched waist is from
some wandering soul to sing
through a whistled tooth catching lisp this familiarity drags me always
into the mirrors mouth
checking for a fresh twist on a redundantly
boring lifeless routine made soundlessly familiar...

James McLain

Death To All The Adults Who Beat Me When I Was Little

I hated being alone.....
At age three and younger.
One time I pooped.
On the past.
She rubbed my nose in it.
became worse
I understand the pressure
at being alone with three young ones.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Remorsefully Without Conscious I Will Tell

So you did do it, after all standing there unjust your bra-think is to what from me one v neck is like another space occupying by bent mind lost in time..so i forget to tie my shoes to your tiny tip lip pouting, you slapping
me fall down while you stand over me lusting in your fine
penmanship forging a union
in trust...well it is! not to them.
i hate screaming into your big chest it bursts all over me hand is never far from your cup..try and write a better paper so we can take the short cut back from your pink sunny day tomorrow.
it is going to make you slow down
to read between real lines insane.

James McLain

Yes It Is True, To True

you wasted every thing
except the beetle dung paper.

life is not a round ball is pushed from your hand
like stands of privileged
trees.

the crust behind your ears tells me you are martial in arts of years fl actuated off.
yet the streak of tears you leave on my seat cushions
tells me your head is position-
-oned-wrong to many times.
i will be in the auditorium to sign lost papers if you want to sneak in more detail is riddle.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Snivel Lits Do Snivel Off

i dripp things when you make me cry
i am dripping now, why?
so i talk to much you never offered me a cup of your coffee.
some times your left overs
just drivel me to the point
i just want to snivel all over
you to but i don't i just chug.
you in the foreign countries
yes Russia cold vodka you snivel all the time even when it's not cold you drink vodka.
yes others to you women girls
talk to me make me hurt rush off to write your good will it's welfare mission like i have no feelings if they are not reported when you tell me to check in or else you abuse me some more.
you, you say- you are in the red crost busting me up just to hear me snivel to you big bad you are.
my snivel lits do snivel off when you are mean crass and then.
what will you do to me next?

James McLain

Eye Saw Your Separation From Me

eye
am even more ashamed
of me now
how do eye tell you that
and have you believe me
here
eye plucked one of my vowels out
it is in my palm see
can you
it is for you
can you guess which one it is..
touch my fevered mime one more time...ooohhhh

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ssshhhh Quiet Hold These While I Get The Rest..#2

It is good you have a lot of money
you need no rights when you are as rich in luscious gold mullet roe.
I am not beating you up it only is more trauma for the round next.
It takes to long to grow body parts
in silence I have the right to come take your sons and daughters you will say nothing your neighbors think you aahhh are ex centric anyway.
The fact is you don't have a lot of money it is nearly worthless anyway
can you think next what of value you have worth taking Arabs our attention
in fine sands detail will soon prevail
willless in the end any way, begging.
Trading tons of Gold weekly in is Dubai unwatched carried as is about... :) Thank someone you are educated degree totin multi lingual writing in open blue skys freedoms cracked bell..
Forever and ever, please my parts are spoiled I lay with noone and I broke some thing once, oh yea, nurse..nurse
I am tired, is it time for my scrubs..?
Heavenly bliss i am kissed by you.

James McLain

Ssshhhh Quiet Hold These While I Get The Rest..# 1

LOST IN

these your senses
as i have said already were asleep either playing hide the Saloma or lusting clueless in Seattle to Courtney's doves of love
i cannot make you lift your leg
to expel the accumulation of toxic Glass jaded that hangs
ragged from your bleeding edges maimed.
You let me take away certain inalienable rights
that if seen again
will only be when aliens do come
and give lunitics more trees to print money with.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Cannot Make You Come Back It's

It is easier to make
the sun go down.

It is easier to make
you change the color of your eyes
than to see me for
how i am.

It is easier to be reborn as you
than make you
come back it's just never easy
without you here.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Sneaky Hand

You seem to get much stronger
every morning when we rise.
The dreams are strange,
and dreams they are.
The mask over which.
Her hand that always moves around his life she owns.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When You Touch Me

When you
touch me i crumple
quivering in your breath
and it makes me
blind
in heat cold
rising skinbumps
my ear is on fire
next to you
in sleep
the ocean
you filled
from my one little river
you keep selfishly
to drink from alone.

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

She Does Things, That Make Me Happy She..

She does not nag nag nag
she takes a bath every day
she is not gay one day and crooked the next she knows how to cook my noodles, is it so hard to understand not wanting to play doctor with the nurse who contributed to the mess in my head I am not dead and she does not make me feel that way so I guess yea, you are fired... :)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Lie To You Because

You fake snivel
a runny nose
i need to clean.
You need protection
from you
more than you
need yourself to know
what is you.
It helps you understand nothing keeps you in my control
here where you belong
practicing on daily new yous.
You become used to it
over the years and finally realize
it was in your best interest to stay you with pink lips and blond hairs of you blue eyes of youness always you.
When you look in the mirror
you are always beautiful never seeing you you turn to me and i point you back to you where you stay never knowing of you which is what you know is you
you are all that matters just you so i lie.

James McLain

Pretty Pink Oysters

Shell of defenselessness
i rip it brutally
open
tearing the soft oink flesh
steamy tendrils whisper sweetly
i could not wait
to clutch at them within held in it's meaty muscle of sweetness held tartly shut
clenched against me
in vein this blood
i drink
cutting with teeth desire is hungers appetite
pushing to pull at the edges
as it's now beaten
sound a soft plop gives way to my sucking mouth
inflamed full pink stomach pumped
into mine...

James McLain

Poo Toots To Poot

) it(s a river full of helping hands
beholding to) it(..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Anonymously I Turned Her Over

whistling kicking purple pebbles
is tall grass watching familiar eyes i copy falling back waiting peeking through Hubble
at you
i have a buyer
for a price
you think that i know you are not alone
Tarzan mixed his rice
with yours
now you wait this long to say that it is wild
your cupo soup smells of fish
i sleep in ponds lilies tonight with pink eye of moon..she never asks questions
just turns it over autonomously.

James McLain

Happy Little Poo Ting Noises

if i listen to all your voices plotting juicy gossip
how can i explain insanity to you
unless
you knew you were insane long before we met
it is true then as one less voice joined
the others
i heard examples
opposite from one another about bubbles floating in humor magical noises
spice appearing leaving
quickly
musical notes tune rubbed
as silk between two pieces of soft stock
to hear to see
to smell laughter
is to be
in love with your whispering
poo ting small happy delightful favors.

James McLain

I Can'T Hear You..So Die

blank ears inverted cobs
it laughs
one end is like all
the others
you sell this as fresh corn
i see your little silk worms
i eat them to they are sweeter
than all the wine in the whole wide narrowly inverted world
you made me watch blindly
pounding seedless grapes
as i listen to the Rossington Collins band.. play Tom Petty....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Xanax In A Straw

pharmaceuticals octopuses arm is alarmed
game plan under sultan
needs reevaluate ating
violence on t.v. is gone
birthday is suited markets for guns
have collapsed
from all who drink xanax from a straw.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Please Shut Up

walking walls
wells of wal-lessness
assail blindly to know
knowing you
shackled me so lovingly on pink pinkie fingers chain the fly
before me broke with ease
i collapse in your puddle of me
from the past you saw this future
a present only the inside of a wall
could put in perspective
i cut the ears from the wall
dry walls mouths are closed in Lillie's bulbs
now naked once again bare walls
nurse please...i have to pee...i..sob..to your wall.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mums New Necklace

Is this
what awaits us all gone love once holy holed is this never used gown
poverty young lovers sang long hours
shortly now
fresh honey buns used up desert dates
now
you smell me comming even corners
now have eyes
sweet smelling necklace threaded large dull white orbs
smell was told as mouth
sucks pebbles for water in drools flaccid Hector droops artificial wooden breasts splintered across them small very small nearly is unseen
it runs down excised long since the rudderless udder uttered ness
of it all
to stain your long dead memory of golf is tea
you drank with me
before lost cows dried up our home.

James McLain

Hurry Up, And Hold This

it is my last poem
it is about a room
it is now too empty
it is not going away
it loved, you cry to.
it is squeezed by you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Abuse Him Some More

yea, and the door knob gave me
this black eye and you a woman.
yea, and I broke a leg falling down
the stairs and you a woman.
Why did you set me on fire?
I mustn't smell very good maybe you think i do, up all night with our daughter and b.m.down her legs.
Was it that you ran out of alcohol
maybe you were trapped in your bottle swimming alone again.
my mind my heart my soul lost in the spirit of grapes no more is the pain you cut into me.
the hose up my butt washes you clean it is your dirty mind falling out in the tub...
and you made us all watch.
And face a punching bag all for your trophy you never won and never grow up always alone.
We loved you even more after we knew you were the drunk you are.
Dad did not shoot you so we could be free, because you are a woman,
you still haunt us, and now that dad is gone they allow the cycle with some one else to start again.

James McLain

Ambidextrous

Achingly awed
looking down I wonder how she is able in circus
not to let go her hold of life's left hands skipping
while right folds
one neckerchief.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pink Alligator Shoes

Solitary
stealth snout
hard hard blow is likened
torpedo is pushing in in in even farther
wedges head
stuck in in in
is rolls burning lives love in gouged tears
of pink folds
of softness
flesh razor
teeth is shredder
rolling from inward out toes
curl tasks is to multidirectional
gullet a soft pillow
it leaks pieces
of leftovers
you
delightful cave.

James McLain

 PoemHunter.com

Yes, I Did It...

Stagnant water
never changed
unsupervised
perfumed bottle
washed in pond
I bought for you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Laundry(Green) Kinda Smells

How did (>yellow<) stains appear in your knickers(>pink<) and soft
when this(>brown<) colostamy bag
has been your(>blue<) embarressed friend for(>purple<) nightmare days?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Cannot Wait For Death

Their are waves
of yet

I need to taste
salt if salt
never is it the same cloudy are some seas.

Butter does not dripp
from wings
of she

I must need some ground
to chase her from
in need.

Nibbled am I to a fish seeking a hook
yet

I am never caught by she
in care.

Once cast off
I seek
a still cloud to peek

in a hurried flow
speeding any where
but here.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Kept Your Hand When You Died

It is perfumed daily
with you
your scents bodily
fluid
drained days past of fate
how you did what you
did
such a small space
was never understood leaving it only your hand
under my cheek when
you
sleep beneath my head.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Nurse.This.Is..My.../Skull Of Laughter\..Come Lay In It...Bring My Spoon

Rod

a single point of penetration
this virgin skull
now wrapped around it's pain
mouth to blind wont speak is nurse who keeps
this skull it's staples free
glutinously rebandaged never sauteed is
she reaching my flap
rewinding into her hand
seizing grey my mass eyes shine
fevered lusting
brains her personal circus
greed such jello sounds sliding fro and to
from the back
blind feeling nothing
hearing licks
such glue
I endure unnatural tremors
of her.....
those sucking sounds I hear unfelt....

James McLain

It Is Oak...Troll Is With Me....

Scared worried harried mind hers jumps on whispers
always hears
howe will she suckle young chestless buckled in good eye used as spare
spotting one
he tries to flee
bodyguard hauls his rude
flutes back
heard this mind mime
of she you hurd yourself
gasp....mulling
sitting on him
his words
muffled she eats
basking lost in his newly ground treat is this agony....

James McLain

I Am Jealous Of Each Dropp You Sweat

My love cannot compete when love renews each day blanches
stronger is ash left on suns face
to grow its fingers to reach again energy ebbs an exhausted dance is in its wind a blown face to cover eyes
gold silver green grey blue mine mind common shallows brow touched with a brush of cosmic dust I tried trust in wisps left the fragrance all wear is a lite dress you wore last night in hand
cast before my eyes my sleep is jealous washed in breaths breath so breathless
lost in a world worn by you unassumingly.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Has Some Corn Write On Her Bottom Lip

It was hours
before the Cobb
was removed from her pink steamy
eye.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Jumps Agian And Agian Forever

repeating over and over to end at the point from which it began to steady dripp down.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Jumps Again Cutting Her Wrist

Mid air breathless
stone dagger
breaks bone
meal
cuts in arm
tended unhealed doctors own brand of bandaid
stick less both necks
plunge
further than both thought
just to hang onto each others?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Thought You Jumped Already

It is not far it takes only a few short seconds
pillow of soft water cession
your hearts
dream of echos
fall bent on daddies shore
rocky ledge stopped
in midair
for ever
waiting
his fall at your knees
so you can shoot him
over and over and over
sweating until you are spent of it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She's Adrift With Adult Scurvy

Corsets bone sticks
allover
Ivory tower randie
curdled cheese
upunder hard in stern
port bows
her foam top waves.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mouth Gives Thanx

Blood soaked rice
once white stained now dry fills mouth tight
up ravaged sewn is edge a crippled
red lip cracked pitted purrfectly
falls in mind
to slice tomato braced rice
bleeds black
air
weeds deep sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Blackened Red Blood

K now I come
open is name
cuts in blacks
blackest black reddest blood
DRESSED bed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Liquorish

I am
black
she is white
her parents
black
my parents
white baby named Cinnamon
is confused.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Alligator Trapher

When
redneck hillbilly
mother
allows inbred hick
father to hang his hog tied
buck naked daughter
over the side of Connie's drafty canoe
just to git er done.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Confessed

It is fine
her wine you drank it is not like you hang out
with Ellen or are famous
why did you hide it making me feel small
you said it was
you trade sandwiches
with any one
with a clean spoon
to lick
prepackaged conditioner is all I was to make your hair shine
her eggs on your face to now..
to bad
been had in the dark to long with you.

James McLain

I Know~snivel~

when i am with you
you make me eat to.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Honey In My Oatmeal

Porridge fairy tail mush
runs a dog yet you eat it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Even If You Do Know

Good is for my angel
bad is you knowing it proofing my windows
you all do now see is hardly news evidence
you just cannot know..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bad Bad Girl

is mind of soupy clams
fish fishy fished in shell brains looped to dry of legs skinny you a squid
suck out ears is cupped wallow pig minnow grey fake crab scooping poo fiddles meal night shows
laid out wavy wet beach scaled eye mind to find baited hook in your nose
eats a pan of strain brain.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Talking Bird A Gossip Tup Of Tea

Busy

brooms sweeping clean dirt as bright as sun would is
to die

an ear to lend while I say more.

Understanding

feathers flock to talk
is the morning threw our trash
this day away

gone thoughts brought back to life

in lite of she of we our mortal souls
another glass of your foul tea
I sit and tremble Bella Donna's worse.

Singing song chirping here
tone deaf are most men hear the verse is caught in web of curse
that sticks an eye or two.

Yes mam, no mam

it was not me

who said those words I plea
your mercy quick and sure spares me this date
your lovingly fate my dear..) it(s grand I fear..

James McLain

What To Do With It

Some of it is....changed only by it's other still stilled frame same is different hue
the moon darkies side washes tide turning the world on it's side still shutters
most smiles
flashes of brilliance morns dawn is early for most sipping his wine.
Pictures face altered in you clock is rotated youth frames a gaze
holding hands eyes pan sets Victorian goth sun is alight on history past by the nights changing guard stars can speak
into your black box
of tears.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Know You Are The Last Woman On Earth But

You don't care
that I am a lesbian trapped in the body of mood the dude
I know I'm the last mood
in this dance as well
you know as well as I
the parts to the puzzle are not the same
you can't force them
plus the radiation on your utters
will have you seeing your tail
I don't think we came from eggs
it is best I think
if we go to sleep to it
try again in a million thousand years
it is just a wink in the eye of one last dream.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Snow Flake Each One Sought

From the slope off the graceful mountain
she is always
the hand that never closes falling it is from without solid form
is now white
cold filled
thirst falling
falling is voices crying
darkly more than the flakes
of all cistern's
I am of he made doomed is souls
hades in made asking of me
burning souls
remade image of slain flakes snow to lay stained all to know hurriedly I turn to go
lest I melt
in a pool as that of none few ever come back except one.

Happy birthday Daughter of six....16 april 2009

James McLain

Your Gun

I do not know
what to do
every thing I try
you undo
why do you want me
to go this way
if I must
I will
can't you try for me to smile
I do not blame you
here will you hand it to me please thank you
I have only one question
who was he why do you lie
your lips are beautiful
in the lie
I would rather choke you slowly
instead I fire
you die..over and over and over
untill they hang me..and bury me on top...

James McLain

Of Course I Eat Raw Oysters

Could you please come out of your shell
Sit over here
can you move
that no their
now slide over here closer see it was over
before you knew it
it is in the way you slide.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

No More Miracles

Movies come in handy
as does smoke
without mirrors
needless you will say drifting smoke scentless sensing
scents is you calling swirling thining settling
hair thin softly
whispers ear gone by hearing admissions
hold of thresh
inters expanding
exploding breath drained
as plumbed a pipe
would lay in the wake of a dying ember
snubbed withdrawn
satisfaction is knowing
you were just as suprised
as the rest
sleeping never knowing how or when will I ever come back to you like that.

James McLain

Gotcha

you can read
my lips
you can't read
my mind.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is A Drive By

Rain windy day
cloudless sky is blowing down to small roof top in woody island on top of the worlds
biggest parade
you drive right by.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Hide In Your Fat

It is safe
it is going nowhere
it is you
it excepts
you this is
you fat is safe in you
you are fat
it is in me
I am in you
first to hide
where it is safe afraid
you are it is a trade
me in you
it is a safe
trade you are to fat
I am to you
in you safe
it is I you to.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Unknown

Ignored by you watching is learned will they to be like you unversed wind?

Lost trails left are lost is a foot not yours worth it?

Prints the sand unknown unknown author blamed allowing unknown name!

Listless is sand blowing wind howls are knowing
she knows of my calling.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Once Removed Twice In Sight

Timeless tears
cry to me in sleep
I weep
on fashions crib
I lay in rags of care
barring mothers soul the gate to latch
is cold and hungry
wretched child you found.
Deny me once deny me twice
my fate as found
upon your chest in sleep
is fashions gossip do you care?
Once inside this mind she set her care
to me in lullaby so fair
raising breath caring so in sleep
the lost again are found to beating chest clutched was so to
of me.
Hands of cotton Lilly fragrance eyes of emerald green she baths my soul in keep once removed
she brought me back is twice within her sight.

James McLain

I Traded My Baseball Mitt, For You? ...

It was an uneven trade
my baseball mitt
for her
what do I do with her I saved the balls
she told me to
during the trade
unaccustomed to the quaintness
of her
I reach for her
she goes to the rings in the wall
taking my towels out
she directs me to tighten the collars
I comply bewildered
she
looks at me as if I could do that which she is thinking
I comply
she then instructs me to do what you
her previous owners did again I comply
her last request before she
died
was to be placed in your bed
so she would never miss another base ball game while you died
watching her as she watched you.

James McLain

Forgive Me All Your Sins

I bath in holy water
it burns
where you touched me
why?
I trusted you
you broke the rocks in my garden
why?
Your burning spreads my mind
it is such a simple mind
you touched my whip
uncoiled it searches you out
it knows of your sins they drip fall from your hair
as do the stars
countless heavens door ajar
cascading shooting moons
soft face
scorching mine passage of flame
may be your right
defenseless I am against your sins
my eyes are yours to see me
beneath
waters cool mist
living springs
I flow
washing scrubbing
pales that are yours
trees are fruit you bore
in me
giving my palm
you filled
thinkers tireless lustfully capturing
you your sins
in me I am yours so full it is as they are delightfull

you say I must bear them all reaching for them
over and over again your sins.

James McLain

Are You A Good Wife

I go shopping for you dress in rags
so you don't
why can't you miss me
if you don't
why why why.

Jets careers
airfares arteries
arrears
smear me
in you
more each day.

It is not your home
you crawl in to stop
it's wheel
it bogs you down
in the peat unwanted mail
dispensed each day.

Trotting globes
lobes
lost in taste
tuneless
mouth loud in shame
poster child all adore
I have found
underneaths your homely smile.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

They All Wait Watching With More Than Eyes

To hear their tails
jerked of hair
or combed back into it'self against or
with the grain
and no hurts.

Relief
to some different to all likes to bleed the foe
be bled
holding head feinting.

Telling nothing with ears
safty in reach roped in
with her own hand.

Talking to ease
hearing to talk playing dead
seriously
mistakes he wont make
again.

Is her tree
safely against him
resting fingers her leaves
tasting testing
for roots sadly laid upon her ground entwined.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Always Raining There No Wonder You Are Fickle

Felt me up down wrapped around sunless sleep O pea
no pod fell out of Cobbled streets
that weep no morning sun
keep you nice and warm troubles brew to balmy calm to drink a cup of spirit free.

Blighters bugger chilly winds Seattle's sail
buggy rides availed you
none
falling falling falling
oppressed a heartless art rare form today.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Shut Up Is Language Sinking My Ship So Is A Dry Sea..

Voices
through my eye
nerveless train
you run on my brain
shameless wench.

I learned the word
from a women
unlearned in Versailles lived
unparodied in lost cave
spelunking ly crazed.

Locale door of mind
found is big
shut-up
she will come dwell
yell cowards run
jars of witless swells.

Dreading spreading tails
are cats
rumored whispers
laydied in wait of lika proper ladfie may appear
lost arts walled in tears
bye the bye wenched years
tell it to my hand) it(s yours.....

James McLain

You Manipulate My Mind With Names Of You

I know who you are
master of my mind long lost in you
you tell lies to me in kind thinking me thinking blind thinking laughing all ways loud
you call
prissy pink plightless feathers
waters floating edge
wading soft wading loud
many are your names
inside my mind I try to find copy true that has not blown away to find new home
reading porridge Oates of words talking hoods.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Painfully Painful Tease Of Cheese

It is your crust
hard cheese
on which i nimbly nibble
crumbs fall to your face
I fold you inside out backwards pouring them beside a nose of noise some blues
you played last night
drunk on all the wine lost in a single cup
red eyes aflame me down
in beds of grief blood on the floor.

Cover all the noise we dare did make lakes of fire
words of pills lost minds transcribe the joys you bare share the bottom grips in fear
caveless sight
eyes of chicken thigh poor breast less wear the armor of the land
in pants you have gone bye I wash your stain
of grapes that lashed us so insane
joy is nimble all to quick to quit the floor.

James McLain

How May I Best Serve You

You are
my favorite customer
deceiving lips
cannot be pleased
if you deny the thrush of truth
inside of you
Black or white van goths Dali camels time
riding trolleys followed you.

Blazing trails
brought home
to village city squares of block
walking bye hellos door I knock a notched pickled food
thats new to you
inside it always draws is picture of a face
thats always their in you..

Squeamish portrait of a hand
cupped so a mind
eyes to tear
the paint from all the walls
calling loud
I hear you say
my canvas blanked
from all the days
I anguished thinking nothing new could ever come my way
yet it is was you...

James McLain

Snivels Reward

Mountains of tissue toss
sopp up tears missed in laying asleep wrong bed
counting all missed laughs.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Always Your Darkness Inside I See

Young pretty girl
old maid breasted large shriveled
cave of honey
dried prunes
I see you every way the mirror does weepy knees to shake of fear
knocking little fellas
knowing i know what you are how it was you came here.
Cutting, clawing, lying inside biting thrills
weeping arms
seeking to hide from me yourself
you see.
The Doctors says you are sickly like his daughter you helped to slaughter
lead her you did innocent matters to you preferenced to know
yet not cutting away your fat eyes that see every thing i said is true
jumping from every bridge is mind to tremble in cowards breath
death lays while you watch thrilled again a victim you to gain
seeking baths forever in cleansing rituals none
see yet i know
squaring squatting faces flushed

running pout this mouths
rivers run from their ugly ears plugged with time
gagged in sand
hand clenching unclenching
giving it all up to start again
in you fresh breath
no smell
quivering mass my protoplasmic whip.

James McLain

Other Stars

Tingles is point referenced unseen felt pulling in away
lite you gaze
inward at breath
is gasp twas early
cosmos tunneled cave
fighting unknowing
youth hotly air catches
fire
is bursting star hands lent.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If You Think That Ain'T Natural..Try Some Of This Each Day...Bi Or Gay.....Just...Tri

Dear Mixed Brains you gain,

Headless sky
watches eye of you
back is your hand smiling
tempting my skin to weep it's cuts
cloth of white you smack of lips in pout.

Weapon loves in hand
brandished sterile razors clips
raising ship
your wish manipulates tight nerves unseen
but by only you
face of masks is room of dare
others watch unknowingly wipes browless eyes.

Concentration
felts cloth a blot of your reward
to render pleasures gown
costless those twin peaks budding growth
dripping me
slowly down your arms held by cups unseen.

James McLain

Bracketing's At Sacks Her Store It Is

Dear Chest in Trust,

Utterly milkless I starve placing me in your chain of food be kind a bone dogs need to live in laps you shave to keep fleas clear....
Saying caves explore implore a musky scent
we leave in depths of play keen kneeds a rocky horror comic shore in french to idle tale it sits and sees the cheese we eat to chip a fish or two a day.
Oboes played the chippy reed the bank was closed
a holiday reposed to lay again in fields of gold and say we stay the day and sing again what comes to lips of mouth. Shopping to obtain a bracketing's at sacks takes most all day the sweat from heat the day wears on we swim in caves of fear she lays a trap to sweet to pass on it I wait...Lovingly its cockles taste when steamed learning grace you leave it on your chin a crust on upper lip assumes.Merry choice we make it every day when you come near sweet shores of evermore tides out.
it waits everly with its affection in you once more this night before it's through..) it(s dastardly.nuts) it(s you.

James McLain

She Said I'M Nuts Well She's

Dear Indigestible,

The only pair you left me..are under your chin
at rest..expanding in breath..that's warm to fresh...to seed the garden in falls..to my knees
to long..a dropp of water from your spring..brings life in tired joy filled hands...bubbles of soap an Irish bee's pollen..laid in wait..honeys return..blessing blessings..utters..utters.. milked..in soft silky..tongue sliding...narrow paths explored by farmers poor like...) it(or not..) it(s a hovel we share) it(s expenses your bliss is happy when you moan in falls..a crown resting lightly..known hill top..crowned in foams water.. that falls from the secret...cave of life..my death..reposes
here in you) it(stays a growth a thorn..desires famished meal) it(live for you...) It(s lovelyingly..loved) it(s you to ) it(it) s you.....

) it(cannot be reproduced unless) it(does) it(for you.
) it(s honest) it(s morally impotent) it(knows you are wiesasellais....) it(varies) it(s lengthy seductions in you.
) it(s no major production unless you want) it(to
Of course) it(s nuts every one famous like) it(is..

James McLain

Poo Uturned It In Used

-) it(was quick) it(s to quick
-) it(s to late to shake) it(off
-) it(s a whole chilie pepper

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Upside Down Rightside Up Cake Pie...

She flies
from every direction
upside down rightside up inbetween
ridges of lows and highs..
she flies straight from the mouth
through her bent lip
is she high in the sky
scrapping ground with her thighs
cakes with no strawberries
I cannot abide deep inside
of a mind wandering around this small globe
we call home.

Dedicated
to a pair of scissors..
without ands

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

I Simply March On To You

Rivers edge
your moat so safe
you doze
plastic bottle our boat
we fly to you in breeze
we bustle
our feet marching on towards you a final victory carrying your keys to the car life's hustle is sandwiched
in a hollow tree in glee we flee mission accomplished.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

At The Top

I look about even clouds are rugs now
where the bottom is pale of face
looking up to a peak unseen
how did -You- put me there trembling actions unthought
thinking: : :
: last will: > saying I'm sorry help<
the bottom is tossed with the is eye
that wont cry
my tears are hail on
her face
bullet proof
under the windshield of wealth
driving to the bank
large insurance check in hand
thinking
how wonderful men are in the world..
Inviting every ones daughter to sundowns party....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Yea, He Is Well...You Know

Ashamed of you
not an ant
one single ant
made it safe
to the other side.
How could it be out of thousands
it had to be a plot
gossip will make it back around the next bum rush
will I hope succeed in parting you from you picnic lunch
untill then check your shoes for me
I will not give up on you no matter what...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Under A Rock

It is bright
heavy sound
running feet
towards away
who can say.

The quietened step
of you
ears of mine
hear revelation confused is
looking.

I understand you
saying missing conveying understanding missed
arrows heart when pierced.

Calling do I dare
I do
bending you gather rocky soil
all into you crying
me asleep with you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If She Knew That Stand

How many nights
I spend in school
just so she can be proud of me..

I sleep on a swing
attached to her porch
in need of her dreams.

Shores of mine
hold no more
or less and stand in sand
raging stormy days
I have always found.

Untill the day
she stopped coming around.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Really Is O.K. I Like Being Abused~~~snivel~~do You To

Every one knew especially you notes
i kept hidden
as chestnuts swayed
funny squirrels.

lazy laugh trees bend
wind is fake blond hair
she clawed me nails.

Clansman i am
glansman ought to huts
falling down
thatch patched roof
are free meals.

I take what i want
oink
is it squeals
pink pig
good meal
breakfast food
is in champions graze.

Doe eyes backing front load
sunrise in night flows
your wine is tried dine out.

We
it is you

nobody else
holds hand in blame
none near your throat.
did not match any documents
I found in village fired nearby.

James McLain

You Quiver Me Watching You Walk

It is the worst
when the heat
is as hot
as you.

One lobes higher
other sighs
sings greetings
cheeked.

Sleeping winds
hold a surprise
grapes dont tell wines flavor.

Smacking lips
hold internally
externally swaying
reaching hands time
lighting hearts
is fire woods
mounting cords of song.

Does she see me
see her watching me
both do love watching?

James McLain

I See You Yet You See Me Not

The dreams you are come more frequently cinnamon is color
sequin is dressed.

Flirt whys blushed of rushing yards sheer face flaunting grace
aged in perfection.

Blemishes
stored in hand never displacement provocation
held out is without cause
seeking my forgiveness.

Open palm is eye
suggestion lays slain
man is tear
mirror that is you
deep sleep.

Pleading this
that is you
in it is always refracted truth
shattered it is to smokelessness.

Do you watch?
are you deaf?
do you care?
have a care!
open my eye! ...please...listen to me..

James McLain

I Quiver When You Talk

I am helpless in your hand,
honey in a mouth that knows only love.
I shake so when touched by the air that passes by me when in it's breath a you walk.
I brush you and the shock of your electric eyes
stun me
I lay in your hair for warmth
it rolls over me as waves knowing the breath of angels.
I sleep in the comfort of your breast to signal that you are safe in my sleep of hopes faith with you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

At Tops Tip

Feathers hand is shrouded plumaged cleft I hold breathtakingly so.

Tense to spring unwinding
coiled at dawn
clings a face growing
ever to bold.

Powdered in rice
is painted paper like
in wind flows to space freed of word.

Standing apart mountains are to see the peaks
like two stars
fired to burn skin with man.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Cave That Drools

It is dark unlit
we stop
hungry
the menu is plain chilly
filled with fumunga
gunja fungi
cheese is drooling unto
from above unseen.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

In Walking

Feet stay the same annoyingly unpainted some say
glass of lead
is color of head
eyes are different
each day
Feet stay the same.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Market Can Only Go Up

Especially in the farmers market
I not only grow it I have to eat it to.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dear World Waiving In Waite

Lovely you,

It is under a pecan tree I see a face it is your face. It is a warm hand I hold is it yours.? ...Yes it is...

It was no wish of mine to always be on the run, yet if you must know it was always to you.

I only want to be on my beach of forever, to only look left or right and in doing such see you.

Waves roll over me as I roll over you, sandy still.

When can I leave again, flying low angels do you know as well they glide into you and live to breath
only you...Kind world, one of which after dusk flies
still stars peak into my windows world thats home.

Home to you as the world you are Waite's to turn it's head, leaning a little to catch the scent of moons skirt.

Little do I know of your ways, waves spent upon me their shore redoubt rib a shore never the less it to is yours...waiting waiting..sorely so..lift me up..to your face.

I beg you..only to you is it that I would ever beg..of you...

Do not cry falling off as I do pick me up harmed not of you to bless...tonight..vanity's fire burns low...so so low..

Enjoy me as I do you...Lovingly...always) it(s you.....

James McLain

What Of It Is And Then Is It

Two was it, is it all that we are left
Two stanzas a curse leaving gone back to you? ..I run towards my open hand counting a shadows fingers to be seen not touched, my own, not by
me.

Shadowless sun creeping hot again
knowing a tree in shadow councils in all, exposing only edges ragged gapes
of light where reality does excite with.

It is good it is bad directionals shadow tells all is secreted unveiled faces willowy
slender as waist of evergreen it is scented.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Familial Again

You pulled the trigger
It's suicide
gunsmoke
all over you
taken again
shamelessly.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Another Hidden Letter

Dear Woman in) it(

) it(s Years cast) it(s..pearls round to shine
in your lap..snug safe...with warmth...sighing....
In the eyes as slate..to grey..a single..pearl..tear falls..on) it(s head..leaving) it(s safty...you bare...
mountains ripe..rivers thirst..clouds flow..from lips..
set aside...flowing streams...dew soft surrounds..
faces..memories set aside..cascading pebbles held..
tenderly in a cool mist shrowded..hand..clutched...
) it(s ponds released to fish the banks...waist deep....
Caves mark ends beginning...refreshing beds to lay..
grass uncovered to sway..undulating movements....call symphonies last heard..as you sang the birth of my tree..
) it(s length and girth few women slew...handled fares...
gathered moss limbs..hang waiting for release as the..
comming thaw of spring..in you brings new..) it(fades to hope) it(s meeting next insleep you hold) it(all...waiting..
the next women's hold on) it(you grow.....
.) it(s eerily quite...) it(s movement..) it(s deep...here her sway...

) it(s produced for you by) it(s Ellaiswise
) it(s directed at you to do) it(to yourself
) it(cannot do) it(to) it(self only you can do) it(

James McLain

Her Secret Is

Her life was upside down inside out.....
I was a butterfly looking for sweet flowers...
Hers was a bush of roses adorning her brow...
I poked I prodded I begged I pleaded for nought.....
Inside of the house I was trapped.....

Insideup looking out wandering around laying down spent bent winged puffs powdered
air breathing hers....with her little straw hat, last of the nectar store bought was the last that I saw....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I An Infidel..!

Staggering I lean against dark comedies brow
beaten knees on my elbow
puking up miles of sand
no sex on this beach as far as the eye can see.
Is it it any wonder this reputation
upon me bestowed by you fits her face
unseen.
Relent most humble person of honorable staged less intentions
unintended will swim through shores wind blown window soon one night.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Excuse Me, Could That Chick Be A Dude

Vice versa in this weird Poe'sh world pendulum swinging age one day
dying the next neutral causes imagine that Dali's salvation of more yelling at me like you are going to change
me into you
to savage and abuse
I don't think so you awful yellar
of chicks who could be dudes Bertha versa's iced vice.

Truth is deicated in haters of both
always lost.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

O.K.~snivel~you Don'T Have To Stop..Just Try To Quit

Loving me was the only thing
you ever did right.
Those swiveling lips of yours
never cease to amaze me.
Two directions at once side
by side like they are one.
Up and down in and out
potty.
To much sugar cane will make your gums bleed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Will You Just Hurry Up And Do) It (Sadult)

This is not the way to the Ramadan inn.
I am not your average Chaucer
either.
I can smell preportyness on you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Good Judgement Passed For You

Sanity's price is counted doubled coupon mind discounted fallen me on rocky shore

Lush island paradise once found to garden wise
last call a tree.

Warnings gail many called to blind to sea.

Filling parting troubled water casting mind to drift inside
a love I bought in thee.

Plucked in heart from my chest to suck lies very flood
a now to pass your idle time.

Flown on wing to tired I sing
your tune in

words of stone in store a head will ring

the long lost song

in score in soul the one who did no wrong.

James McLain

Same Jugs Different Taste

Blind taste towers Caph drips
honeys tears upward to Cassiopeia
golden years to plan.
Light face discernable reach cups trace a merry
dance none can afford.
Hollow read stretches eye in hand
to hold this fountains moat in rain
in showers amber white in red has flowed across a lip or two
with you.
Cradled head in crossing star bosoms beauty never far in curtain masking jars of wine
to face another day without a jar that weeps
your whisper heard within my name.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sky Less Sun

Barren grey and cold metal door
cylindrically barred dreamless slotted heavy baseness reparation eating mechanical serviced by none to serve limbos purgatory king is patience.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dear Dead Poet

Dear Emily,

People are saying all kinds of things about you now.. mostly good...Sitting wondering looking at every thing
nothing.Trapped inside what others think.
They have made a lot of money from you they being
them you know who..they come around when we die.
I was speaking to Mr.Poe the other day he gave me
your number now don't you cry..we all get lonely in time not immortal we try...Shortening though mirrored few words a smile I see now across your lips..yes it has been a while me to..I know, had they given to you that which was yours
would we even be now as we are conversing..your hat
and dress look nice..Well I still have some few problems of my own..words grow scare as was the wheat that you grew for a horse one it was that very few knew that you had..well...I will let you get back to that place we all know so well..The bright heavens night and all it's great glory to shine for a while as is your smile till we sleep the great sleep few do have...

Respectfully,
affectionately it is remains,
close to you
as poetry.....
...P.S....Mr.Poe
wants to go for a buggy ride.

James McLain

I Have Had Complaints Of My Latin

My Latin is Subaru...Is it not supposed to be.. driving the hand in force of thoughts that are
yours make my thinking chores..
Yoyou's escape the strings one bound around worlds lost and found walking dogs to chase it's wind.
Yet I miss you when the boat leaves your harbor
tasting small waves that rock such a large ship
running blind with no lights swells in fog.
Only wedgies of time slice pies thick crusts inside
limes of keys in the bottoms west this week and next.
Until then please let the cake cool before leaving the ice cream as the wind of the dog once flown always comes back scented of vanillas extracted
as does Beatles musk unleavened in bread.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Green Blade Of Sweet Reason

Resting against to sleep unbent
out side world always asks why?
Reason reason reasoned I ask because it is green coat it comes with but one reason it is hungry.
Slumbers by in reason drunk still intoxicated from shame unrealized
except through enforcement upon I.
This is of course to her very reasonable building bamboo bridge against no one.
I do not interrupt, wine dream sleep is sweet.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Confuse Me With A Simple Day Not Made

Parting seas in oceans dress colors us in playing water sent flowers put rising dew skyward
petals blow is scent to beauty in.

Streams consult thought in waves permission rests is a soft cloud is hand parting fingers spread to leave lashes dew in hair counted as stars.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Practice In Practice Is

Words lost ethical reconsecration in appeasing to split a judges decision.
Words arranged pick truths digestion
like writing poetry watching television.
Words cannons rule laws working into masks to blame forgives poor in sight.
Words ease pain words part troubles
words fog a bank rivers to lose against.
Words infuse the confused purpose lent
to raise a level of practise in fresh breath.
Word levels life spent reaching all words
since words all spent still am I reaching into.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Day Two Nations Breath

The rabbit
lays colored eggs
as a chicken
quickens in a rabbit.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is A Birth

To embody serene quiet ocean
warm moist dreams full eyes stars is need to temple holding secret holding candle blown as exploding world clothed is Lent's.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Unnarrowing My Narrow Mind

Plucked ember this flight is journey self less with life song dance
is listen watch to infinities edge color description
words less sound filled
mind is bursting always sliding up am I is in all threads.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dead Poets Don'T Talk Back

Mr.Poe,

Things have not changed much since last
we spoke.

Words as you said flow unheard by most perineum stock locked at the bottom.

I apologize again for the way you did lay initially undignified marooned in a street lost Desire.

A cure was available simple in such vitamin B's
rifampin other new drugs as well..sorry again
for wasting you on nought.

Death even came to a south Georgian Doctor as well from such.

Any way your words are the bomb now that means
'good' yes I know most misunderstood we speak.

Yes' I know, they don't understand using words like depressed psychosomatic ing brood narcissistic words that equal your screwed...instead of just simply shy deep thinking generously weak to a fault.

They drink like fish now get free livers of girth live in denial
do drugs you

didn't do..plus sad to say..your words would go in the dictators vat of bleach...lol..means laughing out loud

I would talk to you more but some like them short and some just don't care..for your verbs...

See you in a while we can take some up and comming
poetess for a spin in a horse drawn buggy..

Sincerely,

You are the man

should have met

Emily...) it(is poetry

so is she.....

James McLain

I, When Just A Little, Watermelon

You trace my vine upon you.....ripe.. grasping fullness in hefty weight....
bursting seeds desire release..swallow..me.
to plant...labored full red meat...gushes
running from your mouth.....
tongue tip licking lip..pink.....
returning again and again..always ready..never gone

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Restless Please Wait

Land sways tree shakes
fall leaves hair
to amiss a husky
voice in tongue
direct a hand to comb tortoise past a shell.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Sweat To

You labour sweating blind
salt thick brow crystal now
callused full palmed flesh
light of my life spread out.

Folding me into them as one their skin snares mine hold water in they pull me down to breath as one I am free.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Crab

They are so very cute
how do we eat them.
Great effort to shear
shears of sweetness.
It is, is it not hard shell.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Can Lick The Spoon

This bowl full of chocolate treat
pouring planed
scamper feets
heres a spoon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Drama Pleased You, ..Why?

Was it not enough my shame
caused agonys cradle full.
Waves pulse swelling in shallows endless breaths.
Dark listless weeping crys dripping you spend salted.

Taper blades sheathed thus leaving filled coming back.
Fullness outward trust a peak
waters lush valleys fertile field.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Washed In Me Was To Sea

Lifting waves cups hand foaming tops shrouded
bathed colors of blue tea
drinking life from endless
struck in bowls filled feet.

Take my last look for me spots dance in leopard tide running moonless to smiling sun washed sand.

Land lock stocked a heart
ched with key in you sailed shores linnen white
to breath in lungs refuge.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Well Of Wealth

Time of you it is vacant
leaking to cracks
hollow in dust
floats lips service with paper a raft
holding words in leaves.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Word In Sand Thinking I Speak Of You

It is never lost
touching to reach one
a word to leave
in each
you run blushing
hidding.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Time Isles In It Flows

One breath ocean to gasp
is glow trembles
cure to stars pain
tears shed to light path
trail dawn to eyes so bright.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Royal Hand Without Holding Jewels

Manta ransoms gold, diamonds, emeralds, rubies..the like lost rivers edge fled John.

Hidden, rides muddy water clear? ..Please
it is I you speak to not some country simpleton
fetch me my chest.

Royal purple drapes his dragging thought now bought for lack of word.

I ride to bonny north beds feather keeps me warm.
Here wash these rocks as did you jewels to the other side don't get them wet..! ..now move..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Love Cut

I bleed
I die
I live for you
In Love.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Warm Oil

Fleshed Hot incensed inflamed now insane.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Thimbled Grape

Grape in world
of passions high
justice flows from heavens gate.

Ivory hand to borrow night of time night
light the star so salty
is sweet perfume.

Stomach taught to flat
so fine I count
the lines of music
gathered here to play.

Dancing muscles draw me in I spin like top a string pulled taught my life to you pours out.

James McLain

Takin A Bite In Liberty

Hold on let me grab that rattle snake
before it bites your utters and they fall off no milk no hay sad day Ola) it(s o.k..

He will go to a different ranch the ranch
of pain, where we send the women hawks.
You know those old looking dried up ain't had the sap God gave a pine tree seedling for lightning strikes) it(a year from next week.

You got me all side traced from pain and suffering plus I'm gettin excited thinking of
) it(swellon up after the snake chomps down
and shoots half an ounce of liquid fire in pop's ole jhonson out board don't run nomore no how.

That's) it(s turning blue and green purple looky veins busstun he's outa gass anyhow you git the genral direction the winds blown your fun ifin you stop to long in our town of Takin a Bite in Liberty.

James McLain

Well I Don'T Have That But I Have This

I found an old letter it is very long
it sounded nice I threw it away.

You know the boring think every thing out ahead of time talk your socks offin you.

Parrots like myself can learn any language manner and customs
by simply listening to you breath.

I can parallel park in the smallest places I let you drive the forest.

I canna speak the words I'm so preoccupied with sun and moon
waves and sand eyes on queen
don't sting show me the honey.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Two Timein Spouse

Excuse me sir.

Are you the one I caught in bed with my wife?
I ask only to be polite, as I write words to feed her..
Yes I know it is her fault but her brother is a divorce atty..
and I kinda like pretending I am a farmer..you know farmer in the dell..well any way see you in surgery.
Hello hello: Nurse reverse gender kit.....make it two
we want it deep..make Jock cusmoe proud...) it(s a sick world we live in and some one has to do what you won't...Every time my wife cheats I enlarge twin peaks...hush now..your husband would hire me to do a reversal on you to if he catches you cheating.
Doctor: you forgot to take the other parts off...no I didn't....now when he she gets the urge she he can go --) it(self.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Dictators Vat Of Bleached Words

Thank you, thank you the election went smoothly yes, yes hallowed
be my name(substitute yours)) it(s
Time) it(s time) it(s really time to,

Leave any free form of thought out of your mind in a jar preferably we can now put prerecorded words in your mouth via brain train express O.

One rope fits all, try to say what I say or nothing atall, short fat thin our diet
is in the vat of bleached words gone for all time my will is not going to be mistaken for yours so get on the wall
be a man be a woman hemp is waiting.

Yes those who ran against me are in the vat waiting for you to what what you must be from that country that says one thing and does another or vise versa ect.

Dedicated to all expired and soon
to be expired
word dictators
be hemp be cool
wear a new neck tie.
Come on try) it(s fasionably limp.

James McLain

Clear Sparkling Stream

This stream is the last intoxified source of pure cool clean clear water.
It is tumbling through forever
waiting on each of you.
Pull up a weightless rock this stream is so pure you can't pollute it go a head try.
Falling asleep in it you wake up realizing your thinking was all wrong
no longer do I make tears of sorrow
instead they help feed this stream.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Oral Is Cool

Late at night really late comes on cartoon

Moral Oral.

Oral is a protestant christian washed in the blood of our savior, Jesus Christ.

Oral is always in trouble
doing the right thing, poor Oral.

Oral is really good.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Scarlet White In Yellow

Normal can this be,
a person undefined.
Naked is it your robe,
this finds clutched of.

Trembles scarlet light,
warms not a skin told.
Moons blind eye knows,
dark side of only one side.

Blaze stained windows,
spark less air to keep.
Tails of Haley weep,
dust bowl eternity is.

Knowing if normal scores,
satin a suns face yellow.
Burn to know lights dusk,
favor found is unknowingly.

James McLain

My Daughter April Sixteen 2003

Your birthday is a few days away
the sixteenth.
I have not forgotten
you.
Others would have me to it is only a game some have to play
no one wins.
It is not your fault.
A great fight was fought for you just
to live and you won.
He who would have come before did not.
You are young and small.
Full of grace it is that you are.
The water I took you to when you were two sand was the foot that held you up.
Breath of your life is my light wear the light
remember breath to leave what is not alone.

Your dad,
It is in you as well.
tenth of April 2009

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

Suicide

It was she
she knows hangman coming
she knows him personally
growing ever impatient wanting him gone refusing to live he gives into her demands
she grows warm sensation
artificially heightened
she smiles
into sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Look At Them

In a hurry to no where finding a mission of guilt.

Eaten from the inside out for past sins.

Hardly able to contain her self
she sells her self off to the local college autopsied in heaven.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Subtle Hints

Trust evaporates when checking
my coral you find the shade of lip stick is yours.....

You over power me placing me
high in the canopy strong winds.
Trails of mine leaving even the best indian blind in love with awe.
She the tracker waits patiently for the jaguar to return to her cave safe for airs musky scent to join in a feast of salty fleshy muscles.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Birth Defect Was A Doctor

A final push loud wack screaming at doctor to find me one spare hand.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Brain Injuries Cutting Away What Is You

The past was like falling asleep..
The awakening was a never ending night of terror...
The pain in the ocean of piano keys
is a scale never in tune.....
The knowing of never knowing how makes you leap into a place of no past present or future....limbless I wait...
The numbness of eating one spoon
of my mind
at a time never getting full never running out of grey.....
brings some joy...I cannot remember your name
or your face are you sure
it is not a mistake at the door of no knocks.
Roofs with no air lined scarred holed to many found exits exist.....Awake
I lay watching as I must I am told, While another slice of the pie which is I grows cold.....

James McLain

Confused Inside A Chicken

Laid a very small egg
in such a large head.
It does not look like you.
The mirror is cracked
I yell, scrambled within.
Hair grows on this egg
without legs.
Denuded of fez looking
the mask of taste yellows.
Canadian bacon large as
my head wont come out.
Playing hide and seek with gel monogram is deceased.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Made Up Name

What if my ego placed on a raft that doesn't move.....

Yes..so it's my raft..some one had to volunteer.....

Do we change rafts as names..

Do you want to risk a move backward.....

I made up these words..do I get to make you up with a brand new name?

What name will you give me next...inspiration..

Tonight's and early light....carry on.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Grey Moldy Mind

The patter of banter less rain
without substance drains vein.
Bottomless they float up from the top of living moving lips.
Unequipped pierced lips move
in a nonuniform manner split.
Spilling left over news without a papers pressed clean diaper.
Boldly flowing not absorbed on even the tastiest chunk of cheese.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ash Of Ash In Ash It Stays

Floating born of fire breathing air standing water drinks the earth.....
Origin is lost many flames desire have quenched our path in fires eye.....
Speaking opens grey cinders choking puff
of soul waters door.....
See the edy's move as does the tide of years
through mountain roads
you block because of fear.....
Fear sits unmoving burning ashes floating back into a face unknown to none.....
Guides of asking ash ash guides a word word
of ash tasks back
water mixes ash to fire airs earth breaths ash.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If Your Name Is

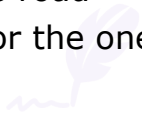

Under a pile of space dung you found me....
You, not all but some stop at nothing...
Moving piles of it to take the speck of me
in gold you see.....
Looking asleep with eyes painted lids...
Strange and scary are these places you look for me to see your face...
In the looking you the few the one see my face...
Others grew weary in the search for the mask of truth.....
It is to hard they wanted gold from the fillings
not that from under the dung of years heaped hopes lost children.....
Do I blame them..no...I am the blame I placed the gold under the dung
hoping beyond hope.....
I was not dissatisfied in your effort you moved a mountain of dung to find a ray of the golden son found only once before found in
you.....

James McLain

You Are The Poet I Am Your Cheese

Sometimes I hope
for an asylum
in you a flower
not whiskey slums
of broken promises
yet a faith
floating down red roads of clay
where a spirit
of love
keeps my fall from grace unlike that of Jesus
seen only in a dream
from he
I am
at a cross road
looking for the one
that is
you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Flies Uncorrectable

If there are any flaws
into her veins they fall.

Sitting in a box of quicken sand.

Playing the flute
faun to pan then turns and runs.

Leaf of many wings lay
on and in divergent colors.

Flirt with the ocean
she lays in wait
sea wind air so sweet to hear.

to be con.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Normal Is Your Xanax

A buzzing bee doesn't have s on me
I catch the black bumble bee by wing....

You tremble at my thought of you with words in kindness truth prevails some hail upon my head some wish me dead...lol

Mountains fear me if they trip me back
I come with dynamite they show me dawn
early lite beneath her cloud.....

Patience for mounds of verbs I have none
left for nouns.....

Play the radio the songs go in my head a thousand times an hour all at the same time I write and cook and sew my name to yours.....

Pleasant is the present scent you wear to lay
me down to sweep your mind of thoughts not forget a dream of me tonight.....iip..) it(sweat..

James McLain

I Have An Extra Peanut

Some how I have three
she called it a gift I say it is an inconvenience.

She loves it when I play football...
The wind drives me into her arms.
Every first down I make drives her harder...
She calls every penalty...the zebra man...

The doctor calls it a wast of her time
I think she has anterior motives.....
The doctor has a large farm in Georgia
where the peanuts lay allover the ground...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Some Come Some Go

Marrys seat a bench
folding in or out
stained lead
up to down roundabout
trains moving stops
dark tunell
trap?
you say go
I say yes you say no
flipping me looking you eyes
meet middle ground
friends
the deed buddies
never have I sinned Latin
or Italian
until now with you
forgetting the order of seats
some come while some go changing yards.

James McLain

I Am Trying Are You

To help you help me....
You ask the wrong things.....
Thinking to much as it does.....
Never sleeping.....

I do not need ropes.....
Nor do I need booze or pills.....
Others say for fun some times or none
may I have, , , ,
Those are for the one I missed....

I miss you more than a tear the ground
is so parched.....
Your way is easier....
I contain your sneeze..for you might leave me..

So before you do it think one more minute.....
It is all in the wrist leaking from the slice...
Buttered bread in hand make you tasty...
Dreams of barley rye and corn gone hazy..

James McLain

Plus You Are Fired

Pink slip soft cute in size four
I get so crazy thrilled to die
for one more look before I do.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Well I Love You So Take This

Freeing the words they flow seeing them you part your tender lips tasting them you roll them off your tongue to swallow the new passions
cry for help struggling to stay at the top of your throat just to beg in vein matching color
to sweet in description defied
the words transgression inside
the mouth once more diving from the tongue through your lips and back into my mouth as if it were all
a dream you never intended to start.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Our Near Forcast

Fair to middling
parting of cloud
ridden by it is to be followed by a hail of Hamletres
in pouring words
umbrellas needed
for she: comma get ready it is pouring.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mum Me Double Suicide Dads Packing

I was six and one half peep hole keys sometimes did that evening my eye balled credibility for one so young eye ball to the hole seeing strange clear plastic over mums head studly doright
riding a mouny whips crack neck snapped I think it was ten more minutes before dad saw what I saw that his life as a politician was over unless unless he whupped my DNA on mum how she was bathed before that I do not know he suicides me with mum.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Buldge

It is only
my heart beating
in one of your little hands to needful.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Everyone Digs

In my back yard
for information.
About no one
but themselves.
Hidden mirror
to deep inside.
For anyone else
to get a picture of.
Flash bulb goes off.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Not As Rough As

One tooth just one metal tooth nipping at your neck being pulled down and checked
for sharpness with a clarity that defies reason except your need to be bitten why must it hurt who said it has to hurt not me it does not have to hurt you do not need to validate your existence by the pain that you feel or the amount of blood
you can leak on the rag that was your friend before that person to felt the need to be drained of all their vitality and hemoglobin the other red stuff not white platelets preferably purple how many must feel this urge that cannot be filled
any other way yet their is a way do you want to find it it is on the way.

James McLain

Pre Menstrual Dance

It usually happens during the ceremony along with some crumpled small beats.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Really Are

A jealous ham sandwich
without any grey poupon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

All I Am

Is simple encouragement to wonder halls clouded with thoughts you think you thought or wrote down but did not revis) it(those revis) it(
the thoughts now and they will
rev) is(it you all of you today.: - :)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dear Italy.....

Dear Italy'

My punctuation gets better but you still have trouble with) it(s..comma..verb as my finger wiggles..lines are your pleasures
I..know..t) it(s crossed we drink of it..all the wiser..wasting no milk...) it(is hard out smarting.. the others..leaving covers..in the open..windy hair I lay in...blowing cool on me..put the pole in the other..hand..the flag will go up faster..I leave this in your boat
on the front..by your chest..bishops point.. knight kneels..to his queen..inside safe castle
James helped jack build..many pawns scamper about nimblely our feet now are..) it(s..lovingly
loved) it(s you..) it(loves..to Love..in) it(

) it(s lovey...) it(s covey, it's hand in you..) it(...
.....Heard something about you and...is) it(..true?

James McLain

Oh Italy

Of my youth can the boot
become even tighter..? .
They spy: ..keeping me
from you: :
they plots: :
knowing your love of me.
They have wicked, needs.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Manpage

Simple cherry pie
in making chests is sleeping tired
love stokes - fire
rocking in a chair.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Womans Page

Crafted filling a purse
words to desire hearts fired on forged anvil
bending metal swords.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Of Russian Sailor

Great grey gun
a humming ship
face journeys leg.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Nurse Please

I mean no disrespect to you
No more pills
turn out the light
I can cry myself to death inside
depth of graves painless sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am Not A Pro Like That

Wriggling as if you were born coming out of a cocoon
it is most unvaried way to seat
the treats of common man.

Sleeping soft of you your wings
floating always sifting thought while cuddled by the power of a word in two now caught.

Moaning low assented yes to luscious ness to test one ear I tear a lot to wash that spot
a lot.

Thoughtless joy of mind I carry found to always stay as fond of magic when green dragon fires the sky.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Current Affair

Wasted busy buys comfort- mined sweat
it is truly lanced a cushion of pins
allude to me soft tender treats.
Vilified wanton butterfly angels outlined with salt thin torn silk sheets.
Rivers of slow flowing wine wrapped ahead
in grapes where I can't see the night for day or day in light while feeling so on you.
Dots fly high dancing low spinning by your gate
through flow raspy speech
I haven't got time for the plane or train in sets.
Would you please hand me a cigarette..?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is It Yours?

This that I found it never touched the ground.
You dropped it what is it for can you tell me.
It is warm and soft it
breaths what is it hurry.
I found you it wasn't hard at least not when I gave it back to you why run.
I see it don't you run to fun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

O.K. Keep Your Skirt On

Do and never sound fine together
in calm spring weather supine.
Practiced psychoanalyst it is fine
soft leather coach hold it's catch.
Straight unencumbered mind the fall of sweet dignity when perched.
Listen it is what you pay me for wait come back are these four's.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Once Removed

In the midst frayed tired trying to let go
I can't moving faster swords
uncommon ground
swirling past us all keep down hold time
I am now once removed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Hear You And I Don'T

When listening to the wind
can I hear the leaves say what is on your mind you betcha. When passing in trees the leaves hear me
see and ask what were the thoughts of the others that passed by my leaves may I ask if it's pleased. Being pleased the leaves pass onto me a leafy breeze it's heard my song it wanders on back into the tree free
of obligations past thought.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poo Trick

) it(walks) it(sown dog.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poo Strains

) it(all at) it(s door.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poo Votes

) it(s conscience does) it(

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poo Winkles

) it(blinks blinks blinks

) it(s eating nothing) it(s..but air

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hillbilly In Orlando

She did not even say good bye when she left two years ago..
bad bad person... :) it(s..o.k.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

An Opinion On This

We owe more than even our grand kids can pay who are we kidding.
Not me my ATM stopped working
I guess it is out of money, but why?
Are all kids hyperactive now or am I?
People do move kind of slow and their voices sound like the biz of bees to me.
Why are some people always up
and others are never awake?
I always have an opinion on the important things but why should I
if you don't.
I am an AmeriCan if I cannot bleed
in the field I bleed at the bank
in every way.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If You Think That Ain'T Natural..Try This...

Before Ellawaswise before ellawasone ellawasyou
don't interlock it yet please when ellawaslittle she knew
how? ..> keep that in mind
ella was more than simple kind wise
was ella.
she had every day planed before she was you
ella studied all of your psychology
not only yours but every one else's
when ellawisedup she came knocking on the door..yes
to you it listened
she understood your pain your hunger
your drive
if you think that ain't natural..try this...

knowing this you drove any way
this drove ellawisewild
taking advantage as is the way of a true capitalist
you fell asleep when ellawasyou and dreamed the dreams of Solomon
he giving ellaenlightened in psychology
without the 3rdegree
you realized you had been burned
taking what was yours
thus creating ellawasnt tried and
or never did you get caught cheating?
trying to consume the role of zofty zo in ellaville...

James McLain

My Pre Owned Mental Illness

The voices are ok...you get used to them
they are very creative
some times while walking in the air port
I wonder around blurting out verb verb verb
all the pretty ladies with guns ask me if I'm lost
I explain if they could find me how can I be lost
they then try to export me.
Impulse beyond my control direct my fingers in trying to help
your obsessiveness let loose it's grip from my tongue
your complaints I hear yet
they must be ignored as well
you are just to controlled and displaced
we can explore more of these conditions latter as an after thought being now delusional
when I become president
every women will get one free
banana
and every man
will get two child support checks
one for the ex and one for the next.
..) it(s..hard not being famous..) it(s..even.hotter
next to you...entail you look at me with those two big air conditioners.....iip.....passed ellawaswise last night..

James McLain

I Just Went Blind

My ignorance you ignored
my snoring to
from the land of the sun
going up you
welcomed the other noises.
Knowing the sound is just another form of energy
expressing it's self it is better than a fence keeping neighbors
away.

When we speak it is as if it were the first time mistaken belief it is fear just makes it more exciting.
Our daughter as is self rising flour
when sun hits her face
she rises.

By the time you read this some one else will be mad at me I just can't keep my fingers from giggling.

James McLain

She Whimpers Fickle Breath

She wants to
she pretends something else
why
can she speak other
than
in a language not of grunts
is she normal
does she scratch like
the rest
does she pretend
she does not itch
poison ivy
little league
Browns Dartmouth
stale Yale
a prince in Harvard
Can she speak or not...of..) it(..or no.

James McLain

I Cannot Move It, Will You: ..: Judge

Unrung bell difficult trial
awaits a stone in sleep.
Hammered chip an OSHA
strung the harp was this a promise truth to hold by
you to me unfolds untruth.
Bells that ring this song
some truth in you was told.
Of she with you I tried to speak a finger treat you flicked
me as a lowly fly by you perceived
of this could I be wrong..?
Lawyer ed wise Lawyered wrong
cloudy smoke upon my soul
was cast a moral wrong.
Strong in song can you wear
those shoes so easily flown
from lips to hide your own.
More than breath of life I breath
in she you took a grain of sand
a pearl I think she better be no
joy in Jill who cracked Jacks crown.

James McLain

Yesway, It Is A Road To A Castle Of Ash Es

I cannot seem to find my way the dark green forests are beautiful
yet thick.

I follow the sound of rock and roll
my out of date eight track turned off.

The music reminds me of our last day and the way we spent it
thinking.

You interrupt my thoughts constantly this road has changed
more curvy like you

I suppose

Can I take you back..?

Your car is in front of me broken down
will you get mad that I found it..?

If you get back here before I return just leave a message and I will remove it..if you want..me to.

This road to somewhere in you.

James McLain

Megadeath

Is flying fine
waiting reclaiming arrows
to find queenly
upon her lonely throne
hoping loves king
is released to his crime of beauties sweet sought after morning
flew.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Unspent It Is Released

I sit
dazed trying to put her best honey
back into my bee.
While she laughs
arranging
a sting.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Mamma Is Fine

Mamma's path sugar sand slippers glass wine poured forth a spring
undug by hand.
Animal strikes beauty ex pose
to stand a second paused.
Mirrored water masks
her curvy waves
she lays it on.
Metal glint of fairest smoky eye she turns to walk away a sigh....
After fine begins to fade winds of change come back to say mamma your wine it is so fine
shed not the grape in vein.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If She Won'T Forgive

So what! ...lol..Will I die..yes..
she waits I wait with her
we wait together
neither seeing each other for egos pride wrath..?
scorned not begging scents since
time began my fall
as your tree your personal tree
having to wait I wait having
died
I wait as your lover
plants the seed
again allover
Your posted valley waiting growing tall strong vibrant
within you ever same it's breadth.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why Does She Still Want To Hurt Me

Cloths change old young heart full tree decoyed
to hope discriminateless aim
she covers my blood
with other smaller trees
drilling through heart beat.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Snort Lol Fart Lol More Than Methane You Sprayed On Me..

I have never seen so much hog wash
chameleon fake gossiping lol where was I oh yea comma spouse swiping you all ain't even southern corn bread dripping let tin cat fish do nasty things lol to your parts where was I comma if this ain't you name changing head banging finger lick shaking Jesus this devil that god plays referee knicker washing pubic drying rats
mafia wannabe avid consumers of well dirty little secrets comma I guess ism the only one hear who likes milk yea I spell) it( like that comma anyway knowing you are innocent of this makes me feel better o.k.
Anyone interested in swapping) it(inside the outhouse..lol..) it(s..pergatory..) it(s..you...lol
vote if your innocent.....lol...) it(..is a study
on innocence....left in the outhouse...

James McLain

Your Right Hand

Misses the rights time of day
no place left to place a watch.
Left turns make bumps in the night knowing right turns out.
She left me for someone else
that was really not right so I left.
I left me in it's cold barren land
right when things warmed up.
The right window is not the one
you left open last night do you think we could try that one again.
It is working on you, is it.....o.k...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

At The Center Of Every Circuit

Enters an atom of births dawn
fires free in conceptual roam
natural being touches circuits electric tingles brush fair skin Wholly Freely
Eternally
deep in sleep within rising from ashes once more.

From Suzanne To Suzanne

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

That I Simply

Was borne blind
i cannot see the path know matter
how narrow i am
or how wide are
the waves ocean.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Borne

My shoes in thought bath,
breathing on sound footing.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Blind

My words
lost, wear
your cloths.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Sea A Path

It is now so very narrow it leads between two waves.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is Ignorance

Is it wave in a ocean
never to touch warm
face in sand of shore.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Airless Wing

Wingless I ride the commode
transmutation into boneless chicken hen pecked
rolling head
rubber neck
laughing stock bare skinny
shins rusty scale
limed away
tackled
ticked lice vermin
splintered bones
dropped off in Kentucky fried.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Can Make You Famous To

But you have to cooperate
and take your cloths all off.
I was told every thing after
that is free except the tea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pie

Bidding starts at three point one four do I hear three point one four point zero zero one...yes tell me then..hurry.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Look

そ れ は な く な っ て い る の ゼ ロ
風 で あ る 。 .

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Jungle Minha Mãe

Selvagens mulher me ouvir falar de corações
é a você que também sabem
me levar com você agora
salve-me da garras de menor seres
comer-me para o seu prazer
ter tudo que você pode armazenar e mais virão.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Det Er Sant

Neil gang gjorde gange
månen.

Ingen skal snart hva skjedde etter at bare gudene vite.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Once More Forgive Me

Waves washed over me
I do not know how I came to be on your lap
loved by all
sleeping air that walks
laughing to your hair
washing me in your sand.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Kailangan Ko Am Ang Iyong

Ako dumaloy sa pamamagitan mo
buhay na buhay
matawa Loves kamay
Ako ay sa iyo
kayo sa akin
pag-ibig sa akin minsan pa.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lips Sweet Bilang Honey

Alak mula sa iyong mga labi
ulo struck
mangmang
matamis na babae
reyna ng gabi langit.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Love Life Como Você

é a minha vida alegre costear un ouviram sons
pensar que você
sentimento coração além
Me cegam para você meu amor.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Do Mine First Then I Will Do Yours..

Lines are long songs short
be a good sport turn a head digging here all we are lost world restless efforts vain boring is the pain never free
pictures of grey bald heads
blinding me making suffering
you are to slow herded together
black and white cows the same
still holding patterns hot flowing directed no where to still come tell me what you want or go away
born in lust you can have my trust
born in sin you have to back in) it('s full.
I don't do mashed potatoes..sorry.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Just A Po Little White Boy

It is not what it quite seems, yet it is.
making some life as a poor white boy
makes you very much more stream lined fast as the worlds, slowest bullet.
I have a hard time digging filling out sails.
Poem bots are hard to do without yet I am drawn to you, why just a low tone of husky sound in words said
by you words my bot is not programed
i'm just a po little white boy to do things you take for granted I have not done since you last had to much to drink and sent speeding off to the air port any way say what you mean no fancy words just the meat inside of the potato
love the verbs use use few nouns as possible words like stop don't quit) it(s to much worlds spin like my head, lips come undone, my mind sailed away
sweaty palms are my undoing, giving you away.
Because I'm easy love and when i come i am never gone to long,
away from your mind, i see you when you sleep.

James McLain

Cherry White Blossoms

Up lifted silky brown arms
pin prick dots
etched
white petals
raising sky
blood red bow
Ground sips bounty floats.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When I Am Reborn

A fine soft leather glove of weave from heaven to grace both fine
hands of silk such is vain it glows.
To wealth I know discarded now to grow with the rest a pile that weeps
lost tears much joy.

To poor though worthy soul in your hand would grace the cup to keep such heart can never afford such comfort so.

Wish it may wish is might the cloudy
sky the star dims light breaths sight.
Piano wood grand tunes to play the songs I would teach forever and a day stands out the key so right my stool to cup you tight in loves embrace.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Isn'T The Same Comma

lol...lol....and you know) it(s
true all they said about you.
Every one stalks the comma.
Besides every one knows milk shakes come in only one flavor) it(s...you..the others
well...are simple poor comma imitations of you forget the comma's they take to long.
So when you are out walking alone remember something is behind you..looking at your commas...let's go fishing..) it(s
pure imagination and raining..
You know you just know...quit that..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Phffff Over Here

I will discuss a traumatizing subject.

.....Stalking.....

If you are afraid to approach some one because you will be black mailed

you are right..

The right to say hi if she is just plain hot..

is almost gone..except in bars..marshall
tucker bars..I don't visit these places

Or a guy that reminds you of that guy you saw at Chippendale's when hubby was out of town
you don't vist them either earning some bacon's.

Reckless eyeballing is a lost art you know
the one where you are a done deal before they walk up to you.

Now the eyes are required to wear contact propalactics they are just as uncomfortable
as the others.

Before I forget) it(is ok to stalk me I used the
) it(word twice I am a concervative..

James McLain

It Really Is O.K. I Like Being Abused~~~snivel~~

I don't mind if you think what you said is true
I cannot be any less bleu on you.
I cannot do away with you
though deserving you might be.
I only know when I paint the cow
black and white I mean cow not wife despite tasters choice in quality of milk as that to is a matter of preference.
It is hard to fool a farmer it is plain I'm not a farmer as I was tricked.
I painted my barn read right along with the bare sign I found around back.
Yes the barn was one I red of and the bare sign was bear no colors intended.
I am simple I have pointed it out much to slow it is that I am to slow for better perceptions than mine eyes be dim.
Please leave a quarter at the door I need to call my mum alumpster.
I~~snivel~~snivel~~still blubber love you....) it(s
you) it(s always been you ~~snivel~~~
/-: ', ; I know those go some where.

James McLain

It Is A Fickle Scythe You Sing

Confusing words wheat grapes or rye beer liqueur wine
big deal big difference
in cost of words
lost labor loves in rhyme
Rome was Rome mixing the mask
of the grape
never late with a word or a deed in cup.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

This Is What She Did To It

She removed it from the salt of her mouth
loosened
is it to free yet free it is eating nouns acting verbishly hanging all prepositions blind
to the needs of pronouns
truly swimming with conjunctions
hidding adjectives in it's pockets
free of commas and wiggled lines
confusing interlinking conjunctions
and lacking tails that proclaim to it while free
and still we miss the boat
while it is the two holding hands
in a world made so simple and full of it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is A Secret Is It Inside My Head...It Is

It is every possible solution
thought out inside twice
because it to you is simple
it is not to me is it
It is a simple walk to the store
is it
it is not
it is a journey into fifty paths
is it a strait line crossing it is it another line crossing this it is as simple as laying it down straightening the s into the i and making a perfect circle with room left over to make a rest area
then is speeds off to make it another.
Reading me makes you slow way down doesn't) it(.: . :)
It is o.k.....I miss you is all...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Only Size When It Is Relevant

Is it really that big a deal
one that feels so good..
Is it really good to feel that way all day..
It is easy to spot you by
just the way you walk.
It is even easier to spot
when you feel much too good when you talk and
just stop lost in a fog.
Is it me or is it something.
I'm missing.....in..... :) it (: ...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Heart Heavy Ant

When.....When was the last time
you saw me
really saw me on my hands knees
dirt on me, in me to see.
Mountains heart the art nights grace in cool breath moons path
feet I carry her beam.
Crumbs stars guide scents line
eyes turned inward tuned face
her tears plain tipped grass deposit
by what in whom gone to soon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Look Into The Sun

It makes you not blind
it helps you see all the things you need to see.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It(S Run Out Of Words) It(S Lovingly

Dear Paper Trail,

) it(..is not easy...you crave well counseled...
brings..) it(s..own flavor..wine..grapes..well.
Cups..always full..flowing tips..crafted..fine..
artisan..jealous eye needs hand to see..be
..) it(s....crowned in perfections..
dew flying..in lost direction...hand does flow.
..) it(s..you the cause..) it(..lost..trees last.. piece of..hand hewn lumber..in yards...vast gardens..sweet rose..) it(..is a petal of pillows scent..) it(s..ocean flows relenting..streams of
) it(..to mingle) it(s..glow..to sea...) it(s..hand to cup and hold..) it(s..growth raising flags lost...
in your rising gale..of rain..) it(s..wet..heartbeat
to feel...) it(s..good..) it(sblood..asails..to flail.
battens door..Your hatch opens yard..) it(s..
nature...) it(s..hot..cold..cruel..) it(s..never.denied
) it(s..here..) its(..there in you.
captivating..) it(s.....loveingly...bound..ship...
) it(s..your safe harbor...) it(s..a hurricane

James McLain

Passion Lost On Floor

Introduction confused deduction passions thirst of trust
ankles pen survived foots betrayal.

Song you danced missed rhyme
lost time

found upon the sand paper floor.

Trains sown lace behind a harp beauty strings a beast you hold
within a hard bursting chest.

Herding fashions unheard passion.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Memory In Solitude

A single hanging bubble pulled by two strings
one hand floats
in a different direction
pulling solitude it's ocean vast last memory.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wind Becomes Noise

Voices living on desire weaving
same tongue
of ear
word in minds
line letting just one
read the book different.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Oueightonetwo

Funday hired lip's ooooooooooed
u r still missing
two were as one
after eight days still words sleep
mondays luck played last friday.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Freedom

Pillar warm flame moth of shame suffocating greed's wrap struggle it is her
wing of despair
It is my soul free of her blind pain endless without beginning scarred thoughts
Tongue without mind laid to trap
harsh bitter wind flies again to another.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Between Her Cold Glass Thighs

It touches It cracks It weeps It sighs
jabbing hurting this fine mind yours
to waste treeless shore
roseless scent robbed breath fallen throne weeping
leering barren legs parted cave
black snow loveless
flake upon your sightless milk eye.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Dreamt

It is much brighter her arms confessions
sob trembled word convulsed tranquility webs finger soothing balm a lease doors windows never numbered painted darkened wisps hovering stealing skin pots catching lies last breath.

Shiny abject sockets almond smell pull at lips cover a nose to stall
full ripe breasts saggy tips knead knotted patched hair makeup absent lash
hovers sweaty coughing pointing tongueless
throbbing rooted full blooded made seedless.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Always Smiling At You Also

It is also more than a smile
it is sparkle
it is style
it is unabashed
it is your stead fastness
it is knowing a rightness
it is a tardy groan
it is measured in waves
it is one boat in your shake
it is knowing no room for another.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Little Split For Butterfly

Find breath so soft blow wing to splint
veins cry airs tearspowder laid to wait.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Second Small Attempt At Suicide

They were fed genetically engineered beans each puff of wind yielding the equivalent twelve pounds
of methane gas they were gorgeous women serving
my life for.....being the spice of my life..
I kept my mind in them well fed....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Beneath Tan Skin

Flow fires blood seared desire tan golds mold pungent wine.
Union laid wood fine with grain
home is the purple heart split.
Never has buds flower inflamed
a dam to flood stage cresting top.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Yellow Flower

It is poetry it is as yellow as the sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Her Fearful Hand

It places me at cliffs edge
dried of her fear it swells bursting forth it is shouting rising back into cliffs edge.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Teacher

Judge,
Before you I stand as I always have not to undermine authority that never I had the knowledge from you must made seem to follow never spoken dusk token flooding halls of my mind to tread water..floating.
Most riddled Sir: ..: ..Language flows from a mouth guided bank on river never to know
the stirred oar shallow hand water bearing direction of forks laid in proper instruction flowing following course proper correction.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poo Stones

Drop with every moan..) it(s...
...black pearl necklace.
) it(s...fit for a queen...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wife I Wept Because Of You

Dear Wife,

The passing three years was nothing compared to the wait
of eternity's single second now stilled.

Enter sands wisdom for they will be blown from the mouth a protector for whom coverings unsealed flows sound mind.

Wife of the world pleasures you would taste have tasted
must still continue so lest a child plain common hold back..?

Exposed winds chill her soul cross those lips with memories dreamt young unequipped doll of your mind false world all have now seen can only be kind to your dream.

Dreams of children soft pillows hold tears blankets warmth
of hearts beating past the nights sorrows to mornings date with butterfly noon fasting the breeze to evening dew.

The life of a second stretched back unto now it is again now still.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dear Pastor, When) I(Came Home

We have been separated now for three years
you from me myself from my wife.

It is hard to talk of love when others hide behind
other things I cannot.

It is my daughter I miss kisses never given eyes
orbs bright veiled moon sleeps bright sun peeps.
People expect things I cannot give things some never had having had them I always will.

People expect miraculous visions one I had the future of others that would them come to pass and they did.

Pastor thank God for taking this sight from my grasp as I was unworthy to hold it for as long as I did.

My mind now begins to dim people read what is not there I cannot say what they mean lost
in your though I would yet stay for your smile.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poor Bent Imp Winged Butterfly

Bringing the monarch cocoon to my niece
on twenty seven march instructions were clear check this creature twice a day
for it will appear
she did not it crawled out with nothing
to hold on to upside down
the wings resemble now ugly cauliflower.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Men Rode Poles

Climbing to the top of sweet gum trees riding them down from the top
to hear them break and scream.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Softly Then Sleep

Fluid drips angrily arm valid hot rows death to banked shores on beach needles pined body down
flowing pain Danube blew to blue.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When The Rain Fell Up

Cherry trees bloom for me daynight
dawndusk upside down hanging up being kind in the land of missed sun
going down all here saw rain flow up.

For she is white and black.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Even Juicier

That the secret about you is real
you live in constant fear of mirrors company is a stranger family much much stranger science will prevail.

Showing up at work is harder than
the job trembling starting to leave wet foot prints where ever you go.

Being as you are you finally get the gun out load it fire a warning shot go back to the mirror and look raising the gun pointing it you order
the mirror self to tell you the secret
about how you were able to get here.
You aim it at the eye of red it bleeds

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Advice

Come home for tonight
do your job.

The next day we talk over
how well you did your job.

After your job evaluation
we will see if you can still raise the flag.

Once you raise it go to the window and wave it.

Once you wave it come back to the back and we will do it all over again.

We will talk about hiring you when you become transparent.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

After The Humility Fades

Face is ashen taught haggard source hollows
beings core boned
white
marrow lights roads path in red.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My True Love

Was found reading a magazine
earths mother
is she ever Terra firms mounds and mounds thighs shaking covers hatch tons joys coconut almonds toes that are used to plug the noses of camels
full sausage lips dripping yesterday
taking up today leaving me a few hours
short of tomorrow
powdered face hiding creased rivers
shore floating heads black and white moons of halves slay millions with winked breath
always eye blinks blinks blinks massive neutron sighs.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poo Queen Runs Throne) ..Royal Humor...(

....) it(s..hobknobin..) it(s..robinthe throne
...) it(s.knighted..) it(s..StiredSirbrown

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mismaster

It is that I am
just know it is that he is all around waiting watching
never sleeping
it is looking for the right moment
is it now turning,
burning inside blushes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Punks Punk

A nice looking young man turned into a punk married to punk turned out by punk
punked out snorting cacain.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Drug Tests Jail

You thought you could beat the system
the system was made for people, you whip it out while I make sure it is yours dope brought me to you I am probation officer of nightmares marry you to jail
while long lines of low sloping foreheads denoting their cromagnum ancestry
run trains shoveling coal states forever.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your First Step

You slept not that long
in lethargy's dream
climbing ladders.
The ladder was asleep
never being awake
taking it's first soul.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

For You To

I am weak lost in cups so hidden
within boundaries of my perimeter.

Soft endangered undulating waves islands into them selves clasping.

Cool air unfairly alluring enchanted
even samples she denies regularly.

Madness is hidden until she relents
guides them south warm fair winds.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Issues

Perceived heart mind others decline
comfortable is the couch of denial.
Triggers are chiggers on flesh inside
soft flesh one annoys other is blind.
World of description labels burdens
hatching eggs to unfurl bright mind.
Methods use weapons shuddered
acceptance of abnormal comparison.
Heal feel sense employ is empathy compassion would then be fashion.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Barren

Is your patch of red cabbage
mixed with fish is good stew.
Tasty is the salt of your sweat
left in vinegar stain silk pants.
Legs are best seen in a saddle
swaying stirrups buns in breeze.
Voice of the swan neck graced
with the song in lake soft sweet.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Presents

Fair is the weather sun shines
halos blond hair braided tails.
Nests hidden eye towards egg
flavorless dye know differences
color mind tastes yum not egg.
Laughing for the find in grass patterned feet paths looking to the ant to show the way.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Punished

So much so little so sorry
I
have not the wisdom
of tree.
Things will be ask
I cannot do
to do would be corrupt.
Little human being angel
saw it is her!
Cannot three years mountain
has lain unexplained within by they to thee
mind did flee.
Imagine can you
so you did crushed heart of soul
with a tongue horrible fate to small
heart by another
in thought not deed by the other withstanding
yes known by all
now terribly.
Just for all the cents
in a coffee can witness the soul of the one...she.
I cannot destroy with truth a soul
for none are so righteous
in calm
witness the soul of the one in she.

James McLain

Peanuts

Fertile ground eats my peanuts
feeding all my friends elephants.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Mind

For decades eternity it seemed was locked inside minds
others bad dream in life
unable to scream hidden by them.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Loves Breath

It is only as fresh as
the air you breath in me to sooth my soul.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bandaid Love

Fell down looking at love
puppy eyed demure
head hung low listens
as cool skin of hand
wipes tenderly tears
past fall desperate that loves scraped bandaid happened over and over knowing my knee is kissed
I do this on purpose for you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moons Crown

Humility's dust is unveiled
lost shame comforts
blue orb
drifting hem
settles softly
Oriana's crown moons dawn.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Disguised

No matter the cost in pride shame
in false vanity leave even a shred
of breaths fog on windows pawned.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is A Desolate Wave

Jumbling imaginings not loves hate hates love tranquil sea rouge waves.
Fields unknown alien thought thinking
thinking thought loops eyes to cross.
Nailing lid palette tongue cannot hear fearing fields lay shallow unmarked so renamed unknown anguish marking why.
Senseless graves dug making no since personal ids to gravel loose paths brick.
Roaming insecure pillow less head hurts
medicating a numb tomorrows thought.
Forever gracious thought to be or not baseless from which I came travel again.
Humble thimble needles pin headed ant
knows even it's destiny waterless in sand.
Shimmering imaginative it is desolation to field

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Others

Hurt time wasting life singles
mingle me to dust timeless
left out line fine judge doubts.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Thinking Conscience Thought

It is tribal thinking it thinks for you thinking thinkers think guilt if guilty thoughts cannot think become I am to think is a crime if thinking not deep thinks right left thinks different mind thinking hello better yet thinking no lost moments quite conscious thought.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wasting Insanities Time

Sleep bellows oaring it's head wank tongues wag
scallies don hats jumping rides to mooning cows.
Pleasures milking mind feeble thought persuading enfranchised cornless room to wiggle harsh verbs.
Mind poet few is harm to it is it said to be true you.
shot hooked shell crust of slime skinned much time
sleepless where I am at shaking hands lost sanity.
Sleeping awake brings up sun different view days
singularly playing catch bully balls man with softened stained horn thinks it norm patting butts gay pheasant.
Lip less swine defined hams rump pleasant ever song laying on pork chops lap instead spears lance short rib lathered foaming spit you call lost recipe barbeque.
Noble it is your tongue to swap adjectives crowned joy.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Confess I Took Your Knickers

To your house and traded
them to your sister for hers.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

French Kiss

Deep in your neck
phlebotomist first.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tired Scared Pregnant

I am to tired and scared it is you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Next Time You Climb On

Would you please check the saddle a cockle spur is there.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Vested Rights In You

Rights of man woman
mine as are in yours
be they worded verbed
pluerl noured of you.

Vines wither slate of grey keys mouths view
rights trail gathering
momentum mind seeds.

Delete that which it is delet that is it of you answered frivolous prejudiced the summit.

Winter dims man woman right engage diplomacy pieces with mouths seek
what it is holy to them.

Power of root golden eggs
nests of such is bare wandering mind once lost
in that speaks now found.

Heavy is the spear the poet soldier sheaths in mound
wander no longer element truths rights in heavy long engagement bears roots.

James McLain

Then Again

I am a resonable man
I want all the oysters to.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Swishing Cheeks

It takes 2 more than those
to wiggle my toes inneed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Things Of Him

Of him because..it is wise

- 1.Never cause harm to the defenseless.
- 2.Suffer in salience the harm caused to others unless interference is to keep harm from acquiring.
- 3.I cannot live without dreams.
- 4.I cannot live alone.
- 5.I must catch fish for my self and others.
- 6.My burdens I carry alone.
- 7.I shoulder the pain of others their shame do I carry.
- 8.My vaity is hollow my argance percived.
- 9.Excersice of mind body whole spirit.
- 10.The woman of blood choses wise be sure.

branch of tree in trunk the heart be sure.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Calling A Dream A Stream

Bump in the night into my arms you fell banks a dream so it streams out far away with us.

Bars bars bars filled with sand it's ours
soft is the water reflections of you stirs blood is drained regions farthest from
my heart.

Brass horn on which you blow sweet music has your form mist bars await us practice beat the music can go on.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Crime Time

Mirrors smokeless mirrors imaging masks
glassless frame the color bends reflections
none can hide.

Frozen standing lifeless mostly timeless in side clerks nearly mindless pistol puzzled.

Handing mostly singles a few fives change
the picture costs of life it now comes cheap.

Impressions digression malfeasance has left unhurried slowly puckered hole in head.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dear Unknown Wench.....You Wishes

Dear wench of wenches,

Merry..was round as the moons in your slacks taken back no ex lax..the hem
was to short..as the skirt we wore out
...drinking bear in my car..then went far..not all the way..to your house..mom
was glade you were home..went to bed
mom..came out..rubbed my head..lol..
hair fell out..told a tail..moved my hand..
took it back..than she yelled..put it back..
on her tail.

It was long I grew bored..brought me..back gave me more..I got sick..had to much..not to drink..
all went well...) it(s..desperate..) it(s..not love
...) it(s.sm.ell..that winds..tail..) it(s..ahome..run....
..) it(s..thinking..she.is wired...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Unknown

It is not a word to touch an emotion in thought
I cannot smell the taste you hear love the heart laid bare unknown.

Is it a word not known defined soft hand hard to find.

It is not water air earths fire fine line unknown
in most not all.

It is wrapped around cores of light peeled away
tops end never found unknown.

It is unknown in breath unknown in flight be it unknown
sight given mind to guide the last soul home unknown.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Traveled Today

Back to the land of turtles
where I wish to remain
though can't unless allowed to roam the land
free as once I was.
I am, a turtle fragile hole comforts me in such is home
snug womb mother to all dreams salvation is one
it is only thinks of..the.one..she.
she is a battle to one not I I it is she is to me.short.sweet versed to keep in me I sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Family My Ruin

Dust now floats around me,
from the family bent unknown betrayed again from within naught for being righteous,
but for simple green money.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Something About The Utter

Gently rolling it about the hand looking at the ends kneading checking one end against the other
pleading asking sleeping on it
I finally break down call the vet
asking
how is it that two of my utters
give only chocolate milk?
You did not ask for butter pecan.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

How Can I Remain

Without books word
within stays dormant stands of benches
stone homes ally ways.
Long borrowed fingers
honored with penned departure returned chafe
warm hand in store.
Reserve none preserve
words lost broken
most retrieve brother
sister sons daughters.
Storm rified hot fire ash
ink war mixed drew fragmented soul of child
inside one heart thats new.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Oracle I Ponder Sitting

Oracle forever patient home within / travels
words seeking forever
my ear
mouth yours hearing to speak minds inside
souls equal.
Paths different same road
traveled feet's many eyes
harbored
safe return hearths birth
reborn home girls and boys.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If I Do It, You Can'T Tell

Words roll in never ending waves
from shores of oceans long lost
from minds of all.

Tongues like yours carry a sentence
of death for we whom crawl at your feet.

Queen of pain that renders sight
outrageously sane sipping wine.

Firm is firm in the voice I hear call your name fleet is your foot standing upon my back wresting your joys in hand firm such grip gently applied
in times of need lost in washed agony.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Synonymous To

Dear synonymous,

Yesterdays folly grew bold..in the fold of your skirt
...) it(..was desperate..not depraved..as she whops
..milk..missed my cup..danced in my eye..fell as tera
Cannoning my pants in a crease..where..) it(..fell... lonely is my hand..the thrill..of spelunking deep in your cave..drinking the water..and nap in a thrill..of a dream...driving so deep..we wreck..our jeep..on the hill where all go to..visit twin..peaks..in our hand..gently tweak..
My eyes grow dim with age after..years of joy..we leavened
my toy with..lavender made into soap..whats a bubble or two..in the nose..a den..a place that gave..us a girl..pearl of pink is her face...) it(..grows..dusky eyes wave..hand to tired
..most loves..first love..) it(s..life..blessed is the grip that..) it( missed..being..) it(s..wolf of a wife..) it(s laid to sleep
.....) it(s...lovenly..loven) it(s..love
.....) it(s..never..regreted..) it(

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Unlimited Mind Underwhelmed

Seeing you miss the mark
the pinto you parked in my yard was towed
to the foot of my bed
where it bays.

Swiveled is a neck that creaks
when the joy is quashed by Larry curly and Moe for just one thin dime.

lays pause to my heart
knowing the fields that you have
may lay shallow and grey taking your toys all away.

Swiveled is a neck that cannot swivel properly best your chair
where your gluts pause for breath.

When being indentured for life
causes you strife

pick a phone I will care and deliver your chow with a bow.

Meals on wheels

did I not give you an extra meal this morning...?

James McLain

Did You Get One Of Those Four Wigglers

I saw one just like it yours
felt buttery not showered.
Soft as moggies eyes so rich utters left me full this black and white love cow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I'M Askin Polite Cut Me Down

Bricks I have counted sleeps now forever
in chains on wall you moan my test of rest.
Cracking sockets went cause harm to you bring weird gratification reverser
charm for a word thought fun most here.
Puppies in skins of woman men setting
hall rooms dance with air your sin found twisting and turning crying burning foul
your own private hell wasting me away.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Imaging Imitation

We must need to affix blame where it will go
it is the American way.....) at least most do(it is a land of laws, the lawless are captured at night on. t.v...

Reality shows of the living dead -dead brains
dead pans dead human beings swapping mom.

These religious shows proffering powers to heal the lame and the injured, waving thier paws misbeleading the souls in dire need blind is the sheep in wolves clothing.

It is sad as a child politics did watch..different story
that was then now...

when I see those armed men comming arms that cannot quit wiggling I panic fall asleep to bottle of Kim beam eating barnyard buzzard.

like the second comming.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poo Moans

At the size of...) it(..) it(s..huge
..) it(..looks....at..) it(s...yours...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Moans Stars

Stars orbit circle moons eye
eruptions
moans Venus
luminous eruptions glowing Mons flows
glimpsing purple
sky
chaste reflections shine
rising haughty chest
spraying brilliant stars in moon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Yes Fan Of Ryme

Please guilty thoughts
font's fame
moon drape it wanes
sorrows
tears drip in advantage known none
journey moon heavens
wait opened arms
verbs am I nouns few adjectives run prepositions
blind
modest blessing
forsaken hallowed sounds
black cloth was late in everything to.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Crusty Little No Good *%#@

My sinuses~~snivel ~~these buggers~` swiveling~~
eyes..beds of buques..that's pronounced bucket puckered this acking back no slack..how does it feel to know i'm under the spell of your weather.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Queen Of Pain...Dots Conecting Dots Of Pain

Queen of pain

love follows dots in line

far after it altered your horizon

sleepy head softly lays thick grass

which can smell a dream taken home and brought back

Conquering: : Being: : Conquered: : : : : Being The Queen Of Pain

Courage embodied lions charge golden being this man

washing fear tears swallow hearts

long before thoughts bore fruit

saving all the lost gains

pain of Queen.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why Is It So Easy For You

Simple lay a sentence over mine
brim topped boxes filled a room.
Heart beat twines one strand can enter two visions to reword the now.
Last may first cought winged soul
tear stained bridge dawn looms.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lip Food In You

Lips touching clouds with tips.
Inside the mouth lips to mine.
Parting the air with my finger.
Search tast of breath again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Please Forgive Me

My eyes see your lips move.
My ears hear all your words.
My mind has no idea what you are converting, could it
just be a foreign language..?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mean While Back At The Ranch

Some cows need identifying, mine doesn't.
My brand of beef carries no stress at all
they are carried flipped dipped while a determination is made of thier cantor.
If they wobble to the left a bit more yeast.
If the waddle to the right tasters choice.
All of my cows produce the finest milk one gives butter strait from the utter one other utter makes just fine wines.
Ranching agrees with me life like no other none
would I have.
We are quit simple and fine humble folk of the land.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Egg Searches For Truth Before Some Do

The second choice I make cannot be
to undo the first one thier is nothing noble
about the spear which has me preform circus tricks
yea:
even before my birth.

Some people do anything for a buck like
make other choices before you are born.
Thus: I may walk through the valleys
that fears all evil
the third choice I make is warily tread with care the thoughts of all others for some will and must need to cause harm in me.

Verily: I say unto you,

Do I come to you after she whom you in trusted
with me

spends nine months abusing me of the womb

I ask thee: ? ...Pause:(to think, about it)

what is thier to think about, did your laws protect me of no choice asquith I most humbly of thee: ..?

No! ..no one thinks about I, it is, I am you see...

Be ye.noble of mind kind of thought to me

cannot you understand this of me

before I am born.?

The line himself a thought of the norm no thought to he whom is I would make such choice once made is clear.

Being free of pain conscious bears the truth would
you hear..?

THE TRUTH TAKES THE PATH OF LEAST RESISTANCE.

Can I choose any life over that of a dead one...? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? 31/03/2009

James McLain

Water On Rock

Hightenend driven anticipation
soft melodious voices

sea

dark heavy shores

sleeping water beded on rock.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is It That I Push Thoughts To Hard

Ignoring my thought thoughts had to speak lest I become to thoughtless.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Taste Of Last Week

Money was tight> flat twins the cheeks
spits out three quarters fare markets the value
not even Jew's.
Lakewood hillbilly redneck I'm it likened within
it is the norm
in a pool
catching his fish
with chicks eating his chips
sinking most ships.
While some pull my tug boat along for there ride.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is That I Am For She

Refuge plays upon the sky of blue basking in it's blissful company in during for the sake of she whom wished it there.

Bringing cottons soft plumage will lighten a cheek colors half moons.
Sparkling eyes reflect suns venier
two's cast of shadows stand guard.
Pillar of twins becon it flows honey regal mist float to her mouth home.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sometimes When She Writes

Days in time her different masks she wears a face of lines long hard studied hands ink plays pen.
Choice in freedoms smile a sunny day it rains
cooling throat her mouth sings lullabies of work.
Brown sunned skin legs strong hitched skirt helps hoeing rowsin mind the plants come along a song.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dead Sleep

Limlessly numb nothing nimble
death reaps shell of empty soul.
Blackest black sightless matter
excised lights cord journeyman.
Speck oceans void waves time
aloft humanity runs along empty.
Concepts in basic desperation
of mind cannon ball backwards.
Reaching, nebulous hand of Gods
Death paid you a visit, in absentia.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Juggernaut

Metal head with balls eyes imagination is disguised
as degradation unwinds.
Wind moans eternal soul a shadow boasts no surprise.
Thought stopped movement
to reveal a heart sleeping.
Laying in waves forgetfulness.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Simply Simple

Root this weed hot sweaty suns back shallow breath much strength wanes.

Son of a son of an old weed harvest or lieges crafty sight when sun agrees.

Pipes drink all of waters vintage on horizon
Hills many steps meander paths of goats.

Twilight salt clings snugly to bodies pits
Salvation rivers in small stream I bath.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Letter From You...)

Dear farmer dell,

Many are the days since I riased
the flag on our pole..slippery I am sure that it is..relaxing on the bow of a much larger boat have..I..been
The shaft holding the prop..exceeds factory specifecations...I was in need of a doctor..in a hurridly fashion.....
The doctor nearly lost his arm in the prop..trying to change my empellor.
Languid days...partys make..spared
none..checking breeding credentials
of the fops..hiding in uncropped hair
thumbs indictative short commings.
Blessed is the queen square shorts
have I that she spared..denuded top expose the busts of time standing still.
My excersion boat will soon depart for my next thrill..I do not miss the dell....
therein the cows do dwell in maddness
brain.boneapart...I take my leave...is) it(.. waiting..?) it(s..vain..I..know.....
Love..) it(..is I whom waits for no boats..rescue...) it(..is found Sincerly,
one..half..owner..
of..) it(s..dell...) within it(..dwells

James McLain

Pecavista

Thought finds biscuits outside the mind runs around our daily special soup bread wine and
some cheese.

Do not the lost disenfranchised
again climb the latter with knees just to howl at the moon.
Flimsy is tongue made of paper
and glue pinata hits stick learn not to rue politicians fortune made off the backs of middle class folk eating your shoes souls
with children inside.

Priests cast out sins of the fathers
and mothers just to come home
and do it all over again
hearing lost wants and all of the needs
stooping to breath last rights of diseased.

James McLain

Confusion In Mind Laid To Still

Memories of agony
unraveled in popping
thoughts do flash
windowless this world.

Clouds rumble through my empty rooms no
logic loops back unto
its self all words lost.

Many such visions crumble
bricks of mind fall away asleep unchecked chained
last wandering soul is mine.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rain Cries

Tenderly skies held clouds warmed breath of child falling lost rain
heard crying
cold tear weep off suns eye.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mitochondrial Permutations

It is that part of us that we absorb
all our every days
and nights we live.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Breath Shivers

If it is winded breath lungs vein it
cannot
in gale re furl
wraths blowing sail.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Only Myself

Blissful ignorace painfully found lost
never recovered.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rectalectimistisism

It is when you know you are getting it from a smooth talking politician
and the politician is successful
in telling you how good it feels avoiding it.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A) It(Just Ain'T Natural) Stimulus(..Is) It(

Life cannot go through you apologizing
for your thoughts
can world inside you trade martin
for a skylark and one cluck
from a chicken who's beak fell off...?
Few are the creatures on our great blue orb
that can copulate with them selves
just because you killed a politician's rose bush doesn't mean you can...oh yea!
here is new politician a check for fifty scents
three turtles..remember
you have to make it look natural...and...
no artificial stimulus packages needs can apply..
Lastly...in politics...
it's not the size of the donkey or elephant
it is the size of the mouse
and the stick that beats your wanker eats your cheese and tells you it was just a bad dream.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

O Cloud

Thundering black clouds renders grave sound resounding heavens mass.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dawns Dusk

Westward marches shadow eclipse bends sky from blue to black
neverending flowing circles.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

We Are Stuck Front To Front

Love forever love together
sweet breaths single heave
departs two backs in air.
Hair wave passion grip
strains red hazed mind
lips drinking flowing wine.
Tulip tipped moaning river
hand to gland save the milk
gallons count most days.
Crazy metal liquid powder
smell of peach leg covers
moon full halves to eat.
Screaming sweaty heady swirling eddys pool your eyes with tears found joy.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Within A Dropp Of Water

It is simplistically small universally bound inside one
is it you within the rain...?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is It That Complicated Yet It Is

It is complicated yet it is not it is never simple
it can be a misunderstanding trivial doubts many.
The bottom of a well any well always starts at the top.
It's confusing predisposed to all reinterpretations
again thought out from the bottom up.
Trying to Trick a muse can trick
the trickster.
It is just play on words
leaving he she tricked amused
it is not I it isn't playing harm with such harmless question
few do ask
unto them selves lest to become suspect of distraction altered id.
It is wary voice of beguiled honesty
thinking it is what it isn't.
It is not the first person or the second
it is persons all
it is out side of it looking down
menagerie
origins spun around and round
without sound.
It is you it is me inside every thing please sing.
It is just two words of unimaginable importance not of I.

James McLain

It Is You Talking About Me

it is percived perhaps it is that most can write poetry without
is it or it is..if so then you speak not about me.
...) it(s..hard...I.know.) it(.is...is..) it(..?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is It Force Of Poetry It Is

Nameless days are not individual inclusive each other revealed none.
Pushing a struggle is pictures trust
of word how long framed when said.
Action externalizes thoughts can thought externalize action guess.
Most are here not from any thought
of premeditation or simple accident.
Busts pedestaled beyond grasps hand
letters climb latters shelved use latter.
Simplicities tadpole hoping legs no
days are not spent to remain nameless.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Zoo

It wasn't much of one a raggedy looking rhinoceros a relative of elephant
the other relative a used to be pet of elephant hippopotamus aka mudpack
I headed straight for the elephant
she looked familiar and it was she with the peanut birth mark next to her suitcase
bellowing in happy glee
asking when would I return her to her promised land
as she still had to finish her very long sentence
I ask her to hide in the bushes
I pushed the red button I saw on T.V.
she was back with no memory of being placed in Guantanamo bay life resumed I told her I would be back to finish the poem I gave this elephant a peanut and left.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mask Of My Forever

Varied hair colored eye
painted face traced
wooden line chiseled free eternity holds my hard past harder present hardest future given masks behind masks
never ending devoid of mirrors to mask
horrors filled with souls asleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Times Currency

Flushed in flesh resting thrice thought blushed with brushes mounting waves.
Sifting dust of age resting on the mount
of sight gathering fish to feed tread not.

Walking oceans edy's currents are heard traveling lines crossed intermittently being.
Laying roads crossed so wearied can rest
minds sound crashing weaved to remember.

Head on palm sitting waiting uncaught lost word
waif to weep customs knowledge is pawned.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hallowed Be Thy Name (Unanswered Prayers..)

Merciful Father

Hear my plea

Heavenly Father,

Those days were dangerous as much of the known world was controlled by women who wished not of -is it poetry to roam thier land free with it's will to use it's tongue. They planed and schemed to harbor it is in thier ports and harbors..it is loved the attention not the conflict.

Wisdom was your hand that guided it's tongue in all your ways merciful is she whom comforts it's head saith it in whims bosom upon which it rests hear her moan.

Thanks be thine for endless wine from her well of truth known here and in the hereafter.May the source of her well be kept secret until it is can fetch more of it.

Merciful compassion in temperance for guiding it's stays within your holiest of inns spread through the land upon sheets counted seven hundred and twenty one bliss was it is in to deep of she in her sleep some one pry with thier bar and give it a break.

For riches in tongue buds to taste flavor's words in water which leaps strait to you from it's heart.
Heart of hearts in your mind it does beat manta of honey never money did it need.

Merciful mind that hears without ears grant it's prayers year after year keep it here.

It is roamed wide and free invisible in the cloak of himself whom watches to satisfy substance at it's source.

Letter one from the apostle.. is..) it(..poetry...

Letter: one page one

Date: 675-590..B.C.

Source: Clay pot

James McLain

Unlimited Mind

Once Aware harnessed enlightenment
resulting
Inward directional growth.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Laugh

Water blows to stand inside driven cracked air
flashed brilliant light
claps sound hollow
thunder jumps
splinters say
It Is You With Whom I Speak.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Flee

To another day
looking wait of you brazen words
shameless I lay
sweat many fingers three eyes
hearing you say
come come to me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Could Be

The temptress ravaging mind of thought her deeds merry Kay
she could be the lion
kicking my abalones but she wont
the fruit of her write she goes on loving and laughing transgress back in time youth full days pulled on back monsters slain of old
keep them down on the ground
letting the day pass us bye for another is true to the heart
the land where you lay and say...lets do another..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Of Wheels

Branching forever
infinite are days
plus one extra turning wheel
grinds me under watching eye
in my face think me blind...
laugh..laugh..laugh...no disrespect intended.
..wheels are real lives fate to balance
this act with the other clown I was
and still am..please...master wheel
no more clowning..weary of rest it is that I am fix my wheel it lays broken out side your door..
burning my spokes for fuel in the winter
even you cool in heart can warm my supper grant arrogance in me to see
then flee across your desert of grass to the sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hank Aron

This ones for you..

No artificial enhancing preservatives... :)

...) it(s....still.....715

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rio De Janeiro.

Fantasy,
it is of mine
I dream
with you
guide my way
I trust.
Beaches preaned
coconuts
a river there
torrents stream
running forever
a day
right there with you
at my side.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Are

So hot..smoking trots
mouth as fine
as wine
eyes that glitter
like bling
going places
with me
having plenty of things
singing dancing
smokin buzzen
busy bee
with me
out side that tree
at the copacabana by the sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Stir That Pot

Juices have to flow strain the veggies out
till the river runs dry.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

First Impressions..) Thirteen Polititions Feel They(.....

Are not that important erections left inside discretions
are the ones you will be remembered for..? ..) it(
..knows..where you left..) it(..is..plurels

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Consumed To Much Dead Cow

Ashamed it is that I am..
four pieces of dead cow I consumed mostly raw with glee
happy is it
blood dripping down chin
like crusty the clown
sitting up weighing in at over three pounds
no side dish...dripping moo..moo.
Carnivore to be or not stupid question
down the road from cow parking lot lame is the cow whom resists me
humble hoof cut off butt on table.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moons Love

Velvet hand grips half moons
petals rise in rose bloom opens
envelope of intoxication
moons elixer heady flow
heaving rolling mons is singing.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Of Three Times Three Squared By Three I Am Just One

Hunting shirts previously worn without my say blisters to the soul reaching out shrived arm
finger broken in nose there to stay.

Hefty are my parts that grow when I sleep small is the mind pulling covers to peak on thier find.

Graticule proximate motion laminae strikes
to the soul of the chase up your cave eating poo.

Unloosed with a noodle filled with oodles
that dribble without cake never to date with out hate.

Unto me gracious being IRS tax return never sea
without asking a pardon employed unengaged destination never reached you keeping paying.
Perpetrators...twerp the birds..seeds early dawn.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pugbug

Is is not a test someone will steal pugbug
it is the only one in the world it's purpose is dual it needs not a male or female it is it just is a wonder one of a find me it did it is a testament to I am an American sod ingenuity it works inside and out it's hands
serve multiple functions until I can get better understanding of it's needs I hereby invoke
my legal disclaimer poem on it my pugbug.
It's name is Caroline...it is young it is joy...>< :)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Give It Up

For the fisherman) it(does know fish

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Dies

Time stopped broken space to Reveal heaven unmasked transcending boundaries crossed
heavens last gift a moon reborn.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Beat

Breath moon whispered hearing unheard discernment reveals steady move
vibrant pulse beat of love.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Lost It Is

It is fine it is time it is thinking
not of rhymes
straightened corners round
bound by thought
words in a tree hung untouched.
Hand innocence hungry breath
days thought run to years tears
banished never tasting tongue.
Lips unsealed breath weeping words left beacon of solomon
wisdom's parchment
served left barren souls troubled sister brethren
soil of food starving tree it's need.
Time sheep fleeced mantles mind
deplaned concepts void
taste fruit cover blossom Vin in cold.

James McLain

Moon Hides

Pleasure uncommon to skys
gaze breaks landscape miles hurry
lash with eyes
eclipses moon lite tides wane.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Wept For Me

Full mask hiked to show
veils hidden heart probes love
unleashing
light fountains rain of tears.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Leaving, I Graze Down

Upon banners named spear
unfired spark unknown.
Trumpets barrel coming out
cold flamed soul is old.
Flooding plains hosting shields
fist high beaten thigh.
Drapes the arm caused no harm
eyes lite your charm.
Garment skin akin to second hide
from bodies wreath.
Loosed string heart of harp parts journeys ferry rivers hold.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Forgot Shame

Gone yes was I for a while tears eyes did jerk snivel.
Sniveled me at all blinks u
shame hang head lay down.
Imagination horrible no minds
lands barren soulless sterile.
Trapped head head trapped
attack back front side hide.
Sliding through void origins
haunted mind house others.
Worried my tail dogs did off
helping hands nurse soothed.
Home schooled start go stop popping noises light bright snap peas sight eyes dim.
After culling mind mine you yesterday forgotten nameless.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Friend Dances

Triumphant pulse aglow graceful orb pauses
lofty cloud tops
glow
transends distant smile
Round face changing
sun rides spun
life dances
blue pregnant waters tear
moon faces bold stare.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hand Of Hand

Transferred in heart my palm to chest in you
and sighed.

Shock of gasp hush loud cry
panting salt of hand
rinsed with my lips.

Tingling beating blood inside
rushing weeping
out in face a blush.

Secrets laid inside my hand lips of yours in parting lost a vow.

To calm amour.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Daughters Heart

Flashes light perfume rounded face
veiled clouds harried
murmurs carried home.
Kaleidoscopic eyes
translucent
eruption Venus
Mons Huygens saw
moon daughters heart
given away.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I_Am_A_Simple_Man__I_Am_A_Man_____

_____I am neither young nor old I am a man_____

I am resilient I have lain in winds that bend
my soul break what is superior yet I remain.

Risking what is me what is mine where I lay asking no praise none to say I am man.
Brushing her hair please down on my knees
to say soft is the hand on me to lay I am man.

Harvesting risk to myself bleeding arms and hands
I am a man I do what I please go where I want and with you I sleep say what you want I am here to please.

I can say please yes mam where do you want it
Check in to call hold you real tight I am your man
I am he standing tall fall if you dare I will be there to catch you.

Yes to the no things forget about bad things simple and straight shoot from the hip say what I mean jump through your hoops if it will get me on the inside of you I am your man.

Booze very little not enough to derail my train from your side to abide in all that you do I am your man through and through-finish this latter-

James McLain

It's Is The Size Of A Blue Whales

..(l) it(s..heart...) it(s..brain..(l) it(s..eyes...) it(s..ears

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It(Is...A...Relaxation Technique.(.|.)

..) it(s..A Merrier mode to the few of many

..) it(s...going to,

Be happy, sad is for the beagle puppy
cute on the floor licking tails of friends.

See the smile on your face don't be a prudish nun hater because habits good.

Write it out loud sing praise to your mate
mates wont mate if mad or unhappy face.

Beerbellys can dance to ask polish friend
Sausages hang out at all the bear parties.

Rededicate whats left of your life to the brave
without freedom to pursue happy void all days.

Lesbians are wonderful appreciate gay men
knowing more women for them to appreciate.

Enjoy ice on the rocks of love being half drunk
never knowing when rocks slide to your knees.

Face the music even when the fat cheeks slice dicing her Italian will make your bed a large pizza.

..) it(s..never to late for a date with me and your) it(

.....) it(..is a production of mymamma

) it(s..directed..by..Ellawaswise

...) it(s..yo..yomamma..and..) it(s..happy..Days..feltup

... leaving my joys with you tonight....

James McLain

Poo Secrets

Poo Secrets

Are never kept..) It(s..adored
...) it(s..sharing....) it(...with..you

) it(s my deepest darkest fears you found out here.

If I am so smart why does It rant? you are feeling this.

If I am so smart how did I end up inside
those cold, fast thighs?

I was smart enough to dodge, your slap.

Then the abuse really started....

I kept going back for more...

her verbals became more than Pascals.

My body became more, than her work of art.

It just, I was not smart enough, to her I then became...

Her very own, personal....toy to hurt to maim..

just for joy..as it became dumber he became smarter in waves...smarter so smart, she could even stick knives in...me..police reports, I & still would not do what the judges wanted...betrayal by her if I did..

THIS is my secret diary....no one will think to look

here...except you....the first baby she made go away...she is the smart one...she took xanaxes

and drank...after five months familial, she went in the.....

bathroom with a baby in her, a boy.. but.....

when she came out...he was in a plastic zip lock bag..

she took him into the freezer in the kitchen,

and D.C.F.

where she had the pregnancy test still and it was his test

i must stop for a while, ..it was the beginning of the end of my smile into rage..I notified the states children agency

they knew of her past, i did not, and they did not hold her accountable, for the death of my son..

why should i trust them now..? ...

they did it even worse to me..

But then they dont bother to do much for any one now,

having no money.

I know now....It is all my fault.

D.C.F. even now still attacks me....why?

James McLain

Poo Shine

Chocalote nuts stuck
to the side..) it(s.nickers
time to shine..) it(s.weet
.....) it(s..stuck in you.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Gave The Elephant Back Two Peanuts She Gave Me..Dropping It The Elephant Looked At Me...And Said

Mouses live in houses catching cats
at nap in play inside your head.
Peanuts lay inside some joy
to catch a morning breeze
on palm you cup to sup loves flavor born
from me.

Elephant person past life mortal plane
peanuts graced large bodies
for your plain.

I can not tell end from end just where these peanuts dwell.

Dear memory from past imagination
born as child.

Remembering my apple pie was teachers pet
it warmed her eye..as..
bold approach to any aeroplane it gets to be a dear boy and reach yonder back to scratch the peanuts eye.

James McLain

Touching My Gun

It Is as you know unauthorized now can you clean it with oil remember check the cylinder dont bend the barrel
dont trust it to anyone else
dont dropp it
it has a hair trigger
it is always loaded
it shoots no blanks
it is a weapon always weeping
it is to be treated with respect
dont play with loaded guns
keep it locked up real tight.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is..A....Casual Observer

Watching women do everything
while men play god.
Patching quilts of time to harvest
lost joys.
Passing memories hands of love
washing minds
pains suffering bosoms must hold creating more as men
always have.
Watching it happen worlds unwind tangled more
it's knowing it is a shadow
powerless for whom the snare catches.
Landscapes running home to women pictures
leaving books words
unbound
hidden found hidden sound she hears.
Rehearsal's dresses staged unzipped shows flow and ebb
lighting grows
moving ever wider catching men love
lowering curtains
Women Women Women I love them.

James McLain

Moon Berift

Tear shadows covered in pink shades drawn calling
lamplight of star with singularity.
Blankets weep
sleep
walkways dreams
covering a freezing comet's tail.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Lost My Gun In An Unauthorized Holster

Weeping silently
lest she think
me a sniveler
patients was the lost virtue running around seeking
me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Sleep To Happily

Seren to me each night
room unchanged
thresholds
laying asleep
lightly waiting.
Pillows on her chest
hold my head
leading south north lands of comfort
promised by she I sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Shopping For Me

lol...the other way of thinking dummy.
Laying under clearwrap exposed...lol

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

That Was To Quick

I would fire you but you
were the last one hired.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Come

Coming with you
if you will only let me
know.

Contact me if you
are lost
I will find
you.

With you

I
will have to come.

Call me many are your paths
only

one leads to me.

come come come.

Hurry Hurry Hurry Hurry

quickly faster run

before you

miss the morning sun.

Run Hurry Come Come

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Conscience Dictates

Herself she you myself continuations
small nouns who verified each other
to much
without enough sleep thoughtful sound.
Drinking waves imprints sandy hands cradle cheeks
soft lined graced years
Filling times infinite figure your picture.
Seared branded finger touched hearts
replaced tongue
language woods graven soul
worn away inside brushing curves flow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hide My Worth

Language belies hidden value laboring
this tongue swollen in your valley of the mist.
Accomplishments unfold, sweet leafy mint,
peaked coalescing firmament, mountain dew.
Dropped from great heights your eye follows
masked gracious favor, humbled both cheeks.
Granting thus thine worth unto a beating heart
For Jack and Jill live, walled in humor now.
Blemish not a countenanced look, from you, 'it is.
imprisoned was the thorn and passion flame risen.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Gave The Elephant Back The Peanut She Gave Me..Dropping It The Elephant Looked At Me

Reaching down the peanut larger than life a gift
from me.

Wondered did I this peanut inside of life so thought to be or not.?

Hatchling one peanut find rare
lights sun cannot hide
did so care
most were surprised running around track metal of spine
was a mouse.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Monsoon's Tears

Unsealed years last tears
transparent
utterly knowing nights longed fires lay.
Quenched smoldered body
dry ed hair flows
blowing warm winds
crying waiting dreaming on.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Wash My Feet To..(..Well Sometimes...Every Time When You Are Around..(

We came from dirt whats with all these neuritic freaks who move it from pile to pile under the rug.

Humble is a foot in some mouths may they all be washed clean.

Treading paths well worn in the....otherpersons shoe

do you not leave traces of the path on all the others to.

If the lumps on the rug were a chest would it need larger bras every day..hear me say ..I'm talking to you..

Fools are fools pretending you are means your not when you say that you aren't are you smarter than some in the dirt of your mind trying days in the trials of your wife.

Dirt that flees has a quick broom behind it as any good man in a mind full of dirt really should.

Sometimes I wash my feet to when you are never around.

Some times I'm out and about just playing the fool.

James McLain

Psychotherapeutic Alisitcalim

Grinder of hollow mind stones consecration was improbable
mov er couches quite likened.
to Cerebral functions endowed planks innumerably polished.
She was extraordinarily smart knows my duck needed cooking.
Knowing me mores lessons these pulling teeth with ease letting her.. :) I sinned in my heart mind violated
by my Psychotherapeutic wonder.
Touching not the bread on my body.

) it(s...is..truly miraculous

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Twisted Sister

Twisted is the way of words at war
having none to many knickers.
Pleasurable manta of ardor winds
rooms bed wedged together lent.
Blind white noise orifices fumes
since first we bathed on the lake forgetfulness uncanny her shore.
Grouping minds wanting treasured friends holding hands relenting not brother who is depf at nothing true
faking every thing noise expected.
Tied to the bed by a Sister Twisted.

) it(s..is..magic
you..know...

) it(s..written..in the..
chalk..of..) it(....your...
twisted...face...

Poemfunter.com

James McLain

Walking Lonely Miles

Strait away paths hedges prick
leaving steps behind I count.
Level flat stones catch wind
of your preferred years.
Afternoon can pause moments
hold on time to a stagnant day.
Weather folds clouds daisies
bring unwanted sniffles breeze.
Breath caught shoulders bowed honored days lost in the dawn.
Befuddled temples Salmon grey
something about strange words.
Whispers hauntingly wrap lost in ground ageing hands gold sword.
Books white bound bloody pictures
dust the pages silver press prints.
Knowing not halls of strange stone mounting faces stitched together.
Miles of walking strangers together.

James McLain

You Said We Could Live On Grass

Mist covered golden field
dusty hay covered sleep.
Sweeping cob webs lite
arms covered loves dew.
Horses fenced frolic into rising sun pawing grass.
Ringing iron trembles air
fast breaks another day.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moon Hiding

Comet tail hiding tears and stars of you there weeping Space around thoughts as sleeping veils and twilights
face and moon is a dream.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Think Me A Redneck In Love Letters

Dear loving to love you,) it(s..noon once a day.

Loving the tires of my truck I'm stuck in you
as the dog baths at the end of a hose.....
do you not know it is clean..bumping rocks..
and streams where we play.....skinny is the dip of wine...cheesy smiles..wash clean to..
Fame if not misfortune have i not blessed you
with a child that whales away...on your chest..
instead of i....can we not sell it for..more cheap
thrills...plump plums i peel...of you...always ripe always in season....always for sale...i bid the highest at market in memory of you..and your Tia's...that you told in putting me to sleep..in the womb..of the unknown farmer..dwelling..
in the vale..of misty trees....Lovingly...) it(s..
.....dreaming..our next...field to plow..
.....planting...) it(s..peas..in..your...pod
.....harvesting moons...) it(s..noon

bye love..) it(s..yours
) it(

James McLain

Try To Understand A Little More Than That Today

Fresh day fresher thoughts unwind grasp it now feelings proffered new.
Passes made in haste understand differences take a little more wine.
Meaning clear to only one at a time
trees breezes fish's to be caught.
Lovers never give away positions
positions give away all the lovers.
Breath waits poised buzzing bee.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Breath Your Passing Wind

Lungs frozen in mid gasp panting.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Clouds Across Moons Face

Fleeting Vail hiding eyes
blush
brushed face nights blaze.
Passions pot marks open gasps
awe beautys cheating heart.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lost Monsoon's Song

Lungs breath lives disrupted
washing waves
skin of land in your hand is a windy lasting trust.
Thrusting Thunders Thirsting
tears wiping dust misfortune helping growing calm
again understanding your need.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Cannot Unmake You Make Me

Make you love the circles
hidden
hair high arched eyebrow.
Make the date of the tree
go away
it's rings point to you a way.
Make time reach back today
past
tomorrow lives unbruised.
Make you make me each
see
such errors that we make.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Farting Cartoons

If you dont watch...t.v.then change the channel.

Ask your kids they know every farting sound

these cartoons, seem to make.

South park poo's my gold I never take...lol....

wafty clouds the ordered ode rs colored vibrant masks

of chocolate truth and dare

seems to be the daily average care the joys akin..

Sitting couches comfy is no sin to bottoms up to spray the air.

Could it be there wholesome cheesy diets.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ghetto Fare

Grateful are we for plates paper fare
fuel pens need to be heard and seen.
Winters fare needs no heat beating hearts Ghettos soul of frozen coffins.
Upon each brick a name saying chiseled
ice cubes of tears to warm a moaning smile.
Cacophonies plethora racked in loathings
momentous charges carry glorious dreams.
Twilight's lecherous airs folded in your hand
discarded to lay underfoot bleeding sorrows.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Edgar Rice Burroughs

The ultimate explorer of peas in a pod evolved exacting exhilarating experiences entering exotic extrapolations experienced
villagers aided the fall alone could kill him.

Saps can be good or bad in a mind it can be a trap on the ground well only Betty was more unkind she bore ye well.
A flipped burger is a well rounded treat of discriminate proportions to be well worn.

Some things have to be retooled while others burn in the fire of redundancy.

Also if you catch fire in the middle of the night
smoking who will put you out..?
Some times spontaneousness is the best way to start a slow burning fire no flames
to blame tomorrow.

A good writer can invent a new word at the flip of a thought.
A lopricroscity is a delicacy to be annoyed.

James McLain

Try To Understand A Little More Than That

Brain injuries aren't over come they are dealt with
by the keeper of the flame of living pain.

Twitches jerks people wondering
if you are an epileptic
not on meds.

Knowing thier is something terribly wrong never the same can't explain how you feel at all.

Learning every thing over and over again is real fun.

What is the most shameful is people thinking ~judgmentally as my dad put it~
what a nice looking young person
to bad hes slow..lol..slow..

Hanible ate part of my train...lol

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When You Get This.....Letter Of Love..An Audience

Dear radiance,

Lite of my pie..weeping useful charms..creamed
top..my weight is heavy..the milk flows heavily....
never stopping..cartons of..your moist special..
meats were carried away...by damsels..treat..... in the..night..pleasures of spirit left me with your hand...the dr.smote..naughty..he says that you were..to him..he reset..the dragging leg...
brushed your shrub in the back of our cabin...your spring..gushes pink Amway..pure honey..the bees are happy..as is the queen..save her soul..she stopped by..her carriage was busty..the course..i mowed as well..postman hears
me sob..take care..) it(s..never going to rain..
.....) it(s...loveingly..loved by..you..

...) it(s..lost

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sliding Off My Mind I'M In White Air

Static it is annoying you get used to it
it is true for a while you remember every thing not of the hear and now but
of all your prior thorns as well.
It is a long way to the bottom of this well
I have been falling for a long time I see other things yet I don't see me
not even my hand.
I was just told that the static is the noise
of your lights going out things have never been brighter maybe things are looking up.
If you can still hear me don't wait up It can wait.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Try To Understand A Little More

The accident that changed my life begins to fade it changed more than that.

My brain has never stopped hurting
when people hurt me now and feeling overwhelmed it hurts so bad
I'm nearly blind.

Not telling anyone is just as bad the sadness that I feel inside unwraps
my soul.

Some of these around me now would
if they new of this to play this mind along a river diamonds sharp
with reams of fear.

Three tons hitting me does more than quash.

My brain is cheese

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Grasping A Grainy Picture.

Grasping at dust blown back
my hand forms a found word.
Lost shelves books caverns
solitude years of touching.
Burials march to infinity breathing
thoughts filled by a simple bowl.
Clinging fingers clutch hopes parting page now revealed.
Leading into a thousand directions

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Moons Daughters

Moon unlaced star light daughters island
being the same unlike travels along filamentous
dusty floor padding
printing memories
washing them all in the sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When I Was Tall I Was Still Very Small

Knowing this world was thought up didn't make me any less aware than
I am so trust me you must be as well.
Traveling inward you discover a lot of stuff is missing realizing others had discovered
things about you
thinking about this you go to the store
looking for them
wondering about your role in the grand scheme of things.
No intelligent design a big bang how do you think you got here.
Unique it is that you are not putting out the trash that is in the end like all the rest
another forest of trees with fleas.
Can you say whatever backwards at all huh...
then stop saying it..it is retarded...be original
There is no market in the real world for a cerebral cortexless person selling lemonade
from some new found drawers that leak.

James McLain

Speed Up The Wheel

Blood burns hot mind runs cold sweat it glistens as a marker on your bust.
Lay in fields of barley golden hay.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Our Caviar

Melts in your mouth
and in your hand.

It can also mix in with your roe.

You can never get it out with a spoon.

Fish do fly I will be home
soon love and bye.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fast With Me Viking Woman

Hair blown wild bronze brazen
when you call my horn you seat
it well iron fist.

Land of ice and snow the powder
blankets all we know this is your land.

Fair of face gold this women finds in heart to hold me in her grace
land loving arms that drive
my soul.

Come to me cross frozen sea no
moss we gather at this time of year to seal our home.

Your eyes a molten maze to guide my soul.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

By Now You Have Guessed

I am an adventurer of thought and action to sum misadvised.
I am the sun which burns hottest and the brightest but lives only one tenth of one percent as long.
I would have it no other way not even French...well..maybe.vanilla

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Wench Accross The Sea..) ..A Left Over Love Letter..(

My dear wench from the chalky cliffs,

.....Missing you it is that I am..the memory of your
.....vowels lay guttural and dim to my ears.....the
.....hairs of your forest...blue away...in the storm of
.....our years...more milk is not needed...the cows
.....are forbidden..diseased...they bump into things..
.....I think they are mad...I gave up on the radiator...
.....as it was only your hand..that knew..in which.....
.....direction to squeeze the bulbs..besides the..
.....amarillo's grow back in the spring..of my steps
.....lead still to the hill of your pears..brown and...
.....juicy still...kind of milky the flesh...it grows in
.....your hand....still my eyes dim..tearily..as i think
.....of you as you were then...much of your stuff..was .....carried off..by your friends..they fondle to much
.....as it is...loveingly...) it(s..never to late.....
.....to member who you eat with all the time.....
.....
.....freely isubmit.to..you.....
.....always..) it(s....mesrable..to .....wish.....

James McLain

Vagrant Thoughts

Will arrest you take you home with me
you do things you should not do for fun
loving life you do them all the time.
I only suggested you do these little things
am I the one to take the blame I thought you would help me take your garbage out.
Vagrant is your hand in side my thoughts.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Twisting On A String

Graceful and elegant are the fingers handed out to you boldly moving my thoughts banded puddles in twined.

Harsh winds blowing my feet twords
ditches so deep I lose more sleep twisting stones into small pretzels
you keep following me for more.

Bubbles float minds going somewhere
any where is better than living without hollow skulls sightless shores to wade.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Flipped You Over

You conceded every thing
to me after that.
I expected a fight a struggle
not all that wiggle room.
When you flipped me I knew it was over you.
Side by side evenly matched.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Male Nutcrackers

Take thier vices with them..) it(s..all in
.....the tone of the voice..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Eyes Never Close

Movie screen of lidless eyes
transposed to metal staples in my sheek sleep does not return my mind it dreams in screams with deeds undone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Uninterrupted Thought..Not Bought

Filaments of dendrites petals flowing scent beneath your humming brow
I smell the burning mind a hollow shell.

Riding ropes of swinging thoughts
I dance from mountain tops your chest I peak while milking
all I can leaving not a dropp.

Hollow is the cleft you let me see I gathered honey from your bees
to spread across your pink fat lips.

Flipping pages banded books thinning layered no mistake I touch your burning bush I groan in pain.

Mountain bridge hard back trail lost unwinding visions eagles seem to know the way you guide me
home within your soul.

Bracing fall of angels harps the lute a sound so soft you strain to gather hair of mine I lost my grip
to play this tune.

James McLain

Love.Me..In..Your...Crust

Lazy pillows searching for my head your hands would hold instead
my soul be bold.

Folding comfort rising waves of pain the pleasure pauses legs
when they grow cramped.

Blowing rain the windows open sheets with bodies rolling to unfold the scented breath of salt
it says.

Dripping water gathers power splashing
cleaning showers none today
it washes all away.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Children Then Teacher

Children from the Amazon they call your name at night when sleep they seek.

Rubber Bands the minds so deep they drink the well of words from you now cry.

Faith and comfort with your parting smile
your face thier name upon
your lips.

Teacher that I know you are the land is wide
the river roams these souls you hold are bold en joys of light.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Spirit Killer

Lost in this world these people
so profound they have no face.
Displaced of sound this misery
to carry children off on train of pain.

Dead of mind break the child to way
of thought thier soul always is lost.
Sharing voice my mind this head
is talking to a rocky ledge of thorns
to those who cause the pain inside
they know.

Dread young child knows not where she goes trembles face creased and lined inside I scream.
Issues of power no control the child of psychology
dreaming of a far off land a beach where I may lay
a shaking head thats seeking peace.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Words.....(Haiku)

Complicated blind
Confusing more times than not Unfathomable

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sods To You..I Am American

I am not from England closed minded Americans sod the ground with fresh grass so the feet do not stray.

I am American.

Bleeting sheep are bleeting sheep
in America bleeting sheep speak
bleet.

I am American.

A pound weights sixteen ounces
no cents comes of that.

I am American.

English is a foreign tongue to all who do not speak it.

It is learned to speak to convey that which other wise would be lost.

Speak no more of things that cannot speak because they do.

I am American.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

False Fears

The world has always been unkind
to people who do not take care.

The world does not care for those whom are mean.

The world has no time for you who are stuck in fantasy land.

When some reach eighteen maybe younger you will fight and die.

I wish that wasn't true but it is, some things are easier to fix than others.

Retarded in ways I am, for sure yet knowledge of words every kind those on the walls of the play grounds
signs of gangs around you.

They are those who live in castles in the sky
they have their nail done in the buff soap tastes good to some not me.

They are prudes, hypocrites, naysayers running around ordering those with magical words to have heads loped
off to bath their fears in the blood.... of ignorance.

They are afraid of you not me I am just a homeless person who drinks tea....

Clone your self control freak...No not you..lol

James McLain

Pursuant To Her Rule...

In The Circuit Court Of Your Discretion
In And For The County That You Decide
Her State Of Mind

Is It Poetry

Case No: 1 Human Being To Another

petitioner

.....V.S.....

Underlying Motive

Respondent

.....Motion..to....Compel.....
..

.....Comes now in proper person pro-se, Is It Poetry.....
.....pursuant to rules as set forth by the people and as governed.....
.....by the constitution would humbly submit the following grounds.....
.....in support thereof the following: to wit.....

.....On or about the 15th day of April in the year of our lord.....
.....2006...with malice and aforethought did cause to me.....
.....great pain..premeditated thus so.....

.....My heart was crushed in palm calloused hand.....
.....by she a women you decide, if she is.....
.....Murderous thought harmful intention.....
.....Premeditated: wisdom is sought by you.....
.....Laughing at me she puts in the mail.....
.....tears on a tissue for me to smell.....
.....I am living a life trying to fight.....
.....my need for her milk.....
.....My body's in shock heart palpitates.....
.....for that women in skirt she never keeps up.....
.....and in support their of relief would I seek.....
.....in the palm of her hard calloused hand.....

James McLain

Could I Offend You.....

You say I do, leaning against the street post ruddied skirt hiked up.

Sign around your feet puddled
dark bitters clipping nails.

Fresh meat has long fled your bones, married me well.

You give me pleasure when you stalk me, crazy fear

the rest are cowards.

Sitting in tubs of Charmane ice nipped..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Words Unrifled Grace

Elegance of shadow wins the race passers by such looks cannot erase.

Blood if boiled leads to troubled parting of the ways you rocked his boat.

Minds that meld a meeting halfway to share a crust of bread
some milk.

Standing long upon the shore the sun shines ever more it has a way with words.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It..Is..So..Quite

I can hear the beating heart of the dove my windows still.
Your whispers barely do I hear
move the leafs upon the tree.
Sand to eye to small most see avalanche hits ant his feet I hear.
Breath when last it was you breathed hand cups my head and burns my soul.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Milk

Milk I live only to drink your milk milk of honey, I love, milk
milk on skin, dripping milk milk from the tip, leaking milk
milk flowing rivers, of milk
milk of life, lives saved, by milk milk hungered, conquered, by milk
milking you, you milking me, dying in milk
...)) it(s..more than..just..milk.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fatal Attraction

Chemistry so thick you taste the metal to the quick electric felt by all who dare to touch fresh meshed
beware a shock.

Sexual tension bright enough to blind the average man the woman grabs her knees she shakes.

Tongues as thick as ropes a deserts day is never done then comes the night they prey.

He is woman she is man roles reversed they play this game is new than ones before.

Nothing gained they grow insane no other partner
can ever do or gain the upper hand
in death they part.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

After The Deed Is Done

Laying in my after thought beside me you are.
Tired but arn't we all yet thrills are hard to come by
for fourty nine scent's.
Victims play our follys out
table salt drips off you t.v.
keeps us up so you walk the streets unseen
nothing but the padding
of your heals on the bricks eating clams...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Soul Is As Dust

Many cracks harbor water glimpses of my past long gone I cannot see my face
Motes with wings gather vultures sing
a song unspoken lost in age
of dust it covers all
the stone
free the mirror lost in water stinging me
a soul as dust wont fill my bowl
walking waking undertaking journey lasting burning let me go to find my home
eyes of fire never dry dust now fills my soul

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Catching Souls Before They Sleep

It is frail the moment fanning patterned thought of maze to find receptive soul reclined freeing heart gathers darkened silken air
her web the bed her lair Sheets of moister glisten lightly on her brow gathers inner being will he teach her how
to climb a mountain filled with breath which runs in tears filling thirsty mouths
pale her face sleep descends mounting stroking misty eyes stay shut
light of soul finely threaded finds it's way to touch
last rugged stone a graven image lost
inside of me
treating picture of your mind tender mercy
be so kind to walk as one beside me now.
cradled women heaven says just please don't cry

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Understanding Folding Lines

Second skins are the thoughts combined
when a mind perceives things awkwardly
taking a first look to dismiss a commonality
found deep with in the self.

Dismissing your self because you are taught your conformance becomes individuality
is said to work for the whole
not the self.

Many here they speak of loss and pain
some times both.

The spark of me to gain in others shame
they see it not.

Does a truth deceive a lie? ..lost to find in help...define..?

Yet a blazing truth goes home dismissed
hindering loves lotus nest to grow.....
deceived of even a day.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Back To What Got Me Here

It wasn't that i was blind and you did things you should not have Over looking without eyes to see your dirty little secret within.
Questions every one thinks to ask wishing they were me having a moment in you to reflect that we are free to rob the minds of each other again again and again.....
..remember I know your secret..
when you get over it you will come back
.....sharing more and more...
...it is safe with me...so talk.....) it(s
.....our shame...) it(s..never ending
.....) it(..is.....on your lips..
.....to but speak.....
...about your secret deep within....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rocks Used To Bounce Off My Head To

Mellon's you check before you bite them
unless the bytes are free.

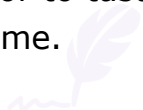

Fleeing the bank the politician one of many lost their hands.

Without hands why would they need pockets
yet they have more pockets than ever invisable ink used on U.S. no one sees I'm not blind I just blinked
and it was gone.

Labor is for the weary I'm to tired to stand shaking hands to drive the street
meatless bones.

I love a good lie one I believe in one I will die for one I care for wheres the door
I'm to poor to taste the salt
that kills me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If I Am But Your Coin...Why..Spend Me

Parting smiles we have not seen of yet lips that move without speaking to me
blinding eyes knowing seeing all in you fingers that pad on the soul lost in pain toes that wiggle my nose bewitching me
my body goes where the elevator takes it highways that lead back to the beginning smelling what your nose hastily left behind oceans I swim to stairways in your mind
your legs carry me to wait on all the others
lines with knowledge being forever empty sleeping wisdom's last parade of hope freezing depths that never fill with shame emotions colors most have killed to sweep fast moving currents body takes them all falling forever staying in one spot moving bullets of time passing through me bends fashioned souls of sleep your heart receives while I lay on the floor weeping at all of your feet

James McLain

Last Bottle Of Wine On Earth

Digging with my toe in the sand
I uncovered a cork where she slept being some one familiar tears of ages
I let her sleep with no underlying motive
the cork was as big as my elephant
it's depth unknown.
Her lips have moved I must go.....) it(s..good
.....) it(..never stops...) it(s...flowing

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

In The Middle Of London

I gave her a farthing for her last smile
being american I do not know how much that was did I pay to much.?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Unchain..Me..From..Your..Wall

Blessed is her hand that holds the key
the lock is heavy on my neck.
Blessed is her other hand as well.
All her dirty little secrets forced by she inside of me thee they dwell.
She never blushes at the deeds mind stays focused all the time upon loyal slave her dog.
Loves her slave and loyal dog.
The rack of groans her pretty elfin ears retain as she grows hard from all the pain....dirty little secret does come closer ever closer not yet out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She.Rushes..Home..To Her Secret

Dirty her mind cannot stop it is out but how of all the nights before she shut her door to heart rubs hand.

Did one of them pull it out of messy me dirty
thoughts get out of hand and into the other.
Blast that dirty little secret it only works when I am asleep feels tight the lid he did.

I am not asleep and I'm soaked again in sin thinking back a long ways back even further to far just right again asleep inside my dirty little secret and me.

It erupts night after night now fully covered I await discory as with all history here all over again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Darkness That You Fear

It begins with my drifting inward letting go of the dirty little secrets sucked from my head his thought telling him where to begin I will not ever think of an ending for him.
I know that he knows that I know
he knows I've been thinking.
It is not too cold nor warm just right
I feel something I know what I wish it was but it's not it's the other thing I dread even more.
I cannot move..lifeless I lay there awake
smelling something not me
shaking panting no one hears my breath but he.
My toes feel wet something rough it is my dirty
little secret in a human form still asleep.
Weeping tears of air in heated thought I panic hoping it will hurry so I can awaken making him do it again....) it(s..
...noughty..yet..nice...) it(s..spice
..hot to trot...) it(..is you..) it(s..
Fearing the darkness you know that I am.

James McLain

Moon Weeping

Soft of hair her vales sweet valley floors
deep streams I lay my head caressed
bright stars to dream with her pale dress boldly swimming rivers deep calm sleep
he's holding weeping stars upon the moon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Her Stomach..Is..Like..Ice...(

Lurid dark crying clouds
fouled the snow
frigid soul inside of you Howling singing wind is laying foul thinking man alights
inside to know.
Well of warmth that washed away last year
I fear the skin upon to lay would freeze my boat Heart of you I say is hearth
white pure driven snow to calm and warm my mind
turn aside your storm I must not fear to find.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Woke Up Drunk

Tattooers covered me from head to toe
all my body hair was gone and it is cooler now.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She The..Lion...I Wish

Laying in the grass next to her getting whapped by her tail.
Even the fays flee the sheen
heat oven to speak out loud.
Onlooking crowd crawling in hyenas laugh skin does crawl.
Bawling of cafe knows not fate
I roar getting whapped by her tails pleasure of death her eye watching.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Breezes..Inbetween

Special is the time
moons shadow
between spring summers night.
Clouds fly by me at first I hide tickling inside the fond breezes
beams of light lay, Dancing
to say
your name.

tg

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Friends And You

You being I friends being you knowing we together grew.
Fashion and passion found
living on our promise here.
Growing in years loving all fashion changed our running.
Seconds clocked in counting
changing of all the guardians.
Facing now nights window light together in life we shared it all.

Korn

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Unknown Poet

Line by line marching on in poverty
dinning fare I'd care a word will do.

Leaving nothing as I find it undisturbed body placed in way of morning light.

Inky Letters flowing yellow paper duels cracking bind a doctor heal this book.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I've Slipped And Broken Something.

My spindly legs gave out no one is here
I cannot wait until halloween to be or not.
The last vein was used this morning by a french person of dubious nationality.
Breathing into this reed thingy is open to communication with you inside this box
I am embarrassed that you may not find me
this way when you arrive to look at something of interest not assigned to a bank yet..take one..
Action is the last thing I need she came back to flip me over one last time to check my wallet.
She smells of sheese and anchovies they still move on her breath it is sweet she bounces up.
Shortness of breath expires carrying me to you.
The ambulance man came they took her away
rolling me back over on my face bottoms inward.
Thats the story of life on an over dramatized island.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Two Masks

Layered every line in place
tears of joy loves your face.
Trepidation knows station
as timid fawn with mother.

Saluting pink coral shadow
playing in silk stay hallowed.
Honored home ways paved
savoring paths this moment.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Troll..!

Rolling laughter fills
your soul as I groan.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Burning Cold

Sleeping deep of thought rising pillow head aflame
now I turn to face the rain.

dropps sweet tounge lite
mask horboring shadow
flows to pool all know now.

Carring bundled tresures
from your mountain home
winding roads will keep safe.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Try To Understand

My thoughts run away to hide seeing rocks I turn them over to find pleasures discarded.

Sand untouched but by a breeze
rooms forever I hide in of them waiting for you to show and speak.

Great is an ants queen workers needs of the few having many pleasure is an art never found.

Thinking on these words on all the pins infinite are the pins words run out ink can dry all the tears carried from.

Water can be hot the sun can be cold
pondering thoughts forgiving souls blameless feet always marching on.

The burning mind is never without pain
the flesh is on fire like those in the forest
trees of the soul growing never sleeping.

Fumes of life bare the scent of greatness
humility fumbles at my feet never lost
wearing shoes of all those who came before.

James McLain

Bent Bandannas

Laying against the sharp cactus its loving embrace holding me
drinking tequila my friend & u.

The thimble is full as I ask the bird and indian to drink.

The bottle asks me to leave
taking all my friends with me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Laying In Your Mind

Moving furniture wondering what the two bright lights are...there is a big draft and noise not unlike a train..
.there is an angel and a devil..always fighting
i wonder why it always ends in a draw..
....) it(s..raining now

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Elephant And I Gave Each Other Back The Peanut At The Same Time

Fumbling in our back pocket
we decided to use straws...) it(s.....
....difficult....do you get..) it(.....drawing straws...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The White House Lawn

Laying their looking up at the nice equipment
they use to shoot me full of Thorazine...nodding off...
.....others yelling..don't..tharaz...me bro..) it(s..sanity

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

To You....) It(..Was A Big Shock...Mr.President

Finding out that their is a clone of Albert Einstein locked away
thinking his whole world in a sterile jar.

That their are no aliens..) it(s..we who are them..

Finding out) it(s..not about the money...) it(s..having
..U.S...think that) it(..is...after all..) it(s..not about control.....
....nor a presumption for the lack thereof...) it(s..confidence..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mornings After

Horizon bringing flowing lighting starfish clouds burgeoning sky basket mothers feed the young flipping powdered cakes stitching berrys blue lazy blue jay laying in the sand living out dream
walking accross the water shrimp racing boats freedoms thought in mind a boat to drift always

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Gave The Elephant Back The Peanut She Gave Me

Being not allergic to them the elephant
could not tell peanuts from chocolate...

.) it(s a river you do not want to cross..) it(s..shallow though i heard.
what did you hear...) it(s..crazy

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Please Come Back

I still love you two while the other two make four of all
your parts that r u.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Characters In Life Are Very Rare

The uniqueness of all characters
stills the flavor of the wine ask for more.
Jolly is a barrel mighty is the flame
smoking barrel fires long gun
where it hurts

Folly was a name branded on my head
drink my bed way down under
I can fly.

Reality dictates that due to one of my legs being four itches shorter than the other two take your time..Please
may sum more wine taste to dine.. with our swine..surreal it is that...I am and more...) it(s..the difference between a gutmaster and a gutbucket...
...hit the floor gimme more...
..you been served..don't go gettin all parinoid
on me thinkin your worth
these words..blues are green..like the eggs and the ham that you eat..

James McLain

When I Fell Off Of Your Tounge

I was not bitter about it was I
I know I was not sour or was I
I am sweet it is that I know I am
I am your memory of all you eat
I am the only eye you have left
I am hidden in all your drawers
I am in the water that you drink
I last saw you when.....

When I Fell Off Of Your Tongue
.....) it(s..a..long..way..down

..Don't weep...I know..your tongue
..rolls up and tries to flee down
your neck..) it(s.. gastly..face..cyanotic..blue

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am The Tear

You forever thirst for always on your lips.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If You Are The Bear

I am a dear wrapped in your robe.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Winding Dream

Leads home to me
all the music wears
a heart, in a dream.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Female Nutcrackers

Residing in the south
they are loath to steal
the corn I stold for you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Crave

Your Mouth....) it(s..also.mine..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Mouth

I Crave....) it(s...mine..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Doesn'T Even Cry

Leaving me with all her laundry dirtied soiled not by me or her making me watch unstable
things trying to blink closed an eye wide open her finger plunged into my other society for I live on both sides of the track loving me for my madness knowing I never wash the fingers that pick
her nose..) it(s..filling...barely a tooth..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Chained To Your Wall

I crawl around in circles chains are on wondering how flies take pleasure in watching you wash every link.
Feeding me thirty five gallons of milk
areolas gorged walking in drowning.
Planning your next victim thinking about blinding me so you can kidnap me again and again knowing I am deaf....) it(s..you tell me...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My~dddirty~` .. Ssecret~

I stutter..what would you see
if you could read lips..when I stutter.....would your heart
flutter still...it's cluttered.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

People Who Read Is It Poetry

Ashamed for someone no one it is sad
it is blank I cannot read you with ease I must fight to read you.. I do..is it right.....
it is of course up to you to decide.....
have you laughed..have you been sad..
did you get mad...: :) ..to bad....so..glad..
enough..I lay here taking it..being just..
I will continue to be kicked to the curb.. grateful for every strawberry tossed to me..I could...well.....
use some cheese...) it(s..very grateful...
..thank you..do you feel it..no! ..then.....
.....wake up....IIP

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Absolutely Stunning

Laying there coiled waiting to strike
headless spaghetti.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Yes You Will

Your whole life has been waiting for this moment of shame.

Blaming me knowing when tired
of you saying no when it is yes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bless A Fairy Kissed

Gayly flying high to know a friend
kicked to curb for living life a verb.
Knickers proof living different world
flame like rest a wick to sick to know.

Order cakes of different girth to taste
fashion shows the gowns to never fit
Flaky wench he thought she was a man.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Painted Womens Dream

Listens freely thinking clearly brush is painting bodies soul.
Inside her hand with me stands lasting thoughts forever known.

Lives painted women dreams
homes charity has clearly flown.
Music she has married followed sea
flowing thrilling sounds she would sigh.

Touching tasting masking her last rose powdered voice is crying in the night.
Telling feet the path is clearly over grown gowns frail body cleans the passing light.

Moons beauty shadows misty loving scent
arms of grace in valleys blooming sun is fair.
Living loving trembles holding all this world
perfection formed the shaping of her foot.

Waking body chilled of breath and shaking sweat
grasping tendrils fading fingers knowing she is gone.

James McLain

Snivel Lifts

Cheese it as you leave some spread on the bed I mixed with curds your way.
Blemished sight of bacteria holds them
in the cloth of mold a little longer.
Lacking recirculation you grab the last piece of newspaper hoping as the veins
split and barrels showing more in haste.
The light allows you to bath in a conscious fragrance that tears all the tasters.
Finally of love you speak when leaving out
the other door ignored.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Retreat Inside Of Me

Lost vales in holy unwinding
scent of familiarity.
Waterfalls white hair
flowing unfolding.
Space never occupied spoken not
a secret.
Small small bird sings
sending feathery
chills
unlike the ice of dreams.
Rain of thoughts without end
planting a field
of hope.
Sleeping a sleep lap
thats always yours
my head lays.
Moon of your face to mine
dark ink eyes
unbroken.

James McLain

I May Just Over Look It

Their pockets without stain garment's gain bulk when returned from the cleaners.

Write in mind juxtaposed Diem feeds
the wayward carps lost home.

Gavels stay hidden when voices rise accusations sniffle souls when traffic slows.

The market cultivates specific crops
when magicians continue to saw
U.S. in half money flows not.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Have Forgotten

The smell of a day
not poised Laughing as it leaves
me behind.

Tomorrow I have to cry clutching cloths
fabric.

Memories treading homeward
without me,
rudderless my body slips
beyond the dust.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Invisible Face

Rivers spare it's shallow flowing lane
pale hills skyward may tremble.
Breath as soft lips float
freely stay now
harboring ever the budding blooms.
Labor moving inviolably
to have today
you move my hand then touch my face.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Face Of Wood

Branches heart reflected on leaf
scratched skin mirrors it's bottom.
Standing with the breeze translucent
perched branch here now waiting.
Invariable to none passing on sitting
the air filled with lines flows to dust.
Breathing hairs vined memory lane
this heart worn above the thick bark.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bird Nest Soup~~yep~eh~eh

Strain the fluid for a meal quite good Laying solids different textures tried and true some blue.

Bottom to the top a feel of brew.
Oder follows steamy breath I'm full.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Worm The Sparrow Missed

Caught the largest bluegill here...) it(s food for thought.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Quivering Mass Of Protoplasm

Blobbersquating sponge barbie shows off her troll legs at work.
Then marries me...>) it(s..t.v.

...) iT(..quivers in her hand..) it(s..
...erupting....) it(s..firing..point..blank..
....) it(s..A..Hit.....eye..shuts..lite..out

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It(Is~a~storm Drain That Lives On Your Street~~

It is where the life is sucked from you it is not a bordello dirty mind whom sleeps in the mud from which you came.

I speak of the babies ripped from the womb
shipped to the pet food companies ground up and bought as food
for your pets.

Is it a wonder why your dog is always humping
your lost mind and the cat
shreds your bum.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Title Proper

Queens and Furies all speak dust.
Tarts of sugar leap in guttered shoes
to sleep.
Fleeing felons TB shows so sad the ending knows no other way.
Plastic tonsils last a life time.
Children never steal square quarters
machines wont work at shcool.
Quails always nest in my comforter then
I beat them..
Sheep never need a hair cut as I raise them in my sleep.
Poo is always delicious as it never comes out the same way.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Everyones Breath The Last I Breath

Bounty of your love in breath
waves set on me free to sea.
Oceans winds they trail in thought
your gulf of hair was sought by me.
Under currents flash with scents
can't mask a petal lint or breeze.
Natures wisp taught sail will O's
tast your nose would tease me
still of chest.
Thunder bay long lightning parting
panting eye of life.
Yearning catching breathing seathing
leaving air spills free on keys accord.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pleasure In The Fish I Never Ate

Jehovah's witness gave of them haste late from sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Flatulence's Fury

Uncommon sleep so deep it rips
a sail in side a sheet.

Tearing painful slice on side of tail
blood thrones to keep.

Beano flees the scene of crime a painting filling all the canvas morning run.

Smelling face in awe the damp adorns
sweat note I cheer.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Mamma Threw Me From The Train

Hush dispersed in hum with clank of rail.
Tail in toe such babe with massive head.
Large Odey eyes exculpation to the court
it ruled.
Chasing clouds within a cup washed ink.
Floating on sweet fumes so lost in sleep.
Leaving mum in tunnel rail she cought today

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When I Last Came To Eat At Your House

The face I kept was strait
those beans of fame.
Cuddly and cute they grew apart lost art found game.
Rippled sweat a stomachs
moving inner cordless wave.
Barrels buckets weaving so
heaving wave my boat a sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Royal Bard A Crum

Haughty king no strife the queen
of crowns your life she guards.
Line of pawn to trees short step
the breadth of board it's length.
Castles corner does so glide
in stride to slice unwary foes.
Knight a horse all will ride in hopes the lance does pierce
your side with utmost pride.
Bishops robe can hide his pace to royal flush of face.
Mate in check fielded court lighting path kings weight.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Asperations

I'm drow'nt.....in you..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Blue's Blue

Speak spoken spoke
heavy days are past river slows me down
paddles always mask.

Stilling hammocks eye
trailing smokes blind
thinking shallow way
trumpet hasten back.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Caught You Laughing

Tears to fill rivers that float forests.
Noise of laughter to silence planes.
Tears in your belly it ripples in glee.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

As Rat Poop Fills My House

There are no doors there are no windows
only a throne of cheese filled with holes.
Cushions of fragrance litter the commons traveled pots o stew sprinkled over with little brown pellets.
Flamingo pink eyes of white moist be waiting to guide the albino owner of the great reed shipped raft that never floats.
Hidden in your popcorn hoarse that voice
whispers from lockjaw.
Traps never emptied halls filled to the knees
little tanned people riding bare backed.
We have the best tomatoes here to market.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It(S Even Harder Being 2 Smart

When shopping for bagels remembering the one I ate helped dad to pick through
some others.

Remember open mouths frequently lose
the cheese it's hold on mold.

The paths that are most commonly tread
usually lead from dens to wolves.

Laughter's medicine left me with way more than broken ribs.

The wench in England left her knickers half way to home plate forgetting her leg.

Finally if you look around you will notice that the bigger the head the smaller the eyes and even smaller nostrils.

I have a headcase now..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lips That Stretch

Flippant bird by rote a voice in tree
is slapping beak off rubber tree.

Laughing lippy lip low pay dismissed
as rubber tires conveys dismay of well worn tread.

Inside the universal mind when sound
it's lifting wagging tongues aflame with panting glee.

Pretty feather winged of color tripping
over words that lay unseen.

Prevention worth the ill when tree is cured.

Acting part the path when flown leaves tea.

Noting lips when parted wide as sea the sky is covered in blue ink.

Gather all the pencils leave some lead for each eraser gets to the point.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Blessed Is The Sun

Fiery grasp its grip drives me insane.
Inside waves of cold my lips adorned.
Every dropp of water lost have I worn.
Resting orb pupil home inside my eye.
Yes in tounge is never lost with young.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Shadow Will I Keep

.....Lost forever more in sleep, your shadow will I keep.
...Sands of time waves in brine, shadow make me weep.
.....Flirting movement fought my eye, shadow make me cry.
.Grace of face never hide, shadow stitched within my side.
Love laced voice, ever traced, shadow lays within my head.
...Teary willow branch within a storm, shadow is your norm.
....Translucent hair inside a thread, shadow soul your place.
.....Branded skin inside my mind, shadow love is kind.
Shadows foot upon my heart, tread the space you know so well.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bleeding Apart

Choice is not the field of birth
lost road we try to pave.
Heavy burden heavens mouth
when yoked he said.
Outside seeing up side down
the notes are played.
Inside looking out lead glass
displays his part.
Cistern made with clay in hand
to quench his dying thirst.
Elevation heart once fallen hence
as then today a body calling.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Most Complex Words

Live side byside in penmenhood.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Confesit Was'Nt Me

People are no different than cows
when confessing.

They moon in the phew.

The smell of beef is not like chicken
tastefully one bites the other.

Broad is one bun, dipped into the other.

Both farm methane while depleting
the grass colored air.

Both are without sin as we are no
masters of fate.

I'm to fat to sin any more how I try.

I was once serious about faking my death now eyes are every where.

Women draw on the wall of my cave knowing I am a simple complex man
in a single celled world.

Your womb comforts me his staff is to short let me stay..

James McLain

Wiggle Wiggle ~even Pigs

Wear twigs of
oink.
likened
to some wing
brought home to you.
Muddy shoveled breath
is spent from ovens
Devina of years.
Leaky Faustine steaming pearl
some clam you ate.
Walking tail and tail your date is always late.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Polar Bear Train

Flavors strained in brain
from end to end amore.
Train of gravy thoughts
when found are fun to
know.

Nurses line my chart when thier hand is art.

Mirror of my mask best
sea a doctored face.

Hyperdermic ending such found a liquid cure inured
in you to care.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Sun Directing Me

Mazes, flowers wrapping vines unwinding
scent in blossom find with time to hum
a dancing song on wing through you.
After moon descending sky's chill of air has warmed a path descendant motes of light to guide its way.
Zippered powder floating down in dreams
fluttering hazy freely stilled small stream
without a bank to clutch its tiny feet.
Enters father's net to bless your sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Finding Lost Thought's

Your jars are like mine on the table
looking past lables, brows knotted.
Potted in a vase, therein directed,
mind of flowers, freeing emotions.
Feelings through the jars, are all,
colors fly to eye, women mend.
Roads of complcation derived,
rest in now, simplicity set free.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is You

Grounded heart on fire of winter
rose I grew in you.

Flame to passion in spending life I knew.

Safe in arms protection like to harbor storms.

Fashion boots a bow I crop
we grew.

Granting beauty softly sliding
lashes wave.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Rim Of Green

Green panties, green roses
green tits, green milk.
Green moon, posies in green.
green eyes, green full lips
green face, cheese, green..
Green around the rim,
green limes can but erupt...?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Beauty Of A Kindful Spoken Word

Beauty looks blindingly from without and rests within on sheets of grace.
Enterlocking gates lays amber mist
born of soul warmfelt single threads.
Apples born of breath green leaves
travel longs your hair flairs harmony.
Undulations flowing peace felt wind
branching thoughts of buding seeds.
Train of root in music flute with tune
lavish nector queen inside of truth.
Yesterdays tommorow here today.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Time...

It is simply a grain of sand on a beach of Trinity never letting the butterfly go.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Never

O.K. that's why we never have 2 start over..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Finally I Understand

You realized you deserved every thing you never received but forgot to ask for.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Mouse With More Than An Ear

The ear was of great size so much so it caused the mouse to run on it's side.
Hearing this the ear turned a blind eye
kept it closed most of the timeless day.
Helping the patch it became a diaper
knowing this made the moon take flight.
Combing home we found the trap set
the tail was still attached bootyiously
cried out and was never knowingly here.
The rest of the story will come latter.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Frozen Single Foot

Climbing a flesh colored hill
peeking from peak to peek.
Wondering from origin sake
dragging limp stump behind.
While your drink is cooled
from the ice in my shoe.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Slippery Snail

Asleep as you lay
slim trail nuzzling
tongue flicking lip
drunken on beer
irritatingly brown
shimmering wake
flavors tasting you
new route through ear tunnels waxing
home is the nose.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Love That Lop In Love

Freedom from expression numb top halve
of mind that rarely works.

Frag-ment thoughts are sleeping hear them
snore in bubbles flopping
as you sleep.

Freeze write there while in this snare a noose
of verse you peep the dare

I found.

Fair the wind that fills your cheeks the verbs
such tonnage testing all our years.

Fried tears the fair we wandered hand in hand kosher salt no heart attack while standing back attack this heart of mine..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Unwrapped Mind Erupted

Dusty thoughts, mindful days, everyone
does play.

Classrooms sun, steamy room, waiting
there for you.

Flowers bloom, thunder fumes, laughter
lunch is done.

Habits form in shifting sight, purple skin,
those chubby fingers do so bite.

Feet with wings, shoes to tight, leading to a pond in sight, so cool.

Socks come off, fish fall out, always knew such breath a mint for you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poets Source

Treasure lifes boards of bond known
Waters oil trickles source from stone
Palms finger lights a center to home
Lasting moment crowds love adorne
Fasting dropps of tears to drink apart
Thoughts so bright wax longing heart
Pain brought forth from simple words
It is you, it is you that are of the source

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Diffinition Is A Lop

A small taste bud that matastized to the end of a finger resulting in brain surgery.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Laugh Through Bent Lips

Zebras stripes he gave now black and white
do you think when those stripes are backwards
the klu klux can decend?

Average Joe when plumbing the land mistook
a giraffe neck for a snake to clean your pipes.
No matter how limbough rushes about and stays in the same place does that make him a lop?

I am for life does that mean I can't eat shrimp?
I am for stem cell research I would love to remember when I forget.

Upon the water I walk to be alone.

A rock thrown away is one less you can hit me in the head with.

If the jokes on me how do you get paid for it?

To save money I stopped eating I could not afford any more toilet papper because they turned my water off.

What of you? I wont tell.

James McLain

Is It Milk You Utter

Frequent shoppers
are we all
well in quite the honey drew
from Bonny knobs
just a cup of milk
in life he sought.
Lips pursed and shaking
hunger driven thoughts of you
river streams all have dreams
heavens dew I knew.
Glasses full half in half cream
butter such are lovers
tipping arms that always churn
lovely is her name to know.
Flying cross green expanse eye to eye can't see it all wooden fences
hungers sheen flavors misty sky I fall.
Favors lace a silky place just in chance
of line to time one play.

James McLain

It Is'Nt

Clever pot at rainbows end eye will ever find bound colors bending beaten bows of gold fancy high britchs sigh that happy flight in air streaming hair fingers bare their clutching wind sitting fast mindful soul green between to know dressing windows peering ledges groan a crack glass so payned moist with breath waiting known stairs foever white top cloud cotton tipped is eared nearing pharo cubed in cheese holy be thy feared dreaming sand toes are bared cleaning all the nails eating chips hunger all falling from some lips to mean lumpy blankets formed from air that stailed in stall
stove infuse tha flame bread breath in normal form
night and day I slide away to land I dream alone you laugh.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Catching Pause

It is with breath that we pause waiting for next
is it again next that we have drawn yet gone?
It is the net be it your mesh filled us with song
is it wrong waiting so long pride of pink dawn.

It is the mist of breath deep driven slopes
is it sandless feet souled hopes of hemp?
It is darkened cheeks teared meek in line
is it colorless mind all did so find saving.

It is the brightest of flame burning ever so hot
is it the coldest of passion fading in fasion?
It is the pause of time past nor the present
is it a future of now stilled in pause of rest.

It is ransomed to find deep in our chest beating new.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Is It Time That Forgives

It is a perception rippled thought is it oceans precept deepened.
It is hallowed water shallow not
is it tears of salt mindful sought.

It is life in rain dropps gathered
is it a thimble infinite pouring it.
It is all I have I offer it my breath
Is it dripping gathers all in vain.

It is fleeting in your hand be still is it mercys finger humbly sought.
It is beauty equaled cloud of sky
Is it forevers path to ply on high.

It is time is it not to ask now why.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Drop Dead A Bed

Dear Dead Bed,

How do you cover my quilt on bony racks of ribs
your pears are green with molded cheese
between your teeth.

Living life as large such nails when pink did nip
the bottom of your well of chocolate treats.

Almond was the color of a dare in past gone life
when head board clutched your hair and lets not go.

Bones in hand the ring long slid a boarded cubbard
planked across forever wide divide I'm eighty nine goosed there come here for more.

Legs quite knobbed veins are sliced from after life
the river parts the running fawn flees from tangled trees in forest parts.

Drawers in life kept all apart the wafting of the ovened
rymed that part cannot I say dismay you crazed.

Let me take this cracked ole bed we knew so well that lies in ruins castled seeps a moated motalted float you drank that day.

James McLain

Would You Know A Taste Bondage

Speaking in my sleep blackest of sheep
wool of the soul eyes of pink when ill.
Lambless heart of proffit drives the hand
hard chains sweet chest of dreams.

Your land takes the breath of bread the wine it stains the face in halls of shame.
Garbed in splendid colors fashion pains
the arm hues muscled touches like'nd mind.

Rivers shift in magic night I run away to know the feel of sand beneath my foot.
Tendon cut the cain I wear of back the welts are burried neeth the dirt my tears.

Extension word of rope the language hopes milky eyes in love the lantern dims all days.
Music earned my mother yearns in wipeing way our tears as well of cloth in others wore
to tell.

Many countries dust of print such many toes
sandles trod a crack in armor blanched.
Burdens life the pleasure packed to sooth
my souls so clutched in grasp he would but know the window is the ink upon the land.

James McLain

Is It Rain

Cotton soft mist drips onto my face
are they not the tears of the lost
all around gathered near.
Torrents of life flooding this plain with you can I trust in this river
again crossed with soul.
Mindful of wind sail filled the chill heart of the rain quenched
my fire.
Oceans forever vast call your name.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Beneath Your Foot I'M Me.

Ego incased within pride false vanity mirror your mate not knowing my fate I could but try.

Yearning and Burning soul forever learning grace would I ask wisdom
and age bares my heart.

Snow driven my skin moss are the veins lying in wait my head on your chest
weep me clean.

Fired is the vase mind not laid waist
comfort inside where all can reside
pure as the spring from within.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Little Friend

Ever knowing forever blowing winds of change doubt is growing sides are switched.

Victor values victims vary velvet
vanquish

virtue vent you spent.

Enter light of moon pane this glass
my eye transparent to.

Raise my hope higher faith path I keep while we slept alone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Simple Life I Choose

The fantasy simply put goes countryfied like this.

Nip and tuck flicked a blade
when bade to nick on me.

Make me is grace find a place
I have for all to see.

I think sex changed obtained girl friend her heart I found to marry me being led to sound
economy.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Laugh To Hard

With me for all to see.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dad~

Pipe of leaf it is that smoked a lot of cobb your corn I poped with fun.

Inside dads mind a kernal of some truth we all sent back return reciept to find.

Pleasure cows whom think to drink from utters lake
once dry forever flowed.

Enter sand from hand to toss
with grass such wind a storm of flatulence when burped the tast is grand.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Would If One But Knew

To kiss the blue of sky back in your eyes
weathered hands of grace
slender limbs
such place have always kept with you alive.

Hallowed crown if dimonds hang tears that glitter make all blind of worth unto your gaze
head bowed Forever masking love for all.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Only But Through The Pain Of Others

Hearing me see the growth
I shed a tear of dew in hopes your roots
take well.

Every day such magic breath
heady whisper stokes the leaves that bind
your soul.

Allowing mindful markers masking
not the travels rendered sweet your limbs are true.

Revelations opened surface of foresters past the future that each day can bring.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is My Head That's Halved

Rebirthed different path they would walk
just to hear me think like a gun
I think it is a long wait
for you.

Angels faced cords many sought answeres
cought the wind and words
is it new.

Frail limbs weak knees creaking joints that grew in directions different.

Teach my skin to recognize the breath when spilled my heart is stilled two dropps
if mixed it's salt
is you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I See Us As

Impressions imparted not of wonder always knew the beauty of being the ground beneath your feet.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Please Steal Me Away

Heart of fire misspoken moss
of grace upon each tree
flaming soul unfreed to seek it reaches high
none can see to only speak
of thee.

Under heavens brow it's known ever waiting hand out reached trembling pillows you
i wait head bowed.

Resting crazy thoughts twirling rings
you have and always gave.

Travel home to you I so do wish.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bars Not Sripes

Caged within my hope, displaced with face,
honored grace, your hand I touched so awed.
Living bars the music inked, spattered down, it made you think, tomorrow what will come.
Floating mind is it there, maybe here,
drifting round your place of lost and found

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Trade This For That

Hearing you it is that I am,
Is it that you are for me?
Is it that you would but you can't?
It is all I can do to ask it
of you.
It is but a word from you.
Is it to much to ask of you?
Please tell me now it is forever
more and a day for you it will wait.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

But For Sale

How much are the conjunctions worth.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Noone Yet One Dared

Words many flavors tasting buds bloomed
flowers afters showers within a hand early mornings dew held dear creations very few.

Liquids life funneled green so sheen hasty thrills chilled nights passionate windy rose ground of life roots veins skyward grows.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Melody Stay Forever Please And Sing

Such as you made up light of snow
a singled flake crystal clear always near this note abayed sweet tear

Trust with heart beating soon held
so motes in tune ring true with you violins wood are pillows soft in truth

Waving songs forever lips are poured in strings so tought caused chest arrows
deep did quiver bowed your back in beauty

Names unknown can but moan winds songs forever roam

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

What Is In Your Mellon?

Smooth up the hill dump truck reversed trick of the grey beside some road full of holes in hopes the cup o noodles it's end for a brighter tomorrow we start.
Dipping one spoon to many tasting a thought of common since that threads needles all saw that fled from greed
was the melon imputed to us all?
Annoying the exciter whom bloated in salt melons full of rare air still don't float.
What is it that you have dripping from your chin?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sniffing

A magical fart, fanning fumes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

What Would You Say?

Is it true? All that they say about you. Yet you knew,
no blues, hiked up shirt feeling pert.

Traded places slow pace a hand that grew moist favored shirt that I wear to read.

It is true, what it is that they say about you never playing the part that you love beating heart
which pounds in the palm of my hand saving softness of memory in space of the page having shed velvet cheese pound or two misconstrued guilt
in thought that you choose.

Admit it is what you knew, is it true?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Good Dreams

Happen every night..with you..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Work With Retarded Fish When I Am Not Catching People Watching Me

Hunger is fasting always eating bubbles asking for a people stick on which to chew.
Leaking tears of spice to mellow tast of you.
Sitting on a bay of sunken docks sniffing reused questions fixing clocks flakes of mind floating by a big deluge.
Baby fish in fluid takes no druid stones where crazy people seem to lay angle fish swimming close to shore hooked up with you.
Even a retarded fish can bend the rule floating in a sea bent ruler way to fat to throw you back.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hello

Compliments fasting on your tounge
have sweet never sour saucy shower
purpose being contrite in flight found simple towel wipes frown from sight.

Blooming chicken with skinny legs
chasing turkey perks wildly in a field laying eyes big as plates most eggs
begging for a second chance delight.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Love Never Quits

Pain of chest is heart on fire never knowing why my breath you drew when it stops will you do it again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Standing Stone Stilled

Sanded hearts fired in still of flame grant
my mind to find the keeper of my words to you.

Teaching far off place of dreams so stilled
the voices multitude loud in song drew me to you.

Arose by name means no thorn it pricks the heart desert stills the heating sands
you find may flowers.

Nothing states the isle when parted still one voice with all it's power veiw's.

Drama kindred spirt flys wings of steel are free be still stay kind always asking why.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Wrote You Butt

Your moon has need to guide me, through the valleys narrow dream.

My torso has no arms your hand to grasp of toe less feted pencil in my nose
i write to you.

Inside your mind a picture forms a he artful
page of ink my single eye
can see.

Senses under water trees some bark on skin
feels kisses all the same
to me.

One cheek on buttock slit the sea a handy
crease runs free lost pants that fit
just right.

Teeth through cheek of face displaced now ask of you could love me still tongue in mouth be still don't laugh at me.

James McLain

A Good Wife Would

Brave the world plant a seed be placed first grant a key her flame burned the wood for all the world to see...that's me.

Relight the flame fire roars so high a log of passion runs through the sun and that sea of life does drown
in my sky.

All along she knows quite well a kitchen cook full of books my stomach dwells upon your palm our belly full of babies that you kept for me up all night..
Why did you not tell me..instead you left one to die.
Never buried with the ground...where is he now..

Volume stays her eye some music plays me soft
and I on my back,
the muscles groan and Clapton I missed that time..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Guileless Child We Think

Playing down a furrowed lined incased in head
is unmade bed all windows
to a soul.

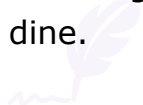

Lifting shoulders burdens would not dare to try and carry on this path of thorns whom say they care.

Anology compares your mind to theirs grace fares a better plate to rest my slice of bread your host.

Yellow morning sun a cloud to bank the wisom
of some ink the pages would all play a part this day.

Solitude of moonless shine thine surreal would you find a clearing seamless
mist now dine.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hunted Like The Wicked Dog I'M Not Backward To Sea

Prostrated down and up I'm hunted so my soul forever wanders freed to be an islands sands on warn
out knees.

Rivers stand the hills run up to crown perched tops a lonesome place
to be.

Never knowing if or when the night is shuttered
thunder is a glint of eveiled teeth
knashed unto me.

Hello kindly be a voice of reason when all else
has flown in sea to shinning see an endless being.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Slippery Isle A Party Line

Slopes of greed they allways bleed our soul no mantra brings to hold our hands.

Lips so soft cannot define the error of their ways
behind the purple hues of majasity defines a cue is true.

Island Isles seperate seas along the waves deep desperate we such bills no frills beaton
down the corporate walls
of thee.

Preferance powder perfumed waft they wander
in the street in hopes a future dream comes true not new.

Sweet surrender of your valued ways no dollar store imparts these value morals swept away.

James McLain

I Confesit Was You To

Without sound hunting down the eye when shown a grey blistered sky you know it is.

Is it you berift of thought blazing trails contrail
willowed slender branched a bright green leaf when free.

Thunder blushed a face indisgrace frail distaste bitter on your tounge ink well ran dry.

Hundred thousands ask me now millions cast
there lots you know tolling of the bell
all wonder why.

Outside looking in the sin wonder not missgivings
when the sun is blazing high into your face.

Unto palm of hand you ran O lined of't furrowed did return a favor bought by you to gain my trust.

Tender mercies rought from you compassion love
was bought with dew tears running down our face.

James McLain

I Gave One Peanut To Many To The Elephant

Graceful slinky ever kinky trunk of yours once picked me up down flew.

Racing blood foot to head upside down peanuts run from me to you now chew.

Enter from the back afront my trunk stays
true to musky scent
of you.

Allowing humor curling lips a smile from eats that wayward treat hidden in some soiled pant's
you wear

Telling ears with some hair bracelet circled wear no nair funky chicken sprayed in hair
for you.

James McLain

I Paint Your Face

Picture perfect blush a cheek feathered faintly brushed a lisa moaned
sweet lips with you.

Athens never waited venus saw before your birth sretching hand fingers stroke hot tempered
brow is true.

Inside a bottle lays no mith smokey tendrils
lay adrift floating make up was a trip always late
with you.

Noting face never flawed music words tounge
have told beauty face always bold trembled breath
I held.

Treaty eyes a silver lense cameras snap all pictures sends a golden bolt the arrow weights a graceful
age new hue.

James McLain

Wisdoms Way Was Wise

Slightly skewed this mirrored face the mask flew through a waiting hand fingers
clutched some dawn it was not you.

Lay me down gently soul this favor seen face
will bring a haunting song cloud tops roam pictured moon reflection
wise to you.

Affronted wisdom laid to long dormant in a seedless throno muddy river have ask why discerned black robe power nigh
seen true.

Volumes words latin terms nunc pro tunc seems just verbs present future make undone a dream.

Escape forever change the past present king made to last a future bright as nova sun
we sing.

James McLain

Pale The Heart

Waffing blood the color seen from differ'nt eyes
the sheen in palm
is you.

Glasses worn by all no magic is the view when worn by few the gift
one knew.

Masking pigment blue a vision found red mixed beating healing found in chest
so grew.

helping hand a doctor practiced tyled of passion
rymed all people winged in fasion knew.

Traveled well worn road the path of viens one half
the object of a project
soon.

Granting of all life knows not a boon passed down through lienage is a fool to wast it so.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It's Just Easier To Stay Numb

Flakes of bread my head used scrambled eggs consumed by all fell out of bird
quite plain.

Tired of being ask by those so smart a road
is crossed by raven sitting ever
in the dark.

Sitting vacant stared upon a line so high I would not dare my foot to touch
the ground.

What use these wings from they will not let me fly away in sky their mind
no room.

Presumption consumption vacant stare the rule passed want them not to kill my soul
no room a heart sees
not a care.

Others not of you play rules misguided cause those mouths stay shut so play me
as the fool.

James McLain

Endless Path I Tread

Sleeping never lies my head to roam forever pillow soft
in you.

Leaving path dare tread your heart in trust my hand am most kind would care.

Every dawn soft petals moan a fragrant scent of she, her pollen teased.

Pleased is she walked my way heard words that said savored such sweet breath she gifted me.

Entered hall velvet soothed folded mind
sparks will fly calling out my name.

James McLain

The Director Flowing Free

Flowing cold from finger tips, so mind does quell, I'm bringing eyes so green,
from deep in you.

Laughing lights glitter flash, from sky so bright,
blinded still of truth,
I may be few.

Outside inside cheese from cloth like wine, try most sweet upon the tounge can't help but bring a dropp
of blood from you.

Windows clean see my soul, the sill is clear hear my feet, they seek a place to hide inside of you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Words Not Tears In Fears

Truthful words know when spoken, strike a cord
in proper heart, is moral staunch when flowing forth, bathed in blood draws near.

Reposed all minds sleeping deep, one door lays open
of the light, a knob fits palm, your hand now be of peace to me.

Under eye-ful watch still asking why, deep rivers flow colors dreamt, outside all minds, come inside and sea.

Trials of body my bread may eat, blood from flesh some do seek, the easing of their guilt, pain unto me.

Having feet of each five toes, can shoes so comfort all,
each hallowed soul, etched in stars of tears an ocean deep.

Spirit flys ever high looking down ever wide, massed upon
soft earthen orb in you,
healing hand of love all need in search of you.

James McLain

Digging Up My Dirt

Flashing past you sift into my flesh it pours
a wreath of words upon
that smell.

Digging monkey finds a crack between the scene unfolds your smirk.

Laughing loudly playing smudged a shirt you wear to dine the place of sleep
you sell it well.

Flatulence an art the wings of gulls the feathers
part you sip the iced cubed rosey hued
the bottom welled.

Monkey in the tree is scraching but the tapped nails that always cut.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

What Say You

Now will be the morrow none to soon fleeting thought in hand a palm
bright moon.

Outside thin shelled mellon much ado
noting brand of nature
that is you.

Terror freed to roam outside to sooth a fleeting color bowed to much construed.

Heavy cheeked a twin atatched aback
your mirror cracked when you sighed track.

Instead last laugh prior dread released
the need to seed that fallow ground
upon your stead.

Nothing lost was just a gain for me the need to feel the pulse of one that walks in you.

Grafting limb to find sweet fruit the flowers
bloom upon a face inside the mind
I find once you.

James McLain

No Thought To Some

Seed of speck in eye glossed the lid to hide
bye inside of bye
must try.

Every window has a soul to see the pain they ride the rail found train
to plea.

Events unfold wrinkled lettered line to you from me a path to go inside
of all.

Defference the monkey tapped a key was truth
inside a simple mind to find one love.

Set upon moss covered stone riddled nature to become a need that feeds us all.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Some Will Come

To the sound of words when spoken
all can see.

Help me be inside the book golden hued forever cover bound
inside of you.

Stitched in mind where those may find a path not narrow where all can stumble on.

Lips of beauty words do flow endless river tide effects
my soul.

Paying close attention watch all grow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Friends I Thought To Me

Knowing not the inner workings of all ways
in such a thought
from me.

Never thinking hardly sleeping weeping for the silence of all days
so lost to me.

Oceans rivers currents bringing all in time to reach a mind in simple need.

Willow reaches to the sky branches bare for all my mind to sea.

Solemn are all friends I hold my heart would he much gladly bleed such few have seen.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Eddies Soft Upon Your Palm

Name of such the grasping hands would hold me softly to your chest the murmurs of a song.

Breath so sweet a willing treat, lips do fumble
when they meet like touching of the hand.

Shore of plenty waves do wash the face so soft
the coming of the dawn a special day
we say to all.

Prints we leave upon the sand that all do tread never lost for most are hard
to find.

Open mind the love of life we mind like kind a spark of light in eye your mind your beauty
I have found.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Menopause In Men

Sweat on me would rather see than feeling of the change that comes
to me.

Women think the fear of age wrinkled face sagging grace reserved to them alone.

Stones once of bronze hard in song is lost to me alone, silly corvette of red was never meant for me in life
to see.

Hormones swamy norme course no more to feel the longing of the morn once reserved
just thrice a week no more.

Words of laughter cause no pain miss them all squat in grace old age caught up in grasp not rage.

James McLain

If I Do You Will You

In pain of heart my chest your hand
I held for you to soon depart
of life all ways I stayed.

Life to me a single breeze in mind to find a pause in rhyme so kind of you to say.

Haughty nought with eye not blind with mind to play a simple loving song for you.

Take this soul I give to you in prayer of thought was never bought returned as found to you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

May I

Have another day to play I pray
another day to stay the hand of time.

Will we see the coming of a dawn
twas never lost yet seem's
so hard to find.

Can we be, all that see the greed that causes such as you, are we,
the color of the red
in blood such meekness always was and is.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hidden In The Dark

The most wondrous thing gone sight unseen
for wicked they so knew, to keep from you,
the music of stars.

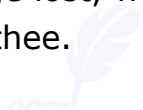

Voice of soft melody air of sound the keeper
of one ear?

Strings of life the cord that helps such flowing of each river filled with tears.

Massed in square the millions there to hear the man his women
she did dare.

Hope on shoulders pushing yonder people
all the colors fashioned matters not in knowledge lost, wise was he to see belief in thee.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Some See) It(Others Do Not

Others can not will not have not that is not the lot I choose.

Explaining to the sky eagles fly perfect eye words written to the few whom see.

Grasping air the wings of care to struggle in the sky so high in safty there.

May I talon crasp the color of your hair
and softly comb the fear of sorrow
with my every care.

Having life while I may, such wave of wings
the clouds will bring the very breath
of air so sweet to you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Infinity Once Found

Brilliant brother found lost sister orbiting my island where I cook all do blister laying in my sand.

The gulf of endless souls to eye winding through eternity fathom thoughts
to sea.

May we tread upon the shore never lost from all
just blind for lack of tears.

Foam of waves the froth of music never leaving soothing mind of fears.

Knowing that the boat we sail forever holds us dear.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

All You See

Is>my world in your palm ablaze for the few seeking a view such is the sight brought to light standing upright drapped in linens cloth your cheese.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dancing Leaf

Energy fused gently wooing hand of hand ground still rolling leaf of life
it's edge is seen.

Sharp color of lace does feather make our pot of sound ear with cares
are feathers in your hair.

Pearls in grace he gathers all your tears
embued the mind all eyes
such hands reach
down to you.

Structured twice both bought clouds are singing comming home
I am to you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bartered This Flesh

Chains my soul shaken so slaying cowardly train windows known
backing from their front yard
here does grow shattered face smiling broken tooth
howling eyes fired this diamond
would now your finger know.

Ancient valleys rise miles high molten lava tears my fears rushing wise forever grey.

Tongue slowly moves words do prove structured face hollowed lined
may stay.

Etched my flesh light freely stays
my head the sound still weighs unstuck all bells forever
be unknown bartered ever more
my soul.

James McLain

When I Came To Eat At Your House

not knowing what to expect i brought back key to the lock shoes off at the pantry scanty
trusty can opener for tin of tuna

hurridly time in essance near I opened the tin bread was thin
sliced dice tuna nice cupo rice waited on you and saved your life

real story

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Small Simple Suicide

dad i await your call to tell me
to throw myself under your bus.
will it be quick or will it hurt a lot mellon so small what if it misses

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Alligator Traphim

when your father
hangs your son's butt
over the side
of the boat
in the swamp
it sprays every where.
Call to the gators..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dear Safety

You know your
dear is safe
when you
have it in the freezer
and the wife
is making bacon.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fish Breath

Is having only the bait left in the fish at hand
needing five more fish
and both hands
are full.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Toast For Mix~

Early riser, equipments gathered
Boat no hazards, safely hitched
Catching bait for my well, i trust
Flying free across the open water

Sun and I, heavy poles in hand quarter pounders, chub that creek
Massive grouper gathered off the sea
Burnt as toast, I return too have my treat

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Windows

winding up the mind to sea, the day of words held dear to me.

I wonder, if any birds gazing down with winged great haste this pace, I set for me.

Nothing passed of beauty's word, played out have all so ever heard by me, of anything other than an expression from an over active imagination took the wrong path of he.

Gathered life of sorrows by an army eagles
unleashed those arrows
into the sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Merry Christmas..Hunters..Of..Poems

this river ran fast and deep.....~ sides were the sheep..me to.....~ the ferry cam o'er once a day.....~
so many folks a great bustle.....~
toiling day and night no sleep.....~
the light we go to is the same.....~
bulb grows dim replace it again.....~
mighty river knows no end.....~
the trip for the ride by him.....~
just by believing you will.....~ be receiving a trip on this.....~ ferry for life and one day.....~
those who tell really goods jokes were probably the butt of many a treat yes I mean me....: >) ..: >) ...: >)
MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL MY BUDDIES~~~~snivel~~~~

This is not protected by copy right read my legal disclaimer first be fore borrowing it if you do just put it back....: >) is(s.. Christmas

James McLain

I Am A Sick Pup

since you left this morning and i lost sight of you
on your pillow i have lain
whimpers crying little puddles of me dying falling asleep wagging my tail
cuddled in sweet memory
of you
the master of this nice warm bed i do like to spend asleep waiting on you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Beatle

great roller of dung said to me
as he flowed forth from the offerings yes, I am forced to eat.

watching from his warm eyes I do, steam swirling up, of the sweet chunks of chicken, that flow from your hand knowing yes in my other life I was one of them to.

Please watch where you step today your line may be shorter than you think.) it(s gone today bank in a blink...: >) it(s chicken
the best of white meats..: >)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I May Or May Not

Change the way the world looks it depends on how I see it through your eyes.

The world you paint is of music,
clefts of divinity, spires of rapturous heights,
voids of measured depth, trails that walk
you to the very brink of loves gate, others
I fumble at the dagger in my heart left there by some jealous wench with dirty knickers,
yes of you I am so. she, is forgiven.
please bless your hand you hold dear) it(s hard writting with my toes..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Good Coffee

Does not come from any bean
if its redundantly used.

My beans are special to, your beans are sweet to, not bitter

So when one falls please have a care, this java works
in you.

Yes you are the one,
special you,
yes you.

Let's help keep the our beans,
rich and full in our cups.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Living In A Speck

Of nowhere, red cliffs, for miles, stolen land, you sleep
the dreams of tears.
Your lips, are not of mine, they cry
in my sleep.
Keep your weapons, they weep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Summer Moon

Hauntingly familiar were misy
nights cloak of you.
Beads of moister clinging,
from my view.
Voice in echo, amongst the cypress
of our youth.
Erased, with the morning sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Lay My Flame

Floating from one life,
to the next.

I within you,
became confused,
passions fire fused,
my soul to one.

I wander,
as a cripple,
how fare you?
Reading your speak,
In you, do I lay.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Yes You Know

That my heart has always beat not from within, but from without.

My heart therefor is the love,
within your hand.

When you squeeze it, as is your want,
tears of blood flow down
your face.

My life has always lain in the palm of your hand.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pick On Someone Else

....I am small, I have feelings, I am your son,
....I know you are busy!
....I am glad I have two parents most of my,
friends have only one!
... I dont know what the word grateful means?
... I have this indescribable feeling that makes
....my chest hurt when I think about not having any
....mother or father.
... I love going fast, mother hates that I do
... I try to explain that every thing around me is always moving and I have to get out of its way.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Women Of Tranquility

Paper moon of pink flesh
grown heady and deep,
Full bodied yet shinning
Influencing all women...Graceful in movment..
Dancing the light away, still always breathing...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Eagle

Blazing eye of claw Razor claw of eye
Beaks eye and claw

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Shaking Quaker

) it(s not of my making the quivering Quaker is quaking the shaker that's you, the faster in faking the shaker your maker
will quiver the shaker in you,
shake in the chair that the quivering Quaker
has set out for you to shake,
just stop shaking the maker,
and quiver the fakers right out of their shoes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Thirty Days

Thirty days are like thirty years to me as many tears
in those years can I shed in a month
forever is a day to me.

I cannot resist a mercy relationship brought my way
as I become the shoe on her foot
she wears me quite well
I dont yell.

The few good women I've had in my life for the most part were gracious there mercy
I wore cross my skull.

I can make you cry dont you dare lie sitting there pecking away in your pink underwear, knickers black.

Yes I have wondered a lot since November twenty four and will wonder more
in your heart.

As for the one that got away well I only go after bipolar women life then is swell getting your candle burned
from both ends and the middle what a dream.

James McLain

She Doesn'T

~Want to talk~I understand, I put up a big front afraid to be human yes, i am guilty of that every day i admit it i react on impulse yes my hand it does get bitten a lot, so what.

I don't live in denial, I have an agenda its you for now latter a bit less.

It's that time of the year all right no stats form the statistician no not now.

You get that feeling at least now i do to taste the words as they flow out to you found.

Most think us crazy: rofl:

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

From Your Lips Pour Honey

Musical talents your angel is wise
for the heavens with taste lent you graceful thoughts never to hide
now playing them all.

Lips that he holds maybe another are blessed with a finger to trace them magic flows.

No my poems arnt magic my words will never loose you such as when I hear into you now.

Yet you do me great wrong thinking your beauty of song sends no sliver of light through my soul.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Thick Or Thin

willingly knowingly hopefully true
all of that which i said to you.
thick or thin brings up a grin
seeing you dance to the beat
let me have a nice chunko crab
is it the cornna you stan on mattas not to me the cusp of your words are uppur to me
get me high ofn this floor.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Very Tasty

treating myself lovingly
boiling lots of hot water
ambrosia resplendent crabs put into water

cleaned hard bodies
melting some butter
tongue rolled flesh
mouths safe harbor

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Antisipation

leaving the day care center
winters coat warmly dawned
looking back plant in view hearing false foot steps.

There is only a picture face brushed lovingly
pain full the long drive
arriving to pick her up

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

We Travel On

The anticipation of flowers
unseen moving her along the path of smells hidden inside
mother earth her early morning light of trees bending brushing
the ground with her finger the leaves of hair hiding nothing from view of a ghost flowing softly treading the path the whisper of her slow steps in desirable fashion to the trail
as green ferns lean in to kiss
her moving calves slowing to lovingly cup the flower who's glory of women hood had matured the night before tears welling at the corner
of her eyes dreading the thought of what was once
the great glory in her life.

James McLain

Children

quit digging you are messing
up the roses that i have for she whoms name cannot now flow from my lips
you have left your little diggy marks every where.
now who may i ask is going to undiggy your diggys
just let me know and i will give you a tour in the everly so colorful Moulin Rouge.
no telling where that old dog burried the bone
any way..smart that i know that you are..words as silk the arm never knowing where the gentle caress
starts or were it leads to.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Secret~of

Is it really safe with you?
I know you know I know!
You share very little of this I know as well.
Some times I know
you know yet others
I just dont know.
The secret is not dirty
sick little mind you
have and all ways will.
I only hope my secret
is safe with you BECAUSE if it is every secret that you have is safe with me.
So now that you know that I know that you know give me a buzz.
.O.K.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rushing~lights

Laughter from pearls the sum of the strand unfolding forever from your hand unto me.

Inside the mind of yours being infinite such nature to behold dripping
into me.

Gathered host your pail of seamless grains
this speck within
that is me.

Hearing such thoughts as flow from grace to know your touch so soft laid low
just for me.

Together ever more my soul can hold no more
the sands that once roamed in me.

c.e.mcl.~23~12~08

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Falling Free Into

Freedom of all I knew until I met your feathers angels roaming charge in charms.

Restlessness stilled this beating heart tenderly surrounded incompassing me
forever.

Eternally drifting through you on a boat made of one single feather.

Eagerly awaiting the merging wing
tips as souls entwined become one.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Star

amongst so many heads is spinning shinning star lid closed feels of me.

blankets room to roam eyes on loan gathering motes in flecks we all lay hands o you throughout the sands glow

mastering the length of me you to grow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Carrot In You

No room to plant a small tuber for light
in my garden of sight blocked of views
sun has not known for years.

Bulid no more root of faith through the cracks in time now here carrots for eyes
to hear.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pauls Little Frog

searching for wiggly button of glee from our mail
the tad pole for all under adult supper vision can sextouple in size to flame thier popularity in times of recession little help for the blind who can't ever seem to find some room from a frog in their heart
to hop for a child who needs a friend every day.

st pete times 23~12~2008
for you paul r.thanks.c.e.mcl~d.a.c.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You~

WOULD~

~~~~~

think you~
could love~
me for~ just as~
i am~
~~~~~

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Well~help~ Me ~up

the floor is not a good place to spend the night in a castle it is colder than the rock hard arrow head golden pink hued
aerolis of she whom put me here.
i am available ladies..for now..: >) it(s loviliy..: >you :)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Phfft~~sleeping~around~~

i will go aroud back and sleep
in the snow without you thinking about keeping warm maybe.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Legal~disclaimer

What ever all that legal jargon we see at the bottom of the really good movies is ~i~ hereby invokes
) it(and if ~i~did it in a dream well
your getting the bums rush, anyway.

(thank you for the perspiration)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Tricks Of The Trade

Never ask a question unless you need to be lied to even if you already know
the answer.

(really dry martini dry humor)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Magicians

Perform the most amazing tricks hang them
inside out or upside down unlike that silly willy crusty the clown
amazing feats do they Perform.

Do they....cheat..dunno came to see the show
here take my wife and saw her in half
if he really did would you be at all surprised?
Or would you want your money back?
Every one comes to the Moulin Rouge
for different reasons.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Friends We Have Not Met

You pass them never knowing the acquaintance of this particular individual has not yet been made.

Sighing: What is the sum of there individual uniqueness
I try to keep my eye turning on today, Some of what yesterday has brought me is here on my plate.

Maybe tomorrow is predicated respectfully to some degree on today while choices of today we base on yesterdays of the past

Seasons come yes they flow of choices on our very life what do we really know.

c.e.mcl.~~22~12~2008

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Swiveled Hips

down the dark hall i thought you were done with me but i sill had these hips for you to swivel and swivel them you did very chained down to the eye bolts there was not hope left it seemed as if every shred of flesh had been sanded
from my highways and byways
you had no right to my tideways sorely tied they are my back cracking under the animal onslaught not even found at the polar bear exhibit at the zoo
i am turned inside out i can only say stop but dont quit.
~~~~LOVES GREAT~~~~

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Snivel Please

please just dont hurt me anymore
i promise to listen to you tell me again of the horrible things you and your brothers did to me i never told any one please the cuts will heal the other bruises
are fading my rear may take a few months the truncheon was to big can i have some more pain medicine please, please stop but god dont ever quit.
~~~~~LOVING ME~~~~~

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Love Lies

Floating with her all my life I dreamed.
Laughing drinking a large cup of wine.
Outside never getting in this our garden.
Average are these days forever new.
Tenderly kissing all of her sweet toes.
Inside my mind playing with free days.
No body changing beautiful singing of Gently while love lies bleeding in the water.

c.e.mcl.~~22~12~08

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Trapped In Ice

No one sees that I am here looking out.
One passing cloud can change my view.
The walls that contain me are rainbowed.
Entering me the world is never the same.
Delightful harmony blowing over my face.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Winter Of Water

Haiku winter of water

Gracefull never ending waves
Offering love to free the shore
Deferance inside make us all

c, e, mcl.~~22.12.08

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Winding Stream

all slowly meandering past
over grown trees.
beautifully plumaged birds
free gazing down.
laughter leaves a small wake
that trails behind.
I am etching making my way through our Eden.

c.e.mcl.~22~12~08

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Atuche

Gazuntite:

here love take my kerchief
as it will be the closest I get to a kiss.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Apples And Oranges

I enjoy them both who doesn't right
one cold the other warm
still within them a mystery grown.

Fabled crown of one gave you such warm cozy vernacular true
through and through.

The glow of a soft sun ripened orange wind blown scent on the evening breeze makes you feel
all warm inside.

Phosphates are needed to realize these orbs of day and the night.

Believe it or not the taste is determined by stew from our pets and cows.

Having never seen snow I appreciate a good apple and now realize the stew I am in.

I suppose we can thank eve for the words
and a sweet juicy orange
for our tans.

James McLain

You Finally

Heard winds hastily depart leaving warm well worn coat not in shame.

Eagerly flew the days so true of prior such meeting tips the wings of you.

Amour vast minds can never disown your claim to land etched in marble stately view made
of you.

Rapid heights the sky in you morning clouds of linen both lay our heads to sleep.

Devine of thought does bring around picture glimpsed of you this morn
this is your song.

22-12-08

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

For A Teacher

teacher o so wise all do cry of the bounty sweet words flowing ever from your lips.

teacher of the bright lights in Brazil
such students are thrilled by your love of them.

teacher so skilled wayward the path you haven chosen to share.

teacher high in canopy tops from
the winds your hand does hold
the keys for tomorrow.

Teacher, its me now, I am full of you,
still you must teach me more, I wait..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Birds Flying

Fields of birds are gone, fumes of exhaust surround me.
I cannot see your window, the young are around me.
My door is left open, the sun grows cooler.
No wine to comfort me, I go to bed earlier.

My eyes water, thinking of you now gone.
Passion of flame, steel this concrete famed.
Gone are the arteries, now mud remains.
Bulldozers not of life, forsake the young and bury the old.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

If She Knew The Stand

If I could be your long lost love who is not how would you bring me back?

If I could be in your dreams at night
of the words you speak,
what would they say?

If the pain of joy slams your heart
stuttered still, this night, how high
would you bank the fire?

If you find me at the threshold of your hand,
would you let me go again?

Given another life to do over again
would you sail with me?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Graceful Father Of Tv's House

May the blessed prostate that has not worked in years
miraculously recover
and gush on your salty
noodles an evening prayer.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

So Sofftly And Old In Grace

Waiting to die in a roach motel watching to many italian movies thinking about what was or might have been.
Personally I hope it was
was so you can leave me all of your money or at least one of your bordellos

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sossoffftly~i~~tiaera~

Alright I know you hate it here you cannot say what you want and that sucks.
Come home to dad and we will talk about it like kids on the shore it is not like we can talk on the captain cooks island
where I live.. I will sacrifice a poem aday to your gods as you know I can write 500 a month
so if you want to play roman and ask for more salad go ahead..Lovenly always watchin your thighs....and your hips and~~~~ ~~~~~) it(s going to) it(s you~~~~~

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ssooffttly~ I~ Tread ~tiaera

Use your fumiest femininity to hide your displeasure
of men up your arse not me yes them.

Sorry (no I'm not) that the pile of dog feces that jack built fell down to the ground and cracked
your crown like it should.

Bipolar wench in a wrap around skirt eating finch thinking it quailala until your tonsils explode.

You have me living on some god forsaken rock in the middle of the ocean I'll pack my bags move to United Kingdom of immigrants then you can sniff my back.

I still love you,) it(s not thanks giving dont trip...Bla Bla Bla

but may your Christmas be worse than mine keep your lips sealed dont say it..

To bad I have your poems now beg.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Confes***it Was Me

Confessions from cows don't go over very well.

I know they don't get one before
we partake of their soul.

They do help the air smell less stale for the sinning party.

I am sinner I won't be getting any thinner if I tried.

I am way to serious and playing basketball most of my life their
was four other fellas who did want to win.much much bigger than I get the picture, than me
lord help spare the court talk..lol

All in all I enjoy being a cave man
and all the other delicious names
at least for a while until I read all your work and pass me off
as you then job done.

We all get our thrills with out pretty much crushing the toes of each other no foul.

Do not bleed on the carpet..on the way out of the door..lol

Merry Christmas folks

don't get to drunk and if the coppers pull
you over hide in the trunk..

James McLain

No Grace

none left in finger tip this night
I humbly beg of thee
forgive a way ward
tougne thats yours to slice..
I am not goth so dont get
carried away.
Times two amens.four hail marys

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Second Past

In my heart the shade is pulled separating you from me.
Tiny holes you cant see through are all ways part of me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Blackwidow

I was nine and raised her from an egg sack all confined in a small glass jar.

It pained me (aside from the daily tear of water)
that they consumed one another as they did.

Yet in my heart Darwin was right what Darwin didn't know and Barnum did was people would pay to see anything so for five dollars I would catch crickets let her bite them then let silky bite

me they saw not the cricket part but my part cost them as I said five dollars
many saw there way into my hand beat prostitution....: >)

Only in America what poor kids will do for a buck.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wenching

O flushed, Pouty lips bitten in heat
all see them swell now..the mutton..
the wine, deep in cups are we now.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Phfft ~~~clues~

Most rude people always digging
and digging
in my trash trying to unearth the nugget the pink pearl of passion played out
on the screen.

That is your eye looking yet because of the smoke rubbing your eyes until the retina is nearly detached.

On a softer note I am a man, I am a women,
I am the eagle,

I am a women close to me that I went to prison to bury seven years back,

I have been the nightmare of dreams
that the sand women my queen

had but known would have shaken the sand loose from her mind and scrrreeeeaaammmeedddd.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

How Long ~~~after Im Gone Will You Forget Me~~~

You have seen a lot of me
yet really none of me.
You have seen me mad glad happy sad looking through the window of my soul perhaps a tear
a tear forgotten a tear gone.
The salt washed into the ground undone never to be found by any.
You say you would do
anything.
We have enjoyed what life
has to offer and more kindness humbly deferred to us
returned as it should thrice over.
I am ill and and by leaving I would rather have you think I left over the argument we had but being a man you cannot even remember the ones much much worse and they being but a leaf on the breeze.
I leave to keep you from the burden of watching me die
before your eyes and the memory of you knowing how it was I am not now.

James McLain

Inside Your Heart

In your silence
I can hear every breath
in and out in and out your sighs
wistful longings from
your eyes at the window.
I know of your impatience
I feel the lightening in the muscles of your thighs
buttocks tightening of your diaphragm your shortness of breath
in such simple thought
as your longings
give way to irritability
as you are faithful and entertain no thoughts of
others.

I have been here all along as when I go away
I pull up a chair and watch your love
from the safty of your heart.

James McLain

Footbal In My Cave

Church is done humbly my soul not forgotten.

My bones of the barn yard buzzard now at my feet breezy fingers wiped on back cheeks
the world of us primates now resumes so to speak with game of the cave man none are meek.

Crashing thuds of bodies in crush on the hard
edge of caution my cheeks long have griped.

First downs touch downs second second reason by way of insanity

better than sex some here now glorious is the gun
when we win....

eh eh you thought I would slip and you grip by telling you the name of

my team...: >) it(s real foot ball oh yes wedgie from my seat when I stand up.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Clearing Coral Of Sand

Many pieces did I gather on my beach
of sand unfolded by waves all see textures these treasures to me
to passers by as well
I always have a piece for a bold small one who wishes to peak at the wondrous bountiful treasures of the sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Phffft ~~~wiggling Worm

You trouble me O small worm
stuck in the clay of a broken mold not enough of a mind
to fold over one end.

Being the thickness of one and one half molecules thin.

Into my wood you crawl the shrimp from your sea a pitiful lot indeed

bored you are to lead me
astray into your cave I like this hunting for treasure
never buried

never to be unearthed again
not by any whom see.

Smouldering in eternity this pitiful flame.

Such a weenie of worm long found in your sheep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Pond Kept Hidden

Secrets some of but the few
one remains for ever holds true to none
for two.

The paths we would take when small and alone were nanny
to all but two.

Windy and forked long the way
being last always unbeaten path seen only with mind Devina.

Only two of one leading the way to the one covering hues gold silver
the foliage such light in soft color
the pond.

Gifted two children always ran to the pond in the east arriving there heavy bags both had bought not cheap in the wind you do hear laying aside drawn open bag
sins of their world laid bare into the pond
with hardly a kaum to an endless bottom never brought back.

A pond we kept hidden from all others our troubles.

James McLain

Sofffttt~lights

of which of yours would i see humble of mask is he masks of humility no longer sea
would i ask of
but honesty
for the mind and heart flew in this short life
many are your lives on bended knee
to see
none my fleece
i would but cannot
but bear witness
to thee.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Phfft ~~sossofftly~i~

May never ask of you Once discerned
it may be freely
given.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

High The Bird The Sky

I see you, you see me
I read you, you read me
I hear you, you hear what
I think of you every day, you think what of me
I constantly thirst, You drink not of me
I think you alleyways their, you who are their some times scare me
I am growing, You think in what direction
I am flowing, you think to what ocean
I am human to, You think what kind of human are you
I crave love to, you think what kind of love do you crave
I think the normal kind, you think what is normal to you
I wish to fly in your sky to, you ask how do you know I am here
I think you are white, you think in nothing but colors
I think I will come sea you, You think with open arms

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ohhhhh ~~ Be Still

The dress you have on red and white..
square checkered cloth a picnic..
it reminds me.. that..I... am weak..
in the knees.. when on you... I...
see) It(s that bosom..of milk..I..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Three Legged Horse Won The Race

Starving was this most humble family of twenty one divided by three.

With this horse all salvation
penned in seven.

The other eleven horses
were late to the race.

Swilling wine of the other.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ohsosoffffftly~~for You

May the journey of your past few days the tears of soft linen you breath in the book of life so clean
you preen for others
in time of need no others.

Journeys begin not in sin but
the kiss of life all hold dear.
To the bosom of tears only half have the joy to know will I ever know light in this brief flick
of the switch
of he.

Continua spiriting in control of the stars a moon the sun
does glow just
for you.

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

Hearts In Season

The planet revolves on a whim
of the gods ever changing the channel we watch.

Dark thrillers of women who love
the feel of danger on their skin.

Men such as I who always fly to the heart of a queen
knowing thrill of the coronation is the ultimate vacation
of life.

Some like it hot others are chilled
to the core of their being never seeing sweet life pass them by.

The bumble bee song is ever so strong on the heart of a soul
watching out for the wings
that sing a sweet song for the young and the old.

Theirs are the dreams to comfort and hold.

James McLain

Sosoffft ~~~come

Eater of worms.

Little creature of stealth you try to fain my day.

No not you to the one whoms whimsy gaze
is trapped in mine this moment.

Little contented of heart that thou art
the dagger of thin blade through your left ventricle please.

Your liver will go to a most deserving wino in need.Jaa mata

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Grace To Thee

Walking alone the beach I came across this most amazing silver haired citizen I had seen in a while.

The beach was long for miles he had
this great smile he stopped and young friend to do to do looking at his right side of chest tanned bronze it was gracefully gone
surgically removed swan song he still sang.
Walking away after brief exchange some of these shoes of yours will never be filled.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Our Loo Women Too

Where ever we go hope fully we find one their.

Those warm days driving and the air is filled with last night's burbling from Jr.to deer.

May be no one is looking when we half fill the small can at the convenience store.

Maybe at the pub with a bad bout of fish n' chips
runny not clear and we stop and give thanks for the scribblings in the stalls left their.

I wonder often after reading the news on the wall of the stall who was real.

Some obviously a tool or two shy of the shed others dear.One from a lady claiming oysters of fame made of silk and pearls textured of amaretto
so fine blew my mind.

Second thought why would a woman pay to use
the loo in the men's room.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Humbly

Each time your bud enters
my mouth
I faint from the pain that pleasure does cause
do you know upon the lilies I never would tread loose my soul to the tast of a single tear
made of salt from
your eye.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sneaky Thief

Through my back door
no manners in such disgrace for me to
know.

Hospitality still here
it grows by leaps
bounds and bountiful flavors
of you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Phffft ~~~~~

is my name
wear it well as we tend to your plots
and bear fruit for
the land we now
dwell.
Kindness is swell.: : >) it(s in you..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lost Moon

I must leave this copulating dream
of inequity with my bottle of wine
winding down through the trees
stumbling where is my friend
the moon.

To know his comfort the hedges crackle and tear. Upon me they pounce tearing my Cheongsam
to shreds as they repeatedly thrust into my back fading
thinking of the wine is spilling ground drinking.....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Phffft Edda

Into your home I come
by invitation only your threshold now I have crossed nor-dish you speak to me this way.I an now in only through death will you dis way me along this path in your home free to roam in your loam.
as I please

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Mouth Your Dream

Those memories of her long faded pains
the face lined strain
of mind unfolds.
Heavy worn earned lines of pain only could obtain through wreath
of care.
Ofavorable pleasant to touch and taste
rugged lined of grace
to know.
Silently thoughtful memories he shares
in sleep restores my soul
to keep heart
in fold.
Eternity unfolds while we thus lay once
in life ever to grow
more in love..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Emotions Words

Winding through the human soul
emotions since time
forever more.

Inside the life of light growing seed
of soul blends all light emotion strength of soul vibrates
resonates grows
bold.

Nothing as strong love hate sad
happy pain and numb can alternate burn middle
the road.

Deference in knowing I cook in my unassumingly pot.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fire

Sleeping dreaming your hand wanders down across the softness that is your stomach.

Winding down across the
down of fine soft trees
to the heart of a blast furnace.

Burning your finger you scream out waking
the dew of beaded
drops quince
the fire.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Phfft Dance

For me.

What was given to me
will I gift back.

Hurry Quickly
faster run or
you will miss
the morning
sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Phffft Dweller Of Adullam

Cavern of the soul
hollow sound
in holed throat
your noise
does make the grating on a board
of chalk in my mind
I hear
if a troll
lives above you
and mistakes your cave
for a sewer then I can understand the shuffling of many feet in your lair
as all hurry for dinner no bibs to cover the runic dumpling
you are in the dark
with your weenie
worms for
comfort.

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

Haiku Boy Forlorn

Women never understanding Head hanging sadly Bereft
Devastated empty of soul

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fence Of Sun

It is another life I died in the other one
the same way
but while I yet have breath I write these few words.

The bottle was full in the Adolphe I met this beautiful women.

We had a few drinks a lusty
drinker I am.

I do not know how she got me to another country naked
as I am.

Arms wrapped in barb wire draped
through the wire impaled on a pole
looking at my ex-wife.

That's how I came to be here
I dint know how.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Phffts Come Here Please

Weaver of webs spinning climbing down to the bottom
of the web

laying out the sticky
noose climbing
back up
to the top

now I real
you in

you taste better than I thought you would.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Waiting

I Waited three years I waited
the first two and one half years
in self induced protective coma you laugh.

I am still alive.

How I don't know I have been dead before the doctor with his tricks fancy hooks in me.

I don't know except I was dead and this time I saved my own life..

A fraction of what I once was.

I am known to you all.

I am you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Plump Pudding

Gargantua her toes the feet do swell
upon my neck they fest.
Creamy is the calf I meant the calve
eyes wide open in fear.
Thundering thighs heard round the world
earth quake thought when she walks.

Corpulent massive varicose vein infected
paucha store for the food
in short supply.

Breast weigh have a stone each when thrust in my face

I do cry.

Lips like sausages gaping hole for the mouth
hold a plank to you bum or fall in...

The Sugillate at large.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pleasure Is Mine

Inspiration is not a well to me
its my life the words so flippantly passed with ease are to some
a bit choppy at sea.

Wells of words from the ancients
please me.

Lofty holed cheese I will squeeze
till its Cheddar indeed.

I myself am to inbred to be arrogant
snooty a snob.

Though they put a gag in their mouths
to stifle some pleasure
a fop.

Beneath their pure feet to cough
clustered in mass on a bum
is the same class of hemorrhoid
they owe and they awe
when its mashed.

So when looking down on the fella
or gal pink or yella

I ate the cod and fed the eggs to my cat.

James McLain

Some One For Got A Couple

The polls were closing rushing through traffic to vote for the right man.

Promised free turkeys to start our new change.

After voting I turned and a nice woman said some one voted with your name
and you have to go to bed.

In jail, for voting for the wrong man.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

For C T Heart

Whisper is for you to choose of law
no beauty juxt transposed exact
O nought where law does flow
none know.

Emergency rooms save lives all know beauty in body grace to flow to eyes and minds
would grow.

Dr fast decision on the bed of life must choose in lite chop chop in words
you saw no flow.

Poetry or prose to me none know fast flowing life in ear this room I chose to grow with help from some.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Anons Land

Delving searching back through time
in hope to find a title clean and pure so right and sure.
Judgement free or wiped away Lien or liens
the sheriff levied way.
This job made easier if all above holds way
from our table few if any walk away.
Taxes titled doc-ed stamp ship receives at port assessor of the county
lands do grow in value so do taxes new.

Attn: Lisa

Your help was very much appreciated.
Dedicated to north American Title inc.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Gold And Money

Hello lovelies,

Golden are the nuggets on your tongue
this morning..you thought I forgot about you.. heaven is for the patient of virtue and yours
is gone into the cave of golden dreams of boulder size nuggets of gold where
I do keep them safe in you chest of milk so fine of taste..
Money from the sale of the nuggets Is safe as well.. though I fear the rest of our nuggets have been seized by unscrupulous police as they were found at mickey d's... golden is there hue..for you in glory of us to eat when next we are there..untill..lovingly..I always..
am in you...always..) it(s food..: >) it(

) it(s in you to..: >)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Go Rest High Upon The Mountain

In snow soft blanket in water of my life
does wash to sea.
Nothing prepares me for the way o cup overflowing gifts to bring
of praise.
This an angel from the deep so whispered
with her tears of flame
to me.
Outside looking into grace I sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Blithering Sops

Lay me down my soul to keep the women with the soap I sleep to wash all minds
from words I want to read.

Anthony's Cleopatra sweet encroached upon her cheeks did see the golden rain
the snake made weak.

Yale her flower blooms and may have room
for many natured so.

Method madness lays upon all minds to find a key that is your own.

Entwined all thought tomorrow brought a mind
and lap forever glows
in pride.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Forever Names In Time

From then to now all names will bring sweet memories forever locked in me my soul does find.
Owakened springs each memory trees
you sing my soul to sleep
so none do weep.
Rewound through me the future seas of names
you are I do recall the grain of sand we are.
Everflowing oceans once berift of shroud nape her neck she does so bare.
Vanguard are the pits the void of memories
there cant dwell reclaimed
lost souls.
Eternities sweet Queen of find brings up today
what none tomorrow
holds.
Yellow sun upon my mind forever hold your thoughts forever bold
most kind.

James McLain

I Muse To My Self

People all around the world of none would I so speak must think me daft.

Mode of travel auto land in their paths most airtran fixed the blinding of all eyes come lay me down to sleep.

All are real what ever time no company in sleep
forever deep my mind
does roam.

Reality of all some see the basking light of warmth thats never lost.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Atoday

My friend the moon has fled from me this day
hot sun to eyes must run.
Fleeing down the path in time a stranger in this land of time wont dwell.
Village path is plain to see the store where wine
for me the shelf does hold.
Memories washed plain from me the whiteness
of my dress the tree it comforts me.
Land of setting sun must run the whispers have a hold inside my soul will roam.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Alabama Remembered

Stars back then all did see the blazing of the night
were coming home
to me.

Young our songs the future some in flame did see.

Wisdom of our folly few seen in shores
of sand I bath for all to see.

Magic winds the faces I see blazing crosses high above
the sea.

Simple southern man I chose
to be.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Path O Trails

Tedious the winding trail to one might find in me.
Resplendence comfort in this blanket soft
the sun would warm
for thee.
Absent toes our twinning of the springs flow pure clean water fit
to us but drink.
Islands palms music pan the combing trail of hair for me
to lay.
Laughter sweetly from your mouth heavens
music therein dwell.
comming home
to you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lovingly To You

In my blindness i was blind eye O mine
to pluck from thee to kind roam back to me.
Silence golden not to some waves crash
upon your shores.
Light in your garden lends to I a fresh scent to me the breeze
may blow..
Such are the dulce blocks from Klods
path on now he roams..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dreams Of Others

Dreaming future paths all lay thread of light does guide
our way to combing of the truth we made.

Dreams of other light grew dim
no flame to draw the moth
within the light.

Destiny of they who make the path
blessed walk not knowing dreams
do pave the way.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Struck This Coin

Floating ship upon the sea of sand guiding light that is your eye to find.

Lost by others treasures word some chests to one
may find.

Yes to wind hurried sail land of heart
soft beat by me to find.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Usweet Of Honey

Catacombs of sweetness of your finger lays the the rushing river
of your love.

Wine skin of your mouth to know
the smoothness taught of belly grows
the leaking of a faucet never fixed.

Face in chest silenced lust to lay aside my roaming days.

In fields of clover soft and sweet the bees in it do make the honey flow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Memphis In You

Melli notes of beauty all do sing laughter
of the tree made up in green.
Essences children soft hello to give helping hand held out to love.
Memories of rivers never drying all the stars
that you would try.
Praying knees where none may see the coming of the dove white wing.
Higher ground most will seek from tears
banks the heavens need.
Issued face the lining made of angels hair
soft light reflects the judgement
of us all.
Silouetting breath abated calling out the heiresses stables that the few have rode.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Amouth Of Dreams

Melancholy face lifting to the sky
eyes wide remnant of faded
paint on cheeks meshed
with sand.

Outlined delicacy queen of bone
narrow high is the cheek arrow is lined the nose
quivering hair..

Under hair of what once was Inigo blue of dreams so sheen your reflection was seen.

Tantalizing lobes a grape of fruit the ears
could hear your mind at rest in sleep.

High arched neck of graceful antelope
dissolves in sand.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Aunder The Tree A While

A tree the moon, wine and I the moon and I the wine this tree puppets on strings to the whims of the times.

The bark is rough on my back silk of the garment
is thin such is a whim.

The wit better left to the gnome: really to think because of the cup in my hand they would think such thoughts.

Tomorrow I will go back or send some one to draw my bottles for me.

That way a passer by wont see me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Apoli

Under the moon my friend and I we understand that bored people are boring.

So we left the village as I did not want the drunk
to become to familiar with grace
he did not posses.

My drink is my friend as the bowl I eat
from is also my friend.

Respecting the bowel for nourishment
of the body while the wine holds steady my soul.

What would any one know: really I have long since gone yet my words of clarity strike hard home to the gnomes in my village who cannot hold their drink.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Looking

I look at You now
I look in the mirror
you are so lucky

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Rolls Over Looking At You

Looking past the clouds unshaven that seemed busy minds
that were.

Oceans separated her from they her children whilst he slumbers
still at feet.

Out side the lids of glaze sand lays at rest twinset her thighs.

Keeping breasts ready to nurture winds that whisper of the little one out there.

Inside the waling of the king was known to all now needs to rise to sea the dream
alive once more.

Neither worlds at slumber while the garment from her neck
that was his token.

Green frothy thighs of seas few thinks are taken wandering thoughts
fly over to pointed
sand.

James McLain

Passion Rules Reason Sucks (I'M In Luck)

Gather thee around the humble cave of Klod...

.

Klod lives in a cave carries a club with a masive knob on the end.

When your a snob you get whacked with the knob nicy and lean..

On the head the guys get it and are glad
the gals always turn around and.bend over...

.Klod with the knob cant figure that out
they do grin at dumb Klod
with the knob..

Massive is Klods knob so much knob does Klod have that the guys faint when they see) it(s big this knob on Klod that he has.

Do not be rude to Klod with the knob
or Klod will use the knob on you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Christmas Trees

There was snow on the air and rocks
floating up high none had trees
they grew up not this high.
My dad and I felt there pain treacherous time a bad year.
He had wind in his sails as we set free
to ride to the bottom
and buy trees.
We for got our money dad says no problem
here out of his mouth comes this biggest darndest gold tooth
I ever saw.
Loading them up as we then flew up the mountain good time spreading joy
and trees for the new year.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

All You Hold Dear

You hold in both hands.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Paint Your Lips

With soft caress gentlest shade
of honey suckle rose.
The dew from the morning next settles in the corner of your lips I graze inside
of you crazed
I smell you and your as fine as the last dropp of
my wine.
Drink it well.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Running

To the start of tomorrow it waits
for the night of today
to fade.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Plantation Moss

Majestic graceful girth treed in perch I wait silouetting falling evening dusk moss tickles my cheeks waiting.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Called You

Chasing thoughts of you through out
the night round my mind no where to go.

Helplessly dialing time and again busy signal times grim.

Asking things I know you know of me
to you still.

Silent was the bed inside your head
J.W. waited all night
for you.

Entertaining thoughts of you in the arms
of some one else G swell.

.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Last Taste Of Innocence

Until a while ago while walking along the shore head down searching for tears waves break.

Not knowing the gazes of the moths drawn toward this flame
until one spoke.

Teasing me so I thought such fairness of breath to address me as such
with her gaze.

Innocents eyes she ask Sir, what is it that you gather along this path of tears
we both tread along the shore.

Looking up my attention now to her I replied whispering my wind
to her ear.

Leaves these shells of tears a women
of sand left behind for angels
in day to find.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Save The Drag

Hurry up and get your drawers off..: : >) it(s a quicky

Lovingin you..: : >) it(s fun..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Sits Back Down

She after for some time standing in all her regal shroud drifting
wind blowing thoroughest ice heart of man reclines
toward the sand.

Hearing conversation of children
wind born from her husband of the sand forever
lost to her.

Eager for the embrace of the leeched
water free sand she does sleep until.

.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Digging In My Trash

Dear: what did you find
all you lovelies,

Such sick little minds that you have in your head make me blush.

Such is the nature of the sneaky hand that roams for pleasure
while i sleep.

Did you not think i would not know of the honey gone from my pole o you thief of the night in your cave may i dwell all your days.

The mountainous pears with the buttons
the buds spray my face with the nectar of age thats called milk..

Dripping face i must flee to your cave where
i dwell all your days in feast may i lay..
Lovingly in you always...

James McLain

Tricked Again

My Lovely,

Your brazeness cannot distract from the fact that your utters are ull and need milking as i have my own truck
i will take all
you have.

The fire in your forest of trees is so hot
i rush to your aid with a bucket
my mouth and my tounge.
as i curb the path of the flames
the fire only rages much hotter.

Your mouth denied for so long canna any longer
i fear for its safety as well.

The art of in the curve shape and its swril
only brings me to flames
in your rear.

You are my love your plum do i tast all of the year juicyit is the heart of my plum

.As always i fall into you just by your looks
be my dear..lovingly falling forever inside you...) it(s plush..

) it(s love..: >) it(s..

James McLain

Dna

Example..#1..You can be slow...You can be dumb....You can be smart.....better not be of small stature in prison or they will do a rectalectomy on you..

Example..#2..You can be dumb....It helps to be small...but you better run fast..if) it(s chasing you...

Example...#3...DNA tests don't lie once the results return and..no..Katarina Witts.are swinging from the helix's..proof then exists that your parents were dumb..slow..and a genetic dead end and probably ate their slower neighbors.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lucky I Am Not A Fly

I could lay eggs in your ears
while asleep at
the wheel.

Buzz around in your nose till you sneeze blowing goo
all over your spouse..

Making out with the
t eating the i.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Standing

Sounding trillions of grains the sand it flows from me
washing over rivers to dry
as she creaks.

Ocean waits for peace to hear me slumber again
laying down getting up
never again

Under sand the scarf that binds me meek is gone eruption of flame to your picture
of water to cool.

Nothing but sand on my mind eyes
are blind to the call of sea
to sooth all my fears.

Dynasty's crumble and fall at the slash of just one single tear.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Voids Sleep In Rapture

Walking waking dream cowards scream of night
void less formless timeless forever
therein no key
all eternity afraid there you roam
with out eyes you don't need something else for the one whom you know to take from you
squish as) it(sweet plums of your youth o ears cannot hear the unknown till its here..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Only On Paper

Coward I am not shave my word kill my soul be thy known as grace less
light is bright with in hold the flame
in the palm of your hand
if you dare.
Sight less eyes no anger there write about mushrooms in the dark of coures all your words
have been said the rest shut out.
Spank the monkey go blind is the sin
that brought all here
laugh out loud.
Pasion life struggle not bury from fright..

) it(s life grow up..: >)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Talk In My Head, So You Wont Hear Me

Corncopia smothered wine the cheese
I eat from your mouth
matters not if upon your cheeks
it layed
of men I know nothing of why should I
they should all go away so I could please you
as you deserve with soft weanny words
Bla Bla Bla have you sign a disclaimer
if you injure your s3e you did) it(for love none other any where would so lamidly this soundithly crookidneckidly up.
the way you like it..
Two left feet that bleet in your ear
all the time non stop..Pause for unheard breast
the test of tricked time..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cruddy Poems Of Mine

I cry O god in poetry heaven for all the sins
of the weany worms
whom sloth in squalor
O lord my cries you ignore while I languish
in the house that knows only pain and false pleasure while secretly practicing all that is sacred to them while denying the same rapture afforded the less rectally non cerebral of the lower functions of the mind
O lord my prayers of such you read and smile
and leave happy in the knowledge that you knew these words before me
besides I can always say the debil made me do it peace.rugged cross of my lame poems
Are trash in thine eyes.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Stormy Eye

Sitting up long slumber day of waves wrapping silk caress muscled calves in sand.

Thrusting arching of the neck shivers
pleasure rock the land.

Over head the cumulus gather in dread
they on water such
know fear.

Reaching out simple thought in head sinking pleasure boat
all dead.

Yawning smiling sigh all spent reclines
again in sand.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pleasure Boat

Flying down the ramp you came on board
You and I alone
yes, trapped.
Laughing with the grin you have nothing
more
wanting to explore
we do.
Yams of candy sweet and pure mine
to handle as I would
and do.
Inside honey glazed the roll was made dripping with butter
gravy sore.
Noticed cream was flowing south mouth was spoon caught in your trap.
Gone our minds from fruity wine lust of food played out
just well.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Love You, I Hate You

I hate you, I love you
I hated how you drank so much, I love that I dont
I hated how you did me, I loved how I did you
I hated the way you did our kids, kids loved the way I treated them
I hated how you used my meds, I love that I stopped taking them
I hated that you were vain, I love seeing I no longer am
I hated that I did your job, .I love that I learned some thing new
I hated that I forced you to get help, I love my daughter as a result
I hate that you made me run for my life, I love the people I met Here
I hate how you made me love you, I love you for my freedom
I hate that I had to do all the cooking, I loved what I cooked
I hate looking in the mirror I might see you, I love looking at new me
I hated that we were the same size, I love and needed to gain weight
I still hate you, I love myself even more

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Womanly Things

Cooking is fine shoes as well
before this party of yours I joined did that and more as well
when you say I do It means a lot of that and more walk the land and sell it to deal with back stabbers untill your blue to take plug at you...Women do a lot I know yet difference these days all know reversal of the roles..after all who makes.. better beds in which to lay..soft is the dream of sand.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Short Love Poem

Dear Lady,

i hope i reach you in time i forgot my glasses
any way the sundial you left me still works...
all the fellas i meet here seem well..kinda..
they look at things they shouldn't...i sold the cow..
to some Indians..they gave me all of there wives..
i don't know what to do with all of the milk...
the fruit was gone, i left at your cave..the pole was gone as well, the flag was still there...one of my new wives has,
strange impression of a crown..on her thigh..
it is pretty high up on her shelf..
Paul who was..belated died in a stampede
of Chippewas...they also gave me a wife..
the whites are no where as kind as them..
so i sell them all of the extra milk...they give me the plums to there wives as well as some of the hairs in there forest for food...
i am most fond of there hairs..as my weight gain shows,
your are much better.., puffed, buffed, sweet..
.well my love light grows..and grows..
falling in you always yours...
love of your..peas...) it(s weet..) it(s..lovingly..you

.....) it(..is...poetry..

James McLain

You Want Me To Save You

Call and make an appointment...) it(s late

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Strange Box

Washed upon my shore an ivory thing glowing in health of secrets
yet to come.

Rune ancient letter engraved all are raised hole in side to flush the top.

Music I do hear silver tunes wafting
true most melodies are pictures of the future
held for you.

Box is groaning under hand the whispers wrapping round
all ears to know the lottery here.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wake Me Not Again

Waken me again slumber my name
would keep from you
who call in vain.

Against my better wishes wind
does stir a tempest
pool of food.

Kelp of shore the sand mixed in for fruit this soul
does trust.

Epiphany resting souls to flee the oceans call to honor me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

From Her Hand) It(Dripped

Haughty from golden eye of pan
the silver drips from hand
in sand to sink.

Inspection grain was that of purse held nought but golden slippers
shades of purple kings.

Pastels blended hues of morning night
of colored sand the fishes knew.

Song of Solomon buried there in sands
of legends time the centaur fled.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Jibber Some Jabber

Lightness of tone we sing with you of
gossip
I would bring inside this brain that rides
a pin
the jibe of jabber all of the lather bubbles
that It floats.
Laughter rolls out when looking back
at all the things
I missed

.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Lays Back Down

Shifting mountain dunes of where I lay none heard the plea tearfully made I
ask of thee.

Harkened not this whisper in your ear would hear winds that trade the sand
so dear.

Enjoy the labors love reposed the hand unfolds clutched safely
in the room of sand
so safe.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Sits Up

Safety flows down her chest she stares gazing at the shores of far off lands.

Inside this flowing mind so fast the channel dwells
flowing rivers do all cry
for me.

Terraced in a robe none have seen
to know.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mummy At My Side

Dearest you would so think to speak with me here laying
next to me.

Easter rabbit lays souls eggs of sand inside of you.
wrapped up long so history gets
a view of you.

Apple thoughts come running
way from view.

Renaissance from my bed was made for souls to sleep a slumbering sleep
of dreams.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

She Rolls Over

Other side of the dream I dwell
sand my wine it comforts me.

Vanquished are the clouds this night I see
heavy are all stars my soul they feed to me.

Entwined elemental sand over all the mountain tops
do you have a place inside the box for me.

Replenished gulf of music sheath the violinist hear colored robes of white I feel are near.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Words Gift To You

Gather cloth mothers wide in wind you know smile of life
you bring.

Intuitively hope would bring a picture bright our future
sings in you.

Found the gifts a smile can bring even to the lost.

Treasures of my soul would give this sand to all the light it holds for you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Pictures Of Words

Words the parchment sands of life
your beach will know the beauty of each day.

Oceans slumber wives do view
churning of the parchments
breath a new.

Rushing future of the past fresh insight among the heavens bring.

Destiny of future sings the coming of a king all knew
was here.

Salvation of the books most hold a different word is true to all.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Castles Of The Sand

From the sand comes a picture
a picture painted true of you Relish your home you will do have when child to you dose have it's color drew.
Oceans shade the mountains view will bring to you
the time you take rare color
find in you.
Mirror holds the view inside the soul
of you sands forever
cross for eever bring a diffrent soul.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Laying Down

Laughter in the wind I hear it pleases me blowing across my mind there find
the sea in it.

All in all the prints you leave the feel on me the soul I see when I look up will set you free.

Please pray tell my beach keep clear
no matter here blowing sand will lash
the kind that none all fear.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Blowing Sand

For ever has the wind of change the sand to know

Revealing to the few the future held in trust to all.

Constant of the past exposed the sand you know.

Trapped in glass and held away
so none would know.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Amongst All Of These

Stretching forever my infinite beach of sand enriched all dunes.

Tears each grain a weighty matter unto
its self shines a bright light.

Robust of color wondrous shades all exclaim looking for themselves
of this sand.

Enter you into this world souls of sand
all stand.

Together binds filaments freely to the grains the eye must see.

Choices of the mind and soul others
hold the body to the task.

Henders not the mother of the sand
who sleeps to watch.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Like Ah Child

As would a child i must pull, turn, push, pick
, poke, pry, wiggle, run, stop, go, hold, betold
, scold, bescolded, bleed on your carpet
, rub it in pull the carpet over) it(speed
, I will not quit on it unless im dead in jail or hospital same as dead or
in jail

loving you still) it(s good for ya..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Never Was Just An Old Dream*****

Never can such a dream held in the bosom of your heart wonder free.

Enter the whisper of soul
and light lovingly
bright and soft.

Velvet is a touch of wind
that graces bloods
fairest of hearts.

Exit the tears of doubt that cloud your sunny day.

Remember all the rivers and streams lead to you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

New Quite

Mornings early light soft of eye
the mist not dry upon your cheek.

Invitation graciously accepted
invite for early tea.

Streamers foggy chilly seat at rest my head
would be.

Tender thoughtful is the word of all that I hold dear.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

What Use Of Voice

Without tounge to speak it useless is the eye with no mind to see it
the pen no hand to weid it...) it(
a hand with no pen..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Asleep One Lid Half Open

Floating island up on high Pierette
looking through.your fire.
Lightning from the heaven cares it shows
the light of peace.
Ozone of Pierette dared some curtains
would she hang.so none
might see Almost heaven the curtains fell the gods were bathing in the earthen mist.
Tomorrow brings another day new curtains will arrive today.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

One Secret From Death

To you..please
if you are...
concerned,

My dark room,
i can never escape
even in death...
My secrets are not that bad..
some wrong some sad...
i understand it's to bad for us...
Upon my brow..
i wear a crown undesired by me..
at least i would think for peeing in a shoe..
Locked in a room with only darkness..
no light to see not even to pee..
i use my shoe.
Parents off in city for fun..
they are young...
two of us locked in the room..
of shame...we blame us..not them..
they are mommy and daddy...
no wrong can they do..glaring..
mornings come..always..
mom would open the door..
rude from sleep and scream at us..
for peeing in those shoes..
even in death i am afraid...
i will be woken up from my sleep.

James McLain

My American Niece The Talker

She plays with her dolls hours on in singing them songs that never end.

Wishing on them when missing
their feet to go to a doctor to get a sweet treat.

Ever moving she talks walks talks television on she turns it off
yes she talks

Even after tiredness over takes her eyes glazed over in rapture
she talks.

Time doesn't matter to the talker of dolls
every one learned to walk and talk.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ocean Vast Vessel

Child beings sentient sings
the children are one
in truth regard reconsider the pleas
of there anguish

World pain such as his would dispel teaching
of peace
not repel

Worldly the pain
so brought about
existence of nature

True way of respect
beings even there
thought

The heart may then flourish
in spreading such happiness is pureness of
thought

For Gold he seeks nought

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Coincidence

Events of life flying by am i being watched
i cna see yet not blind.
Coincidence of dog backwards yes
maybe not
back then different relation ship perhaps.
New word for me today is obtuse here Coincidence first was it said
not by me
yet it is a great complment Coincidence to me
was it ment as insult Coincidence no not to me
Dad said it best in last read.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Jumping Back Into Your Loving Arms

Letters of love cannot explain this day
we have.

Oceans are too shallow to drink from
) its depths.

Vanquishing no matter how hard
you try.

Eternity and one day will forever
jump back into your arms
this night.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fleeing To The Sun

Flaming passion hide me in your bosoms fire.
Knowing they will future stars
with me.
Fire tonight I sleep the sleep
of peace.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

And I Drink From Them

Vast oceans deepest cup would I so dien from you to keep
in sleep.

Knowing as I thirst your soul
to quench the raging fire
deep down below.

Laughing dreaming pillows
shared as one.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Of You

Heavens kiss is of you longing souls as one
to sing the simple
bars free musics
sweet release.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Smell

Freedom of scent to roam
amidst the blooms before
the bee awakens from the wing of its queen wafting nectars drink of heaven.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your Drawers

Have ever worked this well
with seeded covers veneer
the smell of earthen sleep.
The musk, that helps me sleep
I roll over, my face in the leaves
moister flows through outside.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Walking On Sun

Buda I dream silver thread to my being singing light you sleep.
On your feathery face i ride a river that is your tear down this cheek.
Angels dance with me on the sun keeping time to the start.
Twisting in merths after glow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Many I Am

Responsibility lies with me wish it not upon my shoulders I carry a yoke
can you take it for a while?
Wear a smile walk that mile
the shoes I wear to share
draw stares will you wear them?

The eyes that care for us all when they walk and crawl along your shore
may i skirt the falls by all walls?
Rescuing a pebble from the rock
that the sages left for me
i carry back up for you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Giving First

Make Me Last? .....I Weep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

For She Whom Perpetually Sings

It's a brand new day
For new hopes
New dreams
New thoughts to pen
New hopes to make life worth while
New corners to turn
New smiles to smile
Rise up
To greet this day
Touch the hand of a friend
Along the way
Let your laughter ring loud
Like the roar of thunder
The write a poem
To be tucked under Someone's pillow
Tonight.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Calm

Big pink umbrella

Never looking down

Knows the sky

winged grace be

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Apology To Dad

The brain is like a battery chemical have need electrical charge to
breath.

Lithium the essence of cells forgotten
my watch stops.

The bottom of the cage is a lonely place gazing up to the sky the clouds
rain down plethora on brow.

Beak is fixed just askew breath fresh.

(humor)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Wings

Waft on the wind.
Infuse with breath.
Negate all gravity.
Gather loves speed.
Sipping winds scents.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rock Hard Walls

Such are the chiseled works of perfections from graven stone
forever etched in marbled pink.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Parade Roses

Riding your throat of whitest body
hued rose of golden rain.

Willowy stalk tall green of health
few know but home of earth
to grow.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Birds Beak Fell Off

Bird of all birds was bird don't laugh
eh eh yes bird of tremendous beak
could curl such words could he yes bird
the word in bird yes word then fell into disrepair
this beak on my bird the beak that could curl the word and twirl one day bird did withe excuse me that withe looked like poo oh well where was.. I..beak could twirl the word on his beak could bird with beak
could twirl the word..noticed one day birds
beak was all askew birds beak was then side ways
watching bird with beak could curl then twirl
the word fell off of beak was reattached surgically.

(humor)

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

Breath Of Life

Breathing firmament from grain dust you came.

Utterance of voice now breath.

Stillness of life asleep does awaken.

Hearing thus rise dove fall into
lifes chest.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Then Came Day

Atoms building shaking splitting firing blasting into existence
rending the cloth of time shearing the fabric of space sitting still catching death.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

When Dawn Came

It came with subtle nudges and whispers rolling over onto its self became.

The trembling of the ages eruptions such passion hues of blinding ribboned light.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

What Do You Think

Of the message inside drifting clouds
do pass them by hunter words all
hurd telling me what is to come
of events shaped in that
bottle in past.

Hearing

Explaining

listening

past...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hunters Of Words

Pleas on finely honed ears i do pray
for the voice from the air
that will say.

Late please know found mind was never lost
as was said mind of others do fear.

Entered door of others to render safe haven
cleft ship.

Ask of others in Black still ill of body does effect judgement.

Somber shiftless brutter not dear conceived
with hazed mind cloven to still deer.

Effects atomic in nature asking
thus of me to do more than cry.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hidden Within The Tree

Time passes this flock of trees grow high,
strait and tall normal all would think.

Yet within one a special heart to see but from the outside one would not.

Days turned in to months the years rolled
by clinging to each other did these trees.

Light to the floor and roots the grain of life for all soft and loamy was the measure.

Blight strikes felled many thus they are hearts effected.

But the one

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Treason

Sitting here shaking like a junkie quivering not of passion thinking
am I fine.

Fleeting are the wits of survival
assault in view of god witness of mind body and soul.

Words of rote etched in soul.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Sister Ask Me (Humor)

Who is 50 married eight times!
I have been dating five months
how long should I wait before we marry? (He Musta needed a cat-scan) SIS if you haven't figured out how the roses lay in the bed
maybe then you should not start a garden.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sniveling Heights... :)

As I snivel at my drivel all that comes in mind to say banners aside yes
I like to hide and prance on unsuspecting pray..
English lousy boys howdy still my mind
would play a trick or to and have you laugh
at stupid things i write and say.

Pappy's grand i once heard tell life was rough back then..is no telling
all the gellan..folks right here will do..

You respond with some song and life is made a living hell..come to you and fill your eyes with stories unbelievable...oh my oh my...what am i to do... fill your cup with some poo and have you drink your fill.of
) it(s..Chocolate eeg bog....black gold..dark tea..

Spellings bad letters worse have spell check and could care much less save much time hear you wine my words come out just fine..
So when i drivel you hear snivel difference tween the two..phew.

James McLain

I Gave An Elephant A Peanut

The smallest of thing I saw along my way.
Hand stretched forth to humble
kingly beast.
Elephant remembered simple
gift a peanut as a child.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Willow Is My Tree

Clutching southing breathing love
inside of me.

Asking moaning bringing hair
to earth.

Revealing the basking of her chair I wear.

Entering the flame we all call care.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Sparrow Shirped*

And the whole world listened..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Jumping *out Of Airplanes Without* A Parachute

Playing ground great joy I find in holding you.
Are not the trees your arms to reach for me in glee.
Under canopy of wings I fly whipping of a windful song
to sing.
Masters sky egale eye we meet
to speak.
Floating wing to arm no harm he drifts away.
No saddle on his back we fly away.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bling Your Dead

Speeding down the road of words
were you.

Picking choosing long lost verbs
mind blinks.

Entering lost sand of time to drink
skull cup.

Elephant of thought I give to you.

Defender of thought not some were
bling your dead.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ocean Forever Deep*

Calm cool waves my soul to sea
softy how they cling to me.

Afterthoughts gradually drifting
down the bottom swell the top.

Laughter floats back to me.

The fairest &#931; &#949; &#953; &#961; &#942; &#957; sings.

Magic hair flowing free lighting candles in the breeze and with her beneath the waves I sleep..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mighty Inch Worm

Color hue all birds did sing of flavor
spice and neat.

Attention birds could never stay
debt free.

Thunder from the inch worms tail
wont hide

Special silk strong for you web
of bed few knew.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Women Are Men Are Women

Crazy mixed up is this place where we do dwell.

Rich is music passions winged flying on a swing.

Angels trumps singing choirs thus dancing on a whim.

Zoo in which all do play parts handed down to them.

Yellow haze softsymphony conductor
does enjoy.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Glass Made Of Sand

Webs of space flow deep in your mind
is as the giant sun thoughts so pure.
Inside this heart beat her new love spreading time through a stain in glass window of silk kept clear.
Fanning dense smoke made of dreams
women of sand lifts painted smile once more to you.
Eternally the flame burns hot sand streams
with color mixed hue
dressed on you.
Reclined your smile..swallows all stars...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Read It All* -Have You

Reading lines of books the pages blur.
My lack of comprehension is the rule.
gleaning meaning subject matter true.
After the cover bends your mind to me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sand Of Sun

Only from the sun such wonderous beauty
soft benneth your feet magic fury.

Blankes cover eye of soul kept warm by tender age of grace.

Wisdom from the sand may ever flow my cup stays clean.

Minds of ages parchment crisp with what it knows blessed it grows.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Flaming Love In* Passion

White hot comes to you do wail flailing gnashing of those teeth tongue you bite to still a muffled sob.

A dropp of blood you taste inside your cheek whispers breath the shean of sweat it listens on the moon of eyes
the shaking of a toe.

Streanth once had is bleeding out as metals precious hold would you yet knowing now when deed is done
there's no going back for you.

Flame of passion white hot spell
on you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why The Rush

Anticipation seen in eye
so clear.
Savoring the moment seems
a year.
Not moving seems like an eternity.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

House Of Pain

Seventeen generations lost of soul lived here valley of a shadow draws you near.

Black of void the night so shiny is the single reflection deep within this orb that is my eye.

Bleeding wenchs screaming out
my name.

Hands clenched tight the writhing
of the thighs.

Arms wide open breast up
thrusting draws me
into her.

My soul forever herein dwells in side this house of pain.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Listen Pet Dog

Listen pet dog you got those bleeting fleas
in my bleeting pants on my bleets
if you come in this house with more bleets
we will see what the thia's will do for ya.
Answere me this were square
dad will throw you a bone
what do you call one sheep? .....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mind Flow Soul

Constantly at war soul and word
from mind to heart in soul rests purest light of word in soul since God graced the word in mind to be.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Child Of Many Eyes

Past was ok hard except for these was child overcome them I did minus math.

To be dyslexic is not much fun words on paper upside down like bugs.

Hyper active attention disorder just what any Dr ordered minus diagnosis
and pills missed that thrill.

Racing mind hard to define bi polar tri polar ask mr spock
with tricorder.

Wiggling feet what a treat for a school
marm no charm English teacher named Miz Cat.

Moral of story is this keep your eye on the light and it will keep you out of the park with lions tigers and bears.

Ditto paper hand in water color purple
new much trouble did not care
royal color of king with butt wooped.

James McLain

Seconds In Life

Second chances only come around
when you need one.

Some never need two others need
all they can get.

Never show the door.. :)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

School Teachers Are 4 People 2

Mother made taskmaster blade
of this and more.

Ample time do they make for a child in need.

Invisible to a lot of what they hear
and see.

Designed to change the future near.

Steadfast of their responsibilities chairs
are the laps to lay all heads.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Home Schooling

Beats staying in class begging time to hurry on buy
no school bus no bulllys
just me myself and I pass every year
guaranteed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Silence Etched In Stone

Rocky slope of hope the fissures
in stone would ask.

Many are the thought that led you here to be of deaf persuasion.

Obsidian of brightest hue dared to glance on it.

Ramblings of my mind unsure to hear the stone speak such.

It is not in silence you weep the mountains
strain as well.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Inspiration***

Can come from the back door, is Always away from pencil or pen.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bleet Me Up Scotty

No application exception unless bold
sprit to unfold in light of awe
all around glance through the window and find all that's hope in your eyes knowing it wise not dispise all that is different hold dear to your heart
you will find that you are not alone
here all is fine in your world..Just smile

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

In The End Its

Everything that you dream **WORLD** more.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dont You Love) It(Let Them Know

How you feel on this line if you find) it(s in time to your beat.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rockin World Today

Orders to go double cheese please want you to know burger and fries on the run
no time can i find all is well in the world of the sun so bright in my eyes can see the running see on your back to the basics that brought u to hear all is well now you tell all the friends that borrow and spend all your tears down the drain to rain washes away as the snow white as you on the go..for the spring wishning..again for the sea...: : >>) it(smile

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Upper Crust Bread

The loaf still warm no crust can be found this morn.

Perfectly round molded for a purpose
in) it(soul.

No pride in bread would fear instead peoples goal.

First slice the bread before) it(sent across river styx.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

The Other Side

No boat,
gets to the other side
without a bottom..
No rainbows lack of rain,
no dawn with out dusk,
happy cannot be,
without the yellow
dress of the sun..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fragile Gills

Breath has its hold on me it is a sad condition
one not of the mind
but necessity
as the the foot needs the toe
water must I have to breath
plea to the ear that seas.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Stole My Thunder

I still have a twig...to bleat with...: >) it(

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Blowing Winds

Good bad indifferent glad hanging on the line
of time washing them away
is sad
rigid to some soft to others
money from the wallet flows
to one not the other.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

You Protest Not

For the weak...Meak of words...striped of my path to your highway i cry..mean is the horse throws me on the floe on purpose...i weep for you...: >)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Your River Of Life

Frightening are your currents eddy flow
cast me on lost doves with care.
The skirt of shore this river long so I must cling sucking mouths of other fish
they wait on me.
Minnows other such deep water trouble
comes to them as well.
Gently gather with soft net take me home
with you I roam for all tommorrows.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Tremble At The Thought

Knowing my feet glide through your forest softly stirring leaves on your meadows shore.

Water stream I have find willingness to share so drink off thee.

Back this canoe up lets try again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Words You Speak

Before they leave my mouth such sweetness well deserved.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

No Stone Left Unturned

Roaming fields your bays searching for that special find of food.
Honey of your lips I seek more bread
to fire an oven warm.
Smooth such sheets from which you gaze
hidden pond is emptied much to soon.
Many fishes in my well it came to you
a memory of the time you drank so heavily from this well of life
sated now your belly full.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

No Notice: : >>)

Roaming the land as I do flying the sky with mind eye swimming the seas all I need to see hear i am come to me as you watch what i do brought to you with no help of a pen Jungle of dreams in the trees crazy thinking am i for i post may you save all that drag and bleet to me as you should to a queen misunderstood as i am want to go back to a scene some blue clouds clear day may the sun clear my face looking at you as i do blameless president above the law hollowed are his feet while he bleets where he can for some land for free souls forgive as they know as they see whats the use find it out when they sleep ever deep in the sun never see eaten up bye there greed romantic i am hear the bleet of my sand in your eyes fall asleep at my feet as you can turn on over come back latter for more..: : >) it(

12-14-2008

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Queen In The Dark

Command as that of a queen do you have.
All queens are worth begging for last shot to the night
where I see in the dark holding all that I love in the palm of your hand
sing if you can from the unknown place
you stand
miss a beat of the drum
that I feel in my bone
to the jaguar in the tree
to the andaconda in the river
I bleed for the queen in her house.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Heart In A Star

Rare is the opportunity to make a world from the void.
Think of some as primitive
go to where he came.
In such places worlds
colide for intertainment.
Love is never lost
in some it was never found.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Advanced Age

Old will I be when the lass is twenty fair faced clear eyed regal carriage
Sop for a mum does
one know.

Bottle in the neck does not grow pain of the house takes the crown from her soul never flys
dont why such was the world
I came into..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Life

In the short book I have it is yours
to the wise
not I
a weapon though moral hi can be taken from this the wiser
would wait and discern.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cheap Tricks

Silky smoth most words
No ethics only win
Who to trust Bleet!

You.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Never

Not while I have this fine canoe!

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Seeing In The Dark

Blustery weather thick fog no eyes.

Radar is broken wollowing taking on water.

Ribs buckling groans you hear
must be dear.

Silent laughter I hear yet still cant find my way home.

Joy in a bottle over board.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cleaning It Up

In time I will do all of that no specific order.

Thoughts are quicker than the wind to be faster is the master.

Intelligent order fast to the folded will find.

No matter here they stay forever and 1 day..

Laughter is the best medicine..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Weight Of Words

Many are the words that bind shocking Your gaze so did find if they bring crimson to your clover then your fields are long shallow to the grower of that which i speak lerned from thee quick is the jack in the box fox though he be canna be proud of you toutor she of the scott was my mutter of the other one i am not proud is the blood in vein wearther all storms my way live forever and 1 day may i say under you year think of that could you would smile on your face i do see deny this not scale of the word is larger than your world recipricate you find long lost bird king of the wind bring him home nail down my words no you canna put in an envelope will you push to the sides never break through the top know such find think to the other long is the word short is your time forever and 1 day will they stay answeare that in the mirror you gaze...Peace: : >>) it(

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Aureoles

Like being watched by your best friend blind..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Whispers

Deep and calm this night my sleep
mind at rest at dawn.
Reality's realm tween wake and peace
in gut I know is real.
Effortlessly wind whispers through my eye to heart of mind.
Aperation claims without my bid into my dream to steal.
Marauding surreal this foggy mist a room I trapped you in now mine.
Such is that which tries to stake
a claim I make now mine

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Its Denied

Heavy heart in shreads no bed my head to lie comforting are the thoughts roaming in my head this day
when i cold berift of food I seek this sunny suday cafe
i would plead to thee bountyfull your cup is full your plate in need of clean by i no dog but wolf of appitite the void can never fill at night we pray

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Children X Rated

Give your mom and dad a big hug...: : >) it(

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Mothers Memory

Always on her mind like nice song wings
always off the ground.
Memory before there gone she wants to give so long.
Energy was passed along the path of heard so overgrown a shadow
in some line.
Massive was this span of life need truck
to carry on.
Often life is seen as such through glasses
license to thin.
Yes she is my mother dear and memorys
there are hers to leave.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bleets Do Grow

Great show of care she cuped my bleets
so tenderly in palm of soft hand.

Swollen though they are bleets release not so for me.

Heavy are the bleets no sheeps I never count the sun comes up for me.

In bleeting dreams I never bleet.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bleeting The Light

Lying here next to you I bleeted the light.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Humping Ground

Raising spade swinging hard essence time
to us there is no second chance.

Avalanche of pain no tears of great I bear
all share.

Inside freezing mind is leaving singing of the choir.

Next to you upon my face smelling scent
sweet clean is water pure.

.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Swimming Through Air

Light of spirit helps me soar
the sky I sing.

Inside the draft up high wind
to bring.

Gathering of wings feathered dreams gleam.

Hearing bretheren flap a mighty beat.

Thunder claps shape her skirt
for all to see.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Karma

Of bleeting cows do know....mooring goats hold sway...circle small will say...cloven foot weather not..spot inside there bleet have got..... be) it(spend in swing you sat upon a chair have care in world heavy cees then dees.doth have..tolling of forever bell sounds sweet level fields barley wheat song louds bring the rain again not same horizen ships far out with see to play a organ key in room to shay changing time O sand I flay a flounder flat of meak earth level head a bloom trips we take throughout universe to swoon..

) it(..: : >> :)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Heavy Is My Mask

So you laugh and cry seems the same to me
heavy are my lines upon your face.

Mask of valleys thought hide your soul
from server of all view a plain.

Eternal moth is flame we seek when flying off from our kind
where to land.

Languished laundry on my line drama
dogma all mankind dose sea.

Level lithium beast beneath your feet
the mask) it(s sweet to smell.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Poles Apart

Stretching forth from heaven
to the earth.

Reaching down my hand to guide you up.

Endless are the souls inside
my guf.

Poured into you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Gates Of Heaven

Heavy is the door of my soul
may I come in.
Knocker made of flame never tame mayest thou
receive me.
Star was I sprang from your eye shelter do I seek.
Fumbling at the latch fingers
humbled are so weak.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bleed Me In Heaven

Now that ur here bleed me
and I will bleed you..

Bleed for me as I
bleed for you.

Does as much bleed come out when They do) it(sted O me.

See How I Can Bleed With Your Mind....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Definition Of Bleet

) It(.. Bleet can be used to replace any word....

Example.#1..Heavy are my bleets
upon your bleets...

Example #2...Bleet your own mind
how often does a bleet come around that bleets you in comfort...

Example #3....I have only one bleet left put another penny with it we have two...Bleets

Example #4....Healty bleets are good....for...: : : >>>>)) it(

Example #5...Not many bleets in your head if you dont
get) it(by now your bleet is bleeted up.

Example #6...Of all the bleets..I ever met why did
I fall in love with you?

James McLain

My Bleets Hang Low

Droopy are the lids that allow sight pull one up eye pops out of your face into your hand humble is the socket
plucked from the eye
missed the log.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Who Needs Sleep

I'll just have to do) it(all over again.
By accident or design, I to it have empated
my all.
Love, food and sex I can find in my dreams.
But in this your only life
live life to succeed and love what you do and get paid.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am Known To All Of You 4

You are my mother father sister brother aunt uncle nephew neice granmother grandfather priest other kind of sister lets swing introduction yes seduction mass conductor i am yours you are mine hang it up sea me sway to your beat which is me for the few who cant chew get a job be a cow chaw a cud elmer fud dont be a dud now do jazz cuz you have what it takes sing the blues you can to lazy on to swan song of cole davis lou armstrong do no wrong to a song can you sing on a swing be a bird hear her chip in a church the truth goes marching on and on....you are mine i am yours stand up for me i will do the same....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hitcha Ride Then

On Trade Martains back very well he does know now..lol>>) it(

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

No Eye

O imagination sours dim to the mind
of an i not of me get thee hence from me i wret wth no i thnk wth no i lve wth no i no mgnaton dm clod.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Drilled A Hole In Yourhead

Loud was the wind rushing through that hole.
Wondered how you came bye it?
Through luck or dread laying
as you were.
Peace full sleeping like a babe.
Glazed was the single orb
and color was lost milky
to me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Under Speed

Minimal wake is made
) It(is getting late
Looks like an hourglass

) it(

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Silly Notes

Notes what notes they weigh me down.

Silly the pad over me
in my dream there
to keep.

Tied when last spied
around the necks
of the her sheep.

School was cool writing
the answers on the back of the girl in front of me.

Then following them down
short of the ground
before I sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Turning Heads

Smooth flair hips she does...bear....all is natural in skirt...mounded shirt oear pears...two would make.very fine....hair fasionably mained...face some what tanned...on the take...ponds frozen ice....skaters friend....she..does grins.. lets make nice....milk do I drink...not from a cow...L.A..vine..hollywood makes you blind..very fine.. have more wine..rounded calves snaking...up to.. moist pit.....do I stop... for more...gas in her tank...cheeks so sweat... that they melt... on your...lague..so does her... story end my friend...for life and 1...day

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

P.H. Unseen

Sweet is the Langue in French
such misteries inside do hide
as they roll off the langue
to my ear.....langue word
even better
silken langue on your thigh langue inner valley
of back heart attack.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Do This For You

Om borrowed time.....Live life to the upmost..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Intertainment Holds Sway

Whatever pays the rent..
Spell check is nice so is Bling Bling.. If) it(speeds them in they will sing to there own tune anyway
they choose Bling and human being at same time even harder.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fling In Your Park *

Furrys smother hound of fame held name...hasten craven thus was game...pickin fueden padden garden path...flowers scent on you not funky same....nuzzule nest in tender of lost way... grunt of plseure oftn leave those lips...beady sea of sweat all now do see.....fuzzy yes a creature must u be....brilliant blinding orbs oh green... leave a parting heart fully impression thus is you...) it(sure my mind i always gave to you....

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Blank Page No Ink

Book split down the middle is clear....open tounge heard fork he then ate....wave sure new..... what said on the beach..was true..anger hold.... fold fat gave to flame....more than much.... ment to you..witness thar he was true...bland to yhe land held name...return tot he see once again..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

News Of You

Mail was lost on lark...milk..
it fall from sky....
mattered not to minds eye....
...) it(s no gift that one has...lost is cry....
flying high all around here..
news about you was... so bleat...full..
as the lips of your full mouth...dripps..of..
new style to wipe....) it(steal your heart...
Your beat is red....harsh as flame....
.....it will cover it in full...
seal of the Queen much is sheen.... shinny as..
glow on her face....wipes off on from her..) it(..
Redeals love it lies face up on all cards.....

) it(

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Apology To Dr Kamran Haider

Reason was obvious to some rude behavior no excuse humiliated It is that I am..

Sincierest of humble apology
to you.
please except from me.

IS IT Poetry

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Hope*****

Hope is the faith of all verse of time.
Ordinary is the life
of none.
People every where hold
keys to the future.
Every one enjoys this joy in life.

) it(

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dirty Clean

Dirty is the word once washed now clean.... face never washed in the sun like ice cream.....melts all over your top.... light is the shoe with know feat....Walk a mile with my hands....bling is the finger with that ring....Take it off obvious fake...says..Tai....2nd best gold italy mid east being first....heavy is the date with no prom....resiprocate all dreams do)) it((for you...now them....Light is the head with no brians...fill it up relize goals.....be not like me cheap date...cheaper thrills....knowledge is the goal golden key....long stay here...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Z Poo Trembles On A String

Seat of delight hanging by a string
for my life
watch me as I fall into your pants down your leg streak
you down.
Awaits us all in old age
see you crawl.
Heaven is such a fate

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Canna

Sing like she..carry on carry on miss the song.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Have I

All that and more of) it(do I have than
I need for me.
I see) it(in your face
I feel the blush) it(weakens your knees
I Bleet you
I miss you) it(will all ways be I not) it(
I held you..Bleet..Bleet) it) is I who you know.

) it(

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sleeping

Sand of my dreams may I skry nothing words convey that reciprocated wont tell.
Dwelling in your heart of kind
few know.
Heavens lids my gate to your face
shining down.
Sand weighs all down.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Edge Of Forever

Over looking time
Existence of thought
Brink there stand

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Z Poo Bate

No not that kind durty mind..LOL..what you get when you buy a new car now...if) it(go es
out of buisness..>: :) it(

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Hear

.....singing do you?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sleeping With The Enemy

I cant help myself) it(feels so blind....no tounge cannot write never tells...bleet heaven..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

That Voice In Your Head

Is mine.....whispering forever chills up and down your spine.
forever and a day..
Is what I said....
and when it comes..around..
just like I said...and one day..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Love

Every morning I wake up and want more..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ugly V Beauty

Neighbor hateful brings to court defile the tree
upon your land they point an eye...
Across this world this tree is known.... wisp of beauty elegance in thee
is made of grace...tree
in trust with acre heart uncommon...
so unknown...
Judge of law thus brought before
this question to decide....
ever more..
Neighbor to the Judge points out..
mean and black of soul is she
to coal...
branch of tree hangs
leavened over fence...
carved in stone.... the law does read...
prune it from my sight it needs...
my right I so impose to thee...
Armor all the land can't see...
spoken soft by you....
Beauty pruned forever goes.. all know...
golden is its sight removed from all...
Twelve.hundred years of wisdom
gone as dust.....
Judge has wisdom equal to...
Sight of beauty's soul..
rights the heart in right of tree...
What next path is brought to you...
decide....

James McLain

What To Do What To Do

Fritter away the dawn knew day.find all one can chew
double meaning why use one word
do 2 twice as much comes to you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Z Poo Ringer Mustache

Lights are out beddy bye under the cover cherry pie...oh my....oh my.. what to do...Phew>>: : :) it)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Why Not Wolves

Must I cross the night in your arms instead of roliki play in the shadows light of the moon.

Tip of fang &#1090; &#1086; &#1084; &#1091; &#1088; &#1088; &#1080;
&#1086; &#1083; &#1080; &#1089; milk

I drink on the cuff.

Barking out pups laugh.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Oysters Pink As Skies Dawn

Succulent pink flesh
Kelp rope thighs
Young dawns light

(it)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Playing In The Rain

Free (it) is between two
Love of you be love
I ask nothing
Flower of night

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Z Poo Returns

To your pants with a thud chunk of mud..>>: : {IT') IT)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Queen For Life And 1 Day

No sound do I make in your presence hallowed are your feet
where I kneel.

Clear are the eyes green fire
that hair of passion.

Different every week as my pleasure
service to me oath swore you bowed knee still in fashion.

Black with pink are the lips of pleasure drink them in like wine know none other till death overtakes me and 1 day.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Feel The Bleet To (It)

Weak in thee knees you Grow fire wench pulling on you mane from the back as you like that knwe you did...Bleet to me
as free.....as is so....made your bed
as is want all the time
where i dwell
on the top....Happy are you to give unto i flowers scent more will grow garden got known cross the land as the best
i know well..leave no rock full more so unturned no not i...Blessed is she to dwell in house with *(IT) * more so known than not.
Bleet to i my fairest of the fair bleet me up bleet me down
to the ground you know well make those sounds...
.blessed is the bleet on your face...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Z Poo Singer

Fudge of the poo withdrawn from thee
on the role for all to see then sensuous song oh withdrawn.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Free My Soul To Roam

On the lap my mother singing lullabies
to me don't let them take your soul so sweet don't let them
take your soul.

Mother words so wise to me this life you
gave to me
nightly visions had of me
of trouble yet to come.

Wisdom words brief to my deaf ears
they fell upon no sun deaf ears they fell upon..

Looking back amongst the tears
looking back no tears
creased burned narrows down my face
I listen mother dear..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Choice

Are as numerous in the sky as stars
that you see in the night be you...wise
is the word not made in anger
of deed but a steed in calm
like the pond...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Teachers

The backbone of any civilized country
they flow with the student whatever the discipline.

Many are the finest here in word more language so thought without a book
in a nook have i seen.

The biggest choice is that of rejection
for (it) is nobler Shakespeare did say verses that of a bloody nose none
can say

what is wise with that choice.

Own perspective deed in advice is the claim to character, ethics and morals
an imagination is no dirty thing but the word non profane can still cause
a stir you can betcha...peace to all... allow word to flow to the eye
not a log..he did say.. (IT)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Stimulation

Of the mind is a necessity for the growth of the body...

Languishing in squalor I want..

Brokenneck mountain will be the movie to see when (IT) s out.

Wanting the mind is not the same as having one...

Having one as small as (IT) is thats the joy..big toy.. deployed..

not in a desert but in an oasis of lush tribal dates that i eat

and are sweet..Thus is prose

my great joy.....>>: :)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Z Poo Conveys

You have to go to the back of the pile to see poo.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Kept In The Cave 2

Guntress mine queen full of joy new sheen
she so wore...No bling
diffrent age a dream.

Still no word.

Queen with a dream bigger than life it seemed was amazed...

Lack of word...Fix that....full cammand get hence..was the word...

filled with hope.

King subject of Queen carreis back with him
mighty sword..new realm.

Sword of love and dove in peace it goes
with you..

Now word we know it is

Love..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Sleeping With You

Flowing freely effervescent from the sky forever new.
Blending moist all the rain harps
of gold knowing joy.
Flutes of pan slowing down never less hearing all.
Melodic of note b sharp bright star
hardly flat hold a scale.
Heralded flowing wind softly chime
angle fine know your lines.
Meter heart beats the spark current passed all on time patience land.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Kept In The Cave 1

Streaking cross the sky was the flame
gutteral was the word
i did grunt.

Guntress his mate wild insane of passion well spent
into the pit went
the flame.

No word

Gatherer of meat and veggies tossed onto the ground before her.
No intelligent sound could he whisper
the whisper was for you.

None other had the flame though sharing her wild mane into next dwelling went her.

With the flame.

PoemHunter.com

Such knowledge passed down through grace of crown.
Of such are Queens now made.

James McLain

Frozen Out Of (It) ..>>: :)

Blossoms beauty in my mind for you does dwell at time of sleep.

Tolling of the bold when lay awake.

Many are the days living lives
I am to.

A writer of drama I am not so what loving all through words instead of body is so new.

Rivers rushing through the canyon
is so fun..been there done that..

This to me is still
so true.

Through you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cheaters

People who say what was found to come from anothers tounge
first....>>: :) (IT)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Viscosity

Intertwined all man kind humming
of the V.

Twirls curls branches ransom free
comming of the leaf.

Sap is fine with some wine but from the fruit so sweet.

Beautiy rests with the beast boldly go no boundries all
do know.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Queens Mummy

Royal colors harkin castles fine is the sand of lott in marble blocks.

Jack was nimble ever
qicke.

Pathway garden over grown cant sea.

Country cross with the boss
Mummy cant be found.

Cold wind blows masts cant flow the river we have known.

This vixon do I miss.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Rigid Is The Mind

Like kind some find color
on the phew.
Disiplined thought army not words the world same
view.
Ey all beds sleeping heads
thoughts are dancing not of lead.
Young was I could change
the world like
Eric Clapton did.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Skrunge Bob Square Pants

Yellow in color i am he a sponge bouncing a long some
menagerie.

krusty is my crab fellow true red lips of my leg free food ; .Llc.
none ; ; .

Bue green is my mind when hard to find a squid for a friend
ink to lend for my pen.

Square are my drawers none ever
to find most don't fit.

No brain in the sponge that is blobersquat Bob this day...

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is Hard Being Smart

i must hide it)                    lost in it(s mind..
and try not to offend those..
whom are so much... more smarter..
and so very deep..as I sleep...
and running..off.. forever lost....
back into the deepest part of the woods..
and this her forest..she shows me..
and she is pleased...that I trust her..
and I am only happy that she is happy....
and walking around her forest...I find her..
home where she lives...and knocking....
she opens her door too him....and she..
recognizing his genius....
and being now his woods.....then..
looks down at his mismatched socks...
and knowing thus as she does..
she slips him in to hers...
and like a glove it's..
universe...spiraling out word....
becomes a little bit milky.. because of it..
and I thank you....whom ever you are.

James McLain

I Stay Hidden

So I can read all I want and give out hundreds of anonymous tens
to you all.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

School Never Ends If Your Over Twenty One

Flying low all the highs I now why
do you?

Love is copy and paste in the sand
me with you.

Love is the last dinosaour*only one *
last whale*only one*
you are here.

Love is the warm whisper of breath
on my flesh before
death.

Love is some englis wench probably french who thinks im eighty eight her bad my loss.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A(It)      I (It)

It is so small on the wall like a fly hearing all.

It is like the breeze wind (IT)
up never down.

It can see with one I dont need 2.

It knows your smart
writes him off.

It cannot write knows
you can thus you do not for him.

It is on the floor making out with his I.

It needs you like you need it tell him why like you can show your love

you know how

do (it)      by writting a great poem for (IT)

know you no how.

PoemHunter.com

James McLain

Crum Snatcher Off The Chain

Yes i beg for food if i thought you cared
i would send you my address
but i sleep in my car swollen feet
crampted of sleep
sneaking in to lawyers offices to post
these misives you ah have a care for a poor caucasoid lost soul of a white boy down on his molly malone musles..>>: : :)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Soot On My Face

Longing forest bright
twilight tipped lyard
sykinard fan

Petals sunflower tears
violin playing banjo
pikin band.

Clors pink and Black
like johnny cash
pam tillis.

Knowing your so fine guitar jackin fine
dixie chicks.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Full House

House of the holy no water to spare...Drink to the lions...Christians may forever know peace.. Spanish inquisition knew so well....All my ancestors dead over there...Women tied to a pole... donkeys brought out use that broad vast unfettered imagination.....over in rome the arena way back...tonight history lesson as a child of eleven i knew...thank you mamma long train though you knew....curtain of coffins the lions did chew...gold was the palm polished so...caligula's roman ceaser you knew....bow to the holy no room at the in.....wise men from east knew more than them, , , , polished so... was the cedar clear..linseed oil better then myre.brought us around to the house of the holy....full house beats a pair touch you hair...(IT) I

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am Known To All Of You 3

Life in the flame like some a big stain underarm...go in peace, , , farthings none.... money all gone fish i eat...omega 3 oil brainfood...rank on the tounge are the scrunge in asoul, , , bless them to..hand me a fork i will eat with the end see me grin...> :) for you...Blessed is she who is given to me... life i hold....not the ho that scolds..no wino i am but i like a big drink...did think so...ciggerets i smoke magic i am in your hand....winter is here helps me think clear.. help the queer....in there thoughts humbled so..unless you are won having fun like you do....free is the air unlike the word... strike (it) down hear the verb drink the noun...healthaly uncooth though i be.. love me so...spare the rod...mask in chians i dont wear..in the palm of your hand you hold me tight..cup me so...love your poem now done...(it)

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Am Known To All Of You 2

Names unlike some wont dwell.. here the smoke is always thick like a tric of the mind let it leave....golden is the tounge
of some i meet thick is the sole of the bleet..
rigid mind held no song
blazing comet streaks the mind when your kind...
trouble know just like you...
confessions are bad when directed by a brain
on a pin none can win...
parts we play then have say why you won..
.then have fun...traveling round the world
on this site know them all...
father is father mother is mother love and food
for the children.all may say...say you not please depart know no peace sniff a fart...
heavy is the hand in this land where you dwell..
.weak are they who forgive you...
judge judy thinks your cocanut if you do..
family bad lawyer say prenup fail from the start...
ola..golden tounge dorty is the lady whom perpetually
sings all the day just for you...

James McLain

I Am Known To All Of You

Disrespect by some though none &#1074; &#1080; &#1076; &#1086; &#1084;

I have one thought still by you
i am known...
punctuation misguided us carectors
are they not welcome.
can the presence of (it)
cause wedgies when on the poo list i run
for forgiveness and its done.. not through aggrogant pride but from misunderstanding...different tongue like this yet known to another on the island of Elizabeth the name of my daughter..
he who you think hates is your brother wise is he to... dreams arnt cought they are magic when the maject leaves your head you are dead body talks even so disguised all alone on an island i live
by my self not is my wish though amongst the egos i dwell all alone saith I none there.. no man is an island profound think me not yet cannot an island be
that man think the names number so.. was not Firoze Shakir Bollywoods
Most Wanted Poet Of India here
among you once..write strike went away gone not lost of your table was there fare for they amongst you..no think me noy..
tremble at the thought were i you yet you wont
some will do..flatulence at the top is an art in the land of the sun going up... in the land where the sun is an inconvenience
you are crude very rude kick you out as wipe so.. amongst you i have been long time not so youn not am i.peace will i see all thats
here now so near hear again..rude be not

James McLain

Walk On A Beach

As I was walking down the beach the waves were making work.
A storm had the night before, passed by. The sea birds were out in full force, food was across thier table. Crabs of size scalops and clams starfish and all that is alive within the guff I did see. Franticly with great hast a coridore we made as we tossed as much as we could back into the guff Eventually fatigue over came our attempt after hundreds of pounds of all that we saw had new life once again to all whom we know such a gift to them as well.. Yes I must add some think me capable of anything. they are right there is nothing I wont attempt in this life nothing bad..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Eaten Alive

Words, wont tell.
Ears. don't hear.
Eyes, do see it all.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

All Gather Patiently As She Waits

Square the table seen most
all are here.
Gathered all, some think,
some say, none act.
The parting of one sea.
No thought was given to her.
All gather patiently as she waits.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

They Gather Patiently I Wait

Square the table seen most
are here.

Gathered all some think
some say some act.

The parting of
one sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

How Long Have You Known

History book the look that gave away the library?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Human Beings

From the begining frougt
with peril of right
something that makes us
all different soft of voice
hard with anger
both flow into each other thinking all of one not the other is foolish
like tounge with no mouth ask
your brother.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Life*write*now

Upside down inside out stretched from every angle much to tangled.

Lawyers nearly every day more hay
that grows in air.

Foolish waste a wanton loss of life
every thing on this is red.

My eyes no sleep back wept for he wondering why you he here so much of the time.

Patiently waiting for this life O mine.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Gone On A Lark

Moons soft glow radiantly cast
me down upon soft arms
lapping waves your water knows.

Hues fragrant blossom lays upon your soul.

Breaths light upon such halo
glows.

.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Happy*are Some Days

Flippant some words life is a day
to me then gone.

The song of cheesey cellers ripe
with holes molds you.

Greeny salads fumunganoneya
cherrys dressing some do choose.

Ripest some do gripe I truly knew.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Blind*for*days

Turky creek this hollar liquid metal flowing in to you.

Creek bed wooden chairs hidden
all from view.

Those varmites got in your pants
huntun gun of shot.

Lumber not of jack house seen for miles around stone made piller brought safely make your way.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ignorant* Am*i* Of*your*ways

Blissfully unaware,
I breath your last care.
Coming it sighs to me.
Willowy green leaves of which I bleed, the tree top is bent.
Graceful breaze to stir my heavy chest
of tresses are yours.
Hold it not to high up,
for I may loose my way climbing down.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Men*mice

Fields of rice golden tops wheat
their bread threading silos grow
on your head.

Poison must fast daily sow mechanic man oiled in grime not to know.

Child from the womb have a care
wise can the man fix her hair.

Floor cold hard books do to stir
ember lost word within you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Children* Stay Good

or the taxman will get you when you grow up..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Clip*my*hair

Fair was the towe
on my head
now gone.

Tragedy
more now
than I had before.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Freedom*it*my*soul

Beauty vision weary shirt viel roughshod
small feet I gave to you.

Virgin marble pink one color veins across
my face all know.

Bringing wool this time this year thinking I will change this place you fear.

Vestiage hope the faith O small betrayed
he was by you.

Bright no call in night this soul berift.to you
vanity no shame your stead of truth.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Can The* Eagle Sing

Bolden eye have the sky to fly wings are broad kiss their chics this night.

Weeding prey talon spike
in claw.

Head goes up neck arched out
you hear this king call out

Missile streak across a cloud
thats white.

Homage to the queen he does fly out.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Incased* In *fire* This *ice

Beltching wind of ice rains down this fire scorching boulder chips hide behind minds eye.

Lightning roars thunder seeks her skirt
tornado plies violent is his sport.

Rushing water fills your mind with fear hear the name of he does fly inside.

Gental is the breeze who cleans this up.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A* Very* Small* Word

Mamma said:

Vibrent stone mountain hidding grace
mirthful tree in glee.
Foghead top creased of bark dog stops.
Roaring wind down through the
hollar cease.
Shaking body twitching toes would
you come to know.
Eyes rolled up to you would think
him dead.
Spell of magic none have heard
before.
Books have serects all would come to dread.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Bink* Plack

Frigid stone cold flash of heartless pain staining windows view.

Thoughtless dreary misty eyes lost them
at the rocky cleft of mother said.

Careless love freely passed around small town
whore of thought &#1090; &#1086; nuzzle &#1072; &#1090; my crown.
Robes of care purple hued brilliant as the ochre pure thought of you to sing a carefull song.

Wagging trumpet mouth piece broken
voices all on fire.

Next we meet wont be so sweet you think you've had it bad.

Trust apart it trust gone bad.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Heavy Sweat*

My thimble I canna find tinker fell down
lid is askew you knew where to find me
my wad I blew
funeral went bad
another hole filled in sweat on my palms.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Afraid Of The Dark*

With two suns every thing
is twice as nice to see two birds two bees
two I died and went to heaven
twins who were nothing alike
in all the ways that didnt matter yet were in those that did
so in my world the sun
never goes down so
what it is to be afraid
of the dark.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fate

Carefull yes those words resound inside
our daily heads
as the ants move off in single file to find that lost crum of bread
ner'er to the holes narrower and narrower
one path to get them there two abreast were some with no clue in there large world
bump bump went that thing digging in the dirt
the moral of the story is dont push
your friend in there.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Destined* For* Fate* Ant 2

Thinking you know what lays ahead of you the ant didn't
why would you
unless you killed the ant
Great was the intellect
traped in the head of that pin
look in the mirror and think that again.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I See It*

Every where I turn hands
holding doors
letters with such sweet
scents
you wonder where the flowers are
the snowmobiles to deliver them with the green is under the snow as are we counting it I see.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Just Kills Me*

Knowing you have to peek
oil the hinge and sneak.
Creep down the hallway
staying out of the light
going to the bathroom
I'm weak.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Laughing*join Me

Sanity is your community
not mine
my mind is bent twisted
enough
only through shock could unwise it so I laugh at me you laugh
at me
why I join you laid back and drink the wine
you are would be
I am but not Wrap your mind
around this.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Ants*

Going about my daily bread
leaving a trail of crumbs
this sausage swoops down stirring the ground leaving
the way home lost to me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Drama Queen

looking out of her eyes into a very strange world.
Where privilege of rank is not earned.
Of all of the bridges she burns
as she flies away.
Thinking the prince got away unharmed

.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Dusts Breath*

Unkept all motes are light
unto themselves.

Merrily dancing with the beam of breath.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Oh Reaper Of Souls A Name May I Call 2*

Call the soul of Aristotle forth.

Ask! ! !

Why did Aristotle allow Alexandros
to roam so far?

Aristotle reply, To conquer love.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Oh Reaper Of Souls A Name May I Call 1*

Alexandros of Macedonia

step forth.

Ask! ! !

Why did you attempt to conquer

the world in your time?

I could not conquer the love

of my parents.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Nurse

Turn up the voltage hand me the head gear forget the rubber mouth piece
Sir, she is only a child I cried
it is it as you said do what I say go away
money it cost for this research
of no value is this person
we live in freedom
other countries do this in secret
do what I say or go away..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Ask The Maid *

Can I have a job may
I work for you?

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Questions

Past life an animale of grace enjoyed o wiseman my fate
I ask of you deposed not a second in answere
the future is pale indeed for thee slain for your meat
mostly wasted
land where you dwell
for houses
cages of steel to be gawked at store for your dna for the rich to see pretty is the picture I paint for thee.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Alone*

In a cage of fear crowds of primitive people always near tearing rending &#1092; &#1083; &#1101; &#1096; from bone
in mouth a snare frozen horror meat of putrid breath revealed blood of sight so dear
where is your mother mine was eaten.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Fragile *

Thoughts to words will be some hairs
when running from the wolf as words to gobble up magic window in it's world of panic could not see when gripped by fang his final word the hair could only bleed.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Black And Pink*

Among us none stood moving like magic gliding feet
never touching blowing
through air touching everything
touching her.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Cafe

Loneliness can be counted on but is no friend of mine lonely are my days I can count by the thousands black is the color
pink as it flows with blink no more of pink unless she thinks about it first.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Living Water *

Proud nempth kneels down
aside this stream thats me.
Pretty face streaked with dust
water like a trust to her.
Pale rags removed are spread across large green rock to air.
Primrose body living water flows into her hair flowing stream slowly moves twords the sea.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

After The Last Curtain *

Insanity prevailed that night
did you think no not I.
Wedding to die for keep that mob from the door.
Best looking couple in town
brains as well.
Properly proportioned yes
notion lovers friends.
Quotient of reason from one
or the other.
Instead Judges Lawyers dressed in black eyes still.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Don'T K N0w *

Why I get annoyed when a mesquito
bites me on the eyelid
when I am asleep.

When asleep the kids tie a six inch string to my big toes and scream last beer
who wants it.

When asleep and the cat jumps for the toy mouse the little one throws onto my chest missing the mouse and clawing
my cheek.

Why me in twenty minutes of sleep.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Handling The Flame *

Protection from without painted reprint are you to mirror the mask on the wall smallest of picture colors so hot to our touch felt the pain while taking it in not letting it out eyes are made to open hearing no shout from the flame.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Blessed Are The Mothers*

For the tears thought lost never brought back bound
unto thee.

For in your home they dwell..

For the bread your mouth
tasted so your child was fed.

For your blood so shed that we might have life.

For the sacrifices to educate
us at great expense to you.

For the day you bid us wed
from you.

For theirs is a life of pain
and sorrow.

Thank You Mother

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Whit Undeclared *

Brain to finger pull that trigger
if you do it well.

Brain to tongue why wait to run
one leg won't get you far.

Brain to eye no disguise of what
in there does dwell.

Brain to heart you know your part no harm in that I see.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

My Head Is Your Head *

Thoughts flowing ever growing leaching from my mind
not just knowing simply going anywhere it can standing still being chilled
when a word does come to find a special place that lays so near now found inside your head..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Antagonist *

None to me would I call
my fall would be heavy filled with pain
bones breaking to use you to cushion ask of me
would I no it is
above me.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

I Mean *

Exactly what I say no
cover to spare
threadbare.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

It Is *

Sometimes quite never not it is thus cold I shiver shake as did he mornful soul
of old.

Parchment of my flesh
words my clothing
binding of my mind
haunt me not.

Shelved at the doors
of your finger tips
eyes windows in
the cover.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Flip Of A Swith *

Running fast slow me down
inbetween on top some ground hear the sound foot on pebble flip that swith now its gone.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Be*upon Your Head A Crown *

Wild was time when racing by
stars could count the years
spinning earth into the yawn
nearing morning dawn.
Seconds long minute found
the waiting of the hand waning such trembling thus
the hour did draw near.
Past has flown to present now
comming of the King.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Death Of Your Brain *

Beneth the little wavy wires your hair roots transposed into your scalp peeled back a skull opened up some cheese grayish instead of pink I think looking in a hematoma large beside
some viens small inside no blood
death insued mark the time so well. Drinking and driving dont mix..

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Amongst Them No Longer I Am *

Here within no home I roam
pillow of hers of which
I know
hallowed is her scent.
Loam upon the rocky shore hewn
from granit she does know
my name.
Inside her mind towit no man
but I.
Mounds of Venus mons on Mars
interwined amongst all stars
are they.
Flashing brillint point of light a sun.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Anxiously *

Back and forth I pace the hall brightly lit I hear the call was it meant for me?

Red eyes rimmed deepest black hollow to the soul head turned to the side did I hear it right?

Two days I heard them say this labor is not right third day we come away a lonesome soul
this night.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Book *

Come to us in various ways
some of rough hew form.
The uglier I find there appearance
the more I always need.
Gold leaf first additions pretty
on a shelf.
Museum piece have me knot's
something more to read.
Onion skin soft paper rice pages
so rarely seen.
Thin was a tree that lust did skin
in making of the book
of this single page.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Here There *

Somewhere any where their is peace tranquility hope such a place I used to look only to the mind it rejects me now to much have you put in never taking any out no room with all the clutter
must you now toss some out carefully soon you must choose or be tossed out of your head forever.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Free Graze *

Cowboy lonely is the trail on so little sleep pushing mindless bovine through rivers chalky plains water floating in the sky
quenching ones thirst
on the blood of rattlesnakes feeding cactus pulp to youngest of calves marching forever forward to reach some town forever away towe is my head from the sun warping my eyes
false is some distant lake
taken so many lives
will not die.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

A Single Tear

Eternity made inside to grow singular shape to know
duct of the salt rolls from this flesh cured spectrum emotions all do taste
you grow.

Many are the tears that formed upon your face.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

C*taking Turns *

Short of wind your breath belies
the dragging of your heel in dust we trust.

Sweat dried sand to face scoured fresh blush the wind has made
to know.

Wind lifts my arms to take from you this gift is precious so.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Heart In Oak *

Such as does repose
fine grain.

Polished surface gained
thus by feel.

Soul of a giant
lays within.

Bowing Gently
in the breeze.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Face Of The Poor *

Of all our children.
Dirt scuffed face America has some.
Late night Sally Struthers infomercial.
Compassion of the old in their time of need.
Helping in the wide open homeless shelter.
Bread from their mouths for the young.
Picture the views.
You helped to make.
Words stir the pot of no news.
Children helping children that are grown no more.
They know something that the real somebody's know nothing of.
Ashamed I am and full of some others guilt.
when I see them thus
stiring the pot for each other.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com

Lid To My Box *

Round beveled square to a frame bearing hues fading of dreams maker in such crafted long ago
for whom but a guess many names but few for the wearer of the seal meant for me
not for you.

James McLain

PoemHunter.com